Nicholson, Louis, Gen. U. S. N., b. Chertanoy, Md., 1777. N. Y. 5. S. 2, 1804. He was sent to sea with his wife, Mrs. Nicholson, and a few weeks in the "Enterprise," capt. W. B. Ryan, in 1792; to the N. York in 1797; to the "Mildred" in 1798; to the "Mercury" in 1799; to the "Merrill" in 1800; to the "Mercury" in 1801; to the "Mercury" in 1802; to the "Mercury" in 1803; to the "Mercury" in 1804; to the "Mercury" in 1805; to the "Mercury" in 1806; to the "Mercury" in 1807; to the "Mercury" in 1808; to the "Mercury" in 1809; to the "Mercury" in 1810; to the "Mercury" in 1811; to the "Mercury" in 1812; to the "Mercury" in 1813; to the "Mercury" in 1814; to the "Mercury" in 1815; to the "Mercury" in 1816; to the "Mercury" in 1817; to the "Mercury" in 1818; to the "Mercury" in 1819; to the "Mercury" in 1820; to the "Mercury" in 1821; to the "Mercury" in 1822; to the "Mercury" in 1823; to the "Mercury" in 1824; to the "Mercury" in 1825; to the "Mercury" in 1826; to the "Mercury" in 1827; to the "Mercury" in 1828; to the "Mercury" in 1829; to the "Mercury" in 1830; to the "Mercury" in 1831; to the "Mercury" in 1832; to the "Mercury" in 1833; to the "Mercury" in 1834; to the "Mercury" in 1835; to the "Mercury" in 1836; to the "Mercury" in 1837; to the "Mercury" in 1838; to the "Mercury" in 1839; to the "Mercury" in 1840; to the "Mercury" in 1841; to the "Mercury" in 1842; to the "Mercury" in 1843; to the "Mercury" in 1844; to the "Mercury" in 1845; to the "Mercury" in 1846; to the "Mercury" in 1847; to the "Mercury" in 1848; to the "Mercury" in 1849; to the "Mercury" in 1850; to the "Mercury" in 1851; to the "Mercury" in 1852; to the "Mercury" in 1853; to the "Mercury" in 1854; to the "Mercury" in 1855; to the "Mercury" in 1856; to the "Mercury" in 1857; to the "Mercury" in 1858; to the "Mercury" in 1859; to the "Mercury" in 1860; to the "Mercury" in 1861; to the "Mercury" in 1862; to the "Mercury" in 1863; to the "Mercury" in 1864; to the "Mercury" in 1865; to the "Mercury" in 1866; to the "Mercury" in 1867; to the "Mercury" in 1868; to the "Mercury" in 1869; to the "Mercury" in 18 and author, b. Phila. 1786; d. there March 2, 1842. N. J. Coll. 1804. After studying law he became a bookseller, first in Baltimore in 1809 and in 1814 in Phila.; member of the Phlogos Society, and, while a trustee of the U. of P., visited Eng., making, on his return in 1814, a report to the board on the condition of the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford. He contrb. articles on conchology to Savoy's Journal and to other periodicals; pub. Letters Descriptive of Va. Springs; "Remarks on Literary Property;" various papers on free trade and the tariff system in relation to books, which were pub. among the documents annexed to the report of the Phila. Free trade Convention in 1814, of which he was a member.

Nicollet, JEAN NICOLAS, a French astronomer and geologist, b. Savoy ab. 1786; d. Washington, D. C., Sept. 11, 1843. S. C. and librarian of the Observator at Paris in 1817. He came to the U. S. Dec. 1819; explored the Southern States, especially the great basin embraced by the sources of the Red, Arkansas, and Mo. Rivers, and in 1826 had explored his explorations to the sources of the M. It. He collected many interesting details of the history and dialects of the Indians, and of the products and natural history of the country. He was engaged by the war dept., and instructed by Mr. Folsom to revisit the Far West, and prepare a general report and map for the govt. Frequent accompaniment assist. In 1841 Nicollet presented to the Assoc. of Amer. Geologists at Phila. an interesting communication upon the geology of the Upper Mid. region, and of the cretaceous formation of the Upper Missouri.

Nicolson, SAMUEL, inventor of the "Nicolson pavement;" d. Jan. 6, 1868, a. 76.

Niles, HENRY, journalist, b. Chester Co., Pa., Oct. 10, 1777; d. Washington, D. C., Apr. 2, 1839. Learning the trade of a printer, he was ab. 1800 one of the firm of Bunsall and Niles, printers and publishers, Wilmington, Del., but was unsuccessful; afterward became a contributor of amusing essays, entitled "Qualifications," to a periodical, and then for six years edited a daily paper in Baltimore. He is chiefly known as the founder, in 1811, of Niles's Register, a weekly journal pub. at Baltimore, of which he was the editor till Aug. 1836. The Register was re-pub. by him in 22 vols., extending from 1812 to 1827, and was continued by his son W. D. Niles and others, till June 27, 1843, making 76 vols. in all. He also com. Principles and Acts of the Revolution, 8vo, 1822. He advocated protection to our cotton manufactures, and, with Matthew Carey, was one of the "ardent champions of the American System."

Niles, JOHN MITCHELL, author and politician, b. Windsor, Ct., Aug. 20, 1787; d. Hartford, May 31, 1856. He received a common-school education, was adm. to the bar, and, removing to Hartford in 1817, he in connection with his professional labor, established and principally edited the Hartford Times, to which he contributed for 30 years. He was an active Federal politician, a supporter of state rights in 1819, and received from 1821 for several years the annual app. of judge of the Hartford Co. Court; was a State representative in 1826; app. postmaster of Hartford in 1829. By Jackson, from Dec. 1835 until 1839 and in 1843-9 U. S. senator; postmaster-general in 1840. With Dr. John C. Pease, he edited a Gazetteer of Ct. and R. I., pub. in 1819. He pub. "The Civil Officer," a history of S. America and Mexico, 1818; "Life of Com. Perry," 1820, and a number of orations, addresses, &c., upon a great variety of subjects, and an improved edition of Robins's Journal; edited his republication in 1816 a large Eng. work, "The Independent Whig." He passed his later years in horticultural pursuits. In his will Senator Niles bequeathed $20,000 to be held in trust for the poor in Hartford. His library he gave to the Ct. Hist. Society.

Niles, NATHANIEL, clergyman, inventor, and politician, b. South Kingston, R. I., Apr. 3, 1741; d. Oct. 31, 1828, at West Fairlee, Vt. N. J. Coll. 1766. He studied medicine and law, taught a while in N. Y. City, studied theology under Dr. B. Linn, and preached in several places in N. E. Becoming a resident of Norwich, Ct., he invented a process of making wire from hair-pin by water-power, and connected it with a wool-card manufactory. Removing after the Rev. to Orange Co., Vt., he filled several public offices in that State; was speaker of the house in 1784; several years judge of the Superior Court; M. C. in 1791-5; one of the editors for the revision of the State constitution. He pub. four discourses on "Secret Prayer," 1773; two discourses on "Confession of Sin and Forgiveness;" two sermons on "The Perfection of God, the Foundation of Good," 1774; a sermon on "Van Amusements;" and a "Letter to a Friend," 1809; he also wrote "The American Hero," a Supplic. ode, once very popular in Norwich. — See notes.

Niles, SAMUEL, minister of Braintree, Ms., b. Block Island, May 1, 1674; d. May 1, 1762, H. V. 1699. He preached in King's-ton, R. I., 1702-10; installed at 2d Church, Braintree, May 23, 1711. He pub. "A Brief and Successful Account of the Present Churches in N. E.," 1745; "Vindication of Divers Important Doctrines," 8vo, 1752; "Scripture Doctrine of Original Sin," 8vo, 1757; "God's Wonder-working Providence for N. E. in the Reduction of Louis-bur.," 1747; and a "History of the French and Indian Wars," in "Hist. Colls." of ser., vol. vi. — See notes.

Nimret, SYMONOY NIVERT, a chief of the Narragansets at the settlement of R. I. by the whites. He was the uncle of Miantonomoh, but did not participate in his war with the Pequots in 1632. In the Pequot war of 1637 he aided the English; having visited the West-cru Indians, and the Dutch gov. Stuyvesant, he was suspected of plotting with them the destruction of the English; and Sept. 20, 1653, the commissioners of the United Colonies declared war with him. It was not prosecuted, however, owing to the opposition of Ms. Nimret meanwhile waged war with the English-Island Indians; and, retiring to appear at Hartford, war was again declared in Sept. 1654. Maj. S. Willard led the expedi., and brought off 100 Pequot; but Ninigret had fled. Oct. 13, 1660, he, with Seart and other chiefs, mortgaged their territory to H. Aheron and others, and gave possession at Pottersmill in 1662. He kept aloof from Philip's war 1675-6, and escaped the ruin which overtook the other tribes.

NINO (see 'yo). PEDRO ALOXZO, a Spanish navigator, surnamed El Negro (the Black), b. Andalusia, 1468; d. ib. 1595. One of the companions of Columbus in his third voyage; at forward com. a cruise, and made discoveries on and near the S. American coast.

NISBET, CHARLES, D. D. (N. J. Coll. 1783), scholar and divinity, b. Hadlington, Scotland, 21 Jan. 1731; d. Carlisle, Pa., Jan. 18, 1801. Edinb. U. 1754. He used to preach 24 Sept. 1760. He was long a clergyman at Montrose, Scotland, and influential in the Gen. Assembly from his powers of wit and argument. He openly favored the cause of the Colonies in their revol. struggle. Chose a pres. of Dick. Coll. on its establishment in 1783, he yielded to the urgency of Dr. Rush, and arrived at Phila. in June, 1785. Unable to prevail with the trustees for a proper system of education, he resigned the next year, designing to return to Scotland; changing his mind, he was re-elected in May, 1786; entered vigorously on the prosecution of his duties, performing the great labor of delivering four concurrent series of lectures on logic, the philosophy of the mind, belles-lettres, and systematic theology, and struggled industrially to bring the education of the times up to his standard. He was a man of decided ability and scholarship; possess. of great humor, and an extraordinary memory. His posthumous work was pub. in 1806; his Memoirs, by Dr. Miller, 1840. — Spang.

NISBET, JAMES, editor and author, b. Scotland, Feb. 1800; d. 30 July, 1865, by the wreck of the "Bro. Jonathan" of Oregon. An unsuccessful novelist and journalist in Eng. and Australia. In 1855 he went to Cal., where he pub. "Annals of San Francisco," and was connected with the Chester and the Baldwin, of which, on the assassination of Mr. King, he became editor.

NIXON, GEN. JOHN, Revol. officer, b. Framingham, Ms., Mar. 4, 1725; d. Middlebury, Vt., Mar. 24, 1815. He served as a soldier at the capture of Louisburg in 1745; returned to his native place after 7 years' service in the army and navy; again entered the army as a capt., and fought at Tiouderoga when Abercrombie was defeated, and in the battle of Lake George. Afterward, falling into an ambuscade, he cut his way through the enemy, and escaped, but with the loss of nearly all his party. In the Revol. he led a company of minutemen at Lexington; and at Bunker's Hill, where he com. a regt., he received a wound from which he never entirely recovered. Made a brig.-gen. Aug. 9, 1776. At the battle of Stillwater, where he com. the first brigade, Ms. line, a cannon-ball passed so near his head as to impair permanently the sight of one eye and the hearing of one ear. In poor health, he resigned his commission, Sept. 12, 1779, in 1803 he recovered his health, and died at Middlebury, Vt.

NIXON, COL. JOHN, Revol. officer, b. Westchester, Pa.; d. Phila. 1 Jan. 1809. A merchant and an ardent patriot of Phila., he com. a regt. on Long Island and at Valley Forge. Pres. of the Bank of N.Y. 1782-1809.

NIXON, COL. THOMAS, bro. of Gen. John, b. Framingham, Ms., Apr. 27, 1736; d. on the passage from Boston to Portland, Me., Aug. 12, 1809; ensign in the French war in 1756; com. a company of minutemen in 1775; was at forward com. in the battle of Brimley, and served through the war with bravery and efficiency. He removed to Southborough in 1784.

Noah, MAJOR MORDECAI MANSFIELD, lawyer and politician, b. Phila. July 19, 1785; d. N. w. York, Mar. 22, 1851. His parents were Jews, and to that faith he adhered throughout his life. Commencing life as an apothecary, he soon devoted himself to the study of the law; removed to Charleston, and took an active part in public affairs. In 1811 he was appointed to Riga, and in 1813 to Morocco, with a mission to Algiers; he returned to the U.S. in 1816, and pub. the incidents of his foreign travel, 8vo, N.Y., 1819. Editor of the National Advocate, a D. mos. journal in N.Y., until 1826; he was, while the editor of, elected sheriff of the city and co. in 1826; he established the N.Y. Telegraph, subsequently merged into the present Commercial Express; in 1834 he established the Evening Star, but withdrew from the daily press, and established, in connection with Messrs. Deans and Howard, a weekly paper, named the Sunday Times. In addition to the office of sheriff, Major Noah was at one time, by surprise of the part, and judge of the Court of Sessions. He endeavored to form a settlement of Jews on Grand Island, in the Niagara River; but the scheme failed. In 1845 he delivered a discourse upon the Restoration of the Jews, and pub. a collection of his miscellaneous essays, entitled "Gleanings from a Catholic Harvest," 12mo, N.Y.; he also pub. a translation of the "Book of Jasher," 8vo, 1849, and was the author of several successful dramas, — "The Fortresses of Sarrago," "Paul and Maria," "She would be a Soldier," "Marion, or the Hero of Lake George," "The Christian Cavalier," and "The Siege of Tipholi."

Noailles de Rochambeau, Louis MARIE VICOMTE, b. 17 Apr. 1756; d. 9 Jan. 1804. Second son of the Marshal De Mouchy. A military career, he became an officer, a tactician, and soon, the regt. Soubasseau, in the army of Rochambeau, distinguishing himself at the capture of Yorktown, and being one of the commissioners to arrange the articles of capitulation. He was a member of the Acad. des Sciences, and holding an enthusiasm for liberty, was one of the nobles who, 13 Aug. 1793, resolved to divest themselves of their excessive privileges, and set with the voeux d'at. He took a principal share in the early part of the French revol. struggle; but in May, 1792, he was one of the successful constitutional adherents, and of the com. of the advanced posts of the army of Valenciennes, and withdrew to the U.S. Resuming the French service, he went to St. Domingo in 1803 as gen. of brigade; he was mortally wounded in an action with an English vessel. His wife was a victim of the guillotine.

Noble, Louis LeGrand, b. Otsego Co., N.Y., 1812. Removed with his parents to Michigan in 1824. Ord. in Prot. Ch. in 1849, officiated in N.C. at Catskill, N.Y., and became in 1851 rector of a church at Chicago. Author of "Ne-mah-mun," an Indian story in 3 cantos, in Galena's M.; "Life, Character, and Genus of Thos. Core," 1833; "The Lady A. George, and other Poems," 1837; "After-Views with a Partner." — Church.

Noble, Norman, gov. Indiana 1811-17; b. Va. Jan. 15, 1791; d. Indianapolis, Feb. 1844.

Noble, Oliver, minister of Coventry, Ct., 1759-64; of Newbury, Ms., 1762-84; and of Newbury, N.H., from 1784 to his d. 1792, a. 54; b. Hopon, Ct. Y. C. 1757. He pub. a discourse on Church Music, 1774; on Boston Massacre, 1775.

Noble, Patrick, lawyer and politician, b. A. S. de ville Dist., S. C., 1757; T. there Apr. 7, 1810. N. J. Coll. 1806. He became a lawyer, a partner of Mr. Calhoun, and in 1812 a State representative, in 1818-24 speaker of the legis., and again in 1832 and '36; was pres. of the State senate; and gov. in 1838-40. In politics he was a state-rights Democr., and was popular with the masses.

Noel, Nicolas, M.D., formerly surgeon-major of the French and American armies; member of the Amer. Philos. Society; a rot. of anatomy and physiology at Rheims; b. Rheims, May 27, 1746; d. there May 11, 1812. Noel, sympathizing in the American struggle for independence, left Paris for the U.S. Dec. 1, 1776, with Trouson du Condray, and furnished with a brevet of surgeon-major of the Colonies, given him by Franklin. He served in that capacity until Jan. 1778, when he was app. to the ship of war "Boston" to accompany the ambassador John Adams to France; subsequently cruised in her, until ordered to return to America, where he rejoined the army. He was afterwards charged with the hospitals of the fleet and army of Rochambeau. During the French Revolution he was actively employed in the army, but returned to Rheims in 1794, and passed the remainder of his days in the labors incident to his profession. — Inst. Univ. Suppl.

Nordheimer, Isaac, Dr. Phil. of the U. of Munich, prof. of Hebrew and teacher of German in Union Theol. Sem.; d. New York, Nov. 1842. Author of Hebrew Grammar, 2 vols. 8vo., N.Y. 1838. "Chrestomathy," 8vo., N.Y. 1848; History of Florence; N. and Turner's Hist. and Child's Concordance, 1842.

Nordhoff, Charles, b. Ewositz, Prussia, 1810. His father was a disting. officer at Waterloo. He came to Amer. in 1834; entered the navy in 1845, and has been editorially connected with Harper's and other periodicals. Author of "Memoir-War Letters," 1855; "Merchant Vessel," 1855; "Whaling and Fishing," 1856; "Stories of the Island World," 1857; "Nine Years a Sailor," 1857; "Cape Cod, and all Along Shore." He edit. K. ri's "Lands and Gardening," 1855. Author of the article on Arctic Adventure in Appleton's "New Amer. Cyclopaedia."

Norman, Benjamin Moore, author, b. Hudson, N.Y., Dec. 22, 1809; d. near Summit, Mt. J., Feb. 1, 1850. The death of his father, a bookseller at Hudson, called him from a clerkship in New York to take charge of the business there. He established a bookstore in N. Orleans in 1847, after conducting the business for a time in Phila. The loss of his wife by yellow-fever in 1841 caused in him an unusual sympathy with the sufferers by this pestilence in subsequent seasons; and he became one of the most self-sacrificing and philanthropic men in that city. As the result of his travels in Yucatan, he pub. in 1842 "Rambles in Yucatan," a work of great value; also "N-w Orleans and its Environs," 1845; "Rambles by Land and Water," 1845. — Biog. Ind.

Norris, Edward, minister of Salem, Ms., from Mar. 18, 1640, to his d. Apr. 19, 1659; b. Eng. abt. 1589. He was a teacher of a minister in Gloucestershire, and came to N.E. in 1639. He was tolerant; did not join in persecuting Gorton and the Anabaptists; and withstood the witchcraft delusion of 1651-4; but in 1653 wrote in favor of making war on the Dutch. He pub. in Lond., 1636, a treatise on Asking for Temporal Blessings, and "The New Gospel not the True Gospel," &c., 4 o., 1678, a reply to John Trask's "True Gospel Vindicated," Lond. 1636. — Witch. Exp. Hist., 387.

Norris, Isaac, chief justice of Pa.; a Quaker; d. Germantown, Pa., June 3, 1735. He was a son of Gov. Lloyd.

Norris, John, one of the founders of the And. Theol. Sem., to which he gave $10,000 Mar. 21, 1808; d. Dec. 22, 1808, a. 57. Many years a merchant in Salem, and several years in the senate of Ms. MARY his widow bequeathed, in 1811, $30,000 to the sem., and a like sum to foreign missions.

North, Col. William, d. Coventry, Pa., Nov. 7, 1840, a. 88. He raised a company in Chester Co., Pa.; was a capt., and afterwards a lieutenant, in the Revol. army in the close of the war; many years a merchant in Phila.; at one time high sheriff of the city and Co. of Phila.; and at the time of his death pres. of the Pa. Society of the Cincinnati.

North, Fitz-Robert, 2d Earl of Guilford, an English statesman, b. 13 April, 1732; d. Lond. 5 Aug. 1792. Successed to the earldom in 1790. Educated at Oxford and Epsom. Entering parliament from Banbury in 1761, he represented that place 20 years. He was at the head of the treasury in 1763-5; chancellor of the exchequer 1767-70; first lord of the treasury 1770-82. During his administration, the American Colonies threw off their allegiance to the British crown, becoming independent after a struggle of 8 years. — 1775-83. He supported the Stamp Act and the right of taxing the Colonies, but, during the last 3 years of the war, preserved in it only in deference to the wish of the king. He possessed great good-temper, wit, and political ability. Though friendly assoc. by Chatham, Burke, and Fox, he maintained his position with eminent tact and ability until Mar. 1782, when he resigned; the surrender of Cornwall is having terminated the war.

North, Samuel, D.D. (Wesl. U. 1849), LL.D. (W. Res. Coll. 1842), b. Berlin, Ct. Y. C. 1825; tutor there 1827-9. Prof. of languages in Ham. Coll., N.Y., 1829-39; pres. of that inst. 1839-57. Author of a number of sermons, discourses, and orations.

North, GEN. WILLIAM, b. Fort Frederick, Pennapil, Me., 1755; d. New York, Jan. 3, 1836. Son of Capt. John of St. George's Fort, Thomaston, Me. Entering the Revol. army in 1775, he was a capt. in Jackson's regt. at the battle of Monmouth; became aide to Baron Steuben in 1779, assisting him in introducing his system of discipline into the army; accompanied him in Va., and at the surrender of Cornwallis, and, gaining the esteem of the baron, became his heir to one-half his property. Adj. and inspec. U.S.A. from July 19, 1798, to June, 1800 (rank of brig.-gen.). He was a conspicuous Federalist; was once speaker of the N.Y. Assembly; one of the first equal commiss. of the State; and U.S. senator in 1798. App. adj.-gen. of the army in 1812, but declined. He m. Polly, dau. of James Duane. — M.S. Memoir, by Miss H. E. North.

North, WILLIAM, b. Eng., some time a resident of N. York City; d. there by suicide, 1854. Contrib. many pieces in prose and verse to the periodicals. After his death, "The Slave of the Lamp," a novel by him, was pub. 1855.

Northend, CHARLES, b. Newbury, Ms. Principal of the Eppes School, Salem; teacher and supt. of schools at Danvers many years. Author of "Teacher and Parent," 12mo, 1833; Speakers and other school text-books. WILLIAM D., his bro., is noted as a lawyer and politician of Salem.

Norton, ANDREW, an eminent Unitarian scholar, b. Hingham, Ms., Dec. 31, 1786; d. Newport, R. I., Sept. 18, 1853. H. C. 1804. Descendant of Rev. John of Ipswich. He studied divinity, but never had charge of a congregation. Tutor in Bowd. Coll. in 1809; and in 1811 at H. C., where he was also librarian in 1813-21; in 1813 succeeded Channing as lecturer on biblical criticism and interpretation; and was Dexter prof. of sacred literature in 1819-50; afterwards residing at Cambridge, devoting himself to intellectual pursuits. In 1833 he pub. his "Statement of Reasons for not believing the Doctrine of the Trinity;" in 1837 "Evidences of the Genuineness of the Gospels," succeeded by three other volumes, a treatise on "The Latest Form of Intuicity" (1839), which was answered by a champion of Transcendentalism, to whom Norton ably replied; and "Tracts concerning Christianity," 8vo, 1852. He was also a writer of a rare of a devotional cast, and of great beauty and sweetness. He left in manuscript a Translation of the Gospels, pub. after his death; contrib. many valuable articles to the N. A. Review and the Christian Examiner; and edited in 1833-4, in connection with Charles Folsom, the Select Journal of Various Periodical Literature. In 1814 he edited the Miscellaneous Writings of his friend Charles Eliot, and in 1823 performed a similar friendly duty for Levi Frisbee. "In his theological views and writings Mr. Norton united opposite schools of thought, and belonged, by an almost equal title, to the extreme right and the extreme left as to matters of religious belief. He was radical as a critic and interpreter, conservative as an expositor of Christian doctrine. While leading the van in the Unitarian protest against Calvinism, he was foremost in opposition to the naturalistic school, of which Theodore Parker was the principal representative. As a lecturer on the interpretation of Scripture he has had few equals, and no superior, in this country." In 1812 he edited the General Repository of Religion, illustrating and defending with ability the views of the liberal school of theology. His son CHARLES ELIOT (H. C. 1816) has been editor of the N. A. Review, and has pub. "Notes of Travel and Study in Italy," and a trans. of Dante's "New Life."

Norton, ASA MULLINGS, D. D. (Un. Coll. 1815), b. Farmington, Ct., 29 Sept. 1765; d. Clinton, N. Y., May 10, 1853. Y. Coll. 1790. Coll. at Clinton 1793. Son of Col. Jehabod, and Ruth Strong. For 40 years he exerted an important influence in Western N. Y., and was one of the founders of Ham. Coll. at Clinton.

Norton, CHARLES, a British gen., b. 1746; d. Mar. 19, 1818. Son of Fletcher Norton, 1st Lord Granby. App. capt. 19th Foot, June, 1763; maj. July, 1769; capt. and lieutenant-col. Coldstream Guards, June, 1774; brev. col. Nov. 17, 1780; gen. April, 1802. He came to New York in Aug. 1779, and was prominent in all the principal subsequent occurrences of the war, receiving frequent and honorable mention. He was long the representative of Guildford in parliament; gov. of Charlemont, and col. 56th Regt.

Norton, JOHN, clergyman, b. at Bishops Stortford, Hertfordshire, Eng., May 6, 1696; d. Boston, Ms., April 5, 1663. Educated at Cambridge U. He was afterward emate of Stortford. Becoming a Puritan, he came to Plymouth, N. E., in Oct. 1635; preached there during the winter; went to Boston in 1636; and, before the close of the year, became minister of the church at Ipswich. He assisted in forming the Cambridge platform in 1643; returned to Boston in 1652; and in 1652 went with Simon Bradstreet as agent to address Charles II. after his restoration. The king assured them that he would confirm the charter, but required that justice should be administered in his name; and that all persons of good moral character should be admitted to the Lord's Supper, and their children to baptism. This was exceedingly offensive to the colonists, who treated the agents on their return so coolly, that it is said to have hastened the death of Mr. Norton. He wrote an answer to a number of questions relating to church gov. sent over from Holland by Apollonius, — the first Latin prose book written in this country; also a treatise against the Quakers, entitled "The Heart of New England bent by the Blasphemies of the Present Generation," encouraging the magistrates in the persecution of the Quakers, which so exasperated them, that, after his death, they represented to the king and parliament that "John Norton, chief priest in Boston, by the impudenc power of the Lord was smitten, and died." He also wrote the "Life and Death of that Deservery Famous Man of God, Mr. John Cotton," Lond., 1658; "Doctrine of Godliness," 1643; "Sufferings of Christ," 8vo, 1653; "The Orthodox Evangelist," 4to, 1654.

Norton, Rev. JOHN, b. Berlin, Ct., 1716;

d. East Hampton, Ct., March 24, 1778. Y.C. 1737. Ord. at Deerfield 1741, and settled in B. marshalltown, Ms. He was chaplain at Fort Massachusetts at the time of its capture; was taken to Canada, where he remained one year, arriving in Boston Aug. 1747. Installed pastor of the Cong. church at East Hampton, Ct., Nov. 9, 1748, where he labored nearly 30 years. He pub. a narrative of his captivity, Boston 1748, a row of which, with notes by S. G. Drake, a p. in 1870.

Norton, JONAS, TRAYNSHOKOAVLES, an Indian, act of the Six Nations. Translat. of the Gospel, by John Jay Mohawk, 1807. It was printed in London by the Bible Society, and distributed among the Mohawks on Grand River, Canada. His mother was Scotch. He was educated at an English school.

Norton, JONAS, D.D. (Herc. Coll. 1833), b. N.Y. (Gen. Col. 1842), Gen. Theo. Sem. 1845. Ord. diacon. Prot. Eps. Ch. July 20, 1845, and after being assist. at St. Luke's, Rochester, for 6 months, became rector of the Cong. of the Ascension, Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 1846. In 1856 he pub. "Life of Bishop Wright," since followed by biographies of many distinguished Christians, that of Land appearing in 1864. He has also pub. Lives of Washington and Franklin, lectures on the Life of David, short sermons, and several religious tracts.

Norton, JONAS PERKINS, first prof. of agrice. chem. stry. at Y.C. b. 1822; d. 5 Sept. 1852. Y.C. 1846. Son of Hon. John Freadwell of Farmington, Ct. Author of "Elements of Scientific Agriculture," 12mo, 1851; "A. pendix to St. phen's Book of the Farm," 2 vols. 1856. He also pub. a number of essays on agricultural subjects.

Norton, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, teacher and author. b. Bloomf. d. N.Y., 25 Oct. 1810. West Br. in 1831, assist. prof. nat. philos. there 1831-3. Prof. nat. philos. and astron. Univ. N.Y. 1836-9, and in Del. Coll., Newark, N.J., 1839-50; pres. Del. Co. 1850-2; prof. col. (eng.) in Y.C. since 1852. Author of "First Treatise on Astronomy," 1839, "First Book of Nat. Philos." 1857, and of articles in Amer. J. of Sci. and other periodicals.

Norton, WILLIAM E., marine-painter of Boston, b. Boston, 28 June, 1843. After leaving school, he was clerk to a Southern packet-line, and was afterwards to a house, sign and fresco painter; and helped to form the "Life School," composed of the older members of the Lowell Institute, went to sea at 18, studying as well as at intervals, and at the age of 22 became successful portrait painter, making another sea-voyage for study the following summer. Among his works are "The Fog-Horn," "The Fish and Lobster" (Geo. Peabody), "The Fish and Cat," "Good-By," and "Rimming Lane."

Notman, JONAS, architect, b. Edinburgh, Scotland, 22 July, 1810; d. Phila. 3 Mar. 1875. In 1831 he settled in Phila. He had completed and studied Larch's Hall Cemetery. Among his chief works are St. Mark's Church in Chestnut St., the temple of the B.C. Cathedral on Logan Square, and the Church of the Holy Trinity, near Walnut and 19th Streets, Phila., of which the noble doorway is especially admired. — Flouiss.

Nott, ABRAHAM, judge and politician, b. Saybrook, Ct., 1767; d. Fairfield, S.C., June 19, 1830. Y.C. 1787. He studied for the ministry, but did not take orders. Ab. 1788 he taught in Ga. a year; studied law in Camden, S.C.; was adm. to the bar in 1791; in 1794, and settled on a plantation on the Pacolet River, but continued the practice of his profession. He was a Federalist M.C. in 1799-1801; practised law with eminent success in Columbia, S.C., from 1804 to 1810, when he was elected a judge of the Court of Appeals.

Nott, EDWARD, gov. of Va. from 1795 to his d., 21 Aug. 1796, a 49. (Williamsburg Va.)

Nott, EPHRAIM, D.D. (N.J. Col. 1805), LL.D. (BU. 1828), divine and educator, b. Ashford, Ct., June 25, 1771, d. 8 September, N.Y., Jan. 29, 1866. BU. 1795. Losing both parents while a boy, he lived with his bro., the Rev. Samuel Nott, at Frankm., Ct., where he taught school in the winter. He ceased to preach in 1795, he labored during the first year of his ministry at Cherry Valley, in the double relation of pastor, and principal of the acad. From 1798 to 1804 he was pastor of a Presch. church at Albany, and in 1804 was elected pres. of Union Coll.; after which period his history was identified with that of the institution. While at Albany, he acquired popularity as a preacher; and among his most successful pulpits efforts was a sermon on the death of Hamilton. In 1854 the semi-centennial anniversary of his proselycy was celebrated, when between 600 and 700 of those who had graduated under him came together to do him honor. Dr. Nott, by his experiments in heat, and the improvements he introduced in stoves, effected an entire change in the mode of warming buildings. His relations consist principally of sermons and addresses, delivered in the middle period of life, when his reputation as a pulpit-orator was at its height. He was an earnest advocate of the temperance cause, and pub. "Lectures on Temperance," 1847. He is a serm. "Counsels to Young Men," miscellaneous works, 8vo, 1810.

Nott, HENRY JUSTUS, scholar and author, son of Judge Abraham, b. on the Pacolet River, Union Dist., S.C., Nov. 4, 1797; drowned off the coast of S.C. Oct. 13, 1837. S.C. Col. 1812. On his return from a brief visit to Europe in 1818, he was adm. to the bar, and became law-partner with D. J. Maceod, with whom he edited 2 vols. of Reports of Cases in the Constitutional Court in 1818, '19, and '20. Suffering again to Europe in 1820 for his health, while a seat was elected to the chair of orificis n, logic, and the philos. of Language, in the S.C. Col. He resided in France 133 years; at the same time being a contrib. to the S. Amer. Review. He issued a collection of his "Novelleries of a Traveller," 2 vols. N.Y. 1834, chiefly humorous; and 140 nearly completed, at his death, an historical romance. In 1837 he visited New York; took passage thence in the steamer "Home," and, with his wife, perished in its wreck.

Nott, Josiah Clark, ethnologist, bro. of H. J., b. Columbia, S.C., Mar. 31, 1804. S. C. Coll. 1824. He took the degree of M.D. at Phila. in 1827; remained there two years as d. mon-tror of anatomy to Dr. Physick; returned to Columbia, and commenced practice; the years 1855-6 he spent in Europe in the study of medicine and nat. hist., since practicing medicine in Mobile, Ala., except during the winter of 1857, when prof. of anatomy at the U. of La. Besides many articles in the medical journals, he has produced several ethnological works; among these are two lectures on "The Connection between the Biblical and Physical History of Man," 8vo, N.Y., 1849; "The Physical History of the Jewish Race," Charleston, 1850; "Types of Mankind," 4to, Phila. 1854; and "Indigenous Races of the Earth," Phila. 1857. The last two were prepared with the aid of Mr. George R. Glendon. He established in Mobile a med. coll., which he legisl. of Ala. endowed with $50,000, and made a branch of the State university. Since 1868, has resided in N.Y. City.

Nott, Samuel, D.D. (Y. C. 1825), clergyman, bro. of Rev. Ephraim, b. Saybrook, Ct., Jan. 23, 1754; d. Franklin, Ct., May 26, 1852. Y. C. 1780. Mar. 18, 1782, he was chos. a pastor of the church in Franklin, Ct., and spent in that office the remainder of his long-protracted life. He was long regarded as the patriarch of the clergy of N.E., and was also prominent as an instructor. Dr. Nott's publications included two sermons, one delivered on the 50th anniversary of his ordination, and the other on the 60th. Although thus outliving his generation, he was feeble and sickly when young.

Nott, Samuel, son of the preceding, last survivor of the first band of missionaries sent out by the American Board to India in 1812, b. Franklin, Ct., 1788; d. Hartford, Ct., June 1, 1863. Un. Coll. 1808; And. Theol. Sem. 1810. Ord. Feb. 6, 1812. On his return he was from 1816 to 1822 a teacher in New York; preached in Cadway, N.Y., from 1823 to 1829, and in Wareham, Ms., from 1829 to 1849; he then taught school in Wareham until 1850. Author of "Slavery and the Remedy," &c., 8vo, 1856, reviewed in the N.Y. Tribune, Jan. 22, 1856; "Sixteen Years' Preaching and Procedure at Wareham, Ms.," 8vo, 1845.

Nourse, James D., journalist and author, b. Bardonia, Ky., 1816; d. St. Louis, 1854. At different times he edited 3 newspapers at Bardonia, and afterwards the Independent at St. Louis. Author of the "Philosophy of History;" "The Forest Knight," a novel, Phila., 1846; "Leavenworth, a Story of the Mississippi and the Prairies;" "The Past, and its Legacies to Amer. Society," 12mo, 1852. — 11th Ann.

Nourse, Joseph, register of the U.S. Army from 1789 to 1829, a vice-pres. of the Amer. Bible Society, b. Lond. 1754; d. near Georgetown, D.C., Sept. 1, 1841. He emigr. with his family to Va. in 1769; entered the Rev. army in 1776 as sec. to Gen. Ch. Lee; was clerk and auditor of the board of war from 1777 until app. assist. auditor-gen. Sept. 19, 1781.

Nowell, Increase, secretary of M., 1636-49; d. Nov. 1, 1655. Chos. an assist. in 1629, he came to N.E. with Winthrop in 1630, and was ruling elder from Aug. 27, 1630 to 1632; a founder of the church in Charlestown, 1632; and in 1634 commiss. for military affairs. SAMUEL, his son (preacher, chaplain at Gen. Winthrop's Indian battle, Dec. 19, 1674; an assist. 1650-6; tr. as of H.U.), b. Charlestown, Ms., Nov. 12, 1634, d. Lond. Sept. 1658. — H. U. 1653. He was a supporter of the old charter, and went to Eng. on its behalf in 1658.

Noyes, Eli, D.D. (Ham. Coll. 1851), scholar and missionary, b. Johnson, Ms., Apr. 27, 1814; d. Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 10, 1851. Subsequently d. He commenced preaching in 1834; and Sept. 22, 1835, accomp. by his wife, sailed for Calcutta. At Orissa, where he was located, he had very gratifying success both as an evangelist and a school-teacher, also becoming a skilful linguist, and pub. a H. brow Grammar and Reader. He returned home with impaired health in 1841; was for one or two years a pastor in Boston; and edited for 10 years the Morning Star, the Free Will Baptist Organ; he also d. lived and pub. in 1853 "Lectures on the Truths of the Bible."

Noyes, George Rapall, D.D. (H.U. 1839), divine, b. Newburyport, Ms., Mar. 6, 1768; d. Cambridge, Ms., June 3, 1868. H.U. 1818. He studied at the Divinity school, Cambridge; was licensed to preach in 1822; was tutor in H.U. in 1825-7; was then ord. pastor of a church in Brookfield, Ms.; and afterwards became pastor of a church at Pettaquam, Ms. Hance's prof. of Hebrew and other Oriental languages, and Dexter lecturer on biblical literature at H.U. 1840-68. He pub. new translations of the Book of Job, 1:27; the Psalms; the Prophets, 3 vols., 12mo; and Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and Canticles, 1846; also several occasional sermons, and numerous articles in the Christian Examiner; edited a series of theol. essays from various authors, and prepared a Hebrew Reader. His translation of the N. Testament was complete, and passing through the press, at the time of his death.

Noyes, James, minister of Newbury, Ms., from 1635 to his d., Oct. 22, 1656, b. Wiltshire, Eng., 1608. He studied at Oxford U.; preached a while; came to N.E. in May, 1634, and preached a year at Mystic, now Medford. Author of "The Temple Measured," Lond. 4to, 1647; a Catechism, reprint d. in 1797; "Moses and Aaron," 1661.

Noyes, James, first minister of Stonington, Ct., from Sept. 19, 1674, to his d. Dec. 30, 1719, b. Newbury, Mar. 11, 1640. H.U. 1659. Son of Rev. James of Newbury. He began to preach at S. in 1664. He was one of the first trustees of Yale Coll.; was a councillor in civil affairs in critical periods, and had a large practice as a physician.

Noyes, James O., M.D., b. Owasco, N.Y., 1829. Formerly surgeon in the Roman army, since prop. and assoc. editor of the Koch's School & Man; and contrib. to others. Author of "Roumania," 1857; "The Cyclops, their History," &c., 1858. — Alliance.

Noyes, Josiah, M.D. (D.C. 1806), physician and medical professor, b. N.H.; d. Clinton, N.Y., Nov. 1, 1853. Dartm. Coll. 1801. Two years tutor in D.C., after which he was prof. of chemistry and pharmacy in Fairfield Coll.; and in 1812, on the organization of Ham. Coll., N.Y., he was invited to fill its chair of chemistry and natural science, which he resigned in 1830. He was the life-long friend of Mr. Webster; and, at the request of the literary executors of that eminent statesman, he wrote reminiscences of his college-life.

Noyes, NICHOLAS, minister of Salem, Ms., from Nov. 14, 1683, to his d. Dec. 13, 1717, b. Newbury, Dec. 22, 1647. H. U. 1667. Nephew of Rev. James Newbury. He preached 13 years at Haddam after graduating. He was a promoter of the witchcraft persecution, afterward publicly confessing his error. A letter of his, with an account of James Noyes, is in Mather's "Magnalia." He pub. a poem on the death of Joseph Green of Salem 1715.

Noyes, WILLIAM CURTIS, LL.D. (Ham. Coll. 1856), lawyer, b. Scholaeck, N.Y., Aug. 19, 1805; d. N.Y. City, Dec. 25, 1864. Adm. to the bar in 1827, he gained a high reputation in Oneida Co., and, removing to N.Y. City in 1838, held high rank in his profession. Delegate to the Peace Convention in Feb. 1861. He was many years an almoner of the N. Eng. Soc. and was chosen pres. the day before his death. He prepared a codification of the laws of N.Y. for publication. His law-library, valued at $60,000, he bequeathed to Ham. College.

Nugent, SIR GEORGE, an English field-marshal, b. June 10, 1757; d. Mar. 11, 1849. Educated at the Roy. Acad. at Woolwich. He joined the 7th Regt. as lieutenant in Sept. 1777, in N.Y., and was present at the storming of Forts Montgomery and Clinton; was app. a capt. in the 57th in Apr. 1778, and did duty with it in the Jerseys and Ct. until May, 1782, when he became major; he served under the Duke of York in Flanders; served as maj.-gen. in Ireland during the rebellion; was created a baronet in 1806; and in 1811 was com.-in-chief in India. H. m., Nov. 15, 1797, Maria, dau. of Cortland Skinner, atty.-gen., and speaker of the N. J. Assembly, and attained the rank of field-marshal in 1846. His bro., Adm. Sir CHARLES EDMOND (1759-1844), served as a lieutenant and capt. in the R.N. during the Amer. war, at Fort Moultrie, at N.Y., and R.I.; tail adm. 1808.

Nuñez, ALVAR (CABECA DE VACA), the earliest and most remarkable explorer of N.A.; d. 1564. With Nuñez as chief officer, Pamphilo de Narvaez sailed for Florida from San Lúcar de Barrameda, with 5 ships and 600 men, July 17, 1527; landing on its coast Apr. 12, 1528. Directing the flotilla to follow the coast westward to a certain haven, and there await his coming, Narvaez, accompanied by Nuñez, entered the interior. They found the Indians hostile; a country possessing few attractions; suffered much from sickness; were disappointed in their expectation of finding gold; and reached the coast, sick and disheartened, only to find no fleet there; the officer in charge of the ships having sailed for Havana without making any effort to reach the place of rendezvous, leaving the gov. and his companions to their fate. The party, reduced to 242 men, embarked,

Sept. 20, in 5 boats of their own construction, which were so crowded, that they were managed with the greatest difficulty. After much suffering from hunger and thirst, from attacks by the Indians, from violent tempests and severe cold, they, late in Oct., reached the mouth of a large river (supposed to be the Mpio.), and landed on an island. Continuing their voyage, a violent storm drove them out to sea, wrecking the boat containing Nuñez on a small island, from which the survivors reached the mainland. The rest of their companions were never afterwards heard of. After extraordinary hardships, in which they were driven to such straits that they lived upon one another, they reached a mountainous country believed to have been New Mexico. They met with buffalo; and, finding an epidemic among the Indians, were remarkably successful in curing them, gaining thereby a great influence over the natives, who imagined them to be from the sun. Taking advantage of this, they endeavored to instil into their minds the doctrines of Christianity. After 8 months among the Indians of New Mexico, Nuñez journeyed westward and southward until 1536, when, with 3 survivors, he reached the Spanish settlements in Culiacan, on the shores of the Pacific. An abridgment of Cabeza de Vaca's "Narrative" may be found in Hakluyt's "Voyages," and a French version in the collection of voyages pub. in Paris by Ternaux Compagny; but the latest and best is a translation by Buckingham Smith, sec. of the U.S. legation in Spain (privately printed), folio, Washington, 1851.

Nuttall, DR. THOMAS, naturalist, b. Yorkshire, Eng., 1786; d. St. Helen's, Laneshire, Eng., Sept. 10, 1859. Brought up a printer. He came to the U.S. in early life; devoted his leisure to the study of botany and geology. Travelled extensively in nearly all the States of the Union; explored the Great Lakes and upper branches of the Mpio., and in 1810 ascended the Mo. as far as the Mandan villages. In 1819 he explored the Ark. River and the neighboring regions, and pub. an account of his travels, entitled "A Journal of Travels into the Arkansas Territory," Phila. 1821. He pub. "The Genera of North-American Plants," 1849; and the "Birds of the U.S.," 1834; "N. Amer. Sylva," 3 vols. 8vo. 1842; and was prof. of botany and nat. hist. in H.U. in 1822-34. He travelled in California, and pub. several papers on the shells and plants of that region. He returned to Eng. to enjoy an estate devised to him on condition that he should reside upon it.

Oakes, JAMES, col. and brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. Pa. West Point, 1846. Entering the 2d Drags., he served through the Mex. war; was brev. 1st lieutenant, 25 Mar. 1847, for Medellín, and capt. 8 Sept. 1847, for Molino del Rey; severely wounded by Comanche Indians, 12 Aug. 1850; capt. 3 Mar. 1855; maj. 6 Apr. 1861; lieutenant-col. 4th cav. 12 Nov. 1861; col. 6th, 31 July, 1866. During the Rebellion he was engaged at the battles of Shiloh and Corinth, and was brev. brig.-gen. 30 Mar. 1865 — Culham.

Oakes, THOMAS, physician, bro. of Urian, b. Cambridge, Ms., June 18, 1644; d. Wellfleet, July 15, 1719. H.U. 1662. He was eminent as a physician, and, on first visiting a patient, "persuades him to put his trust in God, the fountain of health." An assist. in 1690; a representative in 1689, and speaker of the house; councillor; and, as agent for Mass., went to Eng., and aided in framing the new charter.

OALDES, URIAN, J.F.S., of Harv. Coll. (7 Apr. 1675, O. Lib. d.), b. Eng. 1631; d. Cambridge, July 25, 1711. H.U. 1643. He came to Amer. in 1634, and, while very young, pub. at Cambridge a set of astronomical calculations. He served in the ministry at Titchfield, Eng., but was sil. need for non-conformity in 1652; and afterwards preached to another congregation. His learning and piety caused him to be invited to take charge of the church at Cambridge, Ms., where he commenced his labors Nov. 8, 1671. Formally installed pres. Feb. 2, 1680.

Oakley, Thomas Jackson, LL.D. (Un. Coll. 1833), jurist, b. Dutchess Co., N.Y., 1783; d. N.Y. City, May 12, 1857. Y.C. 1801. He studied law, and practised at Poughkeepsie, N.Y. In 1810 he was app. surrogate of Dutchess Co.; N.C. 1813-15 and 1827-9; in 1815 member of the N.Y. Assembly; in 1819 he succeeded Van Buren as attorney of the State; in 1820 he served again in the Assembly. When the Superior Court of N.Y. City was organized in 1828, he was app. an assoc. judge, and, upon its re-organization in 1846, chief justice.

O'Beirne, Thomas Lewis, D.D., clergyman, b. Longford Co., Ireland, 1748; d. 15 Feb. 1823. Though educated at St. Omer's, he took orders in the Presb. Church, and was chaplain of Lord Howe's fleet in the Amer. war. After three years at New York in 1776, he preached in St. Paul's, the only Episc. church saved from the flames. Private sec. of the Duke of Portland, lord-lieut. of Ire. and, 1782, from whom he received in 1783 two valuable livings in Normanna-land and Cumberland; chaplain to Earl Fitzwilliam, and made bishop of Ossory; he was in 1798 translated to the see of Meath. Author of a "Vindication" of the conduct of his patron, the bro. Howe, and other political tracts, and a poem entitled "The Crucifixion," 1776.

Obookiah, Henry, b. Hawaii, 1792; d. Cornwall, Ct., Feb. 17, 1818. He was brought to N. Haven in 1809, and educated for the ministry. He had translated Genesis into his native tongue. His Memoirs were pub. 1818.

O'Brien, Fitzgives, a brilliant writer, and a poet of merit, b. Ireland, 1829; d. in Va. April 6, 1862. He came to this country about 1850. In April, 1861, he entered the N.Y. 7th Regt., and in Jun. 1862 took an app. on the staff of Gen. Landr. and, during the short term of his service, was disting. for courage and daring. Wounded in a skirmish Feb. 16, he died from tetanus following a severe surgical operation. Contrib. to the Atlantic Monthly.

O'Brien, Capt. Jeremiah, Revol. patriot; d. Machias, Me., Oct. 5, 1818, a. 78. One of 5 sons of Maurice, a native of Cork. May 11, 1775, on hearing of the battle of Lexington, these bros., with a few vols., captured the British armed schooner "Margaretta" in Machias Bay. Jeremiah was the leader in this brilliant exploit,—the first blow struck on the water after the war began. He soon after captured two small Eng. cruisers, and carried their captive crews prisoners to the Prov. Congress in Watertown, who commissioned him capt. in the State navy. He com. "The Liberty" (the schooner with which his first capture was made), his bro. William serving as his first lieut.; and cruised successfully two years. He then fitted out "The Hamihal," a 20-gun letter-of-marque, and took several prizes, but was captured; was 6 months in "The Jersey," prison-ship; and after a year's confinement in Mill Prison, Eng., escaped, and retired to Brunswick, Me. He was at the time of his death coll. of the customs at Machias. His bro. John was a successful com. of privateers in the Revolution.

O'Brien, John P. J., brev. major U.S.A., b. Phila. ab. 1817; d. Indianola, Texas, Mar. 31, 1850. West Point, 1836. He served with honor in the Florida war; disting. himself in the command of his battery at the battle of Buena Vista, where, by losing his cannon, he saved the battle; was brev. maj., and wounded; capt. 16 May, 1849. Author of a treatise on "Courts-Martial," 1846.

O'Brien, Richard, seaman; d. Washington City, Feb. 14, 1824, a. 72. In youth he followed the sea; and in 1781, when Arnold invaded Va., he was 1st lieut. of the State brig "Jefferson;" cons-ulgen. to Algiers (where he had previously been held in slavery 1797-1802). He was 19 years on the Algerine coast, and afterward a negotiator in Com. Preble's fleet in the attacks on Tripoli. He subsequently resided at Carlisle, Pa., and was a member of the legislature.

O'Callaghan, Edmund B., M.D., LL.D., author, b. Ireland, was at one time a prominent member of the Provincial Parliament, and editor of the Indicator, the national organ at Montreal. He was active in the agitation of 1837, since when he has been a resident of N.Y., and has rendered valuable service in editing the historical documents of the State. He has been some years in the office of the sec. of state. He has pub. "History of New Netherlands," 1846-8; "Jesuit Relations," 1847; "Documentary History of N.Y.," 4 vols. 4to, 1849-51; "Documents relating to the Colonial History of N.Y.," 11 vols. 1855-61; "Remonstrance of New Netherland," 1856; "Commissary Wilson's Orderly-Book," 1857; "Orderly-Book of Gen. John Burgoyne," 1860; "Names of Persons for whom Marriage-Licenses were issued previous to 1784," 1860; "Journals of the Legisl. Councils of N.Y.," 2 vols. 8vo; "Origin of the Legisl. Assemblies of the State of N.Y.," 4to, 1861; Woolley's "Two Years' Journal in N. York," 4to, 1860; "The Register of New Netherland," 1626-74, 8vo, 1865; "Calendar to the Land Papers," 8vo, 1864; "Calendar of Hist. MSS. in the Office of the Sec. of State," 4to, 1865; "Voyage of George Clarke to America," with Introd. and Notes, 1867; "Voyages of the Stavers St. John and Arns," 1867; "Journal of the Voyage of the Sloop Mary from Quebec," &c., 1866.—Dugekinch.

Occum, Rev. Sampson, an Indian preacher, b. Mohegan, N. Lond. Co., Ct., ab. 1723;

d. New Stockbridge, N.Y., July 14, 1792. Ord. 29 Aug. 1759. He was the first Indian pupil educated by Rev. Mr. Wheelock, in whose family at Lebanon he continued 4 years. In 1748 he kept a school in N. London, and afterwards officiated as teacher of the Indian tribe at Montauk, L.I.; was subsequently employed on several missions to various tribes of Indians; and preached "to good acceptance in N. York, Boston, and other populous places." His influence among the Indians was for a long time great. In 1766 he accompanied Rev. Mr. Whitaker to Eng. for the purpose of soliciting aid for Dr. Wheelock's Indian school at Lebanon, where he was successful in attracting large audiences and obtaining donations. The last few years of his life were passed with the Indians at New Stockbridge. He wrote an account of the Montauk Indians, pub. in the "Ms. Hist. Soc. Colls.;" and pub. a sermon on the execution of an Indian in New Haven in 1772. — Syncope.

Ochterlony, Sir David, bart., a British gen., b. Boston, Feb. 12, 1758; d. Meerut, India, July 15, 1825. Eldest son of David, a loyalist of Boston; his paternal great-grandfather, Alexander, was lord of Pitforthly, in the Co. of Angus. Having completed his education, he was at the age of 18 sent to India as a cadet; became a lieutenant in 1778; in 1803 he was lieutenant-col. and dep. maj.-gen. at the great battle of Delhi, immediately after which he was envoy at the court of Shah Alum; col. Jan. 1, 1812; maj.-gen. June 4, 1814; and, for his skilful conduct in the Nepanese war, was created a knight, com. of the Bath in Apr., and in Nov. 1815 was made a bart. He subsequently disting. himself in the great Malbarra and Pindarry wars of 1817-18, and performed various other important services.

O'Connor, Charles, a prominent N.Y. lawyer, b. N.Y. City, 1804. His father, a man of education and of good family, came from Ireland to N.Y. early in this century. Charles lost his mother in 1816; received only a common-school education; and in 1824 was admitted to the bar of N.Y., at which he has long held the first place. He has never held office, excepting that of dist.-atty. for 15 months at the request of Pres. Pierce, and as a member of the Const. Conv. of 1864. Besides the famous Forrest divorce-case (1851), his greatest cases are the Lispenard will-case (1843), the John Mason will-case (1853), the Parish will-case (1862), the Lemmon slave case (1856), and the case of the slave Jack in 1835 — Sears's Nat. Quart. Rev., vol. xi.

Odenheimer, William Henry, D.D., b. Phila. Aug. 11, 1817. F. of Pa. 1835; Gen. Theol. Sem. (Pr.-Ep. Ch.), N.Y., 1838. Ord. deacon 1838, priest 1841; consec. bishop of N. J. Oct. 13, 1859; made rector of St. Peter's, Phila., 1840. Author of "The Origin of the Prayer-Book," 1841; "Devout Churchman's Companion," 1841; "The True Catholic is no Romanist," 1842; "Thoughts on Immersion," 1843; "Young Churchman Catechised," 1844; "Ringsburgius on Study, Bp. White's Opinions," 1846; essay on "Canon Law," 1847; "Clergyman's Assist.," 1847; "The Private Prayer-Book," 1851; "Jerusalem and Vicinity," 1855, the result of a visit in 1853.

Odin, John Mary, D.D., R.C. archbishop of N. Orleans, b. Amblère, Dept. of the Loire, France; d. N. Orleans, 25 May, 1870. Joining the Lazarists, he was sent as a missionary to Mo. consec. bishop of Claudiopolis, and vicar apost. of Texas, Mar. 6, 1842; transferred to Galveston 1847, and to N. Orleans in 1861.

Odiorno, Thomas, b. Exeter, N.H., Apr. 26, 1769; d. Malden, Ms., May 18, 1851. Dartm. Coll. 1791. Bookseller in Exeter till 1800; then in the dry-goods-trade in Boston, removing ab. 1811 to Malden, where he was an iron manuf. He pub. "The Progress of Refinement," a poem; "Fame and Miscellanies," 18mo, 1792. — D. C. Thum.

Oexmelin, Alexander Oliver, a traveller, who was probably a Fleming. In July, 1666, he was at Tottola, in Amer., in the service of the W.I. Co., where he was sold to a planter for 30 crowns. After 3 years' servitude, he joined some tree-booters, and remained with them till 1674, when he embraced an opportunity to return to Europe, thanking God, as he says, that he had been enabled to relinquish such a miserable kind of life. He afterwards made 3 other voyages to Amer., with the Dutch and with the Spaniards; and was at the taking of Carthage in 1697. His account of his adventures was pub. in French at Paris in 1686, 2 vols. 12mo; at Trevoux 1746 and 1775, 4 vols. 12mo. From some passages in his narrative, it seems probable that he exercised the profession of a surgeon. — Biog. Univ.

O'Fallon, Col. John, a prominent citizen of St. Louis, b. Louisville, Ky., 23 Nov. 1791. Son of Dr. James (who emig. to Wilmington, N.C., in 1774, and served in the Rev. army) by a sister of Gen. Geo. Rogers Clark. John served with distinction under Harrison in the war of 1812; was severely wounded at Tippecanoe; afterwards acquired great wealth as a merchant, and distributed it freely in benevolent and educational enterprises. He endowed the O'Fallon Polytechnic Inst. with property worth $100,000; gave liberally to Wash. Univ.; built the Dispensary and Med. Coll.; and has given over a million dollars to advance the cause of education, and to relieve suffering humanity.

Ogden, Aaron, LL.D., soldier and statesman, b. Elizabethtown, N.J., Dec. 3, 1756; d. Jersey City, Apr. 19, 1839. N. J. Coll. 1773. While a teacher in his native place, in the winter of 1775-6, he assisted in capturing off Sandy Hook, a vessel laden with munitions for the British army at Boston. App. capt. in the first N. J. Regt. com. by his bro. Matthias early in 1777, he was engaged at Brandywine; was brigade maj. in Lee's corps at Monmouth, acting also as assist. aide-de-camp to Lord Stirling. While reconnoitring near Bergen in the winter of 1778-9, he came unexpectedly upon a party of the enemy, from whom he escaped with a severe bayonet-wound. He was aide to Gen. Maxwell in Sullivan's expedition against the Indians in 1779, and at the battle of Springfield in 1780; he was with Lafayette in the Va. campaign of 1781, and at Yorktown gallantly led his light inf. to the storm of a redoubt, receiving the commendation of Washington. After the peace he practised law; was app. lieutenant, 11th Inf. and dep. quartermaster, Jan. 8, 1799; a commiss. for settling the boundary between N. J. and N. Y.; U. S. senator 1801-3, and gov. of N. J. 1812-13. During the war of 1812 he com. the militia of N. J., and declined a commission of major-gen. tendered by the Pres. At the time of his death he was pres. gen. of the Cincinnati.

Ogden, David, judge, b. Newark, N. J., 1707; d. Queen's Co., L. I., 1800. Y. C. 1728. He studied law in New York, and practised in N. J., soon attaining the head of his profession. App. judge of the Supreme Court in 1772; removed to the city of New York on the breaking out of the war, where he was a member of the board of refugees. He drew up the outlines of a plan for the govt. of the Colonies in the event of their submission to Great Britain. He withdrew to Eng. in 1783, his property in N. J. having been confiscated, but returned to the U. S. in 1790. He had the reputation of being one of the "giants of the law" in N. J. Of his sons, ARYAHAM, a disting. lawyer, was U. S. dist. atty. under Washington; 1846 was many years judge of the Court of King's Bench.

Ogden, David B., LL. D. (Col. Coll. 1837), an eminent lawyer, b. N. J. 1769; d. N. Y., July 15, 1849. He came to N. Y. in 1802, and practised chiefly in the U. S. Supreme Court.

Ogden, Henry W., capt. U. S. A., b. N. J.; d. there Aug. 25, 1860. Midshipm. Sept. 1, 1811; Ensign, Mar. 5, 1817; com. Jan. 31, 1838; capt. Feb. 5, 1848.

Ogden, Jason, physician, b. Newark, N. J., 1721; d. Jamaica, L. I., 1779. He was of English parentage, received a classical education at Yale, and, after studying medicine, commenced practice at Jamaica, L. I., where he enjoyed extensive patronage nearly 40 years. He pub. in 1769 and 1774 letters to Hugh Gaime on "The Malignant Sore-throat Distemper." Dr. Francis says he was the first who in the U. S. availed himself of the free use of mercurials in the treatment of inflammatory diseases. — See her.

Ogden, John Cosens, b. N. J.; d. Chestertown, Md., 1800. N. J. Coll. 1770. He resided in N. Haven in 1770-85; m. a dau. of Gen. Wooster; and in 1786-93 was rector of the Pre-Ep. church, Port-m., N. H.; afterward subject to mental derangement. Author of "Excursion into Bethlehem and Nazareth, Pa., in 1799, with a Hist. of the Moravians," Phila. 1800; letters occasioned by a corresp. with Dr. MacClintock, Masonic address, and sermons.

Ogden, Matthias, soldier (bro. of Aaron); d. Elizabethtown, N. J., Mar. 31, 1791, a. 36. He joined the army at Cambridge; took part in Arnold's expedition to Quebec, in which he was wounded; and afterward commanded the 1st N. J. Regiment till the close of the war, when he was brevetted brigadier-general.

Ogden, Uzal, D. D. (N. J. Coll. 1798), rector of Trinity Church (1788-1805), b. Newark, N. J., ab. 1744; d. there Nov. 4, 1822. Ord. Pre-Ep. priest 21 Sept. 1773. He pub. a Masonic Sermon, 1784; "The Reward of Iniquity;" "Antidote to Deism," 1795. He became a Presbyterian in 1805. — See Sprague.

Oge (o'zhi'), Vincent, a crusade of St. Domingo, b. ab. 1750; executed 26 Feb. 1791. At the commencement of the French rev. he was engaged in commerce at Cape Franais. Mercantile affairs having drawn him to Paris, he was adm. into the Society of Friends of the Negroes, and, aided by some of the most active members, warmly solicited the National Assembly in favor of his brethren. He headed an insurrection in Nov. 1790 at Grande Riviere. The insurgents demanded freedom and political equality; but their cause was ere long disgraced by crimes equally useless and atrocious. These however, were not attributable to Oge, but to his lieutenant, Chavannes. Obligated to give way to superior force, Oge, with a few followers, took refuge in the Spanish territory, and, being given up to the French, was tried before the Superior Council at Cape Franais, and condemned, with Chavannes, to be broken on the wheel.

Ogilby, John, master of his Majesty's revels in Ireland, b. Edinburgh, 1600; d. 1676. Pub. "America, being the most Accurate Description of the New World," &c., 6 vols. Lond. 1671. He lived many years in London; pub. translations of Homer, Virgil, &c., with Holbar's Illustrations, and Atlases, with descriptions of different countries.

Ogilby, John D., d. Paris, 1851. Col. Coll. 1829. Prof. lang. Rut. Coll. 1832-40; rector of Columb. Coll. Grammar School 1820-30; a Prot. Ep. clergyman, and prof. of eccl. hist. in the Gen. Theol. Sem., N. Y., 1844-51. Author of "Argument against the Validity of Lay Baptism," 1849; "The Catholic Church in England and America," 1844.

Ogilvie, James, scholar, b. of a noble Scotch family ab. 1760; d. Aberdeen, Sept. 13, 1820. Emig. to America, he founded a classical acad. at Richmond, Va., where he taught many pupils afterward celebrated, among them Gen. Scott and Hon. W. S. Archer. He retired some years afterward to the backwoods of Ky., where, alone in a log-cabin, he composed a series of lectures, which were given with great applause in Va. and the Atlantic States. His relative, the Earl of Findlater and Ayr, dying without children, he returned to Scotland, and claimed the title; but the habitual use of narcotics had undermined his intellect, and the attempt failed. Soon after reaching Scotland, worn out in body and mind, he perished, probably by his own hand. Author of "Philosophical Essays," 1816, 8vo, Phila.

Ogilvie, John, D. D. (Col. Coll. 1770), minister in New York; d. there Nov. 29, 1774, a. 51. Y. C. 1748. He was some time a missionary to the Indians on the Mohawk, but preached mostly at Albany; and from 1765 to his death was assist. minister of Trinity Church, New York. He left 300 pounds to a charity-school, and other benevolences.

Ogle, Benjamin, gov. Md. 1798-1801, b. Md. 1744; d. Annapolis, July 6, 1800. Before the Rev. he was a member of the Md. Council.

Ogle, Samuel, gov. Md. 1737-42 and 1747; d. 1751. He had previously held a command on the Irish Establishment.

Oglesby, Richard James, gov. of Ill. 1865-9, b. Oldham Co., Ky., June 24, 1824

He studied law at Springfield, Ill., and began practice at Sullivan, Moulton Co. During the Mexican war he served as lieut. 4th Ill. Vols. In the spring of 1849 he joined an overland company on their way to California, where he remained two years, when he returned to Decatur, Ill., and resumed practice; in 1860 he was chosen State senator. Made col. 8th Ill. Vols. in 1861, he led a brigade at the capture of Fort Donelson; and was made brig. gen. Vols. Mar. 21, 1862, for his gallantry in that engagement. He was in the battle of Shiloh; was severely wounded at the battle of Corinth, Oct. 4, 1862; mar. g. n. Nov. 23, 1862.

Oglethorpe, James Edward, a British gen., founder of the Colony of Georgia, b. London, 21 Dec. 1698; d. 1 July, 1785. Son of Sir Theophilus of Godalming Surrey. Entered Oxford in 1714, obtained a commiss. in the Grenads; served under Marlborough and Prince Eugène; and in 1722 took his seat in parliament. Made a trustee for the liberation of poor debtors; he obtained a govt. grant of £10,000, and a liberal subscription, to found a colony of liberated insolvents in Ga., whither he proceeded in Jan. 1733; in 1734 he returned to Eng. with some Indian chiefs, who were presented to the king; in 1735 he sailed again for Ga. with John and Charles Wesley; in 1736 he again went thither with a regt. for its defence, and quelled a mutiny which nearly cost him his life. He successfully repelled the attacks of the Spaniards, but was unsuccessful in an exped. against St. Augustine, of which he pub. an acct., London, 8vo, 1742. He met with many difficulties in establishing his govt., expending large sums from his private fortune, and finally left the Colony in 1743. Made a maj.-gen. in 1743, he was employed to pursue the rebels under the Pretender, but, unable to overtake them, was tried by court-martial, and acquitted; in 1752 he resigned the charter of Ga. to the British govt.; in 1754 left parliament, and retired to his seat in Essex; and 22 Febr., 1765, was paid on half pay as a gen. in the Army. When Gen. Gage returned to Eng. in 1775, the com. in America was offered to Oglethorpe, whose moral conditions did not please the British ministry. He was one of the first to wait on John Adams after his arrival as ambassador to Eng., and to express his regard for America, and his gratification at the termination of the war. Oglethorpe, who was a man of great benevolence, has been eulogized by Thomson, Pope, and by Dr. Johnson, who wished to write his life. — S. L. G. S. Lives of O. G. S. in Hist. Ser. of W. B.

O'Hara, Charles, a British gen., d. gov. of Georgia, Feb. 21, 1802. App. lieut. and capt. Carolina Guards, Jan. 1756; lieut. col., Feb. 1762, col. 21 Foot Guards, Aug. 1777; mar. gen. O. 10, 1777. He came to S. America in 1780 as com. of the Guards, served in Va. under Lee, com. the vanguard in the pursuit of Mingo and Greene in Jan. 1781, and at G. 1791, where he was severely wounded, com. the 1st of Cornwall's army in the surrender of which he was included. He was again severely wounded at Forton in Nov. 1795. After having been gov. of several colonies, he was made gen. gov. of Georgia in 1787, and gov. in 1795. He was a brave and enterprising soldier, and a strict disciplinarian.

Ojeda de (la obá'dá), Atonzo, a Spanish explorer, and lieut. of Columbus, b. Cuenca ab. 1465. He accomp. Columbus in his second voyage to America in 1493, and com. an exped. sent to explore the interior of Hispaniola, where he captured the chief Caonabo. Having returned to Spain, he received com. of an exploring exped. sent out in 1499. Amerigo Vesputi was among his officers or passengers. He discovered a part of the new continent, which he named Venezuela, and returned to Spain in 1500; in 1508 he attempted to colonize New Andalusia, and to conquer the natives, but was not successful.

Olcott, Simon, jurist, b. Ct. 1737; d. N. H. Feb. 1815. Y. C. 1761. He commenced practice at Charlestown, N. H.; became chief justice of the C. C. P. Dec. 25, 1784; judge of the Superior Court, Jan. 25, 1790; chief justice March 28, 1795; and was U. S. senator in 1801-5.

Oldham, John, murdered by the Indians, who came on board his vessel to trade in 1636. This event brought on the Pequot war. He came to Plymouth in 1623; associated with Lyford in 1624, and set up a separate worship on the sabbath, intending to alter, perhaps to assume, the govt. He afterward lived at Hull and at Cape Ann, and represented Watertown in 1634. In 1633, with Samuel Hall and others, he travelled from Dorchester to a place on the Ct. River now called Windsor. This exploration led to its settlement.

Oldham, Col. William, b. Berkeley Co., Va.; killed at St. Clair's defeat, Nov. 4, 1791. He attained the rank of capt. in the R. vol. army; resigned in 1779, and settled at the Falls of the Ohio. He was very efficient in the Indian warfare of the day, and com. a Ky. regt. in St. Clair's army. — C. G. S.

Oldmixon, John, d. England, 1742, a 69. A native of Somersetshire; collector of customs at Bridgewater. — Author of "The British Empire in America," 2 vol., 1741; and other historical works and poems. Pope eulogizes him in "The Dunciad." He is supposed to have visited America.

Oldmixon, Mary (Georgia), a celebrated singer, a contemporary of Garriek; d. Phila. Feb. 1835 at an advanced age. Wife of Sir John Oldmixon, an English bar., who led a famous Phila. in 1818. She was many years on the Phila. stage, having made her débüt at the Chestnut-st. Theatre, May 14, 1793, as Columbian, or "Robin Hood." She at one time kept a seminary for young Ladies at Philadelphia.

Olds, Gamaliel S., b. Greenville, Ms. 1777; d. City of Va. O. June 17, 1848. Wins Coll. 1800. — During several years, prof. of mathematics there in 1806-8, at the U. of Vr. 1810-21, at Amh. Coll. 1821-5, afterwards at the U. of Va. — His colleague with Dr. Newton of Geneva in 1813-16, and preached in Ohio from 1841 till his death. He pub. "Inaug. Oration," 1806; 8 sermons on "The sovereignty and Presbyterianity," 1815; statement of "Persians as Professor at Middlebury 1818."

Oli de, Cimirvoel, a Spanish officer under Cortes in the conquest of Mexico, 1519-21, who afterward attempted to make himself independent, b. abt. 1492; taken prisoner by the soldiers of Cortes, and executed in Honduras in 1524.

Ohm, Henry, judge; d. Salisbury, Vt., 1837, a. 70. His boyhood was spent in Addison Co., Vt.; member of the Vt. Gen. Assembly in 1790-1825, excepting 4 years; of the State Const. Convs. of 1814, '22, and '28; assize judge of Addison Co. in 1801-6; chief judge in 1807 and in 1810-24; M. C. in 1821-5; lieutenant-gov. 1827-9; councillor 1820-2. Father of Rev. Stephen.

Ohm, Stephen D.D. (West. V. 1834), LL.D. (Y.C. 1845), eloquent divine, b. Leicester, Vt., March 3, 1797; d. Middletown, Ct., Aug. 16, 1851. Mid. Coll. 1820. His father, Judge Henry, directed his education. Entering the ministry of the M. Ep. Church in 1824, he spent two years in Charleston; became pres. of the Abbeville Sem., S. C.; resumed his itinerant labors in 1829; was prof. of Eng. literature in Franklin Coll., Ga., 1826-33; pres. of the Randolph and Macon Coll., 1832-7; and from 1839 to 1844 and from 1842 till his death was pres. of the West. V. of Middletown. Deleg. to the Gen. Conf. of M. E. Church 1844 and 1852; deleg. to Evang. Alliance, London, Eng., 1846. He visited Europe for his health in 1837, and on his return in 1843 pub. "Travels in the East;" he was also author of various sermons, lectures, and discourses. His works were pub. in 2 vols. 12mo, N.Y. 1852; and his "Life and Letters," 2 vols. 8vo, 1853.

Olinda, Pedro de, ARAZJO LIMA, Marquis de, Brazilian statesman, b. Pernambuco, 1709; d. Rio Janeiro, 7 June, 1870. Educated at Pernambuco, and in law at the U. of Coimbra; member of the Constituent Assembly of Porto, d. in 1821, and from 1823 to his death was a member of that of Brazil; pres. of the chamber of deputies in 1825-7, 1831-3, and 1835-7; twice regent of the empire during the minority of Pedro II.; minister of state in 1823, '27, '32, '37; made Viscount Olinda in 1841, and marquis in 1854; member of the council of state from 1842; a moderate liberal, and tolerant in politics.

Oliver, ANSON, colonial statesman, b. Boston, March 28, 1706, d. there, March 3, 1774. H. U. 1724. Son of Daniel, and a descendant of Elder Thomas of Boston, who d. in 1657. He was a representative of Boston at the Gen. Court 1743-6; one of his majesty's couns. 1746-65, sec. of the province in 1756-70, and succeeded Hutchinson as lieut. gov. In 1765 he was appd. collector of stamps; but was compelled by the citizens, who hung him in effigy on the "Liberty Tree," to resign. His fondness for wealth and power induced him to propose a political course similar to that of his bro. in law Hutchinson, whose unpopularly he fully shared; and his letters, which Franklin obtained in Eng., and sent over in 1772, caused his subversion to the British ministry. He wrote largely on theological and political subjects; and some of his sermons are meritorious. His son DANIEL, H. U. 1762; d. Ashford, Warwickshire, Eng., May 6, 1827, a.

82. Another son, PETER, M.D. (H. U. 1769), d. Lond. Apr. 6, 1795, a. 45.

Oliver, ANSON, W., judge of the C. C. P., for Essex Co., before the Royal Ch. Nov. 13, 1701; d. Salem, Ms., Dec. 1799. H. U. 1749. Eldest son of the preceding. He possessed fine talents and good scholarship; he was one of the original members of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences, to whose "Transactions" he made several valuable contribs.; was a member of the Philos. Society of Phila.; and in 1772 pub. an essay "On Comets." He represented Salem in the Gen. Court in 1766; but was a Tory at the Revolution.

Oliver, BENJAMIN LYNDE, M.D. (1815), 1788-1843. H. U. 1808. Nephew of Dr. B. L. Oliver, and son of Rev. Thos. Fitch. Author of "Rights of an Amer. Citizen," 8vo, 1832; "Law Summary," 8vo, 1833; "Practical Conveyancing," 8vo; "Forms of Practice," 8vo, 1841; "Forms in Chancery, Admiralty, and Common Law," 1842; "Hints on the Pursuit of Happiness," 1848. He was a noted chess-player. — V. 1700.

Oliver, DANIEL, M.D. (U. of Pa. 1810), LL.D., b. Marblehead, Sept. 9, 1757; d. Cambridge, June 1, 1842. H. U. 1806. After practising medicine for some years in Salem, he was from 1815 to 1821 lecturer on chemistry, and from 1820 to 1837 a prof. in the med. school at Hanover; from 1840 until March, 1842, a prof. in the Med. Coll. at Cincinnati. Author of "First Series of Physiology," 1835; 2d edition, improved, in 1840; "Address at D. Coll.," 19. 70 p., 1825.

Oliver, PETER, LL.D. (Oxon. 1776), jurist, bro. of Lt. Col. Anson, b. Marblehead, 1713; d. Birmingham, Eng., Oct. 13, 1791. H. U. 1750. He was bred on a family estate in Middleborough; and, after holding several offices in Plymouth Co., he was, though not educated to the law, called to the Supreme bench, Sept. 14, 1756. He was, in 1771, made chief justice; and when called upon in 1774 to receive the grant for his services as usual from the treasury of the province, and to engage to receive no pay or emolument except from the Assembly, he promptly refused; was impeached by the house of representatives; and, when the British troops abandoned Boston, he, with other loyalists, accompanied them. He went to England, where he lived for some years on a salary, or pension, from the crown. He was a talented writer both of prose and poetry, and pub. "Speech on the Death of Isaac Lothrop," 1750; "Poem on the Death of Sess. Willard," &c., 1757; "Scriptural Lexicon," Birmingham, 8vo, 1754-5. He was a contributor, as was his bro. also, to the Conno., a Tory paper. His son PETER, a physician of Middleborough, Ms. (H. U. 1764), also a loyalist, d. Salisbury, Eng., July 30, 1822, aged 81.

Oliver, PETER (b. os Wm. PAINES OLIVANT), b. Hanover, N.H., 1821; d. 1855, while on a voyage for his health. A descendant of Thos., first ruling elder of the First Church, Boston, 1632, son of Dr. Daniel. Educated for the bar. Edited his uncle's (B. L. Oliver) "Practical Conveyancer;" contrib. articles to the N. Y. Church Bazaar; and left in MS. "The Puritan Commonwealth," pub. by his

bro. F. E. Oliver, 8vo, 1856. This work, which severely criticises the Puritans, was reviewed in a pamphlet of 79 pages by J. W. Thornton, 1857; and by Rev. Geo. E. Ellis in the N. A. Review, April, 1857.

Oliver, COL. ROBERT, Revol. officer, b. Boston, 1738; d. Marietta, O., May, 1810. Removed to Barre while young. A lieut. in 1755; he marched to Cambridge as capt. in the 3d Regt.; in 1777 he was major, and in 1779 lieut.-col., 10th Ms. Cont. Regt.; and in 1782 brev. col. At Saratoga he was disting. in storming the German intrenchments; acted as adj.-gen. to the Northern army, and excelled as a disciplinarian. He was among the first settlers of Marietta, O., in 1788; a representative to the Terr. legisl. in 1798; councillor in 1799; pres. of the council 1806-3; and judge C. C. P. — Holdsch.

Oliver, THOMAS, last royal lieut.-gov. and pres. of the council of Ms., b. Dorchester, Ms., Jan. 5, 1734; d. Bristol, Eng., Nov. 29, 1815. B. U. 1753. Descended from Elder Thomas. After the death of Lieut.-Gov. Andrew Oliver, of the same ancestry, in Mar. 1774, he was nominated his successor; Sept. 2 he was compelled by the people to resign his seat at the council board, and took refuge with the troops in Boston; he accomp. them to Halifax in 1776, and went thence to Eng. He contrib. poem 29 to the "Pietas et Gratulatio," Boston, 1761.

Olmsted, JAMES MCNSON, D. D., Presb. clergyman and author, b. Stillwater, N. Y., 17 Feb. 1794; d. Phila. 16 Oct. 1870. Un. Coll. 1819; Princet. Theol. Sem. 1822. Licensed in 1822, and performed missionary-work until ordained in June, 1825, over the churches of Lanthsburg and Centre; subsequently pastor at Middle Tuscaraora, Flemington, N. J., and Snow Hill, Md. Besides sermons and essays, he pub. "Thoughts and Counsels for the Impenitent," 1846; "Our First Mother," 1852; and "Noah and his Times," 1853.

Olmsted, DENISON, LL. D. (U. of N. Y. 1815), astronomer, b. E. Hartford, Ct., June 18, 1791; d. New Haven, May 13, 1859. Y. C. 1813; tutor there 1815-17. He was carefully instructed by his mother; became a member of Gov. Treadwell's family, and a clerk in the store of one of his sons; and subsequently took charge of the union school at New London. App. in 1817 prof. of chemistry, mineral, and geol. in the U. of N. C. Here he proposed and executed the first State geolog. survey ever attempted in this country. The report was out in 1824-5. In 1825 he was app. prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. in Y. C.; and in 1836 prof. of nat. philos. and astronomy. He pub. in 1831-2 a treatise on nat. philos. which soon became a popular coll. text-book; and, soon after, an abridgment of it; in 1839 a treatise on astronomy; in 1840 a "School Astronomy"; in 1842 " Rudiments of Nat. Philos. and Astronomy"; "Letters on Astronomy," prepared at the suggestion of the Ms. Board of Education; Memoir of E. P. Mason, 1842; of J. Treadwell, 1843; "Student's Compendious Book," and many articles in periodicals. In 1830 he pub. an elaborate theory of half-storms. The extraordinary slower of shooting-stars which fell in Nov. 1833 led to his investigations into their history and phenomena; and he satisfactorily demonstrated their cosmical origin. In 1835 Profs. Olmsted and Loomis were the first American observers of Halley's Comet. The results of a series of observations for several years on the aurora borealis he has given in the 8th vol. of the "Smithsonian Contribs." Inventor of the Olmsted stove. FRANCIS ALLYN, M. D. (Y. C. 1844), his son, b. Chapel Hill, N. C., 1819; d. N. Haven, 1844. Y. C. 1839. After his return from a voyage to the Sandwich Islands for his health, 1841, he pub. "Incidents of a Whaling-Voyage," 12mo.

Olmsted, FREDERICK LAW, author and landscape-gardener, b. Hartford, Ct., Nov. 10, 1822. He studied engineering and the sciences bearing on agriculture at Y. C. in 1845-6, and then worked on a farm in Central N. Y.; subsequently he carried on a farm of his own at Staten Island, at the same time writing for periodicals on rural subjects. In 1850 he made a pedestrian tour in Great Britain and on the Continent, the results of which he pub. as "Walks and Talks of an American Farmer in Eng.," 1852. In 1852-3 he travelled extensively in the Southern and South-eastern States, and pub. his observations in "A Journey in the Seaboard Slave States, with Remarks on their Economy," 1856; "A Journey through Texas," 1857; and "A Journey in the Back Country," 1860; a résumé of the entire series was pub. by him in 1861, entitled "The Cotton Kingdom, a Traveller's Observations," &c., 2 vols. "The Englishman in Kansas," by T. H. Gladstone, edited by him, was pub. 1857. In 1855 he made another tour through France, Italy, and Germany; and in 1856 was app. to superintend the construction of the N. Y. City Central Park. In 1857 the highest prize for the best plans for the ground was awarded to that of Messrs. Olmsted and C. Vaux, which was adopted. He was in 1858 app. architect and chief engr. Mr. Olmsted made another short European journey in 1859, and was long engaged on the Central Park, as well as in laying out the upper part of N. Y. Island and other similar enterprises. A. M. of H. U. 1864.

Olney, COL. JEREMIAH, Revol. officer, d. Providence, R. I., Nov. 10, 1812, a. 62. At the commencement of the war he was made lieut. col. in Angell's regt., of which he was afterwards col., frequently being the chief officer of the R. I. forces. His heroism was conspicuous at Red Bank, Springfield, Monmouth, and Yorktown. Many years col. of customs at Providence, and pres. of the Cincinnati, of R. I.

Olney, STEPHEN, Revol. officer, b. North Providence, Oct. 1755; d. there Nov. 23, 1832. A descendant of Rev. Thomas, one of the founders of the Baptist Church in America, b. Hertford, Eng., 1631; d. Prov. 11 June, 1722. Entered the army in 1775 as lieut. in Capt. J. Olney's company; was at the battles of Long Island, White Plains, Brandywine, Germantown, and Monmouth, and in the retreat through N. J.; received a ball in the arm at the battle of Springfield; was at the gallant defence of Red Bank, and was promoted to capt. Detached to join Lafayette, he served under that officer at the siege of Yorktown, where he was specially disting. in the capture of a British redoubt, and received several bayonet-wounds. He represented his native town 20 years in the Gen. Assembly, besides holding numerous town-offices. — See Lives of Baiton and Oberon, by Cath. Williams, Prov. 1839.

Onderdonk, BISHAMIN THEADWELL, D.D., LL.D., clergyman, b. N.Y. City, 1791; d. there Apr. 30, 1864. Col. Coll. 1809. Ord. priest in 1813, and app. assist. at Trinity Church; became disting. as a preacher. Prof. in the Gen. Theol. Sem., N.Y., 1826-30; made sec. of the Diocesan Convention; he was, Nov. 26, 1830, consec. bishop as successor of Bishop Hobart in the diocese of New York. He was eminently useful and industrious in this exalted position. In 1844, serious charges, which caused great scandal, led to his trial by the house of bishops; and though the worst charges were not proved, yet the convention deemed him guilty of such indiscretions, that they suspended him from his episcopal functions Jan. 3, 1845. Strenuous efforts were made by his friends to re-instate him, but without success.

Onderdonk, HENRY, JUN., educator and author, b. Manhasset, N.Y., 11 June, 1804. Col. Coll. 1827. Fifth in descent from Adriaen Andrewse, who emigr. from Holland to Flatbush, L.I., bef. 1672. Henry was brought up on his father's farm, and from 1832 to 1865 was principal of Union Hall Academy, Jamaica, L.I. Author of Revol. Incidents of Queen's Co., N.Y., 1846; of Suffolk and King's Counties, 1849; "Queen's Co. in Olden Times," 1865; "Long Island in Olden Times," 1870; "Bibliography of L.I.," 1866; "Hist. of the Soc. of Friends in Queen's Co. 1637-1790," &c. Lecturer on temperance, local history, &c. Hon. member of various historical and genealogical societies.

Onderdonk, HENRY USTIE, M.D. (U. of Edinb. 1810), D.D., bishop Prot.-Ep. Church, b. N.Y. City, 1789; d. Phila. Dec. 6, 1858. Col. Coll. 1805. He studied medicine at London and Edinb. After practising this profession a few years, he studied for the ministry; was ord. deacon in 1815; went as missionary to Canandaigua in Jan. 1816, which, under his care, grew into a flourishing parish, of which he became rector in 1818; in 1820 he became rector of St. Ann's Church, Brooklyn; and Oct. 25, 1827, was consec. assist. bishop of Pa.; suspended Oct. 21, 1844; restored Oct. 1856. He was a popular preacher and an eminent controversial writer. He pub. two vols. of sermons; an essay on "Regeneration," 8vo, 1835; "Appeal to the Religious Public, &c., of Canandaigua," 1818; "Episcopacy Examined and Re-examined," 1835; "Family Devotions," 1835; and an important tract, "Episcopacy tested by Scripture," 1830. Though he had been restored to the ministry, he did not resume the discharge of episcopal functions. Assoc. edit., with Dr. V. Mott, of the N. Y. Med. Journal in 1815. Contrib. to many periodicals, and author of some choice hymns.

O'Neill, JOHN BETTON, LL.D., jurist, b. Bush River, S.C., Apr. 10, 1793. S.C. Coll. 1812. He taught in an acad. at Newberry; studied law; and was a short time in active military service during the war with Great Britain. Adm. to the bar in 1814, he soon had a large practice; was a member of the State legisl. in 1816, '22, '24, and '26; speaker during the last two terms; in 1828 an assoc. judge; in 1830 judge of the Court of Appeal; in 1850 pres. of this court and the Court of Errors; and was subsequently made chief justice of the State. Abandoning in 1832 the use of spirituous liquors and tobacco "in order to save a friend," he in 1841 became pres. of the State Temperance Society, and in 1852 the head of the Sons of Temperance of N. A. He furnished the minis-tries of the Revol. for the Southern Literary Messenger; pub. a "Digest of the Negro Law of S.C.," 1818; "Annals of Newberry," 1858; "Biographical Sketches of the Bench and Bar of S.C.," 2 vols. 1851, and several pub. addresses.

Ord, EDWARD ORNO CRESAP, brev. major-general U.S.A., b. Alleghany Co., Md., 1808. West Point, 1830. James, his father, was an officer in the war of 1812. Entering, under the 31 Art., he served in 1839-42 against the Seminole Indians; was employed in coast-survey duty in 1845-6, when he was ordered to Cal., where he contrib. to the preservation of law and order by the execution of several noted desperadoes. Capt. 7 Sept. 1850; in 1855 he returned to Cal., serving there and in the Territories until 1861, taking part in several Indian expeditions: brig.-gen. vols. Sept. 11, 1854; and com. a brigade in the Pa. Resery. s. under Gen. McCull. Dec. 20 he defeated a Confed. force under Stuart, at Dranesville, Va., near the Potomac, for which he was made maj.-gen. May 2, 1862. Ordered to the Army of the Mt. he was placed in com. of Corinth, and subsequently of the 21 division of the dist. of W. Term. He participated in the battle of Iuka 19 Sept. 1862, for which he was brev. col.; com. and was severely wounded in the battle of Hatchie 5 Oct. 1862; com. 13th corps at siege and capture of Vicksburg, and at capture of Jackson; com. 18th corp., s. July 21 to Sept. 30, 1864, in operations before Richmond; and wounded in assault and capture of Ft. Harrison, 29 Sept. 1864; com. d. pt. of Va. Jan. - June, 1865; and engaged in siege of Petersburg, and pursuit and capture of Lee, 9 April, 1865; brev. brig.-gen. for battle of Hatchie, and maj.-gen. for Ft. Harrison; maj. 4th Art. 21 Nov. 1861; lieut.-col. 1st Art. Dec. 11, 1865; brig.-gen. of regular army, July 26, 1866.

Ord, GEORGE, naturalist, b. Phila. 1781; d. there 24 Jan. 1866. Pres. of the Phila. Academy of Nat. Science, 1851-56. Author of Supplement to Alex. Wilson's Ornithology, and Memoir of his Life, 1825; Memoir of C. A. Leamer, in Am. Journal of Sci. 1858, &c. ser. ii. v. viii. 23; Memoir of Thos. Say, read before Philos. Soc. Dec. 19, 1854. Contrib. to scientific journals. Member Amer. Philos. Soc. and of the Linnean Soc. of London.

Ordaz (or Ordiz), DON DIONIS, Spanish explorer, served under Cortes in the conquest of Mexico; d. 1533. He was the first white man that ascended Popocatepetl. Authorized by Charles V. to conquer the country between Cape Vela and the Bay of Venezuela, he ascended the Orinoco 160 leagues, ab. 1531.

O'Reilly, Bernard, D.D., R.C., bishop of Hartford, Conn., 10 Nov. 1850; d. at sea Jan. 1855.

Orellana, Francisco, a Spanish officer, who discovered the great river of the Amazons; b. Toledo, abt. 1500; d. 1511. He accompanied Pizarro in 1541, and took part in its conquest. When, in 1540 Gonzalo Pizarro set out to explore the regions east of the Andes, Orellana was his second in command. After several weeks passed in the descent of the Napo, one of the upper tributents of the Amazon, their provisions were entirely exhausted, and Pizarro died. Orellana and 50 soldiers in a barge, at the water borders to proceed to the confluence of the waters, procuring a supply of provisions, and return to his relief. In 60 days he reached Quito, but finding the country a wilderness, and being starved, he lost his own party, and followed the course of the river to the sea, his voyage occupying 7 months, and almost his entire hardships. He reached the ocean, Aug. 1541, and, sailing to Spain, excited great wonder by relating that he had passed through a country inhabited only by women who were warriors, and that he had received authentic information of the existence of the Eldorado, where gold was so plentiful that brass was made of it with it. He obtained from the Spanish crown a commission to conquer the country, to explore the gold he had discovered, and afterwards organized an expedition for the purpose, but died on his voyage.

Orrin, Stephen, an early settler of Hartford, Conn., 1-16. Befell snail in Harmer's case, 1794, against the N.W. Indians in 1792; a leading lawyer; afterward circuit judge, M.C. 1811-17. His son STEPHEN was a leader of the "Frisco Legion" in the Mexican war.—A. T.

Orne, Aaron, Revol. patriot; b. March 10, 1722; d. Boston, Jan. 7, 1795. He was a successful merchant; was a delegate to the Essex Convention in Sept. 1774, and to the Prov. Congress; was long one of the com. of the army, and was an active member of com. on military affairs, in organizing the forces, and carrying arms and ammunition. In Jan. 1776 the Prov. Congress published one of the three minutes of ordering; he had previously been a member of the Com. Court; and, after the adoption of the State constitution in 1780, was many years in the senate and council. He was a able and enterprising merchant, his own property being a large spec. causing him to decline business.

Orne, Joseph, physician, b. Salem, July 6, 1757; d. there, Jan. 28, 1836. H.P. 1765. Practised law with Dr. Hoyle; practised in Plymouth 1770-71; then removed to Salem. He was a superior surgeon, a flow of the blood of Arsenic & Iodine, and wrote for C. M. of Socy.—A. T.

Orr, Benjamin, lawyer; b. Bedford, N.H., Dec. 1, 1772; d. Bradford, Mass., Sept. 5, 1828. Durin, Coll. 1788. Son of Hon. John. In his youth he worked at a trade, and taught school; he studied law with Judge Wilcox; he practised at Fowey, Me., 1789; and afterwards removed to Bradford, where he was employed in elating practice; M.C. 1817-19. Author of an "Oration on the Death of Washington," 1800.—W. & S. Lawyers of Me.

Orr, Hector, M.D., physician, b. E. Bridgewater, Ms., Mar. 24, 1750; d. there, Apr. 29, 1855. H.P. 1792. Son of Col. Robert. Pub. a "History of Freemasonry;" "A Discourse," 1797; "Oration," 1801.

Orr, Hugh, inventor, b. Scotland, Jan. 13, 1747; d. Bridgewater, Ms., Dec. 6, 1798. Son of Robert of Lochwinnoch, Renfrewshire. He was a gunsmith, who, in June, 1740, settled at Bridgewater, where he erected a trip-hammer, and manufactured scythes and other tools; abt. 1748 he made 500 muskets for the State, believed to have been the first made in this country; and during the Rev. war, cast iron and brass cannon, and cannonballs; he invented a machine for clearing flax-seed, which he sent to Scotland; and constructed a machine for the manufacture of cotton. He was some years a State senator. His son, Col. Robert, was armorer at Springfield.

Orr, Isaac, b. Bedford, N.H., 1793; d. Andover, Ms., 28 Apr. 1844. V.C. 1818. Son of John, a Revol. officer. Some years a teacher in the Academy for the Deaf and Dumb, Hartford; in 1801 a preacher, and missionary in Washington City, and in the service of the Com. Socy.; was a proficien in mathematics and natural philosophy, and invented an air-tight stove. Contrib. 45 letters of "Harmonia" to the Connoisseur, 1778-80, and 80 letters of "Taleo" to the Boston Courier. R. I. fit a MS. commentary on Daniel and Revelation.

Orr, James Lawrence, lawyer and statesman, b. Craytonville, S.C., May 12, 1822. U. of Va. 1842. He received a good education, but until his 18th year was obliged to employ a part of his time behind the counter of his father, a country shopkeeper. He studied law; was admitted to the bar in May, 1843, and opened an office at Anderson, S.C.; in 1843 he edited the Anderson Gazette; in 1844 and 45 he was a member of the State Legislature; and in 1849-50 was M.C. A member of the Southern-Whigs Convention held at Charleston in May, 1851. He opposed the policy, while maintaining the right of secession on the part of the several States. During the 32d Congress he was frequently chairman of the com. of the whole on the subject of the Union; during the next Congress was chairman of the com. on Indian Affairs; and was speaker of the 35th Congress. As a member of the S.C. convention which met in Dec. 1860, he cordially espoused in favor of the immediate and complete secession of his State, and was a prominent one of the three com. to Washington to treat with the rebels for the surrender of S.C. ports. In Oct. 1861 he was ordered to traverse a harbor in S.C. for a U. of C. U.S. 4-81-662-53; cov. S.C. 1-66-0.

Orr, John, Revol. officer; b. Bedford, N.H., Dec. 24, 1822, a 75. Aged but active British soldier; received a ball just above the knee joint, which cost him for life. For many years he was a State senator and a State member; was 200 State councillor; and 20 years a trustee of the State. Each of Benjamin and Isaac O.

Orton, Abraham G., D.D., Presbyterian minister, b. Tyngham, Ms., 1789; d. Lisle, Broome Co., N.Y., 25 Dec. 1864. Wms. Coll.

1-19; Princet Sem. 1820. Ord. 1822; pastor Presb. church, Seneca Falls, N.Y., 1822-35; at Coeung, N.Y., 1838-52; and at Lisle in 1852-60. In 1838 he pub. a reply to Prof. Stuart on Slavery, and wrote ably against the abolition of capital punishment.

ORTON, JAMES ROCKWOOD, M.D., physician, poet, and editor, b. Hamilton, Madison Co., N.Y., 1806; d. Brooklyn, L.I., Feb. 13, 1867. He practised in medicine success fully several years, but, finding his physical powers overtaxed, removed in 1850 to N.w York, and devoted himself to literary pursuits. He wrote for the Musical World, and at one time edited the Weekly Reporter and the Binghamton Courier. Among his publications are "Poetical Sketches," &c., 1829; "Arnold and other Poems," 1854; "The Camp Fires of the Red Man;" and "Confidential Experiences of a Spiritualist," 1858.

OSBORNE, EMAN. Presb. minister, b. Fairfield, Ct., Aug. 21, 1758; d. Fairfield, N.J., May 1, 1858. D.C. 1774. At the age of seventeen, he volunteered as a private in the Royal army; served in the campaign of 1776, and in the retreat through N.J. Lic. used as a minister at the age of 27; and from Dec. 1779 to 1814 was settled at the old stone church, Fairfield, N.J. — D. C. A. ann.

OSBORNE, JOHN, poet, b. Sandwich, Ms., 1714; d. Middletown, Ct., May 31, 1753. H. 1743. Son of Rev. Samuel, minister of Fitchburg. He studied divinity, but subsequently settled at Middletown in the practice of medicine. Among his pieces, which evince considerable talent, is an episode written in 1735, and addressed to one sister on the death of another; and a whaling-song, which was long in vogue. His son JOHN, a physician of Middletown (b. 17 Mar. 1741, d. Jan. 1825), was a surgeon in the army at Ticonderoga in 1758; was dying, as a chemist, and pub. La Fontaine's treatise on the Small-Pox, with an Appendix. His son JOHN CHURCHILL, M.D., b. Middletown, Ct., Sept. 1766, d. St. Croix, Mar. 5, 1819. N. J. Coll. 1801. He practised in Newburn, N.C., in 1787-1807; then went to New York, where he was prof. of the institutes of medicine in Col. Coll., and afterwards prof. of obstetrics in the Coll. of Phys. and Surgeons. He was eminent in his profession, and was a connoisseur in poetry, belle-lettres, and painting.

OSBORNE, LACROIX, poet, of N.Y. Col. Coll. 1827. His pub. anonymously "Sixty Years of the Life of Jeremy Lewis," N.Y., 1831; "The Dream of Almad-Doran;" "The Contusions of a Poet," Phila., 1835; "The Vision of Ruben, an Epic Story of the Island of Manhattan, with Illustrations done on Stone," a satire; "Arthur Carryal, a Nov.," the author's best work; a poem of the "Don Juan" class; and a treatise on "Oil Painting." From a poetical fragment entitled "England as She Is," he appears to have been a resident there in 1833. Also author of "Calvary;" "Virginia Tragedies," 12mo, 1837. — Deput. M.

OSBORN, SAMUEL, minister of Eastham, Ms., 1718-37, b. Ireland ab. 1690; d. Boston ab. 1753. Dismissed for Arminianism, he taught a private school in Boston about 107 years. He introduced the use of pent on Cape Cod. He pub. his case and complaint, 1743.

OSBORN, SELLECK, poet, b. Trumbull, Fairfield Co., Ct., 1783; d. Phila., Oct. 1, 1826. He received an ordinary English education, and at 12 years was placed in a newspaper printing-office at Danbury. At 21 he became editor of a Jeffersonian paper, the Independent Witness. Found guilty of a libel, he defaulted payment of a heavy fine, and was confined a year in Litchfield jail. After his release he resumed his paper, which he edited some years. During the war of 1812-15 he served as a captain in the U.S. army; was stationed on the Canada frontier; and was in the battle of Plattsburgh. After the peace he again edited a paper, first at Burlington, Vt., and then the Am. Watchman at Wilmington, Del. In 1825 he edited a paper supporting Calhoun for the presidency, and soon after removed to Phila. His small volume of "Poems, Moral, Sentimental, and Satirical," Boston, 1823, contains selections from his first five pieces. — Deput. M.

OSBORNE, THOS. O., lawyer and soldier, b. Jersey, Livingston Co., O., 11 Aug. 1822. U. S. O. 1851. Studied law at Crawfordsville, Ind.; was admitted to the bar, and settled in Chicago in 1858. Col. 39th Ill. Regt. Dec. 1861, serving in W. Va. at the battle of Winchester, 23 Apr. 1862; served in the operations in Charleston harbor in 1863; took part in Butler's expedition up the James River in May, 1864; at Drury's Bluff was severely wounded, losing the use of his right arm; at the siege of Petersburg he com. 1st battery, 1st division, 24th corps, and 2 Apr., 1865, captured Fort Gregg, the key to the works about Petersburg and Richmond, by one of the most gallant and successful charges of the war. For this service he was made brigadier. By his prompt motion he cut off the Conf. d. troops from the Lynchburg road, and contrib. to the capture of Lee's army, and was brev. major-gen. 2 Apr. 1865. Now practises law in Chicago. — Leads of Men of Chicago.

Oseola (ASSE-HE-HOLAR, or BLACK DRINK), a celebrated Seminole warrior, b. on the Chattahoochee River, Ga., 1804; d. Fort Moultrie, S.C., 30 Jan. 1838. Son of White Powder — an Englishman, and a trader with the Indians — by an Indian woman. In 1808 his mother and her boy settled in Fla. Though of humble rank, he was the governing spirit of the Seminoles; was disting. in all games and games, and was noted for independence and self-possession. Oseola vehemently opposed the removal of the Indians from Fla., and having in June, 1835, used insulting language to Gen. Thompson, the U.S. agent at Fort King, he was confined in irons under guard for six days. Dec. 28 he avenged himself by killing Thompson and 4 others outside of Fort King. He led the Indians in the battle of Wicliatchee, which against Gen. Clinch, and was wounded in the arm. This level of his arm had measured Maj. Doolittle's arm, and his story was put to flight. He had several engagements with the troops under Gen. Gaines, June 9, 1836, was repulsed in a duel, and killed as usual on Fort Micanopy, and an insurgents' attack on Fort Drane, Aug. 12; and contended with skill and energy for more than a year against overwhelming odds; but 22 Oct. 1837, while holding a conference, and a flag of truce, with Gen. Jessup, near St. Augustine, was treacherously seized, and confined at Fort Moultrie until he died broken-hearted. He was a brave and generous foe, and always protected women and children.

Osgood, David, D.D. (Y.C. 1797), Cong. clergyman, b. Andover, Ms., Oct. 14, 1747; d. M. Ford, Dec. 12, 1822. H.U. 1771. Ord. Sept. 14, 1774. Descended from John, one of the founders of Andover. Until he was 19, he worked on his father's farm; he then studied theology with Rev. Mr. Emerson of Hollis, and afterward at Cambridge. He settled as minister of M. Ford, where he continued nearly 50 years, and became a distinguished preacher. A zealous Federalist, one of his sermons in 1794, upon Gen. M.'s appeal to the people against the treaty, attracted great attention, and passed rapidly through several editions. His election sermon in 1800 was the most celebrated of his discourses. He was a thorough Calvinist, "a truly good and great man, and an earnest and fervent preacher." A vol. of his sermons was pub. in Boston in 1824. — Spurgeon.

Osgood, Frances Sargent, poetess, b. Boston, 18 June, 1811; d. Hingham, Ms., May 12, 1850. Dan. of Joseph Lusk, a merchant of Boston. Early attracting the notice of Mrs. L. M. Child, she contributed to her Juvenile Miscellany poems under the signature of "Florence." In 1835 she m. Samuel Salmon Osgood, a portrait-painter, with whom she soon afterwards visited London, where he pursued his art-studies. She was not only a contributor to the Eng. periodicals, but also pub. a small vol. called the "Casket of Fate;" a collection of her poems under the title of "A Wreath of Wild-Flowers from N. Eng. Land," 8vo, 1839; a dramatic drama in 10 acts, "Elfrida;" and a play written at the request of Sheridan Knowles, entitled "The Happy Returns, or the Triumphs of Love." They returned to Boston in 1840, where she pub. "The Poetry of Flowers and the Flowers of Poetry," together with "The Floral Coloring." In 1849 the poem of Mrs. Osgood were pub. at Phila. in 8vo, illustrated. Soon after her death, a "Memorial" by her friends, with a Lib. by Dr. Griswold, was pub. (N.Y. 1851).

Osgood, Helen Louise (Gilson), philanthropist, b. Boston abt. 1835; d. Newton Centre, Ms., April 20, 1868. After the death of a younger sister, she was the ward of F. B. Fay of Concord; was well educated; and was engaged with a great musical and conversational talent. When the civil war commenced, she was among the first to organize Soldiers' Aid Societies, and provided employment for the wives and daughters of soldiers who were in special circumstances. Early in 1862 she went to the army as a nurse, endeavoring herself to be useful by her gentle attentions, her sweet voice, and her great executive power. During the bloody years of 1864-5 she administered comfort and relief to thousands of the severely wounded and dying. She also organized and conducted for many months a hospital for 1,000 patients of the sick and wounded colored soldiers of the Army of the Potomac. In 1866 she was m. to Mr. Osgood, a laborer in the sanitary work in the Army of the Potomac; but her over-taxed powers failed, and she died a martyr to her patriotism and philanthropy.

Osgood, Samuel, A.A.S., statesman, b. Andover, Ms., Feb. 14, 1743; d. N. York, Aug. 12, 1813. H.U. 1770. A descendant of John of Andover. He studied theology, but, losing his health, became a merchant. He was often a member of the legisla.; was a delegate to the Essex Co. convention in Sept. 1774; a member of the Prov. Congress, and on many important committees. He was a capt. at Lexington and Cambridge in April, 1775; aide to Gen. Ward in 1775-6; member of the Board of War; and left the army in 1776 with the rank of col. and assistant-commissary. Member of the house till 1779, when he was a senator; delegate to the Old Congress 1780-4; first commiss. of the U.S. trans. in 1785-9; and U.S. postmaster-gen. 1789-91. Afterwards member of the N.Y. legisla., and speaker of the house; supervisor of N.Y. in 1800-3; and from 1803 till his death navy-looker of the port of N. York. He pub. several vols. on religious subjects, and a work on chronology; was well versed in science and literature, and distinguished for integrity, public spirit, and piety.

Osgood, Samuel, D.D. (N.J. Coll. 1827), pastor 1st Cong. Church, Springfield, from 25 June, 1809, to his d. 8 Dec. 1862; b. Fryeburg, Me., 3 Feb. 1784. D.C. 1805. He was an able preacher, and an active reformer. He pub. some sermons and addresses, "Half-Century Sermon," 1859.

Osgood, Samuel, D.D. (H.U. 1837), clergyman and author, b. Charlestown, Ms., Aug. 30, 1812. H.U. 1832; Camb. Divinity School, 1835. After traveling and preaching 2 years, he was ord. May 6, 1838, over the Unitarian church in Nashua, N.H.; D. C. 29, 1841, he was called to the Westminster Church, Prov., R.I.; and in 1843 to the Church of the Messiah, N.Y., where he remained until 1869. Ord. deacon in the Pr. Ep. Church Aug. 5, 1870. Dr. Osgood has pub. translations from O'Shaughnessy and De Wette; "The History of the Passion," 1839; and "Human Life," 1842. Author of "Studies in Christian Biography," 1851; "The Hearthsone," 1854; "God with Men," 1854; "Milestones in our Lifes-journey," 1855; and "Student-Life," 1860. He edited the West in Mass., Louisville, Ky., in 1836-7; and the Christian Impulse, N.Y., 1850-4. He has contributed to the Christian Examiner, the N. A. Review, the Bibliotheca Sacra, and the leading monthly magazines. His printed sermons, speeches, and orations are numerous; among them is his discourse at Medville Theological School on "The Coming Church and its Clergy," 1858; and his oration before the alumni of H.U. in 1860. He has been an active literary and educational object. His theological sympathies, before becoming an Episcopalian, were with what was called the "Broad Church." Many years corr-sp. sec. of the N.Y. Historical Society.

Osgood, Thaddeus, philanthropist, b. Methuen, Ms., Oct. 24, 1775; d. Glasgow, Scotland, Jan. 19, 1852. Dartm. Coll. 1803. He studied divinity with Drs. Lothrop and Emmons. Ord. abt. 1806; was steeled supply in Southbury, Ct.; and was a missionary in N. Y. and Canada. He organized the first church in Buffalo, N. Y., and in many others; in 1812 collected $9,000 in Eng. for a school in Quebec, and gathered there 200 boys in a sabbath school; went again to Eng. in 1825, and collected $5,000 for a society to promote education and industry; in 1837 formed another society in Canada to supply Bibles for seamen and emigrants; was many years a distributor of tracts, and founder of sabbath schools; went a third time to Eng. for benevolent objects; and closed his useful life in Scotland.

Ossoli.—See FULLER, SARAH MARGARET.

Osterhaus, Gls. PETER JOSEPH, b. Prussia. Served as an officer in the Prussian army; afterward settled in St. Louis, Mo. Entered the Union service in 1861 as maj. 2d Mo. Vols.; took part in the battles of Dug Spring and Wilson's Creek; became col. 12th Mo. Vols.; com. a brigade under Gen. Fremont; took part in the exped. under Gen. Curtis which resulted in the battle of Pea Ridge, where he com. a divis. and greatly disting. himself; was made brig.-gen. June 9, 1862; in D. C. com. a divis. in the 13th corps at Helena, Ark., with which he participated in the capture of Arkansas Post, 11 Jan. 1863, and in the Vicksburg campaign; com. 1st div. 15th corps in the operations at Chattanooga and battle of Mission Ridge; in the Atlanta campaign in 1864, and in that of Ga. and S. C. com. the 15th corps; maj.-gen. 23 July, 1864; chief of staff to Gen. Canby at Kirby Smith's surrender in May, 1865.

Oswald, Col. ELEAZER, b. Eng. ab. 1755; d. New York, Oct. 1, 1795, of yellow-fever. He was of good family, being related to Richard of Anchenerville. His sympathies were awakened by the action of the Sons of Liberty in America as early as 1770, and he soon after came to America; served as a capt. under Arnold, and at the capture of Ticonderoga, and became Arnold's sec.; he exhibited great bravery at the siege of Quebec at the close of 1775, where he com. the forlorn hope after Arnold was wounded; in 1777 he was made a lieut.-col. in Lamb's regt. of artillery, and soon afterward disting. himself with Arnold at Compo. For his bravery at the battle of Monmouth he was highly commended by Generals Knox and Lee; soon after this engagement he left the service. He engaged in the printing and publishing business at Phila., and was app. public printer. Upon constitutional questions he was an opponent of Hamilton, whom in 1789 he challenged to fight a duel, their friends adjusted the matter, and the meeting was prevented. In 1792, being in Eng. on business, he went to the Continent, joined the French army, and com. a regt. of art. at the battle of Jemmapes.

Oswald, RICHARD of Anchenerville, b. 1705; d. Nov. 6, 1784. One of the framers of the treaty of peace which closed the Revol. war. He was a merchant of Lond., and gave £60 for Henry Laurens in the sum of £50,000. He m. Mary Ramsay, celebrated by Burns in one of his songs.

Otey, JAMES HERVEY, D.D. (Col. Coll.

1833), Pr.-Ep. bishop of Tenn., b. Liberty, Va., Jan. 27, 1800; d. Memphis, Tenn., Apr. 23, 1863. U. of N. C. 1820. Ord. 1825, and was the first Prot.-Episc. minister who settled in Tenn.; conse. bishop Jan. 14, 1834; and did duty in Mpi., La., and Ala., among the Indians, &c. Throughout the South and Southwest his title was, "the Good Bishop." Though strongly opposed to secession, he was persuaded to write his famous letter to the senate of state, remonstrating against coercive measures on the part of the Federal govt.; the able reply to this letter changed the views of "the Good Bishop," who thenceforth acted with the Northern doctee. Author of numerous addresses, sermons, charges, speeches, &c., and a vol. entitled "Unity of the Church," &c., 8vo, 1852.

Otis, HARRISON GRAY, statesman and orator, b. Boston, Oct. 8, 1765; d. there Oct. 28, 1848. H. U. 1783. Son of Samuel A., and nephew of James Otis. Adm. to the bar 1786, he soon became a successful lawyer, and entered upon public life, where his brilliant talents, graceful oratory, and extensive acquirements, gained him great éclat. Ail. to Gen. Brooks in the Shay's Insurrection in 1785; a member of the legisl. in 1796; M. C. and a prominent leader of the Federal party in 1797-1801; U. S. dist. atty. 1801; member of the legisl. and speaker 1803-5; pres. of the State senate 1806-11; judge of C. C. P. 1814-18, U. S. senator 1817-22; mayor of Boston 1829-32. He was a prominent member of the Hartford Convention in Dec. 1814, the views and proceedings of which he afterward wrote, and published series of letters upon. In the U. S. senate he made an eloquent speech in reply to Finckley on the Mo. Question in Jan. 1820. He pub. an oration, July 4, 1788; letter to W. B. Ath. 1798; eulogy on Hamilton 1804; speech on the Mo. Question 1820; on the Sedition Law; addresses in Boston 1, 24 and 1, 30.

Otis, JAMES, col. and judge, b. Barnstable, Jan. 14, 1702; d. Nov. 9, 1778. Son of Judge John Otis, and, without the advantages of a regular education, rose by the native energy of his mind to distinction. A diligent study of the principles of law, as connected with political institutions, had prepared him as an opponent of the ministerial plans against the Colonies, and he ardently engaged in asserting their rights; a member of the Prov. legisl. in 1758; made speaker of the house in 1760; and continued in that office two years, when he was negatived by Gov. Bernard. On the death of Chief Justice Sewall in 1760, Col. Otis, seconded by his son James, applied to Gov. Bernard for the app. of assoc. judge. Mr. Hutchinson, who was nominated, attributes to their disappointment the "flaming patriotism" of the father and son. In 1763 he was app. judge of probate for Barnstable Co.; chief justice of the C. C. P. Feb. 1764; the same year he was chosen speaker of the house, and also a member of His Majesty's council, but was negatived by the govt., owing to his opposition to the measures of govt. He was elected to the council every succeeding year, and was negatived regularly until 1770, when Lieut. Gov. Hutchinson appropriated the choice. During the first years of the war, Mr. Otis sat at the council board, of which he was pres. and the oldest member.

OTIS, JAMES, orator and Revol. patriot, b. W. Barnstable, Ms., 5 Feb. 1725; d. Andover, Ms., 23 May, 1783. H.U. 1743. Son of the preceding. He studied law with J. Gridley; at 21 he began practice at Plymouth; removed to Boston in 1759, and acquired a high reputation at the bar; in 1755 he m. Ruth Cunningham. In 1760 he pub. " Rudiments of Latin Prose." Otis's public career dates from his famous speech against the " Writs of Assistance " in 1761; chosen to the legisl. in May, 1764, he became the leader of the popular party; in 1764 he pub. a pamphlet, " The Rights of the Colonies Vindicated," a masterpiece of argument. — June 6, 1765, he moved the calling of a congress of delegates from the several Colonies, which was adopted, and to which he was in Oct. a delegate, and one of the com. to prepare an address to the commons of Eng. Elected speaker of the house in May, 1767, he was negatived by the gov., and resigned his office of judge-advocate. Upon the requirement of Gov. Bernard that the legisl. should rescind its Circular Letter requesting the Colonies to unite on some suitable mode of redress, Otis made a speech, pronounced by his enemies as the " most violent, abusive, and treasonable declaration that perhaps was ever uttered." The house refused to rescind by a vote of 92 to 17. — In the summer of 1769 he denounced in the Gazette, in severe terms, the calumnies of some of the custom-officers; who attacked him Sept. 9, and inflicted a deep cut on his head, to which has been partly attributed the derangement under which he afterwards labored. He obtained a verdict against Robinson, one of his assailants, for £2,000, which he gave up on receiving a written apology, and withdrew to the country in 1770 on account of his health. He was again a representative in 1774, but took no active part in affairs; subsequently, his mind having become seriously impaired. — During a brief incident in 1774 he resumed practice in Boston, but 6 weeks after his return to Andover, was killed by a stroke of lightning. — a fate for which he had often expressed a wish. Otis's great defect was his intemperance. He was a man of powerful genius and ardent temper, of impetuous and commanding eloquence, and, as a lawyer, stood at the head of the profession. He pub. besides the works named, " Vindication of the House of Representatives," 1762; and " Considerations," &c., 1765. — See Epoch of Otis, &c., 1823.

OTIS, COL. JOHN, judge, b. Hingham, Ms., 1655; d. Barnstable, Ms., Sept. 23, 1727. John his father was in Hingham in 1635; went to Scituate abt. 1662; and d. 1674, a. 64. Col. Otis was 20 years the representative of Barnstable; commander 1705-27; many years com. the militia of the county; was chief justice of the C.C.P., and first judge of probate. He had fine talents, and possessed great wit and humor.

OTIS, SAMUEL ALEFYNE, Bro. of James, b. Barnstable, Nov. 24, 1740; d. at Washington, Apr. 22, 1814. H.U. 1759. He commenced the study of law, but abandoned it, and engaged in mercantile pursuits in Boston; representative to the Gen. Court in 1776, and a member of the convention which framed the State constitution; during the Revol. he was a member of the board of war, and in 1784 speaker of the house; in 1787 he was app. one of the commiss. to negotiate with the insurgents in the Shay's Rebellion; member of Congress in 1788; and, after the adoption of the Federal Constitution, was chosen sec. of the U.S. senate. He m. Elizabeth, only dau. of Harrison Gray, receiver-gen. of Ms. (who d. 1794, a. 84), and was the father of H. G. Otis.

Ottebein, PHILIP WILLIAM, founder of the Church of the United Brethren, b. Dillenburg, Germany, June 4, 1726; d. Baltimore, Md., Nov. 17, 1813. Ord. to the ministry in the Reformed Church at Hildorn in 1749; sent in 1752 missionary to America by the synod of Holland, he settled first at Lancaster, Pa.; officiated at Tulpehocken and York, Pa., and Frederick, Md., and in 1774 established himself at Baltimore; shortly after his settlement at Lancaster he adopted " new measures," such as pray'r-meetings, class-meetings, and open-air meetings held in groves; he made many itinerant tours, associating with himself other preachers of like faith and zeal; and at the time of his death there were united to his church ab. 100 preachers and 20,000 members. He was a man of great learning, piety, and zeal. His church is spread over large portions of the Northern and Southern States, and numbered abt. 90,000 communicants.

Otto, JOHN C., M.D. (U. of Pa. 1796), physician, b. N. J. 1775; d. Philadelphia, June 30, 1845. N. J. Col. 1792. His father, Dr. Bodo Otto, was a disting. physician and Revol. officer. — John C. was a successful practitioner in Phila. for nearly 50 years; was an attending physician in the Pa. Hospital, and for many years clinical lecturer in that institution. He pub. med. papers in the N. Y. Med. Repos., and in the N. A. Med. and Surg. Journal 1828-30. — See Memoirs by L. Parr. Sc., Phila. 1845.

Otto, LOUIS WILLIAM, COMTE DE MOSLOY, French diplomatist, b. 1754 in the duchy of Baden; d. Paris, Nov. 9, 1817. Educated at the U. of Strasburg; in 1777 app. sec. of legation at Bavaria. The ambassador Luzerne, being app. minister to the U.S. in 1779, took with him M. Otto, who remained as sec. and chancelier d'affaires till 1792; he was then employed by the com. of public safety, but, on the fall of the Girondists, was sent to the Luxembourg Prison, where he remained till the 9th thermidor; in 1798 he went to Berlin as sec. to the ambassador Sieyès; in 1800 he was sent to England to treat for an exchange of prisoners, and acted as minister-plenipotent, till the peace of Amiens; after the campaign of 1800 he was ambassador to Vienna, where he negotiated the marriage of Napoleon with the archduchess; he became a minister of state on his return to Paris in 1813, and during the hundred days was und. r-sec. of state for foreign affairs. He m. a Miss Livingston.

Ouseley, SIR WILLIAM GORE, D.C.L. (of Oxon.), son of Sir William, b. Lond. 1797; d. there 6 Mar. 1866. Attache at Stockholm 1817; and at Washington in Nov. 1825; and m. there the dau. of C. P. Van Ness. Author of "Remarks on the Statistics and Polit. Institutions of the U. S.," svo, 1832; "Views of S. America," 1852, &c.

Ovando, NICOLAS, a Spanish officer, and commander of the order of Alcantara, b. ab. 1460; d. 1518. He succeeded Bobadilla as gov. of Hispaniola in 1501. Though just and kind to the Spanish colonists, he perpetrated great cruelties upon the Indians, many of whom were massacred at Xaragua by his order; he also treated Columbus with great injustice, thwarting him upon all occasions. He was recalled in 1503, and succeeded by Diego Columbus, son of the great admiral.

Overman, FREDERICK, mining engr. of Phila.; d. 1852. Author of "Manuf. of Iron," 1830; of "Steel," 1831; "Moulds" and "Founders' Pocket-Guide," 1851; "Pract. Mineralogy, Assaying, and Mining," 1851; "Mechanics for the Millwright, Mechanist," &c., 1852; "Metallurgy," 1852. — ibidem.

Oviedo, Y VALDES (o-va-sá-do e-va-dés), GONZALEZ HERNANDEZ, a Spanish chronicler, b. Madrid, 1473; d. Valladolid, 1557. Of noble descent. He spent several years of his youth at court, and saw the final campaigns of the Moorish war. In 1514 he was sent to St. Domingo as supervisor of gold smeltings; became a Spanish noble of commerce, and passed most of his days in America. Author of "Crónica de las Indias," 1535, republ. at Salamanca, with additions, in 1547, — one of the rarest and most valuable records of early Spanish-American history; also of a valuable work, still in MS., "Quinquagenas," or 50 dialogues; his "History of Nicaragua" was pub. by Ternaux-Compan, Paris, svo, 1840.

Owen, COL. ALEXANDER, b. Prince Edward Co., Va., 1769; killed at the battle of Tippecanoe, Nov. 7, 1811. He moved to Shelby Co., Ky., in 1785; served in the campaigns of Wilkinson and St. Clair in 1791, and in Col. Hardin's expedition to White River. Surveyor of Shelby Co. in 1796; afterward a magistrate, and col. of militia; member of the Ky. Const. Conv. in 1799, and of both branches of the State legisl.; aide-de-camp to Harrison at Tippecanoe. — Collier's Hist. Ky.

Owen, DAVID DALE, geologist, son of Robert, b. Lanarkshire, Scotland, June 24, 1807; d. New Harmony, Ind., Nov. 13, 1860. He was educated with his bro. R. D. Owen at Hotwyl, Switzerland, and in 1826 accomp. his father to New Harmony. He spent 2 years in the study of geology and other branches of natural science in Europe, and in 1833 took up his permanent residence in the U. S. In 1835 he received the degree of M.D. from the Ohio Med. Coll., and 2 years later was employed by the legisl. of Ind. in a geological survey of the State, the results of which were pub. and reprinted in 1850. He next made a minute examination of the mineral-lands of Iowa, under instructions from the gen. land-office; and in 1848 he was employed by govt. to conduct the geol. survey of Wis., Iowa, and Minn., the result of which was pub. in 1852. Of a survey of Ky., from 1852 to 1857, 3 vols. have been pub. In 1857 he was asp. State geologist of Ark., and in 1858 pub. a report of his survey, 1 vol. svo.

Owen, GEORGE W., politician, b. Brunswick Co., Va., 1796; d. Mobile, Ala., Aug. 18, 1837. He was speaker of the Ala. house of representatives; M.C. 1823-9; mayor of Mobile, and afterward a col. of that port.

Owen, GERRIT, an eminent Quaker preacher and physician to the early settlers of Pa.; d. Phila. 1717. He held several civil stations.

Owen, JOHN, gov. N.C. 1821-30, b. Bladen Co., N.C., Aug. 1757; d. Pittsborough, Oct. 1841. Educated at the U. of N.C. Devoted himself to agriculture; member of the house in 1812, and of the senate in 1827; and pres. of the conv. at Harrisburg which nominated Harrison in 1840.

Owen, JOHN JAYSON, D.D., LL.D., scholar and author, b. Colbrook, Ct., Aug. 13, 1803; d. N.Y. Apr. 18, 1869. Med. Coll. Vt., 1829; And. Sem. 1831. Ord. in 1832, and connected with the Presb. Educ. Soc. On the establishment of the Cornetians Inst., he took charge of it, withdrawing in Nov. 1843 to become prof. of the Latin and Greek languages and lit. at the N.Y. Free Acad. July 7, 1853, he became vice-principal; and May 2, 1866, when it became a coll., he was made vice-pres. He made excellent translations of Homer's "Iliad" and "Odyssey," Thucydides, and Xenophon's "Anabasis," and "Cynopagan"; and translated the Acts of the Apostles into Greek. He also pub. 3 vols. of Commentaries on the Gospels.

Owen, ROBERT DALE, philanthropist, b. Newtown, Montgomeryshire, Scotland, 14 March, 1771; d. there 19 Nov. 1858. He acquired wealth by the manu. of cotton, and sympathizing with the working-classes, he, with his father-in-law and partner, David Dale, introduced reforms in regard to their duties, their hours of labor, and the education of their children. In 1812 he pub. "New View of Society," maintaining a theory of modified communism. Wishing to test his system on a large scale, he in 1825 purchased New Harmony, Ind., and, with the assistance of his son Robert Dale Owen, tried it there. It flourished for a time; but as a social experiment it was a failure, as was also his effort to establish in London a "labor exchange." In 1828 he went to Mex., but could effect nothing there; in 1829 he held a public debate at Cincin. with Alexander Campbell of Bethany on "The Evidences of Christianity," pub. 2 vols. svo, 1829. He had his followers, the "Owenites," organized the labor-leagues, from which sprung the Christian movement. In his later years he was a Spiritualist. Among his works are "Essays on the Formation of Human Character," and "The Book of the New Moral World," presenting a system of religion and society according to reason. His Autobiography gives much of interest in his career. — S. Lib. of Owen's, P. A. Postcard, Phila. 12mo, 1866.

Owen, ROBERT DALE, author and poet-critic, son of Robert, b. Glasgow, 7 Nov. 1801. Educated at Hotwyl, Switzerland. Accompanying his father to Amer. in 1825 he married with Madame D'Arusemont the New Harmony Gazette, afterward called the Vt. Impart, Oct. 1825-Dec. 1834. Member of the Ind. legisl. 1835-8; M.C. 1843-7; chairman of the Ind. Const. Conv. in 1849; chirurg. Affaires at Naples in 1853-8. After 15 years' labor, he procured the passage of laws in Ind. securing to women independent rights of property, and during the Rebellion served on two important gov. commissions. He was prominent in the organization of the Smithsonian Inst., and one of its first regents. Author of "Popular Tracts," 1830; "Moral Physiology," 1831; "Poehontas," a drama, 1837; "Hints on Public Architecture," in Smithsonian Contribs., 450, 1849; "Plank-Roads," 1856; "Footfalls on the Boundaries of Another World," 1860; "The Wrong of Slavery, and the Right of Emancipation," 1861; "Poetry of Emancipation," 1863; "Beyond the Breakers," 1869.

Owens, John E., com-dan., b. Liverpool, 1823; brought to the U.S. in 1826, and was afterwards in business in Phila. His first appearance was at the National, Phila.; Aug. 20, 1846, he played at Masonic Hall, Phila. Joint manager of the Baltimore Museum in 1849; made an extensive European tour in 1852; manager of the Charles-st. Theatre, Baltimore, 1851, and of the N. Orleans Varieties 1850-61; played a brilliant engagement at Wallack's, N.Y., 1864-5; opened at the London Adelphi, July 3, 1865, as Solon Shingle, his great part; was at the Broadway in June-Apr. 1866; and in 1869 played John Unit, in "Self," at Wallack's, N.Y. — Boards' Am. & Stage.

Owensley, William, gov. Ky. 1844-8, b. Va. 1782; d. Danville, Ky., Dec. 1862. His father settled in Lincoln Co., Ky., in 1783. He taught school; studied law with Judge Boyle; represented Garrard Co. for several years in the legisl.; judge of the Supreme Ct. 1842-28. Re-noved to Boyle Co. in 1843.

Oxenbridge, John, minister of Boston, b. Daresbury, Eng., Jan. 30, 1609; d. Dec. 28, 1674. Educated at Oxford, and also at Cambridge, where he took his degree in 1631; became a preacher; made several voyages to the W. Indies; was ord. pastor of a church in Beverly, Eng., in 1644, and chosen fellow of Eton Coll.; and afterwards settled at Berwick-on-Tweed, where he was silenced in 1662. He next went to Surinam; in 1667 was at Barbadoes; and in 1669 came to Boston, where he was ord. April 10, 1670, over the First Church as cod. with Mr. Allen. He was a very popular preacher. His publications are "The Duty of Watchfulness;" "Election Sermon," 1671; "Seasonable Seeking of God;" and "A Proposition for propagating the Gospel by Christian Colonies in Guiana." — Ellot.

Oxendine, Alexander W., Baptist clergyman and Revol. veteran, b. S. C. Aug. 26, 1759; d. Benton's Creek, Phelps Co., Mo., Sept. 3, 1869, age 110. He was one of Marion's men and was many years a minister. He retained his sight, hearing, and intellect to his last hour.

Pabodie, William Jewett, poet, b. Providence, R.I., ab. 1812; d. there 1870. Has pub. "Caldore," a legendary poem, and many smaller pieces.

Paca, William, Revol. statesman, b. Wye Hill, Harford Co., Md., Oct. 31, 1740; d. 1779. Pala Coll. 1758. Adm. a student at the Middle Temple, Lond., Jan. 14, 1762; practised law at Annapolis; member of the legisl. from 1774, signaling himself by his opposition to the royal govt.; member of the con. of corresp. in 1774; delegate to Congress 1774-9, and a signer of the Decl. of Indep.; State senator 1777-9; chief justice 1778-80; chief judge of the Court of Appeals 1780-2; gov. 1782 and 1786; member of the convention which ratified the U.S. Constitution in 1788, and U.S. dist. judge from 1789 till his death. He contrib. of his private wealth to the patriot cause, and served upon many important local committees. His first wife was a dau. of Samuel Chew.

Packard, Rev. Alberts Spring, D.D. (Bowd. Coll. 1860), b. Chelmsford, Ms., 1798. Bowd. Coll. 1816. Tutor there 1819-24, and prof. of Greek and Latin 1824-65; librarian 1869. Edited, with notes Xenophon's "Memorab.," 1839; works of Rev. Jesse Appeton, with Memoir, 2 vols. 8vo, 1837. Contrib. Sketches of Appleton, Samuel Eaton, and Dr. Packard, to Sprague's "Annals," and papers to several periodicals. Pub. "Hist. Bunker's-Hill-Monument Assoc.," 1853.

Packard, Frederick Adolphus, LL.D. (N.J. Coll. 1859), b. Marlborough, Ms., Sept. 26, 1794; d. Nov. 11, 1867. H. U. 1814. Son of Rev. Asa. He read law at Northampton, Ms.; practised law at Springfield, Ms., 1817-29; member State legisl. 1828-9; edited the Hampden Advertiser 10 years; removed in 1829 to Phila., and from 1829 to his d. edited the publications of the Sunday-school Union, — 2,000 in number, more than 40 of which he wrote or compiled. Elected pres. of the Girard Coll. for orphans, July, 1849, but dec'd. He edited the S. S. Magazine, the S. S. Journal, and Youth's Penny Gazette; prepared the society's annual reports; pub. tracts and occasional papers on S. school, educational, and other subjects; edited 11 vols. of the Phila. Jour. of Prison Discipline, and contrib. to the Protestant Rev., the N. Englander, and other periodicals. Among his pub. are "Union Bible Dictionary," 1837; "The Teacher Taught," 1839; "Separation of Convicts," 1849; "The Teacher Teaching," 1861; "The Rock," 1861; "Life of Robert Owen," 1866; "Daily Public School of the U.S.," 1866; "Visit to European Hospitals," 1840.

Paeker, William F., gov. Pa. 1858-61, b. Centre Co., Pa., 1807; d. Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 27, 1870. He became a printer; studied, but never practised law; pub. the Lyscom's Gazette in 1827-36; canal com. 1839-42; State auditor 1842-5; State senator 1845-8; then pres. of the Susquehanna R.R. Co. until its consolidation with the Northern Central R.R. Co., of which he was a director until 1858.

Paez (páeth), José Antonio, a South-American soldier, b. San Felipe, Caracas, 1787. He fought on the royalist side in the beginning of the struggle for liberty, but joined the patriots in 1810, defeated Rafael Lopez in 1816, and was made a brig.-gen.; recovered the province of Apure; routed La Torre at Las Mercedes, 28 Jan. 1817; and thenceforth acted in concert with Bolivar. For his services at Ortiz he was made gen. of division. The battle of Carabobo in 1821, which secured the independence of Colombia, established his military reputation; and Bolivar offered to make him gen-in-chief. His capture of Puerto Cabello, in Nov. 1823, ended Spanish authority in Colombia. He was made a senator and commander of Venezuela; and when, in Sept. 1829, it became an indep. republic, Paez was chosen pres. In 1839 he again became pres. He led the revolutionists against the usurper Monagas in 1848, but was unsuccessful, and was imprisoned, but was released, and resided in New York, May, 1850-Dec. 1858, when he returned to Venezuela. Minister to the U.S. in 1860, but in 1861 returned to Venezuela.

Page, BENJAMIN, capt. U.S.N., b. Eng. 1792; d. New York, April 16, 1858. Midshipm. Dec. 17, 1810; lieut. Apr. 27, 1816; master Dec. 22, 1835; capt. Sept. 8, 1841.

Page, CHARLES GRAFTON, M.D., physician, b. Salem, Ms., Jan. 28, 1812; d. Washington, D.C., May 5, 1868. H.U. 1832. He constructed an electrical machine when only ten years of age. In 1838-40 he practised medicine in Va.; was prof. of chemistry in Col. Coll., D.C., in 1839-40, and from that time till his death was examiner in the U.S. patent-office. He was a frequent contrib. to Soliman's Journal, and is the author of a concise and complete treatise upon the subject of electric science and discovery. He had been for years perfecting machinery for the effective and economical use of electro-magnetism as a motive-power, and had so far succeeded as to be able to use it for the propulsion of machinery, and, to some extent, as a locomotive force. Author of "Psychomaney, or Spirit-Rappings Exposed," 12mo, 1853.

Page, DAVID P., b. Epping, N.H., 1816; d. 1848. Principal of the N.Y. State Normal School. Author of "Elem. Chart of Vocal Sounds," 1847; "Theory and Practice of Teaching," 1847.

Page, JOHN, gov. of Va. 1802-5, b. Rosewell, Gloucester Co., Va., April 17, 1743; d. Richmond, Oct. 11, 1808. Wm. and M. Coll. 1763, which he represented in the house of burgesses. He was also a member of the Colonial Council. Disting. for talents and patriotism, he displayed during the Rev. an ardent attachment to the cause of the Colonies; was in 1776 one of the most conspicuous members of the convention which formed the constitution of Va., and was app. one of the first councillors; member of the com. of public safety, and lieut. gov. of the State; and also contrib. freely from his private fortune to the public cause. At one time he com. a militia regt. raised to repel a British invasion. He was among the first representatives to Congress from Va. 1789-97; and was commiss. of loans for Va. from 1806 till his death. He pub. addresses to the people 1796-9. His son OCTAVIUS AUGUSTUS, first lieut. of the frigate "Chesapeake," d. Boston, June, 1813, a. 28.

Page, JOHN, gov. of N.H. 1839-42, b. Haverhill, N.H., May 21, 1787; d. there Sept. 8, 1865. He received an academical education; was a practical farmer, and, during the intervals of public duty, resided upon and cultivated the old homestead farm left him by his ancestors. Assessor of the direct tax, 5th dist., N.H., 1815; member of the legisl. 1818-20 and 1835; register of deeds, Grafton Co., 1828-34; U.S. senator 1836-7; State councillor 1838. He was a leading Mason.

Page, THOMAS JEFFERSON, commandt. U.S.N., b. Va. ab. 1815. Midshipm. in 1827; lieut. in June, 1833; and com. Sept. 1835. The early part of his service was in the coast-survey. In 1853-May, 1856, he com. an exped. to explore the River La Plata, a narrative of which was pub. N.Y., 8vo, 1859; and in 1857-Dec. 1860, made an exploration of the Parana and the tributaries of the Paraguay.

Page, WILLIAM, painter, b. Albany, Jan. 23, 1811. He went with his parents to N.Y. City in 1819, and at the age of 11 received a premium from the Amer. Institute for a drawing in India ink. After passing nearly a year with Herring, a portrait-painter, he became a pupil of S. F. B. Morse; was adm. a student of the acad., and received the premium of a large silver medal for his drawings from the antique. He spent a year in Albany, painting portraits, excelling in the brilliancy of his color and the accuracy of his drawing. Adm. a member of the National Acad., he was app. to paint the portraits of Gov. Marcy and John Quincy Adams. Besides portraits, he has executed several historical compositions, a "Holy Family," now in the Boston Athenaeum; "The Wife's Last Visit to her Condemned Husband," and "The Infancy of Henri IV." He resided some time in Boston, where he painted a great number of portraits; returned to New York, where he remained 2 years; and then went to Europe, residing 11 yrs. in Florence and Rome. He returned in the autumn of 1860 to New York, where he now resides. In Italy he painted many portraits, produced his two "Venuses," his "Moses and Aaron on Mount Horeb," the "Flight into Egypt," the "Infant Bacchus," and other works. His copies of Titian were so remarkably like the originals, that one of them was stopped by the authorities of Florence under the belief that it was the original painting. Since his return to New York, he has delivered a course of lectures on art, and has pub. a "New Method of Measuring the Human Body," based upon the models of the antique.

Paige, ALOXZO CHRISTOPHER, jurist, b. Scaghticoke, N.Y., July 31, 1797; d. S. hence, N.Y., Mar. 31, 1868. Wms. Coll. 1812. His father, Rev. Winslow, intended him for the ministry; but, preferring the law, he was adm. to the bar in 1819; was reporter of the Court of Chancery in 1828-46, publishing in the meanwhile 11 vols. of Chancery Reports; member of the N.Y. legisl. in 1826-30; senator 1838-42; justice of the Supreme Court 1847-51, and 1855-7; and a member of the Const. Conv. in June, 1867.

Paige, ELMER GLEBY ("Dow, jun."), journalist, author of "Short Patent Sermons," by Dow, jun., originally pub. in the N.Y. Sunday Mercury, of which he was editor and proprietor; b. Hardwich, Ms., ab. 1816; d. San Francisco, 4 Dec. 1859. Meeting with reverses in N.Y., he went ab. 1849 to Cal., where he became intemperate, and d. in great want.

Paige, LEUCIS ROBINSON, D.D. (Tuft

Coll. 1861; b. Hardwick, Ms., Mar. 8, 1802; Universalist preacher 1825-41; since eastern Cambridge (Ms.) Bank; and in 1845-55 city clerk of U. His pub. "8 Sermons from Eminent Commentators," 1833; "Continental at Hardwick," Nov. 15, 1848; "Commentary on N. Test.," 6 vols. 1844-69; papers in Universalist periodicals. He is preparing a History of Concord, Ms.

Paine, CHARLES, gov. of Vt. 1841-3, b. Williams-town, Vt., Apr. 15, 1799; d. Waco, Texas, July 6, 1853; H U 1820. Son of Enjah. Engaged in manufacturing, in which he was very successful. He rendered the State great service in the construction of its railroads. His last rail road project was the exploration of a southern route for a great Pacific railroad. Gov. Paine was a liberal patron of the U. of Vt. and the Northern A. Academy.

Paine, LEONARD L. D. (H U 1812), jurist, b. Brooklyn, Ct., Jan. 21, 1757; d. Williams-town, Vt., Apr. 28, 1842; H U 1781. He studied law and in 1784 settled in Vt. Mr. Paine was a scholar, a well-read lawyer, and also a farmer, a road maker, and a pioneer in the manufacture of American cloths, for which purpose he constructed an establishment at Northfield. Member and sec. of the convention to revise the State constitution in 1786; member of the State legis. 1787-91; a judge of the Supreme Court 1791-5; U. S. senator 1795-1801 and U. S. dist. judge for Vt. in 1801-42. In 1789 he was one of the commiss. to settle the controversy between N. Y. and Vt.; pres. of the Vt. Colonization Society, to which, as well as to Durin, Cool, and to the U. of Vt., he was a liberal benefactor. Fellow of the Amer. and Northern Academies of Arts and Sciences. In 1782 he pronounced the first oration before the Phi Beta Kappa Soc. of H U, and it was erected in his pres. in 1789.

Paine, LEVI, lawyer, son of the preceding; b. Williams-town, Vt., Apr. 10, 1796; d. N. Y. Oct. 6, 1853; H U 1814, Litch. Law School. Adm. to the bar, and practised in N. Y. City. Associated in business with Henry Wheaton, L. L. D., he had much to do with the Reports of the U. S. Supreme Court which bear Mr. Wheaton's name. He was also the author of Paine's "U. S. Circuit Reports;" and in 1830, in connection with John Duer, L. L. D., pub. "Paine and Duer's "Practice in Civil Actions and Proceedings in the State of N. Y.," 2 vols. From 1830 to his death, he was a judge of the Superior Court of N. Y. His decision in the Lemon slave case was particularly able.

Paine, HALBERT E., bray man, gen. vo. s; M. C. 1855-71; b. Chardon, O., 4 Feb. 1826; W. Res. Co. 1845. Adm. to the bar in 1848 at Cleveland; removed to Milwaukee in 1857; col. 4th W. S. Regt. 1861-3; brig.-gen. 13 Mar. 1863; took part in defence of Washington, D. C., during Early's raid, and lost a leg while in com. 30 day 19th corp. in the last assault on Fort Harrison, June, 1863.

Paine, MERRYS M. D. (H U 1816; L. L. D.), physician, son of Enjah; b. Williams-town, Vt., July 8, 1794; H U 1813. He studied medicine with Dr. John Warren of Boston, and practised in Montreal, Canada, in 1816-22, then removed to N. Y., and acquired a large practice. In 1832 during the prevalence of cholera, he wrote a series of letters upon the disease to Dr. J. C. Warren, subsequently pub. as "The Cholera Asphyxia of N. Y." He has pub. "Medical and Physiological Commentaries," 3 vols. 1840-44; "Materia Medica and Therapeutics," 1842; "The Fundamentals of Medicine," 1847; "The Soul and Its method distinguished from Materialism," 1848, subsequently incorporated in the "Institutes of Medicine," and in 1852 a Memoir of his son, Robert Troup. In 1856 Dr. Paine contrib. an elaborate essay on "Theoretical Geology" to the Proc. Eps. Quart. Review, controverting the geological interpretations of the Mosiac narrations of creation and the flood. In 1841 Dr. Paine and others established the University Med. Coll., in which he for many years held the chair of the institutes of medicine and materia medica, and subsequently that of therapeutics and materia medica. In 1854 he was prominent in effecting a repeal of the law prohibiting dissections of the human body. Member of many of the principal learned societies in Europe and America.

Paine, ROBERT, D. D., bishop of the M. E. Church South, b. N. C. 1799. Emigrated to Tenn. in 1813; N. Y. Univ. U 1826. He entered the Episc. coat in 1819; pres. of Le-grange Coll., Ala. 1830-46, and then eastern bishop. Eminent both as a pulpit orator, and as a protesting officer in the annual conference. Resides in Md. Author of a work on Hopkinstanism, and "Late and Times of Bishop McKendree," 2 vols. 8vo.

Paine, ROBERT TREAT, L. L. D. (H U 1805), signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Bolton, March 11, 1731; d. there May 11, 1814; H U 1749. His father Thomas had been pastor of a church in W. Plymouth, but was afterward a merchant of Boston. His mother was the dau. of Samuel Frear, and grand-dau. of Samuel Willard. After graduating, he kept school to help support his parents, for whose maintenance he also made a voyage to Europe. He then studied theology, and in 1755 acted as chaplain to the Northern provincial troops, but afterward studied the law. On his admission to the bar in 1759, he established himself at Taunton, where he resided many years. In 1770 he conducted with great ability and ingenuity, in the absence of the atty-gen., the prosecution of Capt. Preston and his men for the Boston Massacre. In 1773 he was a representative; was a delegate to the Prov. Congress in 1774-5; a member of the Cont. Congress in 1774-8, rendering important services upon various committees. In 1776 he, with 2 others, was deputed by Congress to visit the army of Schuyler in the North; speaker of the Ms. h. of rps. in 1777; atty-gen. of Ms. on the organization of the State, and also a member of the exec. council; in 1779 he was a member of the State Const. Conv., and one of the com. which prepared the draught of it; and was app. judge of the Supreme Court in 1776, but declined. He removed to Boston ab. 1780, and was judge of the Ms. Supreme Court in 1790-1804. Paine's legal attainments were great; he ranked high as a lawyer; was an able and impartial judge; an excellent scholar; and was noted for the brilliancy of his wit. A founder of the Amer. Acad. of Ms. in 1780.

PAINE, ROBERT TREAT, poet, b. Taunton, Ms., Dec. 9, 1773; d. Boston, Nov. 13, 1811. H.U. 1792. Son of the preceding, and was originally named Thomas, but, desirous of possessing a "Christian" name, had it changed by the legisl. in 1801. Abandoning in youthful pursuits after a brief trial, he established in Oct. 1794 a political and literary paper, the Federalist Opp. op., in which appeared "The Jacobinist," and also "The Lyars;" their personalities procuring him many enemies, and occasioning assaults on his person. He had written verses for the Ms. Mag., and subsequently wrote theatrical criticisms. In Feb. 1795 he m. Miss Baker, an actress. Paine had a prolific imagination, was bold in his views, quick at retort, witty, and exceedingly sarcastic. His "Invention of Letters," 1795, was greatly admired; and Washington expressed in a letter to him his appreciation of its merits. He received for this poem $1,500; and for "The Ruling Passion," introduced as a gallery of portraits, $1,200. In 1798 Paine wrote the celebrated national song, "Adams and Liberty,"—a patriotic eulogium which brought him more than 11 dollars a day. In 1799 he delivered an oration on the first anniversary of the dissolution of the alliance with France; and, turning his attention to the study of law and re-joined Parsons, was admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1802; retired from the profession in 1804; and soon after became an inmate of his father's mansion in Boston, where he wrote "The Socks of Apollo," his last famous effusion. Jan. 2, 1809, he delivered at Newburyport a eulogy on Washington. His writings, with a Biography by Charles Prentiss, were pub. 8vo, 1812.

PAINE, THOMAS, political and theological writer, b. Theford, Norfolk, Eng., 29 Jan. 1737; d. New York, 8 June, 1809. His father was a Quaker, and brought up his son to his own trade, that of stay-maker. At the grammar-school of Theford he obtained some knowledge of mathematics. He worked at his trade, preach. occasionally as a dissenting minister, married, and settled in Sandwich in 1759. In 1761 he became an exciseman; was afterward a teacher, then a tobacconist; failed in business in 1774, and went to London. By the advice of Dr. Franklin he came to America, arriving in Phila. in Dec. 1774. In 1775 he edited the Pa. Mag.; Oct. 18 he pub. in Bradford's Pa. Journal "Serious Thoughts upon Slavery," &c., expressing the hope that the legisl. would put a stop to the importation of negroes, ameliorate the condition of the slaves, and ultimately provide for their freedom. In his celebrated pamphlet called "Common Sense," which appeared in Jan. 1776, he advocated independence, contributing in an extraordinary degree to the dissemination of republican ideas. It procured him a reward of £500 from the legisl. of Pa., the honorary degree of M.A. from its university, and membership in the Philos. Society. Joining the army in the autumn of 1776, he was a short time aide to Gen. Greene. Dec. 19, 1776,—a most gloomy period of the war,—Paine pub. his first "Crisis," opening with the since-familiar phrase, "These are the times that try men's souls." It revived the drooping ardor of the people, was read at the head of every regiment, and bore fruit in the battles of Trenton and Princeton a few days later. This publication was continued till April, 1783. He was sec. to the com. on foreign affairs in Congress from Apr. 1777 to Jan. 1779, losing his place for having in the Phila. Packet denied the validity of Silas Deane's claims upon the govt. In Jan. 1780, when financial ruin impended, he gave $500, the amount of his salary as clerk of the Assembly of Pa., to start a relief-fund. In Feb. 1781 he went with Col. Laurens to France to negotiate a loan, and returned Aug. 25 with $2,500,000 in silver. In 1782 he pub. a "Letter to the Abbe Raynal," correcting the mistakes in his account of the Amer. Revol., and soon afterwards a "Letter to the Earl of Shelburne," who had prophesied, that, "when Britain shall acknowledge Amer. independence, the sun of Britain's glory is set for ever." For his Revol. services, Congress in 1785 gave him $3,000; and the State of N.Y. granted him 500 acres of land in New Rochelle. In Apr. 1787 he went to England, and invented an iron bridge, the prototype of so many similar structures, one of which was built at Rotherham, Yorkshire. Visiting Paris, he pub., under the name of Duclat let, a tract recommending the abolition of royalty. In Mar. 1791 he wrote, in answer to Burke's "Reflections on the French Revol.," his celebrated "Rights of Man," which attained great popularity. For this work he was outlawed in Eng., but in Sept. 1792 was elected a member of the French National Convention. Acting with the Girondists, and opposing the execution of the king, he incurred the hatred of the Jacobins, and at the end of 1794 was expelled from the Convention as a foreigner; was cast into prison, and narrowly escaped death in the Reign of Terror. In Nov. 1794 he was released through the influence of Mr. Monroe, in whose house he resided 18 months, and resumed his seat in the Convention Dec. 8. In 1795 appeared his "Age of Reason," which, though denounced as atheistical, expressly inculcates a belief in God. He came to the U.S. in Oct. 1802, finally settling in New York, and occasionally passing a few months on his estate at New Rochelle. At Monticello, whither he was invited by Jefferson, he left a favorable impression, and was cordially received at Washington. He was intemperate in the latter part of his life, which was passed in comparative obscurity. In 1819 Wm. Cobbett took his remains to Eng. A monument was erected to his memory in 1839, near his original burial-place. The writings of Paine have the merit of sincerity and boldness, and have been the object of vituperation rather than of controversy. His services to mankind as a political writer, and especially his powerful exertions to promote the independence of America, constitute a high claim upon the gratitude of his adopted country. Among his other writings are "The Decline and Fall of the English System of Finance," "Letter to Gen. Washington" (accusing him of ingratitude in not attempting to procure his liberation from the Luxembourg Prison), "Agricultural Justice," &c. The most complete edition of his works

(Boston, 1856) contains several pieces not by him. — See Travels by Chatham, 1800; Carle's, 1811; Ch. Chalmers, 1791; Ch. Ego, 1841; W. L. S. G. v., 1819; and Wm. C. Webb's Atlantic Monthly, July and Dec. 1859; Van Lan. George.
Palme, THOMAS, capt. U. S. N., b. R. I.; d. Washington, D. C., 9 Nov. 1859. S. Illinois; capt. U. S. N. 10 Oct. 1812; lieut. 1 Dec. 1815; com. 3 Mar. 1821; capt. 8 Sept. 1841.

Palme, WILLIAM, M. D. (Marshall Coll. 1755), physician, b. Worcester, Mass., 5 June, 1750; d. there 19 Apr. 1833. H. U. 1768. Son of Hon. Timo. Palme, loyalist. Proscribed as a loyalist in 1778, he became surgeon to the British forces in R. I. and N. Y., and surgeon-gen. in 1782. After the Rev. he settled in N. Brunswick; was a member and clerk of the Assembly for the County of Charlotte, and dep. surveyor of the King's Forests in Amer. He removed to Salem, Ms., in 1787, and in 1793 to Ware st. r.

Painter, SAMUEL, judge, b. New Haven, Ct., May 22, 1743; d. Middlebury, Vt., May 21, 1819. He received a common-school education; erected the first lions in Middlebury, Vt., in 1773; served as a capt. and quar. in the Rev. army; delegate to the convention that in 1777 declared the independence of Vt.; was a representative, judge of the County Court, and councilor, 1813-14; a member of the first Const. Conv. of Vt. in 1793; and was a principal member of Middlebury Coll., to which at his death he left a bequest of about $10,000.

Pakenham (pak-ə-nam), SIR EDWARD MICHAEL, G. C. B., a British gen., b. N. of Ireland, was killed at the battle of New Orleans, Jan. 8 1815, a. 36. Eldest bro. of Lord Longford. App. maj. 33d Lt. Drags. Sept. 1791; asst. col. 64th Foot, Oct. 1799; col. Oct. 1809; maj.-gen. Jan. 1, 1812; col. 6th W. I. Regt. May 21 1813. He served as quarterm. in the campaigns in Spain and France to the army under Wellington, and was dising. in all the principal engagements of that great commander. He was specially noted at Salamanca and Badajos, and had been badly wounded at the assault of Morne Fortunée, St. Lucia, and at the capture of Martinique. He com. the expedition against N. Orleans in 1814, and fell gallantly leading his men to the attack of Jackson's lines.

Palfray, WARWICK, 33 years editor of the Peterborough, and State senator of Ms., b. Salem, 1787; d. there Aug. 23, 1838. Author of "Evangelical Psalmist," 1802. Descended from Peter, the first settler at Salem. Began his apprenticeship in the Booster's office in 1801. Member of the city council of Salem, and of the Ms. legis. for several years. His son, of the same name, has since successfully carried on the paper.

PalFREY, JOHN GORTON, D. D. (H. U. 1834); LL. D. (And. Sem. 1838), author, b. Boston, 2 May, 1796. H. U. 1815. Grandson of Col. Wm., paym.-gen. Rev. army, aide to Washington, Mar.-Apr. 1776. b. Boston, 24 Feb. 1741; lost at sea, Dec. 1789, when on his way to France as consul-gen. John was minister of Beattlestreet (Unitarian) Church, 17 June, 1818-1839; Dexter prof. of sacred lit. in H. U. 1819-9, editor N. Amer. Review 1835-

43; member Ms. legis. 1842-3; sec. of state of Ms. 1844-8; M. C. 1847-9; postmaster of Boston 1861-6. He delivered courses of lectures before the Lowell Institute in 1839 and 1842; was an early advocate of anti-slavery, having debated and provided for a number of slaves who had been bequeathed to him by a deceased relative; contrib. to the Boston Whig in 1846 a series of articles on "The Progress of the Slave-Power," afterwards collected in a vol.; was one of the editors of the Commonwealth newspaper in 1851; and has pub. two discourses on "The History of Beattlestreet Church," "Life of Col. Wm. PalFREY," in Sparks's Amer. Biog.; "Lectures on the Jewish Scriptures and Antiquities;" "Lectures on the Evidences of Christianity;" "Review of Lord Malm's 'Hist. of England,' 1852;" "Relation between Judaism and Christianity," 1854; "History of N. England to 1688," 3 vols. 1858-64. "Centennial Discourse at Barnstable," 1879; besides orations and addresses. SARAH H. PALFREY, his dau., pub. in 1855 "Promys," a vol. of poems; "Agnes Wentworth," 1869.

Palmer, BRISTAVIS MORRIS, D. D. (S. C. Coll. 1815), b. Phila. 25 Sept. 1781; d. Charleston, S. C., 9 Oct. 1847. N. J. Coll. 1809. Grandson of Rev. Samuel of Edmouthe, Ms. Pastor of the Presb. church, Beaufort, S. C.; and from 1817 to July, 1845, of the Circular and Archdale-street Church, Charleston, S. C. He pub. "The Family Companion," &c., 1835, and some sermons. — See supra.

Palmer, ELIOTT, obs. a writer, b. Canterbury, Ct., 1764, d. Phila. Apr. 7, 1806. Dartm. Coll. 1787. He studied divinity, but became a deist in 1791. He resided some time in Augusta, Ga., where he collected materials for Dr. Morse's Geography; afterward lived in New York and Phila., all the while advocating his principles publicly. Attacked by a fellow in 1793, he became totally blind. He was the head of the Columbian Pamban, established in New York in 1801. He pub. a 4th-of-July Oration, 1797; "Principles of Nature," 1802; "Prospect or View of the Moral World," 2 vols. 8vo, 1804.

Palmer, ENYSTER DOW, sculptor, b. Pompey, Onondaga Co., N. Y., April 2, 1817. He was a carpenter in Utica until 20 years of age, when he commenced cameo-cutting, and removed to Albany, where he still resides. Dissatisfied with this pursuit, which injured his eyesight, he, at the age of 35, became a sculptor. His first work in marble was an ideal bust of the infant "Ceres," exhibited at the N. Y. Academy of Design; it was followed by two bas-reliefs, representing the morning and evening star, by a statue of the size, representing an Indian girl holding a cornucopia; also statues of "The Sleeping Peri," "The Little Peasant," and "The White Captive," a nude figure of a girl bound to a tree. All these are original works, and are distinguished by careful workmanship. His largest work is a design of "The Landing of the Pilgrims," embodying 15 statues, and intended for the Capitol at Washington. Among his bas-reliefs are "Earth," "Immortality," "The Spirit's Fight," "Sappho," and "Remorse," and of his ideal busts the principal are "Resignation,"

"Spring," and "The Infant Flora." He has also made portrait-busts of Erastus Corning, Com. M. C. Perry, and Gov. E. D. Morgan. He has produced upwards of 100 works in marble, and has never studied or practiced his art abroad.

Palmer, ISSIS N., brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. New York ab. 1825. West Point, 1846. Entering the mounted rifles, he was brev. 1st lieutenant, and capt. for gallantry at Contreras, Churubusco, and at Chapultepec, where he was wounded; became 1st lieutenant, 1853; capt. (2d Cav.) Mar. 3, 1855; major (5th Cav.) 3 Aug. 1861; lieutenant-col. (2d Cav.) Sept. 23, 1863; col. June 9, 1868; brig.-gen. vols. Sept. 23, 1861; engaged at Bull Run; com. brigade in 4th corps in Peninsular campaign; com. a division, 4th corps N.C. Jan.-July, 1863; com. defences of Newbern, Aug. 1863 to Apr. 1864; com. dist. of N. C. Apr. 1864 to Mar. 1865, participating in Sherman's movements, and in the action of Kingston; brev. brig.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865. — Callan

Palmer, JAMES S., rear-adm. U.S.N., b. N. J. 1810; d. St. Thomas, W. I., of yellow-fever, Dec. 7, 1867. Midshipman in 1825; lieutenant, Dec. 17, 1826; com. Sept. 14, 1855; capt. July 16, 1862; rear-adm. 1866. In 1838 he served as lieutenant on board "The Columbia" in the attack on Quallah Battoo and Mus-hie, in the Island of Sumatra; in the Mexican war he com. the schooner "Flirt," engaged in blockading the Mexican coast. When the civil war began, he com. the steamer "Iroquois" of the Medic. squad., but was soon after attached to the Atlantic block. fleet under Adm. Dupont. In the summer of 1862 he led the advance in the passage of the Vicksburg batteries; was engaged in the fight with the Confed. ram "Arkansas;" and again led the advance in the passage of the Vicksburg batteries later in the same year. At the battles of New Orleans and Mobile he was Adm. Farragut's flag capt., and won from him d. t. ing. commendation. Assigned in Dec. 1865 to the com. of the North Atlantic squadron.

Palmer, GEN. JOHN McCauley, b. Eagle Creek, Scott Co., Ky., Sept. 13, 1817. He removed to Ill. in 1832; settled in Carlinville in 1839; was adm. to the bar in 1840; was a delegate to the State Const. Conv. in 1847; member of the State senate in 1852-4; delegate to the Nat. Repub. Conv. at Phila. 1856; delegate to the Peace Convention at Washington, Feb. 4, 1861; col. 14th Ill. Vols. Apr. 1861; accomp. Gen. Fremont in his exped. to Springfield, Mo.; and Dec. 13 was made brig.-gen. of vols. He was with Gen. Pope at the capture of New Madrid and Island No. 10, and at the battle of Farmington, and com. the 1st brigade, 1st division, of the Army of the Mpl. In Nov. 1862 he was with Gen. Grant's army in temporary com. of a division. He subsequently com. a division at the battle of Stone River, and was promoted to maj.-gen. for gallantry at that battle, Nov. 29, 1862. He took part in the battle of Chickamauga Sept. 19-20, 1863; and com. the 14th corps under Sherman in the Atlanta campaign, May-Sept. 1864; gov. of Ill. 1869-71.

Palmer, JOHN WILLIAMSON, M. D., b.

Balt. April 4, 1825. City physician of San Francisco 1849. In 1852-3 served as surgeon in an E. I. Co.'s war-steamer through the Burmese campaigns. Since his return in June, 1853, he has contrib. to Hager's and Pittman's Mags., Atlantic Monthly, the Criticon, the N. Y. Tribune, the New World, and the Nat. Intelligencer. He pub. "The Golden Dagon," 1853; "The Queen's Heart," comedy in 3 acts, 1858; "The New and the Old," 1859; "Folk-Songs," 1860; "The Poetry of Compliment and Courtship," 1867; translation of Michelet's "L'Amour," 1859; and contrib. to Appleton's New Cyclopedia a number of Oriental articles.

Palmer, JOSEPH, Revol. patriot, d. Roxbury, Ms., Dec. 25, 1788, a. 70. Member of the Prov. Congress in 1774 and '75; one of the com. of safety app. by that body. As col. of militia, he was often in the field in the vicinity of Boston for the defence of the coast; and in 1777, with the rank of brig.-gen., com. the M. militia in the unsuccessful attempt to defend R. I.

Palmer, JOSEPH, M. D. (H. I. 1826), b. Needham, Ms., 3 Oct. 1796; d. Boston, 3 Mar. 1871. H. U. 1820. Son of Rev. Stephen, min. of Needham from 1792 to his d. in 1821, a. 55. For some years Joseph taught at Roxbury, and at the Latin School, Boston; resided in Cuba in 1829-30; and was afterward engaged in editorial labors in Boston. Historiographer of the N. E. Hist. and Gen. Soc. 1856-1861. He pub. annually the Neology of H. U., which was pub. in the Bost. Daily Advertiser 1851-65, and in the Christ. Reg. 1869. In 1864 a vol. of these nec. (1851-63) was reprinted at Boston.

Palmer, REV. RAY, D. D. (Un. Coll. 1852), Cong. minister and poet, b. R. I. 1808. Y. C. 1830. Settled over the church in Bath, Me., in 1835-50; and was pastor of the First Church, Albany, from 1850 to 1865, when he became sec. of the Congregational Union, New York. In 1865 he pub. "Hymns and Sacred Pieces;" "Memoirs of Charles Pond," 1829; "Hints on the Formation of Religious Opinions," 1860; "Memoirs of Mrs. C. L. Watson," 1839; "Doctrinal Text-Book," 1839; "Spiritual Improvement," 1829; "Reminiscences for 15 Years," 1865; "The Spirit's Life," a poem, 1837.

Palmer, WILLIAM ADAMS, gov. of Vt. 1831-5; d. Danville, Vt., Dec. 1860. M. A. of Vt. U. 1817. Six years member Vt. legisl.; 8 years clerk of the courts; 2 years a State senator; judge of Probate and of the Co. Court; judge of the Supreme Court 1816; U. S. senator 1818-25; and member of the Const. Convs. of 1828 and 1835.

Palmer, WILLIAM PITT, poet, b. Stockbridge, Ms., 22 Feb. 1805. Long a resident of N. Y. City, and successively a medical student, a teacher, a writer for public journals, and a clerk in a public office. He wrote a hymn or ode entitled "Light," and other short poems.

Pancoast, JOSEPH, M. D., surgeon, b. Burlington Co., N. J. 1805. U. of Pa. 1828. He began to teach anatomy and surgery in 1831; elected physician of the Philadelphia Hospital in 1834, and physician in chief to the Children's Hospital; visiting surgeon in the hosp. 1838-45; app. in 1838 prof. of surgery, and in 1861 oric in And. Sem. 1836-47; and since 1847 Abbot prof. of Christian theology there. He has contrib. largely to periodical literature, and has been one of the editors of the Anthologia Sacra from the beginning. He translated with Prof. B. B. Edwards a vol. of "German Selections," 1839; ed. the "Writings of Rev. N. B. Homer," 1-42; "The Preacher and Pastor," 1845; the "Writings of B. B. Edwards, with a Memoir," 2 vols. 1853; and, with Drs. Phelps and Lowell Mason, the "Sabbath Hymn Book." In 1859 he assisted in editing a vol. of discourses and treatises on the Atonement. In 1861, with Dr. Phelps and Rev. D. L. Furbur, he pub. a volume on hymnology, entitled "Hymns and Chords." He has also pub. 51 memoirs of Dr. Sam. Hopkins, 1852; and Dr. Nathl. Emmons, 1861, and various discourses. He is one of the most preachers of N. E.

Parke, John, journalist and educator, b. Wingham, N.H., Jan. 7, 1775; d. Worcester, Ms., March 2, 1852. Dartm. Coll. 1790. He spent some time in teaching; then studied medicine; was surgeon of the F. S. ship "Warren" in 1797-1801, when he relinquished practice; and in 1803 established the N. E. Register, a semi-weekly journal, supporting the Federal party. In 1811 he withdrew from journalism, and established in Boston a female school of the highest grade, which he conducted successfully for 20 years. In 1814 he published "The Boston Spectator." His son, John C. Parke, is a lawyer of Boston.

Parke, Jesse, poet, b. Del. ab. 1750; was in the Coll. of Phila. 1768. At the commencement of the war entered the American army as assistant quartermaster, and was attached, as is supposed, to Washington's division; for some of his pieces are dated at camp near Boston, and others at Whit marsh and Valley Forge. After the peace he was some time in Phila., and is last heard of in Arundel Co., Va. In 1786 appeared in Phila. "The Lyric Works of Horace, translated into English Verse, to which are added a number of Original Poems by a Native of America."—Unpubl.

Parke, John G., brev. maj.-gen. U. S. A., b. Pa. 1827. West Point, 1849. Entering the topographical corps, he became 1st lieut. 1 July, 1855; astronomer and surveyor of the N. W. boundary commission Feb. 14, 1857; capt. Sept. 9, 1861; brig. major, Nov. 23, 1861; maj.-gen. July 18, 1862; 1st engine corps 17 June, 1864. He commanded a brigade in Gen. Burnside's expedition to N. C.; fought at Roanoke Island, Newbern, and at the capture of Fort Mifflin; accompanied Gen. Burnside when he joined the Army of the Potomac; served in his corps through the campaign under Gen. Pope, and that under McClellan in Md. and Va.; and, when Burnside assumed chief command, became his chief of staff. He fought at South Mountain, Antietam, and Fredricksburg; at the siege and capture of Vicksburg; on the left wing of Sherman's army at Jackson, for which he rec. col. 12 June, 1863; engaged in the defence of Knoxville; and in operations against Gen. Longstreet, in Richmond campaign, and in operations taking part in the siege of Petersburg, and various actions until Lee's surrender, for which he rec. for capture of Ft. Mifflin 20 Aug. 1862; brev. brig.-gen. 13

Mar. 1865 for defence of Knoxville; brev. maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865 for repulse of Ft. Steadman. With A. H. Campbell pub. vol. 7 of Reports of Explorations and Surveys for the Pacific R.R. 4to, 1857.—Unpub.

Parke, Rev. Joseph, b. Newton, Ms., Mar. 12, 1705; d. Westley, R.I., Mar. 1, 1777. H.U. 1724. Great-grandson of Richard of Camb. 1635. Ord. 1732. Sent in 1733 as a missionary to Westley, R.I., where he labored 9 years, both among the English and Indians, with good success; and in 1752-6 had charge of a church at Southold, R.I. Rev. Mr. Parke organized a Sunday school in connection with his church at Westley in 1752,—nearly 20 years before the experiment of Robert Bell's in Eng. Having cared for a woman sick of small-pox, who had been driven away by the town-authorities, he was fined for contempt; when upon he preached a sermon in vindication of his course, which, with a narrative of the transaction, was pub. His son Capt. Benj. joined the patriot army, and was never heard of after the battle of Bunker's Hill.—MS. of Long Fa. 2, at Paulsboro.

Parke, Roswell, D.D. (Norwich U., Vt., 1800), teacher and author, b. Lebanon, Ct., Oct. 1, 1807; d. Chicago, Ill., July 16, 1869. West Point, 1831. Resigned Sept. 30, 1836. Prof. nat. phil. and chemistry in U. of Pa. 1836-42; ord. Pr. Ep. clergyman 1843; principal of Christ Church Hall (high school), Ct., 1846-52; pres. of Racine Coll. Wis., 1852-9; chancellor of the coll. in 1859-63. In 1863 he founded at Chicago a literary and scientific school, "Immanuel Hall," of which he was rector and proprietor until his death. Author of "Selections of Juvenile and Misc. Poems," Phila. 1836; "Pantology, or Systematic Survey of Human Knowledge;" "Sketch of the History of West Point," 1840; "Handbook for American Travelers in Europe," 1853; "Jerusalem and other Poems," 1857; and some occasional addresses, lectures, &c.

Parker, Amasa J., LL.D. (Gen. Coll. 1846), just. b. Sharon, Ct., June 2, 1807. Un. Col. 1825. Son of Rev. Daniel, minister of Ellsworth, who in 1816 removed with his family to Greenville, N.Y., to take charge of its academy. Amasa became principal of the Hudson Acad. in 1823; was adm. to the bar in 1828, and to partnership with his uncle, Col. Amasa, at Delhi, N.Y.; member of the legis. in 1833; elected a regent of the State U. in 1835; M.C. in 1837-9; app. a circuit judge, and vice-chancellor of the Court of Equity, Mar. 6, 1844; at the first election under the new State Const. was chosen a judge of this Supreme Court; U. S. dist. atty. for N.Y. 1859. Author of 6 vols. of "Reports of Criminal Cases," 8vo, 1835-39; with Wolford and Wade, "The Revised Statutes of N.Y.," &c., 3 vols., 8vo, 1859.

Parker, Daniel, brig.-gen. U. S. A., b. Shirley, Ms., Jan. 29, 1782; d. Washington, D.C. Apr. 5, 1846. Dartm. Coll. 1801. Bro. of Leonard M. Judge-advocate 1814; he read law, and began practice at Chathamstown, Ms.; previous to 1812 was chief clerk in the war-dept. at Washington. Was app. adj. and ass-judge Nov. 22, 1814; paym. gen. June 1, 1815; again app. chief clerk war-dept. Nov. 1841. He pub. Army Register 1816.

Parker, EDGAR, artist, b. Framingham, Ms., June 7, 1840. Norwich Milit. U. 1859. M.D. of H.U. 1863. Family came from Eng. in 1640, and were among the original settlers of Salem. Entered the army as assist. surgeon 13th Ms. Inf. Was taken prisoner twice, and severely wounded at the battle of Gettysburg. Relinquished the practice of medicine in 1867, and adopted portrait-painting as a profession, in which he is successfully engaged in Boston. Visited Europe in 1868, and also in 1870, for purposes of study.

Parker, EDWARD GRIFFIN, b. Boston, Nov. 16, 1825; d. N.Y. City, Mar. 30, 1868. Y.C. 1847. Lawyer of Boston; and in Ms. senate 1859. Vol. aide on Gen. Butler's staff in May, 1861; and in 1862 assist. adj.-gen. on the staff of Gen. Martin-Lake. After the war, he had charge of the Amer. Literary Bureau of Reference. Author of "Golden Age of Amer. Oratory," 1857; "Reminiscences of Rufus Choate," Svo, 1860. Contrib. to various mags., and in 1857 edited the polit. articles in the Boston Traveller.

Parker, EDWARD LUTWICH, b. Litchfield, N.H., July 28, 1785; d. Londonderry, July 14, 1850. Dartm. Coll. 1807. Grandson of Rev. Thomas of Dacot. Minister of the Cong. Ch., Londonderry, from Sept. 12, 1810, to his death. Author of "Ordination Sermons," 1824; "A Century Sermon," 1819; "Hist. of Londonderry," 12mo, 1851. — See Mag. of D. C. Alumni.

Parker, FOXHALL A., capt. U.S.N., son of Capt. F. A. Parker, U.S.N., b. N.Y., Aug. 5, 1821. Grad. Naval School, 1843. Lieut. Sept. 28, 1850, com. July 16, 1862; capt. July 25, 1866. He served in Florida against the Indians; com. steam-gumboat "Mahaska," 1863; naval battery on Morris Island during bombard. of Fort Sumter, Aug. 1864; engaged with Confed. batteries on Potomac and Rappahannock Rivers, and off Wilmington, N.C., and with Confed. troops on shore while com. "The Mahaska" in 1863, and Potomac flotilla in 1864-5. He is the author of "Squadron Tactics under Steam," 1864; "Naval Howitzer Ashore and Afloat," 1865-6; and has contrib. to the Knickerbocker, Mag.

Parker, HENRY WEBSTER, b. Danby, N.Y., 1822. Amh. Coll. 1843. Presb. divine, son of Rev. Samuel of Ithaca. Author of "Poems," 12mo, 1850; "The Story of a Soul," a poem, 1852; "Verse," by H. W. P., Boston, 12mo, 1862. Contrib. to various periodicals. — See Mag.

Parker, SIR HYDE, a British adm., b. 1740; d. N. Y. 16, 1807. He was second son of the first state vic-adm. of the name, and went to sea, when a merchant, under his father. In 1763 he became a post-capt.; and in 1776 served in "The Phoenix" (44), on the Amer. station, where he distinguished himself in the attack on New York; and in Dec. 1778, with a small squad., conveyed the force which captured Savannah. In 1779 he was knighted for these services. He was present in the action off the Dogger Bank; in Feb. 1793 was made rear-adm. of the White; was present at the surrender of Tonkin and the reduction of Corsica; in 1796 he took the com. at Jamaica; in 1799 was made adm. of the Red; and in 1807 he com. at the memorable attack of Copenhagen.

Parker, ISAAC, LL.D. (H.U. 1814), jurist, b. Boston, June 17, 1768; d. July 26, 1830. H.P. 1786. He was, for a time, teacher in the grammar-school, but studied law; established himself in practice at Castine, Me., and soon became popular. M.C. 1797-9; marshal for the dist. of Me. 1797-1801. After practising for a while in Portland he, in 1806, occupied a seat on the Supreme bench; and in 1814, on the decease of Sewall, succeeded him as chief justice. He was pres. of the Const. Conv. of Ms. of 1820, and, when relieved from the duties of the chair, took a spirited part in the debate. Prof. of law in H.U. in 1816-27. Author of Orations on Washington, 1800; "Sketch of the Character of Judge Parsons," Svo, 1817.

Parker, JAMES, legislator, b. Bethlehem, N.J., Mar. 3, 1776; d. Perth Amboy, N.J., Apr. 1, 1868. Col. Coll. 1793. James his father, one of the Prov. Council before the Revol., and a leading member of the board of proprietors of the Colony, removed with his family to Perth Amboy in 1783 and d. 1797. The son then assumed the care of his large landed estate; was a member of the N.J. Assembly in 1806-11, 1815-19, and 1827-8, and active in establishing the free-school system in the State, and in abolishing the exportation of slaves thence, commiss. to fix the boundary-line between N.J. and N.Y. in 1827-9; collector of the Port of Perth Amboy 1829-32; M.C. 1833-7; member of the State Const. Conv. in 1844; vice-pres. of the N.J. Hist. Soc. from its formation to the death of Judge Hornbower, and pres. from that time until his death. He gave to Rutgers Coll. the land at N. W. Brunswick on which its buildings are erected.

Parker, JOHN, LL.D. (Dartm. 1817; H.U. 1848), jurist, b. Jaffrey, N.H., Jan. 25, 1795. Dartm. Coll. 1811. He began to practice law at Keene in Sept. 1815, member N.H. legis. in 1824-6; app. ass. justice of the Supreme Court of N.H. Jan. 8, 1833, and chief justice June 25, 1838; prof. of real jurisprudence Dartm. Coll. 1847-57; chairman of the commiss. to revise the N.H. laws in Nov. 1849; and since Nov. 6, 1847, has been Royall prof. of law at H.U. He has pub. exclusive of law-reports and periodical essays, a Charge to a Grand Jury, including Memorials of Ch. Justice Wm. M. Richardson; an Oration before the Phi Beta Kappa of N.H. in 1856; "The Three Powers of Government," lectures in 1867-9, Svo, paper; "Progress," an address at Hanover, N.H., 1846; "Daniel Webster as a Jurist," 1851; "Non-Extension of Slavery," 1856; "Personal Liberty Laws and Slavery in the Territories," Svo, 1861; "The Right of Secession," 1861; "Habeas Corpus and Martial Law," 1861; "Constitutional Law," 1862; "International Law, Case of the Trent," 1862; "Ways-Powers of Congress and of the President," 1863; "Revolution and Reconstruction," 1866. "His Conflict of Decisions" is now (1871) in press.

Parker, JOHN, D.D., b. Bethel, Vt., Aug. 27, 1799. Ham. Coll. 1824. Ord. Presb. minister 1826; settled at Rochester, N.Y., 1826-30; Dey-st. Church 1830-33; at N. Or-leas 1833-8; Broadway Tabernacle, N. Y., 1838-40; Clinton St. Ch., Phila., 1842-52; Beecher st. Ch., N. Y., 1852-4; Fourth Avenue Presb. Ch., 1854. Pros., and pres. of sacred rhetoric, Un. Theol. Sem., N. Y., 1849-2. Author of "Lectures on Universalism," 1829; "Morals for a Young Student," 1832; "Invitations to True Happiness," 1843; "Courtship and Marriage," "Reasonings of a Pastor," &c., "Notes on P. Psalms," 1849; "Sermons," 1852; "Pastor's Instructory Catechism," 1855. Edited sermons of John W. Adams, D. D., with Memoir, 1851; Burder's Relig. Cerem. of all Nations. Assoc. editor of Presb. Quar. Review. — A. Thome.

Parker, NATIAN, D. D. (Bowd. Coll. 1823). Cong. minister, h. Reading, Ms., June 5 1822; d. Portsmouth, Nov. 8, 1833. H. U. 1833. He spent one year in teaching at Worcester, Ms.; studied theology; in 1805 was app. tutor in Bowd. Coll.; was settled in Portsmouth, Sept. 14, 1808; and in 1833 Rev. Andrew P. Peabody was ord. his colleague; when the division of the Cong. body in N. E. into two parties was recognized, he took part as a professed Unitarian. — Henry Ware, jun., pub. vol. of his sermons with a Memoir, 1835.

Parker, SIR PETER, a British adm., b. 1716; d. 1811. Son of Adm. Christopher Parker. He became a post-capt. in 1747; and in 1775, in "The Bristol," of 50 guns, proceeded with a squadron under his com. to co-operate with G. A. Clinton in the attack on Charleston, S. C. Arriving at Cape Fear in May, on June 28, 1776, he made an unsuccessful attack on Fort Moultrie, resulting in great loss and damage to his fleet, and to the abandonment of the enterprise. For his bravery in this affair he received the honor of knighthood. He aided Lord Howe in the capture of New York, and when the squadron which took possession of E. I. in the latter part of 1776. He held the cmd. from on the Jamaica station in 1777-82; was cmd. a bart. 25 Dec. 1782; subsequently became cmd. in chief at Portsmouth; M. P. for Malton; admiral of the White; and on the death of Lord Howe, as the oldest admiral in the navy, he became admiral of the fleet. His grandson SIR PETER (b. 1796) disting. himself as commander of "The Menelaus," frigate; and in 1814 sailed up the Chesapeake to destroy an Am. camp at Bellair. He landed his men, and bravely attacked the Am. troops, but was killed in the affair 30 Aug. 1814.

Parker, COL. RICHARD, Revol. officer of Va.; d. at the siege of Charleston, S. C., 24 Apr. 1780; capt. 24 Va. Regt. 24 Jan. 1775; at Pearl River, 8th Va. Regt.

Parker, RICHARD E., jurist, of Va., b. 1777; d. Nov. 1840; member of the h. of delegates; many years a judge of the Gen. and Circuit Courts of Va., also of the Supreme Court of Appeals; and in 1836-7 U. S. senator.

Parker, RICHARD GREEN, b. Boston, 1798, H. U. 1817. Son of Bishop Samuel. After teaching in various places, he was master of a grammar-school in Boston in 1827-53, and of a girl's school in 1833-8. Among his many sets of text-books are "Aids to Eng. Composition," 1816; "Natural Philosophy," 1837; and with J. M. Watson, "National Series of Readers and Spellers;" also author of Hist. of the Grammar-School in E. Parish, Roxbury, 1826; "Tribute to the Life and Character of Jonas Chickering," 12mo, 1854.

Parker, SAMUEL, D. D., Pro-Episcopal bishop of the eastern diocese (cons. 148 pt. 1-01), b. Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 23, 1741; d. Dec. 6, 1804. H. U. 1764. Son of Wm. (1705-81), judge of the Superior Court of N. H., 1771-6. He was 9 years a teacher; was in 1773 assist. rector of Trinity Church, Boston; was ord. by the bishop of London in Feb. 1774; and 2 Nov. following he entered upon the discharge of his duties. During the Rev., many of the Epis. clergy withdrew to Nova Scotia; but Mr. Parker retained his post. In 1779 he was elected rector of the parish, an office which he held until his death. His son REV. BENJ. CYRUS COLLIER (H. U. 1822), b. Boston, June 6, 1796, d. N. Y. City, Jan. 28, 1859; ord. pri. st. May 17, 1825; preach. I. in various places, and finally took charge of the "Floating Chapel for Seamen" in New York, where he labored 15 years with ability and fidelity.

Parker, REV. SAMUEL, clergyman and author, b. Ashfield, N. H., Apr. 23, 1779; d. Ithaca, N. Y., Mar. 24, 1866. Bowd. Coll. 1806; And. Sem. 1810. He was a missionary in Western N. Y. until ord. minist. of Danby in 1812; d. in 1827; settled at Apewick, N. Y., 1830-2; one year pastor at Middlefield, Ms.; and afterward resided at Ithaca. He pub. "Exploring Tour beyond the Rocky Mountains in 1835-7," made under the direction of the A. B. C. F. M. He claimed to be the first to suggest the possibility of a railroad through the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific. — Unionist, D. C.

Parker, THEODORE, Unitarian div. and author, b. Lexington, Ms., Aug. 23, 1810; d. Florence, Italy, May 19, 1860. M. A. of H. U. 1840. His grandfather, Capt. John, commanded the company of minutemen at Lexington who were first upon by the British troops, Apr. 19, 1775. Theodore inherited from his parents an earnest and thoughtful mind. At 10 he began to study Latin; at 14 Greek; and metaphysics—the pursuit of his life—at 12. His memory was so retentive, that he could repeat whole volumes of poetry. Before the age of 10 he knew all the scriptures and laws of Ms. He studied at Lexington Acad. in 1827; taught school in the winter of 1827-8, entered Harv. Coll. in 1830, but did not graduate; taught school in Boston and Wrentham; in 1834-7 studied divinity at Cambridge; was settled over the Unitarian Society in West Roxbury in June, 1837. In May, 1841, he delivered a sermon at the ordination of Rev. C. C. Smith, pastor of South Boston, he first uttered his sentiments which led to the theological controversies that marked the active years of his life, prominent among which was the assumption of the humanity and natural inspiration of Christ. In the autumn of 1841 he delivered in Boston 5 lectures, which formed a vol. entitled "A Discourse of Matters pertaining to Religion," 1842. In Sept. 1843 he visited Europe. Was invited to preach in Boston Feb. 16, 1845; and Feb. 16, 1846, became minister of the 28th Cong. Society in Boston, which a

Nov. 1852, occupied for the first time the great Music Hall, which was crowded every Sunday. Strangers came from every part of the country, attracted by his fame. Jan. 1859, an attack of pleurisy at the lungs terminated his public services. He sailed for Santa Cruz, Feb. 3; whence, in May, he sent a letter to his parish, entitled "Theodore Parker's Experience as a Minister." From that island he sailed to Europe, spent some time in Switzerland, and went to Rome, where he passed the winter of 1859. Starting out thence in April, 1860, he with difficulty reached Florence, where he died. He vigorously opposed the Mexican war, and was one of the earliest advocates of temperance and anti-slavery, writing and speaking much for the latter cause especially. After the passage of the fugitive-slave law in 1850, he became widely known as its uncompromising opponent. His sympathy was so marked at the rebellion of Anthony Burns, in Jan. 1854, as to cause his indictment in the U.S. Court. The indictment was quashed; but Mr. Parker had prepared an elaborate defense, which was printed. He bequeathed his valuable library of 13,000 volumes to the Public Library of Boston. He pub. in 1852 "Sermons on Theism, Atheism, and Popular Theology;" "Miscellaneous Writings," 12mo, 1843; "Occasional Sermons and Speeches," 2 vols, 12mo, 1852; "Additional Speeches and Addresses," 2 vols, 12mo, 1855; "Trial of Theodore Parker for the Misbehavior of a Speech in Faneuil Hall against Kidnapping," 1855. In addition to these he wrote for the Dial, Boston Quarterly Review, Christian Register, Christian Examiner; edited the Ms. Quarterly from 1847 to 1850, and was also actively engaged as a lecturer. His "Life and Correspondence," by John Weiss, was pub. N.Y., 2 vols, 8vo, 1864. A complete edition of his works, edited by Francis Power Cole, was pub. Lond. 12 vols, 1863-5. He was plain, outspoken, and uncompromising in the utterance of his convictions, but in the intercourse of private life exhibited an almost feminine gentleness and affectionateness. He was remarkable for the extraordinary extent and precision of his knowledge.

Parker, Thomas, first minister of Newbury, Mass., from 1635 to his d. Apr. 24, 1677, b. June 8, 1595. He studied some time at Oxford, and in Ireland, under Dr. Usher, receiving his degree of M.A. while at Leyden in 1647. He taught and preached in Newbury, Eng.; came to N.E. in May, 1634; was co-pastor with Mr. Ward of Ipswich about a year; and then began the settlement of Newbury, Mass. A bitter controversy on church govern. lasting for years, ultimately divided his church. He was eminent for learning and piety. He pub. a Letter to a member of the Westminster Assembly on church govern., 1644; and "The Prophecies of Daniel Exemplified," 4to, 1646; "Methodus Interpretationis," 1657; and "Theses de Providentia Provocandi ad Vitam," with some works of Dr. Ames.

Parker, Gen. Thomas, b. Frederick Co., Va.; d. there 24 Jan. 1820. A cadet in the Revolutionary army; ass. bent. of com. 5th Inf. S. Jan. 1799; col. 12th Inf. 12 Mar. 1812; brig.-gen. U.S.A. 1813-14.

Parkinson, Richard, of Doncaster, Eng., and subsequently of Orange Hill, near Baltimore. Some time in the employ of Washington as agriculturist at Mount Vernon. Pub. "The Experienced Farmer," 2 vols. Lond. 1798; "A Tour in America 1798-1800," 2 vols, 8vo, 1805; "Management of a Farm in Ireland," 8vo, 1806; "Breeding and Management of Live Stock," 2 vols, 8vo, 1809; "Survey of Rutlandshire," 1809; "View of the Agriculture of Huntingdonshire," 1811, 8vo. — V. Supp.

Parkinson, William, Baptist divine, b. Frederick Co., Md., 1774; d. 1848. Author of "Public Ministry of the World," 1818; Sermons on Deut. xxxii., 2 vols 8vo, 1831. — Spinnock's Journals.

Parkman, Ebenezer, first minister of Westborough, Mass., from Oct. 28, 1724, to his d. Dec. 9, 1782; b. Boston, Sept. 5, 1703, H.U. 1721. A short account of Westborough by him is in "Ms. Hist. Colls." He pub. "Reformers and Intercessors," 1752; "Convention Sermon," 1761.

Parkman, Francis, D.D. (H.U. 1814), a Unitarian minister, b. Boston, June 4, 1788; d. there Nov. 12, 1852. H.U. 1807. He studied theology under Dr. William L. Chauncy and at the U. of Edinburgh. Oct. Dec. 8, 1813; from 1813 to 1819 he was pastor of the New North Church in Boston. He pub. "The Offering of Sympathy," 1829, and some occasional sermons and addresses. The Parkman professorship of pulpit eloquence and pastoral care in the Camb. Theol. School was founded by his munificence; and he took an active part in nearly all the most important charitable institutions of his native city.

Parkman, Francis, author, b. Boston, Sept. 16, 1823. H.U. 1844. Son of Rev. Francis. He visited Europe in 1844; and in 1846 made a journey across the prairie, and explored the Rocky Mountains. An account of this expedition was given in a series of articles in the Kaibabian Map, collected and pub. under the title of "The California and Oregon Trail," N.Y. 1849. He has also pub. a "History of the Conspiracy of Pontiac," Boston, 1851; "Vassal Morton," a novel; "France and England in N. Amer.," 2 vols, 1865-7; "Discovery of the Great West," 1869. Mr. Parkman labors under the serious disadvantage of an affection of the eyes, which often renders him wholly unable to read or write.

Parris, Amos Keith, gov. of Maine, 1823-6, b. Auburn, Me., Jan. 19, 1782; b. Portland, Me., Feb. 11, 1857. D. in Me. 1867. Son of Samuel, a Royal officer, several years judge of the C. P. and member of the legis. of Me.; d. Washington, D.C., Sept. 10, 1817, a. 32. The son was engaged in the war until the age of 14; was admitted to the bar in Sept. 1819, and located himself at Bangs, Me.; in 1811 he was county atty.; and Me. 1815-19, after serving one year as representative, and one as senator in the Massachusetts legis.ature; in 1818 appointed judge of the U.S. District Court, at which time he removed to Portland; in 1819 he was a member of the convention, and of the committee for forming a State const.; was in 1820 app. judge of probate for Cumberland Co.; was U.S. senator 1826-8; in 1828-36 a judge of the Supreme Court of Me.; and in 1836-50 was a comptroller of the U.S. treasury. He retired to Portland in 1850, and was mayor of the city in 1852.

Parris, SAMUEL, first minister of Danvers, Ms., from Nov. 19, 1689, to June, 1696, b. London, 1653; d. Sudbury, Ms., 27 Feb. 1720. He studied at H.U., but did not grad. At first a merchant in Boston, afterward a minister. The Salem witchcraft commenced in his family in 1692. His dau., and his niece Abigail Williams, aged 11, accused Tituba (a South-Amer. slave), living as a servant in the family, of bewitching them. Mr. Parris beat her, and compelled her to confess herself a witch. John, Tituba's husband, for his own safety turned accuser of others. 19 were hung, and Gyles Cory pressed to death. The delusion lasted 16 months. As Mr. Parris had been a zealous prosecutor, his church in Apr. 1693 brought charges against him. He acknowledged his error, and was disaused. After preaching two or three years at Stow, he removed to Concord, and preached 6 months in Dunstable in 1711. — See Life of Parris by S. P. Fowler (read to Essex Inst.), Svo., 1857.

Parrish, EDWARD, b. Phila. 1822. Principal of the School of Practical Pharmacy, Phila., and since 1864 prof. of materia medica there. Son of Joseph, M.D. Has contrib. to the Journal of Pharmacy, and pub. "Introduct. to Practical Pharmacy," Svo., 1856; "The Phantom Bouquet," 1863; "Essay on Education in the Soc. of Friends," 1866.

Parrish, JOSEPH, M.D., physician, b. Phila. Sept. 2, 1779; d. Mar. 18, 1840. M.D. U. of Pa. 1816. He was brought up a Quaker. Studied languages, and afterward medicine; was a resident physician in the Phila. Yellow-fever Hospital; in 1806-12 was one of the physicians of the Phila. Dispensary; in 1806-22 surgeon to the Phila. Almshouse; in 1816-29 surgeon to the Pa. Hospital; and, from 1835 to his death, consulting physician to the Phila. Dispensary. He was an active member of various philanthropic or benevolent institutions; was a contrib. to the periodical journals of his profession, and repub. "Lawrence on Hernia," with an Appendix. His son ISAAC (1811-52), also eminent as a physician, pub. "Memoir of J. C. Otto, M.D.," and many papers in medical journals.

Parrott, Enoch G., commodore U.S.N., b. Port-mouth, N.H., Dec. 10, 1814. Mid-shipm. Dec. 10, 1831; lieut. Sept. 8, 1841; com. Apr. 1861; capt. July 25, 1866; commo. 1870. Engaged under Com. Perry in the operations against B. ruly, W. coast of Africa, Dec. 1843; in the frigate "Congress;" and with Fremont in the capture of Guaymas and Mazatlan during the Mexican war; with the exped. which destroyed the Norfolk navy-yard, Apr. 1861; in brig "Perry" at the capture of the privateer "Savannah;" com. steamer "Augusta" in capture of Port Royal; engaged the Confed. rams on their sortie from Charleston, Jan. 13, 1863; com. iron-clad "Canopus" in engagement with Howlitt's battery and the iron-clads on James River, June 21, 1864; and in subsequent engagement there; com. "Monadnock" in attacks on Fort Fisher, Dec. 1864, and Jan. 1865; and present at surrender of Charleston.

Parry, SIR WILLIAM EDWARD, Arctic navigator, b. Bath, Eng., Dec. 10, 1790; d. Ems, July 7, 1855. He entered the British navy in 1803; from 1813 to 1817 was attached to the N.A. station; with the boats of the "La Hogue" (74) in the spring of 1814 he ascended the Ct. River about 20 miles, and destroyed 27 privateers and other vessels; and in 1818 joined Sir John Ross's exped. as a lieut. He commanded in 1819 a second exped., in which he crossed the meridian at 110° W., lat. 74° 44' 20", and became entitled to the reward of £5,000 offered by parliament for reaching thus far west within the Arctic circle. Upon his return in 1820 he was promoted to commander; and was knighted in 1829. He made another exped. in 1821-3; and in a third, in 1826, attained by boats and sledges the height of 82° 45', — the nearest point to the north pole that had been reached. In 1852 he became re-sident of the White, and in 1853 lieut.-gov. of Greenwich Hospital. He pub. narratives of his voyages.

Parsons, JONATHAN, minister of Newburyport, Ms., from 1746 to his d. July 19, 1776; b. W. Springfield, Ms., Nov. 30, 1705. Y.C. 1729. Grandson of Benjamin, who settled in Springfield ab. 1635. Ord. at Lyme in March, 1732, and continued there until 1745. He possessed great oratorical powers, was a powerful pastor, an eminent scholar, and was skilled in Latin, Greek, and Hebrew. Besides occasional sermons, he pub. in 2 vols. Svo. 47-0, "Sixty Sermons on Various Subjects;" "Lect. in the Christian Hist.," 1741; "On Baptism," 1770; "Lectures on Justification," 1748. — See Synops.

Parsons, GEN. MONROE M., b. Va. 1819, killed near Camargo, Mexico, Aug. 17, 1855, in a fight between the liberals and imperialists. Removing early in life to Cole Co., Mo., he practised law; held office as a Dem. politician, was atty-gen. of Mo. in 1853-7, and in 1861 of the State senate subsequently; in the Mexican war he was a capt. in Doniphan's mounted regt., and was disting. in the battle of Sacramento. Acting in concert with Gov. C. F. Jackson at the outset of the Rebellion, he was atty-gen. C.S.A., and was active in organizing the State militia; and was present at the skirmish at Booneville; afterward raised a brigade of mounted men, with whom he served at Carthage, Springfield, Pea Ridge, and Irbahwa; and, being promoted to the com. of a division, served under Price to the end of the war, excepting in the last invasion of Mo. in 1864. After the surrender of Kirby Smith, he went with some followers to Mexico, and joined the forces of Juarez.

Parsons, SAMUEL HOLDEN, maj.-gen. Revol. army, b. Lyme, Ct., May 14, 1757; drowned in the rapids of the Big Bayou River, O., Nov. 17, 1789. H.U. 1756. Son of Jonathan. He studied law at Lyme, in the office of his uncle, Gov. Matthew Gilman, and was adm. to the bar in 1759; succeeded his uncle as elected representative to the A. Cong. in 1762, and successively for 13 sessions; in 1774 he received the app. of lieut. atty., and res.

mov'd to New London; he was one of the com. of corresp.; in 1775 he was app. col. of the 6th Ct. Regt.; was at the sig. of Boston and the battle of Long Island; made brig.-gen. by Congress, Aug. 9, 1776, and maj.-gen. Oct. 25, 1780; in 1779 he succ'ed Gen. Putnam in the com. of the Ct. line; and at the close of the war, resumed practice in Middletown. In 1785 he was app. by Congress a commiss., to treat with the Indians at Miami; was an active member of the conv. of Ct. in Jan. 1788 which carried the U.S. Constitution; was app. by Washington first judge of the N.W. Terr.; and was in 1789 app. by Ct. a commiss. to treat with the Wyandottes and other Indian tribes on Lake Erie for extinguishing the original title to the Ct. Western Reserve, &c. Parsons went early in 1787, with others, to the North-west, and settled on or near the Ohio River. He pub. a paper on the Antiquities of the Western States in "Trans. Amer. A. S. S.," vol. 2.

PARSONS, THEOPHILUS, LL.D. (H.U.) 1740, an eminent jurist, b. Byfield, Ms., 24 Feb. 1750; d. Boston, 30 Oct. 1813. H.U. 1769. Son of Rev. Moses. In 1774 he was admitted to the Portland bar, and kept the grammar-school there. Upon the declaration of the war in Oct. 1775, he returned to Byfield, which he enjoyed the intricacies of the minuteman's "Trow Ridge"; in 1777 he began practice in Newburyport; and was a delegate to the State convention at Ipswich to consider the signature of a State constitution. His draught, slightly modified, and known as the "Essex Result," contains the principles incorporated in the best constitutions of govt. in our republic. In 1780 he was one of the framers of the State constitution, and one of the ablest in that body. Removing to Boston in 1800, he was engaged in most cases of magnitude until made chief justice of Ms. in 1806; in 1785 he was the powerful and zealous advocate of the U.S. Constitution, to which he proposed certain amendments. In legal knowledge he was among the first of his time; and the acuteness of his reasoning, and his profound knowledge of the laws, statutes, and constitutions of the country, are shown in the 6 vols. of Reports and Decisions; he was versed also in classical literature and mathematical science; possessed a wonderful memory, and was a bold and powerful speaker; he was no less remarkable for his wit than for his legal attainments. His pub. opinions were so highly estimated, that a collection of them was pub. in N.Y. in 1836, under the title "Commentaries on Amer. Law."—S. Memoirs by his Son, 12mo, 1850.

Parsons, THEOPHILUS, LL.D. (H.U.) 1740, a son of the preceding, b. Newburyport, 18 May 1757; H.U. 1815. He studied law with Judge Wm. Prescott, and practised at Hampton, and afterward in Boston. For some years he contributed to the N. A. R.; and wrote occasionally for the American Review of Phila., and for the Free Press and N. E. Gazette, 2 vols. papers, and founded and edited the U.S. Gazette and Gazette. He has written two vols. of essays and other smaller works in exposition of the doctrines of the New Jerusalem Church, also contributing to its periodical publications. Since 1847 he has been Dane prof. of law in the Law School of H.U. at Cambridge. He has pub. "Law of Contracts," 2 vols. 1853, 5th ed. 3 vols. 1864; "Elements of Mercantile Law," 1856; "Laws of Business for Business Men," 1857; "Maritime Law," 2 vols. 1859; "Memoir of Chief Justice Parsons," 1859; "Notes and Bills of Exchange," 2 vols. 8vo, 1862; "Law of Partnership," 1867; "Deus Homo," 1867; "Mutual Insurance and Gen. Average," 2 vols. 8vo, 1868; "Shipping and Admiralty," 2 vols. 8vo, 1869.

Parsons, THOMAS WILLIAM M.D., dentist and poet, b. Boston, Aug. 18, 1819. H.U. 1838. Son of Dr. T. W. He was educated at the Boston Latin School; and in 1836-7 visited Italy, where he studied Italian literature, and translated the first 10 cantos of Dante's "Inferno," pub. in Boston 1843. In 1854 a vol. of his poems appeared containing "Ulysses di Roma," and other pictures of life in Italy, together with pieces on American subjects. His translation of the "Inferno" was pub. Boston, 1867, 4to. His friends in 1867 printed privately a vol. of his poems entitled "The Magnolia." He has contrib. to the Gazette, Journal Monthly, &c.

Parsons, USHER, M.D., physician, b. Alford, Me., Aug. 18, 1788; d. Providence, R.I., Dec. 19, 1868. He studied under Dr. John Warren. Entering the navy as surgeon's mate in 1812, he was acting surgeon of "The Lawrence," Perry's flagship, at the battle of Lake Erie, Sept. 19, 1813. He served in 1814 on the Upper Lakes, and was at the attack on Mackinac, but resigned after 10 years' service in the navy, and practised medicine and surgery in Providence, R.I. He received a guest from H.U. 1818, Dartm. 1821, a d. from Brown in 1825. He was a prof. in Brown and other colleges, pres. of the R. I. Med. Soc., first V. P. of the National Med. Assoc. Author of several medical works, and of "Life of Sir Wm. Pepperell," 1856. He also pub. a speech at Put in Bay, Sept. 10, 1858, on the 45th anniversary of the battle of Lake Erie, and a number of biog. sketches and speeches in pamphlet form, and papers in periodicals.

Parton, JAMES, author, b. Canterbury, Eng., Feb. 9, 1822. At the age of 5 he was brought to New York, and at 19 taught in an acad. at White Plains, where he had been educated. He afterward taught in Phila. and New York; and was 3 years on the literary staff of the Evening Journal. His "Life of Horatio Greeley" appeared in 1855, of "Aaron Burr" in 1857, and of "Andrew Jackson," 3 vols. 8vo, in 1859-60; all of which met with great success. In 1856 he pub. a collection of "Humorous Poetry of the English Language from Chaucer to Shakespeare." He pub. in 1864 a Biography of Franklin, 2 vols.; "Gen. Butler in New Orleans," 1863; "Life of J. J. Astor," 8vo, 1865; "Manual for the Instruction of Rings, Railroad and Political," 1866; "How New York City is Governed," 1866; "Famous Americans," 1867; "People's Book of Biography," 8vo, 1868; "Smoking and Drinking," 1868; "Lepus of the Time," "The Danish Islands," 1869. Contrib. to N. A. R.

view, Atlantic Monthly, &c. He is a brilliant writer and a successful lecturer. He m. Sara Payson Willis ("Fanny Fern") in 1856.

Parton, Sara Payson ("Fanny Fern"), b. Portland, Me., July 7, 1811. Sister of N. P. Willis. Her father Nathaniel removed with his family to Boston when she was 6 years old. She was educated in a school at Hartford taught by Catharine and Harriet Beecher; and in 1834 m. Charles Eldridge of Boston, upon whose death in 1846 she was thrown upon her own resources to provide for herself and two children. She was subsequently m. to Mr. Farrington, a merchant of Boston; but their union was of brief duration. Not succeeding in obtaining employment in teaching or in other vocations, she in 1851 assumed the pen for a livelihood. Her first essay proved successful, and was followed by others, which were widely copied, until the pseudonyme of "Fanny Fern" was familiar in all parts of the U.S. These pieces were pub. in 1853 under the title of "Fern-Leaves," of which 50,000 copies were sold; and were followed by her "Little Ferns," 1853; "Fern-Leaves," 2d series, 1854; "Ruth Hall," "Rose Clark," "Fresh Leaves," 1857; "Folly as it Files," 12mo, 1868; and the "Play-day Book,"—some of which have been repub. in Eng. and elsewhere. The "Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern" was pub. Lond. 1855. Her chief employment since 1854 has been in writing for the N.Y. Ledger. Soon after commencing her literary career, she went to New York; and was m. to James Parton, the author, in Jan. 1856.

Partridge, Alden, milit. instructor, b. Norwich, Vt., 1785; d. there 16 Jan. 1854. West Point, 1806; Dartm. Coll. 1812. Asst. prof. of math. W. P. Nov. 1806; prof. of math. Apr.-Sept. 1813; of eng. Sept. 1813; capt. engr. corps 23 July, 1819; a d. supt. W. P. Acad. Sept. 1812-Apr. 1815. Principal of exploring survey under the 5th article, Treaty of Ghent. Established in 1820, in Norwich, Vt., a milit. acad., incorp. in 1834 as the Norw. U., of which he was pres.; and founded milit. schools in Port-mouth, Va. (1840), Reading, Pa. (1850), and in Pam-broke, N.H. He lectured on milit. affairs in the large cities; was a member of the Vt. legis. in 1833, '34, and '39; and was surgen. of Vt. in 1822. Author of "An Expedition," 1822; Letters on Education, and on National Defence; Journal of a Tour of Cadets, &c., 8vo, 1827.

Partridge, George, Revol. patriot, b. Duxbury, Ms., Feb. 8, 1740; d. there July 7, 1828. H. U. 1762. He studied divinity, but never preached; and was some years a teacher at Kingston, Ms. He was a delegate to the Prov. Congress 1774-5, in which he was very active; was a State representative 1775-9; a delegate to the Cont. Congress 1779-82 and 1783-5; M.C. 1789-91; and sheriff of Plymouth Co. 1790 and several years following. He bequeathed a large part of his estate for religious and educational uses.

Partridge, Oliver, member of the first Council Congress in 1765, b. Hatfield, Ms., 1710; d. there July 21, 1792. Y. C.

1730. His ancestor Wm., an early settler on the Ct. River, came from Brimfield, Tw., and died in Hadley.

Pascalis, Felix A. Ouyère, M.D., physician, b. France abt. 1750; d. New York, July 27, 1833. After completing his medical education, he established himself in practice in St. Domingo. After the invasion of the island there, in 1793, he resided in Philadelphia frequently, for nearly 20 years, in New York, and observations on the yellow fever at Cadix, 1795, placed in him a conviction that the disease was not contagious; this result was unknown to the public in the Med. & Bot., a journal which he edited jointly with Drs. Mitchell and Ackerly, and to which he was frequent contributor. In 1798 he pub. an Account of the Contagious and Epidemic Yellow fever in Philadelphia, in 1812 an essay on the little diseases; and in 1829 "Instructions for Sick-room Nurses, and Culture of the Malaria-Trop."

Paschall, Nathaniel, editor, b. Knoxville, Tenn., April 4, 1802; d. St. Louis, Mo., 12 1866. He went to St. Louis an orphan in 1814, and apprenticed himself to Joseph C. Sellers of the M. & T.; in 1827 he started with Edward Charness, the son of his partner, the Missouri Register, of which, with the exception of 1844, when clerk of St. Louis County, he was editor and half-owner till he died. He was master of a horse and wagon stage. His paper, while conspicuous for its ability, advocated slavery, and opposed the Republican party.

Passaconaway Papisconewa, the Merrimack sachem, at 1700 great sachem of the Pamunkey, or Pennacook; d. 1693-9 at a great age. He held control over the tribes of Southern N.H. and a portion of Mass., and was at the head of a powerful confed. ray of white warriors of the country. May 17, 1629, he conveyed John Winthrop and his associates at Squamscutt, now Exeter, to the site of land extending from the Piscataqua to Merrimack westward and from the mouth of the 30 miles north. In 1648 he invited the Rev. John apostle Elliot to keep his school near his house, so that the night brought Christianity to the same time as owing his belief in God. He was sagacious and cunning, and had a great reputation as a powwow, or sorcerer. At great distance and east in 1690 he made his last journey to his people, and expired 4 days before he reached the English, as he had tried his conjuring powwow, but then in vain. — C. E. P. in the Atlantic Monthly, Vt., Feb. 1852.

Passmore, Rev. Joseph C., D.D., Lancaster, Pa., 1818; d. Racine, Wis., 12 Aug. 1896. Ord. deacon P. E. Ch. 1848; 1849-50. In 1844-52 prof. of mental philosophy and political econ. in St. James's Coll., Mass.; afterward at Racine until his death. Author of "Footprints, or Fugitive Poems," Phila. 1844. Editor of Bp. Butler's "Ethical Discourses," Phila. 1855.

Patrick, Glen Marsena R., b. Johnson Co., N.Y., Mar. 15, 1811. West Point, 1835. Joining the 2d Inf., he became 1st lieutenant 1839; capt. 22 Aug. 1847; bvt. major 1849; for meritorious conduct in Mexico.

resigning 30 June, 1850, he retired to his farm, and in 1859-60 was pres. of the State Agric. Coll. When civil war broke out, he was made insp.-gen. of the N. Y. militia, brig.-gen., vols. March 17, 1862; in Dec. he com. a brigade in Doubleday's division, 1st army corps, with which he took part in the battle of Antietam; prov.-mar. gen. Army of the Potomac Oct. 1862 to 17 Mar. 1865; resign. 12 June, 1865; pres. N. Y. Agric. Soc. since 14 Feb. 1867. Resides at Geneva, N. Y.

Patten, George W., lieut. col. U. S. A., b. Newport, R. I., 1808. Brown U. 1825. West Point, 1830. Son of Dr. Wm. of Newport. Lieut. 1830; capt. 18 June, 1846; brev. maj. for gallantry at Cerro Gordo, where he lost his leg, 18 Apr. 1847; maj. 9th Inf. 30 Apr. 1861; lieut. col. 2d Inf. 7 June, 1862; retired 17 Feb. 1864. Author of "Army Manual," 1861; "Tactics and Drill for Inf., Art., and Cav.," vols. 1861-81; "Verses of the Border," "Poems," 1867. He has contrib. many poetical pieces to periodicals.

Patten, Mvt. John, Revol. officer, b. Kent Co., Del., d. Dover June, 1801, a. 55. He fought in nearly every battle from I. I. to Camden, was a member of the Old Congress in 1785-6, and M. C. 1792-3 and 1795-7.

Patten, William D.D. (B. U., 1807), minister of Newport 1786-1834; d. Hartford, Ct., Mar. 9, 1839, a. 76. Dartm. Coll. 1780. Son of Rev. Wm. He was a disting. theologian, and a kind, benevolent man. He pub. several sermons, "Christianity the True Theology," against Paine, 12mo, 1795; "Reminiscences of Rev. S. Hopkins," 18mo, 1843; "Memor. of Mrs. Ruth Patten," 12mo, 1834. He m. Hannah Hubbard of N. London, who in 1815 set up the first village school in the U. S., at Newport; she d. Brooklyn, Aug. 30, 1855, a. 80. — D. C. A. Com.

Patterson, Daniel E., capt. U. S. N., b. N. Y., 1871, d. Washington, D. C., Aug. 25, 1899. Midshipm. Aug. 20, 1890; attached to the "Albatross," Philadelp., Capt. Bambridge, when a ran upon a reef off Tripoli and was taken by a flotilla of gunboats, and remained a prisoner in Tripoli until 1895. Lieut. Jan. 24, 1897; master com. July 24, 1813; capt. Feb. 28, 1815; navy commis. 1828-32; and com. esquad, in the Mediterranean in 1832-5. In 1834 he com. the U. S. naval forces at New Orleans, and cooperated so ably with Gen. Jackson in the defence of that city, that he received the thanks of Congress.

Patterson, Jous, brig.-gen. Revol. army, New Britain, C. 1744; d. Lisle, Broome Co., N. Y., July 19, 1808. Y. C. 1762. He fought at the battle of a pausing army and justice of the peace in New Britain. He moved to Lenox, Ms., in 1774. His father, Maj. John, d. of a powder-warehouse in the taking of Havana, Sept. 5, 1762, a. 54. He was a member of the first Prov. Congress of Ms. in 1774, and of the second in 1775. The news of the battle of Lexington reached Berkshire at noon the next day, and at sunrise the following morning, Patterson's regt. of mounted men was on the way to Cambridge, where it was employed in the erection of the first redoubt thrown up on the lines ab. Boston; after the evacuation of Boston, Col. Patterson was ordered to Canada, and a part of his regt. was engaged in the disastrous battle of the Cedars; after the retreat from Canada, the regt. joined Washington just in time to take part in the battles of Trenton and Princeton; Feb. 21, 1777, Col. Patterson was app. a brig.-gen., and attached to the northern dept. A part of his brigade was at the battle of Stillwater, in which severe combat he rendered important service; present at the surrender of Burgoyne and at the battle of Monmouth; he remained in service until the close of the war. During Shays's Rebellion in 1786, Gen. Patterson headed a detachment of the Berkshire militia ordered out for its suppression. After the Revol. he removed to Lisle, where he was chief justice of the Co. Court; 4 years member of the N. Y. legisl.; member of the N. Y. Const. Conv. of 1801; and M. C. in 1803-5.

Patterson, Robert, LL.D., b. in north of Ireland, May 30, 1743; d. Phila. July 22, 1824. He came to Phila. in 1768. Became principal of the acad. at Wilmington, Del., in 1774; was a brigade maj. in the Revol. war; prof. of mathematics, U. of Pa., in 1779-1814, and some time vice-provost. In 1805 he was made director U. S. mint, from 1819, till his death, he was pres. of the Amer. Philos. Soc., to whose "Transactions" he was a frequent contributor. He pub. "The Newtonian System," 8vo, 1808; "Treatise on Arithmetic," 1819; and edited Ferguson's "Mechanics," 2 vols. 8vo, 1806; his "Astronomy," 8vo, 1809; John Webster's "Nat. Philos.," 1808; Ewing's "Nat. Philos., with Bug. Sketch," 8vo, 1809. A record of the families of Robert Patterson (the elder) was priv. print. d. 1847.

Patterson, Col. Robert, b. Pa. 1755; d. near Dayton, O., Aug. 5, 1827. He came to Ky. in 1775. In 1804 he settled near Dayton, O. Original proprietor of Lexington, Ky., and one-third owner of Cincinnati when it was laid out. He was in Col. Clark's Ill. campaign in 1778, in Bowman's exped. against old Chillicothe in 1779, capt. in Clark's exped. against the Shawnees in Aug. 1780; second in com. to Col. Boone (Aug. 19, 1782) at the battle of the Lower Blue Licks; col. in Clarke's second exped. into the Miami country, Sept. 1782; and col. in 1786 in Logan's exped. against the Shawnees.

Patterson, Gen. Robert, B. Co. Tyrone, Ireland, Jan. 12, 1792. He came while young to the U. S., and was paired with a merchant of Phila. He received a collegiate education, and early manifested military propensities. Capt. 3d Inf. Apr. 1814. Returning to commercial life, he became largely engaged in manufactures, and owned several mills. At the beginning of the Mexican war, in 1846, he was made a brig.-gen. of vols. He com. his division at Cerro Gordo; led the cavalry and advanced brigades in the pursuit; and the next morning entered and took Jalapa, receiving the thanks of Gen. Scott. He com. the 3-mos. Pa. vols. in 1861; was assigned to a milit. dept. composed of the States of Pa., Del., and Md., and the Dist. of Col.; and crossed the Potomac, June 15, at Williamsport. When Gen. Mis-

Dowell advanced into Va., Patterson was instructed to remain at Winchester to hold in check the superior forces of Gen. J. E. Johnston. His failure to do this, in consequence of which Johnston, re-enforcing Beauregard and on the 11th of Bull Run, July 21, gave the victory to the Confederates, exposed him to severe criticism; and he was discharged from the service, July 27, 1861. He pub. in 1865 "A Narrative of the Campaign in the Valley of the Shenandoah in 1861," in vindication of his conduct.

Patterson, ROBERT M., M.D., pres. of the Amer. Philos. Society 1849-53; b. Phila.; d. there, Sept. 5, 1854, a. 68. U. of Pa. 1804; M.D. 1808. Son of Robert, director U.S. Mint. Educated as a chemist under Sir Humphry Davy; returned home in 1812; was soon after elected prof. of nat. philos., chemistry, and math. in the U. of Phila.; prof. in the U. of Va. in 1828-35; director of the U.S. Mint, Phila., 1835-53. He was elected a member of the Philos. Society in 1809; was a most active participant in its labors, and contrib. largely to its "Proceedings." He delivered, May 25, 1843, while its vice-pres., "A Discourse on the Early History of the Amer. Philos. Society;" and an address in 1845 before the Franklin Institute, 8vo., 1847. — Imp. biogr.

Patterson, THOMAS H., capt. U.S.N., b. La., May 10, 1819. Midship. Apr. 5, 1836; lieut. June 2, 1849; com. July 16, 1862; capt. July 15, 1866. Attached to brig "Oregon," survey of Tampa Bay, 1842-4; coast survey 1844-8; com. steam-gunboat "Chocoma," N.A. B. squad., 1862; in constant co-operation with Army of the Potomac; in steamer "James Alder," 1862-5; cut out steamer "Kate" from the batteries at New Inlet, N.C., July 31, 1863; participated in the capture of a flying battery near Fort Fisher, Aug. 23, 1863; captured "The Columbia" and "The R. E. Lee," both filled with arms and stores for the Confederacy; com. steam-sloop "Brooklyn," flagship Brazil squad., 1865-7. — Hawley's J.

Patterson, WILLIAM, LL.D. (11 V. 1896), statesman and jurist, b. at sea, of Irish parents, in 1745; d. Albany, Sept. 9, 1806. N. J. Coll. 1763. He studied law, and was adm. to the bar in 1769; was a member of the first N. J. Const. Conv. in 1776; in 1776-86 was attorney of the State; was U.S. senator in 1789-90, having previously been a member of the convention which formed the Federal Constitution; gov. of N. J. in 1791-4; judge of the U.S. Supreme Court from 1794 to his death. In 1788-9 he revised, by authority of the legisl., the laws of N. J.

Patti, ADELINA (ADLE JEANNA MARIA), vocalist, b. Madrid, Spain, Apr. 9, 1843. Her father Salvator was a tenor of some repute; and her mother, Mad. Barilli Patti, a prima donna. The family came to the U.S. in 1844. At the age of 9, Adèle made a tour in the British Provinces with Strakosch and Ole Bull, singing popular opera music. Mar. 3, 1854, she made her début at Jullien's concert, N.Y.; she soon after made a concert-tour to the W. Indies with Gottschalk the pianist. Nov. 24, 1859, she app. as Lucia at the N.Y. Acad. of Music, and saved the season and the managers from ruin. First app. in the Ital. Opera House, London, 13 May, 1861. July 29, 1868, she m. the Marquis de Cambray.

Patti, CARLOTTA, sister of Adèle, b. Florence, 1840; made her début in concert in N.Y. First app. there in opera at the Acad. in Aug., 1862. Apr. 16, 1863, she app. at the Italian Opera House, London. The Queen of England to her, "Never in my life has any singer so charmed and pleased me." She was equally successful in Paris and on the Continent. She returned to the U.S. in Sept. 1869, and appeared at Steinway Hall in concert. Her execution is wonderful; and her voice, a beautiful high soprano, has a compass of over two octaves.

Pattison, GRANVILLE SWALEH, M.D., anatomist, b. Glasgow, 1791; d. N.Y. Nov. 12, 1851. Educated at Glasgow, he commenced his career as a lecturer at the Andersonian Inst.; he then emigr. to Amer., and was for some years prof. of anatomy in the Med. Coll. of Baltimore. Subsequently he returned to Europe, and became the first prof. of anatomy in the Lond. U.; but a few years later he again visited Amer.; was app. prof. of anatomy in the Jeff. Med. Coll. of Phila.; and in 1840, on the opening of the U. of N.Y., was app. to a similar chair in that institution, where he remained until his death. He pub. a translation of Massé's "Anatomical Atlas;" an edition of Cruveilhier's "Anatomy," 8vo.; papers in the Med. Recorder, and some pamphlets.

Pattison, GEN. JAMES, a British officer, b. 1724; d. Lond. Mar. 1, 1805. Capt. of art. Aug. 1, 1747; lieut.-col. 1761; col. com. of art. Apr. 25, 1777; maj.-gen. Feb. 19, 1779; lieutenant, Sept. 28, 1787; gen. Jan. 26, 1797; app. adjt.-gen. in America, July 11, 1776; sent home with despatches after the battle of Monmouth. He accomp. the exp. d. against Charleston in 1780, and com. at New York after the capture of that city.

Pattison, ROBERT EVERETT, D.D. (B.U. 1838), clergyman and teacher, b. Benson, Vt., Aug. 19, 1800. Amh. Coll. 1825. Tutor in Col. Coll., D.C.; ord. as a Baptist minister at Salem in Sept. 1829; and in Mar. 1830 s. of a pastor of the First Baptist Church in Providence R.I.; he was afterward p. o., and in 1836-40 pres. of Waterville Coll., Me. Resuming his pastoral charge at Providence, he was elected a corresp. sec. of the Board of Foreign Missions in 1843; and in 1846-8 he was pres. and prof. of theology of the Baptist Theol. Inst. at Covington, Ky.; he was a prof. in the Newton Theol. Sem., Ms., in 1848-53; was again for a few years pres. of Waterville Coll.; was subsequently at the head of the Orad. Female Inst. at Worcester, Ms.; now (1871) prof. in the Chicago Coll. Besides contributions to periodicals, and addresses, he has published "Commentary on the Epistle to the Ephesians," 1850; "Eulogy on Rev. J. Chapin, D.D.," 1841.

Paul, GABRIEL RENÉ, BRIG.-G. N. U.S.A., b. Mo. West Point, 1831. Entering the 7th Inf., he became 1st. lieut. Oct. 26, 1856; capt. Apr. 19, 1846; disting. himself in the Florida war in 1842, and at Cerro Gordo and Chancellorsville; was brev. maj. for gallantry at Chancellorsville, Sept. 13, 1867; became maj. 8th Inf. Apr. 20, 1861; Lieut.-col. Apr. 25, 1862; col. 14th Inf. Sept. 13, 1864; retired, with rank of brig.-gen., 25 July, 1866. He exhibited great gallantry in fighting the Confederates near New Mexico in 1846-2; was made brig.-gen. Sept. 5, 1862; engaged at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, and at Gettysburg, where he was severely wounded, and deprived of the sight of both eyes; served in U. S. A. for Gettysburg.

Paulding, HENRY, FRANKLIN, U. S. N., b. Westchester Co., N. Y., Dec. 11, 1797. Son of Joseph, one of the captives of Antrim. Midshipm. Sept. 1, 1814, and was in Com. McDonough's victory on Lake Champlain, for which service he received a sword from Congress. Lieut. Apr. 27, 1835; master of Com. Feb. 9, 1837; and commanding officer in his expedition against the W. I. Indians in 1838; attained the rank of capt. Feb. 29, 1844; and, in com. of "The Vixen," cruised 3 years in the W. Indies. In 1857, while commanding the home squadron, he took up an expedition against Nicaragua, headed by Gen. William Walker, who surrendered. With his followers, who were disarmed, he fled to the U. S. In Dec. 1860, Nicaragua presented him with a sword, and also offered a tract of land (which latter, however, the U. S. Senate did not allow him to receive), for the liberation of the he had freed the republic. He published a "Journal of a Cruise among the Islands of the Pacific," N. Y. 1831. He was made a rear admiral on the retired list 21 Dec. 1871, from N. Y. navy-yard, 1862-5, and rendered great service in preparing ships for the different squadrons, fitting and equipping them excellently and efficiently, and also in the protection of public property there during the Revolution of 1863. Gov. Phila. Naval Asylum 1846.

Paulding, JAMES KIRKE, author and politician, b. Dutchess Co., N. Y., 22 Aug. 1779; d. H. J. P. K., N. Y., 5 Apr. 1860. His father, an able Revolutionary patriot, a member of the first congress sitting in Westchester Co., subsequently a commissioner of N. Y. Cont. troops, retired from service a retired major, going refusing to ride on his judges, and he was imprisoned. James, moving in early life to N. Y. City, being, by the marriage of his sister to Win. Irving, acquainted with Washington Irving, with whom he began in 1807 "Satanstoe," which proved highly popular. His pamphlet, "The U. S. and England," introduced him to the political arena, and to the notice of Pres. Madison. In 1814 he was made sec. of the Dept. of navy commissary; was subsequently for 12 years navy agent at N. Y.; and was sec. of the navy in 1839-41. He was an elegant and facile essayist, and excelled in humorous stories. Among his works are: "The Diverging Hist. of John Bull and Bro. Jonathan," 1821; "John Bull in America," 1824; "Letters from the South," 1815; "The Backwoodsman," a poem, 1818; "Sketch of Old England by a N. Eng. Man," 12mo, 1822; "Kipling's Tale," "The Wise Men of Gotham," 1826; "Dutchman's Finsid.," "Westward Ho!" "Life of Washington," 1835; "Slavery in the U. S.," 1836; "The Old Continental;" "The Painter and his Daughter;" and with his son, William T. Paulding, a vol. of Amer.

Plays, 1847. He contrib. to the periodicals of the day. Several of his works have been translated, and pub. abroad.—See Int. Life of his Son, H. T., 12mo, 1867.

Paulding, JOHN, one of the captives of Andre, b. 1758; d. Staatsburg, N. Y., Feb. 18, 1818. Three times a prisoner during the war; he escaped the second time 4 days before Andre was taken; the third time he was rescued by the peace. Paulding, Van Wart, and Womans received from Congress a silver medal, inscribed on one side "Fidelity," and on the other "United Amer. Patriots," also an annuity of $200. A marble monument was in 1827 erected to his memory in the churchyard near P. Skunk village by the corporation of New York.

Pauw, CONSTANTINUS DE, sometimes called Nicolas, a Dutch hist. writer, b. Amsterdam, 1739; d. Xanten, 1799. He was educated at Gottengen; was for a time canon of Xanten in the diocese of Cleves, and previously reader to Frederick II of Prussia. He was a man of great learning, and pub. "Netherlands voyers, A. c. c. c. c.," 8vo, 1770, Berlin, followed by a defence of the same.

Paxton, CHARLES, loyalist; d. Norfolk Co., Eng., Mar. 1788, a. 84. One of the most active and efficient of the agents of the crown in suggesting and carrying out the measures which brought on the Revolt. In 1760 he and his associates were posted in the Boston Gazette by James Otis. His earl caused the assault by Robinson, resulting in injuries which deprived Otis of reason. Paxton was the head of the commissions of customs at Boston, and, though a man of finished politeness and courteous manners, was exceedingly obnoxious. He made frequent visits to Eng., and was in the confidence of the minister Charles Townshend, and was one of the writers of the famous letters sent home by Franklin in 1773. He went to Eng. in 1776, was proscribed, banished, and his estate confiscated.—See Chas.

Paxton, ESTHER FRANKLIN, brig.-gen., U. S. A., b. Rockbridge Co., Va., Mar. 4, 1828; killed at the battle of Chancellorsville, Va., May 2, 1863. Y. C. 1847. He was educated at the Va. Milit. Acad. at Lexington. He was pres. of a bank in Lynchburg when the Rebellion broke out, and shortly after came a Va. regt. "Stonewall" Jackson, who was strongly attached to him, made him his adj.-gen., and, when promoted to com. an army corps, obtained for him the grade of brig.-gen. and the com. of the "Stonewall Brigade." He served at Antietam, Fredericksburg, and Chancellorsville, and was killed on the same evening on which Jackson was mortally wounded.—Chas. York Co.

Paxton, JOSEPH RUFUS, b. 1827. U. S. P. A. Member of the P. A. bar; in U. S. military service 1846-5. Author of "Jewelry and the Precious Stones," 8vo, 1856; translated into French of "Reviews of a Bachelor;" dramatic versions of Dickens's stories for the Phila. theatres; translation of French plays; and contrib. to periodicals. Edited the Discop. 1854-5, and pub. in 1856 North's translation of the French edition of Johnives Secundus.

Payne, COL. DEVAL, b. Fairfax Co., Va., 1764; d. Mason Co., Ky., 2, June, 1830. A solider of the Revol., after which he m. a dau. of Maj. Hugh Brent of Pr. Wm. Co., and in 1782 settled on a farm near Lexington, Ky. He served under Gen. C. Scott in the Indian campaign of 1791, and com. a batt. of cav., and was disting. at the battle of the Thames, 5 Oct. 1813.

Payne, JOHN HOWARD, actor and dramatist, b. New York, June 9, 1792; d. Tunis, Africa, Apr. 10, 1852. His precocity was wonderful. At 13, while clerk in a counting-house, he edited a weekly paper, the Thospan Mirror; in 1807 he pub. 25 Nos. of a periodical called the Pastor; Feb. 26, 1809, he made a highly successful début at the Park Theatre as Young Norway; he next appeared in Boston, and in the following spring played Hamlet and other leading parts in New York; in 1812-13 he played successfully at Drury Lane, also in Ireland and in the provincial theatres. While in London, he produced a host of dramas, chiefly adaptations from the French, in one of which, "Chari, or the Maid of Milan," occurs his famous song of "Home, Sweet Home," which made the fortunes of all concerned except the author. In 1826-7 he edit. in Lond. a dramatic paper called the Opera-Gloss. He was a corresp. of Coleridge and Charles Lamb. His tragedy of "Brutus" was successfully produced at Drury Lane, Dec. 4, 1818. He returned home in Aug. 1832; was a contrib. to the Dominion Review in 1838; was app. consul to Tunis in 1841; was recalled in 1845, and re-appointed in 1851. An interesting Memoir of Payne, by his friend T. S. Fay, appeared in the N. Y. Mirror in 1832. Also author of "Lispings of the Muse," juvenile poems, 1815; Account of East Hampton in Dominion Review; and a series of papers on our Neglected Poets; the plays of Virginius, and Charles the Second. The U. S. govt. has erected a monument over his remains in the cemetery of St. George at Tunis.

Payne, MATTHEW MORNTROY, col. U. S. A., b. Goodland Co., Va. App. lieut. 20th Inf. March, 1812; capt. March, 1814; maj. 2d Art. Dec. 17, 1836; lieut.-col. 4th Art. June 27, 1843; acting insp.-gen. to Gen. Taylor; brv. col. for battles of Palo Alto and R de la Palma, May 9, 1846, in the latter of which he was severely wounded; col. 2d Art. Nov. 11, 1856; gov. Military Asylum, D. C., Nov. 1854-March, 1858; resigned July 23, 1861. He resided in Richmond, and, during the Rebellion, avowed his loyalty to the Union.

Payson, EDWARD, D. D. (Bowd. 1821), clergyman, b. Rindge, N. H., July 25, 1783; d. Portland, Me., Oct. 22, 1827. H. U. 1803. He had charge of an acad. in Portland 3 years; then studied theology under his father, Rev. Seth of Rindge. Licensed to preach May 20, 1807; and Dec. 16 was ord. colleague of the Rev. Mr. Kellogg of the Cong. Church in Portland, where he remained until his death. He was a man of exalted piety and unquenchable zeal. His Works, with a Memoir by Asa Cummings, D. D., were pub. in 3 vols. 8vo, 1846.

Payson, PHILLIPS, D. D. (H. U. 1800), minister of Chelsea, Ms., from Oct. 26, 1757, to his d. Jan. 11, 1801; b. Walpole, Ms., Jan. 18, 1756. H. U. 1754. A descendant of Edward of Roxbury, 1649. He was a zealous patriot of the Revol.; disting. as a classical scholar, an energetic and pathetic preacher. His tracts on astron. and nat. philos. are in the "Trans. of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences." He pub. some sermons, among them Battle of Lexington, 1782; Death of Washington, 1800.

Payson, SEIU, D. D. (Dartm. 1809), minister of Rindge, N. H., from Dec. 4, 1782, to his d. Feb. 26, 1820; b. Walpole, Ms., Sept. 29, 1758. H. U. 1777. Bro. of Rev. Phillips. He pub. "Proofs of Illuminism," an abstract of Robinson and Baruel, 12mo, 1802; and some sermons. — Spectator.

Peabody, ANDREW PRESTON, D. D. (H. U. 1852), LL. D. (Roch. 1863), clergyman and scholar, b. Beverly, Ms., Mar. 19, 1811. H. U. 1826; tutor 1832-3. He spent 3 years in teaching, then studied 3 years at the Camb. Divinity School. From Oct. 23, 1833, until Sept. 1, 1860, he was settled in the South Parish Church of Portsmouth, N. H. He then became preacher, and Plummer prof. of Christian morals in H. U. He was for several years a leading writer for the American Monthly and N. E. Mag., and long a principal contrib. to the Christian Examiner. For nearly a quarter of a century he was connected with the N. A. Review, which he edited in 1852-61. He has pub. more than 100 sermons, orations, tracts, &c.; a vol. of "Lectures on Christian Doctrine," 1841; "Sermons of Consolation," 1847; "Conversation, its Faults and Graces," 1856; "Christianity the Religion of Nature," 1864; "Sermons for Children," 1866; "Reminiscences of European Travel," 1868; also compiler of a Sunday-school Hymn-Book. He has written Memoirs, and edited the writings of Rev. Jason Whitman; James Kumard, jun.; J. W. Foster; Charles A. Cheever, M. D.; and Gov. Wm. Plumer. His review articles cover most of the social and educational questions of the day, with the discussion of many miscellaneous topics.

Peabody, ELIZABETH PALMER, b. Billerica, Ms., 1801, dau. of Dr. N. Peabody, resided at Salem; in 1822, became a teacher, and subsequently a bookseller in Boston. Author of "Records of a School;" "Spiritual Culture;" "The Present;" "Intro to Grammar;" "First Steps to History;" "Keys to Grecian and Hebrew History;" Memorial of Dr. Wm. Wesschoeff, 1859; translations and papers in various periodicals; with her sister Mary (Mrs. Horace Mann), "Moral Culture of Infancy;" and "Kindergarten Guide," 1863.

Peabody, ERIC Wm., D. D., Unitarian clergyman and writer, b. Wilton, N. H., Mar. 22, 1807; d. Boston, Nov. 28, 1856. Bowd. Coll. 1827; D. D. 1848. He studied theology at Cambridge; began to preach in 1830 at Meadville, Pa.; preached 4 years in Cincinnati, and in the Federal-st. Church during Dr. Gannett's absence in Europe in 1837; and was settled in New Bedford from May, 1838, to Jan. 18, 1846, when he became pastor of King's Chapel, Boston. He took the deepest concern in devising measures for the relief of the poor. The Boston Provident Society owed its original establishment to his suggestion and his efforts. During the spring and summer of 1853 he travelled over Europe for the benefit of his health, and spent the winter of 1855-6 in St. Augustine with the same object. As a preacher, he was in the highest degree impressive. His sermons, with a Memoir, were pub. 8vo, 1857; "Christian Days and Thoughts," 1858.

Peabody, Georgia, D.C.L. (Oxon 1867), banker and philanthropist, b. S. Danvers, Ms., 18 Feb. 1795; d. Lond. 4 Nov. 1869. At the age of 11 he became a clerk in a grocery-store; in 1812-13 he was a clerk in his uncle's store in Georgetown, D.C.; he became a partner with Elisha Riggs in the dry-goods trade in New York afterward in Baltimore; and in July, 1843, established himself in London as a banker, his house becoming the headquarters of his countrymen in that city. His benefactions were numerous, and were on a princely scale. In 1852 he gave to his native town $20,000 towards founding an institute, lyceum, and library, afterward increasing it to $200,000. He contrib. $10,000 to the first Grinnell exped. to the Arctic Ocean; and in 1857 gave $300,000 to found an institute of science, literature, and the fine arts, in Baltimore, which he subsequently increased to $1,400,000. For the benefit of the poor of London he gave in 1862 £500,000; in recognition of which the Queen presented Mr. Peabody with her portrait, the city of London gave him its freedom in a gold box, and the citizens erected to his memory a fine statue. In Oct. 1866 he gave to H.U. $150,000 to establish a museum and professorship of Amer. archaeology and ethnology; to the Southern Educational Fund, created in 1866, he gave $2,000,000; and to found a geol. branch at Yale Coll., $150,000.

Peabody, Nathaniel, physician, soldier, and statesman, b. Topsheld, Ms., Mar. 1, 1741; d. Exeter, June 27, 1823. He studied and practised with his father, a physician, who had removed to Leonminster in 1745, and who d. there in 1758. He settled at Plaistow, N.H., ab. 1761, and soon acquired extensive practice. He was commis. a lieutenant, in 1774, and was the first man in N.H. to resign the king's commission on account of political opinions. In Dec. 1774 he was one of the captors of Fort William and Mary at Newcastle. He was constantly employed in the legisl. in committees and in conventions during the early part of the war; and was some time chairman of the com. of safety and other committees, to whom were referred subjects of the greatest importance. App. in July, 1777, adj.-gen. of the State militia, he served in that capacity in 1779, in R.I., under Gen. Whipple; delegate to the convention at New Haven, 1779, for regulating the price of labor, manufactures, produce, &c., and for other purposes; delegate to Congress in 1779-80; delegate to the convention, and chairman of the com., to form the State constitution in 1782-3; was for several successive years in the legisl.; councillor; senator; brig.-gen.; chairman of various committees, &c.; speaker of the house in 1793; and maj.-gen. of militia from 1793 to 1798. One of the founders of the N.H. Med. Society in 1790. During several of the last years of his life, he was confined to the limits of the prison at Exeter for debt. — N.H. Hist. Coll.

Peabody, Oliver William Bowen, twin-bro. of W. B. O., journalist and clergyman, b. Exeter, N.H., July 9, 1799; d. Burlington, Vt., July 5, 1848. H.U. 1816. He practised law in Exeter 11 years, at the same time editing the Burlington Gazette and Exeter News-Letter, and serving in the State legisl.; and removed to Boston in 1830, assisting his bro.-in-law, A. H. Everett, in editing the N. A. Review. He was for several years assist. editor of the Boston Daily Advertiser. From 1836 to 1842 he was register of probate in Suffolk Co.; in 1842 he accepted the professorship of Eng. literature in Jell. Coll., Va., hoping to repair his shattered health by a residence in a mild climate. Failing in this, he returned to Boston, where in 1845 he was licensed to preach by the Unitarian Assoc. He soon after became the minister of a cong. in Burlington, Vt. Both brothers were men of eminent natural endowment, of ripe scholarship, of gentle and affectionate tempers. He edited Shakspear, 7 vols. 8vo, Boston, 1844; contrib. to Goodrich's "Token;" also Lives of Putnam and Sullivan to Sparks's "American Biography."

Peabody, William Bourn Oliver, D.D. (H.U. 1842), Unitarian clergyman, b. Exeter, N.H., July 9, 1799; d. Springfield, Ms., May 28, 1847. H.U. 1816. Son of Judge Oliver, and, with his twin-bro. O. W. B., was educated at Phillips Acad. and at H.U. Wm. studied theology at Cambridge; and in 1820 was called over the new Unit. society in Springfield, where he ministered to the close of his life. He was an accomplished belle-lettres scholar and poet. Contrib. to the N. A. Review, among other articles, the review of Audubon's magnificent work, beside contrib. to the Christian Examiner. He contrib. to Sparks's Biograph. Lives of Alex. Wilson, Cotton Mather, David Brainerd, James Oglethorpe, and John Sullivan. In 1837, Gov. Everett selected Dr. Peabody to prepare a Report on the Birds of Ms. After his death, a vol. of his sermons was pub., together with a Memoir of his life by his bro. Oliver; and in 1850 his Literary Remains were edited by his son Col. ELMER PEABODY (killed at the battle of Shiloh, April 6, 1862, a. 31; H.U. 1849). The latter was made col. of 13th, afterwards 25th, Mo. Vols, Sept. 1, 1861. Before the war, he was an engineer and constructor of railroads in the West.

Peale, Charles Wilson, portrait-painter, b. of Eug. parents at Chestertown, Md., April 16, 1741; d. Phila. Feb. 22, 1827. He was apprenticed to a saddler; carried on successively the trades of saddler, harness-maker, silversmith, watchmaker, and carver; and afterwards, as a recreation from his sedentary practice of portrait-painting, became a sportsman, naturalist, and preserver of animals; made himself a violin and guitar; invented and executed a variety of machines; and was the first dentist in the country that made sets of enamel teeth. At the age of 26 he obtained instruction in painting from Hesselius, and afterwards from Copley in Boston. By friendly aid he was enabled in 1770-1 to study in the Royal Acad. at London under the direction of West. In 1772 he painted the first picture of Washington as a Va. col.; on his return he opened a picture-gallery in Phila., and was for ab. 15 years the only portrait-painter in N. A. During the war he was often employed in confidential services, and at Trenton and Germantown headed a company which he had raised. He represented Phila. in the State legisl. in 1777. He painted the portraits of many disting. Revol. officers; and opened the first museum in the country, for which he presented almost an entire skeleton of the mammoth; and was the first to lecture on the interesting and now popular subject of nat. history. He was prominent in the early attempts to establish an acad. of the fine arts, and, when that of Pa. was founded, he cooperated zealously, and contrib. to 17 annual exhibitions. He pub. an essay on "Building Wooden Bridges," Svo, 1797; "Lectures on Nat. History," Svo, 1790; "Pre-ervation of Health;" "Domestic Happin.s," Svo, 1813; "Address to the Corp. of Phila.," 1816; "Economy in Fu.l." in "Trans. Amer. Soc.," v. 320. RAPHAEL, his eldest son, also a painter, d. Phila. March, 1825, a. 52.

Peale, REMBRANDT, painter, son of the preceding, b. Bucks Co., Pa., Feb. 22, 1778; d. Phila. O. C. 3, 1860. He early evin'd talent as a draughtsman, and, having a strong desire to paint the portrait of Washington, accomplished his purpose in S. pt. 1795. He established himself as a port-painter in Charleston, S. C., in 1796, and, between 1801 and 1804, studied under West in London. He next went to Paris, where he passed several years, and executed portraits of eminent men for his father's museum. Returning to Phila. in 1809, he painted many portraits, and also two well-known pictures, the "Roman Daughter" and the "Court of Death." The latter, 24 feet in length by 13 in breadth, contained 23 figures, and, by exhibition in the chief cities of the U.S., brought him a large sum of money. During the winter of 1859-60 he lectur'd in the principal cities on the portraits of Washington. He pub. "Hist. Disquis. on the Mammoth," Svo, 1803; "Not.s on Italy," 1831; "Portfolio of an Artist," 1839; "Biog. of C. W. Peale;" "Reminiscences on Art and Artists;" and a small treatise on elementary drawing, entitled "Graphics," 1845. He contrib. to the Cincin. Literary Gazette in 1824.

Pearee — See also PIERCE and PIERCE.

Pearee, COL. CROMWELL, b. Willistown, Pa., Aug. 13, 1772; d. April 2, 1852. He was brought up a farmer; was a capt. of militia in 1792; 1st Lieut. 10th Inf. 1799; and col. 16th U.S. Inf. in July, 1812. He took a disting. part in the capture of York, April 27, 1813; and at Chrysler's Field, on the fall of his leader, took the com. In 1816 he became sheriff of Chester Co.; and in 1825-39 was associate judge of the County Court. — Not. Cincinnis.

Pearee, DEWEY J., lawyer and politician, b. Apr. 1789; d. Newport, R. I., 9 May, 1849. Brown U. 1808. A prominent lawyer; served in the R. I. legisl.; atty-gen. of R. I. 1819-25; afterward U.S. dist-atty.; M.C. 1825-33 and 1835-7.

Pearee, JAMES ALFRED, LL.D., U.S. senator in 1843-62, b. Alexandria, Va., Dec. 14, 1805; d. Chestertown, Md., Dec. 24, 1862. N.J. Coll. 1822. He was bred to the law, but was much engaged in agriculture; was a member of the Md. legisl. in 1831; M.C. in 1835-9 and 1841-3; prof. of law in Wash. Coll., Chestertown; and a regent of the Smithsonian Inst. In the senate he was an earnest advocate of the coast-survey; and, though a member of the Democratic party, was ardently devoted to the preservation of the Union.

Pearson, LEIPHALET, LL.D. (Y.C. 1802), b. N. Ybury, Ms., June 11, 1752; d. Greenland, N.H., Sept. 12, 1826. H.U. 1773. Prof. of Hebrew and Oriental languages at H.U. 1786-1806; ord. Sept. 28, 1808; first prof. of sacred lit. at And. Theol. Sem. 1808-9. He delivered a valuable course of lectures on language at Cambridge, where he also lectured on grammar and taught rhetoric with great success. He pub. some occasional discourses, and a Lecture on the death of Pres. Willard, 1804.

Pearson, GEORGE F., rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Exeter, N.H., 1799; d. Portsmouth, N.H., June 30, 1867. Midshipm. March 11, 1815; Lieut. Jan. 13, 1825; com. Sept. 8, 1841; capt. Sept. 14, 1853; rear-adm. July 25, 1866; retired July 16, 1862. In 1837, while at Constantinople in com. of the U.S. schooner "Shark," he was offered by the Sultan the com. of his navy, with the rank of adm. and the salary of $10,000 per annum. Lieut. Pearson promptly declined the honor. He disting. himself by breaking up the haunts of pirates who infested the Gulf of Mexico, seizing and sinking their vessels, and clearing our waters effectually of those marauders. In 1865-6 he com. the Pacific squadron.

Pease, CALVIN, D.D. (Mid. Coll. 1855), clergyman, b. Canaan, Ct., Aug. 12, 1813; d. Burlington, Vt., Sept. 17, 1863. U. of Vt. 1838. He worked on his father's farm in Charlotte, Vt., from 1826 to 1832; was principal of the Montpelier Acad. in 1838-42; prof. of Greek and Latin in the Vt. U. 1842-Dec. 1855, when he became pres. of that institution. In Jan. 1862 he took charge of the 1st Presb. Church, Rochester, N.Y.; in 1863 he became a member of the Amer. Philos. Society. He pub. a "Discourse on the Import and Value of the Popular Lecturing of the Day," 1842; "Classical Studies," in the Bibliotheca Sacra, July, 1852; "The Distinctive Idea of Preaching," 1853; "Characteristics of the Eloquence of the Pulpit," 1858; "The Idea of the N.E. College," 1856; and a number of occasional sermons.

Pease, CALVIN, jurist, b. Suffield, Ct., Sept. 9, 1776; d. Warren, O., Sept. 17, 1859. He studied law with Gideon Grainger, and, after practising in his native State, went to Ohio in 1800. He was in the Ohio legisl.; was active in forming the State govt.; in 1803-10 was pres. judge of the C. C. P.; and in 1816-20 was judge, and some time chief judge, of the Supreme Court; State senator in 1812.

Peaslee, EDWARD RANDOLPH, M.D. (Y.C. 1840), b. Newtown, N.H. 1814. D.C. 1836. Prof. of anat. and physiol. D.C. 1840-2; of anat. and surgery in the Me. Med. School 1843-51; and of physiol. and pathology in N.Y. Med. Coll. since 1851. Author of "Human Histology," &c., 1857. — Albion.

Peck, GEORGE, D.D. (Ang. Coll.), clergyman and author, b. Aug. 8, 1797. He entered the ministry of the M. E. Church in 1816; was principal of the Oneida Count. Sem. in 1835-9, was in 1840 app. editor of the Quarterly Review, and of the books of the Meth. Book Concern, and editor of the Christ, Advocate and Journal in 1848-52. He has been a member of 9 successive national conferences, and represented 4 annual conferences. He has pub. "An Examination of Universalism," "The Lives of the Apostles and Evangelists," "Christian Perfection," "Rule of Faith," "Reply to Dr. Lectures to Young Men;" "Early Methodism Broom on Slavery," "Wyoming, its History and Incidents," 1858; "Mindy Character, in the Genesee Conference from 1788 to 1828," 1860; "Our Country, its Trials and Triumphs," 12mo, 1865.

Peck, GEORGE W., editor and author, b. Readwell, Ms., Dec. 4, 1817; d. Boston, June 6, 1879. B. U., 1837. His boyhood was passed on his father's farm. After graduating, he was a teacher at the West; edited in Cincinnati the Daily Star, and Republican; next studied law in Boston, and was adm. to the bar in 1843. He was frequently a public lecturer, was musical and dramatic critic for the Boston Post; in 1845 issued the Boston Miscellany; was afterward connected with the N. Y. Comer and Express, and Columbian, Review, Literary World, Lat. Union, Publisher, &c., til Feb. 1853, when he went to Australia. He pub. "Melbourne and the Chinese Islands," N. Y., 1854. At the time of his death he was writing an essay on Shakespeare, a part of which was printed in the Anti-Me — Doughnut.

Peck, GEN. JOHN JAY, b. Manlius, Onondaga Co., N. Y., Jan. 4, 1821. West Point, 1843. Entering the 24 Art., he served in Deman's battery at Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, and at the siege of Monterey, in 1847; he joined the army of Scott at Vera Cruz, and, at the assault of Molino del Rey, threw a captured gun upon the enemy with great effect; for this he was brev. major, having the previous brev. of capt. for Contreras and Churubusco. Resigning 31 Mar. 1853, he settled in Syracuse as a banker, and was a member of the Democ. nat. convs. of 1856 and 1860. On the breaking-out of the civil war, he was made brig. gen. vols. Aug. 9, 1861, and maj. gen. July 4, 1862; he accomp. his brigade to Yorktown with the 4th (Keyes's) corps; arrived with reinforcements at a critical period of the battle of Williamsburg; was at the battle of Fair Oaks; and at the siege of Richmond, defended the Chickahominy below the railroad. During the movement from Turkey Creek to Harrison's Landing, he com. the rear guard. He was engaged in defence of Suffolk, Va., Apr.-May, 1863, and com. and was engaged in numerous skirmishes and minor actions in N. C. in 1863-4, com. on the Canada frontier in 1864-5, mustered out 24 Aug. 1865; pres. N. Y. State Life Ins. Co., Syracuse, since 1866. — Com.

Peck, JOHN MASON, D. D. (H. U., 1852), Baptist clergyman and author, b. Litchfield, Ct., Oct. 31, 1789, d. Rock Spring, Ill., March 15, 1858. At the age of 20, though very illiterate, he resolved to devote himself to the ministry. Removing to Greene Co., N. Y., in 1811, he was licensed to preach; was ord. at Catskill in June, 1813, and in 1814 became pastor of the church in America, Dutchess Co., N. Y. He went to St. Louis in 1817; was for the next 9 years an itinerant in Mo. and Ill.; organized the first Bapt. society in St. Louis in 1826; and erected the edifice for the Rock Spring Sem., of which he became principal. In Apr. 1829 he began to pub. the Passer, the first Bapt. journal in the West. He aided in founding Shurtleff College in 1835, and subsequently a theol. sem. in Covington, Ky. He pub. "Emigrant's Guide," 1842; "Gazetteer of Illinois," 1844; "Life of Daniel Boone," in Sparks's "Amer. Biog.;" and a "Memoir of Father Clark," a Western preacher, 1855, ed. "Annals of the West;" and aided in establishing hist. societies in the Northwestern States and Territories. — Early Years of Pioneer Life; Memoir of J. M. Peck, edited from his Journals and Correspondence, by Regis Babcock, Phila. 12mo, 1864.

Peck, WILLIAM DANBRIDGE, prof. of nat. history at H. U. from Mar. 27, 1805, to his d. Oct. 3, 1822, b. Boston, May 8, 1763. H. U., 1782. He passed some years in a counting-house in Boston, and then for 20 years devoted himself to the study of natural history. Like his father John Peck, the eminent ship-builder of the Revol., he was an ingenious mechanic; made a microscope and the most delicate instruments for which he had occasion. He pub. an account of the sea-serpent in Memories of the Amer. Acad., iv.; a catal. of Amer. and For. Plants, 1818; and some other articles.

Peck, WILLIAM G., LL. D., b. Litchfield, Ct., Oct. 16, 1820. West Point, 1844. Lieut. of U. S. topog. engns., res. 1855; assist. prof. of math. at W. P. 1847-55; prof. of physics and eng. U. of Mich. 1855-7; prof. of math. in Columb. Coll. since 1857. Author of "Elements of Mechanics," 1850; Gault's "Nat. Philos.," 1860; with Ch. Davies, "Mathem. Dictionary and Cyclop. of Math. Science," 8vo, 1855.

Pedder, JAMES, agriculturist, b. Newport, Isle of Wight, Eng., July 29, 1775; d. Roxbury, Aug. 30, 1859. He came to Amer. ab. 1802; was engaged in the manuf. of sugar in Phila. several years; and for 7 years conducted the Farmer's Callout, an agric. journal of great merit. From 1844 till his death he was actively engaged in contributing to and editing the Boston Cultivator. Several editions of his famous conversations, entitled "Frank," have been pub.; and "The Yellow Shirts" ran rapidly through 17 editions in Lond., and two or more in America; also author of "Farmer's Land-Measurer," 18mo, 1854.

Pedro I., AFRONSO JOSE D'ALCANTARA, emperor of Brazil, b. Oct. 12, 1798; d. Sept. 24, 1834. He was taken to Brazil with the rest of the royal family in 1808; m. the arch-duchess Leopoldine in 1817, was made regent on the departure of his father, King John, for Portugal, in 1821; became emperor of Brazil Oct. 12, 1822, and on the death of his father, in 1826, became king of Portugal, but im-melianly abdicated in favor of his infant daughter Donna Maria, on account of the jealousies of the Brazilians; and was app. regent of Portugal during her minority. Internal dissension caused him to abdicate in favor of his son Pedro II. in 1831; and he lived a while in Eng. in retirement. His bro. Don Miguel having usurped the throne of Portugal, Pedro's fleet, under the com. of Admiral Napier, signally defeated that of Miguel in July, 1833; and Donna Maria was restored to the throne. His son Pedro II., the present emperor, b. 2 Dec. 1825, was crowned 18 July, 1841, and Sept. 4, 1843, m. the princess Theresa Christina Maria, d. m. of Francis I., king of the Two Sicilies. Under his rule, Brazil has steadily increased in power; and internal improvements have been actively carried on. Don P. possesses considerable literary and scientific acquirements, and has the enthusiastic affection of his subjects.

Peet, HARVEY PRINDLE, LL.D., b. Bethlehem, Ct., 1794. Y. C. 1822. From 1822 to 1831 assoc. with Gallaudet as an instructor in the Hartford Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb; and since then principal of the N. Y. Inst. for the Deaf and Dumb. Author of "Course of Instruction for the Deaf and Dumb," 4 parts, 1844-6; also author of addresses, reports, memoirs, &c. and contrib. to the "Annals for the Deaf and Dumb," "Journal of Insanity," &c. A biog. sketch of Dr. Peet is in Beard's Journal of Education.

Peet, STEPHEN, missionary of Wisconsin, b. Sandgate, Vt., 1795; d. Chicago, Mar. 21, 1855. Y. C. 1823. He preached seven years at Euclid, near Cleveland, O.; was afterward a chaplain at Buffalo, editing the Bethel Mag. and Bethel Spectator; became minister of Green Bay, Wis., in 1837; assisted in founding Beloit Coll. and 30 churches; was settled as minister of Milwaukee; afterwards took charge of an inn at Batavia, Ill., and was then made agent of an association in Mich. to found a theol. seminary. Author of "Hist. of the Presb. and Cong. Churches and Ministers of Wisconsin," 1850, 1851.

Pegram, GEORGE JOHN, b. Richmond, Va., 1832; d. Petersburg, Feb. 6, 1865, of a wound received at the battle of Hatcher's Run, West Point, 1865. Son of John Pegram, M. C. from Va. 1818-19. A lieutenant of dragoons before the civil war began, he resigned when Va. seceded; re-ent. d. com. of a regt., and in 1862 became a brig. gen.; taken prisoner at Rich Mountain by Gen. McClellan. He was in most of the severe battles of the Army of Va., and was made maj. gen. in 1864. His division was not in the campaign of 1864-5 for desperate fighting; and Pegram was regarded as one of the ablest division commanders in the Confed. army.

Pegram, GEN. WILLIAM JOHNSON, b. Petersburg, Va., 1811; killed in the battle of Petersburg, April 2, 1865. Son of Gen. James W., nephew of Col. George H. Pegram, the Confed. com. at Rich Mountain. He left the study of law at the U. of Va. to fight in the Confed. army as a private or art. at the battle of Manassas, and won distinction and promotion in that arm of the service at Cedar Run, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg; and attained the rank of gen. shortly before his death.

Peirce. — See PLATEAU and PRINCE.
Peirce, BENJAMIN, librarian of H. U. from 1826 to his death, b. Salem, Sept. 30, 1777; d. Cambridge, Ms., July 26, 1831. H. U. 1801. Member of the State senate in 1814; and for several years a representative of Salem. He pub. the valuable Catalogue of the Library, in 4 vols. 8vo; and wrote a "Hist. of the University," pub. in 1833.

Peirce, BENJAMIN, LL.D. (P. of N. C. 1847), mathematician, son of the preceding, b. Salem, Ms., Apr. 4, 1809. H. U. 1829. After teaching 2 years at the Randolph School, Northampton, he was app. tutor in math. at Camb. in 1831; prof. of math. and nat. philos. in 1833; and was Perkins prof. of astron. and math. in 1842-67, and also consulting astron. to "The Amer. Ephemeris and Nautical Almanac" since its establishment in 1849. Member of the leading scientific societies; an associate of the Royal Astronomical Society of Lond., since 1849; member of the Royal Society of Lond. since 1852; pres. of the Amer. Asson. for the Advancement of Science in 1853, and one of the scientific council which established the Dudley Observatory in 1855; supt. of the U. S. coast-survey since 27 Sept. 1867. He was a pupil of Dr. Bowditch, and read the proof-sheets of the translation of the Mécanique Céleste while it was going to press. He was a contrib. to Mr. Gill's Mathematical Miscellany, and afterward pub. 5 numbers of the Camb. Misc. of Math., Physics, and Astronomy. He also pub. a series of valuable text-books during the years 1836-46; "Treatise on Analytic Mechanics," 4to, 1857; "Associative Algebra," 1870; theory of the tails of comets in the Astron. Journal; methods of investigating terrestrial longitudes, &c., in the Report of the Supt. of the Coast Survey; and the singular and valuable "Criterion for the Rejection of Doubtful Observations." His first important investigation was his criticism of the computations and results of Leverrier upon the irregularities observed in the motions of the planet Uranus. He discovered and announced in 1851 the fluidity of Saturn's rings; in 1852 he prepared a vol. of lunar tables for the Nautical Almanac. — Appleton.

Peirce, BRADFORD KINSEY, D.D. (Wesl. U. 1868), philanthropist and author, b. Royalton, Vt., Feb. 3, 1819. Wesl. U. 1841. In 1843 he was a Meth. minister in the N. E. Conf., stationed at Waltham, and subsequently at Newburyport, Charlestown, and Boston. His health failing, he spent the next 10 years at Roxbury, where he prepared a series of Sunday-school Question Books, a "Bible-School's Manual," "A Commentary on Acts." A vol. entitled "The Lament Dead" had a very large sale. In 1850 he was app. agent for N. E. of the Sunday-school Union; in 1855-6, while State senator from Norfolk Co., he entered zealously into a movement for establishing a reform school for girls at Louisa, Ms., of which he was app., Mar. 1856, supt. and chaplain. Chaplain of the House of Burgesses, Randall's Island, N. Y., since 1863. Also author of "Trials of an Inventor;" "A Hill Century with Juvenile Delinquents," 1869; "Stories from Life;" "Sequel to Stories from Life;" &c.

Peirce, CYRUS, teacher, b. Waltham, Ms., Aug. 15, 1790; d. West Newton, Ms., Apr. 5, 1860. U. S. 1810. He taught a private school in Nantucket 2 years; then studied theology at Cambridge 3 years, and resumed his school at Nantucket. He commenced preaching in 1818; was minister of a Cong. church at North Reading from May, 1819, to May, 1827, but, preferring the vocation of a teacher, opened a school at N. Andover; from 1830 to 1836 he managed a large school at Nantucket; became principal of its high school in 1837; and from 1839 to 1842 was principal of the first Normal School in Amer., at Lexington, Ms. After 2 years of rest, he took charge of the Female Normal School at W. Newton, where he continued till his death. He pub. "A Letter on Normal Schools," addressed to Hon. Henry Barnard, 1831; and a prize essay on "Crime, its Cause and Cure," 1853.

Peirce, GEN. EBENEZER WEAVER, b. Freetown, Ms., 5 Apr. 1822. Descended from Abraham, who was of Plymouth in 1623. Received an academical education, and held various local offices; was a brig.-gen. of State militia in 1855-61; com. three-months troops in Va. in May, 1861; app. col. 29th Ms. Regt. 13 Dec. 1861; lost an arm at the battle of White-oak Swamp 30 June, 1862; was in the battle of Manassas 30 Aug. 1862; com. 2d brig. 1st div. 9th army corps, Sept. 1863-N. v. 1864, when he resigned, having served in Ky., Tenn., and Va. App. Aug., 1866, coll. mt. rev. 1st dist. Ms. Author of a hist. of the Peirce Family, 8vo, 1870.

Peirce, THOMAS, poet, and merchant of Cincinnati, b. Chester Co., Pa., Aug. 4, 1786; d. Cin. 1850. Losing his father at an early age, he supported himself by various labors; taught a school in Phila.; and in 1813 went to Cincinnati. In 1821 he contrib. a series of satirical odes to the Western Spy, entitled "Horace in Cincinnati," collected and pub. 1822. In 1825 a second satirical series appeared in the National Republican, entitled "Billy Moody." His "Muse of Hesperia," pub. in 1823, is his chief work. He wrote a number of prize-poems, and contribs. to literary journals. — Poets and Poetry of the West.

Peirce, WILLIAM, an early shipmaster in N. E.; killed at Providence, one of the Bahamas, in 1641. He was master of "The Ann" in 1623, afterward of "The Mayflower" and "The Lyon," and was shipwrecked in Va. in 1633. In 1638 he carried captive Pequot Indians for sale to the W. Indies, and brought back negro slaves from Tortugas, — the first slave-trade in N. E. Author of the first almanac printed in the Eng. Amer. Colonies (Camb. 1679).

Pearson, MRS. LYDIA JANE (WHEELER), b. M. Hiletown, Ct. Many years a resident of Eng. Co., Pa.; has contrib. prose and poetry to the Southern Lit. Messenger, the New York, &c. and other periodicals. Author of "Forest-Leaves and other Poems," 1845; and the "Forest-Musical," 1847. — W. v. v.

Peissner, ELIAS, instructor, e-d. 119th

N. Y. Vols.; fell at Chancellorville, Va., May 2, 1863; b. Wilsack, Bavaria, 1826. Grad. at Munich, where he studied philos. and law, and came to Amer. in 1849. Prof. of modern languages at Un. Coll. Author of a "German Grammar," "German Literature," "Romantic Languages," "The Amer. Question," 1861; "Lectures on Political Economy;" "Elements of the English Language;" address at the great Turner Festival, Albany, June 28, 1858.

Pelby, ROSALIE (FRANCO), actress, b. Kinderhook, N. Y., Mar. 17, 1793; d. on the passage from San Francisco to N. Y. June, 1855. From her father, the capt. of a North-River sloop, she inherited much personal beauty. Her education was limited; but she had a strong mind, and great perceptive faculties. She was early m. to an English agent, a Mr. Brown, by whom she had one child, — the late Mrs. Anderson, an actress of great merit. Left a widow a few years after, she m. in Baltimore Mr. Wm. Pelby, the well-known tragedian and manager; thence she came to Boston, and was wrecked on her passage in the great Sept. gale of 1815. She made her first appearance at the Federal-st. Theatre, Boston, as a chorus-singer, in 1813, but rapidly rose to a high position as an actress, and in some characters had no superior, and in others no equal, on the Amer. stage. In 1847, with Mrs. Anderson, she started for Eng. on a professional tour, but was wrecked on the passage, and returned to Boston. Apr. 1, 1853, she received a farewell benefit at the National Theatre, and went to California, where, after acting a while, she opened an exhibition of wax statuary, in the manuf. of which she had great taste, and which she had also exhibited in Boston. She was an ornament to her profession; and her charities were numerous. Her husband (b. Boston, Mar. 16, 1793), after being many years proprietor and manager of the National Theatre, Boston, d. May 28, 1850. Her dau. Julia Pelby, also an actress, m. James Pearson of San Francisco.

Pelham, HERBERT, one of the founders of Ms., and a connection of the family raised in 1756 to the dukedom of Newcastle, b. Lincoln Co., Eng., 1602; d. Suffolk, Eng., June 1673. Magd. Coll., Oxfr., 1619. He was one of the Ms. Company in Eng. in 1629; came to Ms. in 1638, and settled in Sudbury; was an assist. in 1645-9; and a commiss. of the United Colonies of N. E. in making a treaty with the Narragansett and Niantick Indians in 1646; in 1649 he returned to Eng., and engaged in the formation of a society for the religious instruction of the Indians. First treas. H. Coll. 1643. His dau. Penelope m. the second Gov. Winslow.

Pell, ROBERT CONGER, of New York, b. 1852; d. Interlaken, Switzerl., 1868. Author of "The Companion," 1850; "Malediction," 1857, and contribs. to periodicals.

Pemberton, the name of a philanthropic Quaker family of Phila. PHILIPUS, the grandfather of ISRAEL, JAMES, and JOHN, came over with Penn. and settled near the Falls of DEL. ISRAEL, his grandson, a man of eloquence and liberality, devoted the latter part of his life to acts of benevolence, especially to the Indians. He d. Phila. 1779, a. 63. JOHN, the youngest,

"an eminent example of devotion and self-denial as a gospel minister," d. Pymont, Westphalia, ab. 1735, a. 66. JAMES, b. 1724, d. 9 Feb. 1809, was one of the last of his sect who held a seat in the legisl., and succeeded Franklin as pres. of the Society for the Abolition of Slavery, 1790-1800. He pub. at Phila., in 1757, "An Apology for the People called Quakers," &c. — Portfol., 1809.

Pemberton, EBENEZER, minister, "Old South Ch.," Boston, from Aug. 28, 1700, to his d. Feb. 13, 1717. Bapt. Boston, Feb. 11, 1672. H. U. 1691. Son of James, one of the founders of that church. Tutor and fellow of H. U. He pub. a number of occas. sermons, three prefatory epistles, &c. 1701-11; pub. collectively in 1727, 8vo. The Election Sermon of 1710 was highly esteemed. — Spinn.

Pemberton, EBENEZER, D. D. (N. J. Coll. 1779), clergyman, b. Boston, 1704; d. there Sept. 9, 1779. H. U. 1721. Son of the preceding. He was chaplain at Castle William, Aug. 9, 1727; was called by the First Presb. Church, New York; dismissed in 1753; and installed in the new brick church (103 North), Boston, Mar. 6, 1754, where he remained until it was closed by the Revol. in 1775. Though one of the most popular preachers of his time, his friendship for Gov. Hutchinson, one of his flock, caused an imputation of loyalty, and created difficulties in the church. He pub. "Sermons on Several Subjects," 8vo, 1738; "Practical Discourses," 12mo, 1741; "Salvation by Grace through Faith," 8 sermons, 8vo, 1774; and 9 occasional sermons, 1731-71.

Pemberton, JOHN C., gen. C. S. A., b. Phila. ab. 1818. West Point, 1837. Entering the 4th Art., he served in the Florida war; became 1st lieut. Mar. 19, 1842; aide-de-camp to Gen. Worth during the Mexican war; brev. capt. and maj. (for gallantry at Mont-rey and at Molino del Rey) Sept. 8, 1847; disting. also at Comancas and Churubusco, and at the capture of the city of Mexico, where he was wounded; capt. 16 Sept. 1850; and resigned Apr. 29, 1861. He entered the Confed. service as a col. of cavalry and assist. adj.-gen. to Joe Johnston; brig.-gen. 1862; was subsequently made a lieut.-gen., com. the army opposed to that of Gen. Grant in N. E. Md.; and was defeated at Champion Hills 16 May, 1863. Intending with the com. of Vicksburg, he made a gallant defense, but was compelled to surrender to Gen. Grant, July 4, 1863. He resigned his com., and at the close of the war was inspector of a battery, commanding at Charleston.

Pemberton, THOMAS, historian, b. Boston, 1728; d. there July 5, 1807. A merchant. He contributed largely to the "Colls." of the M. S. Socy., of which he was a member, and at length omitted all his MSS. His "Chronology of M. S." in 5 MS. volumes, was made great use of by Dr. Holmes. His journal of the Revol. was in "Hist. Colls.," vol. ii.

Pender, WILLIAM D., gen. C. S. A., b. N. C. 1833, killed at Gettysburg, July 3, 1863. West Point, 1854. Entering the 4th Art., he was transferred to the 1st Dragoons, 3 March 1855, and was assigned, in cavalry conflicts with Indians in Wisconsin Territory, in Sept. '58, and in Oregon in 1860; resigned 24 March, 1861. Joining the Confeds. early in 1861, he rose rapidly from col. to major-gen. (May 20, 1863), and led a division in Gen. Hill's corps at the battle of Gettysburg.

Pendergrast, GARRETT J., capt. U. S. N., b. Ky. Dec. 5, 1802; d. Phila. Nov. 7, 1862. Midshipn. Jan. 1, 1812; lieut. Mar. 3, 1821; com. 1841; capt. May 24, 1855; flag-officer of the home squadron in 1860; and, at the commencement of the civil war, protected the important harbor of Hampton Roads.

Pendleton, EDMUND, statesman, b. Caroline Co., Va., Sept. 9, 1721; d. Richmond, Va., Oct. 23, 1803. His grandfather Philip emig. from Norwich, Eng. ab. 1674. He had few educational advantages, but at 21 was adm. to practise law. Entering the h. of burgesses in 1752, he became a leading member, and at the period of the Revol. was speaker; in 1764 he was one of the com. to memorialize the king; member of the com. of corresp. in 1773; presiding magistrate and county lieut. of Caroline Co. in 1774; member of Cong. in 1774-5; pres. of the Va. convs. of Dec. 1775, and of May, 1776; and drew up the resolutions instructing the delegates of Va. to propose in Cong. a decl. of indep. As the representative of the conservatives, he was the opponent of Patrick Henry, the great popular leader. He was the head of the com. of safety during the early part of the war, the body which controlled the military and naval operations as well as the foreign corresp. of Va. On the organization of the State, he was chosen speaker of the house, and app., with Wythe and Jefferson, to revise the col. laws. He was crippled for life by a fall from his horse in March, 1777. Was again elected speaker and pres. of the Chancery Court; and in 1779 pres. of the Court of Appeals. In 1788 he presided over the conv. which adopted the U. S. Constitution. His masterly advocacy of this great national compact gained for him this high eucronium from Jefferson: "Taken all in all, he was the ablest man in debate I ever met with." App. judge of the U. S. Dist. Court of Va. in 1789, but declined; in 1798, when a rupture with France was imminent, he pub. a pamphlet protesting against a war with a sister republic.

Pendleton, GEORGE H., lawyer and politician, b. Cincinnati, July 25, 1825. Son of N. G. Pendleton. Member of the Ohio senate in 1854-5; M. C. 1855-61 and 1863-5; Democ. nominee for vice-pres. in 1864, he received 21 votes out of 233; candidate for gov. of Ohio in 1869, but was defeated.

Pendleton, HENRY, jurist, b. Va. ab. 1750; d. S. C. Jan. 1789. Emigrating to S. C., he was made a judge in April, 1776. In 1780, when the British overran the State, he joined the patriot forces, and fought at Entaw. Resuming his seat on the bench in 1782, he originated the County-Court Act of S. C.; one of 3 judges app. to revise the laws of the State in 1785, and in 1788 a member of the conv. which ratified the U. S. Constitution.

Pendleton, MAJOR NATHANIEL, Revol. soldier and judge; d. New York, Oct. 20, 1821. Entering the army in 1775, he became aide to Gen. Greene, and received the thanks of Cong. for gallantry at Lutaw Springs. He was afterward a prominent lawyer and judge in N. Y. His son NATHANIEL GREENE, b. Savannah, Aug. 1793; d. June 16, 1861; Col. Col. 1813. Aide-de-camp to Gen. Gates in 1813-16; member of the Ohio senate 1825-6; M. C. 1849-2. Father of George H.

Pendleton, WILLIAM N., brig.-gen. C.S.A., and Prot. Epis. clergyman, b. Va. West Point, 1830. Assist. prof. of math. at W.P. 1841-2; resigned lieutenantcy 4th Art. 31 Oct. 1873; prof. Bristol Coll., Pa., 1833, and in Del. Coll., Newark, Del., 1837-8; Prot. Ep. clergyman 1837-64; rector of Ep. Diocesan School, Alexandria, Va., 1839-44; capt. of battery in Joe Johnston's army in July, 1864; col. of reserve art. at Manassas 1863; chief of art. Army of the Valley, and surrendered with Lee, 9 Apr. 1865. Author of "Science a Witness for the Bible," 1860.

Penhallow, SAMUEL, b. Cornwall, Eng., July 2, 1665; d. Portsmouth, N.H., Dec. 2, 1726. He came to this country in 1686, and settled at Portsmouth, N.H., where he was a judge of the Superior Court in 1714, and chief justice from 1717 till his death. Several years measure of the province. His wife was Mary, dau. of Pres. Cutt. Author of "Indian Wars of N. E. from 1703 to 1725," printed 1725, reprinted in "N. H. Hist. Colls."

Pennington, JOHN, M.D., physician, b. 1768; d. of yellow-fever 1793. He studied in Europe; began practice at Phila. in 1792. Pub. in 1790 "Chemical and Economical Essays," 8vo; and "Inaug. Dissert. on Fermentation."

Pennington, JOHN, b. Monmouth Co., N. J., 1799; d. Mar. 18, 1867. Descended from Isaac, an eminent Quaker writer and preacher. His pub. "An Exam. of B. Plantagenet's Descrip. of N. W. Albion," 8vo, Phila. 1840; "Scraps, Oeologie and Archeological," 8vo, 1841. Editor of Denton's New York, Phila. 8vo, 1845. — See ibid.

Penn, JOHN, called "the American Penn," son of Richard, and grandson of William, and gov. of Pa. in 1763-71 and 1773-5, b. Phila.; d. Bucks Co., Pa., Feb. 1795. He continued in the country after his gov't. was ended by the Rev. and in 1777, having refused to sign a paper, was confined by the Whigs at Frederickburg, Va. The Penn estate is said to have been by far the largest that was forfeited in Amer. The amount claim'd of the British gov't. by the proprietors was £244,817 sterling, a portion only of which was allowed. — See ibid.

Penn, JOHN, a signer of the Decl. of Ind. p., b. Carolina Co., Va., May 17, 1711; d. 8 pt. 1788. His education was deficient, but possessing talents and eloquence of a high order, and being a full lawyer with Edmund Pendleton, who was a rival, he was adm. to the bar at the age of 21, and his oratorical efforts were remarkable for their force and pathos. In 1774 he removed to Greenville Co., N. C.; and was a member Congt. Congress, 8 pt. 8, 1775-6, and 1778-80. When Cornwallis invaded N. C., he was placed in charge of public affairs, and acquitted himself with great credit. In 1784 he was appointed receiver of taxes for the State of N. C.

Penn, RICHARD, bro. of John, gov. of Pa. in 1771-3; d. Eng. May 27, 1811, a. 77. Unlike his bro., he had intercourse with the members of Congress; won general confidence by his liberal course; and when, in 1775, he embarked for Eng., he was intrusted with the second petition of Congress to the king; after his arrival at Lond., he was examined in the h. of lords as to American affairs. While John Penn was gov., Richard was a member of his council, and naval officer of Pa.; afterward M. P.; and remarkable for classical attainments and power of memory. — See ibid.

Penn, THOMAS, last surviving son of Wm., the founder of Pa., b. Mar. 8, 1702; d. Lond. Mar. 21, 1775. In 1741 he left the province, and went to Eng., and in 1746 succeeded, on the death of his bro. John, to the proprietary share previously owned by him. He had the principal direction of its affairs for half a century; was a principal founder of the college at Phila.; and the Hospital, Library, and other library, charitable, and religious societies shared his bounty. His wife was a dau. of the Earl of Pembroke. His son GREENVILLE wrote the Life of his great-grandfather, Admiral William Penn. Another son, JOHN, LL.D., was author of critical, poetical, and dramatic works.

Penn, WILLIAM, founder of Pennsylvania, b. Lond. 14 Oct. 1644; d. Rushmore, 50 July, 1718. Son of Adm. Penn. While a student at Oxford, he became deeply impressed by the preaching of Thomas Lee the Quaker. For a violation of the laws of the university, Penn and some of his associates were expelled. His father, a proud and ambitious man, feeling him firm in his convictions of duty, beat him, and turned him out of doors; returning, however, he sent his son to Paris; whence he returned, skilled in the language and political accomplishments of the French. He studied law at Lincoln's Inn, but in 1665 went to Ireland to manage an estate of his father's. He acquired military renown as a vol. at the siege of Carrickfergus, and caused himself to be painted in military costume. Curiously enough, this is the only genuine portrait of the great apostle of peace. He soon after joined the Quakers; and, at a meeting at Cork in 1707, he was arrested and taken to prison, but, on application to the Earl of Orrery, was soon released. Ab. 1668 he began to preach, and, for writing "The Sandy Foundation Shaken," was for months confined in the Tower, where he wrote his celebrated work, "No Cross, No Crown," and a vindication of him self, entitled "Innocency with her Open Face." Liberated by the influence of his father, to whom he was soon afterwards reconciled, he was in 1670 arrested for seditious preaching, committed to Newgate, and tried at the Old Bailey. He pleaded his own cause, and was acquitted, but was detained in prison, and the jury were fined. His father again liberated him, and, dying soon afterward, left him a large fortune, and an admonition not to wrong his conscience. While imprisoned in Newgate, he wrote "The Great Case of Liberty of Conscience," and one other religious tract. He also wrote "England's Present Interest Consider'd," 1671, — a most able defence of freedom of conscience and the rights of Englishmen. In 1672 he m. Gulielma Maria Springett, who, after his death, m. Isaac Pennington. In 1677, Penn, with Barclay and others, preached in Holland and Germany; in 1376 he became concerned in the settlement of West Jersey, drew up a constitution, and invited settlers; in 1639 he obtained from the king, in payment of a claim of his father's estate, a patent for Pennsylvania, for which, aided by Algernon Sidney and others, he drew up a "marble scheme" of govt. He then pub. "A Brief Account of the Province of Pa.," proposing the easy purchase of lands, on good terms to settlers thereon. Having established a govt. allowing perfect liberty of conscience, Penn visited his province, arriving in Delaware Bay 27 Oct. 1682. At the end of Nov. was held the famous treaty with the Indians; and he founded Phila., the "city of brotherly love." Committing the govt. to a prov. council, he returned to Eng. in Aug. 1684. Through his influence with James II., who had been his father's firm friend, he obtained in 1686 the liberation of over 1,200 imprisoned Quakers, and aided in procuring in 1687 the "Toleration Act." After the accession of William III., in 1688, Penn, having incurred suspicion on account of his intimacy with James, was tried for treason, but was honorably acquitted. He made in 1699-1701 a second visit to America. He was committed to the Fleet Prison for debt in 1703, where he remained a long time, but was at length released by the intervention of friends. Worn out, at length, with the incessant labors and cares of a life spent almost wholly in the service of others, he died of paralysis. The charge of Macaulay, that Penn dishonorably implicated himself in the support of James II., was replied to by Hephworth Dixon in his Biography of Penn in 1851. — See Lives of Penn by S. Janney, 1852; Clarkson, 1813; J. Mussillae, 1791; Jacob Post, 1850; and W. Coats, 1829; Curiosa between W. Penn and James Logan, with Notes by Mrs. Deborah Logan, ed. by Armstrong, 8vo.

Pennington, WILLIAM, gov. of N.J. 1375-43, b. Newark, N.J., 4 May, 1796; d. the F. C. 16, 1862. N.J. Coll. 1813. Son of Wm. S. He became a prominent lawyer, and chancellor of the State; U.S. dist. clerk 1815-26; app. gov. of Minnesota by Pres. Taylor, but declined that, and also an app. as one of the judges to settle claims under the Mexican treaty; M.C. 1859-61; also a speaker of the house in F. C. 1860, after a long and severe contest. He was a Whig, and finally a R. Republican, in politics.

Pennington, WILLIAM S., gov. of N.J. 1819-15, b. 1757; d. Newark, N.J., 8 pt. 17, 1836. A bar. to the bar 1802; in clerk of the F. C.; app. asso. jus. in Sup. Court of N.J. 28 F. C. 1801; judge U.S. Dist. Court 1815-26. Maj. 2d N.J. Art. in Rev. war. Chancellor of N.J. Author of N. J. Sup. Court Reports 1803-16, 8vo, 1825. — N. E. H. and G. Reg. 1870.

Pennock, ALEXANDER M., commodore U.S.N., b. Va. Nov. 1, 1813. Midshipm. Apr. 1, 1828; lieut. Mar. 25, 1839; com. Dec. 15, 1855; capt. Jan. 2, 1863; com. May 6, 1868. Com. steamer "Southern Star," Brazil squad, and Paraguay exped., 1859-60; fleet-capt. Mpi. squadron 1862-4, gaining a reputation for executive ability of the highest order. Com. "Franklin" (flag-ship), European squadron, 1868-9. — Honors, 7.

Pennock, CASPAR WESTAR, M.D., physician, b. 1800; d. Howellville, Del. Co., Pa. 16 Apr. 1867. Some time physician to the Phila. Hospital. Author of a valuable work on diseases of the heart.

Penny, VIRGINIA, b. Louisville, Ky., 1826. Grad. Steubenville Female Sem. Author of "The Employments of Woman," 12mo, 1862; "500 Employments adapted to Women," 12mo, 1868; "Think and Act, or Men and Women;" "Work and Wages," 12mo, 1869. — All. Mag.

Pennypacker, GALFISH, soldier, b. Pa. Private 9th Pa. Vols. Apr. 1861; maj. 97th, Oct. 1861; engaged in Florida and Charleston harbor; wounded at Drury's Bluff, Va., May, 1864; col. Aug. 1864; engaged on the James River and in front of Petersburg to Sept. 1864; com. brigade in 10th corps, and wounded, at Fort Harrison, Va., and in the action of Darlytown Road, Va.; com. 2d brig. 2d division, 24th corps, and severely wounded, at capture of Fort Fisher, for which brevetted brig.-gen. U.S.A.; and brev. maj.-gen. for gallant and merit services during the war; col. 34th U.S. Inf. July 28, 1865; trans. to 16th Inf. 15 Mar. 1869. — Honors.

Pepperell, SIR WILLIAM, bart., soldier, b. Kittery Point, Me., June 27, 1696; d. there July 6, 1759. Of Welsh origin. Wm. his father came to N.E. as apprentice to a fisherman. The son, originally a merchant, possessed those characteristics of body and mind which fitted him for a military career, in which, in a country exposed to Indian hostility, he attained distinction. Member of the council from 1727 till his death, and was app. chief justice of the C.C.P. in 1730. He com. the expedi. which captured Louisburg, June 16, 1745, for which he was in 1746 made a baronet. Visiting Eng. in 1749, he was made a col. in the British army; became maj.-gen. in 1755, and lieut.-gen. 1759. He was for 39 years one of the commiss. to treat with the Eastern Indians; and, as pres. of the council, was acting gov. of Ms. from the death of Phipps, in Mar. 1756, until the arrival of Pownall in 1758. He pub. "Conference with the Ponduscot Tribe," Boston, 8vo, 1753. His grandson WILLIAM P. SPARHAWK (H. U. 1796) d. Lond. Dec. 17, 1816, a. 70; assumed his name, and was created a bart. Oct. 29, 1774. He was a loyalist, and the vast Pepperell estates were in 1778 confiscated. He was allowed £500 by the British govt. One of the founders of the British and Foreign Bible Society. — See Pepperell's Life of Sir Wm. Pepperell.

Perce, ELLIOTT, b. New York 1831. Author of "Gulliver Joe," 1851-3; "Old Kull the Cooper," 1854; "The Last of his Name;" "The Battle Roll," an encyclop. of battles and sieges, 8vo, 1857-8; novels transl. from the Swedish of E. F. Carlen.

Perceival, JAMES GAVES, M.D., poet and geologist, b. Berlin, Ct., 8 pt. 15, 1795; d. Hazelgrove, Wis., May 2, 1856. Y. Coll. 1815, where his tragedy of "Zanora" formed a part of the commencement-exercises. In 1820, having finished his med. studies, he commenced

PERKINS, SON OF SAMUEL G., and nephew of Thos. H. Perkins, in whose counting-room he was a clerk in 1828-30. After a tour to Eng. and th. W. Indies, he settled in Cincinnati in 1832, where he studied law, which he soon abandoned to literature. He contributed to the West-co. Monthly Messenger, and edited the Evening Chronicle and Cincinnati Messenger. After the failure of his publisher, he became in 1839 minister at large, — a mission of benevolence to which he devoted the rest of his life. Pastor of the Cincinnati Unitarian Society in 1841-7. He also identified himself with the cause of prison discipline and reform, and gave much attention to education. First pres. of the Cin. Unit. Soc. in 1844, and was afterward vice-pres. of that of Ohio. He pub. "Annals of the West," 8vo, 1847; a series of E. I. sketches of that region in the N. Y. Reviewer from 1839 to 1847, and Digest of the Court Opinions of Judge Marshall, and contrib. valuable list-papers on the West to the N. Y. Liberator. In a fit of depression he drowned himself in the Ohio. — See W. H. Chapman's essays on his Writings, 2 vols. 12mo, 1851.

PERKINS, JONATHAN COGSWELL, b. Ipswich, M., Nov. 21, 1809. Phillips And. Acad.; And. Coll. 1832. He studied at the Camb. Law School; was adm. to the bar in 1835; practised law successfully 13 years, when he became judge of the C. C. P. of Ms.; State's major 1847. He has edited and annotated Perkins's "Reports," vols. 2-10; Chitty's "Crim. Law," 3 vols. 1836; Chitty on "Contracts," 1839; Jarman on "Wills," 1845; Abbot on "Shipping," 1846; Daniell's "Chancery Practice," 3 vols. 1846; Collyer on "Partnership," 1848, &c.; and has in press a treatise on "Arbitrations and Awards." Ed. with T. Metcalf and G. T. Curtis a Digest of Decis. of the Courts of Com. Law and Admiralty, 6 vols. 1854-6. Now (1871) practises in Vt. Salem.

PERKINS, JUSTIN, D.D., missionary to the Senonians, b. West Springfield, Ms., Mar. 12, 1805; d. Chicago, Dec. 31, 1869. And. Coll. 1829. He passed his youth on his father's farm; was a teacher and tutor at Amherst; was app. to the Nestorian mission in Jan. 1833, and established himself at Oromoiah in Nov. 1834, where he established schools, and translated portions of the Scriptures into the Syriac tongue. In 1841 he visited this country, accompanied by Mar Yohannan, the Nestorian bishop. In Aug. 1869, worn out by his toils, he came home to die. Author of "Eight Years in Persia," 8vo, 1843; "Missionary Life in Persia," &c., 1864.

PERKINS, NATHAN, D.D. (N. J. Coll. 1801), minister of W. Hartford from 1772 to his d. Jan. 17, 1838; b. Lebanon, Ct., May 14, 1749. N. J. Coll. 1770. He pub. a vol. of sermons 1795, Four Letters on the Aandaptists 1793, a sermon on his 60th anniv., many pieces in the Ct. Evangel. Magazine, and several occasional sermons. His son NATHAN (Y. C. 1795) was minister of the Second Cong. Ch., Amherst, from 1819 to his d. Mar. 1842, a. 65. — See ibid.

PERKINS, SAMUEL, lawyer and historian, b. Lisbon, Ct., 1767; d. Sept. 1850. Y. C. 1785. Educated for the ministry, he was licensed and preached, but afterward practised law in Windham. Author of a "History of the Late War," 8vo, 1825; "Hist. Sketches of the U. S., 1815-30," 12mo, 1839; "Gen. Jackson in the Seminole War," 8vo, 1824; "The World as it is," 12mo, 5th ed., 1840.

PERKINS, SAMUEL E., b. Bradford, 25, Vt., 1811. Author of "Digest of Decis. Sup. Ct. of Ind.," 8vo, 1858; "Pleadings and Practice under the Code of Ind.," 8vo, 1859.

PERKINS, COL. THOMAS HENDESSYD, a philanthropic merchant of Boston, b. Boston, Dec. 15, 1764; d. there Jan. 11, 1854. He commenced his commercial life in partnership with his elder bro. James, who was a resident of St. Domingo when the insurrection of the blacks occurred, and was compelled to flee for his life. In 1789 he went as supercargo to Batavia and Canton, and obtained a thorough acquaintance with the Oriental trade. The bro. afterwards embarked in the trade to the north-west coast, Canton and Calcutta, in which they acquired great wealth. Soon after the death of James, in 1822, Col. Perkins retired from active business. The Perkins family gave over $60,000 to the Boston Atheneum. He took a prominent part in the erection of the Bunker-hill Monument, and gave his estate in Pearl St., valued at $40,000, for the use of the Asylum for the Blind. He was also in 1827 the projector of the Quin'y Railway, the first in the U. S. Subsequently he was much interested in urging forward the completion of the Washington Monument, and was also the largest contrib. to the Merc. Lib. Assoc. For many years he represented Boston in both branches of the State legisla. and, during the war of 1812, he was disting. as a strenuous opponent of Madison's administration.

PERREIN, JEAN, naturalist, b. France, 1749; d. New York, 1805. Member of the Bordeaux Society of sciences and belles-lettres. He explored Africa and most of the W. I. islands, and spent several months in New York. In Sommier's edition of Buffon's Nat. Hist., credit is given to Perrein for many valuable contribs. to that work.

PERRINE, MATTHEW LA REL, D. D. (Yale Coll. 1818), b. Monmouth Co., N. J., 4 May, 1777; d. Auburn, N. Y., Feb. 14, 1856. N. J. Coll. 1797. Pastor of the Presb. Ch. Burtle Hill, N. J. 1802-14; of Spring st. Ch., New York, 1814-20; prof. of ecol. hist. and eth. polity (and for 2 years of theo.) also in Auburn Theol. Sem. from 1824 to his d. — Author of "Plan of Salvation," 1816; "Abstract of Biblical Geog.," 8vo, 1835. — See ibid.

PERROT, NICOLAS, trader, discoverer of the lead mines on the River Des Moines. Toya. Was a man of talent and education. Reporting at an early period to the Indian country, he soon learned the Algonquin language. On returning to Quebec in 1675 with a party of Ottawa, he became St. Lussion's interpreter at St. Mary's interpreter; in 1684 he was employed by De La Barre in bringing the Western tribes to his assistance against the Iroquois; and in 1687 did the like service for Denonville. He was several years De La Barre's agent, and in 1697 was on the point of being found by the Minnis, and saved only by the orangutans, by whom he was miraculously rescued. De Vaudreuil he was permitted, and addressed to him a memoir respecting the Western country. He had a brother, Luke Perry, who had travelled over most of New France, and left an interesting and accurate account of the manners and customs of the Indians from which M. De La Potherie borrowed largely for his Histoire de l'Amérique. His Compendium also acknowledges his indebtedness to him. — Obit. 1754.

Perry, Amos, teacher, and author, b. Newark, Ms., 12 Aug. 1812. H. U. 1837. Son of V. and Mary (Jones) Perry. He was first principal of the Young Ladies High School, N. London, Ct., and was many years, and until 1850, a teacher in Providence, R. I., and also a vice-pres. of the Assoc. List of Instruction, consist. to Paris in 1827, and in 1828, actually examined the Stat. of Ancient Carthage, and did the result of his researches in a work of 360 pages, Soc. pub. in 1830. He has been a frequent contributor to the public journals, and is a member of several learned Societies.

Perry, Arthur Latham, prof. of history, post-grad. economy Wms. Coll. b. Lyme, N. H. 1840. Wms. Coll. 1852. Author of Elements of Polit. Econ. Soc. 1866.

Perry, Christopher Raymond, capt. U. S. N. b. R. I. 1760, d. Newport, June 8, 1848. He served with distinction in the Revolutionary navy, was in the hard fought action of "The War" and "The Trumull," and was for some months confined in the Jersey Prison-slips; post-capt. Jan. 7, 1798. April 3, 1801, the navy was nearly dissolved, and Capt. Perry was app. col. of Newport. His services, as V. H., Raymond H., Marlow C., Jarvis A., and Nathl. H., and officers of the navy, lasting themselves during the wars of 1812-15. Adm. Anna Maria, in Capt. Goss, Wm. Com. John Rodgers, and d. N. L. 1848, Oct. 7, 1858, a 60.

Perry, Matthew Calbraith, commodore, U. S. N., b. Newport, R. I. 1774, d. New York, March 4, 1858. Son of Christopher P. and bro. of O. H. Perry. Commissioned Jan. 16, 1809; lieut. July 24, 1813; com. May 21, 1826; capt. Feb. 9, 1837. In 1819, on "The Cyane," he fixed the locality of the first settlement of Liberia. In the Sabine "Starbuck" he cruised in the W. Indies in 1821-4, and captured several pirates. He served in the Mediterranean in 1826-8, on "The Cyane," home was actively employed in the Brooklyn navy yard as supt. of a school for 2 years, and the organization of a steam navy. In 1838, he was sent to visit the dock yards and light-houses of Europe, in 1839-40, to com. the Brooklyn navy yard, then the African squadron, com. the Gulf squadron, and actively co-operated in the siege of Vera Cruz during the Mexican war. He com. the Japan exped. in 1852-4, and negotiated an important treaty with that power, March 21, 1854. An account of the Japan exped. from Perry's Notes, vol. 1 and 2, edited by F. L. Hawks, 11 D., vol. iii, ed. by George Jones A. M., was pub. 1856.

Perry, Oliver Hazard, commo. U. S. N., b. So. Kingston, R. I., 23 Aug. 1785; d. Port Spain, Trinidad, 23 Aug. 1819. Son of Christopher R.; grand-son of Judge Freeman Perry, who d. Oct. 1813, a. 82. Midshipm. 7 April, 1799, and served in the Tripolitan war; lieut. 15 Jan. 1807; mast-room, 28 Aug. 1812; had charge of a flotilla of gunboats in N. Y. har. or in 1812; was in Feb. 1813 ordered to Lake Ontario to serve under Chambray, co-operating gallantly, at the head of a body of seamen, in the attack on Fort George; and was soon afterwards ordered to com. the squadron on Lake Erie. Having equipped a fleet of 9 small vessels, he attacked the British fleet on the morning of Sept. 10, 1813, and gained a complete victory, capturing the enemy's entire squadron. This was the first naval action in which he had been engaged. For this brilliant service he was promoted to capt. (Sept. 10, 1813), received the thanks of Congress and a medal, and also received similar honors from the senate of Pa. He co-operated with Gen. Harrison in retaking Detroit; and at the battle of the Thames, Oct. 5, 1813. He com. "The Java," in Decatur's squadron in the Mediterranean, in 1815, and in 1819 sailed in "The John Adams" for the W. Indies, where he died of yellow fever, 18 Sept. 1860, a marble statue by Walcutt was erected with great ceremony at Cleveland, O., near the scene of the battle, to the memory of Com. Perry. — See Life of Perry, by A. S. M. 1822.

Perry, William Stevens, D. D. (Amb. Co.), Pr. Ep. clergyman and author, b. Providence, R. I. 1832. H. U. 1854. Ord. deacon 1857, priest 1858; settled at Geneva, N. Y. Author of "Hist. Sketch of the Mission Assoc. of the Eastern Diocese of Ms., 1809; with F. L. Hawks, Journals of the Gen. Conventions of the P. E. Ch., vol. 1, 1861, to be completed about 8 vols.; "Fishers Sabury and Provost," Soc. 1862; "Concession of the Ch. of Eng. with Party American Discovery and Colonization," Soc. 1863; "Devotional Annals of the Colonial Church," 6 vols., 1864; "Quarterly Convention of the P. E. Ch. of the Great A. Soc., 1868; "Churchman's Year Book &c. for 1870; 12mo. Harv. Contrib. to the Hist. M. and other periodicals, and ed. of papers relating to the Hist. of Va. 1650-1776, 4to. 1870.

Person, Thomas, Royal, patriot of N. C. His remonstrance opposed the Stamp Act; was a violent irregular, and, for his zeal for liberty, had his estates ravaged by the Tories. Deceased 1763. Prov. Assembly 1774-6, and to the convention that formed the State constitution in 1776, was app. a brig. gen. of militia, April, 1776, and represented Gray's Co. until 1814 in the State senate. For his liberality to the university a hall was erected at Chapel Hill, which bears his name. A county of N. C. was named in his honor in 1791. — H. U.

Perry, William, 1793-1818. (entire of H. U. 1816) attracted attention by his scholarship, and the fact of his parentage, being a mystery even to himself. In 1820, D. F. Child pub. his "Lute, Letters, and Poet. and Misc. Procs." — A. S. M.

Peter, Robert, M. D., prof. of chemistry in Transylv. U. (app. 1837), b. Lancaster, Cornwall, Eng., 1805. Some years chemical ass't, to the geol. survey of Ky. Author of "History of Lexington, Ky., and of Transylvania University," 8vo, 1855, introductory to his course of lectures in the medical dept. of the U. Prot. P. was 2 years editor of the Transylv. Jour. of M. S., &c.; contrib. to the Western Lancet and other periodicals. — Albion.

Peters, ABRAHAM, D.D. (Mid. Coll. 1833), Cong. clergyman and author, b. Wentworth, N.H., Sept. 19, 1793; d. New York, May 18, 1869. Dartm. Coll. 1816; Princeton Sem. 1819. Son of Gen. Abalom (D.C. 1780), a descendant of Wm. of Boston, bro. of the noted Hugh Peters. In 1819 he was a missionary in Northern N.Y.; pastor of the First Church, Bannington, Vt., from July 4, 1820, to Dec. 14, 1825; sec. of the Home Missionary Soc. until 1837, and editor of the Home Missionary and Pastor's Journal; and in 1838 began to edit the Amer. Biblical Repository. Prof. of pastoral theol. and homiletics in the Union Theol. Sem., N.Y., 1842-4; pastor of the First Church, Williamstown, Ms., in 1844-57. Here he originated and edited the Amer. Eccliate and the Amer. Journal of Education, afterward merged in that of Dr. Henry Barnard. When past 70, he pub. a vol. of poems. During his long life, he was never ill. Author of "A Plea for Voluntary Societies"; "Sprinkling the only Mode of Baptism," &c.; "Sermon against Horse-Racing," 1822; "Sacred Music," 1823; "Colleges, Religious Institutions," 1851.

Peters, COL. ANDREW, Revol. officer; d. Westborough, Ms., Feb. 1822, a. 80. Maj. 2d Ms. Regt. 7 July, 1777; lieut.-col. 15th, 26 Nov. 1779.

Peters, or Peter, HENRY, clergyman and politician, b. Fowey, Cornwall, Eng., 1559; executed in Lond. Oct. 16, 1660. Trin. Coll., Camb., 1622. Took holy orders, and preached successfully for some time at St. Sepulchre's, Lond., but, after imprisonment for nonconformity, removed to Rotterdam. He preached to an independent cong. there several years; then came to N.E., arriving in Oct. 1635; became pastor, Dec. 21, 1636, of the church in Salem, as successor of Roger Williams, whose doctrines he disclaimed, and whose adherents he excommunicated. He was also active in civil and mercantile affairs, suggesting coasting and foreign voyages and the plan of the fisheries. In Mar. 1638 he was app. by the Gen. Court to assist in collecting and revising the colonial laws; Aug. 3, 1641, he sailed to Eng. to procure an alteration in the laws of excise and trade; had several interviews with Charles I.; and probably influenced the passage of an act of parliament modifying them in 1643. He became a preacher in the parliamentary army, which he accomp. to Ireland in 1649, holding, it is said, a colonel's commission. In 1651 he was app. by parliament one of the commiss. to amend the laws; and in 1651 was made one of the "tryers" of ministers; in 1658 he preached for some time to the Eng. garrison in Dunkirk. After the restoration, Peters was committed to the Tower, and indicted for high treason, as having been concerned in the death of the king. During his imprisonment he wrote several letters of advice to his daughter, subsequently (1717) pub. under the title of "A Dying Father's Last Legacy to an Only Child." His private character has been the subject of much discussion both in Eng. and Amer. He was charged by his enemies with gross immorality, and the most opprobrious epithets were applied to him by Belshaz, Burnet, Kenneth, and others; but on the other hand he has been estimated, or favorably, as a man of "Good Work for a Good Magistrate," 1451 (in which he recommends burning the historical records in the Tower); and some serious and political tracts.

Peters, HENRY, poet, b. Hebron, Ct., Jan. 30, 1807; d. Cincinnati, O., June 9, 1844. Y.C. 1826. Son of Judge John T. Adams, to the bar in 1828, he began practice at Cinchin. Among his contribs. to the N. E. W. Rev., Piscator were a series of Yankee lyrics of much merit. — See Fernal's Poets of Ct., and Copeland's Facts and Poetry of the West.

Peters, JOHN CHARLES, M.D., physician, b. New York, July 6, 1819. He commenced the study of homoeopathy in 1837, and visited Europe in 1842, continuing it in the schools of Leipzig, Berlin, and Vienna. Commencing practice in New York as a homoeopath, he has endeavored to incorporate into that system such improvements in medical practice as inoculation and percussion, microscopy, the use of the ophthalmoscope, pathological anatomy and chemistry, &c. Author of "Diseases of the Head," 1850; "Diseases of Femur," 1854; "Diseases of the Eyes," 1855; "Apoplexy," 1854; "Nervous Derangement and Mental Disorders," 1854; "Astatic Cholera," 1867. With Dr. Wither-poole, he translated Rokitanzky's "Pathological Anatomy," 1853, and, with Dr. Snelling and others, pub. a "Materia Medica," 1856-60. He has also edited the N. Y. Jour. of Homoeopathy. He was one of the founders of the N. Y. Path. Soc. and in 1850 was elected pres. of the Coll. of Med. Sciences, and prof. of materia medica and therapeutics. — Albion.

Peters, JOHN THOMPSON, jurist, b. Hebron, Ct., 11 Oct. 1765; d. Hartford, 28 Aug. 1841. Y.C. 1789. Established himself in the practice of law in Hebron in 1786; app. coll. of the 1st dist. 1813; judge Sup. Court, May, 1818.

Peters, RICHARD, D.D., b. Liverpool, Eng., 1704; d. Phila. July 10, 1776. He came to America in 1735; was in 1737 pastor of Christ Church, Phila.; Oct. 26, 1757, became propagatory sec.; in Feb. 1743 provincial sec. and clerk of the council, and in May, 1749, member of the Prov. Council; Jan. 2, 1752, he resigned his civil office, and was rector of St. Peter's Dec. 1762-8, pt. 1775. He pub. a Sermon on Education, 1751. — Dun's Church.

Peters, RICHARD, jurist and author, nephew of the preceding, b. Bowling Green, Phila., Aug. 22, 1744; d. there Aug. 21, 1828. Phila. Coll. He obtained early and considerable success in the legal profession; spoke German fluently; and was distinguished for wit and humor. At the commencement of the Rev. he became capt. of a company of vol., but was soon transferred by Congress to the board of war, of which he was sec. June 13, 1776-Dec.

1781, member 63d Congress 1782-3, and from 1790 to his death was U.S. dist. judge of Pa. He pres. of the company who built the permanent bridge over the Schuylkill at Philadelphia, and to him the country is also indebted for introducing the use of type in printing. He lived 29 of 37 years a victim of his experiments on his own farm. Pres. of the Pa. A. B. S. and of rich farmers in moorland and water-land districts. Author of "Abridged Digests in the U.S. Dist. Court of Pa." 1780-1807, 2 vols. 8vo, 1807; "S. C. Reports U.S. Sup. Ct." 1789; "F. S. Reports U.S. Sup. Ct." 1803-1819; "Reports U.S. Sup. Ct." 1828-44, 17 vols. 8vo.; "Condensed Reports of Cases U.S. Sup. Ct. to 1827," 6 vols. 8vo, 1827; "Digest of Cases U.S. Sup. Circuit, and Dist. Ct., to 1847," 2 vols. 8vo, 1848, and 1855; "Case of the Cherokee Nation against the State of Ga.," 8vo, 1831; editor of "Charity of Bills," 1819, and Washington's "Circuit Ct. Reports, 3d Circuit, 1803-27," 4 vols. 8vo, 1826-9.

Peters, SAMUEL ANDREW, D.D., LL.D., clergyman and author, b. Hebron, Ct., Dec. 12, 1755; d. N.Y. Apr. 19, 1826. Y.C. 1757. He traveled in Europe in 1758-9. Became a Fr. Fris. clergyman, and in 1762 took charge of the churches of Hebron and Hartford. His intolerance and loyalty involved him in constant trouble; and probably no clergyman of his time was more obnoxious. Being a Tory, he was forced in 1774 to flee to Eng., where he published in 1781 "A General History of Connecticut," which has been called the "most insubstantial and malicious of lying narratives." Its narrations are unadorned of time, place, and probability. In 1794 he was chosen bishop of Vt., but was never consec. In 1805 he returned to Amer., and pub. in N.Y. a "History of Rev. Hugh Peters," this great work in 1807, and also a brief history of Hebron. In 1817 he made a journey to the Falls of St. Anthony, claiming a large tract of land in that region. He returned to N.Y. City in poverty and obscurity, though he obtained a pension and a grant for property confiscated by the patriots. He is the "Parson Peter" of Trumbull's "M.F." 2d.

Petersen, JOHN ERIC CHRISTIAN, mar. 1797, b. Copenhagen, Denmark, 3 April, 1800. Studied law in the U. of Copenhagen in 1819-20, afterward followed the art of painting at the Roy. Acad. of Copenhagen, and with M. C. O. Dahl, served as an officer of Dragoon in the war with Prussia and Austria in 1804, arrived in the U.S. 29 July, 1805, and his first abode, Boston. Among his best recollections of the "Star of the Ocean Race" 1806-7, on "Sally Hook," "Phœnix Ship," "Rising," "Luzon Rock," "M. King's" later the "C.," "Catherine of the Peace," and the "V.," "Dreadnought." Mr. Petersen visited W. I. during the hurricane season of 1875-8, of which he made many graphic sketches.

Petersen, CHARLES J. of Phila., co. editor with Mrs. Ann S. Stephens of Picares 18

Magazine. Author of "Military Heroes of the Revol.," 8vo, 1847; "Military Heroes of the War of 1812 and the Mexican War," 1848; "Naval Heroes of the U.S.," 1850; "Crusading in the Last War," 1849; "Grace Dr. Day," "Kate Aylesford," "The Valley Farm," "Mabel," "The Old Stone Mansion," &c.; "Continuation from 1840 to 1856 of Von Rotteck's History of the World." Contrib. to magazines and newspapers — J. B. S.

Peterson, HENRY, b. Phila. 1818; was a short time editor of N. A. Gazette, and since 1846 editor and co-proprietor of the Phila. S. J. Free Press. Author of "The Twin Brothers," 1840, Poems, 12mo, 1864 — J. B. S.

Petigru, JAMES LOTTIS, LL.D. (H.U. 1837), lawyer, b. Abbeville Dist. S.C., 1784; d. Charleston, Mar. 9, 1863. S.C. Coll. 1800. He was of mixed Irish and Huguenot descent. Adm. to the bar, he attained distinction as a country lawyer, and subsequently at the Charleston bar, atty. gen. of S.C. 1822-30. During the nullification troubles of 1830-2 he vigorously and eloquently opposed the doctrine of the State veto, and became a leader in the Union and State-rights party, upon whose defeat, he, from being one of the most popular men in the State, became an object of dislike. His virtues, and his unquestioned talent and ability as an advocate, nevertheless secured him the respect of the community in which he lived; and he held his prominence at the bar with scarcely a rival. He was subsequently for a brief period U.S. dist. atty., which subjected him further to public odium. He also served in the State legisl., and in 1861 was a commissioner codifying the laws and statutes of S.C. He opposed almost singly the secession movement in S.C. in 1860, though too old to take an active part in political controversies remaining unshaken in his convictions to the hour of his death. Pres. S.C. Hist. Soc. Author of "Semi-Century Oration," S.C. Coll., 1854; "Address before the S.C. Hist. Soc.," 1858 — S. C. B. S. S. S.; W. J. G. Soc., 12mo, 1866.

Petion, ANNE ALEXANDER SABLES, first pres. of the republ. of Hayti, b. Port-au-Prince, Apr. 2, 1770; d. 29 Mar., 1818. Son of a rich colonist named Sables by a free mulatto woman. Liberally educated at the military school of Paris. When the Revol. broke out at St. Domingo, he was one of the first who took arms, was soon made an officer of art., and obtained the rank of adj. gen. He joined Rigaud, a man of color (k. himself) in opposing the projects of Toussaint L'Ouverture, and being unsuccessful, embarked for France, but returned with Gen. Leveque, under whom Petion held a colonel's commission. The Colonel's measures adopted by Leveque and his successor Rochambeau induced Petion to quit the French service, and, forming a union with Dessalines, to declare war against the French, whom they at length expelled. Assisted by the English, they succeeded in establishing the indep. of Hayti in 1804. Petion obtained the govt. of the western dist. of which Port-au-Prince was the capital, Dessalines becoming chief of the republic. Christophe, his successor, behaving in a tyrannical manner, was obliged to submit to a partition of his domains. A the southern and western part of the island a knowledge of the authority of the senate, by whom Pétion was elected pres. Jan. 27, 1807. A civil war took place between the rivals; but Pétion retained his office, in spite of all opposition, till his death. He was a skillful general, a lucid and just ruler.

Peto, Sir Samuel Morton, an English engineer and contractor, b. Surrey, Eng., 1809. He constructed the Grand Trunk Railway, Canada, with the tubular bridge near Montreal, and several railways in Europe. In 1859 he was returned to parliament from Finsbury. After visiting the U.S. in 1865, he pub. "The Resources and Prospects of America," 1866.

Pettengill, Amos, b. Salem, N.H., Aug. 9, 1789; d. Salem Bridge, Ct., Aug. 17, 1830. H. U. 1805. Minister in Champlain, N.Y., from July 9, 1807, to 1812; of Litchfield, Ct., from Apr. 14, 1816, to Jan. 9, 1822; and of Salem from Jan. 1, 1823, to his d. As a teacher, and in other ways, he aided the cause of education. He pub. a view of the heavens, for schools, 1826; a rotary celestial map; "The Spirit of Methodism," 1829; and some discourses. A Memoir of him, by L. Hart, was pub. by the Miss. S. S. Society.

Pettigrew, Charles, first Prot.-Epis. bishop of N.C.; d. 1807 at Bonarva, on Lake Scuppernon, where he settled in 1791. His father, originally of a Scottish family, came from Co. Tyrone, Ireland, to Pa., and finally settled in N.C. Charles became a teacher at Edenton in 1773; was ord. in the Prot.-Epis. Church at Lond. in 1775; and m. Mary, dau. of Col. John Blount. In May, 1794, at a conv. held at Warborough, he was elected bishop. He took a leading part in establishing the U. of N.C. His only son Ebenezer was M.C. from Edenton dist. in 1835-7.

Pettit, Col. Charles, Revol. patriot; d. Phila. Sept. 4, 1806, a. 69. Having practised law with reputation, he became sec. of N. J. under Gov. Franklin, and continued in that office under Gov. Livingston until called by Gen. Greene to the post of assist. quar.-gen. Conspicuous in this position for industry and intelligence, he was tendered, upon the resignation of Greene, the succession to the important trust of quartermaster-gen.; but he declined. At the peace he became a merchant in Phila. Was the author of the funding system of Pa. while a member of its legisl.; a delegate to Congress from 1785 to 1787; and a powerful advocate at the general conference at Harrisburg, for the adoption of the Federal Constitution.

Pettit, Thomas McKean, judge, 1797-1823. Member Pa. legisl. 1830; assoc. judge dist. Ct. 1822-5; pres. judge 1835-45. Author of Discourse bef. Hist. Soc. of Pa. 1828; Discourse bef. the Philomath Soc. of the U. of P., 1836; "Memoirs of Roberts Vaux."

Pettus, John J., brig.-gen. U.S.A.; killed at the battle of Peach-tree Creek, Ga., July 26, 1834; gov. of Mpi 1860-2.

Peyton, John Lewis, b. Augusta Co., Va., 1825; went to Eng. in 1861 as an agent of N.C., and still (1871) resides there. Author of "Trade of China and the Indian Islands," svo, 1854; "Statistical View of Illinois," svo, 1854; "The American Crisis," &c., 2 vols. 8vo, Lond. 1867; "Adventures of my Grandfather, by Col. J. L. P., late chief of staff to Gen. Douglass B. Layne of Va.," svo, 1867. — Albion.

Pfeifer, Carl, architect b. Brunswick, Germany, 1834; came to the U.S. in 1850 and pursued his profession in Ohio and in the West, and in 1864 established himself in N.Y. City, where he has attained high reputation. Among his works are the Church of the Messiah, the Roosevelt Hospital, and the Barredo manion. His plans for the N.Y. Hospital and other public city buildings have recently been accepted. — Thomas.

Phelps, Almira Hart Lincoln, teacher and author, b. Berlin, Ct., 1793. Her father, Samuel Hart, was descended from Rev. Thomas Hooker. She was educated chiefly by her sister Emma (Willard); taught school in her father's house at 19, and soon after took charge of the Sandy-hill (N.Y.) Female Acad. In 1817 she m. Simon Lincoln, editor of the Ut. Mirror, who died in 1823. She soon after became associated with her elder sister, Mrs. Emma Willard, in the direction of the female sem. at Troy, N.Y., until in 1831 she m. Hon. John Phelps of Vt. In 1838 she took charge of a sem. at West Chester, Pa., and afterwards taught in Rahway, N.J.; in 1841 Mr. and Mrs. Phelps took charge of the Putney Institute, which after her husband's death, in 1848, she conducted alone till 1856. She has since resided in Baltimore, and at one time edit. of the Putney Magazine. She pub. "Familiar Lectures on Botany," 1829, revised and enlarged 1861; "Dictionary of Chemistry," 1830; "Botany for Beginners," 1831; "Geology for Beginners," 1832; "Female Student, or Far-side Friend," 1833; "Caroline Westcott," 1833; "Lectures to Young Ladies," &c., p. 3; "Chemistry for Beginners," 1834; "Progressive Education," translated from the French, 1834; "Lectures on Natural Philosophy," 1835; "Lectures on Chemistry," 1837 and 1837; "Natural Philosophy for Beginners," 1837; "Ada Norman," 1854; "Hours with my Pupils," 1859; and "Christian Household," 1860.

Phelps, Anson Greene, a wealthy and philanthropic merchant of New York, b. Simsbury, Ct., March 1781; d. New York, Nov. 31, 1853. He learned the trade of a saddler; was a merchant in Hartford until 1815, when he removed to N.Y. City, where he passed the remainder of his life, engaged in the business of a merchant in tin plate and heavy metals. Portions of his annual accumulations were systematically devoted to the relief of the needy, and to various objects of Christian charity. His will contained bequests to different charitable institutions, amounting to $31,000; $100,000 each to the Bible Society, the Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and the Home Missionary Society. Pres. of the N.Y. Blind Asylum, the A. B. C. F. M., and the N.Y. branch of the Colonization Society.

Phelps, Austin, D.D., b. West Brookfield, Ms., Jan. 7, 1820. U. of Pa. 1837. Ord. pastor of the Finest Cong. Church, Boston, 1844; since 1848 Bartlett prof. of sacred rhetoric in And. Theol. Seminary. Author of "The Still Horn," 1852, with Dr Park and Lowell Mason, "The Sabbath Hymn Book," "Sabbath Hymns and Tune Book," "Sabbath Tune Book," "School School Hymn and Tune Book," "Rivers and Chans," 1850, "The New Birth," 1850, — 1850.

Phelps, ELIZABETH (STUART), widow, b. A. 1800, Ms., Aug. 13, 1815, d. there Nov. 10, 1852. Daughter of Miss S. Smith. In 1842 she was married to Rev. Austin P. Phelps, who wrote "The Sunday Side," "The Kitty P.," "The New Year's 1849," "Peep at Numb. 13," "The Rev. T. J. Angeloe, the Right Son of a Cleric," and "The Last Leaf from Sunday-Side." Her daughter ELIZABETH STUART, is author of "11 Girls' Bids," 1864, "The Hill," 1865; "Tiny," 1866; "Mary's Children's Work," 1866; "The Sunday School," 1867; "Tiny's Sunday Night," 1867; "I Don't Know How," 1867; "Gone Afloat," 1868, a remarkably successful publication; "The Good Boy," "Men, Women and Ghosts," 1869, and "The Silent Partner," 1870. Contrib. to the Year's Poets, see — 1.

Phelps, GILES JOHN WARE, b. Guilford, Vt., Nov. 13, 1811. West Point, 1836. Entered the 4th Artillery served in Fla., was made 1st Lieut. July 7, 1838, became the brev. of capt. Nov. 22, 1839, at Contreras and Chaminuco, capt. 31 Mar. 1850, while member of a board for preparing a system of heavy artillery instruction, which was formed at his suggestion, com. at Fort Brown, Texas, and broke up a large thier stockpiled against Mexico and Cuba, and served in the Utah exped., but resigned Nov. 2, 1859, while residing at Brattleborough, Vt., b. 25 June (2 May, 1861) col. 1st Vt. Vols. He established and long com. the intrenched camp at Newport News, was made a brig. gen. May 17, 1861, was attached to Gen. Buller's exped. to N. Orleans; landed at St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 4, 1861, issued a proclamation to slavery, which was at once obeyed by the 10th and 11th Reg. Vt. Phelps enlisted and described the best 2000 soldiers, but was ordered by Gen. Buller to abandon the project of his expedition in cutting trees and similar measures, and returned Aug. 21, 1862, and served in the 1st Brattleborough Vicespres. Vt. Hist. Soc. since 1863.

Phelps, OLIVER, a man of extraordinary enterprise, b. Windsor, Ct., 1749; d. Canandaigua, N.Y., Feb. 21, 1809. He received a commission in militia at Suffield, Ct., engaged in business at Granville, Ms., with great success; and when the Royal was in the commission of Ms. In 1788 he with Nathl. Gorham, purchased of the State of Ms. a tract of 22000 acres of land in the Genesee country, N.Y., now comprised in the extensive counties of Orleans and Seneca. He opened in Canandaigua a mercantile office in America, and his system of settling by townships and ranges became the model for all subsequent surveys. In 1793 Phelps, with Wm. Hays and then associated with 10 of the State the tract of land in Orleans and the Western Reserve, comprising 1000000 acres. He afterwards removed to Canandaigua, N.Y., represented that district in Congress in 1803-5; and was a judge of the Circuit Court.

Phelps, SAMUEL SUTHER, jurist and statesman, b. Litchfield, Ct., May 13, 1793, d. Middlebury, Vt., Mar. 25, 1855. A. C. 1811. Son of Capt. John, a Royal soldier. He was a paymaster in the army at Plattsburg late in 1814, and after the war settled as a lawyer in Middlebury. Member of the Council of Censors in 1827, and author of the address by that body, member of the legislative council in 1831; judge of the Sup. Court of Vt. in 1838-8, and U.S. senator 1839-54 and 1854-4. His speeches in the senate on the Clayton Compromise Bill, and on the Vt. Antislavery Resolutions, attracted much attention. He had a high reputation as a jurist and advocate. A brief notice is in W. J. F. v. 24, 93.

Phelps, SYLVANUS DRYDEN, D.D. (Madis. Co. 1844), b. Suffield, Ct., 1816. Brown U. 1844. Pastor 1st Bapt. Church, New Haven, since Jan. 21, 1846. Author of "Eloquence of Nature, and other Poems," 1842, "Sunlight and Heartlight, and other Poems," 1856, "Holy Land, a Year's Tour," 1864; "The Poet's Song, for the Heart and the Home," 1867, "Bible Lands," &c., 1869. Also poems and sermons in pamphlet form, "Period to Late and Times of Bunyan," 8vo, 1855, and articles in periodicals. — 1855.

Philes, TOBIAS P., linguist, bibliographer, and scholar, b. Ithaca, N.Y., 15 Apr. 1828. Educated at Ithaca Acad. Has resided in N.Y. City since 1854, engaged as a bookseller and publisher. In 1857 he m. Emeline L., dau. of Mirin Sanders of Cortland, N.Y. M.A. of Dartm. Coll. 1858. Contrib. to lit. journals, under the pseudonym of "Zelus's zephyrus," edited "The Philobiblion," 2 vols. 4to, N.Y. 1862-3; assisted in preparing the "Zelus's zephyrus" (comp. by Henry Harrison), N.Y. Geo. P. Philes 1869, imp. 8vo and 4to, edited "The Bhagvat Goeeta, or Dialogues of Krishna and Arjoun," &c., 8vo, 1867, and a reprint in Pak. letter of the "Proverbs, or Adages," &c., from Erasmus, by RICHARDE. FORTENSEN, London, 1860, N.Y. 1867, 8vo. We believe he is now engaged in preparing a "Dictionary of Anonymous and Pseudonymous Eng. and Amer. Authors, with Hist. and Critical Notes."

Philip, KISS (MAYACOW), Sachem of Pokanoket. Youngest son of Massachusetts, and the successor in 1662 of his bro. Alexander; killed Aug. 12, 1676. In 1662 he promised at Plymouth to continue in friendship with the English, and not to dispose of any of his territory without giving notice, in 1671, in consequence of rumors of a plot against the colonists and the occurrence of several murders, a new agreement was finally entered into, by which Philip admitted the superiority of the Plymouth Govt. The Indians were, however, required to give up their arms — a measure which soon produced unfavorable results. In 1675, Sassamon, a converted Indian, who had informed the Colony that hostile preparations were going on, was killed. His murderers were tried, convicted, and executed, and in revenge the Indians murdered 8 or 9 white men. The war that ensued was of a most harassing character; the Indians avoiding the whites in the field, but rapidly passing from one exposed point to another, burning villages, cutting off detached parties by ambuscade, and shooting down all who ventured out of the places of protection. Philip from an alliance with the powerful Narragansetts, but an opposition under Winslow in Dec. 1675 resulted in the complete subjugation of that tribe. This blow, and the complete destruction of his own tribe, soon left Philip with only a few survivors. Decried by all, he was hunted from spot to spot; and at last, taking refuge at Mount Hope, was there attacked by a party under Capt. Church, and was killed by an Indian while attempting to flee. In this war 13 towns were destroyed, many others suffered severely; and 6000 colonists were slain. Philip was brave, crafty, and politic; had great influence over the neighboring tribes; and was implacable in his hatred of the colonists.

Phillips, GILBERT RICHARD, GOV. Nova Scotia 1717-33, b. 1661, d. 1751. He joined the army of William of Orange as a capt.; was at the battle of the Boyne in 1690; and was made lieutenant-col. in 1712. He was in Nova Scotia in 1720-31, and was an active and intelligent officer. He was, at his death, col. 35th Regt.

Phillips, CALVIN W., novelist, b. Vernon, N. Y., June 14, 1822; d. Suffield, Ct., June 30, 1858. A lawyer at Suffield from 1847 to his d. During the last 5 years of his life he was a contrib. to Cathartes, Patanian's, Hesperis, and the Pluto magazines.

Phillips, ADRIANA, vocalist, b. Stratford-on-Avon, Eng., 1833. Made her début Sept. 25, 1843, at the Boston Museum, as Little Pickle; at the Walnut-street Theatre, Phila., July 17, 1846, as Rosa in "John of Paris;" and was long a great favorite, and a useful member of the Boston Museum Company. Possessing a remarkable contralto voice, she resided upon its cultivation, and was trained in Italy in 1852-4, making a successful début at the Carcano, Milan, Dec. 17, 1854, in the "Barber of Seville." In Oct. 1855 she appeared at the Music Hill, Boston; first-tapp in opera at the N. Y. Academy, Mar. 17, 1856, as Aracant in "Il Trovatore,"—a part in which she is unrivalled, and which she played at the Italian Opera House in Paris in October, 1861. She sang at the great Peace Jubilee in Boston in June, 1863.

Phillips, GEORGE, first minister of Watervt. Ms., from July 30, 1630, to his d. July 1, 1644; b. Rūnham, Norfolk Co., Eng., 1593. U. of Cambridge 1613 and 1617. Settled at Buxton, Essex Co., Eng.; but became a non-conformist, and came to N. E. in June, 1630. He was a learned scholar, and an able disputant. His work on "Infant-Baptism" was pub. 1645.—Mather's Magnolia.

Phillips, HENRY, Junr., numismatist. Member of the Phila. bar. Author of "History of the Paper-Money of Pa.," 8vo, 1862; "N. Jersey Bills of Credit, 1723-86," 8vo, 1864; "Paper-Currency of the Colonies," 1864-6, 2 vols., 4to; "Early Currency of Maryland," 1867; "Medicine and Astrology," 8vo, 1867; "Pleasures of Numismatic Science," 8vo, 1867.—A. Glean.

Phillips, CON. JONAS; d. Charlestown, Ms., Mar. 20, 1726, a. 93 years, 9 mo. He was judge of the Admiralty Court; treasurer of the province; col. of the regt. 1689-1715; a justice of the

C. C. P.; one of the council 1689-1716; and repes. 1683-6.—Savage.

Phillips, JOHN, LL. D., merchant and philanthropist, b. Andover, Ms., Dec. 27, 1719; d. Exeter, N. H., Apr. 21, 1795. H. U. 1775. Son of Rev. Samuel of Andover. He studied theology and preached for a time, but subsequently became a merchant; and was for some years a member of the council of N. H. He endowed a professorship in Dartm. Coll.—contrib. liberally also to N. J. Coll. April 21, 1778, he, with his bro. Samuel, bequeathed Phillips Acad. at Andover, giving to it $31,000 (beside a third interest in his estate), and in 1781 founded Phillips Acad. at Exeter, to which he gave $134,000.

Phillips, JOHN, first mayor of Boston, 1822-3, b. Boston, Nov. 26, 1770; d. there May 29, 1823. H. U. 1788.—Cousin of Lieut. Gov. William. Studied law, and at an early age was appointed for Suffolk Co. During the last 20 years of his life he was a member of the State senate, and 1813-23 its pres.; in 1809 he became a judge of C. C. P.; member of the State Const. Conv. in 1820.

Phillips, PHILIP, vocalist and musical composer, b. Chautauque Co., N. Y., 13 Aug. 1834. His youth was spent on a farm; his leisure he devoted to music, completing his studies under Lowell Mason. He has since given sacred concerts in all parts of the U. S. App. in 1866 musical editor of the Math. Book Concern, N. Y.; visiting Europe in 1869 he sang in the principal cities there. Among his most popular works are "Musical Leaves," "Singing Pilgrim," "An Offering of Praise," and "New Standard Singer."

Phillips, SAMUEL, Junr., LL. D., b. N. Andover, Ms., Feb. 7, 1752; d. Andover, Feb. 10, 1802. H. U. 1771. Grandson of Rev. Samuel (H. F. 1708), minister of Andover (17 Oct. 1719 to his d. 5 June, 1771; b. Salem, 28 Feb. 1690). Son of Samuel, a councillor of state, who d. July 21, 1740, a. 76. He was 4 years a member of the Ms. Prov. Cong., and one of its best speakers; a member of the Const. Conv. of 1779; a State senator for 20 years following the adoption of the constitution, and 15 years pres. of that body; a judge of the C. C. P. (1781-98); commiss. of the State in Shays's Insurrection; and lieutenant-gov. at the time of his death. He was also much engaged in agric., manufact., and mercantile pursuits. He planned and organized at Andover the first incorporated academy in the State, and one of the first in the country, gave it some lands, and procured endowments for it from his father, uncles, and cousins, to the amount of $85,000. At his death he left to the town of Andover a fund of $5,000, the income to be applied to the cause of education. He was a founder of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences of Boston.

Phillips, SAMUEL CHAUNCEY, philanthropist, b. Salem, Nov. 3, 1801; b. c. b. the burning of "The Montreal" on the River St. Lawrence, June 29, 1857. H. U. 1819. He began to study law, but became a merchant, member legisl. in 1824-9, senator in 1830; again a representative in 1842 and '33. M. C. 1834-8; mayor of Salem Dec. 1838-March, 1842; and upon his voluntary retirement devoted the whole of his salary as mayor to the public school of the city. In 1848 and '49 he was the Freesson candidate for gov. He discharged several State and private trusts with ability, sagacity, and integrity, and was many years a member of the State Board of Education. Author of "The Sunday-school Services Book."

Phillips, WILLIAM, orator and reformer, b. Bos., Nov. 29, 1811; H U 1831; Camb. Law School, 1833; Son of John, first mayor of Boston; Adm. to the Suffolk bar in 1834. The agitation of the slavery question was at this time at its height, and Mr. Phillips joined the abolitionists in 1836, relinquishing his professional practice in 1839 from unwillingness to affirm his attorney's oath to the Constitution of the U.S. His first memorable speech was made in Faneuil Hall in Dec. 1837, at a meeting called to notice in a suitable manner the murder in the city of Alton, Ill., of the Rev. Elijah P. Lovejoy, who fell in defense of the freedom of the press. At a moment when the purpose of the meeting seemed likely to be defeated, and its resolutions rejected, by the opposition of Atty. Gen. Austin, Mr. Phillips, who was among the audience, in an outburst of indignant eloquence at once rebuked Mr. Austin for the sentiments he had uttered, and secured the passage of the resolutions. He was a prominent advocate of the doctrines of the Garrisonian abolitionists, who, believing the Constitution of the U.S. to be an immoral compact between freedom and slavery, refused to support, abstained from voting, and labored for the dissolution of the Union as the best means of freeing the slaves. Mr. Phillips is now identified with the progress of the temperance, labor reform, and woman's rights movements. He is a frequent public lecturer, and as an orator ranks among the very foremost America has produced. Pres. of the Amer. Anti-slavery Soc. from 1865 until its dissolution, 9 April, 1870; candidate of the Labor reform party for gov. of Ms. in 1870. His Speeches, Lectures, and Letters were pub. Boston, 1863; "The Constitution a Proslavery Compact," 8vo, 1844; "Our Abolitionists Vote or Take Oath?" 1845; "Review of Sisson's Unconsciousness of Slavery," 8vo, 1847; "Review of Webster's 7th of March Speech," 1850; "Review of Kossuth's Course," 1851; "Decline of the Anti-slavery Movement," 8vo, 1854; "Addresses," 8vo, 1859. He has contributed largely to the Liberator, and to the Anti-Slavery Standard.

Phillips, WILLIAM, H. D., A. A. S., law-yeer, b. New Bedford, Ms., Dec. 19, 1784; H U 1803; tutor there 1810-15. He had a liberal education for his own education by the aid of his father, and began the practice of law in Boston at the same time as in the church of the N. A. B. to which he was, when 18-4, a communicant. In 1825 and '26 he was a member of the State Council. He gave up practice in 1845, was judge of probate for Suffolk Co. in 1844-47, and has been pres. of the N. E. Mutual Life Insurance Co. since 1843. In 1837-41 he was one of the commiss. who reformed the law of crimes and punishments to a systematic code. He pub. in 1812 a pamphlet entitled "An Appeal to the Public Spirit of the Federalists and the Good Sense of the Democrats;" "Treatise on Insurance," 1823, 5th ed., 2 vols. 8vo, 1868; "Treatise on Patents," 1837; "Inventor's Guide," 1837; "A Manual of Political Economy," 1828; "Propositions concerning Protection and Free Trade," 1850. He wrote, among other articles for the "Encyclopaedia Americana," one on "Political Economy," and in 1832 pub. a digest of the first 5 vols. of Pickering's "Reports." With Edward Pickering he edited the first American edition of "Coventry on Partnership." In 1812 he was a contrib. to the Gen. Law, who and Review, and for some years edited and pub. the Democraticist.

Phillips, WILLIAM, a British gen., d. Petersburg, Va., May 13, 1781. A p. capt. of art. May, 1756; brev. lieutenant-col. 1760; col. May 23, 1772, and maj. gen. in June 1776, in Burgoyne's expedition. He served with credit in Germany; was taken prisoner with Burgoyne in Oct. 1777; exchanged in Nov. 1779, and was actively engaged at the South until his death. In the spring of 1781 he was sent from New York with 2,000 men to join Arno d, then at the Chesapeake. After a brief career of devastation in Va., he was carried off by a fever. He was haughty and irritable, and held the Americans in great contempt.

Phillips, WILLIAM, lieutenant-gov. of Ms., 1812-23; b. Boston, Apr. 10, 1750; d. May 26, 1827. Son of William, a benefactor of Andover Sem., who d. Jan. 15, 1804, a 82. He engaged in business with his father, and acquired a fortune, was an ardent patriot of the Revolt; was several years a representative after 1800, and at his death bequeathed large sums to Phillips Acad., Andover Theol. Sem., and other institutions. His son JONATHAN, also a philanthropic merchant of Boston, and a member of the Ms. legis., b. 24 Apr. 1778; d. 29 July, 1850.

Phillips, WILLIAM WILKINSON, D. D., (Col. Col.), 1826; Presb. clergyman, N. Mont. Irony Co., N. Y., 23 Sept. 1796; d. N. Y. City, 20 Mar. 1865. Un. Col. 1815. N. W. Brunswick Theol. Sem., Ord. Apr. 1818 over the Park-street Church, New York; transferred in 1826 to the Wall-street Church, afterwards removed to Fatta Avenue, where he officiated till his death. He held many important trusts in his denomination, and was in 1835 moderator of the Gen. Assembly.

Phipps, HENRY, Earl of Mulgrave, a British gen., b. 1755; d. April 7, 1811. Educated at Eton, and intended for the law; he entered the army in 1775, was aide-de-camp to Keyserhausen in 1776, served through the American war, was a brig. at the siege of Toulon in 1794, rose to the rank of gen. in 1809, and became an earl in 1812.

Phipps, SAMUEL, lieutenant-gov. of Ms., b. Row, Ms., June 6, 1685; d. April 4, 1757. H U 1703. Son of Dr. David Borner of Row, Va., and on being adopted by his uncle, Sir Wim Phipps, took by statute the latter name. He was a councillor in 1722; was 9 times re-elected; was lieutenant-gov. in 1741-57, and administered the govt. from Sept. 1749 to 1753, and in 1756-7. His son DAVID (H U 1741) d. Bath, Eng., in 1811, a 87. A prominent loyalist of Boston; went to Halifax in 1776.

Phips, or Phipps, SIR WILLIAM, gov. of Ms., b. Woolwich, Me., Feb. 2, 1651; d. London, Feb. 18, 1695. He was one of 26 children; was at first a shepherd; at the age of 18 bound himself to a ship-carpenter, and learned to read and write. In 1684 he went to Eng. to procure means to recover the treasure from a Spanish vessel wrecked near the Bahamas. His first search, for which a national vessel was furnished here, was unsuccessful; in a second attempt in 1687, at the cost of the Duke of Albemarle, he recovered from the wreck treasure to the amount of £300,000, of which £10,000 was given him as his share. He was also knighted, and app. high sheriff of New Eng. In 1690 he com. the fleet which captured Port Royal, also a much larger one sent against Quebec without success. He arrived in Boston in Nov., and was made a magistrate of the colony, but soon revisited England to induce the govt. to send another expedition to Canada. Through the influence of Increase Mather, the agent of Ms. in Eng., he was app. gov. of the province, and arrived in Boston, May 14, 1692; in Aug. he sailed with ab. 450 men to Penaquip, where he built a fort. Summoned in 1694 to Eng. to answer complaints which had been brought against him, he died there very suddenly. He was a lover of his country, a man of uncommon enterprise and industry, and of an excellent disposition; but the violence of his temper weakened his influence. He is much eulogized by Cotton Mather, his pastor, with whom he cooperated in the witchcraft delusion. — See Let. by Gougeon in Spauld's Am. Biog.

Physic, PHILLIP SYNG, M.D. (Edinburgh, 1794), an eminent physician and surgeon, b. Phila. July 7, 1768; d. there Dec. 15, 1837. U. of Pa. 1785. His father, an Englishman, had charge of the estates of the Penn family. He received his early education at the Friends' Acad.; studied medicine; went to Europe in Nov. 1787; became the private pupil of John Hunter, and in 1790 was adm. to St. George's Hospital as hon. surgeon. On leaving it, he received his diploma from the Roy. Coll. of Surgeons in Lond.; was invited by Dr. Hunter to assist him in his professional business, and remained with him a year. After a year's attendance on the lectures of the university, and filling the Royal Infirmary at Edinb., Dr. Physic returned to Phila.; commenced the practice of medicine; and in 1793, on the appearance of the epidemic, was app. physician to the Yellow Fever Hospital at Bush Hill; in 1794 one of the surgeons of the Pa. Hospital; on the re-appearance of the yellow fever was again resid. physician at the Bush Hill Hospital; and in 1801-16 was surgeon-in-ctr. to the Phila. Almshouse Infirmary; in 1805 he was app. prof. of surgery in the U. of Pa.; in 1819-31 he filled the chair of anatomy; in 1821 was app. consulting surgeon to the Inst. for the Blind; in 1824 was elected pres. of the Phila. Med. Soc.; in 1825 became a member of the Roy. Acad. of Med. in France; and in 1836 an hon. fellow of the Roy. Med. and Chirurgical Soc. of Lond. As a practical surgeon, Dr. P. had no rival in the U.S.; and he was exceedingly popular as a lecturer. Author of valuable communications to the medical journals. — See Memoir by John Bell in Gross's Med. Biog.

Piatt, JOHN JAMES, poet, b. Milton, Ind., 1 Mar. 1835. Nephew of Donn Piatt, writer and politician, and of Abram Sander Piatt, political and poetical writer. He learned the printing-business, and attended the Columbus High school and Kenyon Coll. He became known by his poetical contribs. to the Lancaster Journal in 1853; he came a contrib. to the Atlantic Monthly in 1859; and in 1869, in conjunction with W. D. Howell, pub. a vol. of "Poems of Two Friends." — See Poets and Poetry of the West.

Pichon, THOMAS (alias THOMAS SIGES TYRRELL), b. France; d. Jersey, 1792. He was brought up a medical student at Marseilles, and was insp. of hospitals in Bohemia in 1743; ser. to Count Raymond, the French gov. of Cape Breton, 1751-3; and was afterward commiss. of stores at Fort Beauséjour until its capture in 1755. All the while he held these posts, he was furnishing information to the British officers, from whom he received money, and articles of dress. He was in Lond. from 1758 till his death. He pub. anonymously a work on Cape Breton and St. John Island, containing accurate descriptions of the Indians and other valuable information, Lond. 1760, and Paris 1761. He claimed the name of Tyrrell as that of his mother's family.

Pickens, ANDREW, brig.-gen. Revol. army, b. Paxton, Bucks Co., Pa., 13 Sept. 1749; d. Pendleton Dist., S.C., 17 Aug. 1817. His parents, who were of Huguenot descent, removed in 1752 to the Waxhaw Settlement, S.C. He was a vol. in Col. Grant's exped. against the Cherokees in Apr. 1761, after which he removed to the Long Cane Settlement. At the outset of the Revol. he was made a capt. of militia, but rose rapidly, through courage, skill, and zeal, to the rank of brig.-gen. In the darkest time, when the South was overrun by the enemy, and suffered from the Tories all the horrors of civil war, he, with Marion and Sumter, kept alive the spirit of resistance. In Feb. 1779, with 400 men, he defeated Col. Boyd with 800 Tories at Kettle Creek; had his horse killed under him while covering the retreat at the battle of Stono, 20 June, 1779; and in that year inflicted a severe defeat on the Cherokees at Tomasco; at the battle of the Cowpens, 17 Jan. 1781, he com. the militia, whom he rallied and brought a second time into action after they had been broken and compelled to retreat, for which service Congress voted him a sword; in June he captured Augusta, Ga.; and at the battle of Eutaw, where he com. the Carolina militia, was struck by a bullet, which, but for striking the buckle of his sword-belt, would have inflicted a mortal wound. By a successful repulse against the Cherokees in 1782, he obtained a large cession of territory now embraced in the State of Ga. Member of the S.C. legisl. from the close of the war to 1794; M.C. 1793-5; member of the State Const. Conv.; made major-gen. of militia in 1795; and again in the legisl. until 1801 and in 1812. Commissions in many treaties with the Southern Indians; by that of Hopewell he obtained from the Cherokees the portion of the State of S.C. now called Pendleton and Greenville. He soon after settled at Hopewell, on Keowee River, where the treaty was held. In 1765 he married Rebecca Callahan, aunt of John C. He was remarkable for simplicity, decision, and prudence, and for the surpassing performance of duty. His son ASPEN, gov. of S. C. 1816-18, an able lawyer, d. Pontotock, Md., July, 1838.

Pickens, Francis W., stat. sman, b. Tugalo, S. C. Palmetto Parish, S. C. Apr. 7, 1807; d. Feb. 1, S. C. Jan. 25, 1869. Son of Gov. Andrew. Educated at S. C. Coll. Was in 1829 a lawyer at the bar, and then in practice in Edgemoor, Durin, the nullification excitement in 1832, he distinguished himself in the legisl. as a debater, was prominent on the committees on the practice and on foreign relations, made a report in 1833, as chairman of a sub-com., to the legisl. that Congress, as the agent and mere guaranty of the States severally, had no claim to all the land, and could exercise no sovereignty, M. C. 1835-45. In 1836 he made an elaborate speech, defining the right of Congress to abolish slavery in the Dist. of Col.; in 1844 he was elected to the S. C. senate. He voted with the majority against the "Bleeding Missouri," a session demonstration then in progress in the State, advocated by Gov. Hammond and other prominent men; was a member of the Nashville Southern Conv. in 1850-1; presided over the State conv. called to elect delegates to the Union Demo. conv. in 1854; was a delegate to that conv. in 1856 at Cincinnati; was minister to Russia in 1857-60; and when S. C. declared its secession from the Union, was chosen its gov. He immediately demanded of Maj. Anderson the surrender of Fort Sumter, and while in the field all in his power in aid of the rebellion. He was succeeded by Beaumont in 1862. He was a planter of great wealth, gave much attention to scientific agriculture, and won much reputation in the Southern States as an orator before coll. and literary societies.

Pickens, Isabella, gov. of Ala. 1821-5, b. Calhoun Co., N. C.; d. near Marianna, April 23, 1827. Her first year in the N. C. 1823-4; was M. C. in 1841-47; was app. register of the land-office of Md. Terr. in 1847; afterward removed to Ala.; and was U. S. senator in 1826.

Pickering, Charles M. D. (H. U. 1826), naturalist, 2d grandson of Col. Timothy, b. Susquehanna Co., Pa., Nov. 10, 1805. After practicing medicine 11 years in Phila., he was attached as naturalist to Wilkes's exploring expedition in 1838-42; then went to Florida and Louisiana, and published the results of his researches on the characteristics of the various tribes in his "Races of Man and their Geographical Distribution," 4vo, 1848; and "Geographical Distribution of Animals and Man," 1854. Author also of a work on the "Geographical Distribution of Plants," pub. 1861. In 1858 he communicated to the Amer. Oriental Soc. an essay on the Invention of the Art of Writing, read before the Boston Nat. Hist. Soc., notes on the Sauging Power of the Physalis.

Pickering, Charles W., commo. U. S. N., b. N. H. Melburn, May 22, 1822, lieutenant, Dec. 8, 1848, com. Sept. 14, 1855, capt. July 15, 1862; commo. (retired list) Feb. 1, 1867. In 1822-3 he made his first cruise with his uncle, Capt. R. T. Spencer, in "The Cyane;" executive officer of this vessel in 1854, conveying Lieut. Straun and his exploring-party to Durin, and afterward rescuing, and returning them to N. Y., com. "The Kearsarge" in the Mediterranean and W. I. islands 1862-3; com. "The Housatonic," when blown up off Charleston, Feb. 17, 1864, by a sub-marine torpedo, afterward com. steamer "Vanderbilt" at capture of Ft. Fisher. — Hazens.

Pickering, Henry, poet, b. Newburgh, N. Y., at the headquarters of Washington, Oct. 8, 1781, d. N. Y. May 8, 1838. Third son of Col. Timothy. Engaged in mercantile pursuits in Salem, and afterward in N. Y. City. An edition of his poems was published in Boston in 1811. — Hazens.

Pickering, John, LL. D. (Dartm. Coll. 1792), lawyer and jurist, b. Newington, N. H., Sept. 22, 1737, d. Portsmouth, Apr. 11, 1805. H. U. 1761. A prominent member of the conv. which formed the const. of N. H.; in 1787 he was elected a member of the conv., which framed the Const. of the U. S., but declined; he was a judge of the Supreme Court of N. H. in 1790-5, and was at one period chief justice; subsequently he was judge of the Dist. Court of the U. S. for N. H., but, his reason becoming impaired, he was removed from office by impeachment in 1804.

Pickering, John, LL. D. (Bowd. 1822; H. U. 1835), philologist, and writer on law, b. Salem, Ms., Feb. 17, 1777, d. Boston, May 5, 1846. H. U. 1793. Son of Col. Timothy. He studied law in Phila.; was in 1797 app. sec. of legation to Portugal, was 2 years in London, as private sec. to Rufus King, U. S. minister; in 1801 returned to Salem, resumed his legal studies, commenced practice, and remained there until 1827, when he removed to Boston; and was city solicitor from 1829 until his death. His practice was large; but by great industry, and economy in the use of time, his labors in general lit., and philology in particular, made him one of the most profound scholars in the country, and even of the age. He was 3 times representative from Salem, twice a senator from Essex, and once from Suffolk; and was a member of the Executive Council; in 1833 he was a member of the commission for revising and arranging the statutes of Ms. The part entitled "of the Internal Administration of Govt." was executed by him. He contributed to the Amer. J. S., to the Trans. A. S. of 1841 an article of singular merit on Nat. and Stat. Rights; to the V. A. Review for Oct. 1840, an article on Conyancing in Ancient Egypt. Author of "Remarks on Greek Grammars," 1825. "The Vocabulary of Americanisms," 1816, an essay on "The Uniform Orthography of the Indian Language," 1820. "Indian Languages of America," an article on the Chinese language, on the Coshin-Chinese language, and many productions of an analogous character. His principal work was a Greek and Eng. Lexicon, begun in 1814, but not finished until 1826. He was more or less familiar with 22 different languages, the Egyptian hieroglyphics, the Malay in several dialects, and particularly the Indian languages of Amer. and of the Polynesian Islands. In 1806 he was elected Hancock prof. of Hebrew in H. U., and at a later day was invited to fill the chair of Greek literature. Pres. of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences, and of the Oriental Soc. of Boston, and a member of many scientific and literary societies in Europe.

Pickering, OCTAVIUS, LL.D., legist and naturalist, b. Wyoming, Pa., Sept. 2, 1792; d. Boston, Oct. 29, 1868. H. U. 1810. Adm. to the Suffolk bar, March 6, 1816; opened an office in Boston and assisted in reporting the proceedings of the State Const. Conv. in 1829; State reporter in 1822-40; and Pickering's "Reports," in 24 vols. 8vo, form a necessary part of every good law-library. He resided in Europe in 1841-8; was many years a member of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences; and in Dec. 1844 was one of the founders of the organization now known as the Boston Soc. of Nat. Hist. He pub. in 1867 the first vol. of the Life of Col. Timo. Pickering, his Father; with W. H. Gardner, "Report of the Trial of Judge James Prescott," 8vo, 1824.

Pickering, TIMOTHY, LL.D. (N. J. Coll. 1773) soldier and statesman, b. Salem, Ms., 17 July, 1745; d. there 29 Jan. 1829. H. U. 1773. Adm. to the bar in 1768, he became the champion and leader of the Whigs of Essex Co.; was on the com. of corresp.; and wrote and delivered the address of the people of Salem to Gov. Gage, in 1774, on the occasion of the Boston Port Bill. He first opposed an armed resistance to the British troops, when, 26 Feb. 1775, he, while a col. of militia, at a drawback in Salem, prevented their crossing to seize some military stores. He had been 12 d. of d.; and in 1775 was app. a judge of C. C. P. for Essex Co., and sole judge of the Maritime Court for the middle dist. He joined Warrington in N. J. in the fall of 1776 with his regt. of 700 men; was made adj.-gen. of the army in May, 1777; was present at the battles of the Brandywine and Germantown; was made by Congress a member of the board of war in Nov.; and succeeded Greene as quartermaster-gen. 5 Aug. 1780. After the war he resided in Phila., and in 1786 was sent by the gov. to adjust a controversy between various claimants to the Wyoming settlement. During this dispute he was waylaid near Wilkesbarre, Pa., by a band of disguised persons, in June, 1788, injured, ill-treated, and his life threatened; 20 days afterward he reappeared, but was so much changed by his sufferings and hardships, that his children, fed alighted from his presence. (See account of this in his letter in Hazard's "Register of Pa.," vol. vi.) In 1787 he was the deog. of Luzerne Co. to the Pa. conv. for considering the U. S. Const., and cordially favored its adoption; U. S. post-master-gen. 7 Nov. 1791-2 Jan. 1795, and at the same time much employed in negotiations with the Indians; U. S. sec. of war 2 Jan. 1794-19 Dec. 1795; and U. S. sec. of state 10 Dec. 1795-12 May, 1800. He left office poor, and, building a log-hut for his family, settled on some wild lands in Pa. The liberality of friends enabled him to return to Salem at the close of 1801. Made chief justice of H. Essex Co. C. C. P. in 1802; U. S. senator in 1803-11; member of the council in 1811; member of the board of war of Ms. during the war of 1812-15; and M. C. 1815-17. He was one of the leaders of the Federal party in the U. S.; member of the Pa. Const. Conv. of 1790, and was active in promoting the cause of education. He pub. "Easy Plan of Discipline for a Militia," Salem, July, 1775; "Letter to Gov. Sullivan on the Embargo;" "Addresses to the People," 1808; "Political Essays," &c., 1810, 1812; and a severe "Review of the Corresp. between John Adams and W. Cunningham" 1824. He was a talented writer, a brave and patriotic soldier, and a disinterested, able, and energetic public officer. Plain and unassuming in manner, he excelled in conversation — See J. F. by his Son Octavianus, vol. 1, 1867.

Pickett, COL. ALBERT JAMES, author of a "History of Alabama," 2 vols. Charleston, 1851; b. Anson Co., N. C., Aug. 13, 1810; d. Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 28, 1858. He went with his father to Ala. in 1818; studied law, but never practised; and, after his marriage in 1832, devoted himself to literary pursuits and the care of his plantation.

Pickett, BRYAN M., a self-taught sculptor, b. Jordan, Onondaga Co., N. Y. Author of several beautiful marble works, among others "Enone," exhibited at the Nat. Acad. in 1868. Has recently produced a fine statue of S. F. B. Morse.

Pickett, GEORGE E., gen. C. S. A., b. Richmond, 25 Jan. 1825. West Point, 1846. Served in the Mexican war, earning the brevets of 1st lieut. and capt.; capt. 9th Inf. 3 Mar. 1855; resigned 25 June, 1861. He joined the Confed. army as col. in Sept. 1861; brig.-gen. 14 Feb. 1862; maj.-gen. 10 Oct. 1862; severely wounded at Gaines's Mill 27 June, 1862; com. a div. at Fredericksburg, at Gettysburg, attack on Newbern, N. C.; in Feb. 1864 captured Plymouth, N. C.; surrounded and lost most of his div. at Five Forks; and surrounded with Lee.

Pierce. — See also PEARCE and PETER.

Pierce, BENJAMIN, gov. of N. H. in 1827-9, b. Chatham, M., Dec. 25, 1757; d. Hillsborough, N. H., Apr. 1, 1839. His early years were passed in farm-labors. Hearing of the conflict at Lexington, he immediately joined the patriot army at Cambridge; was in the battle of Bunker's Hill; earned his commission of ensign at the battle of Benis Heights; subsequently became a lieut., and served with bravery to the close of the war. Attained a brig.-gen. of militia; from 1789 to 1802 a member of the Gen. Court; in 1803-9 and in 1811-18 councillor; and in 1800-14 and 1818-23 high-sheriff of the county. Father of Franklin Pierce, 14th pres. of the U. S.

Pierce, FRANKLIN, 14th pres. U. S., b. Hillsborough, N. H., 23 Nov. 1804; d. Concord, N. H., 8 Oct. 1869. Bowd. Coll. 1824. Son of Gov. B. M. J. He studied law under Levi Woodbury; was adm. to the bar in 1827; practised first at Hillsborough, and abt. 1838 moved to Concord. In 1834 he m. Jane M. A. M. d. u. of Rev. Dr. Appleton. M. C. in 1833-7; U. S. senator 1837-42; he refused the offices of attorney and sec. of war, tendered by Mr. Polk; vigorously supported the annexation of Texas; was made col. 16th U.S. Inf. after the breaking-out of the Mexican war; app. brig.-gen. 3 Mar. 1847; com. a large reinforcement for the army of Gen. Scott, and was severely injured by the fall of his horse upon his leg 19 Aug. 1847. He presided over the Natl. Const. Conv. in the winter of 1850-1. At the National Democ. conv., June, 1852, the prominent candidates for the presidency were: Cass, Buchanan, and Douglas. After 35 ballots without decisive result, the name of G. N. Pierce was proposed; and he was nominated on the 49th ballot. He was elected for the term of Mar. 4, 1853-7, receiving 254 electoral votes to 42 for his Whig competitor, Gen. Scott. In his inaugural address he denounced the agitation of slavery. His administration was signalized by the acquisition from Mexico of Arizona; the organization of the Territories of Kansas and Nebraska, by which the Mo. Compromise Act was repealed, and slavery permitted to enter those Territories, — a measure which aroused the indignation of the free States, and created great excitement; and by the troubles in Kansas, caused by the efforts to make of it a slave State, contrary to the wishes of a large majority of its citizens. In Aug. 1854, Mr. Pierce directed the American ambassadors, Buchanan, Mason, and Soule, to confer on the best means of acquiring Cuba. They met at Ostend, and issued the "Ostend Manifesto," the purport of which was, that, if Spain would not sell Cuba, the Americans would take it by force. He used his official influence to promote the designs of the proslavery party in Kansas. Jan. 24, 1856, he sent a message to Congress, representing the formation of a free-State govt. in Kansas as an act of rebellion. During the Rebellion, he was strongly in sympathy with the secessionists. As a lawyer he acquired an extensive practice. — See his Life by Nathaniel Hawthorne, 1852.

Pierce, George Edmond, D.D. (M.B. Coll. 1838), pres. W. R. S. Coll. 1834-35, b. Southbury, Ct., 9 Sept. 1794; d. Hudson, O., 27 May, 1871, Y.C. 1-16; And. Theol. Sem. 1821. Principal Fairbanks Acad. 1816-18; orl. pastor Cong. Church, Harwinton, 10 July, 1822.

Pierce, George Foster, D.D., bishop of the M. E. Church, b. Greene Co., Ga., Feb. 3, 1811. Franklin Coll. 1829. He began to study law, but was adm. into the Ga. conf. at Merion in 1830. With the exception of the year 1834, during which he was stationed in Charleston, S.C., he labored in the regular ministry in various parts of Ga. until 1838-9, when he became first pres. of the Ga. female (now Wesleyan) college in Macon. While here he edited, jointly with P. P. Madison, the Southern Female Lib. Pres. of Emory Coll., Ga., from 1848 until his election to the episcopacy in 1854. Author of "Incidents of Western Travel," ed. by F. O. Summers, D.D., 12mo, 1857.

Pierce, John, dep. paymaster-gen. Revol. army of N. Y. City, 1788.

Pierce, John, D.D. (H.U. 1822), Cong. member for 6 Dorchester, Ms., July 14, 1777; d. Brookline, Ms., Aug. 24, 1849. H.U. 1793.

Tutor, 1796. The son of a shoemaker. He spent two years in teaching, and then studied theology; and Mar. 15, 1797, was ord. over the First Cong. Church, Brookline, Ms., of which he was sole pastor for half a century. Member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences, and of the Ms. Hist. Soc. For several years he was pres. of the Ms. Bible Soc. In all matters appertaining to family and literary statistics he was a prodigy. He had 18 quarto vols. of 600 pages each, of his own MS., containing memoirs and memorabilia. He pub. "Half-century Discourse at Brookline," Mar. 1847; "Sketch of Brookline," in "Ms. Hist. Colls.," 2d ser., vol. ii.

Pierce, William, statesman, of Ga., aide-de-camp to Gen. Greene in the Revol. war, and presented with a sword by Congress; delegate to the 6th Congress from Ga. 1786-7, and member of the conv. which framed the U.S. Constitution. He pub. his impressions of the members of that body in a Savannah paper long afterward.

Pierpont, John, clergyman and poet, b. Litchfield, Ct., Apr. 6, 1785; d. Medford, Aug. 27, 1866. Y.C. 1804. A lineal descendant of Rev. James Pierpont, the second minister of New Haven (1683-1714), and supposed to be allied to the noble English family of the name which held the earldom of Kingston. He was an assist. in Dr. Backus's school at Bethlehem; went to S.C. in the autumn of 1805, and passed nearly 4 years as a private tutor in the family of Col. William Alston. After his return in 1809 he studied law at the school in Litchfield; was adm. to the Essex Co. bar in 1812, and practised for a time in Newburyport. His health demanding more active employment, he relinquished his profession, and engaged in mercantile life, first in Boston, and afterwards at Baltimore, but quitted it in 1816, and pub. his "Airs of Palestine," which soon reached a third edition. He next studied theology, and Apr. 14, 1819, was ord. pastor of the Hollis-st. Church, Boston. In 1835 he visited Europe. On his return he resumed his pastoral charge in Boston, where he continued until May 10, 1845. The freedom with which he expressed his opinions, especially in regard to the temperance cause, had given rise to some feeling before his departure for Europe; and in 1838 there sprung up between himself and a portion of his parish a controversy which lasted 7 years, when, after triumphantly sustaining himself against the charges of his adversaries, he requested a dismissal. He then became for 4 years pastor of a Unitarian Church in Troy, N.Y.; Aug. 1, 1849, was settled over a church in Medford; resigned Apr. 6, 1856. A zealous reformer, he powerfully advocated the temperance and anti-slavery movements; was the candidate of the Liberty party for gov. and, in 1859, of the Free-soil party for Congress. After the Revolution broke out, though 76 years of age, he went into the field as chaplain in a Ms. regt., but was soon employed in the treasury dept. at Washington. In addition to his poetical works, pub. at Boston, 12mo, 1849, he pub. several popular school readers, and some 20 occasional sermons and discourses.

Pierpont, Edwards, jurist and lawyer,

b. North Haven, Ct., 1817. Y.C. 1837; New-Haven Law School. A descendant of James, one of the founders of Yale Coll. In 1840-5 he practised law in Columbus, O., since practising in N.Y. City, where he has for many years been eminent at the bar. Judge N.Y. Sup. Court 1857-60; member Const. Conv. of 1867; U.S. atty. for the south dist. of N.Y. 1869-July, 1870. Formerly a Democrat, in 1861 he became a Republican; zealously supported the admin. of Mr. Lincoln and his re-election in 1864, and aided in the election of Pres. Grant.

Pierson, ABRAHAM, first pres. of Y.C. 1701-7; b. Lynn, Ms., 1641; d. Mar. 5, 1707. If U. 1668. "Abraham his father, first minister of Southampton, L.I. (b. Yorkshire, Eng., 1608, d. Aug. 9, 1678), was one of the first settlers of Newark in 1667, and was the first minister of that town. Preached to the Indians of Long Island in their own language, and contrib. "Some Helps for the Indians in N. Haven Colony to a Further Account of the Progress of the Gospel in N.J.," 1659. His son was coll. colleague with him at Newark, N.J., March 4, 1672, and was minister of Killingworth, Ct., from 1691 till his death. — Synonym.

Pierson, HAMILTON WILCOX, D.D., b. Bergen, N.Y. Un. Coll.; Union Theol. Sem. Pres. of Col. Coll., Ky., 1858. Author of "Jefferson at Monticello," 8vo, 1862. Edited Amer. Missionary Memorial, 8vo, 1853; and contrib. to periodicals. — Album.

Pierson, ISAAH, D.D., physician of Orange, N.J., 40 years, b. Aug. 15, 1770; d. Sept. 22, 1833. N.J. Coll. 1789. Fellow of the Coll. of Physicians and Surgeons, N.Y. M.C. 1827-31.

Pigot, SIR ROBERT, a British gen., b. 1720; d. Aug. 1, 1796. Maj. 10th Foot, May 5, 1758; lieutenant-col. Feb. 1761; col. 38th Foot, June, 1776; major-gen. Aug. 1777; lieutenant-gen. Nov. 1782. At the battle of Bunker's Hill he com. the left wing; and to his activity, bravery, and firmness was due the success of that day was owing. Slightly disabled he distinguished himself, that he received as a reward for this service the colonelcy of the 38th Foot. He had a com. in R.I. in Aug. 1778, and superseded Prescott at Newport soon after.

Pike, ALBERT, poet, b. Boston, Dec. 29, 1809. If U. 1859. Son of a journeyman shoemaker. When he was 4 years old, the family moved to Newburyport. He entered If U. at the age of 16, but, unable to support himself there, taught at Newburyport and Fairhaven; in the spring of 1831 he went to St. Louis, travelling much of the way on foot; joined an exped. to N. Mexico; and for a year was either a merchant's clerk or a peddler in Spanish Tex.; in Sept. 1832 he accomp. some trappers, from whom he separated with 4 others; travelled 500 miles on foot, and reached Fort Smith, Ark., "without a rag of clothing, a dollar in money, or knowing a person in the territory." He contrib. poetry to the Ill. Advocate; became a partner in the concern, which he bought out in 1834, and continued to edit the paper until 1836, when he was adm. to the bar, to which he subsequently devoted himself. He pub. "Prose Sketches and Poems," Boston, 1830-1834. The "Hymns to the Gods" were composed while he was teaching in Fairhaven. Some of his fugitive poems have appeared in periodicals; and in 1854 a coll. of his poems, entitled "Nugae," was printed at Phila., but never pub. He was prominent as a State-rights man; served with distinction as a vol. in the Mexican war; and com. a company of Ark. cavalry. He organized a band of Cherokee Indians, whom he led, in the early part of the Rebellion, and took part with them in the battle of Pea Ridge, sharing in the Confed. defeat. He edited the Memphis Appeal in 1867-8; "Reports of the Sup. Ct. of Ark.," 5 vols. 8vo, 1840-5; "The Arkansas Form-Book," 8vo, 1845; "Statutes, &c., of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite," 1859.

Pike, MRS. FRANCES WEST (AHLERTON), b. Prospect, Me., 1819; wife of Rev. Richard Pike. Author of "Step by Step," 1857; "Here and Hereafter," 1858; "Katherine Morris, an Autobiography," 1858. Contrib. to the Monthly Religious Mag. 1855, and to the Child's True Friend 1858. — Album.

Pike, MRS. MARY H. (GREENE), b. Eastport, Me., 1827. Author of "Ida May," 1854; "Caste," 1856; "Agnes," 1858; "Bond and Free," 1858; "Entanglements," 2 vols. 1863; "Cumworth House," 3 vols. 1864; "The Cypresses," 1867; "My Son's Wife," 1868. Contrib. to Godwin's Harper's, and Athletic magazines. Wife of F. A. Pike of Calais, Me., 1861-9.

Pike, NICHOLAS, author of a popular treatise on Arithmetic, pub. in 8vo, 1788, b. Somersworth, N.H., Oct. 6, 1743; d. Newburyport, Ms., Dec. 9, 1819. If U. 1766. He was the son of Rev. James, and a descendant of John of Newbury, 1635, and was a justice of the peace for Essex County.

Pike, ZEBULON MONTGOMERY, brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. Lambert, N. J., 5 Jan. 1779; killed at York, near Toronto, U.C., 27 Apr. 1813. Zebulon his father (b. N.J. 1751, d. Lawrenceburg, Ind., 27 July, 1831) was a capt. Revol. army; also in St. Clair's defeat in 1791; and was brev. lieutenant-col. U.S.A. 10 July, 1812. The son was app. a cadet in the regt. of his father 3 Mar. 1799; 1st lieutenant in Nov.; and was made capt. in Aug. 1806. Skilled in mathematics and in the languages, he was app. after the purchase of La., to conduct an exped. to trace the Mj. to its head; leaving St. Louis 9 Aug. 1805, he performed this service satisfactorily, returning after 8 months and 20 days of exploration, and exposure to constant hardship. In 1806-7 he was engaged in geog. explorations of La., during which, being found on Spanish territory, he with his party was taken to Santa Fé, and after a long examination, and the seizure of his papers, was escorted home, arriving at Natchitoches 1 July, 1807. In 1810 he pub. a narrative of his expeditions, with valuable maps and charts. Receiving the thanks of gov., he was made maj. 6th Inf. 3 May, 1808; lieutenant, 4th Inf. 31 Dec. 1809; dep. quarterm.-gen. 3 Apr. 1812; col. 15th Inf. 3 July, 1812; brig.-gen. 12 Mar. 1813. Early in 1813 he was assigned to the principal army as adj. and ins-p.-gen., and was selected to com. an exped. against York, the capital of Upper Canada. Landing under a heavy fire, he charged the enemy in person, and put them to flight, carried one battery by assault, and was moving to the attack of the main works, when the explosion of the British magazine mortally wounded him, speedily causing his death.

Pillmore, JOSEPH, D.D., b. Tadmouth, Yorkshire, Eng., ab. 1734; d. Phila. July 24, 1825. Came to the U.S. a Meth. preacher in 1769. Ord. Pr. Ep. Ch. 1785; assist. rector St. Paul's 1789-94; of Christ Ch., New York, 1794-1804; of St. Paul's, Phila., from 1804 to his d. Author of "Narrative of Labors in South Wales," 1825. His MS., describing his travels and labors in the different colonies, is in the possession of John Campbell of Phila. (1868). — 1790.

Pillow, GEN. GEORGE JOHNSON, lawyer and politician, b. Williamson Co., Tenn., June 8, 1806. U. of Nashville, 1827. Second son of Colcock, and grandson of John Pillow, a soldier of the Revol., who in 1783 settled in the present city of Nashville. His five sons were all disting. for activity and intrepidity in conflicts with the Indians. He studied law; practised in Columbia, Tenn., in 1830, and in the course of 10 years ranked with the first lawyers of his State. He contrib. materially in 1844 to the nomination and election of Mr. Polk to the presidency, who, July 13, 1846, made him a brig.-gen. Proceeding at once to Mexico with his brigade of Tenn. vols., after a severe illness at Camargo he joined Scott before Vera Cruz; had a conspicuous share in the operations which resulted in the fall of that important place; and was one of the commiss. to negotiate terms of capitulation. At Cerro Gordo he led the attack on the enemy's right, and was wounded; made maj.-gen. Apr. 13, 1847; took part in the subsequent operations upon the city of Mexico, being conspicuous in the battles of Contreras and Churubusco; and at the storming of Chapultepec was severely wounded. He opposed the convention at Tacubaya, and incurred the displeasure of Gen. Scott, whose pointed and offensive remarks constrained the former to call a court of inquiry, where every charge was met and disproved, and his fame cleared of any reproach. Retiring to private life, he devoted himself to the management of his large estate. In 1850 he was a member of the Nashville Southern Convention, where he delivered a speech against the extreme ground taken by ultra Southern men. In April, 1861, he offered to raise a large force in Tenn. in aid of the secession cause, and was a maj.-gen. in the Confederate Army. He escaped from Fort Donelson previous to its surrender.

Pinckney, CHARLES, LL.D. (N.J. Coll. 1787), statesman, b. Charleston, S.C. 1758; d. there Oct. 29, 1844. Grandson of Wm., commiss. gen. of S.C. (1704-65). He was educated for the bar. At the capture of Charleston he was made prisoner, and sent to St. Augustine; member of the legisl. at 1st of the Old Congress in 1784-7, member of the conv. which formed the U.S. Const. in 1787; pres. of the S.C. Const. Conv. of 1788; gov. of S.C. in 1799-92, 1796-8, and 1806-8; U.S. senator 1798-1801; a frequent and able speaker on the Republican side in that body; an active promoter of Jefferson's election to the presidency in 1800; minister to Spain in 1802-5, and negotiated a release from that power of all right and title to the terr. purchased by the U.S. from France; was subsequently, at several times, in the State legisl.; and was an M.C. in 1819-21, and an opponent of the Mo. Compromise.

Pinckney, CHARLES COTLESWORTH, LL.D. (H.U. 1803), Revol. soldier and statesman, b. Charleston, S.C., 25 Feb. 1746; d. there 16 Aug. 1825. Son of Chief Justice Charles. Educated at Westminster and Oxford, Eng.; read law at the Temple, Lond.; and passed 9 months in the Roy. Milit. Acad. at Caen, France; returning in 1769, he established himself in the practice of law. Was a member of the first Prov. Congress of S.C. in June, 1775; was made a capt., and soon after col. 1st S.C. regt.; after the successful defence of Fort Moultrie, he joined the Northern army, and was an aide to Washington at Brandywine and Germantown; returning south in the spring of 1778, he took part in the unsuccessful exped. to Fla. In Jan. 1779 he presided over the senate of S.C. He displayed great resolution and intrepidity in the rapid march which saved Charleston from Gen. Prevost, and in the subsequent invasion of Ga. and the assault on the lines of Savannah. In the attack on Charleston, in April, 1780, he was in favor of holding out to the last extremity; and, on its surrender in May, became a prisoner, and suffered a rigorous and cruel confinement. Exchanged in Feb. 1782, made brig.-gen. 3 Nov. 1783. He resumed practice after the war. Was a member of the conv. that framed the U.S. Const., and declined successively the places of judge of the U.S. Supreme Court, sec. of war, and sec. of state, tendered him by Washington; maj.-gen. of the State militia; app. in July, 1796, min. to Fr., to France; the hostility of the French Directory caused the rejection of our conciliatory propositions, and the order to Pinckney to quit the French territory. He withdrew to Amsterdam in Feb. 1797. When war became inevitable, the whole country resounded with his celebrated sentiment, "Millions for defence, but not a cent for tribute." Returning home, he was made by Washington a maj.-gen. Many years an active politician, and was candidate for the vice-presidency in 1800. As a lawyer he was disting. for accurate learning and strength of reasoning.

Pinckney, HENRY LAURENS, politician, son of Gov. Charles, b. Charleston, Sept. 24, 1794; d. there Feb. 3, 1863. S.C. Col. 1812. He studied law with his bro.-in-law Robert Y. Hayne; was adm. to the bar, member of the legisl. in 1816-32, mayor of Charleston in 1832 and 1839-40; M.C. in 1833-7; and subsequently collector of the port, and a member of the legisl. Editor of the Charleston Mercury in 1819, and a prominent exponent of the State-rights party. Author of Memoirs of Jonathan Moxey, Robert Y. Hayne, and Andrew Jackson.

Pinckney, GRIS. THOMAS, a Revol. officer, and gov. of S.C. 1787-9, b. Charleston, Oct. 23, 1750; d. there Nov. 2, 1828. With his bro. Charles C., he was educated in Eng.;

studied law in the Temple; and was adm. to the bar in 1770. Joining the Cont. army, he rose to the rank of major; served as aide to Lincoln; and then with Count D'Estaing at the disastrous siege of Savannah in Oct. 1779. He disting. himself in the battle at Stono Ferry, and was aide to Gen. Gates in the battle near Camden, Aug. 1780, where he was desperately wounded and made prisoner. During Washington's administration he was offered the place of judge of the U.S. Court, which he declined; minister to Great Britain in 1792-4. In Nov. 1794 he was employed on a mission to the court of Spain, where he made the treaty of St. Ildefonso, securing to the U.S. the free navigation of the Mpi.; in Dec. 1796 he returned to Charleston; and was M.C. in 1799-1801. Mar. 27, 1812, President Madison app. him to the command of the 6th milit. dist. His last active field-service was at the battle of Horseshoe Bend, where the military power of the Creeks was finally broken. He m. the dau. of Rebecca Motte.

Pino, ROBERT EDWIN, portrait-painter, b. Eng. 1742; d. Phila. Oct. 1788. Son of John, an Eng. designer and engraver. In 1760 and 1762 he drew the prizes for the Society for the Encouragement of the Arts for the best hist. designs. He painted portraits with some reputation; and in 1782 exhibited a series of pictures of scenes from Shakspeare. He afterward came to America, and exhibited in Phila., where he was befriended by the Hopkinson family, the earliest east of the Venus de Medici seen here. His best-known pictures are Washington (1785), Gen. Gates, Baron Steuben, Charles Carroll, Gov. Colden, and Dr. Ogdenville, and "Canute on the Seashore."

Pinkney, EDWARD COVTE, poet, son of Wm., b. Lond. Oct. 1802; d. Baltimore, Apr. 11, 1828. Educated at St. Mary's Coll., Balt. He was in the naval service in 1816-24; then practised law without success; next failed in an attemp. to procure a commission in the naval service of Mexico; and in 1827 assumed for a brief period the control of a polit. journal, the Minuteman. Author of "Redolph and other Poems," 1825. An edition of his poems appeared in 1844 with a brief introd. by N. P. Willis, in the series of the Mirror Library, entitled "The Roccoo." A biog. notice by Wm. Leggett is in N. Y. Mirror, 1827.

Pinkney, WILLIAM, LL.D., lawyer, orator, and statesman, b. Annapolis, Md., March 17, 1764; d. Feb. 25, 1822. His father, a native of the north of Eng., was a loyalist; while his son manifested a decided attachment to the cause of his country. He quitted the study of medicine for the law, and in 1783 entered the office of Judge Chase. Adm. to practice in 1786, he soon attracted attention by his oratory; delegate to the State conv. to ratify the Federal Const. in 1788, and also to the Md. h. of delegates. He was m. in 1789 to the sister of Com. Rodgers; and in 1790 was elected a member of Congress; but his seat was contested on the ground of his not residing in the district for which he was chosen. After making a powerful argument, and obtaining a favorable decision, he declined the honor in consequence of the state of his private affairs. Member of the exec. council of Md. 1792-5, and again in 1795 a delegate to the Legist. from Anne Arundel Co. While he had thus attained a disting. political rank, he rose to the head of the bar. In 1796-1804 he was one of the commiss. in Lond. under Jay's treaty, and at the same time recovered for Md. a claim on the Bank of Eng. for $800,000. Atty-gen. of Md. 1805. In 1806 he was made minister extraordinary to treat with the British govt. in conjunction with Monroe, and, after his return, was resident min. in 1807-11; in Sept. 1811, he was chosen to the State senate from Balt.; was U.S. atty-gen. Dec. 1811-14. He com. a vol. battalion at the battle of Bladensburg, and was severely wounded; M.C. in 1815-16, and made an able speech on the "treaty-making power." He accepted in Mar. 1816 an app. as special minister to Naples, whence he repaired to the Russian capital as resid. minister, returning home in 1818; U.S. senator from 1820 to his d.; and made an elaborate and powerful speech against the clause in the bill for the admission of Mo. into the Union, which prohibited the introduction of slaves into the new State. His death was occasioned by over-exertion in the Supreme Court in 1822 in a cause in which he took great interest, at a time when the state of his health unfitted him for application to study and business.—See Life by Henry Wharton, N.Y., 1825; and by his Nephew, Rev. Wm. Pinkney, D.D., Soc., 1853.

Pintard, JOHN, LL.D., b. N.Y. City, 1759; d. there June 21, 1844. N.J. Coll. 1776. He studied but never practised law; during the Revol. was a soldier, and 3 years clerk to his uncle, Lewis Pintard, commissary for Amer. prisoners in New York. Edited the N.Y. Daily Advertiser a short time, then engaged in commerce; was long city inspector; and many years sec. of the Old Mutual Ins. Co. Founder of the N.Y. Hist. Society; a zealous promoter of other useful institutions, an intelligent antiquary, and author of a number of papers in periodicals; among them is an account of N. Orleans in the Mod. Repository. Vice-pres. Amer. Bible Society.

Pinzon (pôn-thôn), VINCENZIO YANIZ, command. "The Nina" in the voyage of Columbus (1492). In 1499 he led an exped. and explored a part of the coast of Brazil. Living in 1524. His elder bro., MARTIN AROZZO, who com. "The Pinta" in the first voyage of Columbus, d. 1493.

Pisc, CHARLES CONSTANTINE, D.D., R.C. clergyman and author, b. Annapolis, Md., 1802; d. Brooklyn, May 26, 1865. G. org. Coll. His father was an Italian, his mother a native of Phila. He studied theology at Rome 2 years; on his return taught rhetoric and poetry in the sem. of Mount St. Mary's, Emmettburg, and was ord. priest in 1825. After six months' labor at Frohriektown, Md., he was called to Baltimore, where he wrote his "History of the Church to the Reformation," 5 vols. 1830; "Father Rowland," a reply in answer to "Father Clement"; and the "Pictures of Religion, and other Poems." His health failing, he again visited Rome, where he received the degree of D.D., and the honorary title of Knight of the Roman Empire. He was afterwards associate pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Washington, and, through the influence of Henry Clay, was appointed chaplain of the U.S. senate. Removing to New York, he was settled over several churches successively. In 1840 he resigned his position at St. Peter's Church, and purchased the Emmanuel Church, Brooklyn. He was eminent both as a lecturer and preacher. In 1858 he delivered a Latin oration at Emorysburg on the 50th anniversary of the foundation of Mount St. Mary's College. He published a poem entitled "The Acts of the Apostles;" "Zenosius, or the Pilgrim Convoy;" "Indian Cottage;" "Althea, or Letters on the Truth of the Catholic Doctrine;" "Letters to Adair;" "Christianity and the Church;" "Lives of St. Ignatius and his First Companions;" "Notes on a Protestant Calvinism," &c.; the "Catholic Bride;" and "Horae Vagalondae," satirizing Irish scenery and manners.

PISON (piss-on), WILLIAM, a Dutch naturalist and physician, accomp. the Prince of Nassau to Brazil in 1637. The researches of Pison, and his companion Maruggrav, entitled "Natural History of Brazil," were pub. in 1618.

Pitcairn (pi-kairn), JAMES, a British officer, killed at Bank's Hill, June 17, 1775. He was of Fife-shire, Scotland. Capt. of marines Jan. 10, 1765; major in April, 1771. He led the advance in the expedition to Lexington on the morning of Apr. 19, 1775, and, surrounding the militia company there, ordered it to disperse. The conflict there ensued began the armed struggle that ended in American independence. The aim was charged with having given the order to fire on the Americans, but insisted to his dying day that the colonists fired first. He behaved with great gallantry at Bank's Hill, where he was shot dead while entering the retreat. His eldest son David, an eminent physician of London, d. in 1809. In the disputes between the soldiers and the people of Boston, he was the only British officer who dealt fairly with the latter.

Pitchee, THOMAS G., brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. Ind. West Point, 1845. Served in 8th Inf. through the Mexican war, and brev. 1st Lieut. 20 Aug. 1847, for Contreras and Churubusco; adj. 8th Inf. 1849-51; capt. 19 Oct. 1855; brig.-gen. vols. 29 Nov. 1862; maj. 16th Inf. 19 Sept. 1863; col. 44th Inf. 28 July, 1864; 1st Lieut. 15 Dec. 1870. He served in the Va. campaign June-Aug. 1862, and brev. maj. 9 Aug. 1862 for Cedar Mountain, where he was severely wounded, and brev. brig.-gen. 13 Mar. 1863 for Galat and military service during the Rebellion. Superint. U.S. Milit. Acad. Sta. 28 Aug. 1866. — See ibid.

Pitkin, FARMONY, LL.D. (Y.C. 1829), author, b. Farmington, Ct., 21 Jan. 1766; d. N. Haven, Dec. 18, 1847. Y.C. 1785. Son of Thomas, minister of Farmington in 1752-85. A lawyer by profession, member, and 5 times speaker, of the assembly; M.C. 1806-20; and judge in the State legislature. He was a Federalist, and was in Congress with good authority upon the political history of the country. Author of "Statistical View of the Commerce of the U.S.," 8vo, 1816, and revised in 1835;

"Political and Civil History of the U.S.," 1763-97, 2 vols. 8vo, 1828. He left a continuation of this work to the close of his own political life, in MS.

Pitkin, WILLIAM, gov. of Ct. 1766-9; d. East Hartford, Oct. 1, 1769. Son of WILLIAM, chief justice of Ct. (app. 1713), b. Middlesex, Eng., 1664; d. Hartford, Ct., Apr. 5, 1723. Member of the council from 1734; app. a judge of the Supreme Court in 1741, and lieutenant-gov. and chief justice in 1754-66. In 1754 he was one of the delegates to the conv. at Albany, and one of the committee app. to prepare the plan of union which was adopted on that occasion.

Pizarro, FRANCISCO, conqueror of Peru, b. Truxillo, Spain, ab. 1474; d. Lima, Jan. 26, 1541. Though the illegitimate son of a gentleman by a peasant-girl, and obliged to tend hogs for a support, he possessed an undaunted courage, and, with other adventurers, came to America. In 1510 he was in the expedition to Urala and Orjola; was with Balboa when he discovered the Pacific Ocean; was afterward in several exped. under Gov. Pedro Arias; and settled as a planter at Panama. In 1524 he joined with Almagro and Luynes in a search for hitherto unvisited countries; explored a part of the Pacific coast, and met with extreme hardships. In a second attempt, in 1526, he explored a part of Peru, and entered the wealthy city of Tumbuz. He went to Spain in 1528, and obtained from Charles V. authority to conquer the great South-American empire, but was himself obliged to find the means. After incredible hardships, and one arising from perseverance, he in 1531, with 177 men, penetrated into Peru, and perfectly seized the monarch Atahualpa, who had come to the Spanish camp for a friendly interview, and whom he cruelly and indignantly put to death. With this insignificant force, Pizarro, entering Cuzco, the capital, in Nov. 1532, overthrew the dominion of the Peruvian Incas, which extended over 35 degrees of latitude, over many millions of a civilized and wealthy population, and which was sustained by large armies of well-disciplined veteran soldiers. In 1538 Pizarro and Almagro quarrelled for the superiority; and the latter was defeated, and put to death; but his son and friends, uniting against the victor, assassinated him in his palace. He founded the city of Lima. His descendants, bearing the title of Marqueses of the Conquest, are still to be found at Truxillo in Spain. GOYAZALO and HERNANDEZ, his bro., assisted him in his conquest. The former rebelled against the successor of his bro. Francis, and was executed at Cuzco in 1548. Hernando in 1540 returned to Spain, but through the influence of the friends of Almagro, whom he had put to death, was for 20 years imprisoned in the fortress of Medina del Campo, and d. ab. 1565. Pizarro, a relative, wrote an "Account of the Discovery and Conquest of Peru," pub. ab. 1817.

Placide, HENRY, comedian, b. Charleston, S.C., 8 p.m. 1799; d. Babylon, L.I., Jan. 23, 1870. Son of Alexander, a dancer and pantomimist, who d. 1812. He was for more than 20 years a favorite in New York, where he was manager of the old Park Theatre in its palmy days. His first appearance was at Charleston when he was 9 years old. App. at the Park Theatre, N.Y., Sept. 2, 1823, as Zekki Housspan in "The He-in-at-Law." In 1831 he appeared at the Haymarket, London, as Sir Peter Teazle. He was the original Sir Harcourt Courty in this country. He played successful engagements in the principal cities of the U.S. and Eng., and was a prime favorite and long a resident of New Orleans. He took leave of the stage at the Winter Garden, New York, in 1865, in the part of Corporal Carton. He, Thomas his bro. is a comic actor of merit.

Plater, GEORGE, judge of the Md. Court of Appeals; member of the Old Congress 177-81; jr. s. of the conv. which in 1788 ratified the U.S. Const., and gov. of Md. in 1792; d. Annapolis, Feb. 10, 1792, a. 56. W. and M. Co. l. 1753.

Platt, JONAS, LL.D. (N. J. Co. l. 1824), judge N. Y. Sup. Court, and M. C. 1799-1801; d. Peru, N. Y., 1834.

Pleasanton, ALFRED, brev. maj.-gen. U. S. A., b. Washington, D. C., Jan. 1-24, West Point 1844. Entering the 1st Dragoons, he joined the 2d in 1845; accomp. the army to the Rio Grande, and was brev. 1st lieut. for a gallant charge on the enemy's batteries at Resaca de la Palma. He afterward served in Cal., New Mexico, and Texas; was acting assist. adj.-gen. to Gen. Harney during the Sioux exped.; adj.-gen. in 1856-60 in his campaign in Florida, and his operations in Kansas, Oregon, and Washington Territories; made capt. March 3, 1855; acting col. 2d cav. in the 1st of 1861; maj. Feb. 15, 1862; brig.-gen. vols. July 16, 1862; maj.-gen. vols. 22 June, 1863. He served through the peninsula campaign; took com. of Gen. Stoneman's cavalry brigade; and when Gen. McClellan crossed the Potomac in Oct., he led the vanguard. He was in the battle of Fredericksburg; and at Chancellorsville he saved the army after the rout of the 11th corps; he com. the cavalry at Gettysburg, and in Mo. during the Price raid, in which he did efficient service, finally routing Price at the Marauder Cynnes. Resigned Jan. 1868. Brev. lieut.-col. U. S. A. for Antietam, col. for Gettysburg, brig.-gen. for campaign against Price in Mo., and maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865, for gallant and meritorious services during the Rebellion. He afterward embarked in manuf. and mining enterprises; was made collector of the 4th Dist. in 1869; and was U. S. revenue col. Dec. 1870 to 8 Aug. 1871.

Pleasants, JAMES, gov. of Va. 1822-5, b. 1769, d. Goochland Co. Nov. 9, 1836. Delegate to the Assembly in 1796; clerk 1803-10; M. C. in 1811-19; U. S. senator in 1819-22; and in 1829-39 a member of the State Const. Conv. Twice app. to the bench he declined from a distrust of his qualifications. His son JOHN HAYMOND d. Richmond, Va., Feb. 27, 1846, from wounds in a duel with Thos. Ritchie, jun. He was a man of disting. talents, founder of the Leitchwood Weekly, and its chief editor 22 years.

Plessis, JOSEPH OCTAVE, R. C. bishop of Quebec, b. Montreal, March 3, 1762; d. Quebec, Dec. 4, 1825. Son of a blacksmith. Ord. priest, March 11, 1786; was employed as prof. of humanity at the Coll. of St. Raphael, and as secretary to the bishop of Quebec, and curate of the capital; Sept. 6, 1797, he was made coadjutor to Bishop Demault; Apr. 26, 1800, he was app. bishop of Canotte, in Palestine, with the accession to the seat at Quebec, of which he became incumbent, Jan. 17, 1806. He founded the coll. at Nicolet, as well as primary schools at Quebec. He was called by the crown to the legisl. council in 1818, and proved himself a loyal and patriotic senator. In 1799 he pronounced an oration at Quebec on the occasion of the naval battle of Aboukir. — See Verland's Biog., Notices of Quebec, 8vo, 1864.

Plumer, WILLIAM, lawyer and politician of N. H., b. Newburyport, Ms., June 25, 1750; d. Epping, N. H., Dec. 22, 1850. A descendant of Francis of Boston in 1634, who d. in Newbury. With his father's family he removed to Epping in 1768. Possessing a vigorous, inquisitive mind, as well as great industry, he became one of the best scholars in the Granite State. Adm. to the bar in 1787; acquired an extensive practice; was a learned and shrewd practitioner; and for many years was solicitor for Rockingham Co. During 8 years, two of which he was speaker, he was a rep. to the State legisl.; was subsequently in the State senate, of which body he was twice pres.; in 1792 he was a delegate to the State Const. Conv., and was active in embodying in that instrument many of the distinctive features still pertaining to it; U. S. senator in 1802-7, gov. of N. H. 1812-13 and 1816-19. During the last 30 years of his life he gave himself up to literary pursuits, being a considerable contributor to the periodical press, under the signature of "Cincinnati." Author of "Appeal to the Old Whigs," 1805; "Address to the Clergy," 1814, &c. His Life was written by his son, and edited by Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., 8vo, 1856. His son WILLIAM (b. Oct. 9, 1789, d. Epping, 18 Sept. 1854, H. U. 1809) was frequently in the house and senate of N. H.; M. C. 1819-25, member of the State Const. Conv. of 1850. Pub. "Youth, or Scenes from the Past, and other Poems," 12mo, 1849; "Manhood," &c., a series of poems, Boston, 12mo, 1843.

Plumer, WILLIAM SWAN, D. D., LL. D. b. Darlington, Pa., 1802, Wash. Coll., Va., 1825; Princeton Theol. Sem. Ord. in the Presb. church in 1827; preached in various places in Va., N. C., Md., and Pa. Prof. of theol. in the Altech. Sem. in 1854-62, and in the Theol. Sem., Columbia, S. C., since 1871. Author of "Thoughts on Relig. Education," &c., 1836; "Argument against Indecision in Incorp. of Churches," 8vo, 1847; "The Bible, True, and Infallible, Wicked," "Prayer Thoughts for Children," "The Church and her Enemies," 1856; "Rome and her Bible," &c., 1854; "Vital Godliness," 1856; "Jehovah-Jireh," 1865; "Studies in the Book of Psalms," 8vo, 1866; "Rock of our Salvation," 1867; "Words of Truth and Love," &c. — ibid.

Plumley, BENJAMIN RUSH, Newbur-

Pa., 1816. Author of "Rachel Lockwood;" "Kathleen McKinley;" "Lays of the Early Quakers," in the Knickerbocker; and of "Oriental Ballads," "Abd El Hassan," &c., in the Atlantic Monthly and Knickerbocker; and is a contrib. to periodicals. — See above.

Plummer, Gen. Josiah B., b. Bayre, Ms., in 1820; d. Corinth, Mpi., Aug. 9, 1862. West Point, 1841. Entering the 1st Inf. he became 1st lieut. March 15, 1848; capt. May 1, 1852; and maj. 8th Inf. Apr. 25, 1862. He served with distinction in Florida and Mexico; rendered valuable service to Gen. Lyon in the capture of Camp Jackson, Mo., May 10, 1864; com. a battalion of regulars in the battle of Wilson's Creek, Mo., Aug. 10, and was severely wounded; became col. 11th Mo. Vols. 25 Sept. 1861; com. at Cape Girardeau, Mo., and defeated J. E. Thompson at Fredericktown, Mo., Oct. 21, killing 158, and capturing 42 prisoners and one cannon; was made brig. gen. Oct. 22, 1861; participated in the capture of New Madrid and Island No. 10, and served under Gen. Pope in the campaign near Corinth, Mpi., until July, 1862.

Plympton, Josiah, col. U. S. A., b. Sudbury, Ms., March 24, 1787; d. Staten Island, June 5, 1860. App. lieut. 4th Inf. Jan. 3, 1812; capt. June, 1821; maj. 2d Inf. Sept. 22, 1820, lieut. col. 7th Inf. Sept. 9, 1846; col. 1st Inf. June 9, 1853. Disting. on the Northern frontier in the war of 1812-15; com. in attack on Seminole Indians, near Dunn's Lake, Fla., Jan. 25, 1842; com. his regt. through the campaign of Gen. Scott in Mexico; and won honors for gallantry at Cerro Gordo and Contreras.

Pocahontas, the celebrated daughter of the Indian chief Powhatan, b. ab. 1595; d. Gravesend, Eng., March, 1617. She discovered the warm friendship for the colonists of Va., which was remarkably displayed in 1607, when Capt. John Smith was taken prisoner, and about to be put to death. She interposed herself between the uplifted warclub and the intended victim, and prevailed upon her father to spare his life. (Considerable doubt has been thrown upon this romantic story by Mr. Charles Deane; see Preface to his ed. of Smith's "True Relation," and Rev. E. D. Niles's "Hist. of the Va. Comp. of Lond.") She was subsequently a frequent visitor to the settlements, to which she furnished provisions in times of great need. Informed in 1609 of an intended plot to destroy Smith and his party, she ventured alone through the forest at midnight to disclose it to Smith. Ab. the year 1612, when on a visit to Japazaws, chief of the Powhatan, she married Capt. Argall to a copper kettle; and, while a negotiation was pending with her father for her ransom, she was in at Yorktown, Apr. 1613, to Mr. Thomas Rolfe, an Englishman of respectable character, with whom early in 1616 she embarked for Eng., where she was baptized, exchanging her Indian name for that of Rebecca. In London she received a visit from her former friend, Capt. Smith, who, for some unknown purpose, she had been taught to believe was dead. She was introduced to the nobility and gentry by Smith, and was introduced at court by Lady De la War. Mr. Rolfe was app. sec. and recorder gen. of Va. After a short residence in England, as she was ab. to embark from Gravesend, in company with her husband, to visit her native land, she d. at the age of 22, leaving one son, who was educated by his uncle in London, and afterwards became a wealthy and disting. character in Virginia.

Poe, Adam, D.D., a Meth. clergyman, b. Columbiana Co., O., July 21, 1804; d. June 26, 1868. His youth was spent on his father's farm. He became an itinerant in 1826; was adm. to the annual conf. in 1827; was a circuit preacher until 1835; pres. elder of the Wooster dist. 1859-9; was stationed at Mansfield and Delaware, and presided over different districts from 1839 to 1852; a-sist. agent of the Western Book Concern 1852-60; and became principal agent in 1860. Dr. Poe was one of the best-known clergymen of his denomination, took a deep interest in education; and may almost be said to have founded the O. Wesleyan Conference.

Poe, Edgar Allan, poet, b. Baltimore, Jan. 1811; d. there Oct. 7, 1849. His father, who was the son of David Poe, a disting. officer of the Md. line of the Revol. army, was a lawyer, but, marrying an actress, went lim. off upon the stage; and in a few years both d. d., leaving 3 young children entirely destitute. Edgar was adopted by a wealthy citizen of Richmond, John Allan; was 4 or 5 years at a school at Stoke Newington, near London; and was afterwards expelled from the U. of Va. for bad conduct. He set out to join the Greeks in their struggle for indep.; and after a year's stay in Europe returned home, and, by Mr. Allan's influence, received a cadetship at West Point; ignominiously expelled at the end of ten months, he was kindly received by Mr. Allan, who was, however, compelled to turn him out of doors on account of his conduct towards his wife. In 1829 he pub. "Al Arnaud Tamerlane, and minor Poems." Not succeeding at first in the pursuit of literature as a profession, he enlisted as a private soldier, but soon deserted. He next completed successfully for two prizes of $100 each, offered by an editor in Baltimore, J. P. Kennedy the novelist relieved his destitution, and procured him the editorship of the Southern Lit. Messenger at Richmond. While here he m. his cousin Virginia Clemm, with whom, after being dismissed for his excesses by the publisher of the Messenger, he removed to New York in Jan. 1837. Here, in 1838, he pub. "The Narrative of Arthur Gordon Pym;" then edited Purton's Gentleman's Mag. one year at Phila.; edited Graham's Mag. for a year; in 1840 pub. "Fables of the Greek and Arabesque;" and pub. in N. York, in Feb. 1845, the poem of "The Raven," which made him famous. He then edited the Literary Journal; but was so poor, that public appeals for pecuniary aid were made in his behalf by the newspapers. His wife died, and in 1849 he went to Richmond, where he formed an engagement with a lady of considerable fortune; but, before the day app. for their marriage, he d. in Baltimore of dilettantism. Among his prose productions are "The Gold Bug," "The Fall of the House of Usher,"

"The Murders in the Rue Morgue," "The Parloined Letter," "The Conchologist's First Book." His poems are characterized by ingenuity, melody, and taste, though upon gloomy and fantastic topics. His works were edited by R. W. Griswold, 4 vols. 1850. — S. Mrs. Whitman's "Edgar Poe and his Critics," 1860.

Poindexter, GEORGE, lawyer and politician, b. London, Co., Va., 1759; d. Jackson, Mpi., Sept. 5, 1833. Of Huguenot ancestry; left an orphan at an early age. He studied law at Richmond. In 1802 he removed from Milton, Va., where he had practised law for a year or two with success, to Mpi., and was in 1803 made atty.-gen. of the Territory; was its delegate to Congress in 1807-13; M.C. 1817-19; gov. 1819-21; U.S. senator 1831-5; and afterward a commiss. to investigate the Swartwout defalcation. In one of his many personal and political quarrels, he killed in a duel Abijah Hunt, a leading merchant in the Southwest; he was accused of unfairness in this quarrel, out of which grew bitter and prolonged controversies. In 1813-17 he was U.S. dist. judge for Mpi. He made the ablest speech on the conduct of Gen. Jackson, in the house in 1819, and to it Jackson in great measure owed his triumphant acquittal. He deserted his party, however, on the bank question; and became exceedingly obnoxious to Jackson by voting for Clay's resolution censuring the executive. He practised his profession from 1821 to 1831, and removed to Louisville, Ky., in 1835. He pub. "Revised Code of the Laws of Mpi.," Svo, 1824. — See Biog. Sketch, Washington, Svo, 1835.

Poinsett, JOEL ROBERTS, LL.D., statesman, b. Charleston, S.C., Mar. 2, 1779; d. Satesburg, S.C., Dec. 12, 1851. Of Huguenot descent, and the last of his family; he was taken to Eng. by his parents while a child, returning to Charleston in 1788. Educated at Greenfield, Ct., under Pres. Dwight, in 1793; he went abroad for his health in 1796, travelled in Europe and Asia, and studied medicine and military affairs. Returning home in 1809, he was sent by Pres. Madison to S. America to ascertain the condition of the people, and their prospects of success in the revol. just begun. After establishing friendly and commercial relations with Buenos Ayres, he crossed the continent to Chili. The Spanish authorities of Peru having seized and condemned several Amer. vessels, invaded Chili, and seized 10 Amer. whale-ships at Talcahuano, Mr. Poinsett, with a small force of Chilians, retook Talcahuano, and liberated the vessels. Hearing of the declaration of war with Eng., he determined to return home and enter the army; but peace was declared before he arrived. On his return to S.C. he was elected to the State legisl., and secured the construction of the important road over the Saluda Mountain. M.C. 1821-5; and discharged an important mission to Mexico in 1822, during the brief reign of Iturbide; minister to Mexico in 1825-9, and negotiated a treaty of commerce; while there he maintained his personal independence with spirit and courage during scenes of peculiar difficulty in the revol. outbreaks of the times. He returned home to lead the Union party of S.C. in the nullification struggle; and was sec. of war under Van Buren in 1837-41; opposed to nullification, secession, and the Mexican war. He delivered a discourse on the "Promotion of Science," at the first anniversary of the Nat. Institution; pub. "Notes on Mexico, made in 1822," Phila. 1824, and some essays and orations on topics of manuf. and agric. industry. He endowed the Nat. Institution with a valuable museum. Founder of an Acad. of Fine Arts at Charleston. — Nat. Inst. Gall.

Polk, JAMES KNOX, 11th pres. of the U.S., b. Mecklenburg Co., N.C., Nov. 2, 1795; d. Nashville, Tenn., June 15, 1849. U. of N.C. 1818. His family, originally named Pollock, came from Ireland early in the 18th century; and his great-uncle Thomas was disting. in the Revol. His father Samuel, a farmer, and a staunch Jeffersonian, removed to Tenn. in the fall of 1806. Mr. Polk studied in the office of Felix Grundy; was adm. to the Columbia bar in 1820, soon taking a high position; member of the legisl. in 1823-5; M.C. 1825-39, and speaker 1835-9; gov. of Tenn. in 1839-40; nominated to the presidency by the Democ. conv. at Baltimore, May 29, 1844, and elected by 170 votes to 105 for Henry Clay, the prime issue being the annexation of Texas. He was the early friend of Jackson, and strongly supported his measures while in Congress, opposing federal appropriations for internal improvements, a protective tariff, and a national bank; and was one of the most conspicuous adversaries of the administration of John Quincy Adams. In the session of 1833-4, as chairman of the com. of ways and means, he vindicated with much force the conduct of the pres. in ordering the removal of the public deposits from the Bank of the U.S. His administration was one of the most important in our history; it covers the settlement of the Oregon-boundary question, the creation of the dept. of the interior, the admission of Wisconsin as a State, the annexation of Texas and the consequent war with Mexico, and acquisition of New Mexico and California. He labored to organize the national treasury on the principles of the Constitution, and introduced into the govt. many financial and commercial reforms. He was an animated speaker, and a ready debater. — See his Life by John S. Jenkins, 12mo, 1850; Hist. of his Administration, by L. B. Chaso, Svo, 1850.

Polk, LAONDAS, Pr.-Ep. bishop, and gen. C.S.A., 2d cousin of the preceding, b. Raleigh, N.C., 1806; killed at Pine Mountain, Ga., June 14, 1864. West Point, 1827. He served a few months as licent. of att.; then studied theology; was ord. deacon in 1830; was a clergyman from 1831 to 1838, when he became miss. bishop of Ark. and the Indian Terr. south of 36° 30'; and in 1841 became bishop of La., residing in Latouche parish, where he had extensive plantations. Sympathizing strongly with secession, he early urged upon Davis and the Conf. d. authorities the importance of fortifying and holding the strategic points of the Mobile Valley. In July, 1861, he became maj. gen. in the Conted. army. His thorough military training was evinced by his selection of points of defence, such as Forts Henry and Donelson, Columbus, Ky., Island No. 10, and Memphis. Among the did not rank high as a general. Evacuating Columbus, March 4, 1862, he joined Beauregard's army of Corinth, took part in the battle of Stone Mountain (Oct. 3, 1862), served at the battle of Baggett, and fought at various points with Bragg's army of Kentucky, Sept. 1862. He saw his last fighting in the battle of Murfreesborough, and served in the victory at Chickamauga, for which he received one of his battle warrants. As he is assumed in Bragg's official report, the fact that he was a one-armed man, and that he was relieved from his command, and placed in the rear, Sept. 10, 1862, is not true. In 1863, he left the army and in the spring of 1864 he had temporary charge of the Dept. of the Miss. By several dispositions, he prevented the junction of Gen. Smith and Sherman in Southern Miss. and took com. of a corps in Johnston's army, which opposed the advance of Sherman to Atlanta, participating in the chief engagements. He was killed by a cannon-shot while reconnoitering near Marietta, Ga. He had never resigned his diocese, and intended after the war to resume his episcopal functions.

Polk, LUTHERS, politician, b. Sussex Co., D. C., May 29, 1841. Y. C. 1861. He studied law at the Yale Law School, and began practice in St. Louis in 1865. Member of the State Const. Conv. 1845; gov. of Mo. 1857. U. S. senator 1857-63, expelled for disloyalty, 10 Jan. 1862.

Pollard, EDWARD A., editor, Richmond Times, and from 1867 to May, 1869, the South Atlantic, weekly, at Richmond. A treatise, "Black Diamonds," 1859; "Southern History of the War," 3 vols. 8vo, 1864-5; "Eight Months in Prison," etc., 1865; "The Lost Cause," 8vo, 1866; "Lee and his Lieutenants," 8vo, 1871; "The Lost Cause, Re-visited," 1868; "Life of Jefferson Davis," 8vo, 1869; "Val Fontaine," Son of Maj. Richard Spotswood and a Patriot, d. Washington, D. C., Feb. 1874. App. capt. 20th Inf. Apr. 14, 1862; maj. 28th Inf. Dec. 14, 1863. See Gen. Orders to C. O., 1863.

Pollock, JAMES L. D. (N. J. Co.), 1835-9. Pr. N. J. Co., 1831. Pract. sec. law, app. 1832. U. C. Pr., M. C. mem. Pr. 1843-9; gov. 1848-52; gov. of Pa. 1862; M. C., 1861.

Pomeroy, BRITAIN, D. D. (D. C. 1774), b. 1720. B. Hon. C. C. in Dec. 1755; to his seat, Dec. 22, 1784; See St. John, 1794. Y. C. 1760. A two-volume anonymous serm. at Ward Church, 1743. During Wash. he revived the connection with great zeal and power. He was the first to suggest the sacred safety for the colonies, and the first to the laws of C. C. Pr. in 1770. The Revolution was an exception to a man of his age, and one of the few who were not q. — S. —

Pomeroy, JOHN NORRIS, LL. D. (U. of V.), 1811-70. Grad. of the Law School, and prof. of jurisprudence, U. of N. Y., 1830. Rev. sec. N. Y., 1826. Author of "Lectures on Municipal Law," 8vo, 1804; "Treatise on U. S. Constitutional Law," 8vo, 1828; "Court of Claims, Procedure to N. J.," Review, Apr. 1869, and Jan. 1862.

Pomeroy, GEN. SETH, d. Peekskill, N. Y., Feb. 1777. Son of Ltenczcr, and grandson of Deacon Medad Pomeroy, and res. Elm Northampton, Ms.; engaging, while young, in military duties. Capt. in 1744; maj. at the capture of Louisburg in 1745; in 1755 he was lieutenant in Woburn's regt., from whose death he was capt. commander in the battle with Duskau. His regt. was the most prominent, and suffered most, in gaining the victory at Lake George. He was a delegate to the Prov. Cong. in 1774-5; in Oct. 1774 was chosen with Preble and Ward a general officer, and in Feb. 1775 a brig. gen. He fought as a private soldier at Bunker's Hill, and was in the hottest of the fight. His app. as senior brigadier by Congress, a few days after, caused some difficulty in the adjustment of questions of rank, he declined it, and soon after retired to his farm. In the following year, however, when N. J. was overrun by the enemy, he headed the militia of his neighborhood, and marched to the Hudson River. He was an ingenious and skilful mechanic, and maker of arms, and was a zealous and devoted patriot. His son Lemuel, 40 years in the legisl. d. Southampton, Dec. 1819, a. 82.

Ponce de Leon (pon-thá dá león), JUAN, the Spanish discoverer of Florida, d. Cuba, 1512. He distinguished himself in the war with the Moors of Granada; accomp. Columbus on his second exped. in 1498; and became com. of the eastern province of Hispaniola. Sent by Ovando in 1500 to conquer the Island of Porto Rico, he amassed there great wealth, and hearing of an island situated to the north, in which was a miraculous fountain which could restore youth to the aged, he sailed in quest of it to the Bahamas in Mar. 1512. He failed to find the fountain, but landed, S. April, 1512, some miles north of the site of St. Augustine, taking possession in the name of the King of Spain. He cruised there some months, and landed at Cape Florida, sailed among the Tortugas, and returned to Porto Rico, leaving one of his men to continue the search. Returning to Spain in 1513, he received from Ferdinand permission to colonize the "Island of Florida" and the app. of gov.; in 1514 he led an unsuccessful exped. against the Carib Indians. Proceeding in 1521 to take possession of his province, he encountered the determined hostility of the natives, was driven back to his ships mortally wounded, and died soon after his arrival in Cuba.

Pond, ESOCH D. D., author, b. Wrentham, Ms., July 29, 1791. BU 1813. He studied theology with Dr. Emmons, was licensed to preach June, 1814, and pastor of the Cong. church, Auburn, Ms., March 1, 1815, and a missionary in 1828 to become the conductor of the Southwestern Pioneer, a monthly pub. in Boston. He was prof. of theology in the sem. at Bangor from Sept. 1832 to 1856, when he became pres. prof. of eccles. history, and lecturer on pastoral duties. He has pub. views of "Johnston on Baptism," "Monthly Concert Lectures," 1824; "Memor. of Pres. Davies," 1827; of "Susanna Anthony," 1827; of "Count Zinzendorf," 1839; of "John Wickliffe," 1841; "Morning of the Reformation," 1842; "No Fellowship with Romanism," 1843; "The Mather Family" and "The Young Pastor's Guide," 1844; "The World's Salvation," 1845; "Pope and Pagan," a "Review of Swedenborgianism," and "Plato," 1845; "Lair of Increase Mather" and "Sir Wm. Phips," 1847; "The Church," 1848, a review of Bushnell's "God in Christ," 1849; "The Ancient Church," 1851; "Memoir of John Knox," 1856; "The Wreck and Rescue," 1858; "Bangor Lectures on Pastoral Theol.," 1866; "Lectures on Christian Theology," 8vo, 1868; "Prize Essay on Congregationalism," Sept. 1867.

Pont Briand, HENRI DE BELLE, DE, 6th and last bishop of Canada under the French dominion, b. Vannes, France, 1709; d. Montreal, June 8, 1760. Consec. April 9, and arrived at Quebec Aug. 17, 1741. On the approach of the English to Quebec, in 1759, he issued a Pastoral Letter, which is in Smith's "History of Canada."

Ponte, LORENZO DA, an Italian poet, b. Genoa, Venice, Mar. 10, 1749; d. New York, Aug. 17, 1838. He was well educated. Was 2 years prof. of rhetoric in the Sem. of Ponta Gnadio; then removed to Venice, and, in consequence of a satirical sonnet against Count Pisani, was exiled. He went to Vienna, where he became Latin sec. to Joseph II.; wrote for the Italian theatres of Vienna and Prague; and produced the librettos of a number of operas, among them "Don Giovanni" and "Nozzi di Figaro." He passed several years at London as poet and sec. of the Italian Opera, under the management of Taylor. In 1805 he came to America, teaching his native language and literature in New York; in his 80th year he was app. prof. of Italian in Col. College. Besides dramas, he is the author of Memoirs of his own life, 3 vols. N.Y., 1823; of a number of sonnets, and of translations of Byron's "Prophecy of Dante," and of Doddsley's "Evening of Human Life." He possessed a tall and imposing form, and a head of antique beauty, with a profusion of flowing hair. His son LORENZO L., prof. of the Italian lang. and lit. in the U. of N.Y., b. Lond. 1805; d. N.Y. City, 28 Jan. 1840. Author of "History of the Florentine Republic," 2 vols. 8vo, N.Y., 1833; and "Abimelech," a tragedy, 1830.

Pontiac, chief of the Ottawas, b. on the Ottawa River, 1720; d. 1769. He settled near Michilimackinac, and was an ally of the French. In 1746, at the head of a body of Indians, mostly Ottawas, he successfully defended Detroit, then a French possession, against the attacks of some hostile northern tribes. He is supposed to have led the Ottawas at Braddock's defeat in 1755. In 1760, Maj. Rogers, with a detachment, took possession of the western posts under the treaty of Paris. Hating the English, the discontent of the Indians was increased by injudicious usage; and Pontiac, at the close of 1762, sent messengers to the different nations, proposing that in May, 1763, they should rise, massacre the English garrisons, and destroy the frontier settlements. 9 forts were attacked on the same day, and their garrisons either massacred or dispersed. Pontiac himself was to attack Detroit; but, his intention being discovered, he besieged it, and, to obtain food for his warriors, issued promissory notes drawn upon Sarah-bark, and signed with the figure of an otter, which were all redeemed. The siege lasted from May 12 to Oct. 12, when it was raised, and the Indians sued for peace. Pontiac, unsatisfied, endeavored to stir up the Indians on the Miami and in other places, and applied in vain for aid from the French com. at New Orleans. His followers gradually fell off; and in 1766 he formally submitted to the English rule. He was killed by an Illinois Indian at Cahokia, opposite St. Louis, with drink. — See History of the Conspiracy of Pontiac by F. Parkman, 1851.

Pool, WILLIAM FREDERICK, b. Salem, Ms., 1821. Y.C. 1849. Librarian Boston M.C. Lib. 1852-6; and of the Boston Athenaeum 1856-63; now of the Cincinnati Library. Author of "Index to Subjects in Reviews and Periodicals," 8vo, 1848; "Index to Periodical Literature," 8vo, 1853; "The Battle of the Drummeries," 8vo, 1856; "Webster in Orthography," 1857; "The Orthographical Hodgepodge," 1859; "The Mather Papers," 1868, "Portion Mather and Salem Witchcraft" repr. from N.A. Review, 1869. — Contrib. to N.A. Review, &c.

Poor, CHARLES H., rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Cambridge, Ms., June 9, 1808. Midshipm. Mar. 1, 1823; lieut. Dec. 31, 1833; com. Sept. 14, 1855; capt. 1 July, 1862; commo. Jan. 2, 1863; rear-adm. Sept. 20, 1868; retired 9 June, 1870. He com. exped. of sailors and marines, to re-entrench Fort Pickens in 1864; frigate "Roanoke," N. Atlantic block. squad., 1861-2; com. "The Saratoga," Pacific squad., 1863-5; com. the N. Atl. squad. Aug. 19, 1869.

Poor, DANIEL, D.D., missionary to India, b. Danvers, Ms., June 27, 1783; d. of cholera at Jaffna, Ceylon, Feb. 3, 1855. D.D. 1814; And. Sem. 1814. He sailed from Newburyport with other missionaries, Oct. 23, 1815; arrived at Colombo in Ceylon, Mar. 24, 1816; resided a while at Talipally, afterward at Barricotta, where he opened a scientific sem.; removed to Madurai in Mar. 1836; returned home in Sept. 1848; spent about two years in the employ of the A.B.C.F.M., visiting various parts of the country, delivering addresses, and otherwise stimulating missionary enterprise, returning to Ceylon in 1850. Author of various publications in the Tamil and English languages.

Poor, ENOCH, brig.-gen. Revol. army, b. Andover, Ms., 1736; killed in a duel with a French officer, near Hackensack, N.J., Sept. 8, 1780. Son of Thomas, and grandson of Daniel Poor, one of the first settlers of Andover. After receiving a common-school education at that place, he removed to Exeter, N.H., where he engaged in commercial pursuits. Immediately after the battle of Lexington, the Prov. Assembly app. him col. Upon the evacuation of Boston, his regt. was ordered to N.Y., and thence to join in the invasion of Canada. He was one of the officers who remonstrated in writing against the abandonment of Crown Point. Feb. 21, 1777, he was app. a brig.-gen.; served in that capacity in the battles with Burgoyne, after whose surrender he joined the army under Washington in Pa. He was a participator of Sir Walter Raleigh, the other. Aug. 15 they landed at the mouth of the Sagadahock or Kennebec River, "on a western peninsula," and a stockade was built, with a fort, which was called Fort St. George. After the death of Popham, the colonists returned home, having, as Smith says, "found nothing but extreme extremities." His bro. Sir JOHN, lord chief justice of the King's Bench, a promoter of the settlement of America, b. Somers-street, 1534, d. 10 June, 1607. He became chief justice of N. England, and a member of parliament in 1620.—See Memorial Volume of the Popham Expedition.

Popkin, JOHN SHELLENS, D.D. (H. U. 1815), clergyman and scholar, b. Boston, June 19, 1774; d. Cambridge, Ms., March 2, 1852. Son of Col. John, Revol. officer.—H. U. 1792. He exercised the vocation of a teacher for a short time in Woburn and in Cambridge; and was Greek tutor at H. U. in 1795.—Member of the Am. Academy.—Ord. pastor of the Federal-street Church, Boston, July 10, 1799; dismissed Nov. 28, 1802; installed pastor of the First Church in Newbury, Sept. 19, 1804; dismissed Oct. 3, 1815, having accepted the app. of prof. of Greek in H. U. In 1829-33 he was Eliot professor of Greek literature.—During his ministry, he pub. a number of sermons of a high character.—An interesting vol. of his productions has appeared, consisting of lectures, and extracts from sermons, with a Memoir of his Life by C. C. Felton, 1852.

Porter, ALEXANDER J., jurist and senator, b. near Arranagh, Ireland, 1786; d. Attakapas, La., Jan. 13, 1844. His father fell in the rebellion of 1798.—He came to the U. S. in 1801; engaged in mercantile occupations in Nashville, Tenn.; but, having studied law, was in 1807 admitted to the bar.—The defects of his early education were remedied by his own individual efforts; and by his industry and talent he attained the front rank of jurists and politicians.—Returning to St. Martin'sville, La., in 1810, he was active in forming the State court, in 1811; became a judge of the Supreme Court in 1821; and was U. S. senator in 1834-7. Re-elected in 1843, ill health prevented his taking his seat.—A Whig in politics, he voted to ensure Pres. Jackson on the removal of the deposits; favored Calhoun's motion to reject petitions for the abolition of slavery in the Dist. of Col.; favor'd the division among the States of the surplus revenue, and the recognition of the independence of Texas.—To the labors of Judges Porter, Matthews, and Martin, is due the system of jurisprudence at present existing in Louisiana.

Porter, GEN. ANDREW, Revol. officer, b. Worcester, Montgomery Co., Pa., Sept. 24, 1743; d. Harrisburg, Nov. 16, 1813. He taught a school at Phila. from 1767 till June 19, 1776, when he was made by Congress a capt. of marines, and ordered on board the frigate "Edinboro"; transferred soon after to the art, in which, from his previous studies, he was qualified to be eminently useful; he served with great reputation for science and bravery; was in 1782 promoted to major; and at the end of the war was col. of the 4th or Pa. Art. He was engaged at Trenton, Princeton, Brandywine, and Germantown. In the latter action nearly all his company were killed or taken prisoners; and in the first, he received on the field, in person, the commendation of Washington. Detached in Apr. 1779 to join the expedition of Sullivan against the Indians, he suggested to Gen. Clinton the idea of damming the outlet of Onego Lake, by which means the water was raised sufficiently to enable his troops to be transported by boats to Tioga Point.—In 1784-8 he was a commiss. for running the State boundary lines; was in 1800 made brig.-gen. of State militia, and soon after major-gen.; and in 1809 was app. surr.-gen. of Pa. He declined, on account of his advanced age, the offices of brig.-gen. in the army, and see at war of the U. S., offered him by Madison during the war of 1812. Of his sons, George B. d. gov. of Michigan, David R. was gov. of Pa., and Gen. James M. see. of war.—See Life.

Porter, BENJAMIN F., jurist, b. Charleston, S. C., Sept. 1808.—He was self-educated. Was adm. to the bar in Charleston at an early age, afterward studied medicine, which in 1830 he practiced in Ala., but returned to the law, and was chosen to the legis. in 1832; and was in 1835 reporter of the State.—In 1840 he was elevated to the bench, but, doubting the constitutionality of his election, resigned the office.—He edited 14 vols. of the Ala. Reports, and translated the "Elements of the Institutes" of Hæmericus.—He has also contr'd. to periodicals; has been frequently an orator on public occasions; and has pub. among other works, a collection of poems, chiefly lyrical, in Charleston.

Porter, DAVID, D.D. (Wms. Coll. 1814), minister of Spencerstown 1787-1809; and of Catskill, N. Y., 1809-31, b. Hebron, Ct., 27 May, 1764; d. Catskill, Jan. 7, 1851.—D. C. 1784. He served nearly a year in the Revol. army.—He pub. "Dissertation on Baptism," 1809, and some sermons.—Agent of several benev. societies; member of the A. B. C. F. M., and, though eccentric, a man of great influence.—See Biog.

Porter, DAVID, commodore, U. S. N., b. Boston, Feb. 1, 1780; d. Pera, near Constantinople, March 3, 1843. Midshipan, Apr. 16, 1798; lieutenant Oct. 8, 1799; master com. Apr. 20, 1806; capt. July 2, 1812. His father Capt. David com a Boston merchants-ship, and was actively engaged in the Revol.; afterward removed to Baltimore, and, engaging in the W. India trade, introduced his son to the naval career at the age of 16. The son served in "The Constellation" during her famous action with "The Insurgente" in Feb. 1799, his good conduct in the action, and in securing the prize, caused his promotion soon after. In Jan. 1800, he was wounded in an engagement with a pirate off St. Domingo; in Aug. 1801 he was 1st lieut. of the schooner "Enterprise," which captured a Tripolitan cruiser of superior force. While 1st lieut. of the flag ship "New York," he com. a boat exp'd. which destroyed several feluccas laden with wheat under the batteries of Tripoli, and was again wounded; transferred to "The Philadelphia," which was captured while aground in the harbor of Tripoli in Oct. 1803, he was 18

mer, S. A. 1837-1841, was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1837 to 1841.
 Sailed from New York on 12th Sept. 1837, on her first voyage to the East Indies, under the command of Commodore Perry. Arrived at New York on 12th Sept. 1841. In 1842, he was appointed to the USS "Saratoga" as commanding officer. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1842
 to 1844. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1844 to 1846.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1846 to 1848. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1848
 to 1850. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1850 to 1852.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1852 to 1854. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1854
 to 1856. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1856 to 1858.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1858 to 1860. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1860
 to 1862. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1862 to 1864.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1864 to 1866. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1866
 to 1868. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1868 to 1870.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1870 to 1872. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1872
 to 1874. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1874 to 1876.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1876 to 1878. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1878
 to 1880. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1880 to 1882.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1882 to 1884. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1884
 to 1886. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1886 to 1888.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1888 to 1890. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1890
 to 1892. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1892 to 1894.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1894 to 1896. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1896
 to 1898. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1898 to 1900.

Porter, David D., U. S. N. (1810-1870).
 Born in New York, N. Y., 1810. Served in the U. S. N. from 1830 to 1870. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1842 to 1844. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1844
 to 1846. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1846 to 1848.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1848 to 1850. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1850
 to 1852. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1852 to 1854.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1854 to 1856. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1856
 to 1858. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1858 to 1860.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1860 to 1862. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1862
 to 1864. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1864 to 1866.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1866 to 1868. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1868
 to 1870. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1870 to 1872.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1872 to 1874. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1874
 to 1876. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1876 to 1878.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1878 to 1880. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1880
 to 1882. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1882 to 1884.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1884 to 1886. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1886
 to 1888. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1888 to 1890.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1890 to 1892. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1892
 to 1894. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1894 to 1896.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1896 to 1898. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1898
 to 1900.

In Apr. 1844, his fleet was saved at Grand Key by the skill of Lieut. Col. Bayley, who constructed a dam across the river, and sufficient water for their passage over the bar.
 He sailed to the coast of the N. A. 17th Sept. 1844.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1844 to 1846. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1846
 to 1848. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1848 to 1850.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1850 to 1852. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1852
 to 1854. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1854 to 1856.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1856 to 1858. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1858
 to 1860. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1860 to 1862.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1862 to 1864. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1864
 to 1866. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1866 to 1868.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1868 to 1870. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1870
 to 1872. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1872 to 1874.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1874 to 1876. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1876
 to 1878. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1878 to 1880.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1880 to 1882. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1882
 to 1884. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1884 to 1886.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1886 to 1888. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1888
 to 1890. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1890 to 1892.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1892 to 1894. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1894
 to 1896. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1896 to 1898.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1898 to 1900.

Porter, David R., U. S. N. (1810-1870).
 Born in New York, N. Y., 1810. Served in the U. S. N. from 1830 to 1870. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1842 to 1844. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1844
 to 1846. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1846 to 1848.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1848 to 1850. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1850
 to 1852. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1852 to 1854.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1854 to 1856. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1856
 to 1858. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1858 to 1860.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1860 to 1862. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1862
 to 1864. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1864 to 1866.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1866 to 1868. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1868
 to 1870. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1870 to 1872.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1872 to 1874. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1874
 to 1876. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1876 to 1878.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1878 to 1880. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1880
 to 1882. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1882 to 1884.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1884 to 1886. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1886
 to 1888. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1888 to 1890.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1890 to 1892. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1892
 to 1894. He was in command of the
 USS "Saratoga" from 1894 to 1896.
 He was in command of the USS "Saratoga"
 from 1896 to 1898. He was in command of the USS "Saratoga" from 1898
 to 1900.

Porter, Ebenezer, D.D. (D.C. 1810).
 pres. Am. Soc. S. in 1847-48. b. Cornwall,
 Ct., Oct. 2, 1772. d. Anson, Apr. 8, 1847.
 D.C. 1792. Historian of U.S. Porters, a farmer and a prominent politician, moved in 1772 with his family to Union and Railroad Cos., Va.
 He taught school some months, then studied law, and in 1786, was ord. pastor of the Cong. church at Washington, Ct. His health failing, he resigned, but moved in Apr.
 1822 to Anson as pastor of second church.
 Dr. Porter published many occasional sermons,
 "The Young Preacher," Midd., 1807; "Analysis of Vocal Inflection," 1814; "Analysis of Rational Devotion," 1827; "Reflective Reading Exercises," 1830; "Sabbath School Exercises," 1834; and "A Religion of Obedience," 1834. In 1833, "Lectures on the Christian and Pagan," 1834, and on "Public Prayer," together with 18 sermons and addresses, and an edition of Owey on the 100th Psalm, 8 vols. in 1 vol. The Boston Register, and Lectures on Religion and Science, have also been publ.

Porter, Ebenezer, D.D. (H.U. 1807).
 Cong. clergyman, N. B. 1807-1831. Ms. J. no
 11, 1758. d. Roxbury, Dec. 7, 1831. H.U.
 1777. He studied theology with
 Rev. J. Porter, minister of N. Bridge St.
 1740-1802, and Oct. 2, 1782, was ord. over the Cong. society of Roxbury, where he con-
 m. 31 years. Member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences. In 1807, in Rox. Georg. Pamph. was settled with F. as colleague. He pub-a "History of Washington," 1800, and many single sermons.

Porter, G. S. Fitz-Johns, nephew of C. M.
 David S. Portsmouth, N. H., 1822. West Point, 1845. Firing the 4th Art., he was made Capt. at May, 1847, won the "bravery of combat" medal at Molino del Rey and Capizaco, and was severely wounded at the Battle of Guadalupe. He was in 1849-53 assist. surgeon at West Point, and then in 1853-4, a 1st assist. surg. at Fort Mifflin in 1854-5, 27
 Jan., 1856, he was made assistant adj. gen. rank of capt. in 15th Inf. May 24, 1861, resigngen. 305. May 17, 1861, brig. gen. U. S. A.
 Jan. 27, 1862, and maj. gen. U. S. A. 4, chief of staff to Gen. Patterson and B. J. C.
 Apr. to Aug. 1861, assigned to the Arty. Co.

the Potomac, he was in Aug. placed at the head of a division; and in May, 1862, took com. of the 5th corps. He directed the siege-work before Yorktown, and was gov. of that place for a short time after its evacuation; com. the extreme right before Richmond, received the fiercest attacks of the enemy, and was promoted for his services. Temporarily attached to Gen. Pope's com. during the battles which followed the evacuation of the Peninsula, he took full participation in them; and, formal charge being made against him, he was deprived of his com., but, at the request of Gen. M. Clellan, was restored to duty, and took part in the Md. campaign; com. the reserve in the battle of Antietam. In Nov. he was ordered to Washington for trial by court-martial, and was acquitted 21 Jan., 1863, for violation of the 9th and 52d articles of war. The grounds for his appeal to the Pres. in 1870 for a reversal of this sentence are stated in Old and New for June, 1870.

Porter, George B., gov. of Mich. Terr. 1831-4, son of Gen. Andrew, b. Lancaster, Pa., 1790; d. Detroit, Mich., 6 July, 1834. Liberal, educated, and a lawyer; he was an active and thorough business-man.

Porter, Col. George W., author of many valuable inventions, especially the Porter rifle; d. near Memphis, Tenn., 7 Nov. 1856, a. abt. 50. Lieut. 3d U. S. Inf. May, 1814-June, 1815.

Porter, James, the "Kentucky giant;" d. Louisville, Ky., 23 Apr. 1859. He was 7 ft 1.9 inches high, and weighed 300 lbs.

Porter, James Madison, lawyer, son of Gen. Andrew, b. Schuyl., Pa., Jan. 6, 1793; d. Easton, Pa., Nov. 14, 1862. He was educated for the bar; served as a vol. in the war of 1812; was a member of the Pa. Const. Conv. in 1838, having an important share in the revision of the State Const.; was app. sec. of war in Mr. Tyler's cabinet in 1843, but rejected by the senate. He was one of the founders of Laf. Coll. at Easton; 25 years pres. of its board of trustees; and was pres. judge 12th judicial dist. P., and 22d dist.

Porter, John Addison, chemist, b. Catskill, N.Y., Mar. 15, 1822; d. N. Haven, Ct., Aug. 25, 1866. Y. C. 1842. He was tutor, and then prof. of rhetoric, in Del. Coll. until 1847; then studied at the U. of Gießen, Germany, several years, where he had the instruction of Liebig in agricultural chemistry. In 1850 he became prof. of chemistry as applied to the arts in Brown U., and held a similar chair at Y. C. in 1852-64. During the secession war, he wrote and spoke strongly on the Union side, and edited the Connecticut War Record. He was the author of several six-books of chemistry; selections from the "Kuleyala," the great Finnish epic, 1863; and contribs. to the scientific journals. — Y. C. Ob. Record.

Porter, Moses, brig.-gen. U. S. A., b. Danvers, Ms., 1755; d. Cambridge, Ms., Apr. 14, 1822. Lieut. in Trevett's art. May 19, 1775; served at Bunker's Hill, and through the Revol., the succeeding Indian wars, and that of 1812-15 with Eng. He was at White Plains; the campaign in the Jerseys, Trenton, Brandywine, Germantown; was an efficient co-adjutor of Col. Smith in the defence of Mud

Island, in the Delaware; was one of the few old officers selected for the first peace establishment; lieut. May 1, 1787; capt. Nov. 1791, serving under Wayne in 1794; maj. 1st Art. May 26, 1809; col. light art. Mar. 12, 1812; a comp. Wilkinson's army, and com. the art., and disting. at the capture of Fort George, May 27, 1813; lieut. brig.-gen. Sept. 10, 1813, and order of to the defence of Norfolk, Va., in 1814; col. 1st Art. May, 1821.

Porter, Noah, D. D. (U. of N. Y. 1858), LL. D., b. Farmington, Ct., 1811. author and educator. Y. C. 1831. Clark prof. of moral philos. and metaphysics Y. C. 1846-71; now (1871) pres. Y. C. Son of Rev. Noah, num. of Farmington 1806-66. Author of Hist. Discourse at Farmington Nov. 4, 1840; "Educational Systems of the Puritans and Jesuits Compared," 1851; "The Human Intellect," 1868; "Books and Reading," 1870; and an abstract entitled "Elements of Intellectual Philos.," 1870. Contributor to religious periodicals.

Porter, Peter Bell, politician and soldier, b. Salisbury, Ct., Aug. 14, 1773; d. Niagara Falls, Mo., 29, 1844. Y. C. 1791. His father Dr. Joshua, a physician in Salisbury, Ct. (Y. C. 1754 d. 1825), was a col. of militia in the battle of Saratoga. The son began to practise law at Canandagua, N. Y., in 1795; soon became popular; and was M. C. in 1809-13 and 1815-16. He had settled at Black Rock, where he had, with his bros., made large purchases of land, when the war of 1812 with Eng. broke out. Made maj.-gen. of N. Y. and Pa. vols. in July, 1813, he defended Black Rock (Buffalo) against the British in that month; and was disting. in the battles of Chippewa, Niagara Falls, and Fort Erie, receiving the thanks of Congress and a gold medal. Both Gens. Brown and Gaines speak of him in their reports as a "brave, skilful, and gallant officer." In 1815 Pres. Madison app. him com. in chief of the army, which he declined; commiss. under the treaty of Ghent in 1816; afterward sec. of state of N. Y.; sec. of war under Pres. Adams in 1828. He m. Letitia Grayson, dau. of Atty.-Gen. John Brockenridge, Gen. Porter was identified with the progress of Western N. Y., was one of the early projectors of the Erie Canal, and one of the first board of commiss. His son Col. Peter A. A. was killed at Cold Harbor, Va., June 3, 1864, at the head of his regt. (129th N. Y.); b. Black Rock, N. Y., July 14, 1827. H. U. 1845. He studied at Heidelberg, Berlin, and Breslau; member of the N. Y. Legat. 1861; commiss. col. Aug. 17, 1862.

Porter, Thomas judge; d. Granville, N. Y., Aug. 1833, a. 99 yrs. 3 mos. He was in the British army at Lake George in 1755, and was active during the Revol. He was 10 years judge of the Supreme and County Courts of Vt., and was a member of the legislatures of Vt. and Ct. 35 years. Dr. Ebenezer of Andover Sem., was a son.

Porter, William A., b. Hunterdon Co., Pa., 1821. Laf. Coll. 1839. Adm. to Phila. bar 1842; sheriff of Phila. 1843; city solicitor 1856; app. judge Sup. Ct. 1858. Author of "Essay on Law of Suits," 1845; "Life of Ch. Justice John B. Gibson," Svo, 1855; "Addresses" — A. Bour.

Porter, WILLIAM DAVID, commodore U. S. N., b. N. Orleans, 1810; d. N. Y. City, May 1, 1864. Son of Com. David. App. to the navy, Jan. 1, 1823; lieutenant, Dec. 31, 1833. He projected and founded the present light-house system, served through the Mexican war with distinction, but was retired in 1855, and restored in 1859. At the beginning of the Rebellion he was on the Pacific station, in the sloop of war "St. Mary's." His loyalty being suspected, he wrote to the govt. a letter in his defence, which was pub., and excited much comment. He was subsequently ordered to the Mpi. to assist in fitting out the gunboat flotilla, and placed in com. of "The Essex," which he caused to be covered with iron plates, and took part in the attacks on Forts Henry and Donelson, being severely scalded in the first-named action; and fought his way past all the batteries from Cairo to N. Orleans. He took part in the attack on Vicksburg, and afterward engaged the iron-clad Confed. gunboat "Arkansas" near Baton Rouge, "The Arkansas" was blown up; and in Sept. he bombarded Natchez, and attacked the Vicksburg batteries and Fort Hudson. For these disting. services, Commander Porter was made commodore July 16, 1862. Owing to feeble health, he did little subsequent duty. He had two sons in the rebel service.

Porter, WILLIAM T., editor, b. Vt. 1806; d. New York, July 19, 1858. At first a teacher; he subsequently became a printer, and having removed to New York ab. 1833, pursued his vocation in a book-printing establishment; afterwards established the Constellation, a weekly journal, which was merged into the Spirit of the Times, a weekly paper devoted to sporting news and literature. Having sold out his interest in it, he began in 1856, in connection with Mr. George W. Kees, the publication of Porter's Spirit of the Times, which he continued to edit until his death. He was an elegant, graceful, and spirited writer, and was connected at various times with other journals. He edited Col. Hawker's "Instructions to Young Sportsmen," T. B. Thorpe's "Arkansas Stories," and J. M. Field's "Night in a Swamp," and other stories. — See Life by Francis B. Corey, 12mo, 1860.

Porterfield, COL. CHARLES; killed at the battle of Camden, Aug. 16, 1780. Capt. 11th Va. Regt. Feb. 13, 1776; lieutenant-col. of the State garrison regt. Aug. 14, 1779.

Porterfield, GEN. ROBERT, Revol. officer; d. at his residence in Augusta Co., Va., Feb. 13, 1843, a. 90. He entered the army an ensign in Morgan's rifle regt. and quitted it a captain. In the campaign of 1779, was capt. and made de-camp to Gen. W. Woodford; was captured at Charleston, S. C., and afterward served at the North under Washington. He was a brig.-gen. in the war of 1812, and an acting county magistrate over 50 years, twice holding the office of high sheriff.

Portier, MICHAEL D. D., Roman-Cath. bishop of Mobile; consec. Nov. 5, 1826, d. May 14, 1859.

Posey, CARNOT, brig.-gen. C. S. A., b.

Mpi.; d. Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 13, 1863, from a wound received at Bristol Station, Oct. 14. As 1st lieutenant, in Jeff Davis's regt. (dies he was disting., and wounded at Buena Vista.

Posey, GEN. THOMAS, b. on the banks of the Potomac, July 9, 1750; d. Shawncetown, Ill., March 19, 1818. He received a plain English education. Removed to Western Va. at the age of 19, and was quartermaster to Lewis's division of Lord Dunmore's army; participated in the bloody battle with the Indians at Point Pleasant, Oct. 10, 1774; in 1775 he was one of the com. of corresp.; was app. capt., and raised a company for the 7th Va. Cont. Regt.; aided in defeating Dunmore at Gwyn's Island; joined Washington's army at Middlebrook early in 1777; was transferred to the celebrated rifle regt. of Col. Morgan; was soon after engaged in a severe action with the British light troops at Pisectaway, N. J.; joined Gen. Gates, and rendered great service at the two battles of Bemis Heights (Sept. 12) and Stillwater (Oct. 7), succeeded to the com. of the regt. in the spring of 1778; and led his regt. as maj. in Oct. 1778 in an expedition against the Indians. In the spring of 1779 he took com. of the 11th Va. Regt.; was soon after transferred to the com. of a batt. of Feltzer's regt. under Wayne; and at the brilliant assault on Stony Point, July 15, 1779, was one of the first to enter the enemy's works. He was present at the surrender of Yorktown; organized a new regt., of which, with the rank of lieutenant-col., he took com.; and served under Wayne in Ga. until the evacuation of Savannah. When surprised by the Indians under Gnerstersigo on the night of June 23, 1782, Posey rallied and led his men to the charge, exhibiting great bravery and skill, and defeating the enemy with severe loss. From 1786 to 1793 he was county lieutenant of Spottsylvania, Va.; app. brig.-gen. Feb. 14, 1793; settled in Ky.; was elected State senator; was 4 years lieutenant gov.; maj.-gen. of Ky. levies in 1809, U. S. senator from La. 1812-13; succeeded Harrison as gov. of Ind. Terr. March 3, 1813; and in 1816 became agent for Indian affairs, which post he held at his death. — See Life of Posey in Sparks's Amer. Lives.

Post, MINYERS, M. D. (U. of Pa. 1821), physician and author, b. New York, June 28, 1808; d. there April 26, 1869. Col. Coll. 1827. He studied medicine in N. Y. and Phila.; was a pupil of Dr. Mott, and completed his studies under Lous. Broussais, and others. He acquired a lucrative practice in New York; and was 26 years medical examiner of the N. Y. Mutual Life Ins. Co. Dr. Post was thoroughly familiar with diseases of the chest, and was largely instrumental in promoting the study of physical diagnosis. He was the translator of a French treatise on Auscultation and Percussion, Svo, 1839.

Post, WRIGHT, M. D., an eminent physician and surgeon, b. North Hempstead, L. I., Feb. 19, 1766; d. Throgs Neck, N. Y., June 14, 1828. After studying 4 years under Dr. Richard Bayley of New York, and 2 years under Dr. Seldon of London, he returned in 1786 to New York to commence practice. App. in 1792 prof. of surgery in Col. Coll., he visited the great schools of Europe, collecting a splendid anatomical cabinet, with which he returned to America in 1793. He was for 20 years prof. of anatomy and physiology in that institution, during which period he effected many difficult surgical operations, and attained high distinction. In 1813 he was app. to a similar professorship in the Coll. of Phys. and Surg., of which he was pres. in 1821-6. In 1815 he again visited Europe for his health. He was for 30 years consulting physician of the N.Y. Hospital, and was a member of the most prominent literary societies of the city.

Postell, Col. BENJAMIN, Revol. officer of St. Bartholomew's parish; d. Charleston, S.C., Jan. 1801, a. 41. In 1775 he was made a lieut. 1st S.C. Regt., and, on the capture of Charleston in 1780, was sent to St. Augustine, suffering from brutal treatment during his captivity of 11 months; afterward a member of the State legisl., and col. of the Colleton Co. regt. With his bro., Maj. JOHN POSTELL, he rendered good service in Marion's brigade. Jan. 29, 1781, the latter captured near Monk's Corner 40 British regulars. Col. JAMES POSTELL, also a disting. partisan under Marion, d. near Coosawatchie, S.C., 16 Mar. 1824, a. 78.

Potter, ALONZO, D.D. (H.U. 1846), LL.D. (Un. Coll. 1846), Prot.-Ep. bishop of Pa., b. La Grange, Dutchess Co., N.Y., July 10, 1800; d. San Francisco, July 4, 1865. Un. Coll. 1818. His ancestors were among the early settlers of R.I. He became a tutor in Un. Coll. in 1819; and was prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. in 1821-6. Ord. deacon in April, 1821, and priest in Aug. 1824; elected pres. of Geneva Coll. in 1825, he declined the post; rector of St. Paul's, Boston, from Aug. 29, 1826, till Aug. 27, 1831; vice-pres. and prof. of moral philos. in Un. Coll. 1831-45; consec. bishop of Pa. Sept. 29, 1845. He m. the only dau. of President Nott. Bishop Potter was especially identified with the organization of the hospital of the Prot.-Ep. Ch., and the establishment of the Divinity School of the church in Phila. He pub. "The Principles of Science applied to the Domestic and Mechanic Arts," 1841; "Political Economy," 1841; "Hand Book for Readers and Students," 1847; "Discourses, Charges, Addresses," &c., 1855; "Religious Philosophy," 1870; "Plan of Temperance Organization for Cities;" and, with Geo. B. Emerson, "The School and Schoolmaster," 1844. He edited 6 vols. of Harper's "Family Library;" Wilks's "Christian Essays," 1829; Maria James's "Poems," 1829; and 15 Lectures on the Evidences of Christianity by clergymen of the Prot.-Ep. Church, 8vo, 1855. Between 1845 and 1853 he delivered five courses of Lowell Inst. lectures on subjects connected with natural theolgy.

Potter, CHANDLER EASTMAN, author, b. Concord, N.H., Mar. 7, 1807; d. Flint, Mich., Aug. 4, 1868. Dartm. Coll. 1831. After teaching, practising law, and serving one term in the State legisl., he in 1844 removed to Manchester, where he edited and pub. for 4 years the Manchester Inquirer. He in 1852-3 edited the Farmer's Monthly Visitor, and the Granite Farmer in 1854-5; was the author of a valuable history of Manchester, and was well versed in the history of N.H. From 1818 to 1855 he was judge of the Manchester Police Court. For some years he com. the famous Amoskeag Veterans. Many years an active member of the N.H. Hist. Soc., and its pres. in 1855-7. Author of a valuable military history of N.H. in the adj.-gen.'s reports for 1866 and 1868, of two addresses upon the Penobscot Indians, and other addresses, and papers in periodicals. Contributed the article upon the Penobscot and other Eastern Indians to Schoolcraft's "History of the Indians," and partially prepared a new edition of Birknap's N. H., with continuation to 1860. Co-editor of the Weekly Mirror and the Mirror and Farmer in 1864-5. — See, N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg., xxiii. 61.

Potter, ELISHA REYNOLDS, politician, b. S. Kingstown, R.I., Nov. 5, 1764; d. there Sept. 26, 1835. In early life he was a soldier and a blacksmith's apprentice; acquired some knowledge of law, which he practised with success until he was 40, when he entered political life. From 1793 until his death, he was a rep. to the Assembly, with the exception of 4 terms in Congress in 1796-7 and 1809-16, and in 1818, when a candidate for the office of gov. He was 5 times speaker of the house. Few political men in Rhode Island ever acquired or maintained a more commanding influence. He was always a forcible, and sometimes an eloquent speaker.

Potter, ELISHA REYNOLDS, b. S. Kingstown, R.I., 20 June, 1811. H.U. 1830. Commissioner of public schools in R.I. 1849-54; some years member of the legisl.; adj.-gen. 1835-6; M.C. 1843-5. Author of "Early History of Narragansett," 8vo, 1835; "Paper-Money of the Colony of R.I.," 8vo, 1837; "Extension of Suffrage in R.I.," 8vo, 1842; "Address b. of the R.I. Hist. Soc. Feb. 19, 1851;" "Reports on the R.I. Public Schools;" "The Bible and Prayer in Public Schools;" 8vo, 1854, &c. — R.I. Educational Mag., 8vo, 1852-4.

Potter, HAZARD AENOLD, M.D. (Bowd. Coll. 1835), physician and surgeon, b. Potter township, Ontario Co., N.Y., Dec. 21, 1811; d. Geneva, N.Y., 3 Dec. 1869. After practising in R.I. a few months, he returned to his native town; in 1853 he removed to Geneva, N.Y., where he had a high reputation as a surgeon and consulting physician. He performed successfully many critical surgical operations, and was one of the first surgeons who called attention to the presence of arterial blood in the veins of the parts paralyzed by depressed fracture of the cervical vertebra, which he first observed in 1837. In 1854 he successfully performed the operation of trephining the spine. He was one of the first to remove ovarian tumors, and introduced a new mode of amputation at the hip-joint. During the civil war he was a vol. surgeon.

Potter, HORATIO, D.D. (Trin. Coll. 1838), LL.D. (Geneva, 1856), D.C.L. (Ox. 1860), Pr.-Ep. bishop of N.Y., bro. of Alonzo, b. La Grange, Dutchess Co., N.Y., Feb. 9, 1802. Un. Coll. 1826. Ord. deacon July, 1827; priest in 1828; and in 1828-33 was prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. in Wash. Coll., Hartford. While here, he was invited by Bishop Moore to become his assistant in the Monumental Church, Richmond, Va., but declined. In 1853 he became rector of St. Peter's, Albany, N.Y.; in 1837 he was chosen pres. of Trinity Coll., Hartford, but declined. Dr. Potter was chosen provis. bishop of N.Y., and consec. Nov. 22, 1854. By the death of Bishop B. T. Onderdonk, April 30, 1861, he became bishop of the diocese.

Potter, Rev. ISAIAH, first settled minister of Lebanon, N.H., from July 6, 1772, to his d. 2 July, 1817; b. Plymouth, Ct., 1746. Y.C. 1767. Studied theology with Dr. Smalley of Berlin, Ct., and was a fellow-student with Dr. Nathaniel Emmons. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of John Barrett of Northfield, Ms. He pub. some occasional sermons.

Potter, Gen. ROBERT B., lawyer and soldier, b. N.Y. Son of Bishop P. of Pa., and grandson of Pres. Nott. In 1861 he was a successful lawyer in New York; became maj. 51st Regt., Sheppard Rifles; led the assault at Romano Island; was wounded at Newbern; com. his regt. at Cedar Mountain, Manassas, Chantilly; and at Antietam carried the famous "stone bridge," and was again wounded. He served also in the battle of Fredericksburg; made brig.-gen. 13 Mar. 1863; com. 2d div. 9th corps at Vicksburg, and com. the corps against Longstreet in Tenn. and siege of Knoxville; com. his div. under Grant, and was conspicuous from the Wilderness to Petersburg; and brev. maj.-gen. June, 1864, for gallantry in "several actions since crossing the Rapidan." In the final assault on Petersburg, April 2, 1865, he was shot through the body, but recovered.

Potts, George, D.D., a leading Presb. clergyman and author, pastor of the University-place Church, b. Phila. 1801; d. N. Y. City, Sept. 15, 1864. T. of Pa. 1819; Princeton Theol. Sem. 1822. Pastor of a church in Natchez, Mpi., 1823-35; and of the Duane-st. Church, N.Y. City, from May, 1836, until the completion of the edifice in University Place. He was brought prominently before the public in 1844 by a controversy with Dr. Wainwright of the Episc. Church, pub. as "No Church without a Bishop." He also pub. a number of sermons, letters, addresses, &c.

Potts, Jonathan, M.D. (Phila. Coll. 1771), b. Bristol, Pa., 1747; d. 1781. He began practice at Reading; was an active patriot; was app. surgeon for Canada and Lake George, June, 1776; and app. director of the Gen. Hospital for the Northern Dept. Jan. 1777. — N.E. Gen. and Hist. B., 1864.

Potts, Richard, LL.D. (N. J. Coll. 1805), gov. of Md. 1781-1782, and U.S. senator from 1792 to 1796. Member Old Congress 1781-2.

Potts, Stacy Gardner, b. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 9; d. Trenton, N. J., 9 April, 1865. Bro. of Wm. S. Adm. to the bar in 1827; member of the legal. 1828-9; clerk of the N. J. Court of Chancery 1831-41; judge N. J. Sup. Ct. 1852-9. Author of "Village Tales," 12mo, 1827; "Precedents and Notes of Practice in the N. J. Court of Chancery," 1841. Edited the Emporium in 1821, and contrib. to the Phila.

Monthly Mag. He left in MS. "The Christ of Revelation." He was in 1845 one of the commission to revise and pub. the laws of N. J. M.A. of N. J. Coll. 1814.

Potts, William Stephens, D.D., minister in St. Louis, b. Northumb. Co., Pa., 13 Oct. 1802; d. 27 Mar. 1852. Pres. of Marion Coll. 1835-9; pastor 1st Presb. Ch., St. Louis, 1828-35 and 1839-52. He pub. a number of sermons, addresses, &c. — Springer.

Pouehot, M., engineer officer under Montcalm in Canada, b. Grenoble, France, 1712; killed in Corsica, while reconnoitring, 8 May, 1769. Entered the engr. in 1733; served in Corsica, Flanders, and Germany; detented Niagara and Fort Lewis. Author of "Memoirs of the War of 1755-69 in N.A.," pub. in 3 vols. 1781, translated and edited by F. B. Hough, 2 vols. 4to, 1866.

Poulson, Zachariah, editor and publisher, b. Phila. Sept. 5, 1761; d. there July 31, 1844. He edited and pub. the Amer. Daily Advertiser, the first daily in the U.S., from Oct. 1800 to Dec. 28, 1839. He had been for many years printer to the State senate. Pub. Poulson's Town and Country Amateur from 1789 to 1801; Proud's "History of Pa.," 1797-8; and other valuable books. He was connected with many literary and benevolent societies, and for nearly 59 years with the Library Company of Phila. — Simpson.

Poussin, William Tell, major U. S. topog. engineers, b. France. Accomp. Gen. Bernard to the U.S. after the downfall of Napoleon. App. assistant topog. engr. (rank of capt.) March 6, 1817; aide-de-camp to Gen. Bernard, topog. engr. (rank of major), Jan. 15, 1829; resigned July 31, 1832. Author of "Traité d'Aménagements Indépendans, Pointés ou Elevés par le Génie-Gen. des États-Unis d'Amérique, 1824 à 1831," 4to, 1834; "Considérations sur le Principe Universitaire," &c., 8vo, 1841; "De la Puisseance Américaine," &c., 2 vols., 8vo, 1843; also other works, and contrib. to periodicals. He took an active part in the establishment of the French republic of 1848. Envoy-extra. and minister-plenip. from France to the U.S. 1849.

Powell, Charles Stuart, comedian, b. Eng. 1749; d. Halifax, N.S., 26 April, 1811. He played at the Covent Garden, London; had been manager of the Haymarket; first app. in Boston, 13 Aug. 1792; opened the Boston Theatre as manager in Feb. 1794-6; and was some years manager of the Halifax Theatre.

Powell, George, historical painter, b. N.Y. City, 1823. Among his works is "The Discovery of the Mississippi."

Powell, Henry Watson, a British gen.; d. Lyme, Eng., July 14, 1814. App. a capt. in the 64th Foot, Sept. 1756, he served in the W. Indies in 1759, and in America in 1768; lieutenant 59d, July, 1771; took part in Burgoyne's exped., with the rank of brig. gen., 1777; and when the Americans evacuated Ticonderoga, July 6, he was left in com. of that post. Here he was attacked by a body of N.H. and Ct. militia, Sept. 18, who were obliged to retreat. He became a gen. in the army Jan. 1, 1801. — Burgoyne's Obit. Book.

Powell, Col. John Hare, agriculturist,

b. Phila. April, 1786; d. there June 14, 1856. His father Robert Hare came from England in 1773; was a member of the first State Const. Conv., and was speaker of the State senate in 1827. John was educated at Phila. Coll.; became a successful merchant; was sec. of legation to Wm. Pinkney in Lond.; returned in Dec. 1811; was brigade-major to Gen. T. Cadwalader Sept. 1814; insp.-gen. (rank of col.) Dec. 1814 to June, 1815. Turning his attention to agriculture, he contributed many valuable essays to the journals of that science; was a founder of the Pa. Agric. Society, 1823; and was instrumental in improving the breed of horned cattle and sheep in the U.S. He was a good speaker and debater, and a patron of the fine arts. Author of "Memoirs of the Pa. Agric. Soc.," and "Hints for American Farmers." — Simpson.

Powell, Lazarus W., politician, b. Henderson Co., Ky., Oct. 6, 1812; d. Henderson, Ky., July 3, 1867. St. Joseph's Coll., Bardonia, 1833; Transylv. Law School, 1835. Adm. to the bar in 1835, he was energetic both as a lawyer and a farmer. In 1836 he was elected to the legisla., of which he proved a useful member; was gov. of Ky. in 1851-5; and was U.S. senator in 1859-65. He was a clear and forcible reasoner, and an excellent working member of the senate, but was not re-elected on account of his extreme anti-war views.

Powell, Levin, lieutenant-col. Revol. army, b. Va., 1738; d. Bedford, Pa., Aug. 1840. Member of the Va. conv. which ratified the U.S. Const.; M.C. from Va. 1799-1801; served through the Revol. war in the Va. line, Cont. army. Resided in Loudon Co., Va.

Powell, Levin M., rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Va. ab. 1800. Midshipm. Mar. 1, 1817; lieutenant, Apr. 28, 1826; com. June 24, 1843; capt. Sept. 11, 1855; commo. July 16, 1862; rear adm. June 8, 1870. Served as midshipman in the Middl., China Seas, and Gulf of Mexico, and W. Indies, for the suppression of piracy; com. several expeditions against the Seminoles, and wounded at the head waters of the Jupiter River in Jan. 1837; com. two surveying expeditions in the Gulf of Mexico 1842-3; com. squadron of war "John Adams," coast of Africa, 1849-50; home squad 1856; frigate "Potomac," back. squad, 1861; lighthouse insp. 1862-6.

Powell, Snelling, comedian, bro. of Charles S., b. Cwmaman, Wales, 1758; d. Boston, 8 Apr. 1821. Feb. 2, 1794, he made a successful début at the Boston Theatre as Gustavus Vasa. He was a successful manager of that theatre. His wife, a popular actress, a Miss Harrison, d. 26 Dec. 1843.

Powell, William Dinsmore, chief justice of Upper Canada, b. Boston, 1756; d. Toronto, 3 Sept. 1834.

Powell, W. Byrd, M.D., physiologist, b. Bourbon Co., Ky., Jan. 8, 1799; d. Covington, Ky., May 13, 1866. Transylv. U. 1820. Med. School, 1823. His father was a pioneer in the settlement of Ky. He interested himself specially in studying the physiology of the brain and the temperaments. In 1835 he became prof. of chemistry in the Med. Coll. of La. In 1856 he demonstrated that the human temperament could be read from an examination of the cranium alone. He prosecuted this study for 3 years among the Indian tribes, and was regarded by many of his friends as insane. He assisted in organizing the Memphis Institute in 1849, and occupied the chair of cerebral physiology and med. geology. In 1851 he removed to Covington, Ky.; in 1856 he took the chair of cerebral phys. in the Eclectic Med. Inst. of Cincinnati, and lectured there 2 or 3 years. In his "Natural Hist. of the Human Temperaments," 1856, he announced his discovery of a measurement indicating infallibly the vital force, and also the signs of vital tenacity. He was a frequent contrib. to scientific and literary periodicals; wrote, jointly with Dr. S. S. Newton, "The Eclectic Practice of Medicine," and an "Eclectic Treatise on Diseases of Children." — Appleton.

Power, Tyrone, Irish actor and author, b. Co. Waterford, Nov. 2, 1797; d. at sea, Mar. 1841. Another account states that he was b. in Swansea, Wales, and was a journeyman printer, changing his name from Thomas Powell after he went on the stage. His widow d. mother having removed to Wales, Tyrone made his début in the Cardiff Theatre as Romeo. He played at provincial theatres till 1818, when he retired; but in 1821 re-appeared on the London stage. His first decided success there was in 1824, in the part of Paddy O'Halloran; and he thenceforth devoted himself to the delineation of Irish characters, in which he was unrivalled. In 1832-5 and again in 1840-1, he visited the U.S., where he was highly successful. He embarked for Europe, Mar. 11, 1841, in the steamship "President," which was never heard of afterward. He pub. "Impressions of America," 2 vols. 8vo, 1835; "The King's Secret," a novel; "The Lost Heir," &c.

Powers, Grant, a Cong. clergyman, b. Hollis, N.H., May 31, 1784; d. Goshen, Ct., Apr. 10, 1841. Dartm. Coll. 1810. He studied theology; was minister at Haverhill in 1815-29, and at Goshen from Aug. 27, 1829, to his death. Author of "Essay upon the Influence of the Imagination on the Nervous System, contributing to False Ideas in Religion;" a "History of the Coos Country," 12mo, 1841; and "Centennial Address at Hollis," 8vo, 1820.

Powers, Huram, sculptor, b. Woodstock, Vt., July 29, 1805. He spent his youth on his father's farm; emigrated with his family to O., and, on the death of his father, established himself in Cincinnati, being successively employed in a reading-room, in a produce-store, and with a clockmaker. From a German sculptor he learned the art of modelling in plaster, and for 7 years he directed the wax work dept. of the museum at Cincinnati, but in 1835 went to Washington, where he was for some time profitably employed in modelling busts of distinguished men. With the assistance of Mr. N. Longworth of Cincinnati, he was able to establish himself in Florence, where he has since resided. In 1838 he produced an ideal statue of Eve, pronounced by Thorwaldsen a work which any sculptor might be proud to claim as his masterpiece; in 1839 he finished his model of the "Greek Slave," his most popular work, of which he has made several duplicates in marble. Among his other well-known works are the "Fisher-Boy;" "Il Penseroso;" "Proserpine," a bust; "California;" "America," modelled for the Crystal Palace at Sydenham, Eng.; a bronze statue of Webster, now erected in the State-house grounds at Boston; and portrait-statues of Washington and of Calhoun. The latter, his best work of the kind, after being shipwrecked on Long Island, was safely deposited in Charleston. Among his numerous busts are those of Adams, Jackson, Webster, Calhoun, Marshall, Everett, and Van Buren. Mr. Powers is the inventor of a useful process of modelling in plaster, which obviates the necessity of taking a clay model.

Powhatan, emperor of the Indians in Va. when the English made their first settlement in 1607; d. Apr. 1618. He was the most powerful of the Indian kings, swaying the sceptre over 30 nations numbering 8,000 souls. He was remarkable for vigor and energy, skilful in intrigue, courageous in battle, and magnanimous in victory. He lived, for a savage, in great dignity and splendor; was always attended by a guard of 40 warriors, and watched by a sentry at night. He was hostile to the English, and came near destroying them repeatedly; but, on the marriage of his daughter Pocahontas to Mr. Rolfe, he became friendly, and remained at peace. His principal residence was Werowocomoco, on York River, in the present county of Gloucester.

Pownall, Thomas, LL.D., an English statesman and writer, b. Lincoln, 1722; d. Bath, Eng., 25 Feb. 1805. U. of Camb. 1743. He was made sec. to the commiss. for trade and plantations in 1745, and was in the commissariat of the army in Germany; in 1753 he came to Amer. as sec. to Sir D. Osborne, whom he succeeded as lieut.-gov. of N. J. in 1755; member of the Congress at Albany in 1754; gov. of Ms. 1757-60; gov. of S. C. 1760-1; and, returning to Eng., was made director gen. of the office of control, with rank of col. Entering parliament in 1768, he strenuously opposed the measures of the ministry with respect to America; and his speeches, made at various important crises, form an instructive comment upon the mistaken policy of the times. He retired from parliament in 1780. Foreseeing the danger to Eng. of a union among the Colonies, when the Congress met at Albany to devise the best means of defence against the French, he presented a powerful memorial to Lord Halifax upon the subject. As gov. of Ms. he did not give his confidence to Hutchinson, Oliver, and their party, which they resented by slandering him to the people and the clergy. He pub. in 1766 "The Administration of the Colonies;" "Topog. Description of such Parts of N. Amer. as are contained in the Annexed Map (that of L. Evans, corrected, and continued to 1775) of the Middle British Colonies," &c.; besides a number of works on archaeology, antiquities, and politics.

Poydras, Julien, philanthropist, first delegate to Congress from the Terr. of Orleans 1809-12; d. Point Coupée, La., June 25, 1824. He gave $100,000 for the founding of the Female Orphan Asylum, and left $20,000 for a college at Point Coupée.

Pratt, Benjamin, lawyer and jurist, b. Cohasset, Ms., Mar. 13, 1719; d. Jan. 5, 1763, H. F. 1737. Bred to a mechanical employment by his parents, who were poor, the loss of a limb in early life led him to study; and he soon became conspicuous among the lawyers of the day in learning and eloquence. He was a representative of Boston 1757-9, and was a zealous lover of freedom. The friendship of Gov. Pownall procured him the app. of chief justice of N. Y., which he did not long live to enjoy. He was a man of great research and learning, wrote some fugitive verses, and had made extensive collections in view of writing a history of N. Eng., but died too soon to accomplish it. His wife was the daughter of Judge Auchmuty.

Pratt, Esocot, pastor Cong. church, W. Barnstable, Ms., 1807-35, b. Middleborough, Ms., 1781; d. Brewster, 2 Feb. 1860. Brown U. 1803. Ord. Barnstable 28 Oct. 1807; resigned 1837. Author of a "History of Eastham, Wellfleet, and Orleans, Ms.," &c., 1844.

Pratt, Louisa Knapp; d. Cincinnati, 2 Oct. 1864. Author of a series of essays in the Horn Journal over the signature of "Bell Smith." Her Letters from Paris were pub. with the title "Bell Smith Abroad."

Pratt, Myrtlew, an early portrait-painter of Phila. (1734-1805). He studied 4 years in Lond. with West; returned to Phila. in 1768; assisted Peale, his schoolmate, in establishing his museum; and painted many of the eminent men of his time, among others the prominent members of the convention which framed the Federal Constitution in 1787. — Travellers.

Pratt, Pineshas, an early settler of Weymouth, Ms., d. Charlestown, Ms., 19 Apr. 1680, a. 90. He came to N. E. in June, 1622, with Weston's colony, but, on its return, fled from the place in Feb. 1623, and reached Plymouth, 30 miles distant, pursued by Indians; in times of frost and snow, as a deer chased with wolves." In 1662 he addressed a petition to the Gen. Court, accomp. with a narrative of the first planting, which he called a "Declaration of the Affairs of the English People that first inhabited N. England." — See Ms. Hist. Coll., 4, iv. 176; Dial's History of Boston.

Pratt, Thomas G., gov. of Md. 1844-8, b. Washington, D. C., 1805; d. Baltimore, Nov. 9, 1869. N. J. Coll. He was bred a lawyer; frequently served in the Md. senate; was U. S. senator in 1854-7; delegate to the Chicago Convention 1854, and to the Phila. National Convention in 1867.

Pratt, Zadock, an eminent citizen of N. Y., b. Schenectady, Rensselaer Co., N. Y., Oct. 30, 1790; d. Bergen, N. J., 6 Apr. 1871. He began life a poor boy, but by his industry gained a large fortune. In 1812 he began business as a saddler and harness-maker. Devoting his attention to tanning in 1817, he attained eminent success; and his name will ever be associated with Pratts-ville, where he located a tannery in 1824. Elected to Congress in 1836, and again in 1842, he labored successfully for the public good. His career in Congress will be remembered for his efforts in behalf of the reduction of postage, his plans for the new post-office buildings, and the bureau of statistics, which owes its origin to him. Delegate to the Baltimore Convention of 1862; pres. of many societies and institutions, including the Mechanics' Institute, N.Y.; also col. of a regt., and member N.Y. legisl. His son, Gen. GEORGE, d. of a wound at the battle of Manassas, a. 32.

Pratz, Le PAGE DU, French traveller, b. Holland; d. 1775. Entering the French service, he fought in Germany, and, having obtained an interest in the French Western Land Co., left La Rochelle in May, 1718, to take possession of lands ceded them near New Orleans. After some fruitless efforts at colonization, he ascended the Mpi. in 1720; settled with the Natchez Indians, by whom he was well received, but with whom he had a conflict in Dec. 1723, and his property was burned. Peace restored, he explored the interior of the country, visiting the region watered by the Missouri and the Arkansas, and, after 8 years of labor, returned to N. Orleans, where he was treasurer of the company until the office was suppressed, when he returned to France; and 25 June, 1734, he landed at La Rochelle. He pub. his "History of Louisiana," giving an account of his adventures, 3 vols. 12mo, 1758, Paris, — a work of remarkable exactness. — Hofr. Nouv. Biog. Univ.

Pray, ISAAC CLARK, editor, author, and dramatist, b. Boston, 1813; d. N.Y. Nov. 28, 1869. Amh. Coll. 1833. Son of a Boston merchant of the same name. Some time connected with the Journal of Commerce, and afterward wrote for the Herald; was the author of "Virginus," a play first brought out at the Acad. of Music, and was very successful as a theatrical manager. He trained many celebrities for the stage, among whom are Charlotte Cushman and Charles D. Eaton. He was in Eng. in 1846-7, and performed successfully at the Queen's Theatre, London, the Theatres Royal, Liverpool and Cork, in the highest walks of the drama. Author of "Prose and Verse," 12mo, 1835; "Poems," 1837, 12mo; "Book of the Drama," 8vo, 1851; "Memoirs of J. G. Bennett," 1855; and of several burlesques and plays. Edited the Shelton, a monthly, pub at Amherst, 1831-3; Boston Post, weekly, 1834; also many other magazines and reviews, and in 1859-60 edited the Phila. Enquirer.

Pray, Jon, member of the exec. council of Ga., and a brave naval commander of the R. vol.; d. Ga. 29 Apr. 1789, a. 50. Oct. 18, 1776, he was sent by the council of safety to St. Thomas to procure arms and ammunition.

Pray, PERRILL REILIES R., lawyer and jurist, d. Pearlburg, Mpi., Jan. 11, 1840, a. 45. At the time of his death he was one of the judges of the High Court of Errors and Appeals. He pub. "Revised Statutes of Mpi.," 8vo, 1836.

Preble, EDWARD, commo. U.S.N., son of Gen. Jedediah, b. Portland, Me., Aug. 13, 1761; d. there Aug. 25, 1807. From childhood he discovered a firm, resolute, and persevering temper, and a strong disposition for perils and adventures, which led him to make a voyage to Europe in a letter-of-marque in 1777. In 1779 he served as midshipman under Capt. John Foster Williams in "The Protector," and having been taken in the Penobscot exped., under Capt. Saltonstall, was confined in the Jersey prison-ship, but obtained his release at N.Y. by the interest of Col. William Tyng. He next served as first lieut. of the sloop-of-war "Winthrop," Capt. Little, and boarded an English armed brig of superior force, lying in Penobscot harbor, under circumstances which gave the action great chat. He remained in this ship until Dec. 1782, and occupied himself as shipmaster until Feb. 9, 1798, when he was named one of the five lieuts. app. by the govt., and in the fall and winter of that year made two cruises as com. of the brig "Pickering." Capt. May 14, 1799, he made in the frigate "Essex," of 36 guns, in 1800, a voyage to the E. Indies for the protection of our trade. Near the end of the year, he arrived in N.Y. in feeble health, and so continued until May, 1803, when he took com. of the frigate "Constitution;" and in June took charge of the sloop, sent against Tripoli. He set sail in Aug., and, arriving at his destination in Sept., prevented a war between the emperor of Morocco and the U.S., and brought the bashaw of Tripoli to terms by a series of skilful bombardments. Having been superseded by Barron, Sept. 8, 1804, he obtained leave to return home. Congress voted him the thanks of the nation and an emblematical medal. — See Preble Family by Capt. Geo. H. Preble, 1868.

Preble, GEORGE RESEY, capt. U.S.N., b. Portland, Me., Feb. 25, 1816. Son of Capt. Enoch, and nephew of the preceding. Midshipm. Oct. 10, 1835; lieut. Feb. 15, 1848; com. July 16, 1862; capt. Jan. 29, 1867; served in the Seminole war 1841-2. During the Mexican war he was in the attack on Alvarado, Aug. 8 and Oct. 15, 1846; Tampico, Laguna, Vera Cruz, Alvarado, Apr. 1847; attached to coast-survey 1847-51; in sloop "Macedonian" in Oct. and Nov. 1854, in engagements with Chinese pirates; destroyed 3 piratical junks, July 10, 1855, and 2 on Aug. 27, 1855; com. steamer "Katahdin," W.G. block-squad, at the capture of N. Orleans; and at Vicksburg, Jan. 29, 1862; com. "Onaida," W.G. block-squad, 1862; sloop "St. Louis," S.A. block-squad, 1863-5; with naval brigade served on shore in battle of Honey Hill, S.C., Nov. 30, 1864, and in 3 actions at Devereux's Neck (Dec. 6, 7, and 9, 1864); com. steam-sloop "Pensacola," N.P. squad, 1868-9. Author of a "Genealogy of the Preble Family," 8vo, 1868; "History of the Amer. Flag," 1872.

Preble, GUS. JEDEDIAH, b. Wells, Me., 1707; d. Portland, Me., Mar. 11, 1784. He settled in Portland ab. 1748, and beg. his life as a mainer; capt. in Wadde's regt. 1746; was with Gen. Winslow as a lieut. col. in Acadia in 1755; col. 13 Mar. 1758; brig.-gen. 12 Mar. 1759; was 12 years a representative; com. labor in 1773; made a brig.-gen. by the Prov. Congress of Ms. 27 Oct. 1774, and an avowed a maj.-gen., but declined on account of age. Member of the State senate in 1780, and judge of the C.C.P. in 1778.

Preble, WILLIAM PIER, LL.D. (Bo. J. Coll. 1829), jurist, b. York, Me., Nov. 27, 1783; d. Portland, Me., Oct. 11, 1857. II U. 1806. In 1813 he was app. U. S. dist. atty., and became a leader of the Democ. party; in 1818 he removed to Portland, which he represented in the Me. Const. Conv., of which he was one of the most influential members. On the inauguration of the new State govt. in 1820 he was app. a judge of the Supreme Court; in 1829 he was app. minister to the Netherlands, and afterward held many public stations. First pres. of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad Co. in 1847.

Prentice, GEORGE DIXSON, poet and journalist, b. Preston, Ct., Dec. 18, 1802; d. Louisville, Ky., Jan. 22, 1870. Brown U. 1823. Such was his early ripeness of intellect, that he was principal of a public school before he was 15. He studied law, and was adm. to the bar in 1829, but did not engage in practice; and in 1828 became editor of the N. E. W. Ky. Gazette at Hartford, — a literary journal which he conducted two years. Removing to Louisville, Ky., he began in Nov. 1830 to edit the Louisville Journal, in which he won a high and widespread reputation for political ability and for wit and satire. For many years a leading advocate of the policy of the Whig party, it maintained during the Rebellion, with great zeal and ability, the cause of the Union against the secessionists. Specimens of his verse are to be found in several collections of American poetry; but they have never been gathered into a volume. A selection of his newspaper paragraphs was pub. under the title of "Prenticeana" in 1850. In 1831 he wrote a Life of Henry Clay. — Poets and Poetry of the West.

Prentiss, GEN. BENJAMIN MYMERY, b. Bellevue, Wood Co., Va., Nov. 21, 1792. In 1815 he moved to Mo., and in 1841 to Quincy, Ill., where he engaged in business. He was a capt. in the Mexican war. In 1850 he was an unsuccessful Repub. candidate for Congress. Col. 7th Ill. Vols. Apr. 1861, and afterward brig. gen. 3-months' troops, having com. at Cairo, Ill. — at that time a position of the utmost importance; brig. gen. U. S. vols. May 17, 1861; in Aug. 1861 he was detached to the com. at Younton Mo.; and Dec. 28 fought the battle of Mount Zion, routing a large body of secessionists. He served in Mo. until April, 1862, when he joined Gen. Grant 3 days before the battle of Shiloh, at the beginning of which he was taken prisoner with most of his com. He was released in Oct., and in Dec. was a member of the court-martial on Gen. F. J. Porter. Made maj. gen. Nov. 29, 1862; ab. July 3, 1873, he defeated Gens. Holmes and Polk, who attacked him at Helena, Ark.

Prentiss, CHARLES, editor and wit, b. Raleigh, Ms., Oct. 8, 1774; d. Bristfield, Ms., Oct. 23, 1820. II U. 1795. Son of Rev. Caleb R. Prentiss. Edited in 1795 the Read Register at E. Cambridge, Ms., and pub. there in 1807 "A Collection of Fugitive Essays in Prose and Verse," and the Political Opinions, afterward the Weekly Political Post, at Georgetown, the Libellous Post at B. Haven, and a literary paper the Concord Post. In 1804 he visited England. In 1809 he pub. the Travels, a theatrical piece of his own duration; at which he reported the congressional proceedings at Washington, and edited the Liberalest American; in 1813 he pub. at Brookfield the "Life of Gen. Eaton," "Life and Writings of R. T. Paine," 8vo, 1812; in 1817-18 he edited the Virginia Patriot at Richmond. "A scholar, a good writer, a judicious critic, he studied no profession, and relied for support entirely upon his pen." — Dagoback.

Prentiss, GEORGE ADRIAN, commodore U. S. N., b. Keene, N.H., 1799; d. near Charleston, S. C., 8 Apr. 1868. Son of John Prentiss, formerly editor of the N. H. Seaside. Midshipm. 1 Mar. 1825; lieut. 9 Feb. 1837; com. 11 Sept. 1845; commo. (retired list) 16 July, 1860.

Prentiss, COL. JOHN HOLMES, a prominent Democratic editor of N. Y., b. 1785; d. Cooperstown, N. Y., 26 June, 1861. M. C. 1847-48. Son of Dr. Samuel. — Pratt's Union, p.

Prentiss, SAMUEL, M. D., b. Stonington, Ct., 1759; d. Northfield, Ms., 1818. Son of Col. Samuel of the Revol. army. Studied with Dr. Philip Turner of Norwich; served in the army as an assist. surgeon, several years in Worcester, and for 20 years was an eminent physician and surgeon in Northfield. In 1810 he resided at Bernardston. Of his sons, Samuel was a U. S. senator and judge, John H. a prominent editor and politician, and Wm. of Milwaukee has been pres. of the legisl. com. of Wisconsin. — H. Van's Med. Lib.

Prentiss, SAMUEL, LL. D., senator and jurist, son of the preceding, b. Stonington, Ct., Mar. 31, 1782; d. Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 15, 1857. He studied law, and commenced practice in Montpelier in 1803, soon acquiring the reputation of a learned, eloquent, and upright lawyer, and becoming one of the foremost in of the Vt. bar. In 1824-5 he represented Montpelier in the legisl.; in 1829 he was elected chief justice of the Supreme Court of Vt.; and was U. S. senator in 1831-42, where he did much to direct the passage of a law against dueling in the Dist. of Col.; U. S. dist. judge from 1842 to his death.

Prentiss, SHERMAN SMITH, lawyer and orator, b. Portland, Me., Sept. 30, 1808; d. Longwood, near Natchez, Miss., July 1, 1870. Bowd. Coll. 1826. He went to Miss. in 1827; was tutor a year or two in a private family near Natchez; studied law; and was adm. to the bar in 1829, when his first speech before a jury is said to have been marked by that wit and eloquence which never deserted him. He was law-partner of Gen. Felix Huston. In 1832 he moved to Vicksburg, became at once leader of the bar in that section of the State, and by gaining a suit involving the not valuable portion of the city, gained a high reputation as a lawyer; and the ground which he covered as a lawyer made him one of the wealthiest men in the State. He was elected to the State legisl. in 1835. His speech in the U. S. house of representatives in 1837, which lasted 30 days, in which he claimed the seat held by Col. Calhoun (which claim was only rejected by the casting-vote of the speaker, J. K. Polk), established his reputation as one of the ablest parliamentary debaters in the country. The candidate thus sent back to the people canvassed the State, and was by an overwhelming vote returned to the house, where he disting. himself by his eloquence. His distaste for political life led him to resume practice at the close of his term. Embarrassed by the financial troubles of 1837, and dissatisfied with the course of Mpi. in repudiating her bonds, he removed to New Orleans in 1845, where he led the bar until broken down by ill-health. He was disting. for his love and knowledge of literature, and took part in many philanthropic movements in that city. — See his Memoirs, edited by his brother Georg L., D.D., 2 vols., N.Y., 1855.

Prentiss, THOMAS, D.D., minister of Medfield, Ms., from 1770 to his d. Feb. 28, 1814, b. Holliston, Oct. 27, 1747. H.U. 1766. He was a leader in temperance reform, and established in M. a large public library. He pub. a number of sermons. Some time a chaplain in the Revol. army.

Prescott, BENJAMIN, minister of Danvers 1713-58, b. Concord, Ms., 16 Sept. 1687; d. Danvers, May 27, 1777. H.U. 1709. Son of Capt. Jonathan. Author of "Examination of Certain Remarks," 1735; "Letter to Joshua Gee," 1743; "Letter to Whitefield," 1745; "Consideration of the Unhappy Misunderstanding between Parliament and the Colonies," 1774. — Prescott Memorial.

Prescott, OLIVER, M.D., physician and a Revol. patriot, b. Groton, Ms., Apr. 27, 1731; d. there Nov. 17, 1804. H.U. 1750. Son of Judge Benjamin, who was grandson of John of Lincolnshire, Eng., who was an early settler of Lancaster, Ms. He practised medicine in his native town. Before the Revol. he was successively major, lieutenant-col., and col. in the militia, and early in 1776 was app. a brig.-gen. for the Co. of Middlesex; member of the board of war; was in 1777 elected a member of the supreme exec. council of the State, and served 3 years; in 1778 he became 3d maj.-gen. of State militia; and in 1781 second, but soon after resigned; judge of probate for Middlesex Co. from 1779 until his death. He was very influential in suppressing the Shays Rebellion. In 1780 he became a fellow of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences. He was a trustee, as well as a patron and benefactor, of Groton Acad. His son OLIVER, M.D., b. Groton, Ms., Apr. 4, 1762, d. Newburyport, Sept. 26, 1827. H.U. 1783. He studied physie with his father, and Dr. James Lloyd of Boston; was surgeon of the forces which suppressed the Shays Insurrection in 1787; and was often a representative to the State legisl. He was a founder, trustee, and treasurer of the Groton Acad. Quitting an extensive practice in Groton, he removed to Newburyport in 1811, where he practised with success till his death. He contrib. some valuable articles to the N. E. Journal of Medicine and Surgery, and pub. a "Dissertation on the Natural History and Medicinal Effects of the Seda Cornutum, or Ergot." — Prescott Memorial.

Prescott, RICHARD, a British lieutenant-gen.; d. Oct. 17, 8. App. major 33d Foot, Dec. 20, 1756. May, 1762, lieutenant-col. 50th Foot, with which he served in Germany; brev. col. 7th Foot, June 22, 1772, with which he came to Canada in 1773. On the reduction of Montreal by the Americans in 1775, Col. Prescott, who had the local rank of brig.-gen., attempted to descend to Quebec with the English troops and military stores, but was obliged to surrender Nov. 17. In Sept. following he was exchanged for Gen. Sullivan; in Nov. he became col. of his regt.; and in Dec. was third in com. of the expedi. sent against R.L., where he remained in com. of the British forces until again made prisoner July 10, 1777, by the adventurous daring of Lieut.-Col. Barton. He was finally exchanged for Gen. Lee, and resumed his com. at R.L., continuing there till its evacuation, Oct. 25, 1779. Maj.-gen. Aug. 20, 1777; lieutenant-gen. Nov. 26, 1782. His treatment of Amer. prisoners was harsh and brutal.

Prescott, ROBERT, a British gen., b. Lancashire, Eng., 1725; d. near Battle, Sussex, Eng., Dec. 21, 1816. Capt. 15th Foot, Jan. 22, 1755, and served in the expedi. against Rochefort in 1757, against Louisbourg in 1758; acted as aide-de-camp to Amherst in 1759, and afterwards joined the army under Wolfe; March 22, 1761, he was app. major 95th Foot, which formed part of the force sent under Moulton to reduce Martinico; lieutenant-col. 28th Regt., Sept. 8, 1773, and was present at the battle of Brooklyn and in the several engagements in Westchester Co., and in the storming of Fort Washington in Nov.; in 1777 he was attached to the expedi. against Phila.; was app. col. by brev. Aug. 29, and was in the battle of Brandywine; in 1778 he was app. 1st brig.-gen. in the expedi. under Gen. Grant against the French in W. Indies; col. Oct. 13, 1780; Oct. 19, 1781, maj.-gen. July 6, 1789, he was app. col. of the 28th Regt., and lieutenant-gen. Oct. 12, 1793; was ordered to Barbadoes, which capitulated March 22, 1794, and of which, as well as of Guadeloupe, he was made civil gov. July 12, 1796, he succeeded Lord Dorchester in the gov. of Lower Canada, which he administered until July 31, 1799, when he was recalled in consequence of a rupture with the exec. council. Gen. in the army, Jan. 1, 1798.

Prescott, COL. WILLIAM, a disting. Revol. officer, bro. of Oliver, b. Groton, Ms., 20 Feb. 1726; d. Oct. 13, 1795. A province lieutenant, at the capture of Cape Breton in 1758, capt. and r. Gen. Winslow in Nova Scotia, 1756. He was offered a commis. in the regular army, which he declined. Inheriting a large estate at Pepperell, he resided there until the breaking-out of the war, filling various municipal offices. In 1774 he was app. to com. a regt. of minute-men, with which he marched (19 April, 1775) to Lexington. The British having retreated, he proceeded to Concord, where he entered the prov. army, Jan. 15, 1775, he was ordered to Charlestown with 1000 men, and directed to throw up works on Bunker's Hill. On arriving at the ground, he perceived that the neighboring elevation, called Breed's Hill, was a more suitable station; and on it the defenses, consisting of a redoubt and breastworks, were erected during the night. The following day, a large British force under Gen. Howe, attacked, and after a contest, the most memorable in American annals, and after sustaining a loss equal to the American force engaged, succeeded in driving the British Richmond St., Providence, R.I.; was chosen pres. of the U. of Vt. in 1825; removed to Ga. for the benefit of a milder climate in 1829, officiating in Powellton, Madison, and Milledgeville; in 1831 became pastor of the Presb. ch. in Savannah, and there remained until his death.

Preston, WILLIAM, gen. C.S.A., b. near Louisville, Ky., Oct. 16, 1816; d. 1862. Camb. Law School, 1838. He studied at the Jesuits' Coll. at Bard-stown, Ky., and at New Haven. Practised law at Louisville until Oct. 1847, when he became lieutenant-col. 4th Ky. Vols., and served through the Mexican war. Resuming his profession, he became a member of the State Const. Conv., June 11, 1850; of the State legis. in 1850 and 1851; M.C. 1851-3; afterwards attached himself to the Democ. party; was a member of the conv. at Cincinnati in 1856 which nominated Mr. Buchanan, who, Mar. 12, 1859, app. him envoy-extra. to the court of Spain. Resigning early in 1861, he returned to Ky. to induce the State to secede; was chosen in Nov., by a convention held at Russellville, a commiss. to visit Richmond, and negotiate for the admission of Ky. into the Confed.; app. a brig.-gen. in the Confed. army; acted as a vol. aid on the staff of his bro.-in-law Gen. A. S. Johnston; was present at Shiloh when Gen. Johnston received his death-wound; and served under Bragg during his invasion of Ky. in Sept. 1862.

Preston, WILLIAM BALLARD, statesman, b. Va.; d. at his residence in Montgomery Co., Va., Nov. 14, 1862. M.C. in 1847-9; sec. of the navy under Pres. Taylor 1849-50; and a senator in the Conf. d. Congress.

Preston, WILLIAM CAMPBELL, LL.D. (H.U. 1846), statesman, b. Phila. Dec. 27, 1794; d. Columbia, S.C., May 22, 1860. U. of S.C. 1812. His grandfather Col. William com. a militia regt., was wounded at Guilford, and d. soon after 1783. Francis his father, M.C. 1793-7, d. May 26, 1835, a. 69. He studied law in the office of Wm. Wirt at Richmond, and, while visiting Europe in 1816-19, attended the lectures of Hope, Playfair, and Brown, at Edinb. Adm. to the bar in 1820, he settled at Columbia, S.C., in 1822, and practised successfully; M.C. in 1824, he disting. himself by his advocacy of free trade and State rights, and was a nullification leader in the State legislatures of 1828 and 1830-2; U.S. senator 1834-42, where he took high rank as a debater. Pres. of the U. of S.C. 1845-51. He soon after established the Columbia Lyceum, which he endowed with his library of 3,000 vols. His oratory was ornate and fluent, his elocution graceful, and he was well versed in the English classics. Maj. Wm. and James P. Preston were his sons. The pub. a Eulogy on Hugh S. Legare, 1843; and speeches, addresses, &c.

Prevost, AUGUSTINE, a British maj.-gen., b. Geneva; d. Bennett, Eng., 5 May, 1786. His mother was the dau. of Chevalier Grand. He was lieutenant-col. in March, 1761; col. Aug. 29, 1777; maj.-gen. 27 Feb. 1779. As a capt. 60th Regt. (Royal American), he served under Wolfe at Quebec. He was highly disting. in the American war by his defence of Savannah in Oct. 1779. He captured the fort at Sunbury, Ga., in Dec. 1778; defeated Gen. Ashe at Brier Creek in March, 1779; and in May following attempted, unsuccessfully, to capture Charleston.

Prevost, SIR GEORGE, a British lieutenant-gen., son of the preceding, b. New York, May 19, 1767; d. Eng., Jan. 5, 1816. He entered the army young; served with distinction at St. Vincent's and Dominica, and at St. Lucia; was created a baronet Nov. 20, 1805; maj.-gen. Jan. 1805; lieutenant-gen. June, 1811; lieutenant-gov. of Nova Scotia in 1808; second in com. at the capture of Martinique; and in June, 1811, succeeded Sir James Craig in the chief civil and military com. of British N. America, which he held till his return to Eng. in 1814. His services in the defence of Canada against the armies of the U.S. in 1812-14 were of great importance, although he was defeated by Macomb and McDonough at Plattsburg, 11 Sept. 1814.

Price, ELI K., member of the Phila. bar, b. Chester Co., Pa., 1797. Author of "Memoir of Philip and Rachel Price" (his parents), 1853; "Limitations of Actions in Pa.," 8vo, 1857; "The Family as an Element of Government," 1861. — Allibon.

Price, RICHARD, D.D. (Glasg. U. 1769), LL.D. (Y.C. 1783), minister, and writer on politics and morals, b. Glamorganshire, Wales, 22 Feb. 1723; d. 19 Apr. 1791. Educated at Talgarth and at a Presb. acad. in Lond. Settled in 1758 over a dissenting cong. at Newington Green, of which he was many years pastor. He was an intrepid asserter of the rights of man; and in 1776 pub. "Observations on the Nature of Civil Liberty," &c., — the best exposition of the injurious policy pursued towards the Americans. It attained in two years a sale of 60,000. The common council of Lond. gave him the freedom of the city, and the Amer. Congress afterward invited him to become a citizen of the U.S. In 1781 he pub. "Observations on the Importance of the Amer. Revol." From 1763 to 1786 he contrib. many papers to the "Philos. Transactions." F.R.S. 1764. Of his many other works, that on the National Debt is regarded as one of the best upon political arithmetic. Philanthropy was the leading characteristic both of his conduct and his writings.

Price, RODMAN M., gov. of N.J. 1854-7, b. Sussex Co., N.J., Nov. 5, 1816. He studied at N.J. Coll.; but illness prevented his graduation. He then studied law; was app. purs-er in the navy in 1840; is said to have been the first person to exercise judicial functions under the American flag on the Pacific coast as alcalde; was made navy agent there in 1848; was M.C. from N.J. 1851-3; delegate to the Peace Congress, 1861. He caused the establishment in that State of a normal school, and fostered the State militia. — Lanman.

Price, STERLING, maj.-gen. C.S.A., b. Prince Edward Co., Va., Sept. 1809; d. St. Louis, Mo., 29 Sept. 1867. He settled as a farmer in Charlton Co., Mo., in 1830. Good natural abilities, improved by study, soon made him known. He served in the State legis.; was M.C. 1845-7; col. of Mo. vol. cavalry in Mex. war, 12 Aug. 1846; brig.-gen. 20 July, 1847; promoted and made military gov. of Chihuahua for the capture of Faos; com. and wounded at Cañada, New Mex., 24 Jan. 1847; at Leon in battle of Santa Cruz de Roscos 16 Mar. 1848; Gov. of Mo. 1851-7 and during the "blood-reathen war" between the Missourians and the settlers of Kansas; and was bank commiss. in 1861-1867, when thecession prov. of Mo., made prov. of the States, vol. 28, 1-1861, as 2nd in command being at Fort Le Moine of the Union. Returned when Gen. Lyon, Proc. pres. of U. with Ben. M. Ch. (wh. who withdrew) returned at the State was saved to the U. States, 8 of 20, he ordered Lexington with 3000 soldiers, and was thanked by the Congress, 1862. Frustrated to the service of the U. States in Mar. 1862, with the rank of brig. gen., he was one of the leaders in the battle of Pea Ridge, Mar. 6-8, 1862, where he was wounded, fought at Fort 20 Sept., and at Corinth Oct. 3-5, 1862, the advance of the army in Northern Mo. under Pemberton in Dec. was subsequently in com. of the Dept. of the Ark., and in Sept. 1864 invaded Mo., but after gaining some temporary success, was driven from the State, and pursued with great loss. At the close of the war he went to Mexico, where he acted for a time on the board of immigration, but returned to Mo. in 1867.

Prideaux, Joux, brig. gen., b. Devonshire, England, 1718; accidentally killed in the trenches at the siege of Niagara, July 19, 1759; Son of S. John Prideaux, bart. Army capt. of the 41 Foot Guards, Feb. 24, 1745, col. 55th Foot, Oct. 28, 1758, and brig. gen. May 5, 1759; served at the battle of Dettingen. He was succeeded by Wm. Pitt with the duty of reducing Fort Niagara, then one of the most fertile in the country. He effected a landing, July 7, 1759, and at once opened fire upon the fort, the 11th being indicated a sortie, and on the 19th was busy in the trenches, when he was slain by the bursting of a cannon.

Pridgen, William, of Belden Co., N. C., of the 88th reg. of infantry, d. Oct. 14, 1845, a. 143. A brave exponent of the volunteer duty, he served a full term in the Cont. Army, and became entitled to a pension, which he received during the latter years of his life. He retired on account of his limbs and his faculties to the last, with the exception of his sight, which he lost a few years before his decease.

Priest, Joseph, d. in 1850 in Western N. Y. P. "An American Annapolis and Dismissals in the West," 8vo, Albany, 1841. "Says in the Light of History and Scripture," 8vo, 1843. "Says on the Rev.," &c., 8vo, 1846. "View of the Millennium," 12mo, 1828. "Wonders of Nature," &c., 1826. He was distinguished man, by trade a harness-maker.

Priestley, Joseph, LL.D., philosopher, chemist, &c., b. Dec. 13, 1733, at Needham, Mass., d. Feb. 18, 1804. He studied at a dissenting acad. founded in 1738-8 at Needham, Mass., at New York, Chesler, in 1780-1, which became tutor of languages and sciences, at the sem. at Washington, where he read "The Scripture Doctrine of Redemption," in which he repeats the dogma of the Atonement, and in 1767 a "History of Electricity," at the suggestion of Dr. Franklin. This caused his election into the Royal Society, and gain of him the degree of LL.D. from Edinburgh U. In 1767 he became minister to a large cong. at Leeds, and made important pneumatic discoveries; in 1772 he received the Copley Medal for his "Observations on Different Kinds of Air." He discovered the effect of respiration on the blood, and the tendency of vegetation to restore to vitiated air its vivifying principle. He also discovered nitrous gas, non-infl. gas and oxygen, which he obtained in 1774 from red precipitate of mercury, calling it "dephlogisticated air." "As a physicist and chemist," says Cuvier, "his talents were of the first order." His researches and writings have contributed much to the progress of the sciences. Librarian and literary companion of the Earl of Shelburne 1773-80; he accompanied him in 1774 in a tour through Flanders, Holland, and Germany. While at Leeds he pub. some pieces in favor of civil liberty, the chief of which was "An Address to Dissenters on the Subject of the Differences with America," written at the request of Drs. Frank and Fothergill. In 1780 he settled at Birmingham as minister of the principal dissenting cong., and incurred public odium by his liberal religious and republican sentiments; in July, 1791, his house was fired by a mob, who inflicted great damage on his books, apparatus, &c.; he and his family escaped by flight; in April, 1794 he settled in Northumberland, Pa., but was regarded with hostility by the anti-French party. He delivered two courses of lectures at Phila. in 1796-7 on "The Evidences of Revelation," pub. in 2 vols. and defended Socinianism with much warmth in a controversy with Dr. Laps of Phila. Besides the above-mentioned works, he is the author of "4 statutes of Newton, and Revival of Religion," 1772-4. "Experiments and Observations on Air," 3 vols. 1774-80. "Defense of Socinianism," "History of the Corruptions of Christianity," 1782. "Familiar Letters to the Inhabitants of Birmingham," 1790. "Reply to Burke's Reflections on the French Revol.," 1791. "Disquisitions on Matter and Spirit," &c. His publications exceed 70 volumes. — S. C. S. L. G. P. 1852, 1805. A. G. S. L. G. P. 1806, 1807.

Prime, Benjamin Young, M.D., b. Huntington, I. I., 20 Dec. 1733, d. 31 Oct. 1791, N. J. Coll. 1751; tutor there 1760-7. Descended from James a first sett. of Mifflin, Ct., son of Ebenezer, minister of H. 1719-79. He took his medical degree at Leyden, settled in the practice of medicine in New York in 1764, subsequently wrote essays in Hebrew, Greek, Latin, French, and Spanish, and many Revol. songs and ballads, which circulated widely during the war. Author of "The Patriotic Muse," poems, 8vo, Lond. 1764. "Columbus's Glory," a poem on the American Revol., 1791, and "Massachusetts's Lament," 1818. — S. C. S. L. G. P. 1806.

Prime, Nathaniel Scudder, D.D., N. J. Coll. 1848. Fresh clergyman b. Huntington, I. I., Apr. 21, 1785, d. Manarock, N. Y., Mar. 27, 1836. N. J. Coll. 1804. From his grandfather, Rev. Ebenezer, and from his father, Dr. Benjamin Young, he inherited a taste for letters, which he cultivated assiduously, and transmitted to his children. Ord. Oct. 24, 1809, and officiated for several years at Sag Harbor, Freshpond, and Smithtown; and July 14, 1813, became pastor of the church in Cambridge, Washington Co., N. Y., where he remained until 1830; the last three years of this time he was principal of a literary institution. In 1830 he took charge of the Mount-Pleasant Acad., Sing Sing; and in 1835 established a female seminary in Newburg, N. Y., subsequently teaching and preaching in various places. He was an able preacher and a successful instructor. He wrote for the press a Treatise on Baptism; and "The History of Long Island," 12mo, 1845. — See supra.

Prince, Samuel Brewster, D.D. (Hamp. Sidney Coll.), clergyman, son of Rev. N. S. Prince, b. Ballston, N. York, Nov. 4, 1812. Wm. Coll. 1829. After studying at Princeton Theol. Sem., he entered the Presb. ministry. Compelled by ill-health in 1819 to relinquish the active duties of his profession, he became editor of the N. Y. Observer, newspaper, the chief organ of his denomination, and one of the leading religious periodicals in the country. Author of "Travels in Europe and the East," 2 vols. 1853; a work on Switzerland, the result of an extensive journey in 1853; "Life in New York," 1845; "Annals of the English Bible," 8vo, 1849; and of several religious works, including "Thoughts on the Death of Little Children;" "The Power of Prayer," — the latter a sketch of the Fulton st. (New York) prayer meeting, has been repub. in several European languages; "The Bible in the Levant," &c., 1850; "Memoirs of Rev. Nicholas Murray," 1862; and "Five Years of Prayer, with the Answers," 1864. — See Notiz in Harper's Weekly, Sept. 25, 1858.

Prince, William Cowper, author, bro. of S. L., b. Cambridge, N. Y., Oct. 31, 1825. N. Y. Coll. 1843. Becoming a member of the New-York bar, he has since been also engaged in literary pursuits. He has pub. "The Owl-Cock Letters," originally contributed to the N. Y. Ann. of Commerce; "The Old House by the River," 1853; and "Later Years," 1854. In 1855-6 he travelled extensively in the East and elsewhere, and pub. on his return "Bout Life in Egypt and Nubia," 1857; and "Tent-Life in the Holy Land," 1857. He has since paid much attention to numismatics and Egyptian antiquities; and in 1860 edited a work entitled "Coins, Medals, and Seals," 4to. In 1865 he pub. with notes, the old hymn, "O Mother Dear, Jerusalem!" "Passio Christi" of Albert Durer, 1868. Contrib. to the New Amer. Cyclop. and to periodicals.

Prince, Henry, brev. brig.-gen. U. S. A., b. Eastport, Me., Jan. 19, 1811. West Point, 1835. Entering the 4th Inf., he became 1st lieutenant (1838); won two brevets for gallantry at Contreras, Churubusco, and Molino del Rey, where he was severely wounded; made capt. Sept. 26, 1847; paymaster (rank of major), May 23, 1855; and brig.-gen. vols. April 28, 1862. Assigned to the Army of Va. under Gen. Pope, he was taken prisoner at the battle of Cedar Mountain, Aug. 9, 1862; was released on parole in Sept.; served in N. C. Jan.-June, 1863; in the Rapidan campaign, Oct.-Dec.

1863; in Mine-Ran operations Nov.-Dec. 1863; in com. of Dist. Columbus, Ky., Apr.-Aug. 1864; brev. lieut. col. 9 Aug. 1862, for Cedar Mountain; and brig.-gen. U. S. A. 13 Mar. 1865. — Callam.

Prince, Jons, J. D. (B. V., 1795), a Cong. clergyman, eminent for his scientific achievements, b. Boston, July 11, 1791; d. Salem, June 7, 1836. H. C., 1796. Ord. at Salem in 1779, and pastor of the First Church there nearly 58 years. He especially distinguished himself for his improvements in the air pump; and the one which he made as early as 1784 gave him a reputation throughout the scientific world. He pub. sermons. A Memoir by C. W. Upham is in "Ms. Hist. Cols.," 3d ser., v. 5.

Prince, Jons Chavars, R. C. Bishop of St. Hyacinth, C. E. Consec. Bishop of Montreal, July 25, 1845; trans. to St. H. June 8, 1852; d. May 5, 1860.

Prince, Nathan, scholar, b. Sandwich, Me., 30 Nov. 1692; d. minister of Kittery, Bay of Honduras, July 25, 1748, a. 56. H. C., 1718. Bro. of Rev. Thomas. Tutor of H. C., 1723; fellow in 1737, but was removed in 1742. He afterwards pub. an account of the constitution and govt. of Hary. Coll., from its foundation in 1636 to 1742; and an essay to solve the difficulties attending the accounts of the resurrection, 1734. He became an Episcopalian, and ranked among the great scholars of his time. — Ibid.

Prince, Oliver H., U. S. senator from Ga. 1828-9; lost Oct. 9, 1837, in the steamboat "Home," near Ocracoke. He pub. "Digest of the Laws of Ga.," &c., to Dec. 1829, 2d ed. 8vo, 1837.

Prince, or Prence, Thomas, gov. of Plym. Col., b. Eng. 1691; d. Plym., Me., Mar. 29, 1673. He arrived in Plymouth in 1621; was gov. in 1631, 1638, and from 1657 to 1659, and was an assist. in 1655-7 and in 1659-57. He lived at Nanset, or Easton, of which he was one of the first settlers in 1644, until he became governor; and in 1663 he removed to Lynnouth. He was a man of eminent worth and piety, and an impartial magistrate. Strict in his religious opinions, he zealously opposed those whom he believed to be heretics, particularly the Quakers. He was a friend of learning; and, in opposition to the clamors of the ignorant, procured revenues for the support of grammar-schools in the Colony.

Prince, Thomas, minister and chronologist, b. Sandwich, Ms., May 15, 1687; d. Boston, Oct. 22, 1758. H. C., 1707. Son of Samuel of Sandwich, and grandson of Elder John of Hull, who came to N. E. in 1633. He went to Eng. Apr. 1, 1709, and preached some time at Combe, in Suffolk; but, being strongly attached to his native land, returned to Boston, July 20, 1717, and was ord. over the Old South Church, Oct. 1, 1718, as colleague of Dr. Sewall. He was eminent as a preacher, linguist, and man of learning. Mr. Prince began in 1703, and continued more than 50 years, a collection of public and private papers relating to the civil and religious history of N. E. This he pub. in the form of annals, 12mo. 1736, and 3 numbers of the second part in 1736, but spent so much time upon the introductory epistle, beginning at the creation, that he brought his history only down to 1633. His collection of MSS. was deposited in the Old South Church, and was partly destroyed by the British, who occupied that building in 1775-6, many important facts relating to the history of the country being thus irrecoverably lost. His books and MSS. now form part of the Pub. Library of the city of Boston. Besides a great number of sermons, he pub. an "Introduction and Notes to Mason's History of the Pequot War," 1736; various biographical and other papers in the Christian History, &c., 1743-4. "An Improvement on the Doctrine of Earthquakes," &c., 1755. "Life of Nehemiah Walter, appended to his Sermons," 1755; Notes and Appendix to "Williams's Redeemed Captive," 1757; "The Psalms, &c., with Historical Preface and Notes," 1758; several lives in "Mayhew's Indian Converts," 1727; and an account of the first appearance of La Aurora Borealis.

Prince, THOMAS, son of the preceding, b. Boston, Feb. 27, 1722; d. Oct. 1748. II U. 1740. He edited the earliest American periodical, the Christian History, containing accounts of the revival and propagation of religion in Great Britain and America for 1743, 2 vols. 8vo. pub. weekly, 1744-6.

Pring, DANIEL, commodore R. N.; d. Port Royal, Jamaica, Nov. 29, 1847. He early entered the navy, was a midshipman, at the attack on Copenhagen in 1801; was made a lieutenant in 1807; comd. the schooner "Paz" on the Halifax station in 1812; was transferred to service on Lake Ontario in 1813, and promoted to a command, and in 1814 was app. to comd. "The Lynnet," a brig of 16 guns, in the squad of Com. Downie on Lake Champlain. In the celebrated engagement with the fleet of Macdonough, he sustained a severe conflict with "The Eagle" (of 20 guns), but was eventually compelled to strike. In 1815 he was promoted to post-captain, and early in 1816 to commodore. — Morgan's Celebrated Canadians.

Proctor, HENRY, a British lieutenant-gen., b. of an ancient family in Wales, 1765; d. Liverpool, Eng., 1822. He joined the army as lieutenant, 4th Foot, Dec. 1781; became major, May, 1795; lieutenant-col. 41st, Oct. 1800; col. July, 1810; major-gen. June, 1813, and on the breaking-out of the war of 1812 came to Canada in comd. of the 41st Regt. He was despatched to Amherstburg by Gen. Brock to prevent the landing of Hull, whose forces he repulsed from that place, and defeated at Brownston, and gained a brilliant victory over Winchester on the River Raisin, for which he was promoted to the rank of brig.-gen. In May, 1813, he was defeated at Fort Meigs by Gen. Harrison; Aug. 2, he was signally defeated by Major Croghan in defence of Fort Stephenson, Lower Sandusky; and Oct. 5, 1813, was totally defeated at the battle of the Thames by Gen. Harrison. He was afterward tried by court-martial and suspended from rank and pay for 6 months. He comd. again during the war, and rose to the rank of lieutenant-gen. — Morgan's Celebrated Canadians.

Proctor, GEN. THOMAS, Revol. officer, b. Ireland, 1739; d. Phila. 16 Mar. 1806. Col. of Pa. art. through the Revol.; disting. at Brandywine, and in Sullivan's exped. against the Indians. He was a carpenter by trade.

Proud, ROBERT, historian, b. Yorkshire, Eng., May 10, 1728; d. Phila. July 7, 1813. Arriving in Phila. in Jan. 1759, he taught Greek and Latin in a Quaker school, until the Revol. Firm in his attachment to the crown, he believed that the Revol. would cause the decline of virtue and prosperity in America. He pub. in 1797-8 a valuable history of Pa. (1681-1742), by which he was peculiarly a loser — See Notice of his Life in Pa. Hist. Soc. Memoirs, by C. W. Thompson, vol. 1. 8vo. 1826.

Proudfit, ALEXANDER MONCRIEF, D. D. (Wms. Coll. 1812), Presb. clergyman, b. Pequea, Pa., 1770; d. New Brunswick, N. J., Apr. 17, 1843. Col. Coll. 1792. He was in 1794-1835 pastor of the Ref. Presb. Church, Salem, N. Y.; and was subsequently the agent of the Amer. Colonization Society. He pub. "Ruin and Recovery of Man," 12mo, 1806; "Theological Works," 4 vols. 12mo, 1815; a work on the Parables, 12mo, 1820, and sermons. A Memoir by John Forsyth, D. D., was pub. in 12mo, N. Y.

Provoost, SAMUEL, D. D. (U. of Pa. 1786), Prof. of Divinity, b. N. Y., b. New York, March 11, 1742; d. there Sept. 6, 1815. Col. Coll. 1758. Of Huguenot descent; son of John, a merchant of New York. Educated at Cambridge, Eng., where he graduated. He became an Episcopalian; was adm. to orders in 1766; married at Cambridge; returned to New York, and became an assist. at Trinity Church, Dec. 1766. Being a warm advocate of the Amer. Revol., he resigned his charge in 1770; retired to a small farm in Dutchess Co., and refused ad. preferment, although proposed as a delegate to the Prov. Congress in 1775; invited in 1777 to become chaplain to the convention which formed the first const. of N. Y.; and officiated the same year the rectorship of St. Michael's Church at Charleston, and in 1782 of King's Chapel, Boston. In 1783, when New York was evacuated by the British troops, he left his retirement for the rectorship of Trinity Church; and at the first gen. conv. of the church in 1786 was elected bishop; proceeded to Eng. with Bishop White of Pa. for consecration; and was adm. 4 Feb. 1787, to the holy order of bishops at Lambeth, returning to New York, April 8, 1787. He was chaplain to the Cont. Congress in 1785, and to the U. S. senate in 1789. Overcome by domestic bereavements and afflictions, he resigned his rectorship of Trinity Church in 1800, and his bishopric in Sept. 1801.

Pryor, ROGER A., b. Dinwiddie Co., Va., July 19, 1828. Hamp. Sid. Coll. 1845. His father was a prominent clergyman. He studied law; and in 1850 edited the Southside Democrat at Petersburg, Va. In 1852-3 he was on the staff of the Union, newspaper, at Washington; in 1854 he was commiss. to Greece; in 1855 resumed his editorial functions at Petersburg; afterward edited the South at Richmond, and the States, an advocate of extreme Southern views, at Washington. Elected to Congress in 1859, he was noted as a vehement advocate of secession, and for his challenge of John F. Potter of Wisconsin. On the approach of the civil war, Mr. Pryor volunteered as an aide-de-camp to Gen. Beauregard during the reduction of Fort Sumter. He held the rank of brig.-gen., and led a division in the battles before Richmond; re-signed Aug. 26, 1863. Member of the Confed. Congress. Captured in Nov. 1864, and for a short time imprisoned in Fort Lafayette. Has since been an editor in Tenn.

Pugh, ELLIS, Quaker preacher, b. Dolgelly, Merioneth Co., Wales, June, 1656; d. Oct. 10, 1718. He began to preach ab. 1680, and in 1687 settled at Gwynedd, Pa. He revisited his native place in 1706-8. Author of a treatise called "A Salutation to the Britains," written in Welsh. — Collection of Quaker Memorials.

Pugh, GEORGE ELLIS, lawyer and senator, b. Cincinnati, O., Nov. 28, 1822. Miami U. 1840. In 1847 he was capt. in the 4th Regt. O. Vols. in the Mexican war; representative in the legis. in 1848 and '49; city solicitor of Cincinnati in 1850; atty.-gen. of the State in 1851; and was U.S. senator in 1855-61.

Pulaski, COLENT CASTNER, a Polish patriot, and a brig.-gen. in the Revol. army, b. Lithuania, Poland, March 4, 1748; d. Oct. 11, 1779. Son of the patriotic Count Pulaski, who formed the confederation of Bar in 1768. He was educated for the law, but had seen some military service under Duke Charles of Courland, when, at the age of 21, he joined his father in the struggle for liberty against King Stanislaus in 1769. The old count was taken prisoner, and perished in a dungeon. His son, elected com.-in-chief in 1770, prolonged the contest, but with insufficient forces. In 1771, he, with 39 others, entered Warsaw, disguised as peasants, for the purpose of seizing the king. They bore him out of the city, but were compelled to leave him not far from the walls, and escape. His little army was soon afterward defeated, himself outlawed, his estates confiscated, and he entered the service of the Turks, then at war with Russia. He afterwards went to Paris; had an interview with Franklin, and, sympathizing deeply with a people struggling for their liberties, came to America in the summer of 1777. He joined the army under Washington; fought with distinction at Brandywine; and was (Sept. 13, 1777) app. by Congress to com. the cavalry, with the rank of brig.-gen. He was in the battle of Germantown; and early in the spring of 1778 was placed in com. of a corps of 68 light horse and 200 foot. This was called "Pulaski's Legion," and was officered mostly by foreigners. Commanding this heterogeneous corps, badly equipped and worse mounted, this brave Pole encountered difficulties and sought danger. Ordered to Little Egg Harbor, he was surprised while on the march, — a deserter having given information to the enemy, — and a large portion of his inf. was bayoneted. In Feb. 1779 he was ordered to the South, and was in active service under Lincoln until the siege of Savannah, in Sept.-Oct. of that year, where he was mortally wounded in the assault, Oct. 9. He was taken to the U.S.

brig "Wasp," where he died. Nov. 29, '79, Congress voted a monument to his memory, which was never erected; but one was raised by the citizens of Savannah, of which Lafayette, during his triumphal progress through the U.S., laid the corner-stone. — See Sparks's American Biography, vol. iv. 2d series.

Pulte, JOSEPH HIPPOLYT, M.D., b. Meschede, Westphalia, Oct. 6, 1811. P. of Marburg. He came to the U.S. in 1834, and practised medicine at Allentown, Pa., 6 years. Becoming a homeopathist, he aided in establishing a homeop. coll. at Allentown. A resident of Cincinnati since 1840. Prof. of clinical m.d. in the Western Homeop. Coll., Cleveland, 1852; and of obstetrics, 1853-5. Contrib. to various homeop. journals. Editor of Teste's "Diseases of Children," 1857; and has pub. "Organon of the Hist. of the World," 1859; "Domestic Physician," 1850; "Reply to Dr. Metcalf," 1851; "Science of Medicine," 1852; "Woman's Medical Guide," 1853; "Civilization and its Heroes, an Oration," 1855, &c. — Allibone.

Pummill, JAMES, poet, b. Cincinnati, 12 Dec. 1828. Pub. in 1846 a vol. of poems, "Fruits of Leisure," and in 1852 "Fugitive Poems." He was a contrib. to the Ladies' Repository and the Kuickerbocker Mag., and is editor and prop. of the Annora (Ind.) Commercial. — See Poets and Poetry of the West.

Purcell, JOHN BAPTIST, D.D., R.C. archbishop of Cincinnati; consec. Oct. 13, 1833. Has ed., with a memoir, Macleod's History of the Devotion to the Virgin Mary in N. A., 8vo, 1866; "The Roman Clergy and Free Thought, a controversy with Thos. Vickers," 1868.

Purchas, SAMUEL, an Eng. divine, b. Thaxted, in Essex, in 1577; d. London, 1628. Educated at St. John's Coll. Cambridge. His principal work was entitled "Purchas his Pilgrimages, or Relations of the World," which, with Hakluyt's Voyages, led the way to other collections of the same kind, and has been much valued and esteemed. The first vol. was pub. in 1613; but the fourth edition of it, in 1626, contains numerous important additions. The last 4 vols. appeared in 1625. The 3d and 4th vols. of "Purchas his Pilgrimages" relate to Amer., and preserve the original narratives of the earliest English navigators and explorers of the Western World. He also wrote "Microcosmos, or the History of Man;" "The King's Tower and Triumphal Arch of London." Purchas was rector of St. Martin's in Ludgate, and chaplain to Abbot, archbishop of Canterbury. His works are scarce, and command a high price. — Allibone.

Purdon, JOHN, adm. to the Phila. bar, 1806; d. 1835. N. J. Coll. 1802. Pub. 8vo, Phila. 1811, an abridgment of the laws of Pa. from 1700, &c., 4th ed. 1831; since pub. as Brightley's Digest, and continued to the present time. — Allibone.

Purple, NORMAN H., b. Exeter, N.Y., 1808. Four years judge of the Ill. Sup. Ct. Has pub. Statutes of Ill. relating to Real Estate, 8vo, 1847; Statutes of Ill. in force Jan. 1, 1856, 2 vols. 8vo. — Allibone.

Purple, SAMUEL S., M.D., co-editor with

S. Smith, M.D., of the J. med. of Med. Soc., and contrib. to the Med. Trans. Author of "Med. Observations," 1832. — Index of M. Soc., 1860, in MS. — A. S. S.

Pursh, Frederick, born at b. Tolokk, Siberia 1774; d. Montreal, Canada June 11, 1820. Educated at Drest. Came to Amer. in 1799, and remained until 1811, when he visited Eng., and in 1814 published Lond. Trans. Assoc. of Sci. 1797-1818. Returning to Amer. he d. while collecting materials for a flora of Canada.

Purviance, Hugh Y. commo U.S.N., b. Md. M. S., in Nov. 3, 1818; went Mar. 3, 1827, com. M. S. 7, 1849; capt. Jan. 28, 1856; commo. Oct. 1st, July 16, 1862; com. S. S. "Marion," coast of Africa, 1862-5; frigate "St. Lawrence," 1861; sunk Comd. privateer "Patrol," off Charleston, and paroled in the night of "The Merrimack," gunboats, and batteries off Sewell's Point, Hampton Roads.

Putnam, Abner, lawyer, b. Wairo, a lawyer of Nashville, Tenn. b. Belpre, O., 11 March, 1779. U. S. A. G. Grandson of Gen. Putnam. Author of Hist. of Monroe, Tenn., 8vo, 1852. Eye of Gen. John S.vier in Wheeler's Hist. of N. C.; also a number of papers in periodicals, and contrib. to the Tenn. Hist. Soc., of which he is president. — A. S. S.

Putnam, George, publisher, b. Brunswick, Me., Feb. 21, 1814. A descendant of John, who came from Basingstoke, Eng., to S. Conn. in 1640. Grandfather of Gen. Putnam, and grandson of Gen. Joseph Putnam. He has long been a bookseller in N. Y., and in 1841-47, wife of the firm of Wiley and Putnam, resided in Lond. His own contributions are, "Chronology," 12mo, 1843; "The Tourist in Europe," 12mo, 1848; "American Bazaar Circular," 1843; "Amer. Facts," 8vo, 1845; "The World's Progress, a Dictionary of Dates," 8vo, 1850, and several others since. He also pub. Pictorial Miscellany, 1854-7; and 1868-70; "The Popular Library," 24 vols., 12mo; "Home Cyclopaedia," 1850-63, 5 vols., 12mo. Between 1848 and 1870 he published more than 350 vols. by Amer. authors of the first rank, and his services to American literature are of various kinds of great value.

Putnam, Israel, major Gen. Revol. army, b. Salem, Ms., 7 Jan. 1718; d. Brooklyn, Ct., 29 May 1790. He received little education, but was endowed by nature with a powerful frame, great courage, and an enterprising spirit. He m. and in 1739 settled in Pomfret, Ct., where by industry he acquired a good estate. In 1754 he raised and com. a company for the French war. Joining the army near Crown Point, his bravery, activity, and enterprise earned him, in 1757, the rank of maj. While stationed at Ft. Edward, he by personal exertions saved a powder magazine from fire after it had burned the outer planing. In Aug. 1758, while returning to Fort Edward from a scouting expedition, into an ambush, was taken, and after being burned at the stake, when Major A. French, a partisan, rescued him. He was taken to Montreal, where Col. Schuyler relieved his wants and procured his exchange. He was a lieutenant-col. at the siege of Montreal in 1760, and at the capture of Havana in 1762; and in 1764 was a col. in Bradstreet's exped. against the Western Indians. He was afterward an inn keeper in Brookline, Ct., and a member of the legisl. In 1773, with Gen. Lyman, he went to the Mpi. to explore a grant of military lands, but derived no benefit from them. Hearing of the battle of Lexington, he lent his plough where he was using it, evoked his team and, clothed as he was, set off for Boston. He returned, raised a regiment, with which he marched to Cambridge, was app. a provincial major-gen., and also on the continental establishment, 19 June, 1775. At Bunker's Hill he was conspicuous in animating and encouraging the troops. On the evacuation of Boston, he was intrusted with the com. at N. Y. He afterward superintended the fortifications of Philadelphia, and after Trenton and Princeton, was posted at the latter place, performing garrison service with a small force. App. in the spring of 1777 to com. a force in the Highlands of N. Y., he made the judicious selection of West Point as the site of a fortress. While post. at Reading, Ct., in 1778, he was attacked by Gen. Fryen, and escaped by plunging down a steep precipice, where the British dragoons dared not follow him. This was his last active service. He was a good executive officer, more brave than prudent, frequently wanting in dignity, but generous and humane. — S. C. L. G. L., d. H.

Putnam, Mary (Lowell), authoress, dau. of Rev. Charles b. Boston, Dec. 3, 1810. She was m. Apr. 5, 1832, to Samuel R. Putnam, a merchant of Boston. From her mother she inherited the faculty of acquiring languages to an extraordinary degree. From 1851 to 1857 she resided with her family, chiefly in France and Germany, prosecuting her studies in languages, and collecting material for a History of Hungary. She ministered on the Swedish "The Neighbors," by Miss Bremer, has pub. anonymously, "Records of an Old sear's Man," 1861; "Faded of Errors," and "Fragility of Success," dramatic poems illustrative of slavery and the condition of the South, and has contrib. many articles to the N. A. Rev., and to the Christ's Freeman.

Putnam, Rees, brig. gen., b. Salem, Ms., Apr. 9, 1758; d. Montreal, O., May 4, 1824. He quitted the business of a millwright to serve as a common soldier through the campaigns of 1757-60, and, on the surrender of Montreal, m. and settled in New Braintree, Ms., to pursue his original vocation, devoting his leisure to the study of mathematics, and attaining great proficiency in its application to navigation and surveying. In Jan. 1773 he sailed to F. Florida with a committee to explore lands there supposed to have been granted by parliament to the provincial officers and soldiers who had served in the French war, and was app. by the gov. dep. surveyor of the province. Returning to Ms. he was made a lieutenant in David Brewer's regt. The ability displayed by him as an engineer in throwing up defenses in Roxbury secured for him the favorable consideration of Washington, who wrote to Congress that the m. wright was altogether a more competent officer than any of the French gentlemen to whom it had given appointments in that line. In 1776, Putnam, as chief engr., superintended all the defenses of N.Y.; was in Aug. app. chief engr., with the rank of col., but during the autumn, from some dissatisfaction with the action of Congress in regard to his corps, left it to take com. of the 5th Ms. Regt.; in the following spring he was attached to the Northern army, and disting. himself at the battle of Stillwater; in 1778, with his cousin Gen. Israel Putnam, he superintended the construction of the fortifications at West Point; after the surprise of Stony Point, he was app. to the command of a regt. in Wayne's brigade, in which he served to the end of the campaign; Jan. 7, 1783, he was made brig.-gen. He was several years a member of the legisl., and acted as aide to Gen. Lincoln in quelling Shays's Rebellion in 1787. Apr. 7, 1788, as supt. of the Ohio Co., he founded Marietta, the first permanent settlement on the eastern part of the North-west Territory; in 1789 he was app. a judge of the Supreme Court of the N.W. Territory; May 4, 1792, he was app. brig.-gen. of Wayne's army to act against the Indians, and from May, 1792, to Feb. 1793, was U.S. commiss. to treat for peace with them, concluding an important treaty with 8 tribes at Vincennes, Sept. 27, 1792. U.S. surveyor-gen. from Oct. 1793 to Sept. 1803. In 1803 he was member of the O. Constitutional Convention.

Putnam, SAMUEL, LL.D., A.A.S., jurist, b. Danvers, Ms., Apr. 13, 1768; d. Somerville, Ms., July 3, 1852. H.U. 1787. He studied law, and commenced practice in Salem in 1790, attaining a high position at the Essex Co. bar. He was senator from Essex in 1808, '09, '13, '14; representative in 1812; and in 1814-42 was a judge of the Ms. Supreme Court.

Pynchon, WILLIAM, leader in the Springfield settlement in 1636, b. Essex Co., Eng., ab. 1590; d. Wrensbury, Buckinghamshire, Eng., Oct. 1662. He was an assist. in 1628 and '29; came over with Gov. Winthrop in 1630; and was treasurer of the Colony, and a magistrate, until his removal from Roxbury, of which town he was one of the principal founders. He was chosen magistrate of Springfield in 1638, and was an assist. in 1643-50. While in Roxbury and Springfield, he was largely concerned in the beaver trade. In 1650 his "Meritorious Price of Christ's Redemption," in opposition to the Calvinistic view of the atonement, was pub. in Eng., causing his deposition from the magistracy. His book was burned on Boston Common by order of the court; and the authorities of Ms. employed Norton to answer him. In consequence of these and other persecutions, he returned to Eng. in 1652, and in 1655 issued a new edition of his book with additions. He also pub. "The Jewes Synagogue," 4to, 1652; "How the First Sabbath was ordained," &c., 1654. His son Col. JONAS, 50 years a magistrate of Springfield, and one of the founders of Northampton in 1654, d. Jan. 17, 1703, a. 76.

Quackenbos, GEORGE PAYNE, LL.D. (West. U. 1863), educator, b. New York, 1826. Col. Coll. 1843. He commenced teaching in N.C. In 1847 he opened a private school in N.Y. City, and has been contrib. to or editor of various journals. In 1846-8 he conducted the Liberty American. He has pub. many popular school-books, among them "Advanced Course of Composition and Rhetoric," 1854; "Illustrated School History of the U.S.," 1857; "A Natural Philosophy for Schools and Academies," 1859; "Primary History of the U.S.," 1860; "English Grammar," 1862, and has prepared an American edition of Spiers and Surenne's French and English Dictionary, 1852, and a series of arithmetics on the basis of the works of Geo. R. Perkins.

Quesnel, JOSLEPH, a Canadian dramatist and composer, b. France, 1750; d. Montreal, July 3, 1809. He produced Caliste, a 3-act comedy, Quebec, 1788; Lovers of Cécile, a musical operetta; and Les Républicains Français, a comedy. In 1805 he wrote a treatise on the dramatic art, besides several musical compositions of merit, which were extremely popular. His sons Jules and F. A. made some figure in the political history of the Lower Province. — Morgan.

Quincy, GEORGE W., b. Westbrook, Me., 1810. Has pub. fifteen sermons and as many prayers; "Exposition and Defence of Universalism;" "Marriage and the Marriage Relation;" "Six Lectures;" "The Gallows, the Prison, and the Poor House," 1857, &c. Edited the Star in the West, and contrib. to the Traumpet, &c. — Allibone.

Quincy, GUS. ISAAC F., b. N.J. ab. 1820. West Point, 1843. He entered the art.; was assist. prof. of philos. at West Point, Aug. 1845 to June, 1847; 1st lieut. March 3, 1847; served with his regt. in Mexico; was adj. and quarterm. from Oct. 1848 to Mar. 1852, when he resigned, and became prof. of math and nat. philos. in Rochester U., which post he resumed in 1864. When the civil war broke out, he left his professorship to become col. 13th N.Y. Vols.; fought gallantly at Bull Run, July 21; subsequently resigned, and resumed his professorship at Rochester, until made brig.-gen. Mar. 17, 1862, and placed in com. of the Dist. of the Mpi., including the important post of Columbus, Ky. He quitted this post Oct. 26 to take com. of the 3d division of the Army of the Mpi. at Corinth; com. the Yazoo Pass exped. Mar. 1863; engaged at Champion Hill 16 May, and assaults of Vicksburg 19-22 May, 1863; resigned 31 Dec. 1863. — Callum.

Quincy, EDWARD, jurist, agent for Ms. at the court of Great Britain b. Braintree, Ms., Oct. 21, 1681; d. London, Feb. 23, 1738. H.U. 1699. In 1718 he was app. a judge of the Supreme Court; and for a long time held a seat in the house of representatives, as also in the council; and was col. of a regt. In 1737 he was selected as an agent to the British court for the purpose of procuring a decision of the controversy respecting the boundary-line between Ms. and N.H., but died while thus employed. The Gen. Court testified the high respect in which they held him by erecting a monument to his memory in Bunhill Fields. EDWARD'S son (b. 1703, d. July 4, 1788; H.U. 1722; merchant of Boston) pub. a treatise on "Hemp Husbandry," 1765. Father-in-law of John Hancock.

Quincy, EDWARD, polit. and miscell. ac

chor, b. Boston, Feb. 1, 1808. H.U. 1827. Has pub. "Wensley, a Story without a Moral," 1834; a Memoir of his father Josiah (pres. of H.U.), 8vo, 1867; and has been a frequent contributor to literary periodicals and political newspapers. He was long a prominent abolitionist. See of the American and Massachusetts Societies.

Quincy, Cor. Jones, b. July 13, 1757, a 78. H.U. 1788. Son of Daniel, and grandson of Lieut.-Col. Edmund. He was maj. and afterwards col. of militia, 40 years a representative and commissioner, and long speaker of the house. When that part of Braintree in which it resided was incorporated, the town Court gave it the name of Quincy. His paternal estate, except the property of his grandfather, is in Quincy Adams.

Quincy, Josiah Jun., a disting. patriot, b. Boston, Feb. 23, 1744, d. Apr. 26, 1775. H.U. 1773. Grandson of Judge Quincy. His father Josiah, a Boston merchant, and a zealous lover of his country, d. at Braintree in 1784, a 78. The son studied law two years with Oxenbridge Trenchard, and, after his adm. to the bar, soon rose, to distinction in his profession. In Oct. 1769 he in the eldest dau. of Wm. Phillips, Esq.; and in the following year, having previously seen continents as an ardent writer and speaker on the side of the patriots, was called upon to defend, in conjunction with John Adams, the perpetrators of the Boston Massacre. So strong was the public feeling against the soldiers, that notwithstanding the approved patriotism of their defenders, they incurred much odium in the performance of this trying duty. Composed by his father, in attendance on business, he embarked Feb. 8, 1773, for Charleston, S.C., and in the evening was returned home by land, so much benefited, as to be able to resume his labors. In May, 1774, appeared his "Observations on the Act of Parliament commonly called the Boston Port Bill, &c." In S. pt. 1774 he went to Eng., and labored unremittingly while in London, to promote the interests of his country, becoming intimate with the principal Whigs, and maintaining a constant correspondence with the patriot leaders at home, which, together with his interesting journal and the tract above mentioned, are contained in the Memoir written by his son Josiah in 1825. He left London, March 16, 1775, contrary to the counsel of his physician, grew worse and worse during the voyage, and died of his last when in sight of land, at the early age of 31. Author of Reports Sup. Court Ms. Bay, 1761-72, edited by S. M. Quincy, 8vo, 1868. — See Life of Jos. Quincy, 8vo, 1825.

Quincy, Josiah, LL.D., statesman and scholar, son of the preceding, b. Boston, 4 Feb. 1772, d. Quincy Ms., 1 July, 1864. H.U. 1790. He studied law under Judge Tuckor; began practice in Boston in 1793, was a State senator in 1804, M.C. in 1806-13; again a State senator in 1818-20; member of the State Const. Conv. in 1820; speaker of the house of Ms. 1820-1; judge of the Boston Municipal Court 1822; mayor of Boston 1823-4, and pres. of H.U. in 1829-Aug. 1843. As a Federalist, he opposed in Congress the measures of the dominant party with great vigor, speaking against the admission of La. in 1811, and opposing the war of 1812. His readiness and debate, earnestness and fervor of speech, quickness of wit, and powerful satire, made him a constant thorn in the side of the administrators of Jefferson and Madison. As a judge he laid down the rule, that the publication of the truth, with good intentions, and for a justifiable motive, was not libelous. Under his auspices, and during his mayornaty, great improvements were made in Boston, and the Quincy Market was built. His efficient management of H.U. left it highly prosperous. He was one of the first, if not the first, among Northern men to denounce the slaveholding interest as a rising and dangerous tyranny. In 1836, though in his 86th year, he spoke and wrote in advocacy of the election of Fremont to the presidency. He took great interest in the progress of the war for the Union, which he viewed as the most hopeful sign of the country's future. He had ever seen, and presided from the date of its close, a new and grander era of national greatness. Author of a "Memoir of Josiah Quincy, Jun.," 1825; "History of Harvard University," 2 vols. 1840; "Speeches in Congress and Orations," 2 vols. 1858; "History of the Boston Atheneum," 1851; "Lectures on the Sonnet of Catullus," 1852; "Memoir of James Graham," 1846; "Journal and Memoir of Mrs. Samuel Shaw," 1847; "Municipal History of Boston," 1852; and Centennial Address on the 100th Anniversary of Boston, 1830 — See Life of Jos. Quincy and Quincy, 1867.

Quincy, Josiah Jun., eminent citizen of Boston, b. Jan. 17, 1802. H.U. 1821. Son of the preceding. He became a counsellor-at-law; member of the city council, 1833; its pres. 1834-7; pres. of the senate 1841; and mayor of Boston 1845. It was during his mayornaty, and principally by his means, that the Cochituate water was brought into Boston — the most important public work ever executed in Boston, where he has planned and forwarded many other important improvements. He was many years treasurer of the Western Railroad and of the Boston Athenaeum.

Quincy, Josiah Phillips, b. Boston, 1830. H.U. 1850. Son of the preceding. Author of "Lyttelton," a dramatic poem, 1856; "Chatterbox," a dramatic poem, 1856. Contributed to Stanzas and Lyttelton's Majors, and other periodicals.

Quincy, Samuel Miller, b. Boston, 1833. H.U. 1851. Bro. of preceding. Member of the Boston bar; co-editor, with John Lowell, of the Mass. Law Register, June-May, 1850. Capt. 2d Ms. Vols. May 24, 1861; major, Sept. 17, 1862; col. Nov. 9, 1862; resigned June 2, 1863; rear-col. 73d U.S. (colored), Oct. 20, 1863; co. May 24, 1864. Frey bldg. gen. Has pub. "Reports of the Superior Court of the Province of Ms. Bay, 1761-72," by Josiah Quincy, jun., with an Appendix upon "The Writs of Assistance," by Horace Gray, jun., 8vo, 1863.

Quint, Atoszo Hall, D.D., Cong. clergyman and hist. writer, b. Barnstead, N.H., Mar. 22, 1828. D.C. 1846; And. Sem. 1852. Pastor Mather Church, W. Roxbury, 1853-63, chaplain 2d Ms. Regt. 1861-4; pastor North Cong. Ch., N. Bedford, Ms., since July 21, 1861. He has pub. "Army Notes, &c., 1861-3," Boston, 12mo, 1864; "History of the 2d Ms. Regt.," 1867. A proprietor and editor of the Cong. Quarterly, and a contrib. to the N. E. Hist. and Gen. Rep. and the Dover Enquirer; member of the Ms. State Board of Education, 1855-61.

Quintard, CHARLES TODD, D. D. (Col. Col. 1853), LL.D., grad M.D. (U. of N.Y.) 1816, b. Stamford, Ct., 22 Dec. 1824. Became a physician of the N.Y. Dispensary, 1847; prof. of physiol. and anat. Memphis Med. Coll. 1851; ord. in Pr.-Ep. Ch. 1855; and became in 1858 rector of the Ch. of the Advent, Nashville; consec. bishop of Tenn. Oct. 11, 1865. Author of "A Plain Tract on Confirmation," "A Preparation for Confirmation;" and in early life contrib. largely to med. periodicals. He was an earnest secessionist, and a vol. chaplain in the Confed. army.—History of Stamford.

Quiroga (ke-ro-gü), José, a Spanish Jesuit, b. Galicia, 1707; d. 1784. Ab. 1745 he was sent by the King of Spain to explore Patagonia. His Journal of his Voyage was inserted by Charlevoix in his "History of Paraguay."

Quitman, JOHN ANTHONY, LL.D. (La Grange Coll.), soldier and politician, b. Rhinebeck, N.Y., Sept. 1, 1799; d. Natchez, Mpi., July 17, 1858. Son of FREDERICK HENRY, D.D. (1760-1832), Lutheran pastor of Rhinebeck, N.Y.; author of "Treatise on Magic," 1810; "Evangelical Catechism," 1814; "Three Sermons on the Reformation," 1817; edited Hymn-Book of the N.Y. Synod, 1817. The son received a good education; was a prof. of law in Mt. Airy Coll., Pa., in 1819; began to practise law in 1820 at Chillicothe, O., but in 1823 settled in Natchez; became a planter, and was disting. at the bar and in the politics of the State; chancellor of the Superior Court 1828-31 and 1832-4; member of the State legisl. in 1828-32, and, as pres. of the State senate in 1835, was gov. pro tem.; member of the State Const. Conv. in 1831; disting. in the Texan struggle in 1836; visited Europe in 1839, and on his return was app. judge of the High Court of Errors and Appeals. App. brig.-gen. of vols. by Pres. Polk, July 1, 1846; maj.-gen. Apr. 14, 1847. He received a sword from Congress for gallantry at Monterey. He was subsequently disting. at Chapultepec and the Belen Gate, and was app. by Gen. Scott gov. of the city of Mexico. Gov. of Mpi. 1850-1; M.C. 1855-8, and at the head of the military committee. He was a devoted adherent of Calhoun and his political doctrines, and a leader of the party favorable to the annexation of Cuba. He was a man of high character and spotless integrity.—See Life and Corresp. by J. F. H. Calhoun, 2 vols. 1869.

Raburn, WILLIAM, gov. of Ga. 1817-19, b. Halifax Co., N.C., Apr. 8, 1771; d. Hancock Co., Ga., Oct. 23, 1819. He removed to Ga. at the age of 15, where, with slight educational advantages, he rose to the highest honors of the State. Judge of the Inferior Court, and a member of the Assembly and Senate.

Radford, WILLIAM, rear-adm. U.S.N., b.

Va. Midshipm. Mar. 1, 1825; lieut. Feb. 9, 1837; com. Sept. 14, 1855; capt. July 16, 1862; commo. April 24, 1863; rear-adm. July 25, 1866. Com. the party that cut out "The Malek Adell," a Mexican vessel-of-war, at Mazatlan in 1847; com. "The Cumberland" in 1861, and was on court-martial duty at Old Point when she was sunk by "The Merronack;" com. "The New Ironsides," and iron-clad division of Porter's squadron at the two attacks on Fort Fisher in Dec. 1864 and Jan. 1865. He com. the European squadron in 1869-70.—Hammersly.

Rae, JOHN, M.D., LL.D., arctic explorer, b. in the Orkneys. Took a surgeon's diploma at Edinburgh, and entered the service of the Hudson's Bay Co., as a surgeon, in 1833. He made many extensive journeys and explorations; accomp. Sir J. Richardson, in 1848, in a search for Sir John Franklin; and in 1850 was placed by the H. B. Co. in charge of a similar exped. During an exped. to Repulse Bay in 1853-4, he discovered a new river, which falls into Chesterfield Inlet; and in the following spring disting. himself as the first discoverer of the fate of Sir John Franklin's party. He had travelled 1,100 miles, including a preliminary journey, when he made this important discovery, for which he received the government reward of £10,000 sterling. In 1852 he received the founder's gold medal of the Royal Geog. Society of London, and is an honorary member of various learned and scientific bodies. He was in 1861 on an expedition to visit Red River and the Rocky Mountains. He has pub. a work exposing the fallacies of fice trade, 8vo, 1834; "Exped. into the Arctic Sea in 1846-7," 8vo, London, 1850.—Morgan.

Raff, GEORGE WERTZ, late probate judge of Stark Co., O., b. there 1825. Author of "Guide to Executors and Administrators in Ohio," 1859; "Manual of Pensions, Bounties, and Pay," 1862; "Law of Roads and Highways," 1863; "War Claimant's Guide," 8vo, 1866.

Rafinesque, CONSTANTINE SMALTZ, botanist, b. Galatz, a suburb of Constantinople, 1784; d. Phila. Sept. 18, 1842. He lost his father when he was ab. 7 years of age; and, together with a bro., was sent to the U.S. in 1802. He visited Phila., where his taste for natural history strongly developed itself; travelled through the adjacent country, making numerous collections of botanic specimens; and in 1805 went to Sicily, where he pub. "The Analysis of Nature," in the French language. After losing by shipwreck all his effects, including his books, manuscripts, and drawings, he in 1815 arrived in New York; but in 1818 emigrated to the West, and was for a time prof. of botany in Transylv. U. at Lexington, Ky.; travelling also, and lecturing elsewhere, until he finally settled in Phila. In 1836, after a life of great vicissitude, which was marked by but a small amount of enduring achievements compared with his aims and hopes, Rafinesque pub. "Life, Travels, and Researches," which was mostly a narrative of his own journeys and observations. He pub. 8 numbers of the Atlantic Journal and Friend of Knowledge, begun in the spring of 1832; "American Florist," 1832; "The American Nations," 12mo, 1836; "Ancient Hist. of Ky." &c., 8vo, 1824; "Medical Flora of the U.S.," 1828-30, 2 vols.; "The World," a poem, 8vo, 1836; "Safe Banking," 1837; "The American Monuments of N. and S. America," 8vo, 1843; "Genius and Spirit of the Hebrew Bible," 1848; "Pleasures and Duties of Wealth," 1840; "The Good Book," 8vo, 1840. His "Complete Conchology," edited by Binney and Tryon, was pub. Phila., 8vo, 1864.—A. S. P.

Rafn, CARL CHRISTIAN, P.D., a Danish archaeologist, b. Brahestad, Island of Funen, Jan. 16, 1795; d. 2 Oct. 1864. Educated at the U. of Copenhagen, of which in 1821 he was made an assist. librarian, and while there undertook a general revision of all the Icelandic and Norwegian MSS. yet unpub. belonging to the collection. Through his efforts the Society of Northern Antiquities was founded, which has pub. more than 70 vols. on the hist. and antiquities of the North. His "Astiquitates Islandicæ et Sæcularibus Scripturis. Rerum Antiquarum in Islandia," Copenhagen, 1837, attempts to prove that the Scandinavians discovered America in the 10th century, and subsequently effected settlements in what is now Ms. and R.I. An important sequel to this work is "The Historical Monuments of Greenland," 3 vols., 1839-45. Of his "Antiquitates Rossicæ," 2 vols. app. in 1850-2. As sec. of the Society for Northern Antiquities, he prepared various works for the press, and also translated and edited other works.—A. S. P.

Raguet, COSMO, LL.D. (St. Mary's College, Balt.), merchant and political economist, b. Phila. Jan. 28, 1784; d. there March 22, 1842. U. of Phila. He studied law, but, entering a counting-house, was at the age of 20 sent to St. Domingo as supercargo of a vessel. On his return from a second voyage thither in 1805, he pub. "A Short Account of St. Domingo, and a Circumstantial Account of the Massacre there." Embarking in 1806 in business on his own account, he was prosperous, became one of the founders and managers of the Phila. Saving Fund, pres. of the Pa. Life-Annuity Co., and also of the Chamber of Commerce. He took an active part during the war of 1812 in concerning measures for the defence of the city, and was in 1815 a member of the Assembly, and subsequently of the State senate. In 1822 he was app. consul at Rio Janeiro; soon afterwards was intrusted with the negotiation of a commercial treaty with Brazil, to which he was the first chef d'affaires, and remained there 5 years. After his return to the U.S., he became the editor of several journals devoted to the advocacy of the doctrines of free trade, and was a contributor to the Profrat. member Amer. Philos. Soc. He pub. "Principles of Free Trade," 8vo, 1836, and "A Treatise on Currency and Banking," in 1839, repub. in Lond., also translated into French, and pub. in Paris in 1840.—H. U. S. Merch. Mag., vii, 542.

Rains, GABRIEL JAMES, gen. C.S.A., b. N. C. West Point, 1827. Entering the 7th Inf., he became capt. Dec. 25, 1847, brev. maj. for gallantry in action with the Seminoles near Fort King, Fla., April 28, 1840, where he com.

and was severely wounded; maj. 4th Inf. Mar. 9, 1851; in Nov. 1855 was app. by the acting gov. brig.-gen. Washington Terr. Vols.; lieutenant, 5th Inf. 5 June 1860; resigned July 31, 1861. At the battle of Wilson's Creek, Aug. 2, he was in com. as brig.-gen. of the advance guard of the army which fought the battle of Aug. 10, in which Gen. Rains com. a division. Disting. at Shiloh and at Perryville.

Rains, JAMES EDWARD, brig.-gen. C.S.A., b. Nashville, Tenn., 10 Apr. 1833; killed at the battle of Stone River 31 Dec. 1862. Y. C. 1854. He was a prominent lawyer and Whig politician, and at one time editor of its organ in Tenn., the Day Republic. Disting. at Shiloh and at Perryville. Though an active Unionist before the war, he then resigned the attorney-generalship of his dist., took com. of a regt., and was for a time in com. at Cumberland Gap.

Rainsborow, GEN. WILLIAM, a parliamentary officer; killed at Doncaster, Eng., 1648. He resided in Charlestown, Ms., in 1639; had an estate at Watertown in 1640; was a member of the A. and H. Art. Co. of Boston, and was a relative of the Winthrop's. Returning to Eng. in 1644, he was app. capt. of a troop of horse intended for Ireland; and in 1646 gov. of Worcester. He was highly favored by Cromwell; was col. of a regt. in which Israel Stoughton was lieutenant, Nehemiah Bourne major, and John Levett capt. He was surprised and slain at his quarters.

Rale (sometimes erroneously written Ralee, Ralle, and Ralses), SEBASTIEN, a French missionary to the Indians, b. France Comté, 1658; killed at Norridgewock, Me., Aug. 12, 1724. Joining the Jesuits, he for a time taught Greek at the Coll. of Nismes. He came to Quebec in Oct. 1689, was first stationed at the Abenaki Mission of St. Francis, near the falls of the Chaudière, then in the Illinois country; and finally at Norridgewock, on the Kennebec, as early as 1695. Rale occupied the Indians on all their hunting and fishing excursions, and obtained great influence over the Abenakis. The English accused him of instigating the forays of the savages upon the settlements along the coast, and set a price upon his head. His church was burned in 1705, and a second exped. (in 1722) pulged his cabin and the church, which had been rebuilt, carrying off among other papers, his Dictionary of the Abenaki Language, which is now preserved in the library of Harv. Coll., and has been printed in the Memoirs of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences, with an introd. and notes by John Pickering, 4to, 1833. In 1724 a party from Fort Rale's mound surprised Norridgewock, killed a number of the Indians, and shot Rale at the foot of the mission cross. 7 chiefs who endeavored to protect him sharing his fate. His body was afterward disgracefully mutilated. A monument was erected to his memory by Bishop Fenwick, 29 Aug. 1833.—S. Mem. U. C. Trans. A. D. C., ii, Ser. 88, Ann. Hist., 24 series, vol. 7.

Raleigh, SIR WALTER, soldier, statesman, and writer, b. Badcock, Devon, Eng., 1572; d. 18 Oct. 1618. Educated at Oxford. In 1569-75 he fought for the Huguenots in France; and in 1576-9, under Sir John Norris, in the Low Countries. In 1579 he set out with Sir Humphrey Gilbert, his half-bro., on an expedition to Newfoundland; but it was frustrated by a Spanish fleet. He next served in Ireland. From another expedition to Newfoundland with Gilbert, in 1583, he was forced to return by the break-out of a contagious disease on board his ship. Raleigh determined to plant a colony in America, obtained an extensive patent, sent out two ships under Barlow that brought back 200 cargoes, and sent in 1585 a second expedition under Greenville; but the colony was badly governed and returned in 1586. Tobacco and potatoes were introduced into Europe by these voyages. Wisely determining to found an agricultural colony, in April 1587, he sent a large body of emigrants, with their wives and families, to make a settlement in Chesapeake Bay. Granting them a charter, and appointing a municipal government for the city of Raleigh, he intrusted the administration to John White, with 11 assistants. They founded their city on the site of the old settlement at Roanoke Island and sent back for reinforcement. They never came; and 2 of Raleigh's ships were taken by the French. His means were exhausted, and the colonists all perished. Having expended £40,000 in his efforts at colonization, Raleigh in 1589 formed under his patents a company of "Merchants and Adventurers" to continue them. After receiving many marks of royal favor, he in 1589 accompanied the expelled king of Portugal in his attempt to re-estate himself, but rendered himself obnoxious by taking bribes for the exertion of his influence. In Feb. 1595 he sailed on an expedition to Guiana, and reached the great River Orinoco. In 1596 he had a naval command under Essex in the attack on Cadix, but became his enemy, and promoted his downfall and execution. He was deprived of his posts by James I., and, upon suspicion of being implicated in a conspiracy to place Arabella Stuart upon the throne, was declared guilty of high treason, and was 12 years confined in the Tower, during which period he composed his "History of the World." To retrieve his fortunes, he undertook a settlement in Guiana, but, having attacked the Spanish settlement of St. Thomas, offended King James, who was then seeking the hand of the infant for his son Charles, and who, upon his return, caused his arrest and trial, which resulted in sentence of death, and his speedy execution.

Rall, or Rahl, a Hessian soldier in the British service, killed at the battle of Trenton, Dec. 26, 1776. He had seen service in the seven-years' war, and with his regiment (de Rahl) formed part of the contingent hired of the elector of Hesse-Cassel by George III., and landed at Staten Island in June, 1776. He took part in the battle of Red Bank, in the capture of Fort Mifflin, and, when he was particularly distinguished, and, after the Americans evacuated N. J., was placed in command of an advanced post at Trenton. Here he was surprised and slain on the morning after Christmas.

Ralph, James, poet, writer, b. Philadelphia; d. Chis. Hill, Eng., 24 Jan. 1722. He was a schoolmaster, and went to Eng. with Franklin in 1723 as a literary agent, returning behind him his wife and child. In 1723 he pub. a poem entitled "Night," which Pope alludes to in "The Dunciad." He wrote plays and political pamphlets, attaching himself to the party of Frederick, Prince of Wales, and received a pension from George III. Author of "Use and Abuse of Parliaments," 2 vols. 8vo.; "Hist. of Eng. during the Reigns of Charles II., James II., William III.," &c., 2 vols. fol., &c. — See Franklin's Autobiography.

Ralston, Samuel, D.D. (Wash. Coll. 1822) b. Donegal Co., Ireland 1753; d. Carroll, Pa., Sept. 25 1851. U. of Glasgow. He came to America in 1794, and in 1796 took charge of the congregations of Mingo Creek and Williamsport, continuing there till he d. Author of "Baptism, a Review of Campbell and Walker's Debate;" "A Brief Examination of the Prophecies of Daniel and John," 1812; "The Seven Last Plagues," 1812; "Defense of Evangelical Psalmody," 1844. — See Synopsis.

Ramage, Adam, inventor of the Ramage printing-press, a native of Scotland who came here about the year 1800; d. Phila., July 9, 1850 a. 80. His improvement, the first that was made in the printing-press of a century ago, consisted in a modification of the shape of the screw and to this day is, for some purposes, the best that has been invented.

Ramirez, Fr. Rev. Francisco D.D., bishop of Caralho, and vicar apostolic of Tamaulipas, Mexico, b. Mexico, 1823; d. Brazos Santiago, Texas, July 18, 1869. Educated a priest, he took an active part against Juarez, and while in Europe was, through the influence of the archbishop of Mexico, made a bishop. Attaching himself to the Emperor Maximilian, he was his almoner, and subsequently cabinet councillor. He was a true friend of the Mexican race. On the downfall of the empire, he escaped to Texas, where he lived in obscurity and want.

Ramsey, Alexander, M.D., anatomist, b. Eng. ab. 1754; d. Parsonfield, Me., Nov. 24, 1824, of the bite of a rattlesnake two years before. He had resided long in the U.S. as a lecturer on anatomy and physiology. He pub. "Anatomy of the Heart, Cranium, and Brain," 2d ed., Edinb., 1813; "Planes of the Brain," 4to, Lond. 1812.

Ramsey, Alexander, statesman, b. near Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8, 1815, clerk in the office of the register of Dauphin Co. in 1838; clerk of the Pa. h. of representatives in 1841; M.C. 1843-7; chairman of the State central committee in 1848; gov. of Minn. Terr. 1849-53, and negotiated treaties by which the government secured large tracts of lands from the Sioux Indians; made treaties with the Chippewas; mayor of the city of St. Paul in 1855-60; gov. of Minn. 1860-4; and U.S. senator in 1864-9.

Ramsay, David, M.D. (Phila. Coll. 1772), physician and historian, b. Lancaster, Co., Pa., 2 Apr. 1749; d. Charleston, S.C., 8 May 1815. N. J. Coll. 1765. His father was an Irish emigrant and a farmer. He was for two years tutor in a wealthy family in Md. Removing to Charleston in 1773, he soon acquired celebrity as a physician; labored zealous, and with his pen in the cause of his country; was a leading member of the S.C. legisl. in 1776-83; served as a surgeon in the army, and was at the siege of Savannah; was a member of the council; and on the capture of the city in May, 1780, was confined 11 months at St. Augustine. He disting. himself in the legisl. by opposing the confiscation acts; member of the Old Congress in 1782-6; 21 years member of the State legisl., the last 7 of which he was pres. of the senate. During the progress of the Revol., Dr. Ramsay collected materials for its history; and his great impartiality, his fine memory, and his acquaintance with many of the actors in it, eminently qualified him for the task. His death was occasioned by wounds received two days previous from the pistol of a maniac. In Jan. 1787 he m. Martha, dau. of Henry Laurens, disting. for learning and piety, b. 3 Nov. 1759, d. 10 June, 1811. Among his writings is a "History of the Revol. in S. C.," 2 vols. 1785; "History of the Amer. Revol.," 2 vols. 1790; "Life of Washington," 1801; "History of S. C.," 1808; "Memoirs of Martha L. Ramsay," 1811, Medical Register for 1802; "Means of preserving Health in Charleston;" "History of the Indep. Church in Charleston, S. C., from its Origin to 1814;" and a "Hist. of the U. S. to 1808," pub. from his MS., with continuation by Rev. S. S. Smith, 3 vols. 1816. His "Universal Hist. Americanized" was pub. in 8 vols. 1819. He also pub. "Oration, 4 July, 1778;" an "Oration on the Acquisition of Louisiana," 1804; and "Eulogium on Dr. Rush," 1813.

Ramsay, GEORGE D., brev. maj.-gen. U. S. A., b. Va. West Point, 1820. Entering the art., he became capt. of ordnance 25 Feb. 1835; maj. 22 Apr. 1861; lieut.-col. 3 Aug. 1861; col. 1 June, 1863; brig.-gen. and chief of ordn. 15 Sept. 1863; retired 12 Sept. 1864; brev. maj. 23 Sept. 1846 for gallantry at Monterey; brev. maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865 for long and faithful services. — Colum.

Ramsay, COL. NATHANIEL, Revol. patriot of Md., bro. of David the historian; d. 25 Oct. 1817. N. J. Coll. 1767. At Monmouth he with his regt. checked the British column until Washington could rally his troops, and fell pierced with wounds. Made prisoner at Charleston; exchanged 14 December, 1780. Deleg. of Md. to the Old Congress 1785-7.

Ramseur, STEPHEN D., maj.-gen. C. S. A., b. N. C. 1837. West Point, 1860. Died 21 Oct. 1864 of a wound received at Cedar Creek, Va., while com. a division under Early.

Rand, ASA, Cong. clergyman and editor, b. Rindge, N. H., Aug. 6, 1783; d. Ashburnham, Ms., 24 Aug. 1871. D. C. 1806. Son of Col. Daniel, an early settler of Rindge, who d. 1811, a. 69. Ord. at Gorham, Me., Jan. 18, 1809, edited the Christian Mirror at Portland, Me., in 1822-5; then took charge of the female sem. at Brookfield. In July, 1826, he became editor of the Boston Recorder, also editing the Yankee Companion, and the Volunteer, a religious monthly. Removing to Lowell in 1833, he was connected with a book-store and printing-office, and pub. the Lowell Observer, weekly. On the restoration of his health in 1835, he returned to his chosen vocation of preaching; lectured on anti-slavery in Me. and Ms.; in Sept. 1837-42 he ministered in Pompey, N. Y.; afterward pastor of the Pres-b. church in Peterborough, N. Y. While at Gorham, he assisted in conducting a religious quarterly pub. at Portland 1814-18. Mr. Rand's publications are, besides occas. sermons, a vol. of "Familiar Sermons," a "Review of Finney's Sermon," "New Divinity Trial," a vindication of the same, and a letter to Rev. Dr. Beecher.

Rand, BENJAMIN HOWARD, M.D., b. Phila. 1827. Jeff. Med. Coll. 1848. Son of B. H. Rand, writing master in Phila. (1794-1862). Prof. of chemistry, Phila. Med. Coll., 1853, and lecturer on chemistry in the Franklin Institute; prof. of chemistry in Jeff. Med. Coll. 1864. Author of "Med. Chem. for Students," 1855; "Elements of Med. Chem.," 1866. Edited Metcalf's "Caloric," 2 vols. 1859, and contrib. to med. periodicals. His sister MANTON H., a contrib. of poetry to periodicals, b. 1824, d. Grahamville, S. C., 1849. — See Specimen of her verse in Reads and also in May's Female Poets of Amer.

Rand, EDWARD SPRAGUE, JUN., b. Boston, Oct. 29, 1834. H. U. 1855; Camb. Law School, 1857. Law-partner of his father, E. S. Rand, a disting. lawyer of Boston. Author of "Life-Memories and other Poems," 1859; "Flowers for the Parlor and Garden," 1863; "Garden-Flowers, How to Cultivate Them," 1866; a vol. on "Greenhouse Plants," and on "Orchids." He assisted in Flint's edition of Harris's "Insects of Ms.," edited the floral dept. of the Homestead, and is a contrib. to many scientific journals. — Libanon.

Rand, ISAAC, M.D., an eminent physician, b. Charleston, S. C., Apr. 27, 1743; d. Boston, Dec. 11, 1822. H. U. 1761. He studied medicine with his father Dr. Isaac of Charleston (1718-90), and settled in Boston in 1764. Disting. for his attainments in the exact sciences, he, with Samuel Williams, was selected to accompany Prof. Winthrop to Newfoundland in 1761 to observe the transit of Venus. He rose rapidly in reputation, and in a few years shared largely in the best business of the town. Pres. of the Ms. Med. Soc., 1798-1804. He pub. essays on the Yellow Fever of 1798, and on Hydrocephalus Internus, written in 1755, as well as a discourse on the Use of the War-n Bath, and Digitalis in Pulmonary Consumption, delivered in 1804 before the Med. Society. — Thacher.

Randall, ALEXANDER W., politician, b. Montgomery Co., N. Y., Oct. 1819. Received a good education; studied law; went to Wisconsin in 1840; practised at Waukesha, of which place he was postmaster; in the legisl. in 1854; judge of the 2d dist. 1856; gov. of Wis. 1857-61; minister to Italy 1861-5; U. S. a. sist. postmaster-gen. 1865-6; postmaster-gen. 1866-9.

Randall, ARCHIBALD, lawyer and jurist; d. Phila. May 30, 1846, a. 46. Adm. to the bar in 1818, he practised with success for more than 25 years. In 1834 he was app. a judge of the C. C. P.; in 1842 he was raised to the bench of the U. S. Dist. Court for the Eastern Dist. of Pa.; and in 1844 he presided over both the Dist. and Circuit Courts of Eastern Pa. His decisions in bankruptcy are in Pa. Law Journal, 1842-6, 5 vols. 8vo.

Randall, HENRY STEPHENS, LL.D., b.

Madi-on Co., N. Y., 1811. Un. Coll. 1830. Adm. to the bar, but never practised. Sec. of state and supt. of public instruction, N. Y. 1851. Author of "Sheep Husbandry," 8vo, 1849; "The Practical Shepherd," 8vo; "Life of Jefferson," 3 vols. 8vo, 1857; "Fine-wool Sheep Husbandry," 8vo, 1863; "First Principles of Popular Education," &c., 8vo, 1868. Assoc. editor of Moore's Rural New-Yorker, and contrib. to many periodicals. Author of a number of educational reports. — Allibone.

Randall, John Witt, M.D. (1839), b. Boston. H. U. 1834. Member of the scientific corps in Wilkes's exploring exped. Has pub. papers on nat. hist. in the "Trans." Acad. Nat. Sci. and Boston Nat. Hist. Soc.; "Consolations of Solitude," a vol. of poems, 1856.

Randolph, Beverly, member of Assembly during the Revol., and gov. of Va. 1788-91; Wm. and M. Coll. 1771; d. Feb. 1797, a. 43.

Randolph, Edmund, statesman, b. Va. 10 Aug. 1753; d. Friesbrick Co., Va., 12 Sept. 1813. Son of John, atty.-gen. of Va., and a loyalist (b. 1728, d. Lond. 31 Jan. 1784), considered the ablest lawyer in Va. Bro. of Peyton. Edmund became eminent as a lawyer; was a warm friend of the Revol.; Aug. 15, 1775, became aide to Washington; was the delegate of Williamsburg to the conv. of May, 1776; became atty.-gen. of the State in July; delegate to Congress in 1779-82; gov. of Va. 1786-8; member of the conv. that formed the Federal Const., and introduced what was called the "Va. Plan;" voted against the instrument, but in the Va. conv. urged its acceptance; U. S. atty.-gen. 1789-90; U. S. sec. of state 1794-Aug. 1795, having lost the confidence of the administration in consequence of an intrigue with the French minister. He was disinherited by his father for refusing to adhere to the royal cause. His person, mode of speaking, and the cast of his eloquence, are described by Wirt in his "British Spy." He m. the dau. of R. C. Nicholas. Author of "A Vindication" of his resignation, 8vo, 1795.

Randolph, Edward, an agent sent from Great Britain to ascertain the condition of the N. Eng. Colonies, and who gave them great trouble by his hostility to their interests; came to Boston in 1676, and was the principal means of depriving Ms. of her charter. He was a member of the council during the govt. of Andros, and in 1689 was imprisoned with him as a traitor. Subsequently released, he went to the West Indies, where he died.

Randolph, George Wythe, politician, b. Edge Hill, Va., ab. 1802; d. Albemarle Co., Va., Apr. 4, 1867. Son of Gov. Thos. M. He was a grandson of Jefferson. Entered the navy at the age of 13; attained a lieutenantcy, which he resigned; began to practise law at Charlottesville in 1845, and at Richmond in 1859. He was considered a leader in the secession war in Va.; was a major at Bethel, and for gallantry there was made a brig.-gen.; sec. of war for the Confed. Mar. 17-Nov. 17, 1862. Resuming the practice of law, he in Dec. 1863 went to France as agent for the Confed. treasury, and returned home in Sept. 1865 with shattered health. His bro., T. J. RANDOLPH, edited the Jefferson Papers.

Randolph, Jacob, M.D. (U. of Pa. 1817), physician, b. Phila. Nov. 25, 1796; d. there Feb. 29, 1848. His ancestor Edward Fitz Randolph emigr. to N. E. in 1630, and afterward settled in N. J. His father, of the same name, was an officer of the 4th Pa. Regt. in the Revol. war. Jacob began practice in Phila.; m. the eldest dau. of Dr. Physick in 1822; and soon attained eminence as a surgeon. Surgeon to the almshouse in 1830; a surgeon of the Pa. Hospital from 1835 to his death; and in 1847, after having been some time lecturer upon clinical surgery in the Pa. U., was made prof. of that branch. He pub. a Memoir of Dr. Physick in 1839, and contrib. many valuable papers to medical journals. Member of the American Philos. Soc. and of the Coll. of Surgeons, and a consulting surgeon to the Phila. Dispensary. — Gross's Amer. Med. Eng.

Randolph, John, of Roanoke, orator, b. Cawsons, Chesterfield Co., Va., 2 June, 1773; d. Phila. 24 May, 1833. John his father was the son of Col. Richard of Curles, who m. Jane Bolling, gr.-grandam. of Parahontas, and who was treas. of the Colony. His father d. in 1775, and in the autumn of 1777 his mother m. St. George Tucker. In 1784 he was sent to Bermuda for his health, which was much improved there; and he passed d. his time in reading the best English authors. In 1787 he studied at N. J. Coll., and in 1788-90 at Col. Coll., N. Y. In 1799 he enter. d. Congress from the Charlotte Dist., which he represented till 1829 with the exception of 4 years, holding in 1825-7 a seat in the U. S. senate. He was a Democ., a partisan of State rights, and a political friend of Jefferson. About the end of 1804 he was app. chief manager of the impeachment trial of Judge Chase; became estranged from Jefferson about 1806; separated from his political associates; tried to defeat the election of Madison; opposed the embargo and the war of 1812, and was, in consequence, defeated in the election of 1813. He opposed the recharter of the U. S. Bank in 1816, and the Mo. Compromise Bill of 1820, because it prohibited the extension of slavery, at the same time stigmatizing the Northern men who voted for it as "dough-faces." One of his most marked efforts was his speech in 1822 against a resolution of sympathy for the Greeks, then struggling for independence. In 1826, after the app. by Pres. Adams of Mr. Clay as sec. of state, he insulted Clay in a speech, alluding to the affair as a "combination of the Puritan with the black-leg." His apologist Garland admits that "he indulged in language of the grossest personal insult." In the duel that ensued, Randolph's pistol went off before the word; Clay fired without effect, and his adversary then threw away his fire. He supported Jackson for the presidency in 1828, and in 1830-1 was minister to Russia, returning home in feeble health. He sympathized with the nullifiers of S. C. He died as he was about taking passage for Europe. By his will he manumitted his 300 slaves, making provision for their support. He was never married. He was a man of genius, of ready wit, and a master of sarcasm and invective. "He was like an Ishmaelite," says Garland; "his hand against every man, and every man's hand against him." His personal appearance and voice were peculiar, and his speeches were more fully and correctly reported than those of any other member of Congress. — See Life by Cairns, 2 vols. 1850; Parkes's Famous Americans, 1867; Letters of John Randolph to a Young Relative, 1834.

Randolph, PEYTON, first pres. of Congress, b. Va. 1723; d. Phila. Oct. 22, 1775. Wm. and M. Coll. He went to Eng.; studied law at the Temple; com. practice on his return; and in 1748 was king's atty.-gen. for the Colony; member of the house of burgesses, and was placed at the head of a com. to revise the colonial laws; in 1764 he drew up an address from the h. of burgesses to the king against the passage of the Stamp Act; was chosen speaker in April, 1766, and resigned the office of atty.-gen. He was prominent in all the measures of opposition to the English govt.; and was chairman of the com. of corresp. in 1773, which by its recommendations brought about the meeting of the First Gen. Cong. at Phila. He was sent a delegate to that assembly, and was elected its first pres. Sept. 5, 1774. March 20, 1775, he presided at a convention of delegates assembled at Richmond, and was again elected to Congress. He resumed his situation as speaker of the h. of burgesses for a short time in May, and returned to Congress after its adjournment; but a stroke of apoplexy soon closed his patriotic career. Bro. of JOHN, atty.-gen. of Va., and a loyalist, who d. London, Jan. 1784, a 56.

Randolph, COL. THOMAS MASS., gov. Va. 1819-22, b. Va.; d. Monticello, June 20, 1828. His grandfather, Col. Wm. of Tuckahoe, d. 1745, in which year his father was born. He m. a dau. of Pres. Jefferson; was app. col. 20th Inf. March 3, 1813; and was M.C. from Va. in 1803-7, and a member of the Va. legisl. His father, F. M. Randolph was a member of the Va. conv. of 1775 from Goshland, and a member of the committee of safety.

Ranney, REUBEN PERCIVAL, jurist, b. Bladford, Ms., 30 Oct. 1813. His early education was limited. He worked on his father's farm in Frosson, Portage Co., O.; attended a coll. at Hudson for a short time; studied law; was admitted to practice in 1838; became a partner of B. F. Wade in 1839; member of the O. Const. Conv. of 1850, and prominent in its debates; judge of the Sup. Ct. of O. 1851-6 and 1862-4; U.S. dist.-atty. of Ohio 1-57; removed to Cleveland in 1857; and in 1859 was the unsuccessful Democ. candidate for gov. of Ohio. His bro. JOHN L., a disting. lawyer of Ohio, b. 14 Nov. 1815, d. Ravenna, 22 Feb. 1866. — A. T. Goodrich.

Ransom, GUN. THOMAS EDWARD GREENFIELD, b. Norwich, Vt., Nov. 29, 1834; d. Rome, Ga., Oct. 29, 1864. At 12 he entered the Norwich U., a military coll. in charge of his father. He was taught engine-fitting. Left the U. in 1-57; removed to Peru, Ill.; was a civil engin. and land-agent until the R. I. Lion broke out, when he became major 11th Ill. Vols., and of its re-organization in 1-58. On the night of Aug. 19, in a brilliant dash on Charleston, Mo., he was severely wounded. He led his regt. at the attack on Fort Donelson, where he was again severely wounded; was promoted to col.;

and was wounded in the head at Shiloh; in June, 1862, he became chief of Gen. McClelland's staff, and ins-p.-gen. of the Army of Tenn.; Oct. 10 he was made brig.-gen. vols.; in Nov. he organized a successful exped. against Col. Woodruff's Confed. force near Gettysburg; disting. at Vicksburg; he led a division during the Red-river campaign, and when McClelland was ill, com. his corps; at the battle of Sabine Cross Roads, April 8, 1864, he was severely wounded in the knee. Subsequently assigned to com. the 4th div. 16th corps, he was then promoted to com. the 17th corps. He manifested in his brief but brilliant career great military capacity.

Ransom, THOMAS B., col. U.S.A., b. Vt.; killed Sept. 13, 1847, at the head of his regt. in storming Chapultepec. At one time a maj.-gen. of militia. Pres. of Norwich U. Vt. App. major 9th Inf. Feb. 16, 1847; col. March 16, 1847. — Goodrich.

Rantoul, ROBERT, JUN., lawyer and politician, b. Beverly, Ms., 13 Aug. 1805; d. Washington, D.C., 7 Aug. 1852. H.C. 1826. Son of ROBERT (b. Salem, Ms., 23 Nov. 1778, d. Beverly, 24 Oct. 1858), a member of the legisl. in 1809-33, excepting in 1827; of the Const. Convs. of 1820 and 1853, an honest politician, and a friend of temperance, education, and peace. The son began practice at No. Reading in 1827; removed to Gloucester in 1833, and in 1838 to Boston, and had a very successful career at the bar. Member of the legisl. from Gloucester in 1833-7; member of the Board of Education from 1837, devoting to it his most useful labors; collector of the port of Boston 1843-5. U.S. dist.-atty. for Ms. in 1845; U.S. sen. for a part of the unexp. term of Mr. Webster in 1851; and M.C. from 1851 to his death. He was an ultra reformer, carrying his Democ. principles even into the code of jurisprudence; and sympathized with the masses, with whom he was exceedingly popular. He pub. an address to the working-men; made a report and speech in the legisl. on capital punishment; and delivered speeches against the fugitives-slave law, and on other exciting topics. He wrote with great force and clearness for the period. press. A vol. of his writings, with a Memoir, was pub. by Luther Hamilton, Soc. 1854.

Raphall, REV. MORRIS JACOB PH. DR., pastor of the Cong. "Bnai Jeshurun," b. Stockholm, Sept. 1798; d. New York, June 23, 1868. Educated at the Jewish Coll. in Copenhagen, he went to Eng. in 1812; studied at the U. of Gessen from 1821 to 1824; returned to Eng. in 1825; and in 1831 began the Hebrew Review, the first Jewish periodical pub. in Eng. In 1840 during the persecution of the Jews in Syria, he was sec. to the chief rabbi in Eng. In conjunction with Dr. Sola, he translated 18 tracts of the "Mishna." In 1841 he was app. rabbi of the Birmingham Synagogue, and concerned in the building of the Hebrew National School. He afterward pub. a number of treatises in defence of Judaism. In 1847 he wrote an address to the electors of London, contributing greatly to the election of Rothschild to parliament; in 1849 he came to the U.S., and was called to the Greenest. Synagogue, afterward to that of West 34th St. He translated "Maimonides," "The Book of Principles," some works on ethics, and portions of the Bible; and pub. "The Festivals of the Lord," 1840; "Devotional Exercises for the Daughters of Israel;" "The Path to Immortality," 1859; "The Bible View of Slavery," 1861; "Judaism Defended," 8vo, 1849; "Post-Biblical History of the Jews," 2 vols. 8vo, 1856. On leaving Birmingham in 1849, a purse of 100 sovereigns was presented to him by the mayor and principal inhabitants, with an address acknowledging his eminent services in the cause of education and to the public institutions of the city.

Rapp, GEORGE, the founder of the Harmony Society, Economy, Pa., b. Wittenberg in 1770; d. Aug. 9, 1847. In his youth he believed that he had experienced a divine call, and that he was charged with the restoration of the Christian religion to its original purity. He did not long confine himself to spiritual matters, but formed the plan of a community organized on the model of the primitive church, with goods in common. Being hindered in this project by the State, he emig. to Amer. in 1803 with a band of followers of his own peculiar religious, social, and political views. They first settled in Butler Co. in 1805; from there they removed in 1815 to the Washash, and built the village of New Harmony, which was purchased in 1824 by Robert Owen; and Rapp and his followers established themselves at Economy, Pa. They own 3,500 acres of land, and carry on the manuf. of wool, cotton, silk, and flour.

Rarey, JOHN S., horse-tamer, b. Franklin Co., O., 1728; d. Cleveland, O., Oct. 4, 1866. At an early age he displayed tact in the management of horses, and by degrees worked out his own system, gaining profit and celebrity. In 1856 he went to Texas, and on his return to O. began to give public exhibitions, which he extended to Europe. One of his greatest triumphs was in Eng. over the racing colt "Cruiser," which was so vicious that he had killed one or two grooms, but was completely tamed and brought to America by Mr. Rarey. In 1863 he was employed by govt. to inspect and report on the horses of the Potomac Army. Author of a treatise on Horse-Taming, repub. in Eng. in 1858.

Rathbun, VALENTINE, b. Stonington, Ct., 1723, was a clothier, and pastor of a Baptist church in Pitsfield, Ms., in 1772-80; then joined the Shakers in Hancock, but left them 3 months after, and pub. against them "Some Brief Hints of a Religious Scheme," &c., Hartt., 1781, of which 5 editions were issued. His son, DAVID, remained with them 4 years, and in 1785 pub. a more full account of their delusion.

Rauch, FELDERICK AUGUSTUS, D.D., b. Künzelsauer, Hesse-Darmstadt, 1806; d. Merersburg, Pa., Mar. 2, 1841. V. of Marlburg, 1827. Prof. Extraor. U. of Geissen, 1830. Came to America in 1831; prof. of German in Laf. Coll.; principal of the high school of York, and then of Merersburg 1832-6; pres. of Marshall Coll. 1836-41. Author of "Psychology," 1819; "The Inner Life of the Christian,"

Pub. one or two works in Germany, and left unfinished a work on ethics. — Albion.

Rann, GILES B., soldier and politician, b. Goleonda, Ill., Dec. 3, 1829. With a common-school education, he studied law, and practised 16 years, acquiring a lucrative business. An anti-slavery Democrat, he made the first war speech in Southern Illinois, Apr. 23, 1861, at Metropolis; was made maj. 46th R. gt. in Sept.; participated in the siege and subsequent battle at Corinth, where he led his regt.; was made col. July 31, 1862; brev. brig.-gen. Aug. 1864; brig.-gen. Dec. 1864; in the campaign of Central Mpi.; that of Vicksburg, com. the 2d brig., 7th div. 17th corps at its surrender; was severely wounded at Mission Ridge; rejoined his command at Huntsville, Ala., Feb. 15, 1864; held Resaca against Hood's army; accomp. Sherman in the march to the sea; and resigned May 6, 1865. M.C. 1867-71.

Ravenscroft, JONAS STARK, D.D., bishop of N.C., b. Blanford, Prince George Co., Va., 1772; d. Raleigh, Mar. 5, 1830. Son of Dr. John, who removed with his family to Great Britain two months after he was born. He returned to Va. at the age of 16, after receiving a good classical education in Scotland, to secure the remains of his father's property. Entered Wm. and M. Coll. with a view to the study of law; in and settled in Lunenburg Co., Va. Becoming a member of the Epis. Church in 1815, he was adm. to holy orders in 1817; became minister of St. James's Church, Mecklenburg Co., where he labored until 1823, when he was elected bishop of N.C., and was consecrated May 22. He took charge of the congregation at Raleigh, which in 1828 he gave up for that at Williamsburg. Two vols. of his sermons, with a Memoir, were pub. 8vo, 1830.

Rawdon, FRANCIS, Marquis of Hastings, a British gen., b. 9 Dec. 1754; d. 28 Nov. 1826. Son of Earl Moira. Was grad. at Oxford; entered the army in 1774; embarked for America as a lieut. 5th Foot in 1775; and at Bunker's Hill received two shots in his cap. He became aide to Sir H. Clinton; distinguished himself at the battles of Red Bank and White Plains, the attacks on Forts Mifflin and Mifflin; was made adj.-gen. in 1778, and raised and com. a corps called the Volunteers of Ireland. Disting. himself at Monmouth, he was sent with a small army to S. C.; effected a junction with Lord Cornwallis; and at Camden, 16 Aug. 1780, led a division. After Cornwallis's departure for Va., Rawdon fortified himself at Camden. At the battle of Hobkirk's Hill, 25 Apr. 1781, he attacked Greene, and compelled him to retreat; he then received Ninety-six, and took post at Orangeburg. Rawdon's last act, previous to leaving this country, was his ordering the execution of Col. Hayne, — a cruel and unjustifiable act, for which he has been generally condemned. While on his return-voyage, he was taken by the French, and carried to Brest; March 5, 1783, he was made a baron, and aide-de-camp to the king; in Oct. 1789 he succeeded to the title of his uncle, the Earl of Huntington; and in 1793 became Earl Moira and a maj.-gen.; in 1794 he served under the Duke of York in the Netherlands. Intusted in 1812 with the gov-mation of a ministry, he was rewarded with the order of the Garter, and the gov. generality of British India, which he held 9 years, returning in ill health in 1822; in March, 1824, he was made gov. and com. in chief of Malta, but, his health failing, he left his gov't., and died on board "The Revenge" in the Bay of Bona.

Rawle, WILLIAM, LL. D. (N. J. Col.) 1827, an eminent jurist, b. Phila. April 28, 1759; d. April 12, 1836. After pursuing his legal studies in N. Y., Lond., and Paris, on his return, in 1783, he established himself in practice in Phila., where he passed his life, disting. for scientific and classical as well as legal attainments. In 1789 he was elected to the legisla., and in 1791 was app. by Washington dist. atty. for the State, but was decidedly averse to politics, and resigned in 1799. He was an active member of many lit. and scientific associations, and was the first pres. of the Pa. Hist. Society, to whose printed Colls. he made repeated contributions. In 1822 he was chosen chancellor of the Phila. bar, before whom he delivered several discourses, which were pub. His other writings comprise "A View of the Constitution of the U. S.," and "A New Civil Code," prepared by a commiss. appointed to revise, collate, and digest the Pa. statutes. A Memoir by T. J. Wharton was pub. Phila. 8vo, 1819. His son WILLIAM, Jun. (1799-1858), pub. several vols. of Pa. Reports, and an Address before the Phila. Law Acad. 1835. WILLIAM HENRY, son of Wm., Jun., b. Phila. 1823. Author of "Law of Covenants for Title," 8vo, 3d ed. 1860. Editor of J. W. Smith's "Law of Contracts," 8vo, 1851, and of William's "Law of Real Property," 8vo, 1857; "Equity in Pa.," 8vo, 1868. — See name.

Rawlings, COL. MOSES, Revol. officer; d. Hampshire Co., Va., May, 1809. He com. a M. title regt. at Fort Washington, and, after a brave resistance, was captured on the fall of that fort, 16 Nov. 1776.

Rawlins, GEN. JOHN A., b. Guilford, Fl., Feb. 13, 1811; d. Washington, Sept. 6, 1899. He was a farmer and church member until 1854, but improved every opportunity for reading and study. He studied law at Calumet; was adm. to the bar in 1855, and practised successfully until the war began. Though a decided Democrat, and opposed to the war, yet, when Sumner fell, he gave his support to the Gov't., and Sept. 15 went on the staff of Gen. Grant as assistant adj. gen. (rank of capt.). Brig. gen. Aug. 11, 1863; brev. maj. gen. Feb. 24, 1865; chief of staff to the lieutenant. March 5, 1865 (rank of brig. gen.), and maj. gen. March 13, 1865. He remained upon the staff of his chief through all the trying scenes of the war until the victory was won, and was sec. of war from March 11, 1869, until a few days before his death.

Rawson, EDWARD, Secretary of Ms. 1650-89, b. Coltingham, Dorset, Eng., April 16, 1645; d. Boston, Aug. 27, 1693. He was connected by marriage with the two great dynasties of N. E., Hooker and Wilson, and settled in Newbury ab. 1636. He represented that town in the Gen. Court several years. He is believed to have been one of the authors of a small book, pub. in 1691, entitled "The Revolution in N. England Justified," &c., signed by "E. R." and "S. S." Author of "The General Laws and Liberties concerning the Ind. Indians of the Ms.," &c., fol. 1660. "A Memoir, with Genealogical Notices of his Descendants," by Sullivan S. Rawson, was pub. 8vo, 1819. His son GRINDALL, minist. of Mendon (1650-1715, H. C. 1678, d. Feb. 6, 1715, a. 56), preached to the Indians in their own tongue, and was a talented and benevolent man. He pub. Election Sermons, Boston, 16mo, 1709.

Ray, ISAAC, M. D., physician, b. Beverly, Ms., Jan. 1807. Bowd. Coll. 1827 (A. M. 1846). He commenced practice in Portland, Me., in 1827. In 1829 he removed to Eastport, where he studied insanity, and prepared his treatise on "The Medical Jurisprudence of Insanity," 1838, the 5th edition of which much enlarged, is announced (1871) as in press. In 1841 he was app. supt. of the State Insane Hospital at Augusta, but in 1845 was made supt. of the newly established Butler Hospital for the Insane at Providence, R. I.; now (1871) a resident of Phila. Dr. Ray has been a frequent contrib. to medical and lit. periodicals. Author of "Conversations on Animal Economy," 1829; "Education in Relation to the Health of the Brain," 8vo, 1851; "Mental Hygiene," 12mo, 1863; "Homicide, Epilepsy," 8vo (from Univ. Jour. Linn., Oct. 1867).

Ray, JOSEPH, M. D., physician and instructor, b. Va. Nov. 25, 1807; d. Cincinnati, April 17, 1855. Self-educated, he became at the age of 16 a schoolmaster; subsequently studied at Wash. Coll., Pa., at Athens Coll., O., and at the Ohio M. d. College, whence he graduated, and became a surgeon in the Cincinnati Hospital. In 1834 Dr. Ray was app. prof. of mathematics in Woodward Coll.; and, on its re-organization in 1851 as a high school, he became its principal. During the last five or six years of his life, he was pres. of the board of directors of the House of Refuge in the same city. Author of several standard text-books of arithmetic and algebra.

Ray, WILLIAM, poet, b. Salisbury, Ct., Dec. 8, 1771; d. Auburn, N. Y. 1827. With but little education, he tried farming, and, engaging in trade, became a bankrupt. He then joined the frigate "Philadelphia" in 1803, and was made a prisoner off the harbor of Tripoli by the Turks when that vessel ran aground, Oct. 31, and detained for more than a year and a half. During the war of 1812 he was a brigade major at Plattsburg, and finally settled at Onondaga. In 1808 he published "Horrors of Slavery, or the American Fans in Tripoli," and in 1821 he pub. a vol. of poems containing also a brief narrative of his sufferings in Tripoli. — See name.

Raymond, HENRY JARVIS, LL. D. (Un. Col.) a journalist and politician, founder of the N. Y. Times, b. Lima, N. Y., Jan. 24, 1820; d. New York, June 18, 1869. U. of Vt. 1840. His youth was passed on his father's farm. He studied law in N. Y., maintaining himself by teaching and by contributions to the New-Yorker, a literary journal. On the establishment of the Times in Apr. 1841, he became assistant editor, and gained extraordinary distinction as a reporter. He made a specialty of lectures speeches, and sermons; and reported Dr. Lardner's lectures so correctly, that the lecturer consented to their publication, with very slight alterations, in two octavo vols., with his certificate of their accuracy. He was on the staff of the Courier and Enquirer from 1848 to 1851, and in 1847 formed a literary connection with the publishers Harper and Bros., which continued 10 years. During this period he carried on with Horace Greeley a controversy upon Socialism, afterward pub. in a pamphlet. In 1849 he was elected to the State legisl. by the Whigs; re-elected in 1850, he was chosen speaker, and manifested special interest in the school system and the canal policy of the State. After the adjournment he sailed for Europe for his health, and soon after his return pub. (Sept. 18, 1851) the first number of the N.Y. Times. At the Whig nat. conv. at Baltimore in 1852, he made a long speech in exposition of Northern sentiment. In 1854 he was elected Lieut.-gov. of the State by a large majority. He was active in organizing the Republican party, and drew up the "Address to the People" promulgated at the nat. conv. at Pittsburg in Feb. 1856, and spoke frequently in the following pres. canvass for Fremont. He also took a prominent part in the pres. canvass of 1860 for Mr. Lincoln, and warmly supported the war against the seceding States. Elected to Congress in 1861, he sustained the reconstruction policy of Mr. Johnson. Author of "A History of the Administration of President Lincoln," 1864; "A Life of Pres. Lincoln," 1865; and "Life of Daniel Webster," 2 vols. 12mo, 1853. As a journalist, he had no superior in the country.

Raynal, WILLIAM THOMAS FRANCIS, a French political writer, b. St. Geniez, 1711; d. Passy, Mar. 6, 1796. He became at an early age a Jesuit, but quitted them in 1748, and went to Paris, where he disting. himself as a writer. Embarking in commercial pursuits, he was led to compose his "Histoire Philosophique et Politique des Établissements et du Commerce des Européens dans les deux Indes," first pub. in 1770, of which a greatly improved edition was pub. in 10 vols. some years later. Its freedom of opinion, and boldness of remark upon authority of every description, caused the parliament of Paris to order it to be burnt, and its author to be arrested. In 1781 he pub. his "Traité de Révolutions des Colonies Anglaises dans l'Amérique Sept.," 2 vols. 12mo. Its borders were at once pointed out in a pamphlet by Thomas Paine. In 1790 the National Assembly cancelled the decree passed against him, and in 1791 he addressed a letter to the Constituent Assembly in defence of the rights of property. He escaped the tyranny of Robespierre, but was stripped of his property, and died in indigence.

Rea, GEN. JOHN, Revol. officer; often a member of the State legisl.; M.C. 1803-11 and 1813-15; d. Chambersburg, Pa., 6 Feb. 1829, a. 74.

Read, DANIEL, musical composer, b. Rehoboth, M., 2 Nov. 1757; d. N. Haven, 1836. Pub. "Amer. Song-Book;" "New Coll. of Psalm-Tunes;" DeLham, 1805; "Columbian Harmonist," 1793; author also of "Greenwich," "Widham," and other popular tunes. He was a comb. manuf. in New Haven. — See Family.

Read, GEORGE, signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Cecil Co., Md., 18 Sept. 1733; d. Newcastle, Del., 21 Sept. 1798. His father came from Ireland ab. 1726, and settled in Newcastle Co., Del. George was carefully educated at Chester, Pa., and at New London under Dr. Allison; was adm. to the bar at 19, and in 1754 began practice at New-castle; atty.-gen. of Kent, Sussex, and Delaware Counties 1763-74; number of the legisl. of Del. 1765-76; member of the Cont. Congress 1774-7, and a member of its first naval committee in 1775; vice-pres. of Del. in 1777, and acting pres. after the capture of Pres. McKinley; pres. of the convention in which in 1776 formed the first const. of Del., of which Read was the author; and also a member of the conv. that framed the U.S. Constitution; again member of the Assembly in 1779-80; app. in 1782 judge of the Court of Appeals in Admiralty Cases; in 1785 one of the justices of a special court in a territorial dispute between Ms. and N.Y.; U.S. senator 1789-93; and from 1793 to his d. chief justice of D. L. His son GEORGE, dist.-atty. for D. L. 1789-1809, d. Newcastle, 3 Sept. 1836, a. 70. JOHN, another son (b. 7 July, 1769, d. 13 July, 1854, N. J. Coll. 1757), succeeded N. Biddle in the Pa. senate. Pub. "Arguments on the British Debts," Phil. 1798. — See Life and Correspondence by Wm. Thompson Read, 8vo, 1870.

Read, GEORGE CAMPBELL, rear-admiral U.S.N., b. Ireland; d. Phila. Aug. 22, 1862. Midshipm. Apr. 2, 1804; lieut. Apr. 25, 1810; com. Apr. 27, 1816; capt. Mar. 3, 1825; rear-adm. July 31, 1862. After the action between the U.S. frigate "Constitution" and the British frigate "Guerriere," Aug. 19, 1812, in which his gallantry was conspicuous, he was selected to receive the sword of Capt. Daines. Oct. 25, 1812, he was present in the action between "The United States" and "Macedonian." At the time of his death he was gov. of the Phila. Naval Asylum. He was a gallant and courteous officer, and of a commanding personal appearance. "Around the World," a narrative of a voyage in the E. I. sloop under Read, by an officer of the navy, was pub. 2 vols. 8vo, N.Y. 1840.

Read, HENRIETTA FANNING, b. Jamaica Plains, N.Y. Pub. 8vo, 1848, a vol. of dramatic poems, "Medea Erminia," and "The New World;" and in Feb. 1848 made her debut as an actress at the old Boston Theatre. — Ma's F. and P. Arts.

Read, GEN. JACOB, Revol. officer, b. S.C. 1752; d. there 17 July, 1816. Descendant of "one who held high office in Ga." He studied law in Eng., and practised on his return. Member State Legisl.; of the Old Congress 1783-6; U.S. senator 1795-1802; pres. pro tem, 1797; app. judge of the Dist. Court of S.C. in 1801.

Read, JOHN, a disting. lawyer of Boston; d. Feb. 7, 1749, a. ab. 72. H.U. 1697. He studied divinity, and was for some time a popular preacher; but studied law, and became an eminent practitioner. He was the first to reduce the redundant and obscure phraseology of the English deeds of conveyance to the simple form now in use. He also held for some time a conspicuous place in the House of Representatives and council during Fairly's administration. — See .

Read, JOHN MERRITT, LL.D. (B.U. 1860), son of John and grandson of George, senior D. C. of Ind. p. 6, Pa. a July 21, 1797; senior Pa. 1812; called to the bar in 1818, married Pa. 26, 1814; ed. Reflections on the Rights of the Slave, and Wives of the Clergymen, on C. T. notes; judge Sup. Court of Pa. 30, 1860; Visitors, Pa. 188; Soc.; Ed. of A. R. P. Libs., Soc.; Assoc. counsel with Phil. Soc. in 1851 in defence of C. Howell, for constructive treason. At 1854 he began to advocate the principles of the Republican party. Author of a great number of publications, sermons, speeches, &c.; for a list of which, see Antony's "Dict. of Authors." His son, JOHN MERRITT, JUN., consulting in Paris 1860, k. Phila. 1837. — B.U. 1838, Albany Law School, 1839. A. M. in Phila. bar 1839, and removed to Albany. Adj.-gen. of N.Y. during the Rebellion; incorp. and original trustee of Cornell U. Author of "The Relation of the Soil to Plants and Animals," 1860; "Hist. Inquiry concerning Henrik Hudson," &c., 1866. He is now employed on a new Line of Hudson, to be illustrated by Bierhart. Author also of occasional poems, and other contributions to periodicals, newspapers, &c., and in number of many literary and scientific societies. — See .

Reid, NICHOLAS, jurist and inventor, k. Warren, Md., July 2, 1759, d. B. East, Me., Jan. 20, 1819. — B.U. 1781; tutor there 1783-5. Son of Major John Reid of the Revolutionary army. In 1795 studied in Danvers, Ms., and engaged in the study of law as a scholastic, and in 1802, when he in 1807 he removed to B. East. — M.C. 1800-3, and was subsequently for some years a judge and chief justice of the C.C.P. He was the first inventor for a patent invention, for the patent law had been enacted, one of the first who turned steam to the purposes of navigation, having, in Aug. 1790, experimented on Winham Pond with a boat propelled by steam wheels, instead of wheels. He also invented a method of equipping the sails of windmills, a plan of using the force of the tide by means of reservoirs alternately filled and emptied in such a way as to produce a constant stream; different forms of pumping engines, and the sliding valves; and a plan for using the expansive and contraction of metals multiplied by levers for winding wire clocks and other purposes. He is also claimed for him that he invented the singular form of tubular iron and lead rods for use in steam engines, having patented this invention as early as 1788-91. He was also the inventor of many agricultural machines. Member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences. — See N. Y. Trib. of Com. & Justice, p. 6, Int. Lib. & M. Lib., N. Y., 1870.

Reid, THOMAS BUCHANAN, printer and poet, Chester Co., Pa., Mar. 12, 1822. At the age of 17 he went to Cincinnati and entered a compositor's studio, but soon after studied printing. In 1841 he removed to N.Y. and soon after to Boston, where he assumed to himself the name of portrait-painter. Established a gallery in Phila. in 1846, he visited Europe in 1850, returned to Cincinnati, and in 1851 went to Florence. After a long residence there, he returned to Cincinnati in 1858. He published his first vol. of poems at Boston in 1847; "Lays and Ballads," Phila. 1848; an illustrated edition of his poems, 1854; "The New Pastoral," his first long poem, 1855; "The House by the Sea," 1856; "Poetical Works," 2 vols., Boston, 1860; "The Wagoner of the A. L. Highway," 1862; "Sheridan's Ride, and other Poems," 1863; "Poems," new ed., 3 vols.; "Good Samaritans," a poem, 1867; and in 1848 edited a col. of "Specimens of the Female Poets of Amer." Among his best pictures are the "Last Pleiad," the "Water Sprite," and "Langedlow's Children."

Reagan, JOHN H., postm. gen. of the Cont. States, k. Sevier Co., Tenn., Oct. 8, 1818. He studied law, and was adm. to the bar. S. tried at Palestine, Texas, was a police surveyor in 1840, in 1846 probate judge, and col. of militia, member of the legis. in 1847, judge of the Dist. Court 1852-7; Democ. M. C. 1857-61, and from Mar. 1, 1861 to Apr. 1865 postmaster-gen. of the Cont. States. Some time a prisoner at Fort Warren.

Reddon, LUCY C. ("Howard's London"), b. Somerset Co., Md. Lost her hearing at the age of 12 and is deaf. Author of "Notes on Men of the 17th Cong.," 1862; "Lays of Butler, and Poems of the Revolution," N.Y., 1834. Edited in 1860 a department of the S. L. & P. Lib. & M. Lib. and has contributed to the M. R. Lib. & M. Lib. and Harvard Lib. & M. Lib. Some of her poems are in "Loyal Lyrics," and in "Ballads of the War." — See .

Redfield, ISAAC FLETCHER, LL.D. (just. b. W. Mass. 1817, Apr. 10, 1894. D. Dartm. Co., 1825. Began practice at Derby, Vt., in 1827, afterward in Windsor, Vt., and in 1841 removed to Boston. S. his atty. for Orleans Co., 1842-3, judge of the Vt. Sup. J. C. 1845-58, chief jus. ce. 1852-61, prof. of modern juris. at Dartm. Coll. 1857-61, a commission to adjust U.S. claims on Great Britain 1867. Author of a treatise on "The Law of Railways," "Law of Carriers," "Leading Amer. Cases," "Law of Wills," 3 vols., 8vo. Editor of "Greenleaf on Evidence," 3 vols., 8vo, 1868, with W. A. H. Brock; "Transactions on Civil Practice and Procedure," 1868. N. E. ed. of the Pr. & L. R. S.

Redfield, WILLIAM C., mechanic and meteorologist, b. Middletown, Ct., Mar. 26, 1789; d. N.Y. City, Feb. 12, 1857. He was early in life a mechanic, but, engaging in steam navigation, removed in 1825 to N.Y. City. He investigated thoroughly the whole subject of the connection of steam with navigation, and in pamphlets, essays, and published letters, discussed the causes of steamboat explosions, the means of safety, the necessity of careful and frequent inspection, the improvement of the law relative to steam navigation, its adaptation to the necessities of national defence, and the simplification and improvement of marine engines. First pres. of the Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science in 1843. He is chiefly known as a meteorologist, and especially for his successful researches into the phenomena of violent storms and gales, which he showed to be large progressive whirlwinds. In 1828 he pub. a pamphlet urging the importance of a system of railways to connect the Hudson and the Mps. He pub. during his life 62 essays, of which 40 pertain to meteorology; also the encyclical theory of storms; "Genealogy of the Redfield Family in the U. S.," 1849. "A long sketch by Benson Ormssted was pub. in 1857. His son JOHN H. is known by his investigations into lunacy, &c., at the Bahamas, &c.

Red Jacket (Sagoyewah), chief of the Senecas, and a celebrated orator, b. 1754 near Buffalo, N. Y.; d. there Jan. 20, 1830. During the Revolt, the Senecas fought under the Brit. standard, and his activity and intelligence attracted the notice of the officers. At a council held at Fort Stanwix in 1763 he negotiated a treaty between the U. S. and some of the Six Nations for the cession of land; he spoke very eloquently against the treaty, which was nevertheless ratified. A few years later, Red Jacket had an interview with Washington, who gave him a silver medal, which he wore ever afterward. In 1819 he gave information to the Indian agent of the attempt made by Tecumseh to draw the Senecas into the Western combination. He possessed talents of the highest order, and was a thorough Indian in his costume, as well as in his contempt for the dress, language, and every thing else belonging to the English. He was proud to none in the authority of his title, and maintained his position with great dignity. He excelled as an orator, using beautiful and figurative language, combined with easy, graceful, and impressive gesticulations. In the war of 1812 he fought for the U. S. with the utmost intrepidity, and the bravery of Red Jacket was particularly conspicuous in an action near Lake George, Aug. 13, 1812. In his later years he was a confirmed drunkard. — See Lives by W. L. Stone, 8vo, 1841.

Redman, John, M.D., an eminent physician, b. Phila. Feb. 27, 1722; d. there Mar. 19, 1808. He studied at the U. S. Mr. Tennent's academy, and under Dr. John Kearsley; spent some years in Bermuda, and then went to Europe. He remained 1 year at the medical school in Edinburgh, attended Guy's Hospital one year, and also attended lectures, dissections, and hospitals in Paris. He grad. at the U. of Leyden, July 15, 1748; "Abortion" being the subject of his inaugural dissertation. Returning to Phila., he rose to celebrity in his profession. In 1759 he pub. a defence of inoculation, and advised the use of mercury. He was elected a physician of the Pa. Hospital on its establishment, and afterward the first pres. of the Coll. of Physicians. — Thacher.

Redwood, Abraham, founder of the Redwood Library; d. Newport, R. I., Mar. 3, 1788, a. 78. He was a Quaker from Antigua, and gave £500 for the library. Its building was finished in 1759.

Reed, Calvin, Swedenborgian writer, b. W. Bridgewater, Ms., Apr. 22, 1797; d. Boston, Oct. 14, 1854. H. P., 1847. He practised law at Yarmouth until 1827. Son of Rev. John Reed. He pub. "The General Principles of English Grammar," 1821. Over 20 years editor of the N. Jerusalem Mag. Member of the firm of Cyrus Alger & Co., Boston, 1827-54.

Reed, David, founder of the Christian Register (29 Apr. 1821); b. Lorton, Md., 6 Feb. 1790; d. Boston, 7 June, 1870. B. P., 1810. Son of Rev. Wm. Cong. pastor of Lorton from 1784 to his d. 16 Nov. 1809; b. Abington, Ms., 8 June, 1755. David took charge of the Bridgewater Acad. in 1810, was licensed to preach in 1813, and moved 1819, preached in various places in N. E. From the commencement of the Register until 1866 he led the assistance, editorially and as contributor, of many of the ablest men of the Unitarian denomination; and his journal exercised a powerful influence upon the public mind. He was one of the founders of the Amer. Anti-Slavery Soc. in 1824; and was one of the earliest members of the N. E. H. Gen. Society.

Reed, Henry, LL.D., author, b. Phila. July 11, 1808; d. on his return from Europe in the steamer "Arctic," Sept. 27, 1854. F. of Pa. 1825. Grad. on of Joseph and E. the Reed. He studied law in the office of John Sergeant; was adm. to the bar in 1829; in 1834 was app. assist. prof. of English lit. in the U. of Pa.; a short time subsequently assist. prof. of moral philos., and in 1845 prof. of rhetoric and Eng. lit. He superintended the pub. of an edition of Woodworth's Poems; finished the Lives of his grandfathers Spauld's "Amer. Biog.," and also numerous essays and reviews for the periodical press. His principal work was entitled "Lectures on English Lit.," 1855. In 1845 he pub. an improved edition of "Alex. Reed's Dict. of the Eng. Language," in 1847 an edition of "Graham's English Synonyms," of "Arnold's Lectures on Modern Hist.," "Lord Mahon's History of Eng.," and the poetical works of Gray. Also author of "Lectures on the British Poets," 1857; "Lectures on English Hist. Shakespeare," &c., 1856. Prof. Reed in a grand-dan. of Richard Wm. White. After his death his son Wm. B. pub. a vol. of his miscellaneous productions, to which a Memoir of his life was prefixed.

Reed, Horatio, clergyman and author, b. Newline, Vt., Aug. 26, 1802. Wm. Col. 1826. He stud. theology at Princeton, O. d. at Park St., Boston, Sept. 24, 1824, and from Dec. 1830 to 1835 was a missionary in India, from Nov. 1833 to 1845 was settled at Derby, Ct.; and at New Preston from June 1, 1845, to 1851. He has pub. "The Christian Brother," 2 vols. 12mo; "Reed and Ramsay's Journal in India," 12mo, 1836; "God in History," 2 vols. 12mo; "Memoirs and Sermons of W. J. Armstrong, D.D.," 12mo; "India and People, Ancient and Modern," 8vo, 5vo; "Palace of the Great King;" "Commercial Christianity," 18mo; "The Coming Cities of the World," 12mo; and "The Negro Problem Solved," 12mo.

Reed, Gen. Isaac, Rev. officer, b. Lunenburg, Va.; d. Phila. Sept. 1778. Son of Col. Clement Reed. Was a resident of Greenwich; was many years a member of the H. of Burgesses; a signer of the non-importation and mercantile associations in 1769 and '70. A member of the State conventions of 1774 and of March and June, 1775 by which last body he was app. lieutenant-col. 4th Va. Regt. Feb. 13, 1776; and was promoted to col. Aug. 13, 1776. — Gen. & Staff.

Reed, James, brig.-gen. Revol. army, b. Wolcott, Ms., 1724; d. Fitchburg, Ms., 13 Feb. 1807. He com. a company under Col. Brown in the French and Indian war in 1755; was with Abernethy at Fionderoga in 1758, and with Anshutz in 1759. In 1765 he served in the town of Fitzwilliam, N.H., of which he was an agent and promoter. Made a lieutenant in 1770. In May, 1775, he com. the 2d. N.H. Regt. at Cambridge, with which he did good service at Banker's Hill, holding the raft line with Stark and protecting the retreat of the main body from their doubt. Joining the army in Cambridge under Sullivan early in 1776, his regt. suffered severely from small-pox, and Reed himself was attacked and ultimately lost his sight. Made brig.-gen. 2 Aug. 1776, he quitted his sick bed, incapacitated for further service, and returned to his former residence. His son, SAMUEL, served through the war; was killed in Sullivan's campaign of 1778; afterwards d. 1798.

Reed, Jos. D.D. (B.U. 1803) Unitarian clergyman and M.C., 1795-1809; b. Framingham, Ms., Nov. 11, 1751; d. Feb. 17, 1831, in W. R. B. Rowan, Y. C. 1772. Son of Solomon, minister of Middleborough. After spending one year as chaplain in the U.S. naval service, he was settled at W. R. B., Ms., June 7, 1779, preaching there for 51 years. His two principal co-workers, D. Perkins and J. Keith, occupied 116 years. His opinions on ecclesiastical affairs were so just and accurate, as to have received the approbation of courts and judges. A report of an ecclesiastical council drawn up by him has been in substance adopted as the foundation of an important decision of the Supreme Court of Ms. His pub. works consist of a sermon, a treatise on Baptism, 42mo. He excelled as a metaphysician and controversialist.

Reed, Jos. W. C. 1817-47 and 1821-41, son of Rev. John, b. W. Bridgewater, Sept. 2, 1781; d. there Nov. 25, 1860. B.U. 1803. He was professor of Bridgewater Acad. one year, tutor in Brown U. 2 years; then studied law, and settled in Yarmouth, Ms., where he acquired a lucrative practice; and was from 1817-51, four gov. of Ms.

Reed, Joseph, statesman, b. Trenton, N. J. 27 Aug. 1744; d. Phila. 5 Mar. 1785. N. J. C. 1757. He studied law at the Temple, Lond., returned in 1765; began a successful practice at Trenton, and in 1767 was app. dep. sec. of N. J. — Visiting Eng. in 1770, he met Esther dau. of Dennis De Bilt, agent for Ms., and on his return settled in Phila.; took an active part in politics, corresponding, through his English connections, with Lord Dartmouth, colonial sec. Member of the com. of correspond. in 1774; pres. of the first Pa. convention in Jan. 1775; deleg. to Congress in May; and in July, at the solicitation of Washington, resigned a lucrative practice, and accompanied him to Cambridge as his sec. and aide-de-camp. Adj.-gen. during the campaign of 1776, he contributed to the successes of Trenton and Princeton. In 1777 he was app. chief justice of Pa., and named by Congress brig-

gen.; he declined both offices, but was present as a vol. at the battles of Brandywine, White Marsh, Germantown, and Monmouth. Member of Congress, and in 1778 signed the articles of confed. In reply to the offers of Gov. Johnstone, one of the British peace commissioners, Reed answered, "I am not worth purchasing; but, such as I am, the King of Great Britain is not rich enough to do it." Pres. of Pa. 1778-81; active in suppressing the revolt of the Pa. line of the army in 1777. He detected and exposed the character of Arnold, whom he brought to trial for malpractice while in com. at Phila. He resumed his profession at the close of 1781; and in 1784 visited Eng. for his health, but without beneficial result. During his administration, he aided in founding the U. of Pa.; favored the gradual abolition of slavery; and the doing away with the proprietary power vested in the Penn. family. Bancroft quotes Count Donop's report to the British Gen. Grant, that Col. Reed received a British protection in 1776. (See also H. M. Mag. for Jan. 1869, and Gen. Cadwallader's "Reply" to the pub. "Remarks" of Reed, addressed to the former in 1783, sustaining the allegation.) Reed also pub. "Remarks on Johnstone's Speech, with Papers relative to his Propositions," &c., 1779. Married his wife (b. Lond. 1747, d. Phila. 18 Sept. 1780) took an active part in providing for the sick and destitute soldiers of the army. Her grandson Wm. B. Reed pub. her Memoirs, 8vo, 1853. His youngest son, George W., an officer in the U.S.N., d. Spanishtown, Jamaica, 4 Jan. 1813, a. 72. N. J. Coll. 2d Lieut. of "The Nautilus" in the attack on Tripoli in Aug. 1804, cooperated with Gen. Eaton on the African coast, and com. "The Vixen" in the war of 1812. — See Life and Character of Reed by his Grandson, Wm. B. R., 2 vols. 1847.

Reed, Col. PHILIP, senator, d. Huntingville, Kent Co., Md., Nov. 2, 1829. A capt. in the Revol. army; U.S. senator 1806-13; M.C. 1779-19 and 1821-3; col. of militia; com. in a fight with a superior force of British seamen under Sir Peter Parker, who were defeated, and Sir Peter killed, at Moorfields, East Shore, Md., Aug. 30, 1814. — Gen. & Staff.

Reed, SAMUEL, b. W. Bridgewater, Ms., 10 June, 1800. B.U. 1818. Merchant of Boston. Editor New Church M. &c., and co-editor New Journal in Mass. Author of "Observations on the Growth of the Mind," 8vo, 1826.

Reed, WILLIAM, a philanthropic merchant, d. Marblehead, Ms., Feb. 18, 1837, a. 60. M.C. 1811-15; pres. of the S.S. Union, and of the Amer. Tract Society; vice-pres. of the Education Society. Beside's liberal bequests to heirs and relatives, he left $68,000 to various benevolent objects.

Reed, WILLIAM BRADFORD, LL.D., grandson of Gen. Joseph, b. Phila. 30 June, 1807. U. of Pa. 1822. Atty.-gen. of Pa. 1838; envoy-extr. and minister to China 1857-8, and negotiated the treaty ratified Jan. 26, 1860. Author of "Life and Correspondence of Joseph Reed," 2 vols. 8vo, 1847; "Life of Esther Reed," 8vo, 1853; "Vindication of Joseph Reed," in reply to Bancroft's History, in several pamphlets. He edited the posthumous works of his bro. Henry, and has pub. a large number of hist. addresses and political pamphlets. Contrib. to the Amer. Quarterly and N. A. Review.

Reeder, ANDREW H., lawyer and politician, b. near Trenton, N.J., ab. 1808; d. Easton, Pa., July 5, 1864. He passed most of his life at Easton, where he practised law, and was influential as a Democ. politician, but would never accept office until in 1854 app. first gov. of Kansas. The election frauds there made him a Republican; and in July, 1855, he was removed from office, but was unanimously elected by the people as their delegate to Congress, and afterward, under the Topeka Constitution, first U.S. senator. The constitution was not ratified by Congress, and he did not take his seat. One of the first to be app. a brig.-gen. at the outbreak of the war, he declined the honor. Three of his sons served in the army. With Hon. Marcus J. Parrott, he pub. "Kansas, a Description of the Country," &c.

Reese, DAVID MURDITH, M.D., LL.D., superint. of public schools in New York, b. Phila. 1800; d. N.Y. City, 1861. U. of Md. 1820. He practised many years in N.Y. City, and was physician-in-chief to the Bellevue Hospital. He pub. "Observations on Yellow-Fever," 1819; "Strictures on Health," 1828; "Epidemic Cholera," 1833; "Humbly of New York," 1833; "Review of the First Rep. Anti-slavery Soc.," 1834; "Quakerism versus Calvinism, a Reply to Dr. Cox," 1834; "Letters to Wm. Jay in Reply to his Inquiry," 12mo, 1835; "Phrenology known by its Fruits," 1838; "Medical Lexicon," 1845. He edited Chambers's Educ. Course, 12 vols.; Cooper's Surgical Diet., in Nigan on Medicines; and Good's "Book of Nature;" Amer. Med. Gazette, 1850; contrib. to periodicals.

Rees, JAMES, b. Morristown, Pa., 1802. He was a contrib. to the Sat. Evening Post in 1821, to the Picayune 1834, to the Humbly Weekly, and other periodicals; was co-editor of the Mechanics' Free Press 1831; editor of the Dramatic Mirror 1842, and of the Philanthropist 1854; has pub. "The Dramatic Authors of America," 1842; "Beauties of Daniel Webster," 12mo, 1839; "Mysteries of City Life," 1849; "The Tinker Spy, a Romance of the Revol.," 1855; "Foot-Prints of a Letter-Carrier," 1866; and a number of plays. He has ready for the press a work on the Origin of Phrases, the Etymology of Words, &c. — Allibon.

Reese, THOMAS, D.D., Presb. clergyman, b. Pa. 1742; d. Charleston, S.C., Aug. 1796. N.J. Coll. 1768. Ord. 1773. He became pastor of the church of Salem, S.C., and in 1793 of two churches in Pendleton Dist. He was a disting. scholar and an able preacher. He pub. an "Essay on the Influence of Religion on Civil Society," and sermons in the American Preacher. — Springer.

Reeve, ISAAC V. D., col. U.S.A., b. N.Y. West Point, 1835. Entering the 4th Inf., he became 1st lieut. 8th Inf. 7 July, 1838; capt. 18 June, 1847; maj. 1st Inf. 14 May, 1861; lieut.-col. 16th, 13 Sept. 1862; col. (retired list) 14 Oct. 1864. He served against the Seminoles of Fla. in 1836-7 and 1840-2; in the Mexican war 1846-7; was at the siege of Vera Cruz, battles of Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, Cerro Gordo, Chapultepec, and capture of city of Mexico; and was brev. maj. and lieut.-col. for Contreras and Churubusco 29 Aug., and for Molino del Rey 8 Sept., 1847. Made prisoner of war by treachery of Gen. Twiggs at San Antonio, Tex., 9 May, 1861; exchanged 20 Aug. 1862. — Callum.

Reeve, TAPPING, LL.D., lawyer, b. Brookhaven, L.I., Oct. 1744; d. Litchfield, Ct., Dec. 13, 1823. N.J. Coll. 1763. In 1772 he removed to Litchfield, where he began to practise law. In 1784 he instituted the Litchfield Law School, which soon became celebrated throughout the Union, and of which he was the sole instructor until 1798, when he associated with himself James Gould, continuing to give lectures himself until 1820. In 1798-1814 he was a judge of the Superior Court. He was the first eminent Amer. lawyer who endeavored to effect a change in the laws regarding the property of married women, and was a Federalist in politics. He m. Sarah, sister of Aaron Burr. He pub. the Law of Baron and Femme, of Parent and Child, of Guardian and Ward, &c., 8vo, 1816; treatise on the Law of Descents, 8vo, 1825.

Reid, DAVID BOSWELL, M.D., F.R.S., physicist, b. Edinburgh, 1805; d. Washington, D.C., 5 Apr. 1863. Educated at the U. of Edinb. He became eminent as a teacher of chemistry, and in the application of proper ventilation to public buildings. In 1856 he came to the U.S.; was some time prof. of applied chemistry in the U. of Wis., and afterward resided at St. Paul, Minn.; one of the inspectors of the U.S. sanitary com. Author of "Ventilation in American Dwellings," N.Y., 1863; "A Short Plea for the Revision of Education in Science," 1861; and contrib. many papers to scient. journals.

Reid, DAVID S., gov. of N.C. in 1854-5, b. Rockingham Co., N.C., Apr. 19, 1813. Studied law, and was adm. to practise in 1833; was a member of the State legis. in 1835-42; M.C. in 1843-7; U.S. senator 1856-61; delegate to the Peace Congress, Feb. 1861. — Linnam.

Reid, GLENN GEORGE, Revol. officer, b. N.H. 1733; d. Londonderry, N.H., Sept. 1815. His early education was scanty. He was a capt. in Stark's regt. at Bunker's Hill; lieut.-col. of Patterson's regt. Nov. 4, 1775; col. N.H. 2d at the battle of Bemis Heights, Oct. 1777; and was present at the surrender of both Cornwallis and Burgoyne; in 1785 he was a brig.-gen. of militia; and in 1791 was made sheriff of Rockingham County.

Reid, JOHN, a British gen., b. Scotland, Jan. 13, 1722; d. Lond. Feb. 6, 1807. Son of Alexander Robertson of Straloch. Educated at the U. of Edinburgh, and entered the army as a lieut. in London's Highlanders, June 8, 1745; app. June 3, 1752, capt. in the 42d; in 1758 he became major. He served under Amherst in the French war; was wounded in the exped. against Martinico, 1762, and promoted to a lieut.-col.; in 1763 he was sent to the relief of Fort Pitt, then besieged by the Indians, who were defeated in the well-fought battle of Bushy Run. In the following summer the 42d again formed part of another expedition under Bouquet against the Muncie Indians. In 1765 Lieut.-Col. Reid com. all his Majesty's forces in the dist. of Fort Pitt; and in 1766 an officer of the same name is mentioned as commanding at Fort Chartres, Ill. In 1771 Lieut.-Col. Reid obtained a large tract of land on Otter Creek in Va., from which, however, his tenants were expelled in 1772 by the people of Bennington. He became maj.-gen. Oct. 1781; lieut.-gen. Oct. 12, 1793; gen. Jan. 1, 1798.

Reid, CAPT. MAYNE, novelist and soldier, b. in the north of Ireland, 1818. The son of a Presb. minister, he was intended for the church; but a fondness for adventure led him in 1848 to Amer. Arriving at N. Orleans, he engaged in trading and hunting excursions up the Red and Mo. Rivers, and travelled through nearly every State in the Union. He afterward settled in Phila.; wrote for magazines; served in the Mexican war; and was wounded in the assault upon Chapultepec, where he led the forlorn hope. He afterward resided in Lond., and has written a series of very popular books for boys. Among the best are "The Rifle-Rangers," 1849; "The Scalp-Hunters," 1850; "The Quadroon," 1856; and "Osceola," 1858. An edition of his works in 15 vols. was pub. in 1868. He established a monthly magazine in Jan. 1869.

Reid, ROBERT RAYMOND, jurist, b. Pr. William Parish, S. C., Sept. 8, 1789; d. near Tallahassee, July 1, 1841. In early life he removed to Ga.; was M.C. in 1819-23; afterward mayor of Augusta. He was also judge of the Superior Court of Ga. in 1816-19 and 1823-5. In 1832 Pres. J. Q. Adams app. him judge of the Superior Court for the eastern dist. of Fla.; and in 1839 Pres. Van Buren app. him gov. of Fla. While holding his judicial office in that State, he was a member of the conv. which formed a State constitution, over which body he presided in a creditable manner. — M. S., Biographical Bar of Ga.

Reid, SAMUEL CHESTER, a naval officer, b. Norwich, Ct., Aug. 25, 1783; d. N.Y. City, Jan. 28, 1861. He went to sea at 11; was captured by a French privateer, and was 6 months a prisoner at Basseterre. He served as acting midshipman on the U.S. ship "Baltimore," in Com. Truxton's W. I. squad; and during the war of 1812 com. the privateer brig "Gen. Armstrong," with which he fought one of the most remarkable naval battles on record, at Fayal, Sept. 26 and 27, 1814. Her force was 7 guns and 90 men. She was attacked by the boats of the "Pantagenet" (74), "Rota" (44), and "Circulation" (18). Reid succeeded in thoroughly disabling and detaching the enemy, and scuttled his own vessel to prevent her capture. The British lost 120 killed and 130 wounded. The Americans had 2 killed, 7 wounded. The attack upon "The Armstrong" in a neutral port led to a protracted diplomatic correspondence; but the arbitration of Louis Napoleon decided the case against the Americans. Capt. Reid was app. a sailing-master in the navy, and held the office till his death. He was also warden of the port of N.Y., and invented and erected the signal-telegraph at the battery and the Narrows, communicating with Sandy Hook, and regulated and numbered the pilot-boats. He is also disting. as the designer of the present U.S. flag. — Appleton.

Reid, WHITELAW, b. Xenia, O., 1837. Miami U., 1856. Editor Xenia News; co-editor Cincinnati Gazette; now (1871) managing ed. N. Y. Tribune. Author of "After the War, a Southern Tour," 1865-6, 12mo; "Ohio in the War," 2 vols., 8vo, 1868. — Allibone.

Reinagle, ALEXANDER, musical composer, and manager of Phila. and Balt. theatres; d. Balt. 21 Sept. 1809, a. 61.

Reno, GES. JESSE L., b. Va. 1823; killed at the battle of South Mountain, Sept. 14, 1862. West Point, 1846. Entering the ordnance dept., he was brev. 1st lieut. for gallantry at Cerro Gordo; com. a howitzer battery at the storming of Chapultepec, where he was severely wounded, and brev. capt. He was afterward assist. prof. of math. at West Point; sec. of the board of artillery; was employed in the coast survey and in the construction of a military road from Big Sioux to St. Paul. He accomp. Gen. Johnston to Utah as ordnance officer, was made 1st lieut. of ordnance, Mar. 3, 1853; capt. July 1, 1860; brig. gen. vols. Nov. 12, 1861; and maj.-gen. 18 July, 1862. He com. the 2d brigade in Burnside's expedition to N.C.; was disting. at the battle of Roanoke Island for gallantry in leading the attack on Fort Bartow; participated in the capture of Newbern and other important military operations; was ordered to reinforce Gen. McClellan on the peninsula in July, 1862; afterward joined Gen. Pope's army of Va., and took part in the actions near Manassas at the close of Aug. 1862, and com. the 9th corps. At the battle of South Mountain he was in advance, and engaged during the whole day; was conspicuous for his gallantry and activity; and the success of the day was greatly owing to his efforts.

Renshaw, JAMES, capt. U.S.N., b. Pa., 1784; d. Washington, D.C., May 29, 1846. Midshipm. July 7, 1800; lieut. Feb. 25, 1807; com. Dec. 10, 1814; capt. Mar. 3, 1825.

Renshaw, RICHARD T., capt. U.S.N., b. Pa. March 22, 1821. Midshipm. Feb. 26, 1838; lieut. 1861; com. Sept. 22, 1862; capt. 1863; com. steamer "Louisiana," N. Atl. block squad, 1861-4; at capture of Roanoke Island, Feb. 8, 1862; Washington, N.C., Sept. 6, 1862; defence of Washington, N.C., Apr. 1863; and several minor actions. Com. steamer "Massasoit," N.A.B. squad, 1864-5; in several engagements on James River; com. steamer "Agawam," Atl. squad, 1865-6. — Hawes's.

Renshaw, WILLIAM B., com. U.S.N., b. N.Y. ab. 1815; d. Jan. 1863. Midshipm. 1831; lieut. 1841; com. 1861. He com. the squad, blockading Galveston, and blew up his ship, which had run aground near that city, rather than surrender it, and was killed by the explosion.

Renwick, JAMES, LL.D., physician, b. New York 1792; d. there Jan. 12, 1863. Col. Coll. 1807, and from 1820 to 1853 was prof.

of chemistry and physics there. The mother of Prof. Renwick was a friend and pet of the poet Burns, who addressed to her some of his sweetest poems. In 1838 he was app. by govt. one of the commiss. for the exploration of the N. East boundary between the U.S. and New Brunswick. He was a valuable contrib. to the N.Y. Review and to the Whig Review; wrote Biographies of Fulton, Rittenhouse, and Rumford, for Sparks's "Amer. Biog.;" a "Memoir of De Witt Clinton," N.Y. 1834; a Treatise on the Steam-Engine, and one on the practical applications of the principles of mechanics, N.Y. 1840. His "Outlines of Nat. Philos.," 2 vols. Phila. 1832, was the earliest extended work on that subject in the U.S.; and his "Outlines of Geology," N.Y. 1838, preceded by several years any other text-book on that subject. He also pub. ext-books on chemistry and philosophy for the use of schools; "Lives of Jay and Hamilton;" and "Elements of Mechanics," 8vo, 1832.

Requer, AUGUSTUS JULIAN, poet and lawyer, b. Charleston, S.C., May 27, 1825. His father was of Marsdes; his mother the dau. of a Haguen lady, who fled to the U.S. upon the servile outbreak there. In 1844 he commenced the practice of law; in Oct. 1850 removed to Mobile, Ala.; was in 1853 app. by P. S. Pierce dist. atty. for the Southern Dist. of Ala.; was re-app. by Buchanan; resigned the office on the secession of Ala. in Jan. 1861; and again received the app. from the govt. of the Confed. States a few months later. In 1842 he wrote "The Spanish Exile," a 3-act play, successfully performed in Charleston and other places, and soon after pub. "The Old Sanctuary," a romance, was pub. Boston, 1846. Between 1845 and 1850 many of his minor poems appeared in the magazines. A coll. of his poems was pub. in Phila. in 1869; and "Marco Bozzaris," written in 1846, was successfully produced at the Mobile Theatre.—Am. Bibl.

Revere, PAUL, engraver and patriot, b. Boston, Jan. 1, 1735; d. there May 10, 1818. Of Huguenot descent, and was brought up to his father's trade of goldsmith. In 1756 he was a licent. of art., and was stationed at Fort Edward, near Lake George. On his return, he established himself as a goldsmith, and acquiring, unaided, the art of copperplate engraving, was, at the revolutionary outbreak, one of the 4 engravers then in America. In 1766 he engraved a print emblematic of the repeal of the Stamp Act, which was very popular, as was also that called "The 17 Rescinders;" in 1770 he pub. a print of "The Boston Massacre;" in 1774 another representing the landing of the British troops in Boston; and was one of the grand jury which refused to act because of the action of parliament in making the judge independent of the people. In 1775 he engraved the plates, made the press, and printed the bills, of the paper-money ordered by the Ms. Prov. Congress. By that body he was sent to Phila. to visit the powder-mill there, and learn the art of making powder, and on his return set up a mill with complete success. He was one of those who planned and executed the destruction of the tea in Boston harbor; and on the night of April 18, 1775, Warren despatched him by way of Charlestown to give notice of the British expedition to Concord. "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere" is the title of one of Longfellow's poems. He was in the unfortunate Penobscot expedition of 1779. He was licent.-col. of a regt. of art. in the State service, and, as grand master of Freemasons, had extensive influence. After the war, he was engaged in the casting of church-bells and cannon; and in 1795 assisted at the laying of the corner-stone of the Boston State House. He erected the extensive works at Canton, Ms., for the rolling of copper, which business is continued by his successors, the "Revere Copper Co." First pres. of the Ms. Charitable Assoc. PAUL JOSEPH his grandson, b. Boston, Sept. 10, 1832, d. Westminster, Md., July 4, 1863, of a wound received at Gettysburg. H.U. 1852. Maj. 20th Ms. Vols. July 1, 1861; col. Apr. 14, 1863; wounded and made prisoner at Ball's Bluff; exchanged in Apr. 1862, and served in the Army of the Potomac until his death. His bro. E. H. R. Revere, surgeon in his regt., was killed at Antietam, Sept. 17, 1862; b. July 23, 1827; M.D. Harv. Med. School, 1849.—Harv. Mem. Biog.

Reynolds, IGNAZIUS AUGUSTUS, D.D., R. C. bishop of Charleston, S.C., b. near Bardonia, Ky., of an old Md. family, Aug. 22, 1798; d. Charleston, March 6, 1855. His parents were among the early settlers of Ky. He completed his education at St. Mary's Coll., Balt.; filed various eccles. offices in his native State; was long vicar-gen. to Bishop Flaget; rector of St. Joseph's Coll., and pres. of the Nazareth Female Institute of Ky; consec. bishop of Charleston, March 18, 1844.

Reynolds, JOHN, a British admiral, and colonial gov. of Ga.; d. a rear-adm. of the Blue, Jan. 1776. App. gov. of Ga. Aug. 6, 1754, he landed at Savannah Oct. 29, and resigned Feb. 1757 on account of disagreement with the council. He secured the friendship of the Indians; established courts of judicature there; and Jan. 7, 1755, called together the first legisl. of Georgia.

Reynolds, JOHN, politician, gov. Ill. 1830-4, b. Montgomery Co., Pa., Feb. 26, 1789, of Irish parents, who landed at Phila. in 1786; d. Belleville, Ill., May 8, 1865. He belonged to a company of scouts in the campaigns of 1812-13 against the Indians; practised law in Calokkia; was a justice of the Supreme Court of Ill. in 1818; was a member of the legisl. in 1826-30, 1846-8, 1852-4; speaker of the house 1852-4. Com. Ill. volunteers in May and June, 1832, during the Black Hawk war; was M.C. in 1835-7 and 1839-43. He pub. "Pioneer History of Illinois," 1848; "Glance at the Crystal Palace, and Sketches of Travel," 1854; "My Life and Times," 1855; and at one time conducted the Belleveille Eagle, a daily paper. He was a Democ. of the conservative school.

Reynolds, GEN. JOHN FELTON, b. Lancaster, Pa., 1820; killed at Gettysburg 1 July, 1863. West Point, 1841. Entering the 3d Art., he became 1st lieut. 18 June, 1846; brev. capt. for Monterey 23 Sept. 1846, and major for Buena Vista 23 Feb. 1847; capt. 13 Mar. 1855, and disting. in actions with Indians near Rogue River, Oregon, in 1856; lieutenant-col. 14th Inf. 14 May, 1861; brig.-gen. vols. 20 Aug. 1861; maj.-gen. vols. 29 Nov. 1862; and col. 5th U.S. Inf., 1 June, 1863. He com. at Cheat Mountain, where Lee was repulsed, and Oct. 3 drove back the Confederates at Greenbrier. Attached to the Army of the Potomac, he fought at Mechums-stadt, Gaines's Mill, Savage Station, and at Glendale, where he was captured, and for these services was brevetted and brig.-gen. U.S.A. Released soon after, he com. his day at the battle of Manassas, Aug. 29, '61; and took com. of the 1st army corps in Dec., and led it at Fredericksburg. With the right wing of Meade's army, consisting of about 8,000 men, he led the van, and, attacking the entire Confed. army, brought on the decisive battle of Gettysburg, but fell in the first day's action.

Reynolds, Jous N., author of a "Voyage of the U.S. Frigate Potomac, 1831-4," N.Y., 1835; "Pacific and Indian Oceans," &c., 8vo, 1841. A prominent advocate of the exploring exped. to the Pacific and South Seas, on which subject he pub. an address in 1836; and has contrib. several spirited nautical sketches to the Kentucky Magazine.

Reynolds, Joseph, M.D. of H.U., 1827, b. Wilmington, Ms. Author of "Prize Essay on Manures;" "Agricultural Survey of Middlesex Co., Ms.;" "Peter Gott, the Cape-Ann Fisherman," 1836; "Gen. Hist. of the Indep. Odd Fellows' Soc.," 8vo, 1842. He contrib. many articles to the Boston Med. Jour. and Jour. of National Med. Assoc. — A. J. W.

Reynolds, Joseph Jones, brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Ky. West Point, 1843. Assist. prof. there 1846-55; 1st lieutenant 3d Art. 3 Mar. 1847; resigned 28 Feb. 1857; prof. mechanics and engr. Washington U., St. Louis, 1856-60; col. 10th Ind. Vols. 27 Apr.; brig.-gen. vols. 17 May, 1861; maj.-gen. vols. 29 Nov. 1862; col. 25th Inf. 25 July, 1866. He was in various actions in West Va. in 1861, in campaign of Army of the Cumberland 1862-3; engaged at Hoover's Gap, Chickamauga, as chief of staff, Oct.-Dec. 1863; com. 19th corps 7 July, 1864, and organized forces for capture of Mobile and Ft. Gaines and Morgan, com. dept. of Ark. Nov. 1864 to Apr. 25, 1866; brev. brig.-gen. and maj. gen. U.S.A., 2 Mar. 1867, for Chickamauga and for Missionary Ridge; tr. to 3d Cav. 16 Dec. 1870. — Ch. J.

Reynolds, Thomas, jurist, and gov. of Mo. 1840-4. b. Bracken Co., Ky. March 12, 1796; d. Jefferson City, Feb. 9, 1844. He established himself in Illinois when young, and was elevated to the bench of the Supreme Court after filling the posts of clerk of the house, atty.-gen., and speaker of the house. In 1828 he removed to Mo., where he was a member of the State legisl. and pres. judge of a court of justice. He subsequently became a monomaniac; and, to escape the fancied or real opposition of political rivals, he committed suicide.

Reynolds, William Morton, D.D. b. Fayette Co., Pa., 1812. Jeff. Coll. 1832. He took orders in the Lutheran Church. Prof. in Pa. Col. 1833-50; pres. of Capital U., Ohio, 1850-7, and of Ill. State U. 1857; ord. in Prot.-Ep. Church 1864. In 1840 he estab. and edited the Evang. Mag.; edited the Evangelical Record in 1845; and in 1849 established and edited, until July, 1862, the Evangel. Revue. He has contrib. to other periodicals. Author of "Discourses on the Swedish Churches," the "Captivi of Plautus," with introd. and notes, 1846; "Thoughts in relation to the Ill. State University;" and addresses and discourses on several occasions. — A. J. W.

Rhees, Morgan Jous, D.D., b. Glamorganshire, Wales, 1760; d. Somerset, Pa., 1804. Baptist minister at Pery-Garn. Emig. to the U.S. in 1794, and settled in Beulah, and afterward in Somerset. Editor of the Welsh Tranny, and the author of Welsh Lyrics, pub. in Wales, and of some orations and discourses pub. in Pa. His son Morgan J., D.D., an eminent Baptist minister of Phila., d. Williamsburg, N.Y., Jan. 15, 1853, a. 49. — A. J. W.

Rhett, Robert Barnwell, lawyer and M.C., b. Beaufort, S.C., Dec. 24, 1800. Son of James and Marianna Smith, and adopted the name of Rhett, a colonial ancestor, in 1837. Received a liberal education, and adopted the law as a profession; was elected to the State legisl. in 1826; in 1832 atty.-gen. of S.C., acting with the anti wing of the State-rights party during the nullification movement; M.C. 1838-49, and U.S. senator in 1850 and '51. He is said to have been the first man who proposed and advocated on the floor of Congress a dissolution of the Union. He was a leading member of the State convention which, Dec. 20, 1860, passed an ordinance of secession. He was a delegate to the convention of seceding States at Montgomery, and was chairman of the committee by which the constitution of the Confederate States of America was reported; afterward a member of the Confed. Congress. His political views have been given to the public in the Charleston Mercury, a newspaper owned by himself, and conducted by his son, R. B. Rhett, jun.

Rhind, Alexander Colden, captain U.S.S., b. N.Y. Sept. 3, 1821. Midshipm. Sept. 3, 1848; lieutenant, Feb. 17, 1854; com. Jan. 2, 1863; capt. 1870. Attached to the home squadron, and present at Alvarado and Tabasco, Mexican war; coast-survey 1849-50 and 1851-4; com. gunboat "Crusader," and engaged in various affairs off S.C. in 1862; com. iron-clad "Keshck" in attack on defenses of Charleston, Apr. 17, 1863, which received 19 shots at and near her water-line, and sunk next day; com. "Paul Jones," S.A.B. squad, 1863, and took part in various attacks on Fort Wagner and other detences of Charleston; com. "Agawam," S.A.B. squad, 1864-5, and engaged 3 Confed. batteries at Deep Bottom Va., Aug. 13, 1864, for which he was thanked by the dept.; engaged in the perilous explosion of the powder-boat "Louisiana," near Fort Fisher, Dec. 23, 1864. — Hammersly

Rhodes, Gen. Robert E., b. Lynchburg, Va., 1826; killed in bottle at Winchester, Va., Sept. 19, 1864. Va. Milit. Inst. 1848; prof. in that institution until his removal to Ala. Capt. of the Mobile cadets in 1861; then col. 5th Ala. Regt.; promoted to brig.-gen. soon after the first battle of Manassas; wounded at Seven Pines and Sharpsburg; fought at Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, where he became maj.-gen.; served through the Pa. campaign; with Early in the defence of Lynchburg; and with the Army of the Valley, commanding one of its two army corps, until he fell.

Riail, Sir PHINEAS, a British gen.; d. Paris, Nov. 10, 1851. Ensign 22d Foot, Jan. 1791; Jan. 1, 1800, lieut.-col. by brev.; com. a brigade in the expedition against Martinique, against Sures in 1809, and at the capture of Guadaloupe in Feb. 1810; June 4, 1813, he became maj.-gen.; in Sept. he was ordered to Canada, serving on the Niagara frontier; com. at the battle of Chippewa, where he was wounded, and at the severely-contested battle of Lundy's Lane, 21 July, 1814. In Feb. 1816 he was app. gov. of Granada, and attained the full rank of gen. in 1811. — Morgan.

Ribault (r-bô), JEAN, a French navigator, who led the first colony to Florida, b. Dieppe abt. 1520; killed in Fla. 1565. A buiral Coligny, having determined to found a Huguenot colony in Amer., fitted out two vessels for an exped. to Fla., giving the com. to Ribault, who sailed from Havre de Grace, Feb. 18, 1562, and early in May anchored in Port-Royal harbor. A fort was built south of the present site of Beaufort, and named Caroline, in honor of the king of France; and 26 colonists were left in possession, who, when reduced to the point of starvation, set sail in a crazy bark, and were picked up by an English ship. An expedition under Laudonniere sailed in April, 1564, and on the River May, now called the St. John's, built a fort, also called Caroline. After great suffering, they were on the point of returning to France, when Ribault, who left Dieppe May 22, 1565, arrived with a fleet of 7 vessels. Scarcely had he anchored, when a Spanish fleet, under Menendez, appeared, with orders from the king to "kill and behead all the Protestants in those regions." The French fleet, unprepared for battle, cut its cables, and escaped. The Spaniards repaired to St. Augustine, where Ribault, against the advice of his officers, determined to attack them. A terrible storm wrecked his vessels on the coast of Fla., near Cape Canaveral, abt. 100 miles S. of St. Augustine. In the mean time, Menendez surprised the garrison of Fort Caroline, and massacred near 200 of both sexes. Ignorant of their fate, Ribault had avoided to reach the fort, but fell in the hands of Menendez, and, with nearly all his party, was massacred. A French exped. under De Gonneville, in 1567, in retaliation, seized two forts near the St. John's, and the important fort of St. Matthew, and hanged all their prisoners on the same tree upon which his countrymen had been executed by Menendez. A vol. of 42 pages, now extremely rare, being an Eng. translation of the report of his first voyage, made by Ribault to Coligny, was pub. in London under the title of "The Whole and True Discovery of Terra Florida, &c.;" written in French by Capt. Ribault, the first that wholly discovered the same, and now newly set forth in the English of the XXX. of May, 1563."

Rice, ALFANDER HAMILTON, a leading merchant of Boston, and M.C. 1859-67, b. Newton L. Falls, Ms., 30 Aug. 1818. Un. Coll. 1844. Son of Thomas, a paper-mill. Three years a clerk in the paper-store of Wilkin & Carter of Boston, in which firm he became a partner after graduating in 1844; the present style of the firm being Rice, Kendall, & Co. Member com. council in 1856; its pres. in 1857; mayor of Boston in 1857-9, and identified with several important measures for city-improvements; and chairman of the naval com. of the 28th and 33rd Congresses, — a position of great labor and responsibility during the Rebellion. Mr. Rice is a man of scholarly tastes, and is a graceful and fluent speaker.

Rice, DAVID, b. Hanover Co., Va., 20 Dec. 1733; d. 18 June, 1816. N. J. Coll. 1761. Ord. by the presbytery of Hanover in Nov. 1762, and was settled successively in Hanover, Va., 1763-8, and in Ky., where he was the pioneer preacher, having emig. thither in Oct. 1783. Active in estab. Hamp. Sid. Coll. Author of "Essay on Baptism," 1789; "Lect. on Divine Decrees," 1791; "Slavery Inconsistent," &c., a speech, 1793; "Letters on Christianity," Weekly Recorder, 1814; also sermons and epistles. — Sprague.

RICE, GEORGE EDWARD, wit and poet, b. Boston, July 10, 1822; d. insane at Roxbury, Ms., Aug. 10, 1-61. H.U. 1842. He studied and practised law. Contrib. to the V. A. Review and other leading periodicals; wrote several humorous plays, which were acted with applause; pub. several humorous works, and a vol. of serious poems, called "Nugamenta." His poem, "The Present Time," was frequently delivered by him in public.

RICE, HARVEY, poet, b. Conway, Ms., June 11, 1800. Wms. Coll. 1820. He emig. to Cleveland in 1821; opened a classical school; was adm. to the bar in 1826; became a representative in 1830, and agent for the sale of the W. Reserve school-lands; Democ. candidate for Congress in 1834 and 1836; established the Cleveland Plain Dealer in 1829; member of the State senate in 1852-3; and author of the common-school system then enacted. His poems were collected in 1859, entitled "Mr. Vernon and other Poems." Contrib. to the Western May, Nineteenth Century, Great Republic, &c. Author of address at the Centennial Club, at Conway, Ms., 1-67. — Poets and Poetry of the West.

RICE, GEN. JAMES CLAY, b. Worthington, Ms., Dec. 27, 1829; d. from wounds at the battle near Spottsylvania C. H., May 11, 1864. Y.C. 1854. In 1855 he taught in Natchez, Mpi.; was editor of a paper there; and, after studying law, was adm. to the bar. Returning North in 1856, he practised in N. York. When the war broke out, he enlisted as a private, but by merit attained the colonelcy of the 44th N.Y. (Ellsworth's) Regt.; was in the battles of Yorktown, Hanover C. H., Gaines's Mill, Malvern Hill, Manassas, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, and at Gettysburg, where he com. a brigade, and displayed great skill and gallantry; brig.-gen. Aug. 17, 1863. He took part in the operations of Mine Run and the terrible battles of the Wilderness. — Y.C. Oct. Record.

Rice, JOHN HOLT, D.D. (N. J. 1819), a

Presbyterian clergyman, b. N. W. London, Bedford Co., Va., Nov. 28, 1777; d. Prince Edward Co., Va., Sept. 3, 1831. Wash. Coll., Va. He was in 1796-9 a tutor at Hamp. S. I. Coll., was the founder of First Presb. S. in 1824, at the head of which he passed his last years, and in 1817 organized and edited the Free School Advocate. The prime of his life was spent as a pastor in Richmond. He labored much, and with success, among the negroes in S. Eminent as a writer and as a pulpiter. His pub. "Memoirs of S. Davis," "An Illustration of the Presb. Church in Va.," 1816; "Memoirs of Rev. J. B. Taylor," 1830; "Considerations on Religion," 1832. His lab. by Dr. W. Maxwell was pub. Phila 1835. — S. 800.

Rice, LeRRUN, a Baptist clergyman, b. Norfolk, Mass., Mar. 25, 1783; d. Plains, E. D. Co., S. C., Dec. 25, 1836. Wm. Coll. 1810, And. Theol. Sem. He was one of the first who favored the society to the missionary school in Asia. Ord. at Salem, Feb. 6, 1812, and sailed for China a few days after, becoming a Baptist and returned to America in Mar. 1840, and to the Baptist denomination in the course of his return voyage. He labored in that capacity several years with success; then sailed for Va. was instrumental in founding Columbian Coll., D. C., and was for 10 or 12 years its agent and manager. He wrote in many papers and addresses. — S. M. Missionary Chron., &c., vi, 321.

Rice, N. L., D. D., pastor Central Presb. Ch., Cincinnati, and afterward of the Second Presb. Ch., S. Louis, and the Fairview Ch., New York. His pub. Discourses, — on Baptism, with Rev. A. A. Campbell's, on Universal Salvation, with Rev. F. Bringer's, and on Slavery, with Rev. J. A. Blaylock's, 1845; "Romanism the Enemy of Free Institutions," 1851; "The Signs of the Times," 1855; "Baptism," 1855; "Our Country and the Church," 1861; "The Papist," 1862; "Discourses," 1862; "God Sovereign, Man Free," 1870.

Rice, O. S. SAMUEL A., b. N. Y., d. Osk. 1885. D. 6 July, 1864, of wounds at the battle of S. in River, Ark. Coll. Iowa V. S. and Geo. S. S. at Col. F. H. Hunt, was killed on Aug. 24, 1864. Aug. 18, 1864, took an honorable part in a very large battle, viz. at the battle of S. in River, Ark. He was killed on Aug. 24, 1864, in a battle which was very successful.

Rice, THOMAS D., "Jim Crow," b. N. Y., May 2, 1808; d. there Sept. 19, 1867. A lawyer. He led a theatrical company in 1820, and 1835, and exercised his talents as an actor, comedian, and orator. In 1836 he organized the "Society of Strays, London," and led a successful tour. After his return to the U. S. he published a series of humorous papers, The Merry Men, Boys, &c., which were very successful. He was a very successful actor and comedian. — ibid., 1868.

Rice, CHARLES A., a London, England, b. B. 1781; d. London, Jan. 20, 1850. He went to Savannah, Ga., and to some extent engaged the attention of U. S. general at Vicksburg. While in Savannah he published a number of rare and valuable works, — ibid., 1850. South America, Mr. Tucker 1850. His tory of Spanish Literature," makes honorable mention of his services and knowledge. His pub. "Bibliotheca Americana," 2 vols. 8vo, 1845.

Richard, GABRIEL, a French missionary, b. Santes, Oct. 15, 1764; d. Detroit, Sept. 13, 1832, of cholera. Educated at the Coll. of Angers. He became a priest in 1790, came to the U. S. in 1792 to teach mathematics at the Coll. of Baltimore, but was sent by Bishop Carroll as a missionary to Kaskaskia, Ill. He went to Detroit in 1798, where he officiated as grand vicar of the bishop of O., and undertook for a short time the publication in French of a periodical entitled Les Sœurs Missionnaires. During the war of 1812 he fell into the hands of the English; was sent to Sandwich, U. C.; and was the means of saving several prisoners from the cruelty of the Indians. Sent as a delegate to Congress in 1823, he consecrated his salary to pious purposes. He spoke and wrote 7 different languages, was a man of great energy, and was ardently attached to American institutions and the principles of liberty. He pub. in French some Catholic books, and the laws of the Territory.

Richards, JAMES D. D. (Y. C. 1815), Presb. clergyman, b. New Canaan, Ct., 20 Oct. 1766; d. Auburn, Aug. 2, 1843. Des. ended in the 4th generation from Samuel, a Welshman, who settled near S. in 1660, Ct. Educated at Yale, from which in 1794 he received an hon. degree. In 1794 he became the pastor of the First Presb. Church in Meriden, S. J., and in 1809 of the church of Newark, N. J.; appointed in the Theo. Sem., Andover, N. Y., in 1823. His Lectures, with a Memoir, by S. H. Grille, were pub. in N. Y., 1846. A selection of 20 sermons, with an essay on his character, by William B. Sprague, D. D., was pub. 1849.

Richards, MAJOR JOHN, b. Eng.; d. Boston, Aug. 2, 1694. Son of Thomas of Dorchester in 1650. Was a member of the A. & H. Art. Co., Boston, 1644. In 1649-50 was an Indian trader at Arroweet, a Kennebec, but became an opulent merchant in Boston. He was sergeant-major of the S. of 1662, in 1683-4, treasurer of H. U. 1672-85, representative for Newbury 1671-8, for Hadley 1678, Boston 1679-80, and speaker, assist. 168-6; judge of the Superior Court 1692, and collector from 1692 till his death. He had been with D. in an agent in Eng. He bequeathed legacies of £1000 each to H. U., the town of Boston, and the Second Church.

Richards, JAMES D. D. (D. C. 1845), a prominent Congregationalist, b. Farmington, Ct., May 14, 1797; d. Hartford, S. H., Mar. 23, 1870. Y. C. 1821, Andover, 1824. Ord. at W. in 1827, having been for 3 years an agent of the Board of Foreign Missions. In 1830-2 he was associate of the Free Press, and was installed at Hanover in 1841; labored for several years for the S. H. F. in 1841-4; wrote extensively for the Free Press, and being in a series of lectures, 1849, and in 1850 by Dr. Channing, of 2 notes of D. C.

Richards, WILLIAM, missionary, b. Plainfield, Ms., Aug. 22, 1774; d. H. in Illa, Dec. 7, 1847. Wm. Coll. 1819, And. Sem. 1822. Nov. 19, 1822, he embarked for N.

Haven as a missionary to the Sandwich Islands. In 1838 he became councillor, as well as interpreter and chaplain to the King, and, after the recognition of the independence of the islands by foreign powers, was sent as ambassador to Eng. and other courts. Returning in 1845, he was appointed minister of public instruction.

Richards, WILLIAM C., Baptist minister, b. Lond. 1817; Michoué, N.Y., 1849; Lang, to Amer. in 1851; lived 15 years in Ga. and S.C., and thence since 1853 been stationed in N.Y. Author of "A Day in the Crystal Palace," 1854; "Harry's Vacation," 1854; "Education," 1858; "Memoir of George N. Briggs," 1866. He edited the Ocean Mer., 3 years; Georgia, Untraded, 1842; Southern Tel. Gazette, 5 years; Schoonplan, 6 years. Contributed to various periodicals. His wife (formerly CORNELIA H. BRADLEY, b. Hudson, N.Y., 1822; m. in 1844) has contributed to the periodicals edited by her husband, and has published books, under the pseudonym of Mrs. MATHER. — Album.

Richardson, ALMIRA DEWEY, author and journalist, b. Franklin, Me., 1837; as a student in New York, Dec. 2, 1856. At 17 he went to Pittsburg, Pa., where he taught, and wrote for the press; he afterwards wrote for the Cincinnati papers; went to Kansas as corresp. of the Westchester Journal, and while there acted as sec. of the Terr. legisl., and edited a paper. He was afterward a corresp. of the Adelphi during the war, and, after 20 months in Confed. prisons, escaped Dec. 18, 1864. His account of this is in his "Field, Dungeon, and Escape." He visited California in 1865 and on his return wrote "Beyond the Mississippi," which had a large sale. He also pub. in 1868 a "Life of General Grant." In 1867 he made the acquaintance of Mrs. McFarland, and by his attentions excited the jealousy of her husband, who attempted to murder him in March, 1868. Mrs. McFarland obtained a divorce in the autumn of 1869. Nov. 26, Me. Terr. and she married Richardson in the Telegraph office, and was tried for murder, but acquitted on the ground of insanity. Before Richardson's death, the marriage ceremony was performed between him and Mrs. McFarland. This lady, nee Abby Sage, pub. in 1874 "Stories from Old-Land's Poetry."

Richardson, GEN. JERALD B. b. Burlington, Vt. 1819; d. Sharpburg, Md., Nov. 3, 1862. West Point, 1841. He was a descendant of Gen. Israel Putnam. Entering the 3d Inf., he served in the Florida war; became 1st Lieut. Sept. 21, 1846; brev. capt. and major for gallantry at Contreras, Churubusco, and Chapultepec; capt. March 5, 1851; resigned Sept. 20, 1853; and settled in Mich. When the civil war broke out he became col. 2d Mich. Vols.; took a prominent part at the battles of Blackburn's Ford, July 18, and Bull Run, July 21, in both of which he commanded a brigade; Adjutant, Oct. 18, 1861, com. a division in Sumner's army corp. in the Peninsular campaign of 1862; in that campaign was made major July 1, 1862; com. the retreat of the army after the complete defeat of Manassas, Aug. 30; fought at South Mountain and Antietam, in the latter of which he received the most important services, and received a wound in the shoulder, from the effects of which he died.

Richardson, SIR JOHN, a British naturalist, b. Dundee, Scotland, 1757; d. 1865. Surgeon in Capt. Frazer's Arctic expedition of 1819 and 25. In 1845 he pub. an expedition in search of that navigator. He pub. Zoology of the Northern Part of Brit. America, 2 part, 1829-37; "Journal of a Boat Voyage through Rupert's Land to the Arctic Sea," &c., 1851, and "Notes on the Natural Hist. of the Last Arctic Voyage," &c., 1852-4.

Richardson, MRS. JAMES, b. Brit. America. Was made a prisoner in the battle of the Thames; subsequently served in Spain, in the British Legion; resided some years in Paris, where he wrote "Levanti," and retired to Canada, and finally to the U.S., where he wrote for the press until his death. An author of "War in Spain, or the Prophecy," 1833; "War of 1812," &c., 1842; "Eight Years in Canada," &c., 1847; "Mildred Montgomery," &c., 1851; "Westward, or the Outlaw," "War amongst, or the Marriage of Chicago," 1852; "The Fall of Chicago," 1856. "Canadian Brother." He also had a newspaper in Upper Canada. — Album.

Richardson, JOHN PATRICK, gov. of S.C. 1819-2, b. Hibernia, Ind. Sumner Dist., S.C., Apr. 14, 1801. S.C. Coll. 1819. Grandson of Gen. Richard. Member of the State legisl. in 1824-26; M.C. in 1836-40; during the nullification controversy he was one of the leaders of the Union party, and, in the convention which passed the ordinance of nullification, steadily opposed that measure; in 1850 he was one of the delegates at large from S.C. to the Southern convention; and in 1851 presided over the meeting of the Southern-Right Association in Charleston. He opposed the separate secession of the State in the State convention at Columbia in 1852.

Richardson, NAHVSSE SMITH, D.D. (Rac. Coll. 1857; Prof. Ep. clergyman, b. Meldebury, Ct., 1819. Y. C. 1834. Author of "Pastor's Appeal," "Reasons why I am a Churchman," 1843; "Hist. of Watertown, Ct.," 1845; "Churchman's Reason," &c., 1845; "Reasons why I am not a Papist," 1847; "Evidences of Religion," 1850. "Sponsor's Gift," 1852. Founder and editor Amer. Ch. Review since 1848. — 3 Album.

Richardson, GEN. RICHARD, Rebol. patriot, b. near Jamestown, Va., 1794; d. near Salisbury, S.C., in Sept. 1861. He was a land-surveyor in Va.; afterwards a farmer in Craven Co., S.C.; and, during the Indian border wars, com. a regt. Member of the council of safety at Charleston in 1775; and for his services in quelling a dangerous loyalist revolt in the "back country," received the thanks of the Prov. Congress, and was promoted to lieutenant. Member of the legisl. council of 1776, and in the Prov. Cong. of S.C. worked in forming their constitution. Lord Cornwallis's march to the S. coast to gain him over to the royal cause, made prisoner at the capture of Charleston, he returned from the prison of St. Augustine only to die. His son JAMES B. was gov. of S.C. in 1802-4. He died in a room Mead's right wing at Fanny and was buried.

Richardson, WILLIAM A., lawyer and politician, b. Fayette Co., Ky. Transyl. U.

Studied law, and came to the bar at 19; State attorney in 1835; member State legisl. 1836, '38, and '44; speaker of the house in 1844. Having removed to Ill., he was capt. in Hardin's reg't. vols. in Mexican war; disting. in battle of Buena Vista, and elected maj. in Feb. 1847. M.C. from Ill. 1847-53; gov. of Nebraska Terr. 1858-60; re-elected to Congress in 1860, and, on the death of Stephen A. Douglas, succeeded him in the U.S. senate.

Richardson, WILLIAM MERCHANT, LL.D., (D.C. 1827), jurist, b. Pelham, N.H., Jan. 4, 1774; d. Concord, N.H., March 23, 1852. LL.D. 1797. Practised a few years at Concord, Ms.; was M.C. 1811-14, and removed to Portsmouth, N.H. Disting. at the bar, he was chief justice of the Supreme Court of N.H. 1816-48; author of the N.H. Justice and the Town-Officer. A considerable portion of the N.H. Reports, vols. 1 and 2, was drawn up by him; he furnished nearly all the cases of the 3d, 4th, and 5th, and he prepared a large share of the matter for several volumes more. — See Life, 1850, Concord, N.H., 1859.

Riche (re-sha'), JEAN BAPTISTE, pres. of Hayti, Mar. 1846 to his d., Feb. 1847; b. Cape Haytien, s. 1780. He served as a general under Christophe.

Richings, CAROLINE MARY, vocalist, b. Eng., came with her parents to the U.S. when quite young, and was the adopted dau. of the veteran actor, Peter Richings. First appeared as a pianist, Nov. 20, 1847, in Phila.; and in the opera of "The Child of the Regiment," at the Walnut-st. Theatre, Feb. 9, 1852. First appeared as a comedienne, Mar. 21, 1853, at the Walnut St., as Stella in the comedy of "The Prima Donna," for the benefit of Peter Richings. First app. in Italian opera at the Phila. Acad. Mar. 7, 1857, as Adalgisa in "Norma." Announcer of the Walnut-st. company in 1857-9; singer then a star; and now manageress of the Richings-Eng. Opera Troupe. Married Dec. 25, 1867, to P. Bernard, at Boston. — Women's 1857, p. 8.

Richings, PETER, actor, b. Kensington, Eng., 19 May, 1797; d. Media, Pa., 19 Jan. 1871. Son of a capt. in the British navy, and himself educated. Made his Am. ap. at the Park Theatre, N.Y., 25 Sept. 1821, as Henry Bertram, and many years a leading favorite there. In 1840 he became stage-manager of the Chestnut-st. Theatre, Phila.

Richmond, CHARLES GORDON LASSOX, gov. of Va., b. 1764; gov.-gen. of Canada from July 20, 1819, to his d., Aug. 28, 1820. He had a distinguished lordship in Ireland.

Richmond, DEAN, political manager, b. Barnab, Vt., March 31, 1804; d. N.Y. City, Aug. 27, 1866. He was named after his grandfather, the Rev. Dean of Taunton, Ms. His educational advantages were few, but he had a retentive memory, and was a great reader. Early in life, he took an active part in politics, and became a Democ. leader, but while he aided in the removal of others, would never accept office or public honors of any kind. At the age of 15 he began the manufacture of salt at S. Ionia, N.Y.; made money, and in 1842 removed to Buffalo, where, continuing in the produce-business, he became quite wealthy. He became a director in the Attica and Buffalo Railroad, and, on the consolidation of the N.Y. Central Roads in 1853, vice-pres. of that corporation, and in 1864 president.

Richmond, JAMES COOK, an Epis. clergyman, b. Providence, R.I., 1808; married at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., 20 July, 1866. LL.D. 1828. Author of a "Visit to Iona," 1846; "A Midsommer Day Dream;" and "Metacombet," canto 1 of an epic poem. He studied at Göttingen and Halle. Ord. deacon at St. John's Ch., Providence, R.I., 12 Oct. 1832; priest 13 Nov. 1833; was a missionary in Me. and Ill. 1834-5; was pastor of churches in different cities, and, while settled at Milwaukie, became in 1861 chaplain 2d Wis. Vols. He had at various times traveled over a great part of Europe. He pub. a pamphlet at Boston under the anagram of "Almondish Crime."

Ricketts, JAMES BRAWN, 1st Lt. v. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. N.Y. City. West Point, 1830. Entering the 1st Art., he became 1st Lieut. 21 Apr. 1846; served in Mexico, participating in the battles of Monterey and Buena Vista; became capt. 3 Aug. 1852; was engaged against the Mexican bandit Cortinas in Nov. 1859; placed in com. of the first battery of rifled guns when the civil war began, he disting. himself in the first battle of Bull Run, where he was severely wounded, taken prisoner, and confined 8 months in Richmond. He was then exchanged; made brig.-gen. of vols., dating from the battle of Bull Run; was placed in com. 2d div. 3d army corps in the Army of Va.; was wounded in the second Bull Run battle; and at Antietam led Gen. Hooker's corps after that general was wounded. — Me. June 1, 1863. He was engaged in the Richmond campaign, Mar.-July, 1864, and in the Shenandoah campaign, July-Oct. 1864; brev. Lieut.-col. 21 July, 1861, for Bull Run; col. 3 Jan. 1864, for Cold Harbor; brig.-gen. for Cud Creek, and maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865; retired (as a maj.-gen.) 3 Jan. 1867. — Callam.

Ricord, MRS. ELIZABETH, teacher in Genesee, N.Y., 1828-47, and subsequently in N.Y. City until her d., 10 Oct. 1865, at 78. Author of "Philosophy of the Mind," 12mo, and other publications.

Riddell, JOHN L., M.D. (Cin. Coll. 1826), b. Leyden, Ms., 1807. App. in 18. 0. a lecturer, and since 1836 prof. of chemistry in the La. Med. Coll. Author of "Flora of the Western States," 8vo, 1836; "Nature of Minom and Contagion," 8vo, 1836; "Monograph of the Silver Dollar," 8vo, 1845; "Consistency of Matter," 8vo, 1847; "Epitome of 1857," and papers in many scientific journals. Invention of the binocular microscope and magnifying-glass. — See General of the Royal Dispensary.

Riddle, GEORGE READ, U.S. senator 1847-7. — Newcastle, Del., 1817; d. Washington, Mar. 30, 1867. Del. Coll. He was long engaged in constructing roads and canals, the last of which was at Harper's Ferry; was adm. to the bar in 1848; dep. attorney-gen. of New Castle Co. 1848-50; M.C. 1851-5; com. of Del. to retrace Mason and Dixon's line in 1849, an I. delegate to the Democ. Nat. Conv. of 1844, 1848, and 1856.

Rider, GEORGE THOMAS, Episc. clergyman, b. Coventry, R.I., 1829. Trin. Coll. 1850. Author of "Plain Music for the Com. Prayer-Book," 1851; "Lyra Anglicana," 1861; "Lyra Americana," 1864. Contrib. to Lit. World, N.Y. Churchman, &c. — Fishon.

Ridgely, CHARLES, physician, b. Dover, Del., Jan. 26, 1738; d. there Nov. 25, 1785. Educated at the Phila. Acad. Studied medicine under Dr. Phineas Bond; commenced practice at Dover in 1758, and continued there in successful practice through his life. From 1765, with few intervals, till the close of his life, he was a member of the legisl. of Del.; was pres. judge in Kent Co. in the C.C.P., and of Quarter Sessions before the Revol.; was a member of the State Const. Conv. in 1776; and was again called to the bench, which he occupied as long as he lived. By his first wife he had NICHOLAS, chancellor of Del.; by his second wife he had HENRY MOORE, U.S. Senator 1826-9. M.C. 1811-15, b. 1778, d. 7 Aug. 1847. — Thacher.

Ridgely, CHARLES, of Hampton, gov. MI 1815-18; d. July 17, 1829, a. 69. Often member of the State legisl.; a man of large inherited fortune, liberal and hospitable. By his will he manumitted his slaves, 300 or 400 in number.

Ridgely, CHARLES G., commo. U.S.N., b. Baltimore, July 2, 1784; d. Phila. Feb. 4, 1818. Midshipm. Oct. 19, 1799; was with Commo. Preble at the battle of Tripoli, and for his gallant conduct in that war received a gold medal from Congress; lieut. Feb. 2, 1807; master-com. July 24, 1813; capt. Feb. 28, 1815.

Ridgely, DANIEL B., commo. U.S.N.; d. Phila. May 5, 1868; b. Ky. Entered the navy 1828; commo. 1856.

Riedesel (see 'sh 25), BARON FRIEDRICH ADOLPH, a German gen. in the British service, b. Lauterbach, Rhineland, June 3, 1738; d. Brunswick, Jan. 6, 1809. After studying at the College of Marburg, he became ensign of inf. in the English service; served under Prince Ferdinand in the 7-years' war, and in 1760 was capt. of the Hessian Hussars; made lieut.-col. of the Black Hussars 1762; adj. gen. of the Brunswick army in 1767; col. of carbiniers 1772; and early in 1776, as maj.-gen., took com. of the division of 4,000 Brunswickers hired by Great Britain to aid in the reduction of her revolted American Colonies. He arrived at Quebec, June 4, actively aided in the taking of Montserrat, July 6; secured the British victory at Hubbardton the next day by bringing up reinforcements; and, taking part in the subsequent movements of Burgoyne, was made prisoner at Saratoga, Oct. 17; was exchanged in the autumn of 1780, and in Aug. 1783 returned home. Made lieut. gen. March, 1787, he com. the Brunswick contingent serving in Holland; retired to Lauterbach in 1793; and in 1794 became com. of Brunswick. His Memoirs, Letters, and Journals in America, by Max Von Eoiking, were translated by Wm. L. Stone, and pub. 2 vols., 1868. His wife FRIEDRICA CHARLOTTE LOUISA, b. Brandenburg, 1746, d. Berlin, 29 Mar. 1808. Dan. of the Prussian minister Massow; m. at the age of 16, and accomp. her husband in his Amer. campaigns. Her son, the Count de Reuss, pub. Uzge de Mission en Amerique, ou Lettres de Mon Richesse! Berlin, 1799, an Eng. translation of which was pub. in N.Y. 1827, and a complete edition transl. by Wm. L. Stone, 8vo, 1867.

Riley, GEN. BENNET, b. Baltimore, 1786; d. Buffalo, June 9, 1852. Entering the army at an early age, he was app. ensign in the Rifles Jan. 19, 1813; capt. 5th Inf. Aug. 1818; maj. 4th Inf. 1837; lieut. col. 2d Inf. Dec. 1839; col. 1st Inf. Jan. 31, 1850. In Aug. 1823 he disting. himself in an engagement under Col. Leavenworth with the Arikarae Indians; in the battle of Chukachitto in Fla., June 2, 1810. Col. Riley was particularly disting. He com. the 2d Inf. under Gen. Scott; and in the Valley of Mexico was the com. of the 2d brigade of Twiggs's division; was disting. at Cerro Gordo, for which he was brev. brig.-gen., and owed his brev. of maj.-gen. to his gallantry at Contreras. In 1849, and '50 he com. the military dept. of Upper California.

Riley, CAPT. JAMES, noted for his shipwreck and captivity among the wild Arabs on the southern coast of Africa, b. Middletown, Ct., 1775; d. at sea, Mar. 15, 1849. After his escape from the Arabs, and the kindness shown to him by Mr. Wiltshire at Mozadore, Captain Riley had, with the exception of a residence in Van Wert County (1821-8), Ohio, constantly traded to that port. Member of the Ohio legisl. 1823. He had a strong mind, great energy and perseverance, not easily daunted by danger, and possessed many excellent traits of character. His narrative was drawn up by Anthony Bleeker, and pub. 1816. A sequel, containing Riley's subsequent career, was pub. by his son, W. Wiltshire Riley, 8vo, 1851.

Rimmer, WILLIAM, sculptor, and lecturer on anatomy, b. Boston, 20 Feb. 1821. Dr. R.'s medical education, together with his taste for art, led him into the career of lecturer on art-anatomy, which he has successfully cultivated in various cities, his present residence and studio being in Boston. He delivered the first course of lectures on art before the Lowell Institute, Boston; and has lectured in the university at Cambridge, and before the Nat. Acad. of N.Y. (1870). Director of the School of Design in N.Y. 1866-70. He has produced statues of "The Falling Gladiator," "Osiris," Alex. Hamilton, and a head of "St. Stephen." Author of "Elements of Design," 8vo, 1854.

Rincon, ANTOINE DEL. b. Pueblo de los Angeles, d. Mexico, 1641. Author of "Uzge de un Lengua Mexicana," 12mo, Mexico, 1595. He was a Jesuit, who devoted his entire life to the conversion of the Mexicans.

Ringgold, CADWALLADER, rear admiral U.S.N., b. Md 1802; d. N.Y. City, April 29, 1867. Son of Gen. Samuel. Midshipm. Mar. 4, 1819; lieut. May 17, 1828; com. July 16, 1839; capt. Apr. 2, 1856; commo. July 16, 1862; rear adm. Mar. 1867. While a com., he was for a short time in charge of the surveying and exploring expedition to the N. Pacific and China seas. At the breaking-out of the Rebellion he was transferred to the frigate "Sage" and was engaged in blockading the Southern ports, and in the various operations of the navy against Port Royal and other ports on the Atlantic; retir. 1 Dec. 1864. Author of a series of charts, with sailing directions, 4to, 1852.

Riggold, George, Hav., lieutenant, U. S. A., b. Hagerstown, Md., 1814; s. in Emerson, April 4, 1864. West Point, 1833. Major and paymaster in the Mexican war, and in 1862 became dep. paym.-gen. (rank of lieutenant). He was a scholar, an accomplished draughtsman, and amateur painter, and pub. in 1860 a vol. of poetry entitled "Fountain Rock, Amy Weir, and other Metrical Pastimes."

Ripley, Eleazer Willelock, maj.-gen. U. S. A., b. Hanover, N. H., April 15, 1782; d. West Point, La., Mar. 2, 1849. Dartm. Coll., 1800. Nephew of Pres. John Wheelock. His father Syamun, D. D., prof. of divinity in Dartm. Coll. 1782-7; d. Feb. 5, 1787. The son practiced law on the Kennebec and in Portland, Me., where he went in 1811; was a member of the legis. of Ms. in 1810-11, speaker in 1812; was State senator 1812; and was app. lieutenant 21st Inf.; col. March 12, 1813; and was wounded in the attack on York, U. C., April 27, 1813; was actively engaged on the frontier until April 15, 1814, when he was promoted to the rank of brig.-gen.; was in the following July app. to com. the second brigade of Gen. Brown's army, taking part in the battles of Chippewa and Niagara; was brev. maj.-gen. as a reward for his gallant conduct and the severe wounds received in the latter of those battles. In the defence of Fort Erie, Aug. 15, and the sortie of Sept. 17, in which he was shot through the neck, he noted a conspicuous and gallant part, and for his services during the campaign was honored by Congress with a gold medal inscribed "Niagara, Chippewa, Fort Erie." Gen. Ripley resigned Feb. 1, 1820; practised law in La.; was a member of the State senate and of the U. C. in 1835-9. He pub. an oration, July 4, 1805.

Ripley, Ezra, D. D. (H. U. 1816), a Unit. min. in 1837; b. Woodstock, Ct., May 1, 1751; d. Concord, Ms., Sept. 24, 1831. H. U. 1776. He spent some time in teaching; officiated a short time as a chaplain in the army; and Nov. 11, 1778, was ord. pastor of one of the largest congregations of Ms., located in Concord, 1780-2, for the last time, May 1, 1811, his sixtieth birthday. He pub. several essays, sermons, and "A History of the Fight at Concord," 1827.

Ripley, George, critic, and man of letters, b. Concord, Ms., Oct. 3, 1802. H. U. 1824. Crit. Dixie's School, 1826. Pastor of the First Cong. (Unit.) Church, Boston, 8 Nov. 1829-28. Mar. 1841. Prominent in the socialist exchange at Brook Farm (Roxbury, Ms.), 1844-9; d. 1847 removed to N. Y. City. Assoc. editor, with R. W. Emerson, of the M. A. F. F. Review, 1840-41, editor of the Harvard Quarterly Review, 1844-8, and since 1849 lit. editor of the N. Y. Times. Assoc. editor with C. A. Dana of Appleton's New American Encyclopedia (1857-62). Author of Discourses on the Politics of England, 8 vols. 1840, Letters to Andrews Norton on "The Latest Form of Infidelity," 1840.

Edited "Specimens of Foreign Standard Literature," 1838-42, 11 vols.; with Bayard Taylor, "Hand-Book of Literature and the Fine Arts," 1852 and 1857.

Ripley, Henry Jones, D. D. (U. of Va., 1844; H. U. 1845), clergyman, b. Boston, Ms., June 28, 1798. H. U. 1816; And. Sem. 1819. He was ord. in Boston in 1819; and for 7 years (excepting one spent in Eastport) was pastor of the North Newport Baptist Church in Liberty Co., Ga. In Sept. 1826 he was app. ord. of 166th lit. in the Newton Theol. Inst., Ms.; became, seven years after, prof. of both lit. and interpretation; and, later still, prof. of sacred rhetoric and pastoral duties. He resigned, 1860, but still resides at Newton Centre. Besides sermons, tracts, and numerous articles, reviews, magazines, &c., he has pub. "Memoir of Rev. Thomas S. Wain," Boston, 1824; "Christian Baptism," 1833; "Notes on the Four Gospels," 2 vols. 1837-8; "Notes on the Acts of the Apostles," 1844; "Sacred Rhetoric, or Composition and Delivery of Sermons," 1849; "Notes on the Epistle to the Romans," 1857; "Notes on Hebrews," 1868; "Church Polity," 1867; "Exclusiveness of the Baptists," 1857.

Ripley, James W., brev. maj.-gen. U. S. A., b. West Am. Ct., 10 Dec. 1794; d. Hartford, Ct., 16 Mar. 1870. West Point, 1814. Entering the art., he became capt. 1 Aug. 1825, capt. of ordnance 30 May, 1832, maj. 7 July, 1838, brev. lieutenant, for merit, conduct in the Mex. war 30 May, 1848, lieutenant 31 Dec. 1854; brig.-gen. and chief of ordnance dept. 3 Aug. 1861, brev. maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1863, retired 15 Sept. 1863. He served in the Korean in the Seminole war of 1817-18, in 1823 was a commiss. for running the boundary line of the Fla. Indian Reservation; was two years chief of ordnance of the Pacific Dept.; supt. of the Springfield Armory in 1841-54, and member of the ordnance board from 20 June, 1847.

Ripley, Roswell Sams, brig. gen. U. S. A., b. Chaplin 1823; d. Charleston, S. C., Aug. 1863. West Point 1843. Nephew of Gen. J. W. Ripley. Entering the 3d Art. he became 1st lieut. 21 Mar. 3, 1847; was aide-de-camp to Gen. Polow in 1847-8; brev. capt. for gallantry at Cerro Gordo, and major for gallantry at Chapullotepec; resigned Mar. 2, 1853, and took up his residence in Charleston, S. C., where he had married. Before the civil war, he had actively engaged in the military service of S. C.; took a prominent part in the siege of Fort Sumter, became a brig.-gen. and was wounded at the battle of Antietam. Author of "The War with Mexico," 2 vols. N. Y. 1849.

Ritchie, Anna Cora — See Mowbray.

Ritchie, Romley, commo. U. S. N., b. Ft. 18. Ct., a. Panama 6 July, 1829. Midshipman 1 Feb. 1844, lieutenant 13 Jan. 1853, comm. S. S. at 1841, capt. 14 Sept. 1855; commo. (ret.) 1 Feb. 1867. He com. the steam sloop S. S. Ana, "1861-Mar. 1862.

Ritchie, Thomas, journalist, b. Tappahannock, Va., Nov. 5, 1778; d. Richmond, July 12, 1854. His father, a native of Scotland, and a merchant, died when Thomas was 6 years old. In addition to his academical studies, he devoted some time to medicine; commenced school-keeping at the age of 21 in Friedricksburg; removed to Richmond in 1803; and in 1804 became editor of a Democratic newspaper, subsequently called the Richmond Enquirer. Of this paper he was the editor and proprietor forty years, exercising an influence, which, considering its duration, was unequalled by that of any other publication in the Union. In 1845 he relinquished the Enquirer to his two sons, having consented, at the solicitation of Pres. Polk, to assume the editorial control of the organ of his administration, — a new paper called the Union, from which he retired in 1849. THOMAS, his son, editor of the Enquirer, d. May 21, 1854.

Ritner, JOSEPH, gov. of Pa. 1835-9, b. 1773; d. Carlisle, Pa., 16 Oct. 1869. He served in the Pa. legis. in 1820-7; was the unsuccessful candidate of the anti-Masons for gov. in 1829; was an efficient promoter of common schools, and a disting. opponent of slavery.

Rittenhouse, DAVID, LL.D. (U. of Pa. 1782), F.R.S. (1795), mathematician and astronomer, b. near Germantown, Pa., Apr. 8, 1732; d. Phila. June 26, 1796. His great-grandfather, a Hollander, established at Germantown ab. 1690 the first paper-mill in Amer. While working on his father's farm at Norrittun, he came into possession of the tools and mathematical books of a deceased uncle, and thoroughly mastered Newton's "Principia." Before he was 19, he discovered the method of fluxions, and for some time supposed it was original with himself. He made a clock before he was 17 without instruction, and in 1751 applied himself to that art, which he followed for some years, attracting public attention by his skill and knowledge. At 23 he planned and executed an orrery, which was purchased by Princeton Coll. A second and larger one was afterward constructed by him for the U. of Pa. In 1763 he was employed to determine the initial and most difficult portion of the boundary-line since known as Mason and Dixon's, which he did accurately with instruments of his own construction. He afterward fixed the boundaries between N.Y., N.J., and Pa., and several other States. App. by the Amer. Philos. Society to observe the transit of Venus, June 3, 1769, he was completely successful; though, at the moment of apparent contact, his emotion was so great, that he fainted. His account was pub. in the "Transactions" of the society. In 1770 he removed to Phila., where he continued his clock and mathematical-instrument making with high reputation. In 1777-89 he was treasurer of Pa.; succeeded Franklin as pres. of the Philos. Soc. in 1791; was director of the U. S. mint in 1792-5; member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences at Boston. A number of his pieces are to be found in the first four vols. of the "Trans." of the Philos. Soc.; and in "Address" delivered before this body in 1775, upon the history of astronomy, was pub. by him. A Life of Rittenhouse was pub. in 1813 by his relative William Barton; and another, by Prot. James Renwick, is in Sparks's "Amer. Biog."

Ritter, ABRAHAM, of Phila.; d. 1860, a.

68. Author of "Hist. of Moravian Church in Phila. 1742-1757," 8vo, 1857; "Philadelphia and her Merchants," &c., 8vo, 1860 — 1 — two.

Rivera (ro-vi'ra), JOSÉ FERRAZO, a S. Amer. General and a Guacho, pres. of the Rep. pub. of Uruguay 1830-4; b. ab. 1790; d. 1851.

Rivers, WILLIAM JAMES, educator, b. Charleston, S.C., 1822. S.C. Coll. 1841, at which in 1856 he was chosen prof. of Greek lit., having for a number of years previously conducted a large private school. Author of a "Sketch of the History of S.C. to the Close of the Proprietary Govt.," 1856; "Catechism of the Hist. of S.C.," 1850; and of a number of contributions to the periodical press of S.C. He has much local reputation as a poet. — Amos.

Rives, JOHN C., editor Commercial Globe, b. Ky. ab. 1796; d. Georgetown, D.C., April 10, 1864. Removed to Washington in 1824. He was a self-made man, and during the early part of Jackson's administration, with Frank Blair, sen., founded the Globe. He was never a partisan, and was generous in the extreme.

Rives, WILLIAM CAMILLA, statesman, b. Nelson Co., Va., May 4, 1793; d. near Charlottesville, Va., April 26, 1868. Grandson of Col. Wm. Cabell. Educated at Hamp. Sid. and Wm. and Mary Colls. Studied law and politics under the direction of Thos. Jefferson; was aide-de-camp in 1814-15 with a body of militia called out for the defence of Va.; was in 1816 a member of the State Const. Conv.; member of the legis. in 1817-19 and 1822; M.C. in 1823-9; in 1829-32 minister to France; U. S. senator 1832-45; again minister to France in 1849-53; member of the peace conf. in Feb. 1861. After the secession of Va., Mr. Rives became a member of the Provis. Confed. Congress at Montgomery. Author of "Life and Times of James Madison," Boston, 1859-69, 3 vols. 8vo; on "Agriculture," 1842; "Life of John Hampden," 8vo, 1845; "Ethics of Christianity," 8vo, 1855; and "Discourse on the Uses and Importance of History." Mrs. Wm. C. Rives, b. Castle Hill, Allegheny Co., Va., 1802, is the author of "The Canon Brev." 1835-6; "Residence in Europe," 1842; "Epitome of the Bible," 1846-7; "Home and the World," 1857.

Rivington, JAMES, royalist printer and bookseller of New York during the Revolt, b. Lond. ab. 1721; d. N.Y. July, 1802. As a bookseller in Lond., he acquired some property, but lost it at Newmarket. In 1760 he came to Amer., opened a shop in Phila., but in 1761 established himself in New York, where, April 22, 1773, he began to publish the New York Gazette. "His ever open and unimpaired press" advocated the cause of the British gov. with great zeal, and severely attacked the patriots. In May, 1775, he seems to have been placed in confinement by order of Congress, to which body he addressed a remonstrance, in which he solemnly declares, "that, how ever wrong and mi-taken he may have been in his opinions, he has always meant honestly and openly to do his duty as a servant of the public." Nov. 1775, in consequence of his constant at-ticks upon the patriots, Capt. Isaac Sears, with a troop of horse, destroyed his press and type apparatus, and, carrying off the types, converted them into bullets. Livingston then went to Eng., was app. king's printer in N. Y., returned with a new press, after the city had fallen into the hands of the British, and, in Oct. 1777, resumed the publication of his paper, the title of which he soon changed to Livingston's N. Y. Free Gazette, and on Dec. 1, 1777, to Free Gazette. In 1781, when British success looked very doubtful, he turned spy, returning Washington with important information, and, when New York was evacuated, Livingston remained in the city. He changed the title of his paper to Livingston's N. Y. Free Press, and, in 1783, his paper was stopped in England, and he passed the rest of his life in comparative poverty. He possessed much natural genius, and was well informed. His was the first influential royalist journal of the times.

Roane, Simeon, jurist, b. E. S., Va., Aug. 4, 1762, d. Sept. 4, 1822. He studied law with Chancellor Wythe and in Europe, was successively a member of the assembly, of the council, and of the senate; was app. a judge of the Gen. Court in 1789, and in 1794 a judge of the Court of Errors. In 1819 he was one of the commiss. for locating the University of Va. He was a warm friend of Patrick Henry. He was a Jeffersonian Republican, and in several essays published in the Liberator signed "A gentleman" asserted the supremacy of the State in question of conflicting authority between Va. and the U. S.

Roane, John Seton, gov. of Ark. 1848-52; gov. a brig. gen. U. S. A., d. Buff., Ark., April 8, 1857. Lieutenant of Va. Ark. cavalry in the Mexican war, fighting at the battle of Buena Vista, and coming out after York was killed, made Col. Feb. 28, 1847.

Robbins, Amos, Rev. Amos, minister of N. S. C. Ch., from 1761 to his d. in 1811; d. at New U. S., d. 1749, U. S. C. 1749. Son of Rev. Philemon, Chaplain in the army in 1741, and in 1756. He pub. a half century's m. 1811.

Robbins, Asner, H. D. B. U. 1835, a lawyer, statesman, b. Wethersfield, Ct., 1777; d. N. Wood, R. I., Feb. 25, 1845. U. S. C. 1782. Editor in R. I. C. P. (now Brown U.). 1783-90, d. in studied law in New York, where he was admitted in practice, and returned to his native place, where he was a high mark in his profession U. S. senator, in 1802, in member State 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30. Author of "The Liberator," July 4, 1827, addresses, and Robbins, Chandler D. D. H. U. 1855, d. 1885, M. S. 14 Feb. 1810. H. U. 1829. Member of the Second Cong. Church Boston, d. Dec. 1833. Author of "Democrat's Sermon at Boston," 1845; "History of the Second Church, and of the New Brick Church," 1852; "Paraphrase for a Christian Church," 1854; "Hymn Book," 1854. Member of Mass. F. M. S. C. app. 1858, of William, Apr. 1861, 1863; also sermons, C. S. 1869, with 100 sermons of v. 1, and in Press of M. H. S. S., and co-editor Car. of Lib. of M.

Hist. Soc., 2 vols. Soc. Contr. to Christ. Evangel. K. 1860, 1861, 1862, 1863, 1864, 1865.

Robbins, Royal, D. D. Cong. pastor, Kensington Parish, Barru, Ct., b. Wethersfield, Ct., Aug. 21, 1788, d. Barru, Ct., March 29, 1861. U. S. C. 1806. O. I. June 29, 1812; d. in June 26, 1859. Author of "Oration on Hist. Soc.," v. 1839, "An Account of American Literature, in Chambers's Hist. of English Literature," "World Displayed," Memoirs of J. G. C. Brainerd, prefixed to an edition of his poems, and of Jas. G. Percival in "Selections of American Poetry," O. I. Y. 1841.

Robbins, Thomas, D. D. H. U. 1833, clergyman and antiquary, b. Norwalk, Ct., Aug. 11, 1777, d. Groton, Ct., Sept. 13, 1860. U. S. C. 1796. He was pastor of the church in East Windsor, Ct., in 1809-27, at Stamford in 1830, and in 1832-42 at Bell, Me. He afterwards resided in Hartford. In 1844 he became librarian of the Ct. Hist. Society, of which he was a founder, to whom he donated his valuable library. In 1841 he wrote a series of papers for the Ct. Librarian, about the divines and statesmen of our early history, who were, in 1845, coll. and pub. as "First Planters of New England." He also pub. "Century Sermon, Danbury, Jan. 1, 1801," "View of all Religions," Soc. 1824, "Fertile Elements of Gen. History, revised and corrected, 1815, 12mo, 1820. Member of several hist. and antiquarian societies. — N. E. Lib. and Tr. R., No. 24.

Roberdeau, Gies. David, Rev. ed. or, b. 18, of Fran. 1727, d. Wm. hist. Soc., Jan. 5, 1795. Of Hug. descent, ancestry. He first settled in Pa., where he built a fort at Wexoming at his own expense, which was destroyed by the Indians. He was a minister in 1757, had a good education, and was a great favorite in France, where he long resided. An active patriot, he was col. of a regt., and a member of Cong. 1817-20. — U. S. Lib. and Tr. R.

Roberdeau, Isaac, col. U. S. A., b. 1822, d. Georgetown, D. C., Jan. 15, 1829, a 65.

Roberts, Anna S. b. Phila. 1827; d. 1858. Daughter of Rev. H. R. Key, in 1852 m. Solomon W. Roberts, an eminent civil engineer. In 1851 she pub. a vol. of poems, "Forest Flowers of the West," a complete set of poetry to the U. S. Lib. and Tr. R. in 1850-1. — S. E. Lib. and Tr. R., 1851.

Roberts, Gies. Benjamin, Stasi, b. Manchester, Vt., 1811. West Point 1835, Entered the 1st Dragoons, became 1st lieut. in 1837, but resigned 28 Jan. 1839, to become private engineer on the Cumberland and Chesapeake Railroad; and in 1841 assisted in organizing the State of N. Y. In 1842 he sailed to Russia to assist Col. Whistler in the construction of railroads there. Returning to the U. S. he was a lieut. to the bar, and settled in his practice at New York in 1843-6. He reentered the army 27 May, 1846, as 1st lieut. mounted rifles, b. 1847, and 16 Feb. 1847, brev. major for gallantry at Chapultepec, where he com. a storming party, served under Gen. Lane again at the gates, and was brev. lieut. col. for his conduct at Matamoros and the Pass of Guadalupe; maj. 3d Cav. May 13, 1861. When the civil war began, he was with his regt. in N. Mexico, and was assigned by Col. Canby to com. the southern dist. He defended Fort Craig against the Texan forces under Sibley; was brev. col. 21 Feb. 1862 for Valverde; and June 1, 1862, was ordered to Washington with the trophies and reports of the campaign; July 16 he was made brig.-gen., and assigned to Gen. Pope's Army of Va. as chief of cavalry; acting insp.-gen., dept. of the North-west, Sept.-Nov. 1862; com. 1st. div. 19th corps in La. June-July, 1864; chief of cavalry, dept. of the Gulf, Oct. 1864 to 24 Jan. 1865; and com. in West Tenn. Feb.-July, 1865; lieutenant-col. 3d Cav., and retired July 28, 1866; brev. brig.-gen. Mar. 13, '65, for Cedar Mountain, Va. — Callban.

Roberts, Col. GEORGE WASHINGTON, b. Chester Co., Pa., Oct. 2, 1833; killed at Stone River, Dec. 31, 1862. — Y. C. 1857. He practised law in his native county and in Chicago after 1 March, 1860. July 22, 1861, he was made maj. 42d Ill. Vols., lieutenant-col. in Sept., and col. at the death of Col. Webb. He especially disting. himself by spiking a number of guns at Island No. 10. An upper battery of the enemy prevented all boats from passing. Selecting a dark and stormy night, he, with 10 men in small boats, bravely accomplished this daring exploit. Also disting. at the battle of Farmington, at the siege of Corinth; com. a brigade of the Army of the Mpi. in the campaign of 1862; and in the battle of Stone River, with his brigade, kept at bay two divisions of the enemy. While heading a successful bayonet charge of the 42d, he was killed. — Y. C. 19. Record.

Roberts, ROBERT RICHARD, D. D., a Methodist bishop, b. Frederick Co., Md., Aug. 2, 1776; d. Lawrence Co., Ind., March 26, 1843. With only the rudiments of a common education, he was licensed to preach in 1800, and soon manifested extraordinary abilities. In 1807 he was app. to the Light-st. Church, Baltimore; was stationed at Georgetown in 1812, at Phila. in 1813; was in 1815 pres. elder of Schuylkill Dist., which then included Phila. and its vicinity; in 1816 was elected pres. of the Phila. conf.; and in the following May he was elected bishop. His Life, abounding in interesting anecdotes, was written by Rev. C. Elliot.

Roberts, WILLIAM, pub. an Account of the Discovery and Natural History of Florida, 4to. 1763.

Roberts, ALEXANDER, painter, sec. of the Acad. of Fine Arts; d. New York, May 27, 1841, a. 69.

Roberts, ANTHONY L., jurist, b. N. Y. City, June, 1808; d. Dec. 18, 1868. — Col. Coll. 1825. He practised law; became assist. vice-chancellor 5th dist. in 1846; was afterward surrogate of the county of N. Y.; became judge of the Superior Court in 1859, and chief justice in 1865.

Roberts, GEORGE LL. D., jurist, b. Mercer Co., Ky., Nov. 18, 1790; d. Jan. 1871. Alexander, his father settled near Gordon's Station, Ky., in 1779; was sheriff of Mercer Co.; d. 1802. George studied at Transylv. Coll. and at Finley's Classical School, Lancaster; began to practise law in 1809, M. C.

1817-21; member of the State legisl. 1822-7; speaker 1823 and 1825-7; sec. of state in 1828; judge of the Court of Appeals 1828; chief justice of Ky. 1829-43; prof. of law in Transylv. Coll. 23 years. He declined the governorship of Ark. and the missions to Colombia and Fern. Many of his speeches, addresses, and other writings, have been pub. in "The Serap-Book," 8vo, 1856. He also pub. "Biog. Sketch of Hon. John Boyle," 8vo, 1838.

Robertson, JAMES, lieutenant-gen. British army, b. Fife-shire, Scotland; d. Eng. 4 Mo. 1788. App. maj. 1st batt. of the 60th Regt. Dec. 1755; dep. quarterm.-gen. under Gen. Abercrombie, May, 1758, and present at Louisburg; lieutenant 8 July, 1758; accomp. Amherst to Lakes George and Champlain in 1759; app. to the 55th Regt.; took part in the expedition against Mardinio in 1762; exchanged into the 16th Regt. in 1763, and was stationed in N. Y. until the Revol. broke out; col. in 1772; ord. to Boston in July, 1775; app. maj.-gen. in Amer. 1 Jan. 1776; col. comg. 60th Regt. 11 Jan. 1776; maj.-gen. 29 Aug. 1777; col. 16th Regt. 14 May, 1778; lieutenant-gen. 20 Nov. 1782. At the evacuation of Boston, he not only shared in the plunder of the place, but com. at that of others. He com. the 6th brigade of Howe's army at the battle of Long Island; returned to Eng. in Feb. 1777; was commission'd gov. of New York 14 May, 1779; sworn in 23 Mar. 1780; and returned to Eng. 15 Apr. 1783. While the fate of Andie was pending, he was despatched by Clinton to Gen. Greene with the object of procuring his exchange or release, but without result.

Robertson, GRS. JAMES, b. Brantwick Co., Va., June 28, 1742; d. Cheekasaw Agency, Tenn., Sept. 1, 1814. He was one of the early pioneers to Tenn., having emigr. to Watauga in 1769; and was the founder of the Cumberland settlements. In 1790 he was app. brig.-gen. and com. of the Tenn. militia. During the latter part of his life, he was U. S. agent at the Cheekasaw Nation. — See Hist. of Mich. Tenn. or Life and Times of Gen. Jas. Robertson, by A. W. Patrum, pres. Tenn. Hist. Socy, 8vo, 1859.

Robertson, THOMAS BOLLING, gov. of La. in 1820-2, b. Richmond, Va., 1778; d. White Sulphur Springs, Va., Oct. 5, 1828. Wm. and Mary Coll. 1807. He was U. S. dist. judge of La. and the first M. C. elected in that State 1812-18.

Robertson, WILLIAM, D. D., historian, b. Berthwick, Scotland, 19 Sept. 1721; d. Edinburgh, 11 June, 1793. Studied theo. at Edinb.; held various livings; became chap. of Stirling Castle in 1759; principal of the U. of Edinb. in 1762; and roy. historiographer of Scotland in 1764. Author of "History of Scotland," 1759; "History of Charles V.," 1769; "History of America," 2 vols. 4to, 1777; "Hist. Disquis. concerning the Knowledge which the Ancients had of India," 1791. He is generally accurate and impartial in the narration of events, and judicious in his estimate of character.

Roberval, JEAN FRANÇOIS DE LA ROQUE, Sieur de, a nobleman of Picardy, and the first to attempt to colonize New France after Carter; d. 1547. He was a disting. soldier, and had obtained the king's commission to govern and colonize Canada. He set out in 1542, and wintered at Stadacona (Quebec). He led an unsuccessful expedition into the interior of the country, losing 28 men at Quebec, and one ship, which was sunk. Instead of sending a report to him, the king ordered Carter to bring him back, as his valuable services were required in France, where the war then existed. He performed several gallant exploits, but in 1547 sailed a second time for Canada with a large and valuable expedition, but was wrecked on the coast, and all perished.

Robeson, George Maxwell, see U. S. Navy, app. 25 June, 1869; b. N. J., 1824; N. J. Col., 1847; Atty. gen. N. J. 1866-9.

Robie, Thomas, M.D., b. Boston, 20 Mar. 1679; d. 28 Aug. 1729; H. U. 1708; tutor there 1714-21; and librarian. He pub., "The Knowledge of Christ," 1721; and in Phila. Trans., "Akatine Salts," and "Venom of the Spider," 1720-4. Contrib. to mags. Son of Wm. of Boston. At first a preacher, afterward a physician.

Robin, Claude C. Amé, a chaplain in Richmonde's army in Amer. during the Revol. war. Author of "New Travels through N. America in 1781," &c., 8vo, 1782; Phila.; "Voyage dans l'Int. sud de la Louisiane," &c., 8vo, 3 vols. 8vo, 1807.

Robinson, Col. Beverly, loyalist, b. Va. 1727; d. Thornbury, Eng. 1792. Son of John, pres. of the council of Va. in 1734, and afterward speaker of the house of burgesses. Was a major-gener. Wolfe at the storming of Quebec in 1759, and became very wealthy by his marriage with the dau. of Frederick Phillips, the owner of an immense landed estate on the H. Coast. Though opposed to the measures which led to the separation of the Colonies from the mother-country, he took side with the loyalists when independence was declared. He removed to N. York, and raised the Loyal American Regt., of which he was col. He was concerned in the treason of Arnold; and his country mansion was the headquarters of the Loyal while arranging his numerous projects. At the conclusion of the war, he went to England, and portion of his family. His son Beverly (1747) of Coll. 1773, and a lieutenant British army, settled near St. John, N. B., was a member of the council, and d. New York in 1816. This family was one of the largest losers by the revolution.

Robinson, Conway, b. Richmond, Va., 1757; Author of "Forms of Practice in Va.," 8vo, 1820; "Law and Equity Practice in Va.," 8vo, 8vo, 1822-4; "Reports Ct. of Appeals at Gen. Ct.," 1842-4, 2 vols. 8vo; "Account of Voyages in the West," &c., 8vo, 1848; "Views of the Constitution of Va.," 8vo, 1850; "Practice of English and U. S. Cts.," 4 vols. 8vo, 1860. One of the revisers of the Va. code, 1840, and contrib. to Amer. J. of Int. Law, Mag., and S. L. Messenger — A. 8vo.

Robinson, Edward, D.D., (D.C. 1831), U. S. Col., 1842; LL.D. (Y.C. 1843), librarian, b. Southampton, Ct., Apr. 10, 1774; d. New York, Jan. 27, 1863. Ham. Coll.

1816; tutor there 1-17. Married a dau. of S. Kirkland the missionary, who died in 1819. Continuing his studies at Clinton till 1821, he went to Andover to pub. the first 6 books of the "Land," which he had edited; studied Hebrew; assisted Prof. Stuart in his literary labors; and was app. assistant instructor there. From 1826 to 1830 he travelled and studied in Europe, where he married Therese, dau. of Prof. Jakob Halle. He was prof. extraordinary of sacred literature, and librarian at Andover in 1803-3, and from 1837 till his death was prof. of bibl. lit. in the Un. Theol. Sem. in N.Y. City. In 1838 he visited Palestine, of which he, with Rev. L. I. Smith, made a minute and careful survey. His "Biblical Researches in Palestine" were pub. in Hanc, Lond., and Boston, in 1841. The results of a second visit in 1852 were pub. in 1856, with a revision of his previous researches. During the latter part of his life, he was engaged upon a physical and historical geography of the Holy Land. He visited Germany in the summer of 1862 for surgical treatment of his eyes, being threatened with loss of sight. He was an active and efficient member of the geographical, oriental, and ethnological societies. His other works are a translation of "Buttman's Greek Grammar," 1832 and 1850; a "Greek and English Lexicon of the New Testament," 1836 and 1850; "The Harmony of the Four Gospels," in Greek, 1845, and in English, 1846. From 1831 to 1834 he edited the Biblical Repository, which, when united with the "Bibliotheca Sacra," he established and edited one year in N. York. He has also edited Calvert's "Biblical Diet.," and a translation of Gesenius's "Hebrew Lexicon." In 1850 he pub. a Memoir of his father, Rev. Wm. Robinson, with some account of his ancestors — See his Lett. to H. B. Swain, D.D., and Rev. A. A. Phelps, 1850, 42mo, 1860.

Robinson, Ezekiel Gilman, D.D., prof. Rochester Theol. Sem., b. Andover, Ms. 1825; B. U. 1838. Editor of "S. Register," 1850-64. Translator of Neander's "History of the Planting of the Church," 8vo, 1865; he pub. Address on the Relation of the Church and the Bible, 1866. Chosen Pres. of Brown U. in 1868.

Robinson, Fayette, author, b. Va.; d. New York, March 26, 1859, from prison; Author of "Mexico and her Military Chivalry," Phila. 1847; "Organization of the U. S. Army," 2 vols. 1848; and "California and its Gold Regions," N.Y. 1849; "Spanish Grammar;" "Wizard of the Wave," a romance, 8vo, 1853. Translated Briffat Savarin's "Physiology of Taste," 8vo, 1854.

Robinson, Sir Frederick Phillips, general in the British army, b. in the Highlands of New York, Sept. 1763; d. Brighton, Jer. I., 1852. Son of the loyalist Col. Beverly. He was attached to his father's (Loyal American) regt., and in Feb. 1777 received a commission as ensign, being then but 14 years of age. At the capture of Stony Point, he was wounded and taken prisoner; was subsequently exchanged; left the U. S.; served in the W. Indies, Spain, and lastly in Canada, passing through all the gradations of rank. He came a brigadier at the battle of Vittoria, at the siege of St. Sebastian, where he was wounded; and at the passage of the Nile. At the termination of the Peninsular war he went to Canada, as engineer in chief of the forces; in the war of 1812-15 he had the command of two brigades intended for the attack of the works at Plattsburg on Lake Champlain, Sept. 1814; and from July 1, 1817, until 1816, was gov. of Upper Canada; in 1815 he received the order of knighthood, and in 1818 was advanced to that of the grand cross; he attained the full rank of gen. in 1811.

Robinson, HOWARD N., LL.D., author of Contemporary Text-books, b. Haverick, N. Y., Jan. 1, 1806; d. Fort Edge, N. Y., Jan. 19, 1887. He had an ordinary education, but at the age of 14 made the calculations for an almanac, which attracted the attention of a wealthy gentleman in the vicinity, who sent him to N. J. C. to appear as a prof. of mathematics in the navy at 19, he held that post for 19 years acceptably. He took charge of an academy at Catawba in 1825, and afterward of one at Geeseon. Impaired health led him to remove in 1834 to Cincinnati, where he produced his "University Algebra,"—a work of much originality, the great success of which encouraged him to prepare several other works. He removed to Syracuse, N. Y., in 1850, and in 1854 to Elbridge. Some of the best practical talent of the country was employed to assist him in completing his series by adding a full course of elementary text-books, numbering 22. The merit of these text-books is attested by their very large and increasing circulation, and the testimony of the best educators of the country. His latest work, "Differential and Integral Calculus," 1861, was in 1868 edited by F. F. Gamble.—Albany.

Robinson, GEN. JAMES S., b. near Mansfield, O., Oct. 14, 1828. Entering the 4th Ohio, he participated in the Rich-Mountain campaign, June, 1851; reg. 82d O., Oct. 26, 1851; lieut.-col. Ar. 1862; served in the Shenandoah and r. Front; at the second Bull Run; col. Aug. 29, 1862; in the Chambersville, Gettysburg (where he was severely wounded), Antietam, and G. campaigns; com. 3d brigade, 1st div., 20th corps, from May 1, 1864; and in the battles of Resaca, Dallas, New-hope Church, Peach-tree Creek, Averlyborough, and Bentonville; brev. brig.-gen. Dec. 12, 1864; brig.-gen. Jan. 12, 1865; brev. maj.-gen. Mar. 1, 1865.—Rich's Ohio in the War.

Robinson, JOHN, an English dissenting clergyman, b. 1575; d. Leyden, March 1, 1625. He studied at Cambridge, and for a time held a benefice near Yarmouth in Norfolk, but became pastor of a dissenting cong. in the north of England in 1602. "Best by the agents of the 'sorcery,' its members (in 1607) attempted to leave for Holland, but were prevented, and kept under arrest for a month; in 1608 they removed to Amsterdam, and abt. 1609, by advice of Robinson, they removed to Leyden. Here they became by arrivals from Eng. a great congregation. Here Robinson accepted the challenge of Episcopius, the successor of Arminius, and defended his doctrines. A public disputation was held in the presence of a large assembly; and the friends of the former assert that "the Truth had a glorious victory." In 1617 Robinson entered heartily into the plan of forming a settlement in America. A minority of his congregation, under Brewster, sailed July 22, 1620; but Robinson, whose intention it was to follow with the remainder, died before the consent of the association of English merchants who controlled the enterprise could be obtained. The rest of his church being soon afterwards dead, his son Isaac came here as early as 1630. A complete ed. of his writings was pub. at Boston in 1831, in 3 vols., with Memoir and Annotations by Robert A. Eaton.—S. Church Reg., April, 1866.

Robinson, SIR JOHN BAYLY, barr. (created 1751), D.C., b. Bingham, L. C., July 26, 1751; d. Toronto 30 Jan. 1837. Called to the bar, he held a British office, served in the Revolutionary war, and resided in N. B. John was admitted to the bar; was clerk of the Assembly one year; attorney at the age of 24; solicitor-gen. 1815-17; a judge of the court of common-law justice of Upper Canada from July 15, 1829, to his d.; 18 years a member of the L. C. A. S. and of the G. N. B. at the court of Detroit. Author of some valuable works on Canada. Chancellor of Trinity College, Toronto.—Montpelier.

Robinson, JOHN CHELSEA, b. in Wigan, F. S. A., b. Binghamton, N. Y., April 19, 1817. Entering the Military Acad. in 1835, he left it in 1838 to study law; but in 1855 was made lieut. 5th Inf. During the Mexican war he was fighting at Monterrey, and took part at June, 1846; capt. Aug. 1859; maj. 2d Inf. Feb. 20, 1862; col. 13d Inf. July 28, 1865. He served against the Indians of Fla. and Utah. At the beginning of the civil war he was at Fort Mifflin, Baltimore; app. col. 1st Mich. Vol., he became brig.-gen. Ar. 28, 1862, to take com. of the 1st brigade of Kearney's division in the corps of H. H. Hunt, and was killed in the battles before Richmond, on the 29th of June 30 and July 1, 1862; also at the second Bull Run, Chantilly, and Fredricksburg, com. div. and engaged at the second Fredricksburg, Chambersville, Gettysburg, Mine Run, Mitchell's Station, battles of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania C. H., and Cold Springs, where he lost a leg; brev. maj.-gen. by V. Gen. Grant, F. S. A., for Gettysburg; brev. col. for the Wilderness; brev. brig.-gen. for Spottsylvania; and by V. maj.-gen. for gallant and meritorious services during the war. Retired as a maj.-gen. May 6, 1869.

Robinson, JOHN STANFORD, gov. of Va., 1853-4, b. Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 19, 1804; d. Charleston, S. C., Apr. 25, 1861. Wms. Col. 1824. He is called as a lawyer in his native town, and rose to eminence in the profession. Was many years in the English of Va., and was a deleg. to the Charleston Democ. Convention.

Robinson, JOSEPHUS, chief justice of Va., 1801-7; U. S. senator 1807-15; b. of G. G. Moses; d. Bennington, Vt., 3 Nov. 1819, a 64.

Robinson, MATTHEW, Lord of the Manor near Hythe, Kent Co., 1717; d. Nov. 29, 1800. Son of Matthew, and Frey of his education at Westminster and Cambridge. M. P. for Canterbury in 1747, and again in 1751, conducting himself with singular integrity and independence. During the Amer. war he remonstrated with peculiar energy against the measures taken against the colonists. He foresaw the evil consequences which must proceed from coercion, and the reprobated taxation without representation. By the death of his uncle, the Archbishop of Armagh, in Oct. 1794, he acquired the title of Lord Rokely. His eccentricity was such as to excite much curiosity. He wore his hair reaching nearly to the middle of his body, his manners, and habits of life, approached to primitive simplicity. He was distinguished by his ardor and love of freedom; was faithful to his duties which in his opinion encompassed the interests of mankind, and ceased not to lift up his voice against every species of oppression. Author of "Considérations on the Measures with respect to the British Colonies," 1774; "Considerations," &c., 1775; "Further Examinations of American Measures," 1776; "Peace the Best Policy," 1777.

Robinson, MUMFORD M., legislator, d. Jan. 5 Jan. 1871. Reporter of the Supreme Court of La., legislated for the press 16 volumes of Reports, accompanied by marginal notes; also "Digest of the Penal Laws of La.," 8vo, 1841.

Robinson, MOSES, statesman, b. Hardwick, Mass., Mar. 26, 1741, d. Bennington, Vt., May 26, 1813. A M. of V. C. 1759. His father, C. P. S., was one of the first settlers of Vt. Born at Judd's Junction. Chief justice of Vt. 1801, 1778. Gov. 1789-90. U. S. senator 1791-6. He was an opponent of Jay's Treaty.

Robinson, SOLOH, b. near Toland, Ct., 1803. His country largely to agriculture, journals, to the N. Y. Times, and to periodicals. He has pub. "Her Corn, Life Scenes in N. Y.," 1851; "Her Corn Lays," 1860; "Facts for Farmers," &c., 8vo, 1864; "M-won-dro," 1867. — Biog. Cyclop. and P. Mag.

Robinson, STEWART, D. D., pastor, 2d Presbyterian, Louisville, Ky. His b. in proof of the dogma. Drove to Sevier, Ky. His published "The Church of God," &c., 12mo, 1858; "Discourses of Robinson," &c., 8vo, 1866.

Robinson, EMILIE ALBERTINE LOUISE, (Vos, Jacon) poetess, known under the name of "Eulie" (her initials), b. Halle, Germany, Jan. 26, 1797, d. Hamburg, April 13, 1867. In 1807 she accompanied her father to Russia, which became prof. in the U. of Konigsberg. Here she studied the Slavic language, and wrote her first poems. She afterward studied at St. Petersburg; returned to Halle in 1816, and studied Latin. A few of her tales, under the name of "Psyche," appeared at Halle in 1825. In 1822 she translated Scott's "Old Mortality," and "The Black Dwarf." She translated from the Serbian, poems under the title of "Liedersamml." 2 vols. 1825-6; in 1828-9, Prof. Ed. Robinson, and in 1830 came to America. She translated in 1836 from Pickering's work on "The Indian Tongue of N. A.," Leipzig, 1834; in 1834 she wrote for the Biblioth. Robinsoniana "An Historical View of the Slavic Languages," republ. in 1850 by us. She visited Germany in 1837-40, and pub. there "An Essay on the Historical Comparisons of the Popular Songs of the German Nations," &c., 1840; also a small work entitled "The Poems of Ossian not Genuine." She afterward pub. "A History of Captain John Smith" in German; "The Colonization of New Eng.," 1847; "Heloise, or the Unrevealed Secret," 1850; "Life's Down-fall, a Tale of the Annals of Hungary," 1851; and "The Exiles," 1853, afterward pub. as "Woodhill," and she contrib. to various American and German periodicals. After the death of her husband, in 1863, she returned to Germany.

Rochambeau (ro'ch'on'bo), JEAN BAPTISTE DONATIEU VIMEUR, Count de, mar. s. d. of France, b. Vendôme, 1 July, 1725, d. 10 May, 1807. Entering the army at 16, he served under Broglie; became in 1745 aide to Louis-Philippe, Duke of Orleans; afterward com. the regiment La Marine, and was distinguished wounded at Lauffeld. He attained fresh laurels at Crevelt, Minden, Corbach, and Closterau, Madebourg, &c. in 1780 and sent with a corps of 6000 men to the assistance of the Americans, he disembarked at R.I. in July, 1780, a truce in concert with Washington, first against Clinton in N. Y., and then against Cornwallis, rendering important services at the siege of Yorktown, and receiving the surrender of the British army 19 Oct. 1781. Rochambeau was presented with the captured cannon. He received the decoration of the Saint-Esprit in 1783; was made a marshal in 1791; and early in 1792 com. the Army of the North. He narrowly escaped the guillotine during the Reign of Terror. In 1804 Bonaparte gave him a pension and the cross of grand officer of the Legion of Honor. His "Memoirs" were pub. 2 vols., 8vo, 1809, and translated by M. W. E. Wright, Paris, 8vo, 1838. His son JOSEPH MARIE, Vicomte de, and de camp to his father in the American Revolution, and col. Regt. Auxonne, served in the W. Indies, Italy, St. Domingo, &c.; became a general, and was killed at the battle of Eylau, 18 Oct. 1807, a. 63.

Rochefoucauld Liancourt (rosh'fook'oh'k'oh'k'oh), FRANÇOIS ALEXANDRE ERARD, Duke de la, b. 14 Jan. 1747, d. Paris 27 Mar. 1827. Grand-master of the wardrobe to Louis XV. and XVI.; dep. to the States-general; and the advocate of just and necessary reforms; pres. of the national assembly after the taking of the Bastille in July, 1789; member of the constituent assembly; military com. at Rouen in 1792. After the 10th of August he left France, resided in Eng., and traveled through the U. S., but returned to France after the 18th Brumaire, devoting himself to the prosecution of the useful arts and to benevolent offices. He was 24 years in-spect. of the School of Arts and Trades at Chalons. He established the first savings bank in France, and was influential in introducing vaccination there. Created a peer after the restoration in 1815. Author of "Vues générales sur l'état des" (1795-7), 8 vols. 1800; and "Account of the Prisons of France," 8vo, 1796. His life by his son was pub. in 1827.

Rockingham, CHARLES WATSON WENTWORTH, marquis, statesman, b. May 13, 1730; d. 1 July, 1782. He succeeded to the title in 1750, entered the house of peers in 1751; resigned his offices in 1763; was appointed lord of the treasury in July, 1765; resigned 1 Aug. 1766. When the Lord North ministry succumbed, he again took the chief direction of affairs in March, 1782, but died shortly after. During the Stamp-act discussions in 1765, he took the middle course, of repealing the act, and declaring the right to tax the Colonies. During North's administration, he was the leader of the aristocratic party of the opposition in the House of Lords.

Rockwell, J. Edson, D.D., b. Salisbury, Vt., 1816. Amh. Coll. 1837. Has published "Sketches of the Presbyterian Church," 1854; "Young Christian Warned," 1857; "Scenes and Impressions Abroad," 1859; "My Sheet-Ancor," 1861; also sermons, addresses, and reports; edited Sabbath-school Visitor 1852-60; and contributed to periodicals. — Albion.

Rockwell, James Otis, poet and editor, b. Lebanon, Ct., 1807; d. Providence, R.I., in the summer of 1831. At an early age he was an operative in a cotton-factory at Paterson, N.J.; at 14 he was apprenticed to a printer at Utica; four years later he came to Boston; became assistant editor of the Statesman; and in 1829 took the editorial charge of the Providence Patriot. His pieces are scattered through his own and other periodicals, having never been collected. — See Everett's Poets of Ct.

Rockwell, John Arnold, jurist, b. Norwich, Ct., Aug. 27, 1803; d. Washington, D.C., Feb. 10, 1861. Y.C. 1822. He practised law in Norwich; was a member of the State senate in 1838-9; soon after became judge of the New-London County Court; M.C. 1847-51, and chairman of the committee on claims. The Court of Claims at Washington owes its establishment chiefly to him, and his principal labors were in that court. He pub. two volumes on "The Mexican Law of Mines and Real Estate," 1851-2, which are now standard authorities.

Rockwell, Julius, senator and jurist, b. Cobebrook, Ct., Apr. 26, 1805. Y.C. 1826. He studied law at the New-Haven Law School; was adm. to the Litchfield Co. bar in 1829, commencing practice in 1830 at Pittsfield, Ms. He was in the legisl. of Ms. in 1834-8; was speaker for 1835 and 1838; bank commiss. in 1838-41; M.C. in 1847-51; and U.S. senator for two sessions, to succeed Mr. Everett; in 1853 he was a member of the State Court. Conv. in 1858 was again a State representative; judge of the Superior Court of Ms. 1859-71.

Rodgers, C. R. P., commo. U. S. N., b. N.Y., Nov. 14, 1818. Mid-shipn. Oct. 5, 1833; lieut. Sept. 4, 1844; com. Oct. 18, 1861; capt. July 25, 1866; commo. 1870. Present at the capture of Vera Cruz and of Tabasco; attached to coast-survey 1850 and 1856-8; com. of mid-shipn. Naval Acad. 1859-61; com. steam-frigate "Wabash," flag-ship, So. Atl. squad., 1861-2; at battle of Port Royal, Nov. 1861; at Fort Pulaski, in com. of naval battery, Jan. 27, 1862; com. division of gunboats in exped. to St. Augustine and up the St. Mary's River in Mar. 1862; fleet-capt. S.A. block squad., 1863; com. steamer "Inroquois," 1864-5, com. frigate "Franklin," European squad., 1869; chief of bureau of docks and yards, 1 Oct. 1871. — Hannrsly.

Rodgers, Capt. George W., U.S.N., b.

Md. 1787; d. Buenos Ayres, May 21, 1832. His father was col. of a Md. regt. during the Revol. war; and his bro. was Com. John Rodgers, Mid-shipn. Apr. 1804; lieut. Apr. 24, 1810; master com. Apr. 27, 1816; and post-capt. Mar. 1, 1825; first lieut. of "The Wasp" in the action with "The Frolic," Oct. 18, 1812. For his gallantry in the war of 1812 he received a sword of honor from his native State, and a gold medal from Congress, accomp. by a vote of thanks. In 1832 he com. the squadron on the coast of Brazil, having also a diplomatic mission to that govt. His wife Anna Maria, sister to Com. Perry, d. New London, Ct., Dec. 7, 1858, a. 60. Three sons fought bravely in the Mexican war. — Lieut. A. P. Rodgers, who fell at Chapultepec; Capt. Raymond Rodgers, U.S.N., fleet-capt. during Dupont's capture of Port Royal and attack on Charleston; and Capt. George W., who was killed while commanding the monitor "Catskill" in an attack on Fort Wagner, Morris Island, Aug. 20, 1863.

Rodgers, John, D.D. (U. of Edinb. 1768), Presb. divine, b. Boston, Ms., Aug. 5, 1727; d. N.Y. City, May 7, 1811. In 1728 his parents removed to Phila., where he received a classical education. He was impressed with religious truth by the preaching of Whitefield; in Oct. 1747 was licensed to preach, and, after having been a missionary in Va. and Md., was settled in St. George's, Del., Mar. 19, 1749, where he continued his popular and useful labors until July, 1765; he then removed to N.Y., and was pastor of the Wall-st. (Presb.) Church until the close of his life. Leaving N.Y. in Feb. 1776, he became chaplain of Heath's brigade in April; then chaplain of the State convention, then of the council of safety, and of the first legisl. until Oct. 1777; and till the end of the war he preached at Amenia, N.Y., Danbury, Ct., and Lammington, N.J. His Memoirs were written by Dr. Samuel Miller. He pub. sermons and some fugitive pieces. — Synonym.

Rodgers, John, commo. U. S. N., b. Hartford Co., Md., 1771; d. Phila., Aug. 1, 1838. Entering the navy as a lieut. Mar. 9, 1798, he was the executive officer of the frigate "Constellation," Com. Truxton, when she captured the French frigate "L'Insurgente" off Nevis, Feb. 9, 1799, and took possession of the prize. Made a capt. Mar. 5, 1799, he cruised in "The Maryland" (29) upon the W. I. station; in 1802 he com. "The John Adams" (28), with which and "The Enterprise" (12) he successfully attacked, in June, 1803, a Tripolitan cruiser of 22 guns, and several gunboats at anchor near Tripoli; in 1804 he com. "The Congress" (38) in the squadron employed against Tripoli under Com. Barron, whom in 1805 he succeeded in the com. After the peace with Tripoli, he proceeded with his squadron to Tunis, where he engaged in negotiations which resulted in the establishment of friendly relations. In the spring of 1811, in "The President" (44), off Annapolis, he heard that a seaman had been impressed off Sandy Hook by an English frigate; sailing for that point without delay, May 16 he hailed, about 83, p.m., a vessel of war, but received no answer. After a little delay, the stranger hailed, which she followed up with a shot, which entered "The President's" mainmast. After a short engagement in which his opponent was much crippled, he ceased firing, and on the following morning boarded, discovering her to be H. B. M. ship "Lutie Bell" (22 guns), Capt. Bingham. The accounts given by the two commanders of this affair differed widely, particularly as to the firing of the first gun; and it widened the breach which already existed between the two nations. June 21, 1812, receiving official intelligence of the declaration of war against Great Britain, Com. Rodgers sailed from N. Y. in com. of a squadron; June 23, while chasing the British frigate "Belvidere," during a running fight, a gun burst, killing and wounding 16. Com. Rodgers being among the latter; in a subsequent cruise he took the British packet "Swallow," with a large amount of specie, and the schooner "Highlyer;" app. June 14 to the new frigate "Guerriere," he rendered important service in the defence of Baltimore; from Apr. 1815, to Dec. 1824, he served as pres. of the board of navy commissioners; acting sec. navy, Sept. to Dec. 1824; and in 1824-7 in com. of the Mediterranean squadron. On his return he was again on the board of navy commissioners, which he relinquished in 1837. R. ADM. JOHN RODGERS, U. S. N., is his son. Another son, ROY R., was col. 3d Md., Potomac mt.; did good service during the civil war, and was twice severely wounded.

Rodgers, JOHN, rear-adm. U. S. N., b. Md. Aug. 8, 1811. Son of Com. John, U. S. N. Midship. Apr. 18, 1828; lieutenant Jan. 22, 1840; com. Sept. 14, 1855; capt. July 16, 1862; commo. June 17, 1863; rear-adm. Dec. 31, 1869. Com. steamer "John Hancock," and surv. and expl. exped. to N. Pacific and China Seas 1853-6; in 1862 superintended at the West the construction of ironclads; May 10, 1862, com. an exped. of gunboats in the James River; and in "The Galena" attacked Fort Darling, May 15. June 17, 1863, in Warsaw Sound, Capt. Rodgers, in the monitor "Weehawken," encountered and captured the powerful rebel ironclad "Atlanta" in 15 minutes; in the monitor "Monadnock," 1866-7, made the passage around the Horn to San Francisco, commanded Asiatic fleet; and in August, 1871, captured the Korean forts. — Hunt's.

Rodman, GLENN ISAAC PEACE, b. South Kingston, R. I., Aug. 28, 1822; d. Sept. 29, 1892, from wounds at the battle of Antietam. Educated to mercantile pursuits, he engaged in militia, was some years col. of a militia regt., and in 1861 a member of the State senate. He resigned his seat to raise a company of vols., and, as capt. 2d R. I. Regt., participated in the battle of Bull Run. Becoming col. 4th R. I. Vols., he was at the taking of Roanoke Island. For gallantry at the battle of Newbern, Mar. 14, 1860, where he took the enemy's works at the point of the bayonet, he was made brig.-gen. Apr. 28, 1862. His regt. also participated in the investment and reduction of Fort Macon. In the battle of Antietam while leading his brigade to a charge upon the enemy's guns, he was mortally wounded by a cannon-ball in the terrible conflict by which the stone bridge was carried and held.

Rodney, CAESAR, signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Dover, Del., ab. 1730; d. early in 1783. His father William came over with Penn. and, after a short residence in Philadelphia, settled in Kent Co., Del., leaving to his eldest son a large landed estate. At the age of 28 Caesar was app. high sheriff, and, at the end of his term of service, was created a justice of the peace and a judge of the lower courts. As early as 1762 he represented his county in the legisl., by which, in 1765, he was sent to the Stampact Congress at N. Y.; in 1769 he was elected speaker of the house, continuing to occupy that chair for several years; was app. chairman of the com. of corresp. with the other Colonies; and in 1774 was a delegate to the Gen. Congress; in the following year he was re-elected, and also made a brig.-gen. When the question of independence was before Congress, Rodney was on a tour through the southern part of Del., quieting the minds of the people, and preparing them for a change of gov't. His colleagues McKean and Reed being divided upon the question, the former, who knew him to be favorable to the declaration, urged him by express to hasten his return. He did so, and by great exertion arrived just in season for the final discussion, and by his affirmative vote, he secured that union among the Colonies, so important to the cause of independence. The opposition of the royalists, who abounded in the lower counties, prevented his re-election the succeeding year; but, as a member of the councils of safety and inspection, he displayed great activity in collecting supplies for the troops of the State then with Washington in N. J. He remained in person to the camp near Princeton in 1777, where for nearly two months he was engaged in laborious services, and, commanding the Del. line, was brig.-gen. In the autumn of the same year he was again chosen to Congress, but, before taking his seat, was chosen pres. of his State, in which station he remained 4 years (1778-82). His nephew CAESAR A. (M. C. 1803-5 and 1819-21, U. S. atty.-gen. 1807-11, U. S. senator 1821-3, minister to Buenos Ayres 1823, until his death, June 10, 1824) pub. with J. Graham "Reports on the Present State of the United Provinces of S. America," Lond. 8vo, 1819.

Rodney, DANIEL, M. C. from Del. 1822-3; U. S. senator 1826-7; gov. of Del. 1844-47; d. 2 Sept. 1846, a. 75.

Roe, AZEL STEVENS, novelist, b. N. Y. City, 1798. With an academic education he became a merchant's clerk in N. Y.; was afterward a wine-merchant, and, on retiring from business, settled at Windsor, Ct. Having lost most of his property by the failure of persons for whom he had freely indorsed, he applied himself to literature with success. He has written "James Montjoy, or I've been Thinking," 1850; "To Love, and to be Loved," 1852; "Time and Tide, or Strive and Win," 1852; "A Long Look Ahead," 1855; "The Star and the Cloud," 1856; "True to the East," 1859; "How Could He Help It?" 1860; "Like and Unlike," 1861; "Looking Around," 1866;

"The Cloud on the Heart," 1869; "Woman our Angel," 1866.

Roebling, JOHN A., engineer, b. Prussia, 1806, and educated as a civil engineer. In 1827-31 he was an assist. constructor of military roads. Emig. to the U.S. in 1831, he was employed on various works in O. and Pa., and in 1842 began the manuf. of wire ropes, first used on the Alleghany Portage Road, and now in general use. In 1850 he erected extensive works near Trenton, N.J., where 2,000 tons of wire-rope are annually made; in 1844 he built the wire suspension aqueduct over the Alleghany River at Pittsburg; in 1852-5 he built the Niagara Suspension Bridge; and in 1856-67 the Cincinnati Suspension Bridge over the Ohio River, said to be the largest in the world; in 1858-60 he built the fine wire suspension bridge over the Alleghany River at Pittsburg.

Rogers, HENRY DARWIN, LL.D., F.R.S., geologist, bro. of James B., b. Phila. 1803; d. Glasgow, Scotland, May 28, 1886. Became prof. of physical sciences in Dick. Coll. in 1831, and afterward prof. of geology in the U. of Pa., which office he long held. In 1845 he pub. a report and geol. map of N. J., and a final Report, 8vo, 1849. In 1836-56 he was occupied in the survey of Pa.; pub. several annual reports, the final one in 2 vols. 4to, 1858. In 1857 he became regius prof. of geol. and nat. history in the U. of Glasgow, having for some years previously resided in Boston. He contrib. many important papers on geol. and other scientific subjects to the "Transactions" of scientific associations, to the Journal of Science, and to the Edinburgh New Philos. Journal, of which he is one of the editors. Author of a geological map of the U.S., and a chart of the arctic regions in the "Physical Atlas;" and, in conjunction with W. and A. K. Johnston of Edinburgh, pub. a geological atlas of the U.S., 1861.

Rogers, HENRY J., electric telegr. engineer, and inventor of the marine signals, b. Baltimore, Md., 1811. Has pub. "Telegr. Diet and Seaman's Signal Book," 8vo, 1845; "Sema-phoric Signal-Book," 1847; "Code of Marine Signals," 1854. With W. F. Larkins edited "Rogers's Commercial Code of Signals for All Nations," 8vo, 1859. — Autobio.

Rogers, JAMES BRYAN, M.D. (U. of Md. 1822), chemist and physician, eldest son of Dr. P. K. Rogers, b. Phila. Feb. 22, 1803; d. there June 15, 1852. Prof. of chemistry in Washington Med. Coll., Baltimore; then in that of Cincinnati; then in the Franklin School of Phila.; and in 1847-52 filled the chair of chemistry in the U. of Phila. For several years he assisted in the chemical and geol. surveys of Va. and Pa. He pub. some valuable papers in the scientific journals, and was one of the editors of the last Amer. reprint of Turner's "Chemistry."

Rogers, JOHN, pres. of H. U. April 10, 1682, to his d. July 2, 1684; b. Coggeshall, Eng., Jan. 1631. H. U. 1649. Son of Rev. Nathaniel of Ipswich, and assisted in his pulpit, but afterward studied and practised physic.

Rogers, JOHN, chancellor, member Old Cong. 1775-6; d. Annapolis, Md., Oct. 1789.

Rogers, JOHN, sculptor, b. Salem, Ms., 30 Oct. 1829. He left school at 16; was two years in a dry-goods jobbing-house in Boston, and afterward took a trip to Spain. He then learned the trade of a machinist; made sketches in clay, and, after a brief visit to Europe in 1858-9, engaged as a draughtsman in a surveyor's office in Chicago. Here he modelled his "Slave-Auction," which he took to New York in D. C. 1859, where his "Picket-Guard," and other war-subjects, soon brought him both fame and money. He has admirably modelled small groups illustrating familiar subjects of daily life, and episodes of the camp and battlefield, and has a studio in New York. Among his best efforts are "The Returned Volunteer," "Sharpshooters," "Town Pump," "Union Refugees," "The Country Postmaster," "The Wounded Scout," and "The Home-Guard."

Rogers, NATHANIEL, minister of Ipswich from Feb. 20, 1639, to his d. July 3, 1655; b. Haverhill, Eng., 1598. Educated at Emanuel Coll., Camb. Son of Rev. John. He is often erroneously called a grand-son of John the martyr. He preached at Bocking in Essex, and next at Assington, Suffolk. Persecution drove him to N.E., where he arrived Nov. 16, 1636. Member of the synod of 1637. He pub. "Cause of God's Wrath against the Nation," 1644; and left in MS. a Latin Vindication of Cong. Church Govt. — N. E. Hist. and Gen. B., v. 122.

Rogers, NATHANIEL PLACODY, b. Plymouth, N.H., 3 June, 1794; d. Concord, N.H., 16 Oct. 1846. D.C. 1816. He studied and practised law, which he left in 1838 for the editorship of the anti-slavery Herald of Freedom. He wrote under the signature of "The Old Man of the Mountain" for the N. Y. Tribune. A vol. of his fugitive pieces was pub. Concord, 1847.

Rogers, RANDOLPH, sculptor, b. Va. Studied and practised a few years in Rome; became known in New York by his "Nydia," "Boy and Dog," "Angel of the Resurrection," and, returning to Rome after his marriage, executed a marble statue of John Adams (now at Mt. Auburn Cemetery), some good busts, and attractive ideal figures. His bass-reliefs for the doors of the new Capitol extension at Washington represent events in the life of Columbus. He has furnished designs for the Washington Monument at Richmond; and he has lately been employed upon memorial monuments for R. I. and Michigan. Among his smaller works, "Ruth" and "Isaac" are favorites. His last work, a colossal bronze statue of Lincoln, was unveiled at Phila. 22 Sept. 1871.

Rogers, MAJOR ROBERT, a famous partisan of the French war, b. Dumbarton, N.H., ab. 1730; d. Eng. ab. 1800. The son of an early H.-h. settler of D. He com. during the French war (1755-63) Rogers's Rangers, — a corps renowned for their exploits. March 13, 1758, with 170 men, he fought 100 French and 600 Indians; after losing 100, and killing 150, he retreated. In 1759 he was sent by Amherst from Crown Point to destroy the Indian village of St. Francis; which service he performed; 200 Indians were killed. In 1760 he was ordered

By Amherst to take possession of Detroit and other Western posts ceded by the French, which he accomplished. He next visited England, where he suffered from want until he borrowed the means to print his journal, and presented it to the king, whom 1765 appointed gov. of Michigan. Accused of plotting to plunder the fort, and join the French, he was sent in irons to Montreal, and tried by a court-martial. In 1766 he went to Eng. was presented to the king, but six weeks afterward was imprisoned for debt. He afterward, according to his account, to Dr. W. was at Dartmouth, fought 2 battles in August under the day. At the opening of the Royal In-service was such, that he was closely watched, and in 1775 Congress, whose prisoner he then was, released him on parole. Suspected by Washington of being a spy, he was seized in June, 1776, but, on being released by Congress, soon returned to the royal side, and in 1780, having been made honor, accepted the commission of colonel, and raised the "Queen's Rangers,"—a corps celebrated through the contest. Oct. 21, 1776, he narrowly escaped being taken prisoner at Mamaroneck by a party sent out by Fort Mifflin, and soon after went to Eng. He pub. a concise account of N. A., Lond. 1765, "Journals of the French War," 1765, 2 vols. at Concord, 12mo, 1841, and entitled "Romances of the French War," with the Life of Stark, and in 1766 the tragedy of "Pontiac." His Diary of the Siege of Detroit, &c., was published by F. B. High, 1860.

Rogers, ROBERT FRANK, M.D. U. of Pa., chemist and physician, bro. of James R., b. Baltimore 1814. On graduating, his experimental essay on Phosgene was pub. by request of the faculty. In 1844-52 he was prof. of chemistry in the U. of Va., then succeeded his bro. in this chair in the U. of Pa. He assisted in the geol. surveys of Va. and Pa. Beside articles on chemical subjects to scientific journals, he was assoc. with his bro. in the editing of Turner's "Chemistry," and has since published the reprint of Lehmann's "Physiologia Chemica." Several years dean of the medical faculty of the U. of Pa.

Rogers, GIL THOMAS J. author of biography of Thomas of Royal worthies, 1st ed. Lond. 1813; 4th ed. 1829; M. C. from Pa. 1818-24; b. Waterford, Ireland, 1781, came to America in 1784; d. N. Y. City, Dec. 7, 1842. Edited a political paper.

Rogers, WILLIAM, D.D. Baptist clergyman, Newison, R. I., 22 July, 1791; d. Phila. 30 Mar. 1824. R. I. Col. 1769. Ord. in May, 1771, over the First Church, Phila., during the Pa. line of the Royal army in 1778; 81 years of age; res. in Phila. Col. in 1780-92, and in the U. of Pa. in 1792-1812; was "State Librarian" of the 1st Baptist Church, Phila., in 1803-5, and member of the gen. assembly in 1816-17, an officer and an active manager of the Gradual abolition Societies of Pa. and Md., of the Prison Soc. of Phila., &c. He pub. sermons, addresses, prayers on special occasions, a circular letter on Justification (1785), and one on Christian Missions.

Rogers, WILLIAM BARTON physicist and geologist, brother of James B. and R. E., b.

Phila. 1805. A. M. of H. U. 1866. He first lectured on science in the Md. Inst. in 1827; and in 1829 succeeded his father, Dr. P. K. Rogers, in the chair of nat. phil. and chemistry in Wm. and Mary Coll., in 1835-53 he was prof. of nat. phil. and geology in the U. of Va., but has since resided in Boston. He organized the geol. survey of the State of Va. in 1835, remaining at its head till 1842, publishing 6 vols. of reports. Author of a short treatise on the "Strength of Materials," 1838, on "Elements of Mechanical Philosophy," 1852, and of numerous papers in the Philos. and Soc. Journals of Great Britain and America, a vigorous promoter of scientific culture among the industrial classes. In the beginning of 1842 he delivered a course of lectures before the Lowell Institute, Boston, on the Application of Science to the Arts, and in April of that year was chosen prof. of the new Institute of Technology at Boston, which he was instrumental in organizing, and resigned in 1868 in old health.

Rogers, EVER WOODS an English navigator and buccaner. Came an expedition against the Spaniards in the South Sea, abt. 1709, appointed to the Bahamas in 1718; d. 1742.

Rolle, DESSIS of Devonshire, Eng.; d. 1797. He took his descent from Rolle, first duke of Normandy. In 1766 he purchased a whole district in Cal., which he possessed with 1,000 persons to people his new possessions, but, through the avarice and ill-will of the emigrants and the desertion of the se who escaped disease, he soon found himself without colonists and without money, and was compelled to work his passage back to Eng. in an American vessel. He then settled on his paternal estate, had a seat in the House of Commons, and filled the office of sheriff for the county; he devoted much of his time to the improvement of the cultivation of the "lowers" asses.

Rolph, JOHN A. artist and landscape engraver, Essex, Eng., 1799; d. Brooklyn, N. Y., 30 Mar. 1862. He came to the U. S. in 1833, and resided chiefly in New York. Uncle of Edward Mott, M. P., and father of Mrs. Clara M. Brinkhoff the singer. For Wick's "Explor. Exped." some fine specimens of his talent may be found.

Rolphe, JOHN, M.D. an eminent Canadian physician, b. Eng. 1786; d. Toronto, 19 Oct. 1870. Came to Canada at an early age. He took an active part in the insurrection of 1837, and, being obliged to fly, lived in Russia some years, and also in the U. S. Returning to Canada after the amnesty, he practised law and medicine, was a member of the Canadian parliament, and to edit the People's Standard of Montreal, now the moderator of Victoria Col.

Roman, ASHORE ROBERT gov. of La. 1836-4 and 38-41; b. St. Landry Parish, La., 1795; d. St. James Parish, La., Jan. 29, 1866. His ancestors were from Providence. In 1818 he was chosen to the legis., was frequently re-elected, was 4 years speaker, judge of St. James Parish in 1826-8, again member and speaker of the House, 1828-30, president of the convention which passed the ordinance of secession, which he opposed. With John Forsyth and Martin J. Crawford, he was app. by the Confed. provis. gov. to confer with the gov. of the U.S. at Washington. He took no further part in public affairs.

ROMANS, BERNARD, engineer, b. Holland; d. ab. 1784. In early life he removed to Eng., where he studied eng., and was employed by the British govt. in America some time before the R. vol. Subsequently, while in its employ as a boatman in N.Y., and engaged in the publication of a "Natural History of Florida," he was offered a position as military engr. by the N.Y. com. of safety. In this capacity he submitted to Congress (Sept. 18, 1775) plans for fortifying the Highlands opposite West Point. Col. Romans remained in service (capt. Pa. Art. Feb. 8, 1776) until near the close of the war, when he was captured at sea by the British, en route from New London to Charleston. He was taken to Eng., and in 1784 embarked for America, but is supposed to have been murdered on the passage. He pub. in 2 vols., 1778-82, "Annals of the Troubles in the Netherlands during the Accession of Charles V.," vol. i. dedicated to Gov. Trumbull; "Map of the Seat of Civil War in America," 1775; "Combat Pilot for the Gulf Passage," &c., 8vo, 1779.

ROMAYNE, NICHOLAS, M.D., b. Hackensack, N.J., Sept. 1756; d. N.Y. City, July 21, 1817. He studied med. at Dr. Peter Wilson, and completed his med. education at Edinburgh; pub. a dissertation, "De Generatione Paris." He spent 2 years in Paris, and also visited Leyden, returning ab. 1782 to N. York, where he commenced his professional career. He gave private lectures on anatomy, and taught many professional branches with great success, but relinquished this pursuit, and again visited Europe. Having embarked in the scheme of Blount's conspiracy, he was for a time incarcerated. He was first pres. of the N.Y. Medical Society in July, 1806, and in 1807 was made first pres. of the Coll. of Phys. and Surgs., which he had been active in founding. He gave instruction in that institution in anatomy and the institutes of medicine.

ROMEYN, JOHN BRODHEAD, D.D. (N. J. Coll. 1800), Presb. clergyman, b. Marlbtown, N.Y., 8 Nov. 1778; d. Feb. 22, 1825. Son of Rev. Theodor R. Columb. Coll. 1795. Licensed to preach in 1798; was from 1799 to 1800 pastor of the D. Ref. church at Rhinebeck; was transferred to the church in Schenectady; was 4 years pastor of the Presb. ch. in Albany; and from 1808 until his death was the first pastor of the church in Cedar St., N.Y. He was an eloquent and impressive preacher. A coll. of his sermons was pub. in 2 vols. 8vo, 1816. — See supra.

ROMEYN, THEOPHORE DIRK, D.D., bro. of the preceding, prof. of theol. in the Returned Dutch Church, b. Hackensack, N.J., Jan. 23, 1741; d. Schenectady, Apr. 16, 1804. N.J. Coll. 1765. Ord. over the Dutch church in Ulster Co. May 14, 1766; was afterwards installed at Hackensack until his removal to the church in Schenectady in Nov. 1784. He was twice elected the president of Queen's Coll., N.Y., and was for a considerable time a prof. of theol. It was chiefly by his efforts that Un. Coll. was founded at Schenectady.

RONKENDORFF, WILLIAM, capt. U.S.N.,

b. Pa. Nov. 9, 1812. Midshipm. Feb. 17, 1832; lieut. June 28, 1843; com. June 29, 1861; capt. Sept. 27, 1866. Attached to the Pacific squad. during the Mexican war; com. steamer "M. W. Chapin," Paraguay exped., 1850; com. steamer "Water-Witch," 1861; com. steamship "San Jacinto," N. Atl. block. squad., 1862; in battle of Sewell's Point, and capture of Norfolk, May, 1862; in E. Gulf block. squad., 1863; com. steamship "Powhatan," W. I. squad., 1863-4; com. ironclad "Tonawanda," 1865. — Humersly.

ROORBACH, ORVILLE A., many years a publisher in N.Y. and Charleston; d. N. York, June, 1861. He pub. Island-Horn American from 1820 to 1861.

ROOSEVELT, ROBERT B., pres. N.Y. Sportsmen's Club, b. New York, 1829. M.C. 1874-3; editor N. Y. Call, a Democr. print. Author of "Game-Fish of N. A.," 1865; "Superior Fishing," 1875; "Game-Birds of the N. States," 1866; "Five Acres Too Much," 1869. Editor of C. G. Halpine's writings, with a Memoir and Notes, 1869. — Isaacson.

ROOT, ERNEST, politician, b. Helbron, Ct., Mar. 16, 1773; d. New York, Dec. 24, 1846. Dartm. Coll. 1793. He taught school for a time, but studied law; and in 1796 settled at Delhi, now the capital of Del. Co., N.Y., and then in Orsego. In 1798 he was elected to the State assembly, and repeatedly re-elected afterwards. He was elected to Congress in 1803, 1-09, 1812, 1815, and 1831; was lieut.-gov. in 1822; and in 1839 was elected to the senate. He was an ardent disciple of Geo. Clinton in politics. He pub. "Address to the People," 1824.

ROOT, GEORGE FREDERICK, prof. of music, b. Sheldahl, Ms., 30 Aug. 1820. In 1826 his father removed to N. Reading. In 1838-43 he was a partner with A. N. Johnson as teacher of singing, and organist; in 1844-55 taught music in New York; and since 1860 has been a member of the well-known Chicago music-arm of Root & Cady. He has composed the cantatas, "Flower-Queen," "Daniel," "Pilgrims-Fathers," "Haymckes," and "B. Ishazzar's Feast;" "Hazel Dell," "Rosalie the Prairie-Flower," "B. the Cry of Freedom" (1862), and other popular songs; has edited "Singer's Manual," 1849; with J. E. Swetser, "A Coll. of Church Music," 8vo, 1849; "Academy Vocalist," &c., 1852; "Young Ladies' Choir;" "Musical Album;" "Young Men's Singing-Book," with L. Mason, 1855; "Sabbath Bell," 1856; "Festival Glee-Book," 1857; "The Shawm;" "The Diapason," 1860; "School for the Melodeon, Harmonium, and Cabinet Organ," 1863; "The Bugle-Call," 1863; "The Cornet," 1865; "The Musical Curriculum," 1865; "Silver Lute;" "The Forest Choir;" "The Triumph," 1868.

ROOT, JESSE, jurist, b. Coventry, Ct., Jan. 1737; d. there Apr. 5, 1822. N.J. Coll. 1756. He preached ab. 3 years; but in 1761 was admitted to the bar. Residing at Hartford, Conn. in 1777 he raised a company, with which he joined Washington's army at Red-Bank, and was made a lieut.-col. He was a deleg. to Congress in 1778-83; was app. judge of the Sup. Court in 1789; chief justice from 1796 to 1807; was afterward a member of the legisl.; member of the Amer. Acad. and of the Ct. Acad. of Arts and Sciences. He pub. in 1798 Reports of Cases adjudged in the Court of Errors of Ct. July, 1789-June, 1793, and a second vol. 1802.

Rosas, Don Juan Manuel Ortiz de, dictator of the Arg. Repub. b. Buenos Ayres 1793. Son of a wealthy land owner, he lived with the passions of the pumps, and imbibed the sanguinary tastes which afterward developed into frightful cruelty. In 1829 Gov. Dorrego app. Rosas, his intimate friend, to the care of the rural districts, but was soon compelled to surrender to Rosas, who the next month, for 23 years, ruled despotically the Argentine Confederation. He reduced the hostile Indian tribes of the interior, and succeeded in uniting the whole of the Plata-river States into the Argentine Conf'd. in 1835. He often repeated the disastrous fate of sending his resignation to the chamber of representatives, when every one knew that who so advocated its acceptance would be assassinated in 24 hours, as was Maza, pres. of that body. He exhibited energy and consistency in resisting the conditions which Eng. and France sought to impose upon him. Among his arbitrary acts was his attempt to impose upon the indep. repub. of Uruguay a law, whose term had expired. This act, and his impolitic conduct toward Brazil, with which empire he maintained hostilities for 5 years, hastened his downfall. Feb. 3, 1852, his fort. as having been destroyed at Monte Casero, Guayaquos from Buenos Ayres, Rosas fled to Eng. with his family, leaving the country to the mercy of Gen. Urquiza, his conqueror.

Rose, Aquila, poet, d. Phila. Aug. 22, 1725, a. 48. Franklin, in his Autobi. states, that on his first visit to Kimer the printer, he found him "composing an epy on Aquila Rose, an ingenious young man, of excellent character, see to the Assembly, and a pretty poet." His son Josiah, afterward apprentice to Franklin, pub. in 1740 "Poems on Several Occasions by Aquila Rose," a pamphlet of 53 pages. — Encyc.

Rosecrans, William Starke, brev. maj. gen. U.S.A. b. Kingston, O., 6 Dec. 1813. West Point, 1842. His father, a farmer and merchant, served under Harrison in the war of 1812 as an adj. of light horse. The son entered the eng'g corps, was assist. prof. of eng'g. at West Point 1843-4 and 1845-7, assist. prof. of mat. philos. 1844-5, had charge of the repairs at Ft. Adams, R.I. in 1847-53, and resigned from ill health 11 Apr. 1854. Civil eng'g. and architect, Cincinnati, O., 1854-5, sup't of Canal coal Co. 1855-7, maint. of Kossowatz, at Cincinnati 1857-91, and so largely famed by an explosion as to be confined to his bed 18 months. Vol. aide to Gen. McClellan in Ohio, Apr.-June, 1861, col. and chief eng'r. of Ohio, 9 June, 1861; col. 23d Ohio Vols. 10 June 1861, brig. 2d U.S.A. 15 May, 1861, com. brig. at West Va., June-July, 1861, and engaged at Rich Mountain 11 July, com. det. of Ohio, July-Sept. 1861 and of West Va. Sept. 1861-Apr. 1862 and engaged at Cranberry Ferry 10 Sept. 1861, com. a division at siege of Corinth, Miss., 22-30

May, 1862, com. Army of the Mid. June-Oct. 1862, defeating Gen. Price at Iuka 19 Sept. 1862, and Van Dorn and Prentiss Corinth 3 and 4 Oct. 1862, com. Army of the Cumberland, Oct. '62 to Oct. '63, Dec. '63 he won the sanguinary battle of Stone River, near Murfreesborough, Tenn. over Bragg's army. By great personal exertions he so that day checked the tide of a terrible disaster, reformed his army in the face of the attacking enemy, rolled back their victorious columns, and turned defeat into victory. The result of this battle was the rescue of Middle Tenn. and the secure possession of Ky., 24 June, 1863, major gen. in Va. in Tullahoma, occupied Bragg's port and Stevenson 24 July; crossed the Tenn. River 4 Sept. 1863, 19 and 20 Sept. fought the most costly battle of Chickamauga; and was relieved of his com. 30 Oct. 1863. From 28 Jan. to 9 Dec. 1864 he com. the dept. of Mo., during which time occurred the Prairie Path. Brev. maj. gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865, major gen. 21 Mar. 1862; resigned 28 Mar. 1867. Minister to Mexico in July, 1868, but was recalled a few months later. — See Life of A. A. Phelps, month to 147, Life of A. A. Phelps, 12mo, 1868.

Rosier, James, "a gentleman employed in the voyage," pub. Lond., 1695, "A True Relation of the Most Prosperous Voyage, &c., of Capt. George Waymouth to Virginia." Repub. in Purchas, vol. iv.

Ross, Alexander, a British gen. b. 1742; d. Lond. Nov. 29, 1827. Ensign in the 50th Foot in Feb. 1760; he was in all the actions with the allied army in Germany after that date; became capt. in the 45th in May, 1775, and was in all the principal actions in the American war, during a great part of which he served as capt. of grenadiers, and in the latter part of it as adj. to Gen. Cornwallis; brev. maj. in 1781; a commissioner with Col. Dalrius, on the part of Cornwallis, to arrange the details of the surrender at Yorktown, afterwards served as dep. adj. gen. in S. Africa; thence went as adj. gen. to Gen. Dalrius while the Marquis of Cornwallis's com. in that country, and was present in every action that took place at that time. He attained the rank of gen. Jan. 1, 1812. Cornwallis's corresp. was pub. in 3 vols., 1859, by Charles son of Alex. Ross.

Ross, Edward C., LL.D. (Kon. Col.), 1849, prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. in the N.Y. Free Acad. 1848-51, b. Pa. 1801; d. N.Y. May 16, 1851. West Point, 1821; A.M. of Geney's Col. 1842. He left the army in 1839, after performing a famous service during the Florida war, and for 10 years acted as assist. prof. of math. at West Point, A. S. Prof. of math. in Kenyon Col., O., 1848-58. He translated Boscovich's Astron. from the French in 1831.

Ross, George, judge and poet, b. New-castle, D., 1739; d. Lancaster, Pa., July, 1779. Son of the possessor of the Lipsic church in New-castle. Commenced the study of the law at 17, and at the age of 18 read and established himself in practice at Lancaster in 1754. He was a representative in the Assembly of Pa. in 1768-70, and in 1774 he was elected to the first Gen. Congress at Phila., at the same time he was app. to report to the Assembly instructions for himself and his associates. In 1775 he drew up a reply to Gov. Penn's message, deprecating any action on the part of the Colony. A report on the measures necessary for putting the Colony and the city of Phila. in a state of defence was also from his pen. He signed the Decl. of Indep., but in Jan., 1777, was compelled, by indisposition, to resign his place in Congress. The inhabitants of Lancaster having voted him a piece of plate worth £150 on this occasion, he declined the present. The convention which assembled after the dissolution of the proprietary govt. app. Mr. Ross to prepare a decl. of rights. After acting as a successful mediator in difficulties with the Indians, he was app. a judge of the Court of Admiralty in April, 1779.

ROSS, JAMES, scholar, taught school at Chambersburg, Pa., 1766-1801, subsequently at Lancaster and Phila.; and was prof. of languages in Dick. Coll., Pa. Author of Latin and Greek grammars, and other text books in those languages; of Latin poems in the newspapers, and an Ode to the memory of Dr. C. Nesbet. — Hist. Magazine, 1862.

ROSS, JAMES, statesman, b. York Co., Pa., July 12, 1762; d. near Pittsburg, Nov. 27, 1847. Educated at Peppera under Rev. Dr. Robert Smith. He taught at Camonsburg the first classic school opened in the West; afterward studied law in Phila.; was adm. to the bar in 1784; rose to distinction in the profession; m. a lady of fortune, and devoted himself to politics. He was prominent in the State Const. Conv. of 1790; an able defender of the Federal Const.; was a U.S. senator in 1794-1803, and one of the leaders of the Federal party. He was one of the commiss. from Congress to the Whiskey Insurgents. He pub. "Speech on the 13th Navigation of the Mph.," 1803.

ROSS, SIR JOHN, arctic explorer, b. Scotland, 24 June, 1777; d. London, 30 Aug. 1856. Entering the royal navy in 1786, he attained the rank of rear-adm. in 1834, having been 13 times sworn to. He began his arctic voyages in 1828 with Capt. Parry; was similarly engaged in 1829-33; and in 1850 went in search of Sir John Franklin in a small vessel of 60 tons, remaining one winter in the ice. Author of a "Voyage of Discovery," 2 vols. 1819; "Narrative of a Second Voyage," 2 vols. 1850. His nephew Sir James Clark Ross, also devoted to his arctic explorations, d. 3 April, 1862. Author of "Voyage of Discovery in the Southern Antarctic Regions," 1847.

ROSS, JOHN (KOOVLE-KOOVLE), a Cherokee chief, b. Oct. 4, 1760; d. Washington, D.C., Aug. 1, 1806. He was a half-breed and at an early age acquired a good English education. He became principal chief of the Cherokee in 1828. The proceedings of the Ga. legis. for the 11th Nov. 1, in 1829, led to an appeal on the part of the Cherokees, Ross going as their agent to the U.S. Sup. Court, which resulted in a decision in their favor. Georgia, however, refused to obey, and aggressions upon the Indians increased. In 1830 a treaty was concluded between U.S. Sen. Calhoun, in agent of the U.S., and Major Ridge, Miss. John Ridge, and about 300 of the Cherokees, to give up to surrender their lands and remove West within

2 years. Against this treaty, known as that of New Echota, Ross and over 15,000 of his tribe protested. The govt., however, sent a force under Gen. Scott to compel its fulfilment; and the Indians, with Ross at their head, removed to their new home, a moderate allowance being made them for their losses by the govt. In 1861, Ross, after some hesitation, entered into a treaty with the seceding States. At the time of his death, he was urging the claims of his tribe for losses during the war. He pub. "Letter to a Gentleman of Phila.," 1836.

ROSS, ROBERT, an English maj.-gen., b. Ross Trevor, Devonshire, Eng.; killed at North Point, 12 Sept. 1814. Trinity Coll., Dublin. Disting. as an officer of the 20th Foot in Holland and Egypt; was a lieut.-col. at Manda; was in the campaign of Corunna, under Sir John Moore; and com. a brigade at the battles of Vittoria and the Pyrenees, and was wounded at Orthez. Selected by Wellington to com. the corps sent against Washington, he defeated the U.S. troops at Bladenburg; entered the city of Washington 24 Aug. 1814, and burned and sacked it; and, while leading the advance in the direction of Baltimore, was killed by a rifleman.

ROSSITER, THOMAS P., painter, b. New Haven, Ct., Sept. 29, 1818. He began to study with Josephyn, and in 1838 commenced portrait-painting. He was in Europe 1840-6, studying chiefly in Rome; and in Paris in 1853-6, where he obtained a gold medal in the Exposition of 1855. Since 1860 he has resided at Cold Spring, Hudson Highlands. He became an academician in 1849. He has painted a number of scriptural pieces, among them "Miriam," "The Jews in Captivity," and "Nash;" also "Joan of Arc in Prison," "House of Washington," "Representative Merchants," &c.; and has lately been engaged upon a series of compositions on the life of Christ. Died 1871. — Artisan.

ROST, PIERRE A., jurist, b. France, ab. 1797; d. N Orleans, Sept. 6, 1848. He received an academic and scientific education at Paris, where he was a pupil of the Polytechnic School. Emigrating to the Red river dist. ab. 1824, he began to practise law, soon became conspicuous at the bar, and, removing to St. Charles parish, became an extensive and prosperous planter. In 1845 he was placed upon the bench of the Supreme Court, where he ranked among the foremost jurists of the State. Commis. to Spain under the Confed. government.

Rostaing, JUST ANTOINE HENRI MARIE, Marquis de, a French lieutenant, b. Valenciennes, Nov. 24, 1749; d. 1825. He was at first assigned to Louis XV.; made the campaigns of 1792 in Germany as captain of cavalry, of 1793 in America (1780-3) as col. successively of the regts. of Auxerres and of Carmaux. His conduct in this war, and particularly at the siege of Yorktown, procured him the cross of St. Louis, that of Cincinnati, and the grade of marshal-de-camp in 1783. Dep. to the states-general; sec. of the national assembly, Oct. 13, 1789; and then a member of the military com.; but detached himself from the party which was

ROTHMEL, ...
 ...
 ...

Rothermel, ...

...
 ...
 ...

Rottenburg, ...

...
 ...
 ...

Rouquette, ...

...
 ...
 ...

Roux, ...

...
 ...
 ...

...
 ...
 ...

Rousseau, ...

...
 ...
 ...

Rowan, ...

...
 ...
 ...

Rowan, ...

...
 ...
 ...

ness in Savannah. He was subsequently collector at Saubury, Ga., where he cultivated a small farm. Entering the army again in 1790 as capt. 1st Inf., he served under Harmar in the North west; became maj. of cav.; resigned in 1794; afterward traded to the W. Indies, and was last heard of as having embarked for France to enter its military service.

Ruffin, EDMUND, pres. Va. Agric. Soc., b. Prince Edward Co., Va., 1794; d. by his own hand near Danville, Va., June 17, 1865. He pub. "Essay on Calcareous Manures," 1831; "Report, &c., Agric. Survey of S.C.," 8vo, 1843; "Essays and Notes on Agric.," 8vo, 1855. Also editor Furrow's Register, 1833-42, 10 vols., and other agric. periodicals, and of the Westover Manuscripts, by William Byrd, 8vo, 1841. He was a noted secessionist, fired the first gun at Fort Sumter, and committed suicide because he would not live under the U.S. government.

Ruffner, HENRY, D.D., LL.D., many years pres. of Lexington Coll., Va.; d. at his residence in Kanawha, Va., Dec. 17, 1861, a. 72. Author of an argument against the continuance of slavery in Va.; "The Fathers of the Desert," 2 vols. 12mo, 1850; "Judith Bunsaddi," a romance; discourse on Future Punishment, 1823; Inaug. Address, Lexington, Feb. 22, 1837.

Ruger, THOMAS H., col. and brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. N.Y. ab. 1833. West Point, 1854. Resigned 2d lieut. engr. 1 Apr. 1855; counsel-at-law, Jamesville, Wis., 1856-61; lieut.-col. 3d Wis. Vols. 29 June; col. 20 Aug. 1861; brig.-gen. 29 Nov. 1862; col. 33d U.S. Inf. 28 July, 1866. He served in the Shenandoah Valley in 1861-2; was at Cedar Mountain and Antietam; com. brigade of 12th corps at Chancellorsville; com. a division at Gettysburg; com. a brigade in 20th corps in Atlanta campaign, May-Nov. 1864; com. div. 23d corps in operations against Hood's army, and in operations in N. C. until Johnston's surrender; brev. maj.-gen. vols. 30 Nov. 1864 for battle of Franklin, Tenn., and brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A. 2 Mar. 1867 for Gettysburg. Trans. to 1st Inf. 15 Mar. 1869. — Caliban.

Ruggles, BENJAMIN, U.S. senator from O. 1835-38; b. Windham Co., Ct., 1783; d. St. Clairsville, O., Sept. 2, 1857. By keeping school in winter, he obtained the means for receiving a classical education; was adm. to the bar, removed to Marietta, O., but subsequently settled at St. Clairsville; and in 1810 was elected pres. judge of the C.C.P. for the third circuit. — Leviathan.

Ruggles, DANIEL, maj.-gen. C.S.A., b. Parre, Ms. 30 Jan., 1810. W. P., 73. Entering 5th Inf., he became 2d lieut. Feb. 18, 1836; 1st lieut. July 7, 1838; capt. June 18, 1846; served in the Florida war, was dist. at Palo Alto and La Pampa, and at the storming of Moina c. R. y., 14 Aug., and lieut. col. respectively for gallantry at Contreras and Churubusco Aug. 20, and at Chapultepec Sept. 13, 1847, and resigned May 7, 1861. Made brig.-gen. in the Confed. army in 1861; served in N. Orleans in the winter of 1861-2, and retreated thence with the forces under Gen. M. Lovell before the surrender of the city to Flag Officer Farragut; maj.-gen. in 1863; surrendered with Lee.

Ruggles, EDWARD, M.D., physician and artist, b. Fall River, Ms., 1817; d. Brooklyn, N.Y., 10 Mar. 1867. While studying medicine in Paris, he also acquired skill as an artist, and after his return had a large medical practice, amusing his leisure hours at the easel. About 1867 some of his pictures were exhibited; and the applause they received led him to devote himself to painting cabinet-pieces, which he produced with great rapidity, and which were highly popular.

Ruggles, SAMUEL BULKLEY, LL.D., b. Ct. 1800. Y.C. 1814. Adm. to the N.Y. bar 1821; member N.Y. legisl. 1838; canal commiss. 1839; pres. of the board 1840 and 1858; U.S. commiss. to Paris Exposition 1866, to Internat. Monetary Conference, Paris, 1867, Internat. Statist. Confer. at the Hague, 1869; has pub. many pamphlets on subjects of Law, Polit. Economy, and Education. — Albion.

Ruggles, TIMOTHY, lawyer, politician, and loyalist, b. Rochester, Ms., 11 Oct. 1711; d. Wilmot, N.S., 4 Aug. 1795. H.U. 1732. Son of Rev. Timo., min. of Rochester 1710-68. He practiced law successfully at Sandwich, and then at Harlowick; was a member of the Legisl. in 1736; and at the battle of Lake George in 1755 was a brig.-gen., and second in com. App. judge of C.C.P. in 1756, and was chief justice from 1762 until the Revol.; speaker of the Assembly in 1762-3; many years an influential member of that body; delegate to the Stamp-act Congress at N.Y. in 1765, and its pres., but refused to concur in its measures, and was reprimanded by the legisl. Adhering to the royal cause, he took refuge in Boston, where, in 1775, he endeavored, without success, to raise a corps of loyalists, and on the departure of the British troops accomp. them to Nova Scotia, and became one of the proprietors of the town of Digby. A wit, scholar, lawyer, he was rude in speech and manner, but was an impressive pleader and an able debater. In Mrs. Warren's dramatic piece, "The Group," he figures as Brigadier Hataill. — See Ward's Life of Warren; Salmon's Loyalists.

Rumford, SIR BENJAMIN THOMPSON, count, physicist and statesman, b. Woburn, Ms., March 26, 1753; d. Antwerp, France, Aug. 21, 1814. His emig. ancestor James came to N.E. ab. 1630, and settled in Charlestown, Ms. Receiving a common-school education, he entered a counting-house in Salem at the age of 13, and while thus engaged, and also in school teaching, employed much of his leisure in investigating medicine and physics, attending the lectures of Prof. Winthrop of H.U. He was a clerk in a store in Boston at the time of the massacre in March, 1770. He next taught an acad. in Rumford, now Concord, N.H., and in 1772 m. Mrs. Root, a wealthy widow of that place, and was made major of militia. This app. gave umbrage to older officers over whose heads he was placed, and was the origin of the persecution which afterward drove him into the British camp. He shared in the feelings of his countrymen, although not one of the intense patriots of the day, and tried in vain to obtain a commission in the Cont. army. He was charged with disaffection, driven from his home, and afterwards from his step-father's residence in Woburn. He had a public hearing at Woburn, and, though not condemned, was not fully acquitted. Oct. 10, 1775, he left the Amer. lines, and after the fall of Boston was sent to Eng. by Gen. Howe with despatches. Employed by Lord Geo. Germaine, sec. of state for the Colonies, he became in 1780 under-sec.; on the retirement of Germaine, he returned to America, raised in N.Y. "The King's American Dragoons," and was commissioned lieutenant-col.; Feb. 24, 1782, he succeeded, in the absence of Marion, in surprising his brigad.; then under Col. Horry, dispersing it, and destroying its stores. Returning to Eng. at the close of the war, he was knighted, and in 1784 entered the service of the Elector of Bavaria as aide-de-camp and chamberlain. Here he re-organized the military service, suppressed hazzary, and introduced numerous reforms; among others was the conversion of an old hunting-ground near Munich into a park, where, after his departure, the inhabitants erected a monument in his honor. For his services he was made a State councillor, lieutenant-gen., minister of war, and count, taking the title of Rumford, his old residence. His health becoming feeble, he made a tour in Italy; went to Eng. in Sept. 1793, where he was robbed of all his private papers, and original notes and observations on philosophical subjects. He pub. the record of his labors in Bavaria in a series of essays. He discovered the leading principles upon which fireplaces and grates for coal are constructed, and many other economies in the production and employment of heat, which he demonstrated to be only a mode of motion, — one of the great discoveries of the age. Returning to Bavaria in 1796, he was app. head of the council of regency during the absence of the elector, and maintained the neutrality of Munich during the war between France and Austria, and was made supt. of the gen. police. At the end of two years, his health failing, he fixed his residence in Eng., where he founded the Roy. Institution; in 1802 he fixed his residence in Paris; and in 1804 m. the widow of Lavoisier, but they soon separated. He passed the rest of his life in philosophical and chemical experiments. He contrib. a large number of papers to scientific journals; made discoveries in the strength of materials and the force of gunpowder, in light, heat, and illumination; instituted prizes for discoveries in light and heat for the Roy. Soc. of Lond. and the Amer. Acad. of Sciences, of which he himself received the first on the former subject from the Roy. Soc.; and he bequeathed to H. U. the funds by which was founded its professorship of the application of science to the art of living in 1816. He left by his first wife a dau., who bore the title of comtess, and who resided in Concord, where she d. in 1852. Mad. Lavoisier d. Paris, Feb. 10, 1836, a. 81. His essays were pub. 3 vols., svo, 1796; Philosophical Papers, svo, 1802. Hi-Life by Rev. Geo. E. Ellis, D.D., to accomp. a complete edition of his works, to be issued in 4 vols., svo, was pub. svo, Boston, 1871.

Rumsey, James, inventor, b. Bohemia Manor, Cecil Co., Md., 1743; d. London 23

Dec. 1792. In Sept. 1784 he exhibited on the Potomac a boat which was propelled against the stream by machinery. Washington witnessed and certified to the fact. In Mar. 1786 he propelled a boat on the Potomac by a steam-engine and machinery of his own making, and obtained a patent in Va. in 1787. In 1788 the Rumsey Society, of which Franklin was a member, was formed in Phila. to aid him. He went to London, where a similar body was formed, a boat and machinery built for him; and he obtained patents in Great Britain, France, and Holland. A successful experiment was made on the Thames in Dec. 1792; and he was preparing another when his death occurred. In 1839 the Ky. legisl. presented a gold medal to his son, "commemorative of his father's services and high agency in giving to the world the benefit of the steamboat." He pub. a "Short Treatise on the Application of Steam," 1788. He made important improvements in mill-machinery about 1784.

Runkle, John Davill, Ph. D. (Ham. Col. 1870), LL.D. (Wesl. U. 1871), physicist, b. Root, Montg. Co., N.Y., 11 Oct. 1822. Law, Sci. School, Camb., 1851. He worked on his father's farm until 21, then studied and taught until he entered the Sci. School in 1848. A. J. p. in 1849 assist. in the prep. of the "American Ephemeris and Naut. Almanac," with which he is still connected. In 1856 he pub. in the "Smithsonian Contribs." "New Tables for determining the Values of the Coefficients in the Perturbative Function of Planetary Motion," &c.; and founded the Mathem. Monthly, of which 3 vols. were issued (1859-61). Elected in 1865 prof. of mathematics and analytic mechanics in the Ms. Institute of Technology, acting-pres. in 1868, and pres. in 1870.

Rupp, Isaac Daniel, writer on agric. history, &c., b. near Harrisburg, Pa., 10 July, 1803. Publisher of "The Wandering Soul," transl. from the Dutch, 1833; Pfeiffer's "Voyages and Captivity in Algiers," 1836; "Practical Farmer," 1837. Author of "History of the Religious Denominations of the U.S.," 1844; histories of Lancaster Co., svo, 1844; Berks and Lebanon, svo, 1844; York Co., svo, 1845; Northampton, Lehigh, Carbon, Monroe, and Schuylkill, &c., svo, 1845; Dauphin, Cumberland, Franklin, &c., svo, 1845; Northumberland, Huntingdon, Mifflin, &c., svo, 1847; "Early History of Pennsylvania and the West," svo, 1846. — See for complete list of his publications Hist. Man., Feb. 1871.

Ruschenberger, William S. W., M.D. (U. of Pa. 1830), naturalist and author, b. Cumberland Co., N.J., Sept. 4, 1807. He was educated in New York and Phila.; studied medicine; became a surgeon in the U.S.N., and between 1826 and 1834 made two voyages in the Pacific; from March, 1835, to Nov. 1837, he was fleet-surgeon for the E. India squadron which circumnavigated the globe. While in charge of the U.S. naval hospital at Brooklyn, N.Y. (1843-7), he organized the naval laboratory for supplying the service with unadulterated drugs. After again visiting the E. India, in 1848, he was in 1849 made a member of the board to draw up plans and regulations for the U.S. Naval Acad. In Oct. 1854 he sailed as surgeon of the Pacific squadron; retired with rank of commodore 4 Sept. 1869. Among his works are, "Three Years in the Pacific," 1834; "A Voyage round the World, including an Embassy to Muscat and Siam," 1838; "Elements of Natural History," 1850; "A Lexicon of Terms used in Natural History," 1850; "Notes and Commentaries during a Voyage to Brazil and China in the Year 1848," 1854; notice of the origin, &c., of the Phila. Acad. of Nat. Sciences, 8vo, 1852; besides numerous articles, on subjects connected with the navy, in the South-Sea-Messenger and Verona Review. He has written much on medical and scientific subjects in various periodicals. — Diob. Cal.

Rush, BENJAMIN, M.D. (Dipl. 1768), LL.D., physician, and sign'r of the Decl. of Indep., b. on Popponess Creek, near Phila., Dec. 24, 1745; d. Phila., Apr. 19, 1813. N. J. Coll. 1769. He studied medicine in Phila., Edinb., Lond., and Paris; began practice in Phila. in Aug. 1769, and was made prof. of chemistry in the med. coll. there; in 1789 he succeeded to the chair of the theory and practice of medicine; in 1791 was made prof. of the institutes and practice of medicine and clinical practice, and in 1795 received the additional chair of the practice of physic; he was also for many years a physician in the Pa. Hospital. In the provincial conference of Pa. he moved the resolution to express in form its sentiments on the subject of a Decl. of Indep.; was chairman of the com. to consider its expediency, and was elected to Congress in season to vote for that measure. In the same year he was n. to Julia, dau. of Richard Stockton of N. J., w. whod 7 July, 1848, a. 89. In Apr. 1777 he was made surg.-gen. of the middle dept.; and in July, 1777, phys.-gen. He wrote 4 letters to the people of Pa. on their constitution of 1776, which he considered very defective, and which was soon after superseded by a new form of govt. In Feb. 1778 he resigned his position in the army on account of wrongs done to the soldiers in regard to the hospital-stones. Resuming practice in Phila., he planned there, ab. 1785, the first dispensary in the U.S. In the S. C. controversy he was a firm supporter of the Federal Constitution; a member of the convention of Pa. to form a State constitution, and endeavored to procure the incorporation in it of laws upon public schools and a penal code, one of which he had previously written in some essays. During the prevalence of yellow fever in Phila. in 1793, Rush alone treated it successfully. Dr. Ramsay, in his eulogium upon Rush, estimating that he saved not fewer than 6,000 souls and obituary of Phila. from death. In a single day Dr. Rush visited and prescribed for a crowd of 100 patients. Cobbett, in his Vote for Adams, says that a student of Rush and his treatment of the disease, carrying his hostility so far, such an extent, that a suit was brought against Cobbett, and a verdict of $5,000 rendered against him. From the kings of Spain and Prussia, the queen of Etruria, and the emperor of Russia, he received marks of esteem for his medical character. Treasurer of the U.S. navy from 1799 until his death. From a part of his Journal written in his 17th year, and which he continued through life, we derive the only account of the yellow-fever of 1762 in Phila. His writings are numerous. Between 1789 and 1804 he wrote 5 vols. of "Medical Inquiries and Observations," which have been reprinted. His essays—literary, moral, and philos.—appeared in 1798, were revised in 1806; "Diseases of the Mind," 1812; at an early day he had pub. a vol. of "Medical Tracts," containing essays upon temperance, health, exercise, &c. Disting. for philanthropy and piety, and was one of the originators, and until his death vice-pres., of the Phila. Bible Society. His latest labors were upon a work to have been called "The Medicine of the Bible," which he did not live to complete.

Rush, JACOB, LL.D., many years pres. of the C. C. P. for Phila., b. 1746; d. there Jan. 5, 1820. Bro. of Dr. Benj. N. J. Coll. 1765. In Dickinson's controversy with Reed, he wrote on the side of the former. He pub. in 1803 "Charges on Moral and Religious Subjects;" "Character of Christ," 12mo, 1806; "Christian Baptism," 8vo, 1819; "Resolve in Committee Chamber," Phila. Dec. 6, 1774. RALPH CARRUTHERS, his dau., pub. "Kelry," a novel, 1812.

Rush, JAMES, M.D. (U. of Pa. 1809); physician, son of Dr. Benj., b. Phila. Mar. 1, 1786; d. there May 26, 1869. N. J. Coll. 1805. He achieved a high reputation as a physician, but later in life secluded himself among his books. Author of "Philosophy of the Human Voice;" "Hamlet, a Dramatic Prelude," 1834; "Analysis of the Human Intellect," 2 vols. 8vo, 1855; "Rhymes of Contrast on Wisdom and Folly," 8vo, 1869. He left about a million of dollars to the Phila. Library Company for the erection of the "Ridgeway Branch of the Phila. Library."

Rush, RICHARD, statesman and diplomatist, son of Dr. Benj., b. Phila. Aug. 29, 1780; d. there July 30, 1859. N. J. Coll. 1797. He studied law in Phila.; was adm. to the bar in 1800; attained considerable repute by his defence of Duane, editor of the Arcticon, on a charge of libel upon Gov. McKean; was app. atty.-gen. of Pa. in Jan. 1811; and in Nov. comptroller of the U.S. treasury; removing to Washington, he was from 1814 to 1817 atty.-gen. of the U.S.; was temporary sec. of state under Pres. Monroe in 1817; and in 1817-25 was minister to Eng., negotiating several important treaties, especially that of 1818 respecting our fisheries, north-eastern boundary, &c. In 1825 Pres. Adams recalled him, and made him sec. of the treasury; in 1828 he was candidate for vice-pres. on the same ticket with Pres. Adams; in 1829 he negotiated in Holland an advantageous loan for the corporations of Washington, Georgetown, and Alexandria; in 1835 he was with Gen. Howard app. a commiss. to adjust the boundary dispute between Ohio and Michigan; in 1836 Pres. Jackson app. him commiss. to obtain the Smithsonian legacy, then in the English court of chancery; he was successful, and in Aug. 1838 returned with the entire amount, $515,169. Minister to France 1847-51. While a member of Mr. Madison's cabinet, he wrote frequently and vigorously for the newspapers in defence of the war with England; and in 1833 wrote many able letters against the U.S. Bank. In 1815 he compiled an edition of the laws of the U.S.; in 1833 he pub. "Memoranda of a Residence at the Court of St. James;" in 1845 a second vol., "Comprising Incidents Official and Personal from 1819 to 1825;" "Washington in Domestic Life," 1857; and in 1860 a vol. of his "Occasional Productions."

Rusk, Gen. THOMAS J., U. S. senator 1846-56, b. S.C. 1802; d. Nacogdoches, Texas, July 29, 1856. He practised law with success in Ga. Removed to Texas in the early part of 1835; was a member of the conv. that declared Texas independent in Mar. 1836; was the first sec. of war; participated in the battle of San Jacinto, and took com. of the army after Gen. Houston was wounded, and until the organization of the const. govt. in Oct. 1836, when he was again app. sec. of war. He afterwards com. several exped. against the Indians; served in the legisl.; and as chief justice of the Sup. Court, which office he resigned early in 1842. In 1845 he was pres. of the convention that consummated the annexation of Texas to the U.S. — Linnæus.

Russ, HORACE P., inventor of the "Russ" payment, b. 1820; d. Halifax, N.S., 31 Dec. 1862. He had been for some time engaged in gold mining in Nova Scotia.

Russell, Col. BENJAMIN, a Boston mechanic and journalist, b. Sept. 13, 1761; d. Jan. 4, 1845. He learned the trade of a printer with Isaiah Thomas. Served in the Revol. army, and while thus occupied contrib. to the columns of the Sage, pub. at Worcester by Mr. Thomas. Establishing himself at Boston in the printing-business, Mar. 24, 1784, he commenced the pub. of the Columbian Centinel, a semi-weekly journal, which for a long period had no equal in controlling public sentiment. Himself a powerful writer, he was aided by contributions from Ames, Pickering, Calcut, Lowell, Higginson, and other writers of eminent talent in the State. He withdrew from the editorship Nov. 1, 1828. He was 24 years the representative of Boston to the General Court; several years in the State senate; was a member of the exec. council, and of the Const. Conv. of 1820; and for some years an alderman of Boston. His bro. JOHN, editor of the Boston Gazette, had a son, JOHN C., afterward named JOHN B. F. RUSSELL (b. Boston, Aug. 1800; d. Chicago, Jan. 7, 1861; West Point, 1818), attained rank of capt. Apr. 1830; resigned June, 1837; afterward a land-agent at Chicago.

Russell, DAVID ALLEN, brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Salem, N.Y., Dec. 10, 1820; killed in battle of Opequan, Va., Sept. 19, 1864. West Point, 1845. Son of David, M.C. of N.Y. 1835-41, who d. 24 Nov. 1861, a. 61. Brev. for gallantry at National Bridge and Cerro Gordo; capt. 4th Inf. 22 June, 1854; m. j. 8th Inf. Aug. 9, 1862; lieut.-col. 7th Ms. Vols. Apr. 1861; col. 31 Jan. 1862; served through the important battles of 1862-3; brig.-gen. Nov. 29, 1862; led the advance at the battle of Fredricksburg, and subsequently com. Howe's div. 6th corps; disting. at Gettysburg, and in Gen. Grant's campaign from the Rapidan to the James; was wounded in the assault on Rappahannock Station, Nov. 7, 1863; May 6, 1864, the second day's battle in the Wilderness, his coolness and bravery saved the 6th corps from destruction; May 9 he was put in com. of the 1st div. 6th corps, and was severely wounded at Cold Harbor; in July, 1864, he was transferred to the Army of the Shenandoah; brev. lieut.-col. for peninsular campaign; col. 1 July, 1-63, for Gettysburg; brig.-gen. for battle of Wilderness 6 May, 1864; and brev. maj.-gen. 19 Sept., 1864, for Opequan. — Callum.

Russell, JOSEPHAS, LL.D., lawyer and politician, b. Providence, R.I., 1771; d. Milton, Ms., Feb. 16, 1832. Brown U. 1791. Bred to the law, he embarked in the pursuits of commerce; but his taste leaned towards politics. He was several years minister-plenipo. at Stockholm from 1814; and was one of the five commissioners who negotiated the treaty of Ghent in that year. On his return to this country, he settled at Mendon, Ms., and was M.C. in 1821-3. He was a versatile, forcible, and elegant writer. With the exception of the 4th-of-July oration delivered in Providence in 1809, and also his diplomatic correspondence while in Paris, London, and Stockholm, Mr. Russell left no pub. evidences of his literary abilities.

Russell, RICHARD, came from Herefordshire, Eng. in 1640; d. Charlestown, May 14, 1676, a. 64. He was representative in 1645; speaker of the house 1618, '49, '54, '56, '58; assist. 1650-76; and treasurer of the Colony 1644-76. His son JAMES, b. Charlestown, Ms., 1 Oct. 1640, d. 23 Apr. 1709. He was a representative in 1679; assist. 1680-6; one of Pres. Dudley's council; member of the council of safety 1679, and a leader in the revol. movement of that day; councillor under the new charter 1692; also a judge and treasurer of Ms. 1630-6.

Russell, GLEN WILLIAM, Revol. officer, of Fincastle Co., Va. He was a gallant and chieftain officer at the battle of Point Pleasant, was a member of the Va. Const. Conv. of June, 1776; com. a Va. regt. during the Revol. war; and Nov. 8, 1783, was brev. brig.-gen. Revol. army. His son ROBERT, b. 1763, d. Calloway Co., Mo., 16 Jan. 1842, served with dist. in the Revol.; afterward served several years in the Va. legisl.; ab. 1792 settled near Lexington, Ky.; and in 1835 r. moved to Mo. He filled many important offices in Ky.

Russell, COL. WILLIAM, b. Va. 1755; d. Fayette Co., Ky., July 3, 1825. At the age of 16 he became a soldier in the Revol. army; was a lieut. in Campbell's regt. at King's Mountain, and rose to the rank of captain; he served in St. Clair's exped.; com. the advance under Gen. Scott; was lieut.-col. com. of a regt. of Ky. mounted volunteers, July, 2, 1793; served under Wayne in 1794; col. 7th Inf. May 3, 1803; com. exp. d. against the Indians at Pimertain-town, Oct. 1812; serving in all about 20 campaigns. He represented his county in both the Va. and Ky. legislatures.

Russell, WILLIAM, educationist, b. Glasgow, Scotland, Apr. 28, 1798. He studied at the U. of Glasgow, and in 1817 came to Savannah, Ga., where in 1819 he became the head of the Chatham Acad. In 1822-5 he taught was chairman of the com. which prepared the constitution of that State, and was without opposition elected pres. of the new govt. When Fort Moultrie was attacked by the British in June, Rutledge, against the advice of Gen. Lee, sent to it 500 lbs. of powder, and directed Moultrie not to evacuate it without an order from him; adding, "I would sooner cut off my right hand than write one." He resigned in 1778, but, on the approach of the British in 1779, was chosen gov., and clothed with dictatorial power. When in 1780 Charleston fell, Rutledge retired to N.C., and for nearly two years accomp. and aided the Southern army. He was elected to Congress in 1782, having retired from the governorship; was chosen chancellor of the State in March, 1784; and, while holding that office, became a member of the conv. for framing the Federal Constitution, in which he bore a prominent part, and in the State convention strongly supported its ratification. In Sept. 1789 he was app. an assoc. judge of the U.S. Supreme Court, which office he resigned in 1791, when he was elected chief justice of S.C. In July, 1795, Washington app. him chief justice of the U.S., and he presided at the succeeding term of the Supreme Court; but the senate, on assembling in Decr., for political reasons refused to confirm the appointment. Previously, however, an attack of sickness had deprived Rutledge of his reason, in which condition he died. He was disting. for eloquence, decision of character, and integrity. His son Gen. JOHN, M.C. 1797-1803, d. Phila. Sept. 1, 1819, a. 53.

Ruxton, George Frederick, an English traveller, b. 1820; d. St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 29, 1848. At the age of 17 he left the military coll. of Sandhurst to enlist in the Spanish army against Don Carlos, and rendered valuable services. On his return to Eng. in 1839, he received a lieutenant's commission in the 89th, with which he went to Canada, but, soon resigning, spent some years among the Indians and trappers of the West, graphically depicted in his "Adventures in the Rocky Mountains and Mexico," and "Late in the Far West." He afterward made journeys to N. and S. Africa and to Mexico; and in 1848 again started from Eng. for the Rocky Mountains, but died on the way.

Ryder, James, D.D., a Catholic divine, and scholar, b. Dublin, Oct. 1800; d. Phila. Jan. 12, 1860. He came young to America; in 1813 entered the novitiate of the Society of Jesus, and for 5 years studied at Georgetown Coll.; in 1820 he went to Rome, where he studied theology 5 years. After his ordination in 1825, he was a teacher of theology and the Scriptures in the Coll. of Spoleto for three years; returned to America, and was for several years vice-pres. of Georgetown Coll. In 1839 he was pastor of the cong. of St. Joseph's Church, Phila., and afterward of St. John's Church, Frederick, Md. From 1840 to 1845, and from 1848 to 1851, he was pres. of Georgetown Coll.; and from 1846 to 1848, pres. of the Coll. of the Holy Cross at Worcester, Ms. He was exceedingly popular as a lecturer and pulpit orator. A contrib. to the "Encyclopaedia Americana;" and some of his discourses have been printed. — Hist. Magazine, iv. 94.

Ryerson, Anthonis Gallus, D.D., (West, F. 1842), LL.D., clergyman and educationist, b. Charlottesville, V.C., March 24, 1803. His father Col. Joseph was a half-pay officer in the British service in the Amer. Revol., and emigrated to N. Brunswick, and afterward to Canada in 1793. The son became a teacher; in 1825 was ord. deacon in the M. E. Church of Canada, and for the 4 years following officiated as an itinerant minister; in 1829, after that church became independent, he aided in establishing, and for some years edited the Genevieve, its official organ; in 1841 he was app. principal of the V. of Colong; app. in 1844 supt. of public schools for Upper Canada, now (1871) pres. Victoria Coll. The year 1845 he spent in the U.S., studying the methods of public elementary education. In 1849 he pub. a report of his tour, and prepared the bill which now forms the basis of the Upper-Canada common-school system. Dr. Ryerson has prepared a history of Canada and of the "United-Empire Loyalists."

Sabin, Joseph, bibliographer, b. Brunswick, Eng., 1821. Some years a bookseller in Oxford, and since 1848 in New York. In 1867 he began to pub. in parts a dictionary of books relating to Amer.; has reprinted a number of rare American works, and contrib. to various periodicals. The "Amer. Biographical" was begun by Sabin & Sons, L.J. in 1849. — Albany.

Sabine, Lorenzo, hist. writer (son of Elijah H.), b. Lisbon, N. H., Feb. 28, 1802. Self-educated. He was bred a merchant; was for many years a bank-officer, and subsequently sec. of the Boston Board of Trade; three times a member of the Me. legisl. from Eastport; was at one time dep. coll. of the port of Passamaquoddy; has held in Ms. the position of agent of the U.S. treas. dept., and was M.C. in 1851-3. Author of a "Late of Commodore Preble," 1847, in "Sparks's Amer. Biog.;" "The American Loyalists," enlarged to 2 vols. 1844; "Report on the Fisheries," 1851; and "Notes on Duels and Duelling," 1855; and has been a contrib. to the N. J. Review and to the Chas. Examiner. The degree of A.M. was confer. ed upon him by Bowd. and Harv. Colleges. Sept. 13, 1859, he delivered an address on the 100th anniv. of the death of Gen. Wolfe, before the N.E. Hist. and Geneal. Soc., Boston; pub. soon after with notes. — Resides in Boston.

Sacket, De los B., brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. N.Y. West Point, 1845. Entering the 2d Dragoons, he served in Mexico, and was bry. for Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma; capt. 1st Cav. 3 Mar. 1855; maj. 31 Jan. 1861; lieut. coll. 2d Cav. 3 May, 1861; col. and insp.-gen. 1 Oct. 1861. He served through the Peninsular and Md. campaigns on McClellan's staff, and on that of Gen. Burnside at the battle of Fredricksburg; and was brev. brig. and maj.-gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865. — Caliban.

Sadlier, Mary Ann (MADEN), authoress, b. Coonchill, Cavan Co., Ireland, Dec. 31, 1820. At an early age she began to contribute to The Bow Association in London. After the death of her parents, she with a younger bro. settled in Moorfield where she pub. "Tales of the Olden Time." In 1846 she m. Mr. James Sadlier, Catholic publisher, and now resides in N.Y. She has written Catholic tales, and contrib. to leading Catholic papers in America. — See list of her works in Kelley's Amer. Cat. of Books, 1866.

Saffold, REUBEN, jurist, b. Wilkes Co., Ga., Sept. 4, 1788; d. Dallas Co., Ala., Feb. 15, 1847. After practising law in Ga., he in 1813 removed to Jackson, Ala., where, during the Indian troubles, he com. a vol. company, serving also several times in the Terr. legisl. of Mpi.; was in 1819 in the State Const. Comy.; in Dec. 1819 was app. one of the circuit judges, becoming also a member of the Supreme Court. In 1832 was one of the 3 judges app. to the Supreme bench, of which, in 1835-6, he was chief justice.

Safford, THOMAS HENRY, mathematician and astronomer, b. Royalton, Vt., 6 Jan. 1836. H. U. 1854. His youthful precocity was remarkable. In his 9th yr. he could multiply mentally four figures by four figures as rapidly as it could be done with slate and pencil, and could also extract the square and cube roots of 9 or 10 places of figures. His first almanac was prepared in 1845, at the age of nine and a half years. At 14 he astonished the learned world by the production of the elliptic elements of the first comet of 1843. By a method of his own, young Safford abridged the labor of calculating moon risings and settings by one-fourth, and that of calculating eclipses by one-third. He required the longest and most difficult question to be read to him but once, and his answers were usually given without effort or fatigue. Prof. Pierce said of him in 1846, that his knowledge and the capacity to acquire it "is accompanied with powers of abstraction and concentration rarely possessed at any age except by minds of the highest order." In Mar. 1863 he was made adjunct observer at the Cambridge Observatory, acting director in Feb. 1865; and 28 Dec. 1865 he became director of the Chicago Observatory, which post he yet holds. In 1863 he determined the right ascension of 1,700 stars, and the declination of 450. In 1865 he observed over 6,000 transits, an extensive series of which, commenced in 1862, is completed. After the death of Prof. G. P. Bond, 17 Feb. 1865, the incomplete report of his valuable discoveries in the constellation of Orion was written out in full by Mr. Safford constituting the 5th vol. of the Annals of the Observatory. — See Ladies' Repos., Chm., 1849, for acc. of the det. examinations of young Safford of a number of his life.

Safford, WILLIAM H., b. Parkerburg, Va., 1821; in 1848 removed to Chillicothe, O.; member Ohio senate 1858-60. Author of "Life of Blennerhassett," 12mo, 1850; "The Blennerhassett Papers," svo, 1864. — Allibone.

Sahagun de (sá-sá-goon'), BERNARDINO, a Franciscan friar, b. Sahagun, Spain; a missionary to Mexico in 1529; d. 1590. Author of a valuable history, "Historia Universal de Nueva España," first pub. in Mexico in 1599.

St Clair, ARTHUR R., maj.-gen. Revol. army, b. Thurso, Caithness, Scotland, 1734; d. Greensburg, Pa., 31 Aug. 1818. U. of Edinb. Grandson of the Earl of Roslyn. He studied medicine with the celebrated John Hunter in London, but, inheriting a large sum of money on the death of his mother, purchased an ensigncy 60th Foot, 13 May 1757; came in Boscawen's fleet to Amer. in 1758; served under Amherst at the taking of Louisburg; was made a lieut. 17 Apr. 1759; and was disting. under Wolfe at Quebec. May 14, 1760, he m. at Boston Phebe, dau. of Balthazar Bayard and Mary Bowdoin, a half-sister of Gov. James Bowdoin. Resigned his com. 16 Apr. 1762, and in 1764 settled in the Ligonier Valley, Pa., where he erected mills and also a fine residence. App. in 1770 surveyor of the Dist. of Cumberland; a justice of the Court of Quarter Sessions and of C. C. P., and a member of the proprietary council; in 1771 a justice, recorder, clerk of the orphans' court, and prothonotary of Bedford, and in 1773 of Westmoreland County. In July, 1775, he became col. of militia, and in the fall accomp. us see the commiss. oners, James Wilson, Lewis Morris, and Dr. Walker, to treat with the Western tribes at Fort Pitt; col. 2d Pa. Regt. 3 Jan. 1776, ordered to Canada Feb. 16; joined Sullivan, and, after the disastrous affair at Three Rivers, aided that officer by his counsel in saving his army from capture; brig. gen. 9 Aug. 1776; maj.-gen. 19 Feb. 1777. In Jan. 1776, St. Clair resigned all his lucrative civil offices. Joining Washington in Nov. 1776, he was at once app. to organize the N. J. militia. He recommended in council on the night of 2 Jan. 1777 the flank movement which brought on the battle of Princeton, at which he rendered valuable service by protecting the ford of Assunpink. After performing for a short time the duties of adj.-gen. of the army, he in March succeeded Gates in com. at Phila., and Apr. 4 took com. of Theodorica, which, on the night of 4 July, he was obliged to evacuate, his force being wholly inadequate to its defence. A court-martial held in Sept. 1778 declared that "Maj.-Gen. St. Clair is acquitted with the highest honor of the charges against him." Though unemployed, in deference to the public clamor against him, he remained one of Washington's military family, acting as his vol. aide at Brandywine (Sept. 14, 1777); assisted Sullivan in preparing his exped. against the Six Nations; was one of the commiss. to arrange a cartel with the British at Amboy 9 Mar. 1780; Aug. 1 was app. to com. the corps of light inf. in the absence of Lafayette; was a member of the court-martial which condemned Maj. André; com. at West Point from Oct. 1; aided in suppressing the mutiny in the Pa. line in Jan. 1781; was active in raising and forwarding troops to the South; and in Oct. joined Washington, and participated in the capture of Cornwallis at Yorktown. In Nov. he was placed in com. of a body of troops to effect a junction with Greene, and remained in the South until Oct. 1782. Member of the Pa. council of censors 1783; delegate to Congress 2 Nov. 1785-28 Nov. 1787; pres. of that body 2 Feb.-28 Nov. 1787; chosen a member Amer. Philos. Soc. 1786; app. gov. N.W. Terr. 1 Feb. 1788; made a treaty with Indian tribes at Fort Harmar in 1789; Jan. 1790 he fixed the seat of justice of the Terr. at Cincinnati, giving it the name in honor of the soc. of which he was pres. for Pa. in 1783-9; app. gen.-in-chief of the army 4 Mar. 1791, he moved against the Indians of the Miami and the Walash, suffering so severely from gout as to have to be carried about on a litter. The proximity of the foe was communicated by the scouts on the night of Nov. 3 to Gen. Butler, 2d in com., but not to St. Clair. About sunrise on the morning of the 4th, an attack was made by the Indians; and, in spite of St. Clair's exertions, he was defeated, losing 600 men out of a force of 1,400. A com. of investigation, app. by Congress, after a thorough examination, completely vindicated him. He resigned his generalcy 5 Mar. 1792, and 22 Nov. 1802 he was removed from his governorship by Jefferson. Retiring to a small log-house on the summit of Chestnut Ridge, he passed the remainder of his days in poverty, vainly endeavoring to effect a settlement of his claims against the govt. The legisl. of Pa. in 1813 granted him an annuity of $400, and a short time before his death he received a pension from the govt. of $60 per month. He pub. a narr. of his campaign of 1791, with observations on the statements of the sec. of war, 1812. — A. T. Goodnow's Memoir, from St. Clair's papers.

St. Leger, COL. BARRY, a British officer; d. in 1789. He entered the army, Apr. 27, 1756, as ensign 28th Foot; accomp. his regt. to Amer. in 1757; served at the siege of Louisbourg in 1758 as capt. in the 4th, and afterwards under Wolfe at Quebec. In July, 1760, he was app. brigade major; became major of the 95th, Sept. 16, 1662; lieutenant-col. May, 1772; in May, 1775, was app. to the 34th Foot, and was sent soon after to Canada. He com. the unsuccessful exped. against Fort Schuyler in Aug. 1777, intended to co-operate with Burgoyne, when he held the local rank of brigadier, and became a col. in Nov. 1780.

Saint Simon (sân sê'môn'), CLAUDE ANNE, Marquis de, a Spanish gen., b. at the Castle of La Faye, France, 1743; d. 3 Jan. 1819. He studied at the school of artillery at Strasburg; disting. himself in Flanders; was made chief of brigade of the body-guard of the king of Poland in 1758; Jan. 2, 1770, brigadier; Sept. 12, Chevalier of St. Louis; Aug. 4, 1771, col. of the regt. of Poitiers, and of that of Touraine June 29, 1775. At the close of 1779 he sailed with his regt. for Martinique, and sustained during the voyage 3 actions with Rodney; Mar. 1, 1780, he entered the service of Spain as maréchal-de-camp, and was sent to America with a corps of 2,000 men, which he com. during the remainder of the war, receiving several wounds, and contrib. to the successful siege of Yorktown. A dep. to the sta. es-gen. in 1789; he returned to Spain, and at the affair of Irun received a ball through his neck; soon afterwards made lieutenant; he was again wounded by a ball in the breast while defending the position of Argensu; and in 1808, when the French attacked Madrid, defended it courageously, but was made prisoner, and condemned to death, which sentence was afterward commuted at the intercession of his dau. After the re-establishment of Ferdinand VII. in 1814, Saint Simon returned to Spain, and was made capt.-gen. and a grandee of Spain.

Saint Vallier (sân' vâ'le-â'), JEAN BAPTISTE DE LACROIX, CHEVRIÈRE de, second bishop of Quebec, b. Grenoble, Nov. 14, 1653; d. Quebec, Dec. 26, 1727. He was chaplain to Louis XIV. in 1684, when he was app. vicar-gen. by Bishop de Laval. He arrived in Canada July 30, 1685; returned to Paris in Nov. 1687; was consec. bishop of Quebec Jan. 25, 1688; and in Aug. returned to Canada. He founded the Gen. Hospital of Quebec; revisited France; and on his return to Canada, in July, 1704, was captured by the English, and remained prisoner until 1709. He pub. in Paris in 1688, "État présent de l'Église et de la Colonie Française dans la Nouvelle France," also pub. under the title of "Rélation des Missions de la Nouvelle France."

Salaberry, COL. CHARLES MICHEL, D'IRAMBERRY, Seigneur de Chambly et de Beauclair, a Canadian soldier, born at the Manor House of Beauport, Canada, Nov. 19, 1778; d. Chambly, Feb. 26, 1829. Son of a member of the legisl. council, and descended from a noble family of Navarre. Entering the army young, he served 11 years in the W. Indies; was at the conquest of Martinique in 1795; became aide-de-camp to Gen. de Rottenburg, and served in the Walcheren exped.; returning to Canada, he organized the Voltigeurs; repulsed Dearborn's forces at Lacolle, at the close of 1812; and at Châteauguay, Oct. 26, 1813, gained a decisive victory over Gen. Wade Hampton. For these services he received a gold medal, the order of the Bath, and the thanks of the prov. legisl. He was afterward a senator, at the same time entering the legisl. council as Monseigneur Plessis. — Morgan.

Salomon, GEN. FREDERICK, b. near Haberstadt, Prussia, Apr. 7, 1826. He received his early education at the gymnasium there; became a govt. surveyor; served in the Prussian art.; and in 1848 became a pupil in the Royal Berlin Acad. of Architecture. He soon after emigrated to the U.S. with his bro. Wm. (gov. of Wis. 1862-3); settled at Manitowoc, Wis., where he was a surveyor; was 4 years register of deeds, and chief engr. on the Manitowoc and Mpi. Railroad until 1859; in the spring of 1861 he became capt. in the 5th Mo. Vols., and served under Sigel in the battle of Wilson's Creek; col. 9th Wis. Vols. in Aug. 1861; brig.-gen. July 16, 1862, and assigned to a brigade in Kansas.

Salomon, HAYNE, financier, b. of Hebrew parents at Lissa, Poland, ab. 1740; d. Phila., 1785. Emig. to Amer. before the Revol., he established himself as a merchant and banker in Phila., and accumulated a large fortune, which he devoted to the use of the Americans during the war. He negotiated the war subsidies obtained from France and Holland; acted as paym.-gen. of the French forces in Amer. At the time of his death, the govt. was indebted to Mr. Salomon $400,000. His descendants have urged the claim, which has been several times favorably reported upon by committees of Congress.

Salnave, SILVAIN, pres. of the repub. of Hayti, b. city of Cape Haytien, 1832; executed at Port-au-Prince, Jan. 10, 1870. Entering the army as a common soldier, he was a capt.

of cavalry, when, in Dec. 1858, Geffard overthrew the emperor Soutouque. Salvage, though chiefly instrumental in this revolution, was rewarded only with the rank of maj. Azou's services were conspicuous in the repulse of the Spanish invading army; and, feeling himself aggrieved by the course of Geffard, he commenced a revolutionary movement, which drove the former from Hayti, and raised him to power in Mar. 1867. Another revolution, begun in Nov. 1869 by Domingue and Saget, resulted in his overthrow and death.

Salter, RICHARD, D.D. (Y. C. 1782), minister of Mansfield, Ct., from June 27, 1744, to his death, Apr. 14, 1787; b. Boston, 1723. H. U. 1739. He had studied both medicine and theology. He gave to Yale Coll. a farm worth $2,000 to promote the study of Hebrew and other languages.

Salter, WILLIAM D., commo. U. S. N., b. N. Y. 1794; d. Elizabeth, N. J., Jan. 5, 1869. Midshipm. Nov. 15, 1809; lieutenant, Dec. 9, 1814; master, Mar. 3, 1831; capt. Mar. 3, 1839; commo. (retired list) July 16, 1862. He served in "The Constitution" in her action with "The Guerrière," Aug. 19, 1812. Performed other gallant services; com. the Brooklyn navy-yard in 1856-9; and in 1863-6 was a commo. to examine vessels for the war department.

Saltonstall, PHELIX, commo. in the Continental navy, b. Sept. 8, 1728; d. 1796, in the W. Indies. Son of Gen. Gurlon S. Capt. of "The Alfred," in Hopkins's fleet, Feb. 1776.

Saltonstall, GIBBONS, elegyman, and gov. of Ct. from 1707 till his death, Oct. 1, 1724; b. Haverhill, Ms., Mar. 27, 1666. H. U. 1684. Ord. minister of N. London, Nov. 25, 1691. His father Col. Nathan was grandson of Sir Richard. He was disting. as an orator, divine, and statesman, and bequeathed to H. U. £1,000 to educate students for the ministry.

Saltonstall, GIBBONS, b. Dec. 22, 1708; d. Norwich, Ct., Sept. 19, 1785. Y. C. 1725. Made brig.-gen. Ct. forces 10 Sept. 1776; discharged 7 Oct. 1779 for misconduct in the Penobscot expedition.

Saltonstall, LEVERETT, LL.D. (H. U. 1808), lawyer and scholar, b. Haverhill, Ms., June 13, 1783; d. Salem, May 8, 1845. H. U. 1802. Son of Dr. Nathaniel. Educated at Phillips Acad. and at H. U. Commenced the practice of law at Salem in 1805, and soon secured a large and profitable business. State senator in 1831; mayor of Salem 1836-8; M. C. 1838-43. Member of the Ms. Hist. Soc. as well as of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences. In his will he made provision for increasing the libraries of Phillips Acad. and H. U. Author of an "Hist. Sketch of Haverhill," in Ms. Hist. Colls., iv., 24 series.

Saltonstall, SIR RICHARD, one of the fathers of Ms. Colony, and ancestor of those bearing that name in N. England, b. Halifax, Eng., 1586; d. Eng. ab. 1658. Son of Sir Richard, lord-mayor of London in 1597; came over with Gov. Winthrop in 1630; was an assist. in that year, and commenced with Mr. Phillips the settlement of Watertown, but returned discouraged, to Eng. the next year. A liberal Puritan, he was through life the friend of the Colony, and also a patentee of Ct. In 1651 he wrote a letter to Cotton and Wilson, reproving the tyranny and persecutions in N. E., "as that they fined, whipped, and imprisoned men for their consciences." His son RICHARD, b. at Wood-ome, York-shire, 1610; d. at Hume, Eng., Apr. 29, 1694, a. 84. Settled at Ipswich, and was an assist. in 1637. He protested against the introduction of negro slavery, and was the friend of Goffe and Whalley.

Saltonstall, RICHARD, junr., b. Haverhill, June 14, 1703; d. Oct. 20, 1756. H. U. 1722. Nephew of the gov.; was a representative from Haverhill as early as 1728, subsequently a member of the council; and was in 1736 app. a judge of the Superior Court, which he resigned a few months before his death, on account of ill health. Chairman of the com. for settling the boundary line between Ms. and N. H. 1737. He was a scientific and practical farmer. Of his sons, RICHARD (b. 5 Apr. 1732, d. Kensington, Eng. 1 Oct. 1785, H. U. 1751) was a col. in the French war (1756-60), sheriff of Essex Co., and as a loyalist went to Eng., where he received a pension. NATHANIEL, a dist. physician and patriot of Haverhill, b. 10 Feb. 1746, d. 15 May, 1815; H. U. 1766. LEVERETT (b. 25 Dec. 1754) became a capt., served under Cornwallis, and d. N. Y. 20 Dec. 1782.

Salvert, PLEURIER DE, gov. of La. 1726-32. In 1730 he led an army against the Natchez, and utterly subjugated that nation. He held a commission in the marine, and was a knight of St. Louis; on returning to France he was rewarded for his services with the rank of lieutenant-gen. In 1755 he was sent in com. of a fleet for the protection of St. Domingo, and served at the head of a squadron in the war declared in 1756 — O'Connell.

Sampson, DEMORAIT, who served 3 years as a soldier in the Revol. army, b. Plympton, Ms., 17 Dec. 1760; d. 29 Apr. 1827. Her poverty and her patriotism led her to enlist in the 4th Ms. Regt. under the name of Robert Shuttleff. She was wounded in a skirmish at Turrytown; was present at Yorktown; and after the war in Benjamin Gannett, a farmer of Sharon, and received a pension. She pub. "Female Review" (12mo, Dedham, 1797), probably written by herself. A new ed., with introd. and notes by Rev. John A. Vinton, was pub. 1866.

Sampson, REV. EZRA, clergyman and author, b. Middleborough, Ms., 12 Feb. 1719; d. N. York City, 12 Dec. 1823. Y. C. 1773. Settled at Plympton, Ms., 15 Feb. 1775, and officiated as chaplain in the army at Cambridge in the 1st Revol. campaign; dismissed 4 Apr. 1776. He settled at Hudson 1797, and associated himself in 1801-4 with Rev. Harry Crosswell in the editorship of the Buñee, one of the first literary journals of the country. Pub. "Beauties of the Bible," 1802; "Historical Dictionary," "The Sham Patriot Unmasked," 1833; and "The Brit. Remaker," a series of essays collected from the Huttorf Courier, and pub. 1820, republ. in 1835; also a "Sermon to Soldiers," 1775. Besides his clerical offices, he has sustained with ability several judicial and scientific appointments: app. judge of the Columbia Co. Court in Apr. 1814. — See Sampson Family, by Vinton.

Sampson, FRANCIS S., D.D., b. 1814; d. 1854. U. of Va. 1836. Ord. 1841. Prof. of Orient. languages in the Va. Theol. Sem. in 1848. He was a scholar of repute, and author of a Commentary on the Hebrews, 1856.

Sampson, WILLIAM, lawyer and author, b. Londonderry, Ireland, 1763; d. at N.Y. Dec. 27, 1836. Son of an Episcopal clergyman. One of the "United Irishmen," and a refugee from his native land; he came to N.Y. in 1807, and established himself in the practice of the law. He pub. his Memoirs, 1807; a report on a trial for libel, 1807; speech on the trial of James Cheatham 1810; trial of Journeymen Cordwainers; "Is a Whale a Fish?" being a report, &c., 1819; Discourse before N.Y. Hist. Society, 1824; "Sampson against the Philistines," Sco., 1805; "Catholic Question in America," 1813. A collection of his miscellaneous writings appeared in 1808.

Samson, GEORGE WHITEFIELD, D.D. (Col. Coll., D.C., 1858), Baptist divine; b. Harvard, Ms., Sept. 29, 1819. Brown U. 1839; Newton Theol. Inst. 1843. Pastor of the 43d St. Baptist Church, Washington, D.C., till Oct. 1849; pres. of Col. Coll., D.C., 1859-71. In 1848 he pub. a series of letters on Egypt, Palestine, and Italy, besides several articles on Goshen, Mt. Sinai, &c., in reviews; and in 1852 a work entitled "To Dahamoon," repub., much enlarged, in 1860, under the title of "Spiritualism Tested"; "Elements of Art-Criticism," Sco., 1867; "Outlines of the History of Ethics," 1869; "Physical Media in Spiritual Manifestations," 1865. He has also written several hist. pamphlets, and critical essays on art.

Sandeman, ROBERT, originator of the sect called Sandemanians, b. Perth, Scotland, 1718; d. Danbury, Ct., Apr. 2, 1771. He studied at Edinburgh, and afterwards engaged in the linen-trade. On marrying the dau. of the Rev. John Glass, he became an elder in his congregation; and soon after pub. a series of letters addressed to Mr. Hervey on his "Theron and Aspasio." His views excited much controversy; and those who adopted them formed themselves into church order, in strict fellowship with the Church of Scotland, but holding communion with no other. The chief opinions and practices in which this sect differs from others are their weekly administration of the Lord's Supper, washing each other's feet, &c. In 1762 he established a society in London. In 1764 Sandeman accepted an invitation to New England; established a society at Boston in that year; and settled in Danbury, Ct., in July, 1765. His sect still exists in both countries. Author of "Correspondence with S. Pike," "Thoughts on Christianity," "The Sign of the Prophet Jonah," "Marriage opposed to all Impurities," "On Solomon's Song," &c. The Sandemanians were mostly loyalists, and gave the Whigs no little trouble.

Sanders, DANIEL CLARKE, D.D. (H.U. 1799), Unitarian clergyman, b. Sturbridge, Ms., May 3, 1768; d. Medfield, Ms., Oct. 18, 1850. H.U. 1788. He was preceptor of Cambridge grammar-school; studied theology; was ord. and settled at Vergennes, Vt., June 12, 1794; was, at his own request, di-m. in 1799, and removed to Burlington; pres. of the U. of Vt. from Oct. 17, 1801, to March 24, 1811; pastor of the church at Medfield, Ms., from May 24, 1815, to May 17, 1829. His last public discourse was delivered April 30, 1848, at Sherburne, and was a eulogy on John Quincy Adams. More than 30 of his discourses have been pub. In 1828 he pub. a "History of the Indian Wars," 12mo. Member of the Ms. Const. Conv. of 1820.

Sanders, ELIZABETH (ELKINS), of Salem, Ms. (1762-1851), m. Thos. Sanders in 1782. She was a corresp. of eminent persons, and was esteemed for good sense and benevolence. She pub. "Conversations on the Aborigines," 1828; "First Settlers of N.E.," 1829; "Reviews," 12mo, 1841. — Albion.

Sanders, GEN. WILLIAM P., b. Ky.; d. Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 19, 1863. West Point, 1856. Entering the 1st Dragoons, he became capt. 6th Cav. May 14, 1861, and took an active part in the Peninsular and Md. campaigns; col. 5th Ky. Vols. 4 Mar. 1863; was engaged in the pursuit of Morgan's raiders, July-Aug. 1863, and performed valuable service in the West; made brig.-gen. 18 Oct. 1863, and assigned to the com. of the 1st div. of cav. in E. Tenn.; and engaged at Blue Lick Springs, Lenoir, and at Campbell's Station, where he was mortally wounded 16 Nov. 1863.

Sanderson, JOHN, author, b. Carlisle, Pa., 1783; d. Phila. 5 Apr. 1844. In 1806 he studied law in Phila., and was a teacher in Clermont Sem. He was a contrib. to the Port-folio and other periodicals; and after his return from a European visit in 1835 was prof. of Greek and Latin in the Phila. High School. With his bro. J. M. Sanderson, he wrote the "Lives of the Signers of the Decl. of Indep.," 9 vols. 8vo. 1825; also author of "Sketches of Paris," 1838; "Defence of Classical Literature as a Branch of Study in Girard College." To the Knickerbocker Mag. he contrib. some sketches of England.

Sandford, EDWARD, an eminent lawyer of N.Y., b. Ovid, N.Y., 1809; perished in the steamship "Arctic," on the American coast, Sept. 27, 1854. Losing his father at the age of 10, he was much indebted to his bro. Lewis H. for the formation of his character. After an academical training, he went, at the age of 15, to Albany; became a teacher and lecturer in the Rens. Inst.; studied law; began practice in New York in 1833; and at the age of 33 was app. judge of the Criminal Court in that city, subsequently returning to the bar, at which he held high rank; member N.Y. senate 1843. Contrib. to the Knickerbocker and other periodicals.

Sandford, LEWIS H., jurist, b. Onondaga Co., N.Y., ab. 1806; d. Toledo, O., 1852, of cholera. Bro. of Edward. He acquired his profession at Syracuse; removed to N.Y. City in 1833; was made assist. vice-chancellor of the first circuit in March, 1843; vice-chancellor, 1846; and was from 1847 till his death assoc. justice of the Superior Court. Five vols. have been pub. of his "Reports of Cases in the Supreme Court of the City of N.Y.," 4 vols. of N.Y. Chancery Reports, 1843-7; Bridgewater, Dec. 1788-1820 (b. Sherburne, 1748; d. Nov. 17, 1820; H.U. 1771). Ralph studied divinity; was tutor at H.U. in 1811; and was ord. at Dover, Sept. 16, 1812, where he continued nearly 50 years. He was a State representative from Dover in 1837, '45, '47, '51, and '54. His son GEORGE PARTURD, b. Dover, Ms., Nov. 27, 1819 (H.U. 1840), editor of the "Amer. Almanac" for many years; "U.S. Statutes at Large," vols. 11-15; and of the Low Reporter, Boston.

Sangster, CHARLES, Canadian poet, b. Kingston, U.C., July 16, 1822. He had a scanty education, and labored hard for a subsistence. In 1849 he edited the Labouring Courier, and has since been connected with the press of Kingston. He has pub. "The St. Lawrence and the Saguenay," and "Hesperus and other Poems."—Moquin.

San Martín, JOSÉ DE, a disting. South Amer. leader, b. on the banks of the Parana. He left the service of Spain with the rank of capt. in 1811, and, returning to his own country, received from the revol. govt. of Buenos Ayres the com. of a division, with the rank of col. A success over a royalist detachment at San Lorenzo in 1813 procured him the com. of the Province of Tucuman, which ill health obliged him to resign in 1814. Obtaining, on resuming active service, the com. of the Province of Cuyo, contiguous to Chili, he planned, with O'Higgins and other Chilean exiles, its liberation. Feb. 12, 1817, they gained a complete victory over the Spanish forces at Chacabuco. A final victory over the viceroy of Peru at Maipo, April 5, 1818, achieved the deliverance of Chili, of which O'Higgins became supreme director. He now conceived the plan of liberating Peru itself, the only remaining possession of Spain in South America. The liberating army sailed from Valparaiso, Aug. 21, 1820, supported by a squadron under Lord Cochrane, and, being sustained by the Peruvians, gained possession of the country; installed a revol. govt. at Lima; and Aug. 3, 1821, declared San Martín protector. A congress was convened by him at Lima, Sept. 20, 1822, into whose hands he immediately resigned all his authority, accepting, in return, only the honorary titles of generalissimo and founder of the liberty of Peru, with a pension. He withdrew from Peru, first to Chili, and afterwards to Europe.

San Roman, GEN. MIGUEL, pres. of Peru from 1862 to his d. Apr. 1863; b. 1802.

Santa Ana, ANTONIO LÓPEZ DE, pres. of Mexico, b. Jalapa, Feb. 21, 1798. Having expelled the royalists from Vera Cruz in 1821, he com. there until depos. in Nov. 1822. He immediately raised the banner of the republic in Vera Cruz, and overthrew Iturbide. Placing himself at the head of the federalists, he was defeated, and retired to his estate near Jalapa until 1828; he then sided with Guerrero, who in 1829 app. him com. of his army. When in 1830 Bustamante attained the presidency, he espoused the cause of Pedraza, against whom he had formerly supported Guerrero. He defeated the army sent against him, and Pedraza was pres. until 1833. In March, Santa Ana was chosen pres., but could not gain the confidence of the people. He defeated Arista and P. Ardan in 1834; in 1835 he defeated at Zacatecas the reform party, and announced himself dictator. The discontented flocked to Texas, and proclaimed a govt. The ensuing war ended in his capture at San Jacinto in Apr. 1836, and the indep. of Texas. In Dec. 1838, he lost a leg in the defence of Vera Cruz against the French. Again pres. in 1841, a new revolution haled him from power in 1845. The war against the U.S. again placed him in power. Feb. 22, 1846, he fought the battle of Buena Vista with 17,000 men; Gen. Taylor, his antagonist, having 4,000 or 5,000, gained the victory. Santa Ana was then disposed by the senate. Recalled in 1847, he lost the decisive battle of Cerro Gordo, but was again proclaimed pres. The Mexicans were unsuccessful; a treaty signed Feb. 22, 1848, ceded the Territory of California; and Santa Ana exiled himself to Jamaica. In 1853 he contrived to subvert the power of Pres. Arista, and obtained his own recall. As pres. he governed despotically for two years, but in the autumn of 1855, foreseeing danger, he suddenly resigned, and escaped from the country. Upon the fall of Maximilian his ambition revived, and he headed June 4, 1867, at Vera Cruz, expecting to inaugurate a revolution, but was seized and imprisoned at Sisal, tried by court-martial, and sentenced to be shot.

Santa Cruz, ANTONIO, statesman and soldier, b. Peru ab. 1800. Served in the war of independence in 1823; succeeded Sucre as president of Bolivia in 1829; was defeated at Yungai in 1839, and compelled to quit the country; and in 1849 became minister from Bolivia to London, Paris, Rome, and Madrid.

Santana, GEN. PEDRO, ex-pres. of St. Domingo; d. there June 14, 1864. In 1841 he acquired the title of Liberator by securing the independence of the Dominican republic of the Island of Hayti; pres. in 1844-9, he established the new nation on a firm footing. On the invasion by Souleuvre, the Haytien emperor, in 1849, he was made dictator, and defeated him in a decisive battle near Savanna Munero, Apr. 22. He was again president in 1853-7, defeating Souleuvre in 1855 and 1856, and in Sept. 1857 expelled his successor Baeg, and restored liberal rule. In the spring of 1861 Spain undertook to re-annex the republic to its dominions, and Santana was bled into adhesion with a lieutenant-generalship in the Spanish army, a title of nobility, and various decorations. He died hated by his countrymen, and neglected by those to whom he had sold them.

Santander, GEN. FRANCISCO DE PAULA, b. Rosario de Cúcuta, New Granada, Apr. 2, 1782; d. Bogota, May 6, 1840. Coll. of Bogota, 1809. When the revol. began in S. America, he immediately embarked in the cause of independence. Rising by his talents to the grade of colonel, Boyar, after the victory of Boyaca, app. him vice pres. of Cúcuta army. He contrib. more than any other person to the assembling of the Congress of Cúcuta, which elected him vice president of Colombia. From Dec. 1821 until Sept. 1827 he was the actual head of the executive, Bolívar being engaged in prosecuting the war in Quito and Peru. In this position he acted with prudence, ability, and success. Entering upon his second term of office in 1827, Santander was from that time opposed to Bolívar, and was regarded as his personal enemy, but in fact was hostile only to the design of the liberator to suspend or subvert the constitution. Bolívar succeeded in gaining absolute authority; and Santander was subsequently charged with a share in an unsuccessful plot to kill the dictator. He was banished from the country, and during his exile visited Eng., France, and Germany. In 1832 Santander was elected pres. of the republic of New Granada.

Sargeant, Nathaniel Peaslee, jurist, b. Methuen, Nov. 2, 1741, d. Haverhill, Oct. 1790. H.U. 1759. Son of Rev. Christopher de Moten. He engaged in the profession of law, was a decided partisan of liberty, and a delegate from Haverhill, where he then practised law, to the Prov. Congress of 1775; was in 1776 a representative and judge of the Superior Court, and Chief justice in 1789.

Sargent, Ersk, author and journalist, bro. of John O., b. Gloucester, Ms., Sept. 27, 1812. Descend. from William, who came to Gloucester before 1678. While a school-boy in Boston, his father took him on a visit to Europe. Returning home, he studied 2 or 3 years at H.U., and assisted S. G. Goodrich in his various publications. He then became connected with the Boston Telegraph, afterward with the Boston Atlas, and in 1839 with the N. Y. Mirror. He afterward resided at Roxbury, edited the Boston Transcript for a few years, and has since prepared a series of popular school-books, including Speakers and Readers. He has written "The Bride of Genoa," a five-act play, 1836; "Velasco," a tragedy, 1837; "China makes Change," a comedy; and "The Priestess," a tragedy; "Life of Henry Clay," 1840; "Songs of the Sea, and of our Rivers," 1847; "Arctic Adventures by Sea and Land," 1857; and a volume of "Original Dialogues" for schools, 1860; "Pauclott," a work on Spiritualism, 1862; and "The Woman who Died," a poem, 1862. He edited the "Modern Standard Drama," two series for the young, entitled "Wealth and Worth," and "What's to be Done?" &c.; has written Lives of several English poets prefixed to editions of their writings; has also contributed, respectively to magazines, and published several novelized novels. His "Standard Speaker," 1852, has passed through many large editions. He also edited a "Life of Franklin," and is known as a lecturer.

Sargent, Col. HENRY, painter, b. Gloucester, Ms., 25 Nov., 1770, d. Boston, 21 Feb., 1845. A.M. at H.U. 1826. Son of Daniel, a merchant of Boston, and bro. of Lucius M. Edited the "Dumfriesshire," and, showing in early life a taste for art, was sent abroad, and was for many years a pupil of Sir Ben. West in London. Returning home, he devoted himself to his profession, and produced "The Dumb Party," perhaps his best work; "Christ's Entrance into Jerusalem," and "The Landing of the Pilgrims," which he gave to the Plymouth Soc. Adj. gen. of Ms. in 1814, and subsequently sold to Govs. Brooks and Strong. Col. S. invented an elevated Railway, and was a member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences.

Sargent, Jons Osborn, journalist and lawyer, bro. of Eps., and a kinsman of L. M., b. Gloucester, Ms., 1810. H.U. 1830, and established there the Observer. He studied law in Boston; was adm. to the bar; and in 1847 was connected with the West. Atlas. He was a representative in the Ms. legis. in 1835-6, and in 1837 became an Assoc. editor of the N. Y. Observer and Transcript, which he edited for the election of pres. Harrison. He then practised law in N.Y. till 1848, when he took charge of the Observer's campaign paper at Washington, advocating Gen. Taylor's election to the presidency. He afterward edited at Washington the Review, a newspaper, with A. C. Bullitt, in which he supported the compromise measures. He confined this paper on the principle of hostility to both the abolition and secession parties, until it was discontinued at the close of Fillmore's administration. He has since practised law in Washington and New York, where he now resides. In 1844 he published a pamphlet (reprinted in Eng., and translated into various languages) on improvements in naval warfare, with a large sketch of Capt. Eriesson, and a notice of his inventions. He was a contributor to "The Tololet," assisted S. G. Goodrich in several of the Port. Par. books; and has pub. translations from the German, and several legal and political pamphlets.

Sargent, LOUIS MEXTER, author, b. Boston 25 June, 1786; d. W. R. Story, Ms., 2 June, 1867. Grandson of Col. Eps. (1690-1762) and son of Daniel Sargent. Then a minor grade, in course he received an hon. degree in 1842 (H.U.). He studied law under Saml. H. Story, but never practised. A true classical scholar, he in early life edited and transl. some minor Latin poems. In 1813 he pub. "Hibernian Epithets, with other Poems." His labors as a writer in the cause of temperance extended over 70 years. One of his tales passed through 100 editions, and was repub. in many languages. Upon it is thence he was also a powerful and effective lecturer. He contrib. a series of spiritual and antiquarian sketches, entitled "Delicacies of the Dead," by a Student of the Old School" (repub. in a vol. 1859), to the West. Transcript, to which he was long a contributor, and the "Narrator" of "Sigma." His writings were characterized by homely originality, and boldness and vigor of style. Some of the best papers on the "coolly trade" were written by him, and were afterwards repub. without his knowledge, by reformers in England. He was 22 years without occupation, and kindhearted. His "Temperance Tales" were published in 3 vols. Author of "Lit. of Saml. H. Story," 1858. By his wife Mary, sister Hon. Porac. B. and of Phineas had Mary, Berna, B. and Maria. By his second wife Sarah, Cent. Danm. had L. M. an accomplished surgeon and a lawyer. His son HENRY BRISTOL SARGENT (b. 30 Jan., 1821; H.U. 1843) studied law, com. 1st Mass. cavalry, and was lawyer, Eng. gen., 21 Mar. 1864. — S. Levenson's sketch of the lives of J. H. S. 80, 81, 82.

Sargent, LUCIUS MASTER, Jun., M.D.

son of L. M., b. Boston, Sept. 15, 1826; killed in a battle at Belmont, Va., Dec. 9, 1864. H. U. 1848. He took his degree at the Harvard Med. School in 1857; and was some time horse-surgeon at the Ms. Gen. Hospital, and also dispensary physician. Com. surgeon, 2d Ms. Vols., May 28, 1861; capt. 1st Ms. Cav., Oct. 31, 1861; maj. Jan. 2, 1864; lieut.-col. Sept. 30, 1864. — Harv. Memorial Biographies.

Sargent, Col. PAUL DUDLEY, Revol. officer, b. Gloucester, Ms., 1745; d. Sullivan, Mo., 15 Sept. 1828. Son of Col. Epes. He com. a regt. at the siege of Boston; was wounded at Bunker's Hill; com. a brigade in the summer of 1776; fought at Harlem, White Plains, Trenton, and Princeton; and, after the war, was for many years judge of C. C. P. for Hancock Co., Maine.

Sargent, Winstrop, soldier and statesman, b. Gloucester, Ms., 1 May, 1753; d. on a voyage from Natchez to Phila., 3 June, 1820. H. U. 1771. Grandson of Col. Epes, and cousin of L. M. In 1775 he was capt. of one of his father's ships. He entered the army 7 July, 1775. App. navy agent at Gloucester 1 Jan. 1776; capt.-lieut. of Knox's regt. of art. 16 Mar. 1776, serving in that line with great reputation through the war, and taking part in the siege of Boston, battles of Long Island, White Plains, Trenton, Princeton, Brandywine, Germantown, Monmouth, &c., and attaining the rank of major. Becoming connected with the Ohio Co., he was in 1785 app. by Congress surveyor of the N. W. Terr., his see. in 1787, and was its gov. in 1798-1801; adj.-gen. of St. Clair's army in the unfortunate exped. against the Indians in 1791, and wounded; adj.-gen. and insp. in Wayne's campaign in 1794-5; member of the A. A. of Arts and Sciences and of the Philos. Soc. He pub. "Boston, a Poem," 1803.

Sargent, Winstrop, author, grandson of the preceding, b. Phila., Sept. 23, 1825; d. Paris, 19 May, 1870. U. of Pa. 1845; Camb. Univ. School, 1847. He wrote an Introd. Memoir prefixed to the Journals of Officers engaged in Blandford's exped., printed by the Phila. Soc. in 1855 from the original MSS. in the British Museum; subsequently pub. as a "Tract, or an Expost. against Fort Duquesne," &c., 8vo. Also pub. a valuable "Life of Andrew," Boston, 1861; "Loyalist Poetry of the Royal," 1857; a supplementary volume in 1859; "The Loyal Verses of Joseph Stanbury and Doctor Jonathan Odell;" and a "Journal of the General Meeting of the Cincinnati in 1781," 1859, in the Memoirs of the Hist. Soc. of Pa., vol. vi., and Letters of John Andrews, Pap. 1774-86, 8vo., 1866. He resided in New York, and practised law. Contrib. to various periodicals, especially the N. A. Review.

Sarmiento, DON DOMINGO FERNANDO, H. U., pres. Argentine Confed. 1868-72, b. San Juan 1811. First disting. in opposition to Rosas, and was in consequence exiled to Chile; returning in 1843, he founded a school for young ladies, and edited a journal, Los Yander; not long in exile by Rosas. Entering the Chilean service, he was sent on a special diplomatic mission to Europe; returning to Buenos Ayres in 1851, he com. a regt. in the battle of Monte-Caseros which decided the fate of Rosas, and established the Arg. Confed. He assisted in framing the const. of 1853; and was minister of instruction under Urquiza; minister of the interior under Derqui; afterward gov. of San Juan; minister to the U. S., 1862-5; and afterward gov. of Buenos Ayres. Author of "Life in the Arg. Repub.," transl. with biog. sketch by Mrs. J. Hor. Mann, 8vo., 1868.

Sartain, JOHN, b. Lond. 1808; emig. to Phila. in 1830. The first to introduce mezzotinto engraving in America; formerly a painter in oils, and some time propri. tor and editor of the Union Messenger. He pub. "Poetical and Prose Illustrations of Celebrated American Painters," 1852. Among his works is the granite monument in Monument Cemetery, near Phila.

Sartwell, HENRY PARKER, M.D. (St. Mary's Coll. Balt.), Ph. D. (Harr. Coll., 1861), botanist, b. Pittsfield, Ms., Apr. 18, 1792; d. Penn Yan, N. Y., Nov. 15, 1867. He began to practise medicine in 1811; served as surgeon in the army in the war of 1812; and in 1821 settled in Bethel, Ontario Co., N. Y., and began the study of botany, moving to Penn Yan in 1832. Ab. 1846 he gave his whole time to the study of the genus Carex; and in 1848 pub. in 2 vols. "Carex Americanae Spathuloidis Escavatori," "Part Third" of this work, to include 50 new species, was begun, and over 40 species collected for it, when he died. His herbarium, the labor of 40 years, containing about 8,000 species, is now in Harr. Coll., Clinton, N. Y. For 40 years Dr. S. kept records of the weather, which were pub. at home, and sent to the Smithsonian Inst. He was a member of several scientific bodies.

Sasnett, WILLIAM J., D.D., clergyman and author, b. Hancock Co., Ga., Apr. 29, 1820. Oglethorpe U. 1839. He studied law; and afterward joined the Ala. Conf., in which he became an itinerant. Chosen prof. of English lit. in Emory Coll., Ga., in 1849; pres. of La Grange Female Coll. in 1858; and in 1859 of the East Ala. M. de College, Auburn. He pub. a work on "Progress," 1855; and a vol. of "Discussions in Literature and Religion," 1850. — Andover.

Saunders, FREDERIC, b. Lond., 1807; established himself as a publisher in N. Y. in 1836; asist. librarian Astor Lib. since 1859. He has pub. "Memoirs of the Great Metropolitans," 1852; "New York in a Nutshell," 1853; "Salad for the Solitary," 1854; "A Sd. for the Social," 1856; "Pearls of Thought," 1858; "Mosaics," 1859; "Festival of Song," 1865; "About Women, Love, and Marriage," 1866. Contrib. to the Democ. Rev., N. Y. Quarterly, Knight's, &c. — Albany.

Saunders, JOHN, jurist and loyalist, b. Va. 1754; d. Fredericksburg, N. B., 1843. His grandfather emig. to Va., and poss. of large landed estates. He was liberally educated and studied law; but in 1776 raised a troop of horse at his own expense, and joined the royal standard. Afterwards capt. of cavalry in the Queen's Rangers, he served during the war; was often engaged, and was twice wounded. At the peace he went to Eng., became a member of the Middle Temple, and commenced the practice of the law; in 1790 he became judge of the Sup. Court of NB; was soon afterwards app. a member of the council; and in 1822 chief justice. His only son, JOHN SIMCOE, held the offices of adj. gen., justice of a court of judicature, member of the council, and sec. of NB — see ibid.

Saunders, PRINCE, atty-gen. of the republic of Hayti, and the author of the criminal code of that country, b. Thetford, Vt., ab. 1775; d. Hayti, Feb. 12, 1839. He was a black man, of excellent education, and extraordinary capacity. About 1806 he was employed to teach a free colored school at Colechester, Ct., and afterwards in Boston. From Hayti in 1807, he was at once employed by Christophe to improve the state of education there, and visiting Eng. with that object, was received into the society of the nobility, and was the guest of Sir Joseph Banks, pres. of the Roy. Society. The result of his mission not being satisfactory to the king, he left Hayti, and returned to the U.S., where he studied divinity, and was settled over a religious society in Phila. Returning to Hayti after a few years, he was actively employed in the public service until his death. He pub. "Haynen Papers," "Memoir on Slavery," &c.; "Address on Education," 1818; "Documents relative to Hayti," &c., 1816.

Saunders, ROWEN M., lawyer and statesman, b. Caswell Co., N.C., Mar. 1791; d. Raleigh, 21 Apr. 1867. He was educated at an academy, and spent two years in the U. of N.C. Adm. to practise law in Tenn. in 1812; returned to N.C.; was in the house of commons in 1815-20, two years as speaker; was M.C. in 1821-7 and in 1841-5; was atty-gen. of the State in 1828, in 1833 was pres. of the board of commiss. to settle the claims of American citizens under the treaty of July 4, 1811, with France, in 1835 was elected a judge of the Supreme Court; in 1846-50 was minister to Spain; and on his return was again elected to the legisl. of N.C.

Savage, CHARLES C., b. Middletown, Ct., 1809. Engaged in the stereotyping business, N.Y. His pub. "Illustrated Biography," &c., 1852; "The World," &c., 1853. Contrib. to Am. Rev., Am. Eccl. St., N.Y. Eccl. St., &c. — ibid.

Savage, EDWARD, port. painter, b. Princeton, Ms., 1761; d. there July, 1817. At first a goldsmith. He studied a while under West at London, and then in Italy. In 1792, before he went abroad, he painted the Washington family, and, finding no engraver, engraved the portraits himself. He was a man of talent, but too versatile to attain eminence as a painter. He found a museum in N.Y., and brought it to Boston, where it made part of the old New-Eng. Museum. He was engaged on portraits in N.Y. in 1789. He painted a profile portrait of Washington on wood while in Phila., during the presidency of the latter.

Savage, JAMES, LL.D. (H.U. 1841), antiquary and genealogist, b. Boston, July 13, 1754. H.U. 1801. Descended from Thomas, one of the early settlers of N.E. He studied law, commenced practice in 1807, and was subsequently a representative and senator in the General Court, a councilor, and a delegate to the State Const. Conv. of 1820. He has also been in the city govt. as a common-councilman and an alderman, as well as one of the school com. Contrib. to the M. A. J. Anthology and the N. A. Review; delivered the 4th of July oration in Boston in 1811; edited Winthrop's "History of N. Eng.," 2 vols.; pub. in 4 vols., &c., 1860-2. "A General Dict. of the First Settlers of N. England," a work of great merit and research, and in the N. E. Magazine (1832) a "History of the Adoption of the Federal Constitution." Mr. Savage was more than 20 years sec. or treasurer of the first savings-bank in Boston; 19 years treasurer of the Ms. Hist. Soc., of which he has also been pres., and several vols. of whose collections he has edited; is a member of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences.

Savage, JOHN, LL.D. (Un. Coll. 1829), jurist, b. 1779, d. Utica N.Y., 19 Oct. 1864. Un. Coll. 1799. Member N.Y. Assembly 1814; M.C. 1815-19; afterward ass. atty.; State comptroller; 14 years chief justice Supreme Court, and U.S. treas. for New York.

Savage, JOHN, editor and poet, b. Dublin, Dec. 13, 1828. He was rising at the art school of the Roy. Dublin Society. Influenced with the revul. spirit of 1848, he became active in the clubs; started 2 revul. journals, and led the armed peasants of Portlaw, Ruzgorkuk, and the Carnaragh Mountains. When the cause was lost, he escaped to N.Y., was proof-reader for the Liberty; pub. in 1850 "Lays of the Fatherland"; in 1850-83 wrote for the W. J. Review and the Demos. Review; was literary editor of the C. G. in 1854; pub. in 1856 "78 and '48, the Modern Revul. History and Lit. of Ireland," "Waiting for a Wife, a comedy," 1859, "Sybil," a tragedy, 1858. In 1857-8 he was connected with the Star, Douglas's organ at Washington, and with "Uncle of the Rose," a comedy, and "Our Living Representative Men." When the Rebellion broke out, he wrote the popular lyrics, "The Starry Flag" and "The Muster of the North," and was active in organizing the "Irish Brigade" and "Irish Legion." "Faith and Fancy," a collection of his poems, appeared in December, 1863; in 1864 he connected himself with the N. O. and I. Times; pub. a campaign life of Andrew Johnson in 1864, extended into a "Life and Public Services" in 1865, "Feman Heroes and Martyrs," 1868; collective edition of his poems, 1867. — See ibid.

Savage, JOHN A., D.D., pres. of Carroll Coll., Wis., and over 23 years pastor of the Presb. church, Ogdensburg, N.Y.; d. Waukesha, Wis., 13 Dec. 1864, a. 64. Un. Coll. 1822.

Savage, JOHN H., lawyer, and M.C. 1840-53 and 1855-9. b. Warren Co., Tenn. He served as a private soldier during a campaign in Fla.; afterwards studied law, and in 1837 commenced practice at Smithville, Tenn.; atty-gen. 4th dist. in 1841-7; major of the 14th U.S. Inf. in Mexican war, was present at the battles of Contreras, Churubusco, and Molino del Rey, and was wounded at Chupitpec. Promoted to lieut. col., he com. the regt. after the death of Col. Graham.

Savage, SAMUEL PHILLIPS; d. Weston, Ms., Dec. 1797, a. 79. Merchant of Boston, and a selectman; pres. of the Ms. board of war during the Revolt, and afterward judge C. C. P., Middlesex Co. His son Maj. JOSTEN, an officer of art. in the Revolt, d. Brunswick, Me., 15 Jan. 1844, a 58.

Sawyer, FREDERICK WILLIAM, b. Saco, Me., 22 Apr. 1810. Removed to Boston in 1838, where, since 1840, he has practised law. Originator of the "Pawnee's" Bank of Boston. Author of "The Merchant's and Shipmaster's Guide," 1840; "Pleasant Amusements," 1847; "Hits at American Whims," &c., 1860, originally pub. under the signatures of "Carl" and "Canty Carl," in the Transcript, to which since 1847 he has contributed. — P. Jones.

Sawyer, HORACE BUCKLER, capt. U. S. N., b. Burlington, Vt., Feb. 22, 1797; d. Washington, Feb. 14, 1860. Midshipan, June 4, 1812; lieutenant, Apr. 1, 1818; com. Dec. 9, 1839; capt. Apr. 12, 1853. He was in "The Constitution" when she took the British ships "Cyane" and "Levant," Feb. 20, 1815; lieutenant of the brig "Spark" in the W. I., destroying piracy in those waters; and afterward in "The Warren," engaged in the same service, in the Mediterranean. Received a sword from the legis. of Vt. in 1856 for services in the war of 1812. — U. S. Gazette.

Sawyer, RAY JONES, D.D. (D.C. 1857), b. Hebron, Ct., Oct. 9, 1755; d. Bangor, Me., Oct. 14, 1858. Dartm. Coll. 1785. He was a soldier at the surrender of Burgoyne. Ord. pastor of the Cong. Ch. at Orford, N.H., Oct. 2, 1787; dism. Dec. 17, 1795; at Boothbay, Me., from Oct. 1798 to 1808; and was afterward more than 40 years a missionary in Me. In June, 1857, he addressed a large audience at the G. n. Conf. in Bath, Me., for nearly an hour, being in his 102d year.

Sawyer, LUTHERAL ANDROS, b. Puckney, N.Y. Ham. Coll. 1828. Ord. Presb. pastor 1831. Some time pres. of Central Coll., Ohio; and became in 1854 pastor of the Cong. Ch. Westmoreland, N. J. He has pub. "Elements of Biblical Interpretation," 1836; "Mental Philos.," 1839; "Moral Philos.," 1845; "Organic Christianity," 1854. In 1858 he pub. a new transl. of the New Testament, and in 1860 vol. i. of the Old Testament; "Biblical Science Improved," 1862. — Am. bio.

Sawyer, THOMAS JEFFERSON, D.D. (H. U.), clergyman, b. Reading, Vt., Jan. 9, 1804. M. d. Coll. 1829. In 1830 took charge of a Univ. society in New York; in 1845 became principal of the Canton Liberal Inst., Oneida Co., N.Y., and also taught classes in theology. He resumed his former charge in N.Y. in 1852, and soon after held a public debate with Rev. Isaac Westcott, a Baptist clergyman, which was pub. with the title, "Discussion of the Doctrine of Universal Salvation," 1854. In 1861 he retired to a farm at Canton; and was instrumental in the establishment of Tufts College, in which he has since 1860 held the chair of theology. He also aided in founding the theol. school at Canton, N.Y. His wife CAROLINE M. (FISLER), authoress, b. Newton, Ms., Dec. 8, 1812, now edits the London Repository, and has pub. translations in verse and prose from the German.

Saxe, JOHN GODFREY, LL.D., wit and poet, b. Hightgate, Vt., June 2, 1816. M. d. Coll. 1839. He was a practitioner of law in his native State from 1843 to March, 1850, when he removed to Burlington, where for 5 years he conducted the Saturday newspaper; in 1854 he was State-atty. He has since devoted himself wholly to literature and lecturing. At one time Democratic candidate for governor of Vermont. In 1849 he published a volume of poems, including "Progress, a Satire," originally delivered at a college commencement; and a number of shorter pieces, many of which originally appeared in the Kentucky Liberator, Mag. The enlarged edition of 1852 includes "The Times," a poem delivered before the Boston Mercantile-Library Assoc. He is frequently the poet of college and other anniversaries. In the summer of 1855 he pronounced a brilliant poem on literature and the times at the second anniversary of the N. Y. Free Academy. "The Money King and Other Poems" appeared in 1859; "Clever Stories of Many Nations," 1863; "Poetical Works," cabinet edition, 1864; "Masquerade," 1866.

Saxe-Weimar, KYRIE BLESUARD, duke of, b. Weimar 1792; d. 31 July, 1862. Author of "Travels through N.A. 1825-6," 2 vols. 8vo, 1828; and Summary of the Campaign in Java in 1811. He served in the principal campaigns of 1806-15 against the French, and was made lieutenant-gen. in 1831.

Saxton, RYRIS, brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. Deerfield, Ms., Oct. 19, 1824. West Point, 1849. He worked on a farm until he was 20; entered the 3d Art., and became 1st lieut. in 1855. In 1853-4 he led a surveying-party across the Rocky Mountains; in 1855-9 was employed on the coast-survey, and made improvements in instruments for deeper-soundings, one of which, a self-registering thermometer, bears his name; in 1859 he became an instructor of West Point. At the breaking-out of the civil war, he was at St. Louis under Capt. Lyon, acting as quarterm. (rank of capt.); and was prominent in breaking up "Camp Jackson;" joining Gen. McClellan in Western Va., he afterward accomp. Gen. Sherman to Port Royal as quarterm.; and April 15, 1862, was made brig.-gen. vols. For a short time after the retreat of Gen. Banks from the Shenandoah, Gen. Saxton com. at Harper's Ferry. Military gov. of the dept. of the South in 1862-5; quarterm. (rank of maj.) July 29, 1866; brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865.

Say, THOMAS, naturalist, b. Palfy, July 27, 1787; d. New Harmony, Ind., Oct. 10, 1834. Early abandoning mercantile pursuits, in which he had been engaged unsuccessfully, he devoted himself to the study of natural history; was in 1812 one of the founders of the Acad. of Nat. Sciences of Phila.; and became one of the leading contributors to its journal. In 1818 Say joined Messrs. Meade, Ord, and Peale in a scientific exploration of the islands and coast of Gu.; in 1819-20 he was chief zoologist in the expedition of Major Long to the Rocky Mountains; and in that of 1823 to the sources of St. Peter's River; in 1825 he removed to New Harmony, where he spent the rest of his life. His principal work, "American Entomology," was pub. Phila., 3 vols., 1824-8. His "American Conchology," 7 nos. of which were pub. at New Harmony, was incomplete at the time of his decease. His discoveries of new species of insects were, perhaps, greater than had ever been made by a single individual. Member of the Linnæan and Zoological Societies of London. He was a frequent contributor to the "Transactions of the Philos. Society, the N. Y. Lyceum, S. Ann's Journal, and numerous other scientific pub's. His complete writings on the Conchology of the U. S., edited by Wm. G. Birney, were pub. N. Y., 1878. "The Entomology," edited by J. L. Leconte, with a Memoir, 2 vols., 8vo., 1859. — S. Hist. Schachm. W. M.'s L. S., vol. v.

SAYRE, STEPHEN, banker and patriot, b. Long Is. and 1794; d. at the residence of his son in Va. Sept. 27, 1818. N. J. Coll. 1757. Bred a mercantile, by his activity and talents he had obtained much distinction at the period of the Revol. Was sheriff of London with Wm. Lee, brother of Richard Henry, in 1774; and was particularly in the confidence of the Lords of Chatham at a critical period, having become a banker. His zeal for the independence of his native country was unmeasured, and an officer of the Royal Guards, named Richardson, also an American, seized upon a gay and unguarded exclamation of Mr. Sayre to bring a charge of high treason for imagining the death of the king, and he was committed to the Tower. The charge soon ended in Mr. Sayre's release; but it had already produced his ruin. His banking-house failed; he lost every thing, and was obliged to quit England. He was then employed by Dr. Franklin upon several important missions, acted for some time as his private secretary, and went in the suite of Mr. Lee to Berlin at the time of the first suggestion of the project of armed neutrality. After leaving Berlin, Mr. Sayre passed to Copenhagen, Stockholm, and St. Petersburg, and in each of those capitals procured ample subsidies for the support of American indep. In 1799 he was an able opponent of Washington's administration.

Seadding, HENRY, D. D. (1832), b. Danvers, Vt., Aug. 1813. Educated at U. C. Coll., Toronto, and St. John's Coll., Camb. Eng. MA 1840. Classical prof. U. C. Coll. 1848-62; rect. of Trinity Church, Toronto, since 1847. Author of "Memorial of Rev. W. H. R. Day," 8vo., 1849; "Sakspeare, the Story and a Gloss," A. r. 23, 1864; "Early Notices of Toronto," 1865; "Truth's Resurrection," 1875. Contrib. of articles on philology and metaphysics to B. A. Amer. Mer., C. A., &c. — A. r.

Seamond, AUGUSTINE, col. Revol. army, b. Madon, Ms., 24 March, 1747; d. Wiltburg, Va., 6 Oct. 1781. H. V. 1769. Son of Dr. Samuel Leiston, who came to Boston from Dorsetshire, Eng., in 1748, settled in Mendon (now Middlebury), and practiced until his death in 1753. He taught school in Keenston and Plymouth, Ms.; was a surveyor at Portsmouth in 1772, and by his school at Rowe; and was a proprietor of the town of Shaftsbury, Ms.; assessor of taxes, and in survey for his map of New York, and in 1775 was a colonel with G. N.

Sullivan, and his brigade major at Cambridge in 1775, and on Long Island in 1776. Made col. 3d N. H. Regt. in Nov. 1776; took part in the battles of Trenton and Princeton; was wounded and especially distinguished at Saratoga; was adj.-gen. of the army from early in 1778 to 1781; col. 1st N. H. Regt. 1 Jan. 1781, and in July took com. of a regt. of light inf. While officer of the day at the siege of Yorktown, 30 Sept. 1781, he was surprised while reconnoitring, and, after surrendering, was infamously wounded, and died in a few days. He was an officer of great merit and of amiable character. He was 6 feet and 2 inches in height. — S. Hist. Mer., Sept. 1860.

Schaeffer, the name of several disting. Lutheran divines. DAVID FRIEDRICH, D. D. (son of Fredrick David, D. D., successively pastor at Carlisle, Germantown, and Phila., 1760-1836), pastor of the Lutheran church, Frederick, Md., from July, 1808, to his d. May, 1837; b. Carlisle, Pa., 1757. He was 3 years pres. and sec. of the Md. synod; also of the general synod. Pub. "Hist. Address on the Reformation," 1818; and edited the Lutheran Intelligencer 1-26-31. FRIEDRICH CHRISTIAN, D. D., son of F. D., b. Germantown, Pa., 1792; d. New York, Mar. 1831. N. J. Coll. 1818. Licensed to preach 1812; was pastor at Harrisburg, and then in N. Y. City. He pub. "Parables and Parabolic Sayings," and two sermons. Prof. German lang. at Columbia Coll. 1-30-41. CHARLES FREDERICK, D. D., son of F. D., b. Germantown, Pa., 1807. U. of Pa. 1827. Lutheran pastor at Carlisle, Easton, &c., and successively prof. of thol. in the Lutheran Sem. at Columbia, O.; prof. of German in Pa. Coll., Gettysburg, and of thol. in the Ev. Lutheran Sem., Phila. He has pub. Kurtz's "Manual of Sacred Hist.," from the German, 1855; Luther's Smaller Catechism, with additions, 1856; "Auriferous Rod," Apr. 16, 1856; "Discourses," 8vo., 1861; Escher's "Commentary on Acts," 1866; "True Christianity," &c., 1869; "Exceptional Puncturation of the N. T. text," 1869. Contrib. to the First Fr., Ev., 1849-66, and other periodicals. CHARLES WILLIAM, D. D., grandson of F. D., b. Hagerstown, Md. Formerly Lutheran pastor at Harrisburg. Has been for some years pastor of St. Michael's Ch., Germantown. He has pub. "Discourse on the 50th Anniversary of the Ev. Luth. Ch., Harrisburg," 8vo., 1845; "Early History of the Lutheran Ch. in America," 1857; and occasional discourses. Co-editor of several Lutheran periodicals. — Springer's A. r.

Schaff (shaf), PHILIP, Ph. D. D. D. (1854), theologian and author, b. Chur, canton of Grisons, Swiss land, Jan. 1, 1819. U. of Berlin, 1841. Educated at the universities of Tübingen, Halle, and Berlin. He travelled as a private tutor to a Prussian nobleman through France, Switzerland, and Italy (1841-2), and, returning to Berlin, betook himself to theology; prof. of thol. at Mercersburg, Pa., 1844-62; charged with the duty on account of some of his writings, he was honorably acquitted by the synod of New York, Pa., in 1845. From Nov. 1862 to 1867 he was lecturer on eccl's. hist. at And. Sem. and in 1868-70 was prof. of church history in the Hartford Theol. Inst., and was in 1871 prof. in the Union Theol. Sem., N.Y. He has pub. in German a "History of the Apostolic Church," 1-51; "German Hymn-Book, with a Hist. Introd.," 1859; and in English, "St. Augustine, his Life and Labors," 1853; "America, its Political, Social, and Religious Character," lectures delivered at Berlin, 1854, translated in 1-55; "Germany, its Universities and Divines," 1857; "Hist. of the Christian Church of the First Three Centuries," 1858, 2 vols. 8vo; essay on "Slavery and the Bible," 1861; "The Christ of the Gospels," 1864; "The Person of Christ the Miracle of History," 1865; "Lectures on the Civil War in America," 1865; "Christ in Song," 1869; besides many contributions to American and foreign periodicals. Dr. S. also pub. the Kirchenzeitung, a theological monthly for the German churches of America, in 1848-53; and has been co-editor of the Mercersburg Review since 1857.

Schanck, John, a British admiral, b. Fife-shire, Scotland, 1740; d. Eng. 6 March, 1823. He was a lieutenant in the navy in 1776, and superintended the construction of "The Intexible," which, in less than 6 weeks from the commencement of her construction, was the victor in the engagement with Arnold's fleet on Lake Champlain. He was of great service to Burgoyne in his expedition in the construction of floating-bridges; and for his services he was promoted to commander, and in 1783 post-capt.; admiral of the Blue, July, 1821.

Schenck, James F., rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Ohio, June 19, 1807. Bro. of Robert C. Mid-dlem. Mar. 1, 1-25; lieutenant, Dec. 22, 1835; com. Sept. 14, 1855; capt. 1861; com. July 2, 1-53; rear-adm. (ret. list), July, 1870. Attached to frigate "Congress" during the Mex. war; chief aide to Com. Stockton at capture of Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, and at bombardment and capture of Graymas and Mazatlan; com. mail-steamer "Ohio," 1848-52; steamer "Saginaw," E. India squad., 1860-1; com. frigate "St. Lawrence," block squadron, 1-62; steam-sloop "Powhatan," N. Atl. squad., 1-61-5; and com. 3d division Porter's squad. in both attacks on Fort Fisher. — Harmony.

Schenck, Noah Hunt, D.D., rector of Emmanuel Ch., Baltimore, and in 1867 of St. Ann's, Brooklyn, N.Y., b. Pennington, N.J., 1-25. N.J. Coll. 1-14; Gambier Theol. Sem. 1-53. He has pub. 20 or 30 essays, sermons, and treatises; established and edited, 1858-60, the Historic Churchman (Chicago); was co-editor of the Protestant Churchman 1-67; and contributes to the Western Episcopalian, &c. — Alliance.

Schenck, Gen. Robert Cumming, b. Franklin, Warren Co., O., Oct. 7, 1801. His father, Gen. William C. Schenck, an officer of Harrison's army, d. Jan. 1-21. Bro. of Adm. J. F. Schenck. He grad. in 1827 at the Miami U., of which he was afterward a prof.; was appointed to the bar, and settled in Dayton; soon after was chosen to the legisl. from Montgomery Co., serving three terms; and was M.C. in 1843-51. In this body he was noted for terse and practical speeches, keen and pungent wit. Minister to Brazil in 1851-3. Comd's. brigades of vols. May 17, 1-61; June 17, 1-61, while his com. were being transported to Vic-na, Va., over the London and Hampshire R.R., they were fired upon while in the cars, sustaining a loss of 10 killed and 2 wounded. He was engaged at the battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861; next served in Western Va. under Rosecranz; was ordered to the Shenandoah Valley to assist in opposing Stonewall Jackson; and for his efficient services at the battle of Cross Keys, June 8, 1862, he was placed by Gen. Fremont in com. of a division. In the second battle of Bull Run, Gen. Schenck com. a division in Sigel's corps, Aug. 29 and 30, and was severely wounded by a ball which shattered his right arm. Sept. 18, 1862, he was promoted to major-gen.; Dec. 16, 1862, he was app. to com. at Baltimore. During the march of Lee into Pa. in July, 1863, Schenck did good service. M.C. 1-63-71; app. minister to England, Jan. 1871.

Schenck, William Edward, D.D., corresp. sec. and editor Presb. Board of Education, b. Princeton, N.J., 1819. N.J. Coll. 1838. He has pub. "Historical Account of the First Presb. Church, Princeton," 1850; "God our Guide," 1863; "Children in Heaven," 8vo, &c. — Albion.

Schimmelfennig, Gen. Alexander, b. Germany, 1824; d. Minersville, Pa., Sept. 7, 1865. He was an officer under Kossuth in the Hungarian war; at the beginning of 1861 was made com. of a Pa. regt.; served under Sigel in the Va. campaign of Gen. Pope; was made brig.-gen. for his services at Bull Run, 29 Nov. 1862; at Chambersburg he com. the first brigade of Schurz's division of the 11th corps, and held the same com. at Gettysburg; in Feb. 1864 he was sent to St. John's Island. His forces were the first to enter Charleston, Feb. 18, 1865, when flanked by Gen. Sherman. Author of "The War between Russia and Turkey," 8vo, Phila. 1854.

Schlatter (Schlat-ter), Michael, missionary of the German Ref. Church, b. St. Gall, Switzerland, July 14, 1716; d. near Phila. Oct. 1790. He became a clergyman, and in 1746-51 labored as pastor of the Ref. churches of Phila. and Germantown. He organized the synod of the G. R. Church in Amer. in Sept. 1747; went to Europe in 1751, and secured the services of 6 other ministers for the Amer. churches; in 1755 he became supt. of the German charity-schools in Pa.; in 1757 he accompanied an expedi. to Nova Scotia against the French as chaplain to the Roy. Amer. Regt. He was imprisoned by the British in 1777 for his patriotism.

Schley, William, lawyer, gov. of Ga. 1835-7. b. Frederick City, Md., Dec. 14, 1780; d. Augusta, Ga., Nov. 20, 1858. He was educated at the academies of Louisville, and Augusta, Ga.; was adm. to the bar in 1812, practised law; was judge of the Sup. Court of middle dist. of Ga. in 1823-8; was elected a member of the legisl. in 1830; and was M.C. in 1834-5. He pub. a "Digest of the English Statutes," and was pres. of the Med. Coll. of Georgia.

Schmucker, Samuel, M.D., LL.D., historian, son of Samuel S., b. Newmarket, Va., Jan. 12, 1823; d. Phila. May 12, 1873. Wash. Coll. 1840. He studied theology in the "Algie Researches," 2 vols. 1839 (revised ed. 1856); "Tallahagee, a Tale of the Creek War;" "Oneota, or the Red Race of America," 1844; "Personal Memoirs of a Residence of 30 Years with the Indian Tribes on the American Frontiers," 1853; and "The Myth of Hiawatha and other Oral Legends." His two works on the Upper Mpi. have been combined under the title of "Narrative of an Exploratory Exped. to the Sources of the Mpi. River in 1820, resumed and completed by the Discovery of its Origin in Itasca Lake in 1832." "The Indian Fairy-Book," compiled from his MS., was pub. by C. Matthews, N.Y., 1868. — Apphbn.

Schouler, G. S. WILLIAM, adj. gen. MS. 1800-6, b. at Kilmarchan, Scotland, 13 Dec. 1814. Came to N.Y. with his father, a calico printer, in 1835; soon removed to Ms., and followed his father's trade in Taunton, Lynn, and W. Cambridge. Became propr. and ed. of the Lowell Courier 1844-7; one of the proprs. and eds. Daily Atlas, Boston, 1847-53; co-ed. Ch. Gazette, 1853-6; Ohio State Jour., 1856-8; ed. Boston, Atlas and Lib., 1858. Four times in Ms. legisl.; member Const. Conv. 1853. Author of "Mass. in the Civil War," 2 vols. 8vo., 1868-71; and of a series of "Personal and Polit. Recol-," in the Boston Journal in 1870.

Schriver, EDWARD, insp.-gen., and brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Pa. West Point, 1833. Entered 2d Art., transferred to adj.-gen. dept. as capt. 7 July, 1838; resigned 31 July, 1849; pres. Rens. and Saratoga R.R. Co. 1851-61; aide-de-camp to Gov. Morgan, Apr. 1861; lieutenant 11th Inf. 14 May, 1861; col. and A.D.C. 18 May, 1862; col. and insp.-gen. 13 March, 1863; brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A. 1 Aug. 1864, and maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865, for services in the Rebellion; chief of staff (1st corps) Mar. 1862 to Jan. 1863; in the Shenandoah campaign and the Northern Va. campaign, and present at Cedar Mountain, Manassas, and Chantilly; insp.-gen. (Army of the Potomac) 1863-5; and engaged at Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, and in the Richmond campaign from the Rapahan to its close in June, 1865. — Callan.

Schroeder, JOHN FREDERICK, D. D. (Clem. Coll. 1836), clergyman and author, b. Baltimore, Apr. 8, 1800; d. Brooklyn, N.Y., Feb. 26, 1857. N.J. Col. 1819. He studied at the Epis. Theol. Sem. at New Haven; was adm. to holy orders in 1823, and had charge of a parish on the Eastern Shore of Md. for a few months. He was afterward assist. at Trinity Church, N.Y., 14 years, and was a popular preacher. He delivered a course of lectures on Oriental Lit. before the N.Y. Athenaeum; contributed a treatise on the Authenticity and Canonical Authority of the Scriptures of the Old Testament, and a treatise on the Use of the Syriac Language, to a vol. of essays and dissertations on Biblical Literature edited by himself; pub. a memorial volume on the death of Bishop Hobart in 1830. In 1839 he established St. Ann's Hall, at Flushing, L. I., for the education of young ladies. He was some time pastor of the Church of the Crucifixion in N.Y., and St. Thomas's Church, Brooklyn, L.I. He pub. in 1855 "Maxims of Washington, Political, Social, Moral, and Religious," Memoir of Mrs. Mary Anna Boardman, &c., by her son-in-law, 8vo. 1849. At the time of his death he was engaged on "The Life and Times of Washington," a serial work, 2 vols. of which were pub. He lived to complete only 4 numbers. — Doughlass.

Schureman, JAMES, Revol. patriot; d. New Brunswick, N.J., Jan. 23, 1824, a. 67. Rutg. Coll. 1775. At the head of a vol. company, he took part in the battle of Long Island; was taken and imprisoned in the N.Y. sugar-house in the course of the war, and suffered greatly from hunger, but, with a single companion, managed to escape, and joined the Amer. army at Morristown. Delegate to 1st Cont. Congress 1786-7; M.C. '89-91 and '97-99; in 1799-1801 was a U.S. senator, and subsequently became mayor of the city of New Brunswick. He was again a representative in 1813-15.

Schureman, JOHN, D. D. (N.J. Col. 1801), minister of the Dutch Church, N.Y. City; d. there 1818, a. 39. Rutg. Coll. 1795. Prof. theol. in N.J. Theol. Seminary.

Schurz (Shoorts), CARL, orator and politician, b. Lullar, near Cologne, Germany, Mar. 2, 1829. He studied at the Gymnasium of Cologne and at the U. of Bonn; engaged in the revol. outbreak in 1848; joined Gottfried Kinkel in the pub. of a liberal newspaper; but, after an unsuccessful attempt at insurrection at Bonn in the spring of 1849, both were obliged to fly. As adjutant he participated in the defence of Rastadt, and on its surrender made his way to Switzerland. He rescued Kinkel from the fortress of Spandau on the night of Nov. 6, 1850; crossed the frontier into Mecklenburg; thence went to Rostock, and took passage in a schooner for Leith. Schurz then went to Paris, where he was corresp. for German journals till June, 1851, when he went to London, where he was a teacher till July, 1852. He then m. came to Phla., where he remained 3 years, and then settled at Madison, Wis. In the presidential campaign of 1856 he became known as an orator in the German language; in 1858, when Mr. Douglas and Mr. Lincoln were contesting the U.S. senatorship, he delivered his first English speech, which was widely circulated. He next established himself in the practice of law at Milwaukee, and engaged in a lecturing-tour in the winter of 1859-60. In the Repub. Nat. Conv. of 1860 he exercised great influence, especially in determining that portion of the platform relating to citizens of foreign origin. During the canvass which followed, he spoke effectively throughout the Northern States. After Mr. Lincoln's inauguration he was app. minister to Spain. He returned to the U.S. in Dec. 1861; resigned his office as minister; became brig.-gen. of vols. April 15, 1862; maj.-gen. Mar. 14, 1863; June 17 he took com. of a division in the corps of Sigel, with which he disting. himself at the second battle of Bull Run, but was routed by Jackson at the battle of Chancellorsville. He was temporarily in com. of the 11th corps at the battle of Gettysburg, July 1, 1863, where he was conspicuous, as also at Fredericksburg. App. a commiss. to examine and report on the condition of the Southern States, especially upon the Freedmen's Bureau, his report was the war. At Monmouth, where he was the best of the field, he was particularly distinguished. In 1756 he studied in Woodford Co., Ky., and became one of Ky. lawyers with St. Clair at his head in 1791, came in a canoe and helped to the Wabash, and in action with the Indians in May and June, 1791, and in 1794 came in person of Wayne's army at the battle of Fallen Timbers. The sharpshoot of Revolutionary Co. was named for him, also a county in Ky.

Scott, GEORGE VALE HALE, common, U. S. N., b. Va. June 14, 1812. Midshipman, Aug. 1, 1833; lieut. Feb. 25, 1840; com. Dec. 27, 1851; capt. Nov. 1, 1853; commodore U. S. C. Com. Steamer "Keystone State," special service, 1864; steam gunboat "Manatunga," N. A. S. squad, 1862-3; tender "De Soto," 1864; steam sloop "Canaanunga," blockading squad, 1867; steam sloop "Saratoga," Pacific squad, 1869-7; lithograph in p. 1869. — Howe's.

Scott, Henry Lee, author of "Military Dictionary," 8vo, 1841, b. N. C. 1811. West Point, U. S. S. Non-com. and adj. de camp to Gen. Scott, b. by familiarity in the Mexican war, lieut. col. Mex. 7, 1855; and 16 p. gen. 1858, and col. 31 May, 1864; retired for physical disability 30 Oct. 1864, re-joined 31 Oct. 1867. — Howe's.

Scott, Jon, an eminent minister of the Society of Friends. Author of "The Baptism of Christ in Gospel Ordinances," 1803; "War Inconsistent with the Example and Doctrine of Christ," 8vo, 1804. — See "Journal of his Life, Travels, and Labors," Wilmington, 1797. — Howe's.

Scott, Jons, jurist; d. Richmond, Va., Jan. 7, 1804, a. 68. Member of the Virginia 1814-15, of the State Con. Conv. in 1829; in 1834 he was app. judge of the 6th circuit and of the General Court. In the new organization of this last court and the establishment of the special Court of Appeals, March, 1848, he was app. one of the 5 members of the two courts, and so continued until his death.

Scott, Jours Morris, hair-gen. Revol. army, b. N. York 1739; d. Sept. 13, 1784, Y. 45, 1736. A descendant of the baronial family of Scott of Anstruth he was an ardent opponent of British oppression. He acquired the profession of the law, and married Helena Rutgers. With Wm. Livingston of N. J. his voice and pen boldly advocated extreme measures, as the cause of his ultra Whig principles, the nation selected his election to Congress in 1773. He was one of the most active and influential members of the gen. conv. of N. Y. in 1775, and a member of the Prov. Congress that year; June 9, 1776, he was made a brigadier, which office he held till March, 1777. He was with his brigade in the battle of Long Island from March, 1777, to 1780, he was one of the 800 of N. Y.; and was a member of Congress in 1793-4.

Scott, JETTY H. (KISSNEY) b. Pa. 1809; d. Louisville, Pa., 1842. Married to David L. Scott in 1825. A coll. of her poems, with a Memoir by Sarah C. Edgerton (Mrs. M. Col.), was pub. 1844; a new ed. by Mrs. C. M. Sawyer, in 1854. — See Co. squire's Female Poets of Amer.

Scott, MARTIN, b. at 60, U. S. A. b. Bennington, Vt. Feb. 8, 1778. Sept. 8, 1817, he died of his wounds in battle of Ft. Mifflin. Rev. App. lieut. 26th Inf. Apr. 14, 1813; 5th Inf. Aug. 1822, lieut. major, 6th Inf. 1824; 5th and 10th Reg. de la Paque, Mex. 1847; major, 5th Inf. June 29, 1846; com. lieut. and lieut. col. for the same conflicts at Monterey, Mexico, Sept. 23, 1846. He was a famous martial man, and had a rough hard life.

Scott, RICHARD, or early settler in R. F., b. Glenford, Suffolk, Eng., 1697; d. Providence, R. I., 1694-2. A friend and confidant of John Bond, founder of Bradford Co., and came to Bolton in 1694, in Ketchikan, Massachusetts, father of Mrs. Anne Hedges, born Feb. 1697, joined Rev. Wm. Burdett, 1701. He was a cooper by trade, his purchase of the Indians, and one of the 10 members of the special author of the original covenant between them, to be dissolved if they could not be united and agreement made. He died for a political goodwill goodwill. At Bolton, R. I., he in 1697 became a Quaker; and his wife and daughters were whipped and imprisoned in Bolton for Quakerism. He was a committee to settle the controversy with the Indians, by the jurisdiction of Shawano in 1695, and was a dep. to the Assembly in 1696. He left numerous descendants.

Scott, ROMAN KINGSLEY, gen. S. C. 1788-71, b. Am. Cong. Co., Pa., 8 July, 1729. U. S. of State; Mich. Coll. Co., 8 June, 1780, of the war of 1812, grand son of a soldier of the Revol. Settled in practice in Philadelphia, Pa., Lieut. col. 69th O. V. Co. Oct. 1811, col. 53 Reg., 1862; at capture of Fort Donelson, battle of Shiloh, and siege of Corinth, com. sub. at Hatchers River, Tenn., under Gen. Hunt; com. advance of Lee's army on the march into Md.; engaged at Port Conway, Richmond, Jackson, and Champion Hill; com. 2d Div. gade, 3d div. 17th corp., until July 1865.

made prisoner near Atlanta, exchanged 24 Sept. 1864, and was in Sherman's operations before Atlanta, and in the "March to the Sea," as 1st com. in rear of R. F., S. C., 1865-7.

Scott, THOMAS, judge, b. Md. 1752; d. Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 15, 1836. Med. Res. in 1806-17-8-9; in 1708 studied law, and settled in Charlotte. One of the cons. that framed the const. of Ohio in 1802, and of the S. C. senate 1803-9; judge Sup. Court 1800-19; and chief justice 1810-15. — J. F. Goodrich.

Scott, THOMAS HARRIS, D. D., Prot. Epi., missionary, bishop of Oregon and Washington, com. at Savannah, Ga., Jan. 8, 1854; b. 1805, d. N. Y. City, July 14, 1867. Many years a clergyman in Georgia.

Scott, WILLIAM ANDERSON, D. D., b. Tenn. Cumberland, 1833. Formerly pastor of the N. Orleans Presbyterian, and pastor of Convary Church, San Francisco, was in 1854 named over the 120 First Church, New York City. Author of "Diana, a Model for Young Men," 8vo, 1854. "Academ. in Ed. Dec. 1856," 1855; "Trade and Letters," 1856; "The Court Judge," 1858; "The Church of the Future," 1862; "The Church of the Apocalypse," 1862, 8vo, 1867; also a number of tracts, papers in periodicals, &c. — Howe's.

Scott, Winfield, lieutenant-gen., U.S.A.; b. P. 1750; d. Va., June 13, 1786; d. West Point, N.Y., May 29, 1866. Wm. and M. Coll., 1804. Let an orphan in his boyhood, he studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1806. App. capt. of art., May 3, 1808; lieutenant-col. 2d Art., July 6, 1812; adjutant (rank of col.) March 18, 1813; col. 2d Art., March 12, 1813; brig. gen., March 9, 1814; maj. gen. and gen. in chief of the army, June 25, 1814; brig. lieutenant Feb. 28, 1855. Ordered to the Canada frontier in July, 1812; he was made prisoner Oct. 13, at Queens-town Heights; exchanged in the early part of 1813; joined the army of Gen. Dearborn in March, 1813; com. the advance in the attack on Fort George, May 27, and was severely injured by the explosion of a magazine at its surrender. Crossing the Niagara River, July 3, 1814, on the 5th he defeated the British at Chippewa; on the 25th was fought the battle of Lundy's Lane, near Niagara Falls, in which Scott had 2 horses killed under him, and received two severe wounds, one of which left his arm partially disabled. These two engagements, fought with the best British troops, established the prestige of our arms. For these brilliant services he was awarded by Congress a gold medal, Nov. 2, 1814, and was offered, but declined, the secretaryship of war. Visiting Europe on a military and diplomatic capacity, he enjoyed in France the converse and association of the leading captains of Napoleon. During the antislavery troubles in 1832, he was sent to Charleston on a confidential mission, which was completely successful. His prudence and discretion were eminently shown in procuring the removal of the Cherokees from Ga. in 1838, in the Canadian rebellion of 1837-9, and in the boundary dispute between Me. and N. Brunswick in 1859. The annexation of Texas having resulted in war with Mexico, March 9, 1847, Scott landed with 12,000 men at Vera Cruz, invested the city and the castle of St. Juan d'Ulloa, both which capitulated on the 27th; taking up the march toward the capital, he gained successively the battles of Cerro Gordo (April 18), Contreras, San Antonio, and Churubusco (Aug. 19 and 20), Molino del Rey (Sept. 8), Chapultepec (Sept. 13), and captured the city of Mexico (Sept. 14). In these engagements, the Mexicans, though greatly superior in numbers, and having every advantage of position, were signally defeated. In 1852 he was the unsuccessful nominee at the Whig party for the presidency. On the breaking-out of the civil war, he urged wise precautions to prevent the armed withdrawal of the 11 seceding States from the Union, secured the safe march of Pres. Lincoln, the defence of the national capital, the organization of the Union army, and its establishment upon the strategic points of the country. He returned from active service, Nov. 1, 1861, visited Europe in Nov., and devoted his later days to the preparation of his "Autobiography," 2 vols. 8vo, 1864. Also author of "General Regulations for the Army," 1825; and "Infantry Tactics," 1835.

Scottow, Carr, Joshua, merchant and author, of Boston, b. Eng. 1615; d. Boston, 20 Jan. 1698. He came to Boston in 1634 with his mother, a widow, and a brother, Thomas. Two of his daughters, m. Thomas Savage and Samuel Checkley. His son Thomas grad. (H.U.) in 1677. He pub. in 1691 "Old Man's Fears;" in 1694 "A Narrative of the Planting of the Ms. Colony," &c. He was a capt. of militia, confidential agent of La Tour in transactions with the colonial govt. 1654-7.

Scranton, George W., manufacturer, b. Madison, Ct., May 23, 1811; d. Scranton, Luzerne Co., Pa., Mar. 24, 1861. Removing to N.J., and then to Pa., he engaged in his business of iron manuf. in the heart of the coal and iron region, where a large town has grown up which perpetuates his name. M.C. from 1858 till his death.

Sevren, Gns. JAMES; d. of wounds received in a skirmish at Midway, Ga., N. v. 21, 1778. Descended from William, a Baptist minister, who d. Georgetown, S.C., 1713 a. 84. He early engaged in the cause of liberty, and in 1774 was one of the com. which drew up articles of association for its defence in Ga. A brig. gen., commanding the Ga. militia when that State was invaded from E. Fla., he had repeated skirmishes with them between Sunbury and Savannah, in one of which he killed Congress ordered the erection of a monument to his memory.

Scudder, Horace, Eliza, b. Boston, 1838. Wms. Coll., 1858. Author of "Seven Little People and their Friends," 1862; "Dream-Children," 1863; "Late and Letters of D. C. Scudder, Missionary," &c., 8vo, 1864; "Stories from my Attic," 1869. Editor of Kingside Map, and contrib. to Atlantic Monthly, N.Y. Reverie, &c. — V. Jones.

Scudder, Jons, M.D. (Coll. of Phys., and S. 1815), missionary, b. N. Brunswick, N.J., Sept. 3, 1793; d. Wynberg, Cape of Good Hope, Jan. 13, 1855. N.J. Coll., 1811. He studied medicine, and settled in N.Y., where he had previously been house-surgeon of the city hospital. Giving up an extensive practice, he offered himself as a missionary to the Amer. Board; studied theology; and in 1819 was sent as a minister of the D. R. Church. For 19 years he labored in Ceylon, where he also conducted a large hospital, and attained a high reputation as a surgeon and physician, also superintending a number of schools. He was transferred to the Madras mission in 1839; revisited Amer. in 1842-6; but, visiting the Cape of Good Hope on account of his health in 1854, died there. He pub. "The Redeemer's Last Command," "The Harvest Perishing," "Knocking at the Door," "Letters to Children on Missionary Subjects," "Letters from the East," 1833; "Letters to Pious Young Men," 8vo, 1846, &c. His children, 8 sons and 2 daughters, all devoted themselves to missionary labors. — See Memoir by Rev. J. B. Wattsburg, 12mo.

Scudder, Col. NATHANIEL, long a member of the N.J. Assembly; member of the Old Congress 1777-9; killed in a skirmish with an invading party of the enemy at Shrewsbury, N.J., Oct. 15, 1781. N.J. Coll., 1751.

Seabrook, Whitman-B. Bismarck, gov. of S.C. 1848-50; d. St. Luke's Parish, S.C., Apr. 16, 1855, a. ab. 60. N.J. Coll.

1812. He had been a member of the State senate, and pres. of the State Agric. Society.

Seabury, SAMUEL, D.D. (O.M. U. 1777), first Prot.-Eps. Bishop of the U. S., b. Groton, Ct., Nov. 30, 1729; d. Feb. 25, 1796. Y. C. 1748. Son of a Cong. minister of Groton. In 1751 he went to Scotland to study medicine, but turned his attention to theology, and in 1753 was ord. in Lond. He returned to Amer.; was settled at N. Brunswick, N. J.; at Jamaica, L. I., 1756-66; and at Westchester until the commencement of hostilities, when he went to N. Y.; and at one time was chaplain of the king's Amer. regt., also practising medicine. Being the supposed author of some Tory pamphlets, he was in 1775 seized by a party of soldiers, carried to N. Haven, and imprisoned. As the fact of authorship could not be proved, he was suffered to return to Westchester, where he continued to exert himself in behalf of the same opinions. He made a voyage to Eng. in March, 1784, to obtain consecration as bishop of Ct. Meeting with obstacles to his wishes from the English prelates, he was consecrated by three bishops of the Scottish Eps. Church, Nov. 14, 1784, and subsequently fulfilled the duties of his pastoral office at New London till his death. He took part in revising the Prayer-Book, and framing the const. of the church, which was adopted in 1789. He pub. in 1791 two vols. of sermons, to which a suppl. was added in 1798; also two religious tracts.

Seabury, SAMUEL, D.D., clergyman, grandson of the preceding, b. June 9, 1801. Ord. deacon, Apr. 12, 1826; priest, July 7, 1828. Originally a school-teacher. He was for a time missionary to Huntington and Oyster Bay, L. I.; removed to Hallett's Cove (now Astoria), where he founded St. George's Church; became a teacher in the Flushing Inst. in 1830; and in 1834 removed to N. Y. to take charge of the Churchman, newspaper. This journal attained great influence in the Eps. Church, especially in the discussion respecting the Oxford tracts and kindred matters. In 1849 he became rector of the Church of the Annunciation in N. Y. In 1863 he succeeded Dr. Turner as prof. of biblical learning in the Eps. Theol. Sem., N. Y. He has pub. "The Continuity of the Church of Eng. in the 16th Century," N. Y. 1853. 8vo; "Amer. Slavery Justified," 1861, and other works, beside a number of occas. sermons and addresses. — Doppelmaier.

Sealsfield, CHARLES, novelist, b. 1797; d. Solothurn, Switzerland, 26 May, 1864. He resided in Amer. until 1844, when he went to Switzerland. Most of his works were originally written in German. One of the most important of them, "Tokeah, or the White Rose," app. first in English at Phila. in 1828. His "Trans-Atlantic Travelling Sketches," "Pictures of Life in both Hemispheres," and "South and North," are of striking merit; while his great Mexican novel, "The Vicerooy and the Aristocracy," is said to be the most powerful and original of his works. About 1830 he was connected with the press of Lond. and Paris.

Seaman, VALENTINE, M.D. (U. of Phila. 1792), physician, b. N. Hempstead, L. I., 2 Apr. 1770; d. N. Y. City, July 3, 1817. Descended from Capt. John S., who settled at Hempstead about 1660. Studied medicine with Dr. N. Romayne; a surgeon of the N. Y. Hospital from 1796 to his d. Conspicuous in the introd. of vaccination in N. Y. He pub. "Inaug. Discourse on Opium," Phila. 1792; "Waters of Saratoga," 1793; "Midwife's Monitor," 1800; "On Vaccination," 1816; papers in Med. Repts., &c., 1800; and a pharmacopœia. — See Williott's Med. Biog.; Thompson's L. I., Appendix.

Searle, GEORGE W., scholar, legist, and member of the Boston bar (adm. 1847), b. Salem, Ms., 22 Feb. 1826. Besides a successful law-practice, he has devoted much time to literature, and has been for many years law-critic of the Boston Post, attaining in this department of letters a deservedly high reputation. He has prepared treatises "Of the Habeas Corpus;" "Extraord. Remedies,—Error, Certiorari, Prohibition, Mandamus, Quo Warranto," &c.; "Legal Principles, their Exceptions and Limitations;" on "Patents;" and "Hints on the Art of Advocacy," a subject of which he has made especial study. Among his numerous contribs. to periodicals are "The Penal System of Ms.," "Ratations of Insanity to Crime," and "Chief Justice Taney" (Dec. 1864) and "Edward Everett" (Jan. 1865). Nat. Quart. Rev., "Bench and Bar of the U. S. Sup. Court in 1853-4" (Phila. Law Reg.), and on "Richard Fletcher at the Bar" (Amer. Law Rev.). Through the medium of the press and the platform Mr. Searle has sought to elevate labor, and to improve the condition of the toiling and also of the outcast classes of society. He has also lectured upon a variety of other topics, and has delivered speeches and addresses upon festive and other public occasions, mostly discussing social and practical questions.

Searle, JAMES, Revol. patriot and merchant, b. N. Y. City ab. 1730; d. Phila. Aug. 7, 1797. A merchant in the house of his bro. in Madeira; he settled in Phila. about 1763; signed the non-importation agreement of Oct. 25, 1765; was one of the managers of the U. S. Lottery from Nov. 20, 1776, to Aug. 19, 1778, when he was for a short time a member of the navy board; from Nov. 1778 to July, 1780, was a delegate to Congress, where he was chairman of the commercial committee, and on the committees of foreign affairs and of the marine; in Sept. 1780 he was sent to Europe to negotiate a State loan to Pa., but returned in June, 1782, un-successful. — Simpson.

Sears, BARNAS, D.D. (H. U. 1841), LL.D. (Y. C. 1862), clergyman and scholar, b. Sandisfield, Ms., Nov. 19, 1802. Brown U., 1-25. He finished a course of theol. study at Newton in 1829; was 2 years pastor of the First Baptist Church in Hartford; and was app. prof. in the Hamilton Lit. and Theol. Inst., now Madison U., N. Y. He went to Europe in 1833, and studied for several years at Halle, Leipsic, and Berlin. On his return, he was app. a prof. in the Newton Theol. Sem., where he remained 12 years, the latter part of the time as pres.; in 1848 he succeeded Horace Mann as sec. of the Ms. Board of Education; from Aug. 21, 1855, to Feb. 1867, he was pres. of Brown U.; since then gen. agent of the Peabody Educ.

Fund. His publs. are, a new edition of Nohlen's "Grammar of the German Language," 1842; "Classical Studies," 1843; "Ciceronia, or the Prussian Mode of Instruction in Latin," 1844; "Memoir of R. V. B. Jacobs," 12mo, 1857; "Lit. of Luther," 1850, since republished in Eng. with the title "The Mental and Spiritual History of Luther," 1850; numerous reports on education, essays, addresses, and contributions to reviews and periodicals, and to Appleton's "Am. Cyclop.," In 1838, and for several years, he edited the U. S. States Review, and has lately edited the U. S. School Sacra. In 1864 he pub. a discourse on the completion of the first century of Yale College.

Sears, Rev. EDWARD HAMILTON, Unitarian clergyman and poet, b. Sandisfield, Ms., 1810. U. S. Coll. 1834; H. U. Theol. School, 1837. Pastor of the First Church, Wayland, Ms., 1839-40; at Lancaster, Ms., 1840-7; and since 1865 at Weston, Ms. He has edited, with Rev. R. Ellis, the Methodist Hymn, Boston, and has pub. besides hymns, "Regeneration," 8vo, "Pictures of the Olden Time," 1837; "Abraham, or Forgiveness of Inmortality," 1858; "Christian Lyrics," 1860.

Sears, Capt. ISAAC, a patriotic merchant of N. Y., b. Norwalk, Ct., 1729; d. Canton, Mass., 28 Oct. 1786. His ancestor Richard, of Colchester, Eng., came to Plymouth in 1630. In 1758-61 he com. a privateer, and cruised against the French, but lost his vessel by Spanish in 1761. He then engaged in the European and W. India trade; but, after the passage of the Stamp Act, was the foremost of the Sons of Liberty in N. Y. City, and was active during the war. Member of the N. Y. Prov. Congress, and of the Assembly in 1783.

Sears, ROBERT, b. St. John, N. Braunwick, Jan. 28, 1810. Descended from Richard of Plymouth. He moved to N. Y. City. Compiler of several works, which he has had a large sale. — "Illustrations of the Bible," 3 vols.; "Family Bible," 4to; "History of China and India," "Wars of the U. S.," "Description of the U. S.," "Fraternity of Knowledge," "Hist. of the Bible," "Scenes and Sketches of Continental Europe," "Description of Great Britain and Ireland," "Information for the People," "Family Instructor," "History of the Am. Revolution," "Sunday Book," "Bible Biography," "Wonders of the World," "Glad to knowledg," "Description of the Russian Empire," &c. — 1 Jew.

Seaton, WILLIAM WASHINGTON, journalist, b. King William Co., Va., Jan. 11, 1785; d. Wash. 22 Jan. 1867, June 16, 1866. Of Scotch descent, his mother, a Winston, was a sister of Patrick Henry. He was educated at Oglethorpe Acad. at Richmond. He engaged in politics in 1818, was assist. editor of a Richmond paper, subsequently had charge of the Frederick's Weekly, but soon purchased the N. Y. Journal at Herk., whence he removed to Raleigh, and became connected with the Register, — an influential journal edited by Joseph Gates, whose dau. he subsequently married. In 1842 he removed to Washington, and became partner with his bro-in-law, Joseph Gates, jun., in founding the N. Y. Daily Express, of which, after the death of Mr. Gates in July, 1860, Mr. Seaton was sole editor. Their "Register of Debates," from 1824 to 1837, is a standard source of American history; and the Intelligencer, in ability, candor, fairness, and courtesy, was conspicuous among American newspapers. For 12 years (1840-51), Mr. S. was elected mayor of Washington City. He & S. pub. "Annals of Congress, Debates and Proceedings in that Body from Mar. 3, 1798, to May 27, 1824," 42 vols. 8vo. His Life, prep. by his dau., was pub. in Boston in 1871, 1 vol. 12mo.

Seawell, WASHINGTON, brig gen. U. S. A., b. Va. West Point, 1825. Entering the 7th Inf., he became capt. 31 July, 1836; brig. major for meritorious services in war against the Florida Indians, July 18, 1841; was engaged in the defence of Ft. Brown, Texas, May 3-9, 1846; major 2d Inf. Mar. 3, 1847; lieutenant 8th Inf. Feb. 23, 1852; col. 6th Inf. Oct. 17, 1860; retired Feb. 20, 1862; brig. gen. 13 Mar. 1865.

Seccomb, JOHN, clergyman and poet, b. Medford, Ms., April 23, 1708; d. Chester, Nova Scotia, Jan. 1793. H. U. 1728. Minister of Harvard, Ms., from Oct. 10, 1733, to Sept. 1757, and of Chester from 1763 to his death. He pub. an ordination-sermon in Nova Scotia 1770, and a discourse on the death of the wife of Gov. Belcher 1771. His humorous poem, entitled "Father Auld's Will," was pub. both in the U. S. Gazette and Traveller's Magazine in May, 1782; it was reprinted in the Ms. Mag. Nov. 1794, and in 1854 by J. L. Sibley, with hist. and biog. notes.

Seddou, JAMES A., lawyer and politician of Va. Adopted the profession of law, and represented the Richmond dist. in Congress in 1845-7, and 1849-51, was a member of the Peace Congress, Feb. 4, 1861, was elected a delegate to the Confed. Congress, July 20, 1861; and made sec. of war on the resignation of G. W. Randolph, Nov. 18, 1862. He resides in Georgetown, Va.

Sedgwick, CATHARINE MARIA, authoress, dau. of Judge Theodore, b. Stockbridge, Ms., 28 Dec. 1789; d. there July 31, 1867. After the death of her father, in 1813, she superintended the education of the daughters of some of her intimate friends, which she continued to do for 50 years with eminent success. Her first story, "The New-England Tale," appeared anonymously in 1822. In 1824 she pub. "Redwoss," rom. in Eng., and translated into French, Italian, and Swedish; in 1828 "Hope Leslie," one of the most popular of American novels; in 1830 "Clarence, or a Tale of our Own Times," in 1832 "Le Bossu," in 1835 "The Linwoods," a romance of the Revol. and also a collection of short tales; and in the following 3 years "The Poor Rich Man and the Rich Poor Man," "Live and Let Live," "Means and Ends," "Home," and "Love-Token for Children." In 1837 her Memoir of Lucretia Davidson appeared in S. Ark. "Am. Biog." In 1841, on returning from a European visit, she pub. "Letters from Abroad;" in 1845 "Wilton Harvey and Other Tales," next "Morals and Manners," and in 1857 her latest novel, "Married, or Single;" in 1858 she pub. the Life of Joseph Curtis of New York; "Hist. Sketches of the Old Painters," 1841; "Letters to My Pupils," 1862. She wrote much for the magazines. A selection of her works was pub. in 3 vols. in 1849 and in 1856. — Memoir by Miss E. Dewey, 12mo, 1871.

Sedgwick, HENRY DWIGHT, member of the New-York bar, son of Theodore, b. Sheffield, Ms., Sept. 22, 1785; d. Stockbridge, Dec. 24, 1831. Wms. Coll. 1804. He pub. Appeal to the City of New York on the Proposed Alteration of its Charter; English Practice, &c., of the Common Law, 8vo, 1822; Refutation of the Reasons, &c., in the Award in the Case of the two Greek Frigates, 1826. Contrib. to N. A. Review, and articles on politics and religion in the journals of the day. — Bibliog.

Sedgwick, JOHN, maj.-gen. U. S. Vols., b. Cornwall, Ct., Sept. 13, 1743. Killed at Spottsylvania, May 9, 1864. West Point, 1837. Entering the 2d Art., he became 1st lieut. in 1839; brev. capt. for gallantry at Contreras and Churubusco, where he com. his company; was highly disting. for his conduct in the battles of Molino del Rey and Chapultepec, and the attack on the San Cosme Gate, for which he was brev. major; capt. 26 Jan. 1849; major 1st Cav. 8 Mar. 1855; col. Apr. 25, 1861; brig.-gen. vols. Aug. 31, 1861; and maj.-gen. vols. May 31, 1862; engaged in the Florida war in 1857-8; in the Cheyenne exped. 1857; in the Utah exped. 1857-8, and in the Kiowa and Comanche exped. 1860; assigned the com. on the Upper Potomac; in Feb. 1862, and during the Chickahominy campaign, led a division in Sumner's army corps; greatly disting. himself at Fair Oaks, and wounded at Glendale. At the battle of Antietam he was seriously wounded, and on his recovery in Dec. was assigned to com. the 9th (late Burnside's) army corps. Feb. 5, 1863, he took com. of the sixth corps; at its head he carried the heights near Fredericksburg in the Chancellorsville campaign, May, 1863; com. the left wing during the Gettysburg campaign, where he was of great service. At the passage of the Rapidan, Nov. 7, 1863, he captured a whole Confederate division, and was thanked in a General Order. He com. his corps in the battles of the Wilderness during the hardest of the fighting, and, while placing some artillery in position, was struck by a sharpshooter's bullet, and instantly killed. He was one of the oldest, ablest, and bravest of the soldiers of the Army of the Potomac. His simplicity and honest manliness endeared him to all. Brev. brig.-gen. U. S. A. May 31, 1862.

Sedgwick, GLEN ROBERT, b. Eng.; d. Jamaica, May 24, 1656. He had been a member of the Artillery Co. in London; was one of the first settlers of Charlestown, Ms., in 1635; and was an enterprising merchant. He was many years a dep. from Charlestown to the Gen. Court; was one of the founders of the A. and H. Art. Co. in 1638, its capt. 1649; com. the Castle in 1641, and the Middlesex regt. in 1643; and was in 1652 promoted to the highest military rank in the Colony. He was associated with John Winthrop, jun., in the establishment of the first furnace and ironworks in this country in 1643-4. He went to Eng., and was employed by Cromwell to expel the French from Penobscot in 1654; was engaged in the great exped. against the Spanish W. Indies when Jamaica was taken, and, just before his death, was advanced to the rank of maj.-gen. by the Protector.

Sedgwick, TIMOTHY, LL. D. (N. J. Coll. 1799), judge, b. Hartford, Ct., May, 1746; d. Boston, Jan. 24, 1813. Y. C. 1765. His father Benjamin, merchant, a descendant of Gen. Robert, d. when he was 13 years of age. Having been rusticated for a boyish misdemeanor, he left college without finishing his course. Abandoning the study of divinity for the law, he was in April, 1766, adm. to the bar; practiced in Great Barrington, and afterwards in Sheffield. He engaged with ardor in the Revol. struggle; in 1776 served as aide to Gen. Thomas in the exped. to Canada; and subsequently exerted himself to procure supplies for the army. He represented Sheffield several times in the Ms. legisl. before and after the Revol.; was a member of the Cont. Congress in 1785 and '6, and in 1788-97 of the Federal Congress. His exertions in putting down Shay's Rebellion were of the greatest importance. In 1788 he was a representative of Stockbridge in the State conv. that adopted the Federal Const., of which he was a principal advocate; he was speaker of the house in the same year; and a member of the U. S. senate from 1796 to March, 1799, acting as pres. pro tem. in 1797; in 1799 he was again speaker of the house; and from 1802 to his d. was judge of the Supreme Court of Ms. He was one of the counsel, who, soon after the adoption of the Const. of Ms., procured a decision by which such a construction was given to that instrument as to abolish slavery in the State. He was an active member of the old Federal party, and an intimate associate of Hamilton, Jay, Rutledge, Ames, King, and its other leaders. Member Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences.

Sedgwick, TIMOTHY, lawyer and publicist, eldest son of the preceding, b. Sheffield, Ms., Dec. 31, 1780; d. Pittsfield, Nov. 7, 1839. Y. C. 1798. He studied law with his father; was adm. to the bar in 1801; and practiced at Albany, but, from declining health, he retired in 1822 to Stockbridge, the family residence. He was a member of the State legisl. in 1824, '25, and '27, and a prominent member of the Democ. party; was a ready and effective speaker, and enjoyed a successful practice, as well as a high position at the bar. In 1827 he introduced into the State legisl. a project of a railroad across the mountains from Boston to Albany, which was then derided as visionary, but which he succeeded in finally carrying through. He was devoted to the causes of free trade, temperance, and anti-slavery. He pub. "Hints to my Countrymen," 1826; "Public and Private Economy," 1836; and addresses to the Berk-hire Agric. Soc., of which he was pres. in 1823 and '30. He is a grad. of Gov. Wm. Livingston, author of some works of fiction, who d. 1867.

Sedgwick, THEODORE, son of the preceding, lawyer and author, b. Albany, Jan. 27, 1811; d. Stockbridge, Ms., Dec. 8, 1859. Col. Coll. 1829. Adm. to the bar in May, 1833;

he passed the next 15 months in Europe, chiefly in Paris, where he was attached to the legation of Edward Livingston. On his return, he practiced law in N York with great success till ill-health compelled him, ab. 1850, to suspend his labors. Pres. Buchanan tendered him the mission to the Hague in 1857; and the office of assist. sec. of state was twice offered him, but declined. In Jan. 1858 he received an unsolicited app as U S atty for the southern dist. of N Y, which he held till his death. In 1833 he pub. a Lib. of his maternal great-grandfather, Wm. Livingston; "What is Monopoly?" 1833; "Annexation of Texas," 1844; "The American Citizen," a discourse, Un. Coll., 1847; edited the Political Writings of Wm. L. Lutz (2 vols. 8vo, N Y 1849); pub. a "Treatise on the Measure of Damages," N Y, 1847, 5th ed. 1869, a standard authority in America and England; and in 1857 a "Treatise on Statutory and Constitutional Law." First pres. of the N. Y. Crystal-Palace Company. He was a leading contrib. to Harpers's Magazine and Works. His political essays, many of which were contrib. to the Evening Post under the signature of "Veto," were remarkable for their independent spirit, their soundness of judgment, and their clearness and vigor of style.

Sefton, Jons, comedian, b. Liverpool, Eng., Jan. 15, 1805; d. N Y City, Sept. 19, 1868. Educated for the bar. His taste for the stage led him at 16 to enter that career, in which, in certain comic parts, he had no superior. He came to the U.S. in 1827; played for two seasons at the Walnut-st. Theatre, Phila.; and in New York, in the part of Jimmy Twitcher, in "The Golden Farmer," achieved great success and popularity. Sefton was stage-manager at the Astor-place Opera-House during the celebrated Macready riot. He was afterward stage-manager at Richmond; at the Walnut, Phila.; at Charleston and Columbia, S.C.; and at N Orleans under Placide. His last app. was at the Broadway Theatre, for the benefit of Barton Hill, in Oct. 1867.

Seguin, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edward Shilden, vocalists. He was b. Lond., Eng., Apr. 7, 1809; d. N Y City, Dec. 9, 1852. Member of the Lond. Acad. of Music. First appeared at the Queen's Theatre in 1831 as Polyphemus in Handel's "Aes and Galatea." First app. at the Old National, N Y, Oct. 15, 1838, in the opera of Amelie; and afterward performed in the principal cities with considerable repute as a bass singer and comic actor. His wife, Ann Child, first app. at a concert in London; was long a member of the Italian Opera Co., London; and first app. at Drury Lane in 1836, in Fidèle. She was a great favorite in the U.S., but retired from the stage, and taught music in New York, where she is now (1871) living — Biog. Amer. Stage.

Segur (sá-gur), Louis-Philippe, Count de, diplomatist and historian, b. Paris, Dec. 10, 1753; d. there Aug. 27, 1832. Eldest son of Marshal Segur. Entered the army in 1767, and in 1781 received the brev. of 2d col. of the rég. d'isoimais in America; embarked in Aug. in the frigate "Gloire," with his friends Lamoignon, Broglie, and Lauzun, and took part in the capture of Yorktown. After his return to France, he was successively ambassador to St. Petersburg and Berlin. He was ruined by the revolution, and during a considerable period supported his father, as well as his family, by the productions of his pen. Napoleon app. him a member of the council of state 1803, grand-master of the ceremonies, and a senator. On the restoration of the Bourbons, he was created a peer of France, and sided with the liberals. His principal works are a "History of the Reign of Frederick Wm. II.;" "Moral and Political Gallery;" "Ancient and Modern History;" also Mémoires, Souvenirs, et Anecdotes, 3 vols. 8vo, 1824.

Seiss, Josiah Augustus, D.D., b. near Emmitsburg, Pa., 1823. Lutheran pastor in Baltimore, and in 1869 pastor of St. John's Ch., Phila. Author of "Lectures on Hebrews," 1846; "Baptist System Examined," 1854; "The Last Times," &c., 1856; "Threatening Rain," 1861; "Day of the Lord," 1861; "Book of Worship," 1865; "The Lutheran Church," 1868; "Lectures on the Gospels," 1868-9; "Plain Words," &c., 1869. He edited "Digest of Christian Doctrine," 8vo, 1857; "Evangelical Psalmist," 1860. Also pub. sermons and addresses, and is one of the editors of the Lutheran and Missionary, and the Prophetic Times — Alliance.

Selfridge, Thomas O., rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Ms., 10 Oct. 1804. Son of Thomas Oliver, a prominent Federalist and lawyer (III) 1797, d. 1816), who shot Charles Austin in Boston in 1806; was tried and acquitted. Midship. Jan. 1, 1818; lieutenant Mar. 3, 1827; com. Apr. 11, 1844; capt. Sept. 14, 1855; commo. July 16, 1862; rear-adm. (retired list) July, 1870. Attached to the exploring-exped. 1829; com. sloop "Dale," Pacific squad., 1848; steamer "Mississippi," 1861; com. Mare-Island Navy-Yard, Cal., 1862-4; Phila. Navy-Yard, 1867-8; pres. examining board 1869. His son Thomas O., com. U.S.N. (b. 1836, Naval Acad. 1854), was app. lieutenant in 1860; was in the frigate "Cumberland" at the capture of Cape Hatteras and the fight with "The Merrimack" in Hampton Roads; served on the Mpi. and Red Rivers; com. "The Huron" in the attack on Fort Fisher, and led a division of sailors to its assault; com. of Darien exploring-expedition, 1870. — Hammers.

Selkirk, Alexander, a Scottish sailor, b. Largo, 1676; d. 1723. A lieutenant in the navy. Having quarrelled with his capt., he was left on the uninhabited island of Juan Fernandez in 1704, and was rescued by Capt. Woodes Rogers in 1709, who made him his mate. Selkirk's adventures suggested to De Foe the celebrated romance of "Robinson Crusoe."

Selkirk, Thomas, earl of, founder of the Red-river settlements in Western Canada, b. 1774; d. Pau, south of France, Apr. 6, 1820. Author of a treatise on Emigration, Statement respecting his Settlement, 8vo, London, 1817.

Semmes, Raphael, capt. of the Confed. cruiser "Alabama," b. Md. ab. 1810 of Irish and Scotch parentage. Midsh. U.S.N. 1 Apr. 1826; lieutenant Feb. 1837; com. coast-survey steamer "Poinsett" in 1843; the brig "Porpoise" in 1846; served as vol. aide to Gen. Worth in the battles in the Valley of Mexico; com. 1855; see light-house board 1859-61; resigned, and app. com. Confed. navy on the breaking-out of the Rebellion; com. the steamer "Sumter," and cruised successfully against Amer. commerce in the W. Indies, blockaded at Tangier, and obliged to sell his vessel there, went to Eng., where the fast steamer "200" was built for him, and in Aug. 1863 he put to sea, inflicting great injury on our commerce. This vessel was sunk off Cherbourg, France, by the U.S. steamer "Kearsarge," Capt. Winslow, 19 June, 1864. Claims to a large amount against the British govt., growing out of its disregard of international comity in permitting the sailing of this vessel, are now (1872) in course of arbitration at Geneva. Semmes has been app. prof. of moral philos. in the State seminary of La. at Alexandria. Author of "Service Aboard Ashore during the Mexican War," 8vo, 1851; "Campaign of Gen. Scott in the Valley of Mexico," 1852; "Cruise of the Alabama," 1864.

Semple, Gls. James, senator and jurist, b. Ky., 1799; d. El-sah Landing, Ill., Dec. 1866. He practised law in Louisville; removed to Ill. ab. 1827, and practised at Edwardsville, Madison Co. Elected to the legisl., he became speaker for several sessions; in 1833 atty-gen. of the State, and gen. of militia; was chargé d'affaires to New Granada in 1837-41; judge of the Supreme Court of Ill. in 1842; and U.S. senator in 1843-7.

Semple, Robert, gov. of Earl Selkirk's settlement on Red River, U.C.; was murdered near that place in 1846. Author of several books of travel.

Semple, Robert Baylor, D.D. (B.U. 1816), a Baptist clergyman, b. Jan. 20, 1769; d. Frederickburg, Va., Dec. 25, 1831. He received a classical education; became a teacher at the age of 16, and studied law, which at the age of 20 he relinquished for divinity, becoming in 1790 pastor of the Braigton Baptist Church. In 1805 he was offered the presidency of Transylv. U., but did not accept. He pub. a "Catechism for Children," 1809; "A History of the Va. Baptists in 1810;" "Memoir of Elder Stranghan," "Letters to Alexander Campbell," and some minor works. In 1827 he became the financial agent of Columbia Coll., retaining his pastorate. From 1820 to his d. he was pres. of the triennial convention of the Baptist denomination in the U.S.

Senter, Isaac, M.D. (Y.C. 1792), physician, b. N.H. 1735; d. Newport, R.I., Dec. 20, 1799. He went to Newport early in life; studied medicine with Dr. Thomas Moffat; was a surgeon in the Revol. army, and accomp. Arnold's expd. to Quebec, an interesting account of which, prepared by him, is pub. in "Hist. Soc. of Pa. Bulletin," vol. i. He afterward practised in Pawtucket, but removed to Newport, and became the most disting. practitioner both of physic and surgery in the State. He contrib. to the medical journals of the day, and pub. in the "Trans. of the Coll. of Physicians of Phila.," "Remarks on Phthisis Pulmonalis." An hon. member of the medical societies of Lond., Edinb., and Ms., and was for many years pres. of the Society of Cincinnati of R.I. — Thacher.

Sergeant (sar'jant), Erasmus, M.D. (H.U. 1811), physician, of Stockbridge, Ms., b. Stockbridge, Aug. 7, 1742; d. there Nov. 14, 1814. A M. of Y.C. 1784. Son of Rev. John. Spent two years at N.J. Coll., and studied medicine with his uncle, Dr. Thomas Williams of Deerfield. He was a skilful surgeon, and became the principal operator within a circle of 30 miles. Major in the 7th Regt. of the county, with which he did duty at Lake Champlain from Dec. 1776 to Apr. 1777, and until Burgoyne's surrender.

Sergeant, John, missionary to the Indians, b. Newark, N.J., 1710; d. Stockbridge, July 27, 1749. Y.C. 1729. Tutor there 1731-5. Ord. 31 Aug. 1735. He began to preach at Housatonic, an Indian village in Western Ms., in Oct. 1734. With great labor, he translated the New Testament, and some portions of the Old, into the Indian tongue, and also pub. a Letter on the Indians, and a Sermon, 1743. These Indians emigrated to New Stockbridge, N.Y., and were 60 years under the care of his son John, who died there Sept. 8, 1824, a. 77.

Sergeant, John, LL.D. (Dick. 1826; H.U. 1844), an eminent lawyer and statesman, son of Jonathan Dickinson, b. Phila. Dec. 5, 1779; d. there Nov. 23, 1852. N.J. Coll. 1795. Abandoning his intention of becoming a merchant, he applied himself to the study of law, and was adm. to the Phila. bar in July, 1799. For more than half a century he was extensively known as one of the most honorable and profound members of his profession, and one of its acknowledged leaders. He entered public life in 1801, when he was app. commis. of bankruptcy by Jefferson. He was afterwards dep. atty-gen. of Pa.; member of the legisl.; in 1818 pres. of the Pa. Const. Conv.; M.C. in 1815-23, 1827-9, and 1837-42. In 1829, as the leading champion of the Northern States, he displayed his great intellectual powers in procuring the passage of the Mo. Compromise, Mar. 4, 1826, he was app. one of the two envoys-extr. and ministers-plenipo. to the Panama Congress; in 1832 he was the Whig candidate for the vice-presidency, but was defeated; and when, in 1840, Gen. Harrison became pres. of the U.S., the mission to Eng. was tendered to Mr. Sergeant, but declined. His last office was that of arbitrator, app. by Sec. Marey to determine a long-pending and vexatious controversy between the U.S. and the State of N.J. He acted as pres. of the House of Refuge from the date of its establishment, and was also pres. of the Apprentices' Library Co. His "Select Speeches" were pub. Phila. 8vo, 1832. He pub. a eulogy on Adams and Jefferson, and a speech on the Missouri Question, 1820.

Sergeant, Jonathan Dickinson, lawyer and patriot, brother of the preceding, b. Newark, N.J., 1736; d. Phila. Oct. 1793. N.J. Coll. 1762. He studied law, and commenced practice in his native State. Was a member of the Cont. Cong. in 1776-7; took his seat a few days after the Decl. of Indep.; and in July, 1777, became atty-gen. of Pa.; which post he resigned in 1780, and devoted himself to his prof. law. Before the close of the war, he transferred his residence to Phila.; soon became conspicuous at its bar, continuing to reside there until he fell a victim, during the prevalence of the yellow fever, to his benevolent exertions as one of the board of health.

Sergeant, THOMAS, jurist, b. Phila. Jan. 14, 1782; d. there May 5, 1860. N.J. Coll. 1798. Son of the preceding. He studied law; was app. clerk of the mayor's court; was a rep. in the State legisl. in 1812-14; in 1814-17 judge of the Dist. Court; in 1817-19 sec. of Pa.; 1819-20 atty.-gen.; postmaster of Phila. 1824-32; and assoc. justice of the Sup. Court of Pa. Feb. 1834-46. In connection with Wm. Rawle he reported the decisions of the Sup. Court from 1814 to 1828. He pub. "Treatises on the Land Law of Pa.," 1838; on "Constitutional Law," 1822; on "Attachment," 1811; and "Sketch of the National Judiciary Powers;" and in early life was a contr. of prose and poetry to periodicals. He was long pres. of the Hist. Soc. of Pa., member of the Philos. Soc. and of the N.E. Hist. and Gen. Soc. He m. Sarah Bache, a gr.-dan. of Franklin. — N. E. Hist. and Gen. Rep., xiv 292.

Sessions, DARIUS, patriot and lieutenant-gov. of R.I.; d. Providence, Mar. 1809, a. 92. Y.C. 1737.

Seton, ELIZA ANN, founder of the Sisters of Charity in the U.S., b. N.Y. Aug. 28, 1774; d. Emmetsburg, Md., Jan. 4, 1821. Dan. of Dr. Richard Bayley, and in her 20th year was m. to Mr. Wm. Seton, upon whose death at Leghorn, in 1803, she returned to N.Y.; was received into the R.C. Church, and for support opened a school in Baltimore, whither she removed with her children. In 1809 she was enabled, by an ample endowment from a Mr. Cooper, to open a semi-conventual establishment at Emmetsburg. Their first charge outside of their own house was that of an orphan asylum in Phila., to which 3 sisters were sent in 1814. In 1817 an act of incorporation of the sisterhood was passed by the legisl. of Md. Her life, by Rev. Charles J. White, was pub. in N.Y. 1853. — Appleton.

Severance, LEONARD, journalist and politician, b. Montague, Ms., Oct. 28, 1797; d. Augusta, Me., Jan. 25, 1855. In 1825 he quitted his apprenticeship to Gales and Seaton of Washington, and established the Kennebec Journal in Augusta, which he printed and edited himself. Five years later he was sent to the State legisl., and was repeatedly a member of the senate and of the house. M.C. in 1843-7, and was commiss. to the Sandwich Islands in 1850-4.

Sevier, AMMOS, H., lawyer and senator, b. Middle Tenn. in 1802; d. Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 31, 1848. Fatherless, poor, and scantily educated, he emigr. in 1820 to the newly organized Terr. of Ark., where he managed to be adm. to the bar before attaining the age of 21. Was also app. clerk of the Terr. legisl.; was elected to the legisl. in 1823 and 1825; represented the Terr. of Ark. in Congress in 1827-36, and the State as a U.S. senator in 1837-48, when he was selected by Pres. Polk to negotiate a treaty of peace with Mexico. Chairman of the com. on Indian affairs for many years, and afterwards of the com. on foreign relations.

Sevier, GEN. JOHN, b. of French parentage (Xavier), on the Shenandoah Va., 1745; d. near Fort Decatur, Ga., Sept. 24, 1815. Went with an exploring-party to the Holston River E. Tenn. in 1769; built Fort Watonga, and aided in its defence against the Indians; served as capt. in Dunmore's expedi., and was in the battle of Point Peaunt; a delegate in 1772 to a conv. at Halifax, N.C.; member of the Assembly in 1777, and procured the establishment of a district, and the extension of State laws, establishment of courts, &c. After much successful Indian fighting in 1777 made lieutenant-col.; in 1779 he fought with them the successful battle of Boyd's Creek; com. a regt.; and was one of the leaders at King's Mountain, Oct. 7, 1780, and received sword and thanks from N.C. Legisl. Was in the battle of Musgrove's Mills, and in 1781 he was attached to Marion's command, and at the close of the war was a brig.-gen. In 1784 he was made gov. of the State of "Franklin," the name by which the Tenn. settlements first became politically known. In 1786 he again chastised the Cherokees for disregarding treaty obligations. When Tenn. was organized in 1788, he was gov. until 1801, and in 1803-9; M.C. 1811-15; accepted a mission to the Creek Indians in 1815, but d. while engaged in its performance.

Sewall, DAVID, LL.D. (Bowd. Coll. 1812), jurist, b. York, Me., Oct. 7, 1735; d. there Oct. 22, 1825. H.U. 1755. Son of Samuel, who d. Apr. 28, 1769, a 81. Classmate and friend of John Adams. Established himself at York in 1759; practised law several years; was app. justice of the peace 1762, register of probate 1766; took an active part in the Revol.; was chosen councillor, and was app. in 1777 a justice of the Superior Court; and from 1789 to 1818 was judge of the U.S. Dist. Court of Me. He represented York in the Ms. legisl. in 1776.

Sewall, JONATHAN, LL.D., jurist and loyalist, b. Boston, Aug. 24, 1728; d. St. John, N.B., Sept. 26, 1796. H.U. 1748. His father Jonathan was a nephew of Chief Justice Stephen. In early life he was the intimate friend and associate of John Adams. He was several years, and until 1756, a teacher in Salem. Commenced the practice of law in Charlestown, and in 1767 was app. atty.-gen. of Ms. In May, 1769, he commenced a suit in behalf of a negro to obtain his freedom from his master, — James vs. Richard Lechmere of Cambridge. The suit terminated the following year in favor of the negro, — two years previously to the settlement of the case of the negro Somerset, which Blackstone commends so highly. In 1768 he was app. judge of the Admiralty Court for Nova Scotia, but did not remove thither. At the commencement of the Revol. he resided at Cambridge in the Vassal House, subsequently Washington's headquarters. Early in 1775 he went to Eng., and was among those proscribed April 30, 1774; in 1788 he removed to St. John, N.B., where he was judge of the Vice-Admiralty Court until his death. Author of a number of political papers. To him was ascribed for some time the author ship of the Letters of "Massachusettsensis" (see John Adams's reprint of the Letters of Novanglus and M.), although Trumbull, in his burlesque of Gage's proclamation (the foundation of McFingal) in 1775, assigned the authorship properly to Daniel Leonard.

Sewall, JOSIAH M. MITCHELL, lawyer and poet, b. Salem, Ms., 1745; d. Portsmouth, N.H., March 29, 1808. He was adopted by his uncle, Chief Justice Stephen Sewall. Studied law; was disting. at the bar; and in 1774 was register of probate for Grafton Co., N. H., afterward removing to Portsmouth, N.H. For many years previous to his death he was intemperate. His occasional poetic pieces, some of which attained great popularity, were collected and pub. in 1801; many were of a political cast, and were printed in most of the Federal gazettes from Maine to Georgia. He was noted for wit, and was eminent in social qualities. In his epilogue to the tragedy of "Cato," written in 1778, occurs the well-known couplet:—

"No pent-up Utopia contracts your powers;
But the whole boundless continent is yours."

His lyrics, especially his "War and Washington," warmed the patriotism and cheered the hearts of the soldiers of the Revol. In 1798 he printed "The Versification of Washington's Farewell Address;" and in 1788 delivered "The Fourth-of-July Oration" in Portsmouth, which was published.

Sewall, JOSEPH D. D. (U. of Glasg. 1731), divine, b. Aug. 15, 1658; d. June 27, 1769. H. U. 1707. Son of Chief Justice Samuel. Ord. colleague with Pemberton at the Old South Church, Boston, Sept. 16, 1713; in 1724 was offered the pres. of H. U., which he declined. Correspondent member of the Society in Scotland for promoting Christian Knowledge; and was also a commiss. of the London corp. for the Propagation of the Gospel in N.E. and Parts Adjacent. A man of great benevolence, a friend of learning, and donated to H. U. a fund to be appropriated to indigent scholars. He pub. 23 funeral and other sermons, also "Four Sermons," 1741. — Elit.

Sewall, RUFUS KING, b. Edgecomb, Me., 1814. Bowd. Col. 1837. Author of "The Christian's Miniature," 1844; "Sketches of St. Augustine," 1848; "Ancient Dominions of Maine," 8vo, 1850; "Appeal to the Sons of Temperance," 1850. — U. Lib.

Sewall, SAMUEL, jurist, b. Bishop-Stoke, Eng., March 23, 1652; d. Jan. 1, 1730. H. U. 1671. His grandfather Henry, b. in 1556, came to N. E., lived in Newbury or Rowley, Ms., and d. ab. 1655. His father Henry came over in 1634, began the settlement at Newbury, and, returning, finally settled there in 1650, being followed by his wife and children in 1661. Samuel, after studying divinity, and preaching for a short time, came into possession of it, at it was d. by his marriage, Feb. 28, 1676, with Hannah, dau. of John Hull, goldsmith of Boston. Arrived in 1674-6, he made a voyage to Eng. and Wales, and returning in 1684, resumed his seat on the board of assistants. He was never chosen to the council, from 1692 until 1725, was a judge from 1692 to 1718, when he was made chief justice; and in 1728 resigned, in consequence of age and infirmity, this, as well as the office of judge of probate for Suffolk. Sharing in the then general belief in witchcraft, he concurred in the condemnations in 1692; but at a public test, Jan. 14, 1697, a "bill" was read by his minister, Rev. Samuel Willard, before the cong., in which he acknowledged his own guilt, asked the pardon both of God and man, and deprecated the divine judgments for his sin. He contributed liberally to the spread of the gospel among the Indians; and in 1699 was chosen one of the commiss. of the Society in Eng. for the Propagation of the Gospel in N. E., and soon after their sec. and treasurer. His sympathy for African slaves prompted him in 1700 to pub. a tract entitled "The Selling of Joseph," in which he advocated their rights; it being his opinion that there would "be no progress in gospelling" until slavery was abolished. His benevolence and charity were great, and his house was a seat of hospitality. He published "Answer to Queries respecting America," 1690; "Accomplishment of Prophecies," 1713; "A Memorial relating to the Kennebec Indians," 1721; "A Description of the New Heaven," &c., 1727. His Diary and other papers are now in possession of the Ms. Hist. Society.

Sewall, SAMUEL, LL.D., A. A. S., jurist, b. Boston, 11 Dec. 1757; d. Wiscasset, Me., 8 June, 1814. H. U. 1776. Grandson of Rev. Joseph. His mother was a dau. of Edmund Quincy. He practised law in Marblehead; soon became eminent; was a member of the State Legisl. M. C. 1797-1800; judge of the Sup. Court 1800-13; chief justice from Nov. 1813 to his death.

Sewall, SAMUEL, bro. of Stephen, mechanician, and constructor of bridges; d. York, Me., July 28, 1815, a. 91. He possessed a vigorous and inventive mind; was well versed in the principles of mechanics and nat. philos.; and was the author of a number of improvements in the arts, among which is the construction of bridges on piles, which he first introduced at York, Me., in 1761. In 1786 he superintended the erection of the Charlestown bridge on this plan.

Sewall, SAMUEL, pastor of a Cong. church at Burlington, Ms., Apr. 13, 1814, to his d. 18 Feb. 1863; b. Marblehead, Ms., 1 June, 1785. H. U. 1804. Son of Judge Samuel (H. U. 1776). Studied theol. at Cambridge, and was fond of antiquarian pursuits. Author of "History of Wolurn, Ms.," pub. with a Memorial Sketch by Rev. C. C. Sewall, 8vo, 1868.

Sewall, STEPHEN, jurist, b. Salem, 18 Dec. 1704; d. Sept. 10, 1760. H. U. 1724; tutor there 1728-30. Son of Maj. Stephen of Newbury. He taught school in Marblehead, and preached acceptably; was judge of the Superior Court 1730-52; chief justice, and member of the council, from 1752 till his death.

Sewall, STEPHEN, Hebraist, b. York, Me., April 4, 1734; d. July 23, 1804. H. U. 1761. Son of Nicholas. He earned the means of entering college by working, as a joiner; taught the grammar-school at Cambridge; became the row tutor at the college in 1762; and when the Hancock professorship was founded, Jene

17, 1765, continued more than 20 years in that chair. He took an early part in the Revolt; and was a representative from Cambridge in 1777. He pub. a Hebrew grammar, 1763; some translations and obituary discourses; "Carmina Sacra," &c., 1789; "Scripture History of Sodom and Gomorrah," 1796; and left in MS. a Chaldee and English Dictionary. He contrib. 7 of the Greek and Latin poems in the "Poetae et Grammatici," 4to, 1761, and was an accomplished scholar.

Sewall, WILLIAM BARTLETT, journalist, and member of the Portland bar, son of Daniel, b. York, Me., 1782; d. 1869. H.U. 1803. Author of the "Maine Register;" assisted his father in almanac-making; was a contrib. to many papers, and editor of the Portland Advertiser.—Winn's Lawyers of Maine.

Sewall, JOSIAH, LL.D. (H.U. 1832), b. Cambridge, Ms., 1766; d. Quebec, Nov. 12, 1839. Son of Jon. Sewall (ante). Educated at the grammar-school, Bristol, Eng. Went to New Brunswick in 1785; to Quebec in 1789; was adm. to the bar, Oct. 30, 1789; was solicitor-gen. in 1793; advocate and atty.-gen. and judge of vice-admiralty in 1795-1808; member of 3 successive parliaments; chief-justice in 1808-38 and pres. of the exec. council 1808-29; speaker of the legisl. council from Jan. 9, 1809, to his d. Author of a Memoir of Sir Jas. Craig, and an essay on French Canadian Law 1834.

Sewall, WILLIAM GRANT, journalist and author, b. Quebec, 1829; d. there Aug. 9, 1862. Grand-son of Jonathan, chief justice of L.C. Educated for the law, he preferred journalism, and in 1852 became connected with the New-York daily press, and was for some time one of the principal editors of the N.Y. Daily Times. Some years passed in the West Indies in search of health resulted in his publishing "The Ordeal of Free Labor in the West Indies," 1861.

Seward, WILLIAM HENRY, LL.D. (Y.C. 1834), state-mem. b. Florida, Orange Co., N.Y., 16 May, 1801. Un. Coll. 1820. Son of Saml. S. Seward, M.D. (who d. 1849), and Mary Jennings. In 1819 he taught school 6 months in Ga. He studied law under John Duer and Ogden Hoffman; was adm. to the bar in 1822; began practice at Auburn in 1823, and acquired a high reputation as a criminal lawyer. In 1824 he m. Francis Adeline, dau. of Judge Elijah Miller. In 1828 he was pres. of a State conv. of young men who favored the re-election of J. Q. Adams; member of the State senate in 1830-31, he m. d. in 1832 an able speech in favor of the U. S. Bank, and became a leader of the opposition party afterward known as Whigs. In 1833 he made a tour in Europe, and pub. his observations in a series of letters. The unsuccessful candidate for gov. of N.Y. in 1834, but elected in 1838, and again in 1840; he favored internal improvements, reform in the courts of law and chancery, and the extension of education. In 1842 he resumed his profession, practicing extensively, chiefly in the U.S. courts. He supported Henry Clay in 1841, and Gen. Taylor in 1848; opposed the annexation of Texas; and was U.S. senator in 1846-51, and sec. of state under President Lincoln and Johnson in 1861-9. He was the friend and adviser of Pres. Taylor, and dising. himself by his firm resistance to the extension of slavery. In March, 1850, he made a speech in favor of the admission of California into the Union, in which occurs his famous phrase, "the higher law." He opposed the compromise of 1850, and was denounced as a seditious agitator. His speeches on the repeal of the Mo. Compromise and the admission of Kansas were widely circulated. He opposed the Native-American party, and was one of the chief founders of the Republican party. In a speech at Rochester in Oct. 1858, he declared that the antagonism between freedom and slavery is "an irrepressible conflict" between opposing and enduring forces. In 1856 he labored earnestly and effectively in support of Fremont for the presidency, and was himself a prominent candidate for that honor in the Republican Convention of 1860. He advocated Mr. Lincoln's election in 1860, during an extended tour, in a series of speeches. As sec. of state, he exhibited much ability in relation to foreign policy during the civil war. Among the important subjects of his diplomacy were the liberation of Mason and Slidell, and the French invasion of Mexico in 1862. In the spring of 1865 he was thrown from his carriage, and his arm and jaw were broken. While lying in this crippled state, April 14, 1865, Lewis Payne, alias Powell, an accomplice of J. Wilkes Booth, entered his house, broke the skull of Frederick Seward, and with a knife inflicted several severe wounds on the neck and face of the secretary. Mr. Seward sustained President Johnson's reconstruction policy against the nearly unanimous sentiment of the Republican party. Author of a "Life of John Quincy Adams," 1849. His complete works, including selections from his corresp. and his valuable Notes on N.Y., speechs, addresses, &c., were pub. in 4 vols. 8vo, N.Y. 1853-62.

Seybert, ADAM, M.D., b. Phila. 1773; d. Paris, May 2, 1825. M.C. 1809-15 and 1817-19. In 1793 he went to Europe, and studied at Lond., Edinb., Paris, and Göttingen, giving special attention to chemistry and mineralogy. Author of "Inaug. Dissert. on Purification of the Blood," 8vo, 1793; "Statistical Annals of the U.S.," 1789-1819, 4to, 4 1/2; "Experiments and Observations on Land and Sea Air, and on the Atmosphere of Mars," in the "Transactions" of the Amer. Philos. Soc. &c.

Seymour, HORATIO, LL.D. (Y.C. 1847), U.S. senator 1821-33, b. Litchfield, Ct., May 31, 1778; d. Middlbury, Vt., Nov. 21, 1857. Y.C. 1797. Son of Major Moses of Litchfield, a Rev. solider, and many years a representative to the State legisl., who d. Sept. 17, 1826, a. 84. Horatio studied law at the Litchfield Law School, and settled in Middlbury, Vt., in 1799; member of the council 1809-17. He resumed practice in 1833; was the Whig candidate for gov. of Vt. in 1836; and in Oct. 1847 was app. judge of probate.

Seymour, HORATIO, LL.D. (Ham. Coll. 1858), gov. N.Y. 1853-5 and 1863-5, b. Omandy, Co., N.Y., 1811. Studied law, and practised at Utica, but soon gave his whole time to the care of the large estates left by his father and father-in-law. Strongly attached to the Democ. party, he was in 1841 chosen to the State Assembly; mayor of Utica 1842; speaker of the legis. in 1845. In Jan. 1861 he delivered a speech at Albany strongly advocating concessive and conciliatory measures toward the seceding States, which position he maintained in numerous public addresses. Pres. of the Nat. Democ. Convention at Chicago, Aug. 1864; candidate for gov. in Nov. 1864, and defeated; pres. of the Nat. Democ. Convention in N. Y. 4 July, 1868, and nominated to the presidency of the U. S., but received only 80 electoral votes, and was defeated by Gen. Grant.

Seymour, THOMAS HARR, soldier and politician, b. Hartford, Ct., 1808; d. there 3 Sept. 1868. Educated at the Middletown Milit. Acad. He practised law; edited the A. J. Freeman, a Democ. newspaper, in 1857; was a judge of probate; M. C. 1849-53; served in the Mexican war as maj. 9th Regt. 1847; lieut.-col. 12th Inf. 12 Aug. 1847; com. the 9th Inf. on the 1st of Col. Rinson; brev. col. for Chapultepec 13 Sept. 1847; gov. of Ct. 1850-3; minister to Russia 1853-7. His sympathies were strongly with the South during the Rebellion.

Seymour, THOMAS, brev. maj.-gen. U. S. A., b. Buram, Conn., Sept. 24, 1824. West Point, 1846. Entering the 1st Art., he was brev. 1st lieut. and capt. for gallantry at Cerro Gordo, Contreras, and Churubusco; was in 1850-3 assist. prof. of drawing at West Point; served in the 1st Florida war (1856-8); became capt. 1st Art. 22 Nov. 1860; and under Maj. Anderson served at Fort Sumter in April, 1861; transferred to the 5th Art., he joined the Army of the Potomac in March, 1862, and was made chief of art. of McCull's division. Brig.-gen. vols. Apr. 28, 1862, he com. the left wing at the battle of Mechanicsville, June 26. In the battles of Manassas, South Mountain, and Antietam, he led a brigade in Meade's division. Com. division at the assault of Fort Wagner, and severely wounded, 18 July, 1863; com. expedition to Florida, Feb. 1864, and fought the battle of Olustee 20 Feb. 1864; com. a brigade 6th corps in battle of the Wilderness, and captured 6 May, 1864; com. division 6th corps in Shenandoah Valley, Oct.-Dec. 1864, and in the Richmond campaign, Dec. 1864 to 16 Apr. 1865. Brev. maj. for Fort Sumter, lieut. col. for South Mountain, col. for Antietam, brig.-gen. (13 Mar. 1865) for capture of Peterburg, and maj.-gen. for services during the Rebellion. Maj. 5th Art. 13 Aug. 1866. A. M. of Wms. Coll. 1865. — Callam.

Shaler, GES. ALEXANDER, major N. Y. 7th Regt. before the Rebellion; lieut.-col. 65th N. Y. Regt. 11 June, 1861; col. 17 July, 1862; brig.-gen. vols. 26 May, 1863. Served in Peninsular campaign; under Pope in Va., and under McClellan in Md.; was at Frederickburg in Dec. 1862; com. a brigade, and disting. in storm of Marve's Heights, May, 1863; was at Gettysburg, Rappahannock Station (Nov. 8, 1863); was taken prisoner at the battle of the Wilderness, in May, 1864, and confined at Charleston, S. C.; exchanged in Aug. 1864; com. 2d div., 7th corps, and post of Duval's Buft. Ark., in Jan. 1865; and brev. maj.-gen.

27 July, 1865; app. maj.-gen. 1st div. national guard, S. N. Y., 23 Jan. 1867.

Shaler, WILLIAM, U. S. consul at Havana; d. there 29 Mar. 1833, a. 55. A. M. of N. J. Coll. 1828. Formerly consul-gen. at Algiers. He displayed signal abilities in trying circumstances, and was commissioned to negotiate a treaty with the latter power in 1815. His "Sketches of Algiers," pub. 1826, was very serviceable to the French in their operations against that place. He also pub. in the Philos. Trans. a paper on the Language of the Berbers in Africa.

Shank, DAVID, a British gen., b. Va.; d. Glasgow, Oct. 16, 1831. App. a lieut. of loyalists under Lord Dunmore in Va. in 1775; was at Guyann's Island and other skirmishes; was a vol. at the battle of Long Island, Aug. 27, 1776; was app. a lieut. in the Queen's Rangers, March, 1777; engaged at Brandywine, Sept. 11, 1777, when 14 out of his 21 officers were killed and wounded; disting. himself at Germantown and Monmouth; succeeded to a company, Oct. 1778; and was engaged at the battle of Springfield, N. J. In Aug. 1779 he com. a troop of dragoons; afterward com. the cavalry of the Queen's Rangers in Va., with which he sustained a severe action at Spencer's Ordinary; in 1792 he raised a light-inf. corps for Canada, called the Queen's Rangers; and com. the troops in Upper Canada in 1796. He went to Europe in 1799; was made col. in 1808, maj.-gen. 1811, and a lieut. gen. in 1821. — Howe.

Shanly, WALTER, engineer, b. Queen's Co., Ireland. Came to Canada in 1836; in latter Canadian parliament; was prominently engaged in the construction of the Welland Canal; was engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway; and employed with his bro. Francis since Mar. 1869, under an appropriation of five millions, to complete the tunnel through the Hoosac Mountain.

Shannon, MARY EULALIE FLEE, b. Flemingsburg, Ky., 9 Feb. 1824; d. Auburn, Cal., 26 Dec. 1875; m. 31 Jan. 1854 to John Shannon, editor at Auburn, Cal. Descend. d. on the mother's side, from John Carver the Pilgrim; on the father's, from the family to which belonged John Philpot Curran. She was a contrib. of verses to Arthur's Home Misc. and to Western papers. A vol. of her poems, entitled "Buds, Blossoms, and Leaves," was pub. Cin. 1854. — Poets and Poetry of the West.

Shannon, WILSON, lawyer and politician, b. Belmont Co., O., Feb. 24, 1802. Advers. Coll., O., and Transylv. U., Ky. Adopted the profession of law, and in 1835 was proc. atty. for O.; gov. of the State in 1838-40, and again in 1842-4; was minister to Mexico 1844; M. C. 1853-5; Terr. gov. of Kansas 1855-July, 1856. He has since practised law at Lawrence, Kansas.

Sharp, DANIEL, D. D. (B. U. 1828. Baptist minister, b. Huddersfield, Eng., Dec. 26, 1783; d. Md. June 23, 1853. In 1822 he came to America as a commercial agent, and established himself in N. Y. He had previously received a good academic education, and having studied theology, took charge of a Baptist cong. in Newark, N. J., in 1809, but in 1811 removed to Boston, and became pastor of the Baptist Church in Charles Street, in which position he continued from April 29, 1812, to June 23, 1833. An active member of the Ms. Missionary Society, one of the editors of the Am. Baptist Magazine, a founder of the Northern Baptist Education Society, and of the New-Eng. Theol. Sem. His pub. writings consist entirely of sermons and addresses, of which about 20 are extant.

Sharpe, William, b. Cecil Co., Md., Dec. 13, 1742; d. Fredell Co., N. C., July, 1818. At 21 he moved to Mocklerburg, N. C.; was a lawyer, and active in the patriot cause. A delegate to the Prov. Congress in 1775-6, and of the Cont. Congress in 1779-82; aide-de-camp to Gen. Euthertord in the Indian campaign of 1776; and was one of the commiss. who made a treaty with them in 1777.

Sharswood, George, LL. D. (Col. Coll. 1836); jurist, b. Phila. 7 July, 1810. U. of Pa. 1828. Adm. to the Phila. bar 1831; app. judge dist. court of Pa. 1845; pres. judge 1851-57; app. judge Sup. Court of Pa. 1867; prof. of the Law School, U. of Pa. Author of a work on professional ethics, Svo. 1854 and 1859; "Popular Lectures on Comd. Law," 1856; "Lectures Intro. to the Study of the Law," 12mo, 1870; editor of Blackstone's Commentaries, Bibls on Bills, Statute on Evidence, Russell on Crimes, Leigh's Nisi Prius, Roscoe on Crim. Evidence, and Smith on Contracts.

Sharswood, William, Ph. D. (U. of J. in 1859). b. Phila. 1836. U. of Pa. 1856. Author of "Stoic Physics," 2 parts, 4to; "Eros," a drama, 1862, afterward pub. as "The Betrothed," Svo. 1865; "Misc. Writings of Wm. Sharswood," Svo. vol. 1; "In Memoriam," 1862. Contrib. to scientific journals. — J.

Shattuck, Aaron, D. landscape-painter, b. Fitchestown, N. H., Mar. 9, 1832. At 19 he began to paint portraits in Boston; then studied at the Acad. New York; visited the White Mountains; then opened a studio in New York; was favorably noticed in the exhibition of 1856 of the Nat. Acad., and in 1861 became an academicien. He has painted spirited sea-coast scenes, "Sunset on the Lake," "Autumnal View of Androsoggin Scenery," and a fine "Campsite of Lake Champlain." — Talbot.

Shattuck, George, Cyruse, M. D. (U. of B. 1807), LL. D. (D. C. 1873), physician, b. Torrington, Ms. July 17, 1783; d. Boston, Mar. 18, 1874. Dorm. Coll. 1801. Son of Dr. B. Shattuck. U. of B. 1765. b. 11 Nov. 1742; d. 14 Jan. 1791. His practice in Boston was extensive and successful. Pres. of the Ms. Medical Soc., member of that of N. H., and of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences. By his will he devised a mortg. of $20,000 to charitable objects. He contributed largely to the library of Dorm. Coll. and built and furnished with valuable instruments, etc. observatory. Author of "Structure and Physics of the Skin," 1808; "Cases of Binary Secretions," 1808; "Yel. Fever," Ann. G. & C. in 1828. Svo. 1839.

Shattuck, Lemuel, historical and statistical writer, b. Ashby, Ms., Oct. 15, 1793; d. Boston, Jan. 17, 1859. As a teacher he resided at various times in New Ipswich, Troy, Albany, and Detroit, Mich.; was a merchant in Concord, Ms., from 1823 to 1833, and afterwards a bookseller and publisher in Boston. Member of the common council of Boston 1837-41, and was for some years a representative to the legisl. In 1841 he was one of the founders, and for five years vice-pres. of the N. E. Historic-Genealogical Society; and was a member of the Amer. Statistical Assoc. of the Amer. Antiquarian and Ms. Hist. Societies. He pub. a "History of Concord, Ms.," Svo. Boston, 1835; in 1855, "Memoirs of the Descendants of William Shattuck;" "The Census of Boston," 1845; "Vital Statistics of Boston," 1841, and "Report on the Sanitary Condition of Ms.," 1850.

Shaw, Charles, b. Bath, Me., 1782; d. judge of a court at Montgomery, Ala. 1828. U. of 1805. Author of "Topog. and Hist. Descript. of Boston from its First Settlement," 1817. He practiced law some years in Lincoln Co., Me., before he removed to Ala. He was a good classical scholar and writer.

Shaw, Henry W. ("Josh Billings"), humorist, b. Lanesborough, Berkshire, Ms., 1818. Grandson of Dr. SAMUEL (M. C. from the Rutland Co. dist., Vt., during the war of 1812), and son of HENRY (M. C.), whose vote in favor of the Mo. Compromise in 1820 terminated his political career. His uncle John Savage was chief justice of N. Y. At the age of 15 he went to the West, where he engaged in farming and unmetemorphosing for 25 years; and afterward settled in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in the latter vocation. He never wrote a line for the public until past 45 years of age; his first production, under the name of "Josh Billings," having been written 25 May, 1863. Since then he has pub. 4 vol. of comic sketches, establishing for himself a high reputation for originality, and a deep insight into human nature. His "Almanax" has attained an immense circulation; and he is also a successful lyceum lecturer.

Shaw, John, capt. U. S. N., b. Mt. Mellick, Queen's Co., Ireland, 1773; d. Phila. Sept. 17, 1823. The son of an English officer. With only an ordinary education, he with an elder bro. emigr. to Amer. in Dec. 1790; settled in Phila.; adopted a seafaring life, and in 1797 was master of a brig sailing to the W. Indies. App. capt. U. S. N. Aug. 3, 1798, on the breaking out of hostilities with France, he became master com. May 24, 1804; and capt. Aug. 27, 1807. He sailed in "The Montezuma," Capt. Alex. Murray, in Nov. 1798, and in Dec. 1799 took com. of the schooner "Enterprise," in May, 1800 he took, after a smart action, the French privateer "La Seme," and two weeks later the privateer "La Croyance," in June he captured "L'Angle," a privateer of nearly equal force, after a short contest; and in July "Le Flambeau," a vessel of superior force, after one of the warmest actions of the war. He reached home in Jan. 1801, having in 6 months captured 8 privateers and letters-of-marque, and fought 5 spirited actions, 2 with vessels of superior force. He cruised in the Mediterranean in "The George Washington" in 1801, and in "The John Adams" in 1805; in 1814 he com. the squadron blockaded in the Thames between N. London and Norwich; in 1816-17 com. the Mediterranean squadron; and afterward had charge of the navy yards of Boston and Charleston, S.C. — Campbell's Nav. Biog.

Shaw, JOHN, M.D., poet, b. Annapolis, Md., May 4, 1778; d. Jan. 10, 1809, on a voyage from Charleston to the Bahamas. St. John's Coll. 1795. He studied medicine; was app. surgeon in the fleet ordered to Algiers in Dec. 1798; and was sec. to Consul Eaton at Tunis. Returning in 1800, he went in 1801 to pursue his studies in Edinb. He sailed with the Earl of Selkirk in 1803 to Canada, where that nobleman was founding a settlement on St. John's Island, in Lake St. Clair. In 1805 he returned home, and began practice; m. in 1807, and removed to Baltimore. His poems, with a Memoir containing extracts from his foreign corresp. and journals, were pub. in 1810. He was a contrib. to the Phila. Post-Editor.

Shaw, LAMER, LL.D. (H.U. 1831; B.U. 1850), an eminent jurist, b. Barnstable, Jan. 9, 1781; d. Boston, March 20, 1861. H.U. 1809. Son of Rev. Oakes Shaw. He became an usher at the Franklin School, Boston, and assist. editor Boston Gazette; studied law; entered the Suffolk bar in Sept. 1804; was a representative in 1811-16, and again in 1819; was a valuable member of the State Const. Conv. in 1820; State senator in 1821-2, 1828, and 1829; and was chief justice of the Ms. Sup. Court, Aug. 23, 1830-31 Aug. 1860. He was undoubtedly the profoundest judge since Theophilus Parsons in N.E. His sagacity and penetration were proverbial; and his influence on the bench was almost unlimited. A member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences, of the Ms. Hist., and the N.E. Historical-Genealogical Societies. His reported decisions are found in the last 16 vols. of Pickering's Reports, and in those of Metcalf, Cushing, and Gray, — in all 35-50 vols. Few men have contrib. more to the growth of the law as a progressive science. In 1822 he prepared the charter for the city of Boston. He pub. "Oration, July 4, 1815;" "Jung. Address," 1830; Charge to the Grand Jury, Ipswich, 1832; Address at the opening of the New Court House, Worcester, 1845; charge to the jury in the trial of Prof. J. W. Webster. In 1841 he delivered a discourse before the Boston Humane Society.

Shaw, OLIVER, composer and teacher of music at Providence, R.I.; d. there 31 Dec. 1848, a. 70. Among the best of his pieces are "Mary's Tears," "Nothing True but Heaven," "Arrayed in Clouds," and "Home of My Soul." — Mason's Epoch of Music.

Shaw, ROBERT, GOULD, a philanthropic merchant of Boston, b. Gould-borough, Ms., June 4, 1776; d. Boston, May 3, 1853. Educated in the Boston schools; subsequently filled a situation in the counting-room of his uncle; and at the age of 21 engaged in business for himself with success, acquiring great wealth, which he liberally dispensed. He bequeathed $110,000 to be set apart at interest by his executors until it should amount to $400,000. This sum is to be designated the "Shaw Fund," and is designed to sustain an institute or asylum for mariners' children. He also bequeathed $10,000 for the purchase of a site for the institution.

Shaw, COL. ROBERT GOULD, grandson of the preceding, b. Boston, Oct. 10, 1837; killed in the assault on Fort Wagner, July 18, 1863; H. U. 1860. He was a private in the N.Y. 7th Regt. in April, 1861; 2d Lieut. Ms. 2d May 28, 1861; capt. Aug. 10, 1862; and com. the first regt. of colored soldiers from a free State ever mustered into the U.S. service. Col. 54th Ms. Apr. 17, 1863. — Harr. M. annual Index.

Shaw, MAJ. SAMUEL, A. M. S., soldier and merchant, b. Boston, Oct. 2, 1754; d. May 20, 1794, on the voyage from Canton to B. — Educated by Master Lovell, and in the counting-house of his father Francis Shaw. Comd'r — Jan. 1, 1776, a lieut. of art.; he served from Dorchester Heights to Yorktown; and at the peace was a major of art., and aide-de-camp to Gen. Knox. He went to Canton in Feb. 1784 as supercargo; on his return in May, 1785, Gen. Knox gave him the post of first sec. of the war dept.; in Feb. 1786 he was app. U.S. consul at Canton, and made several voyages between Canton and N. York. His Journals, with a Memoir by Josiah Quincy, were pub. 8vo, 1847.

Shays, DANIEL, leader of the Shays Rebellion in 1786-7 in Ms., b. Hopkinton, 1747; d. Sparta, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1825. He was an ensign in Woodbridge's regiment at the battle of Bunker's Hill, and attained the rank of captain in the Revol. army. Shays, though not prominent in the commencement of the insurrection, was chosen leader of the insurgents. They complained that the governor's salary was too high, the senate aristocratic, the lawyers extortionate, and taxes too burdensome to bear; and they demanded an issue of paper money, and the removal of the Gen. Court to Boston. Bodies of armed men interrupted the sessions of the courts in a number of counties; and in Dec. 1786, Shays, with a large force, prevented the holding of courts at Worcester and Springfield; in Jan. 1787 he marched with 2,000 men to capture the arsenal at Springfield; but, being fired upon by the militia and a Gen. Shepherd, the insurgents fled, the leaders making their way to N.H. Shays remained in Vt. about a year, and, at his petition, was afterward pardoned, and removed to Sparta, N.Y. He was allowed a pension for services in the Revol. war. — Mason's Hist. of the Ins. of Ms.

Shea (She), JOHN AUGUSTUS, b. Cork, Ireland, 1802; d. New York, Aug. 15, 1845. Emig. to the U.S. in 1827, and was editor and contrib. to magazines and newspapers in N.Y., Phila., and Georgetown, D.C. Author of "Rudkili," a romance in verse, 1826; "Adolph, and Other Poems," 1831; "Patriotism Will Flowers," 1836; "Clontarf," 1843; "Poems," 1846, 12mo, posthumously pub. by his son George Aug. Shea — A. C. 1860.

Shea, JOHN GLENNY, LL.D., author b. N.Y. City, July 22, 1824. He learned the law, and adm. to the bar; he has, however, devoted himself chiefly to historical studies. He edited 7 vols. of the Hist. of N. Y. (1859-65); ed. and pub. from early MSS. the Crimoisy — ries of "Memoirs and Relations concerning the French Colonies in N. A.," 20 vols. 1857-62; and "The Library of American Linguistics," a series of grammars and dictionaries of American languages, of which 15 vols. have been pub. Author of "The Discovery and Exploration of the Mississippi Valley," 8 v. 1813; "Hist. of the Catholic Missions among the Indian Tribes of the U. S.," 1854; "Peaks of the Ocean and Wilderness," 1857; "Early Voyages up and down the M. J.," 1862; "The Fallen Brave," biographies of officers who have fallen in the war for the Union; "The Catholic Church in the U. S.," 1856; "The Catholic Authors of Amer.," 8vo, 1858; "Lit. of St. Angela Merici of Brescia," 8vo, 1857; "Lect. on the Hist. of Ireland," 1857. A series of biographies of Catholic missionaries killed on the Indian missions in the U. S., which appear in the Catholic Mag., were coll. revised, and pub. in Germany. He has edit. of Washington's Private Diary, 1861; Meade's N. Y. in 1695, N. York Lib. Mag., 1862; "Operations of the French Fleet under De Grasse in 1781-2," 1864; "The Lincoln Memorial," 1864, &c.; and the Catholic Annals. Frank Leslie's periodicals. Of his translation with notes of Charlevoix's "Hist. of New France" (6 vols.), 5 vols. (1-66-71) have app.

Sheaffe, Sir Roger HARR, a gen. in the British army, b. Boston, 15 July, 1763; d. Edinburgh, 17 July, 1851. Son of Wm. (dep. compt. of customs at Boston), who d. 1752, and Susannah (dan. of Thos. Child), who d. Aug. 1810. Earl Percy, whose quarters were at his mother's house in Boston, procured for him a military education, and a commiss. in the 5th Foot in May, 1778. He became a lieut. col. in 1798; served in the Ind. in 1799; in the exp. to the Balch in 1801; as gen. 4 June, 1811; served in Canada in 1812-13; com. the British forces after the fall of Gen. Brock at Queenstown, where he defeated the American troops who had crossed the Niagara, and for this service was made a bart. 16 Jan. 1813. Defeated Yorktown Toronto when attacked in Apr. 1813. Full gen. 28 June, 1818.

Shedd, WILLIAM GREENOUGH FRAYER, D. D., clergyman, b. Acton, Ms., June 21, 1820. At V. U. 1839, A. d. 1840, Sem. 1843. He became pastor of the Cong. church in Brandon, Vt., in 1844; prof. of Cong. th. in the U. of V. in 1845; of sacred literature in And. Theol. Sem. in 1852; and in 1854 prof. of sacred lit. at Andover. In 1862 he was ins. as assist. pastor of the Presb. ("Brock") church in N. Y.; in 1863 prof. of biblical literature in Theol. Sem., N. Y. City. He has edit. and pub. a translation of "Theremin's" "Lectures," N. Y., 1859, 2d edit., with introd., essay, 1860; "Coleridge's works," with introd., essay, 2 vols., N. Y., 1853; "Discourses and Essays," 1856; "Lectures on the Philosophy of Hist.," 1855; trans. of Guericke's "Church Hist.," 2 vols., 1857-61; Augustine's "Confessions," with introd., essay, 1860; "History of Christian Doctrine," 2 vols., 8vo, 1863; "Treasure-house of Homilies," 8vo, 1867; "Orthodox Creed and the Christ. Sects," 1871; and cont. of numerous th. reviews.

Shelby, Isaac, soldier and statesman, b. near 1712; slain, Md., 11 Dec. 1780; 3 Lan-coln Co., Ky., 18 July, 1826. Of Welsh extraction. Son of Gen. Evan Shelby. He received an ordinary U. S. education and became a surveyor in Western Va. In 1774 he was a lieut. in his father's company at the battle with the Indians at Pt. Pecos, 7 Va., except in 1776; app. commissary in 1777; member of the legist. of Va. in 1779, and commiss. a gen. by Gov. Jefferson; col. in 1780, and at Cedar Spring, in conjunction with Sever and Charles, inflicted severe loss on Maj. Ferguson, the daring British partisan, whom he defeated in the battle at King's Mountain, 7 Oct. 1780. The force he com. here consisted of militia and riflemen; and to Shelby belongs the merit of organizing this important exped., which exercised such a powerful influence upon the result of the war in the South. He was in the action of Musgrove's Mills; served in the campaign of 1781 under Marion; was in the skirmish at Monk's Corner, and subsequently joined Greene with 500 mounted vols. Member of the legist. of N. C. 1781-2, and received from that body a vote of thanks and a sword. In 1788 he em. and settled at "Travellers' Rest," Lincoln Co., Ky. After the separation of Ky. from Va., and the formation of a constitution for the former State by a convention of which he was a member, he was gen. in 1792-6, and again in 1812-16. In 1813, at the head of 1,000 men, he joined Gen. Harrison, whom he aided in the victory of the Thames. For his bravery at that battle, Congress honored him with a gold medal. App. sec. of war by Monroe in 1817, he declined on account of his age. In 1819 he acted as commiss. in conjunction with Gen. Jackson in forming a treaty with the Chickasaw Indians. A county in Ky. and a col. at Shelbyville, perpetuate his name. His son Gen. James, a maj. in the campaign of 1813, b. 1784; d. Sept. 1848.

Sheldon, DAVID NEWTON, D. D. (B. V. 1847), clergyman, b. Smithfield, Ct., June 26, 1807. Wms. Coll. 1829; Newton Theol. Sem., Baptist missionary to France in 1845-9, chiefly in Paris and vicinity. He returned home, and was for 2 years pastor of a Baptist church in Halifax, N. S. In the spring of 1842 he came pastor at Waterville, Me.; and from 1843 to 1853 was pres. of Waterville Coll. Pastor of the Unitist. Baptist Church, Bath, till 1856, when he was excommunicated from it on a charge of heresy; and in Sept. 1857 became pastor of the Sumner St. (Unitist) Church, Bath; and since 1862 pastor at Waterville, Me. Many years a contributor to the Christian Register; has published several sermons, and, since his change in theological views, "S. and Redemption," a vol. of discourses, N. Y., 1856.

Shellabarger, SAMUEL, M. C. 1864-6 and 1865-71, b. Clark Co., O., 10 Dec. 1817. Miami U., O., 1841. Lawyer; member Ohio legist. 1852-3, and a prominent Republican.

Shelton, FREDERIC WILLIAM, LL. D., author, b. Jamaica, L. I., N. Y., 1814. N. J. Coll. 1834. Ord. to the Epis. ministry in 1847, he has been successively settled at Huntington, L. I., at Fishkill on the Hudson, and at Montpelier, Vt., whither he went in 1854. He has pub. "The Troilopod, or Travelling Gentleman in America," N. Y., 1837, a scene;

"Salander and the Dragon," a romance, 1851; "Crystalline, or the Heiress of Fall-down Castle," 1854; "The Rector of St. Bardolph's, or Superannuated," 1853; "Up the River," 1853, a series of rural sketches, originally contrib., like many of his writings, to the Knickerbocker Mag.; and "Peeps from the Belfry, or the Parish Sketch-Book," 1855. He has also pub. two lectures on "The Gold-Mania," and "The Use and Abuse of Tea-^o."

Shepard, CHARLES FRANK, M.D., LL.D., physician, b. Little Compton, R. I., June 29, 1804. Amb. Coll., 1824. He received at Cambridge a year's instruction of Thomas Nuttall, and, after giving private lessons in botany and mineralogy for some months in Boston, was for 2 years an assist. in the laboratory of Prof. Silliman at Y. C. He then took charge for one year of an institution at New Haven for furnishing the citizens with popular lectures on science. In 1832-3, under a commission from the U. S. govt., he investigated the culture and manuf. of sugar in the Southern States, the results of which are embodied in Prof. Silliman's report to the sec. of the treasury in 1833. Lecturer on nat. history in Y. Coll. in 1830-47; prof. of chemistry in the Charleston Med. College, S. C., in 1854-61; in 1835 he was app. associate of Dr. Percival in the State geol. survey of Ct.; prof. of chemistry and natural history in Amb. Coll. in 1845-52. In the investigation of minerals and meteorites Prof. S. has explored the greater part of N. Amer., and has 7 times visited Europe. His collection of minerals and meteorites at Amb. Coll. is the best in the U. S., and is only surpassed by those of the British Museum and the Imperial Cabinet of Vienna. Besides scientific papers in periodicals, addresses, pamphlets, &c., he pub. in 1832 his "Treatise on Mineralogy," of which a 3d ed., greatly enlarged, appeared in 1855; and in 1837 a Report on the Geology of Ct. — A. Boston.

Shepard, SAMUEL, D.D. (Un. Coll. 1819), Cong. pastor of Lenox, Ms., from 30 April, 1795, to his d. 5 Jan. 1846, b. Chatham (now Portland), Ct., Nov. 19, 1772. Y. C. 1793. He was in 1831-46 vice-pres., and many years one of the trustees, of Wms. Coll. His pulpitory was of a high order, and he pub. some occasional sermons.

Shepard, THOMAS, clergyman and author, b. Towcester, England, Nov. 5, 1605; d. Cambridge, Ms., Aug. 25, 1649. Educated at Eman. Coll., Camb. On obtaining his degree of A. M. in 1627, he became a preacher at Earls Coln, Essex, remaining until silenced for nonconformity in 1630. After passing some time "with the kind family of the Harlekins," he removed to Buttercrambe, near York, where he resided in the family of Sir Richard Darby, whose dau. he m., and preached in the vicinity until again silenced. After a similar result at Heddon, Northumberland, he resolved to emigrate to N. England. He sailed from Gravesend with Messrs. Wilson and Jones in "The Defence," which landed them safely at Boston, Oct. 3, 1635. Succeeding Messrs. Hooker and Stone as minister of Cambridge, Feb. 1, 1635, he remained there till his death. He was active in founding Harv. Coll., and was one of its most efficient patrons. Its location at Cambridge was due to him. He pub. "Theses Sabbatica;" "The Matter of the Visible Church," "The Church-Membership of Little Children," a letter entitled "New England's Lamentation for Old England's Errors," several sermons, "The Sincere Convert," "The Sound Believer," and "The Parable of the Ten Virgins Opened," pub. after his death in a folio volume. The two latter, with his "Meditations and Spiritual Experience," and a treatise on Evangelical Conversion, have been lately reprinted in Eng. in a popular form. Shepard's Autobiog. was first printed in 1822 for the Shepard Cong. Society at Cambridge. It also appears in Young's "Chronicles." His works were pub. Boston, 1853, 3 vols. 8vo. A MS. vol. by him is in the library of the N. E. Historic-Genial. Soc., Boston.

Shepard, GUN, WILLIAM, b. Dec. 1, 1747; d. Westfield, Ms., Nov. 11, 1817. He served six years in the Provincial army (1757-61); was a captain under Amherst, and was in the battles at Fort Wm. Henry and Crown Point. Entering the Revol. army as lieutenant-col. in Col. T. Danielson's regt., he was transferred to Col. Learmonth's regt.; was in 1777 app. col. of the 4th Ms. Regt., and continued in the service with the reputation of a brave and efficient officer till 1783, participating in 22 engagements. Summoned from his firm by the Shays-Insurrection in 1786, at which time he was a brig.-gen. of militia, he prevented the insurgents from capturing the arsenal at Springfield. Member of the exec. council in 1788-90, and held other public trusts. He was a major-gen. of militia, and M. C. in 1797-1803. Like many of his brave companions in arms, he was in his old age poor and destitute, an obituary notice speaking of his equanimity under "Belisarian" sufferings.

Shepherd, NATHANIEL G., poet and artist, b. New York, 1835; d. there May 23, 1869. He studied in his native city; taught writing and drawing in Ga. several years, and, on his return to New York, engaged in the ms. business, devoting his leisure to study and to poetry. As a war corresp. for the Tribune, he visited Va. and the vicinity of Fort Sumter, returning in the fall of 1863. "The Dead Drummer Boy," which appeared in Harpes's Magazine, was one of the finest poems of the war. He wrote successfully for the periodicals and illustrated papers of the day.

Shepherd, OLIVER LYMAN, brev. brig.-gen. U. S. A., b. N. Y., West Point, 1810. Entering the 3d Inf., he became 1st lieut. 3 Nov. 1845; capt. 1 Dec. 1847; lieutenant-col. 18th Inf. 14 May, 1861; col. (15th) 21 Jan. 1863. He served in the Florida war 1841-2; in the Mexican war in the battles of Palo Alto, Resaca de la Padma; was brev. capt. 29 Aug. 1847 (for Contreras and Churubusco), and major 13 Sept. 1847 (for Chapultepec); was engaged against the Apache Indians in May, 1856; in the Gila exped. 1857; was engaged in the Tenn. and Mpi. campaign, Dec. 1861-June, 1862; and in the siege of Corinth, rout of Confed. camp, 17 May; pursuit of Confeds. to Baldwin, Mpi., May 29-31; in Bull's campaign in Ky. July-Sept. 1862, in Gen. Rosecrank's Tenn. campaign, com. a brigade of regulars in battle of Stone River 31 Dec. 1862, for which he was brig.-gen. U. S. A. 13 Mo. 1865, b. v. c. col. 17 May, 1862, for siege of Corinth, Miss., and July 15, 1870 — (C. 1.)

Shepley, Truman, LL. D. (D. C. 1845), 1792; U. S. senator, 6 Gov. of Ms., Nov. 2, 1787; Dartm. Coll. 1811. He commenced the practice of law in Saco, but subsequently settled at Portland, was in the MS. legis. in 1819; com. of the Me. Const. Conv. in 1820; was in 1821-33 U. S. atty. for Me.; was U. S. senator in 1838-46; Sept. 23, 1836, he was chosen a justice of the Supreme Court of Me.; on 1 Oct. 29, 1848, cut off justice, which position he held until 1855. While on the bench he furnished material for 26 vols. of Reports, and, as sole commissioner, was app. to revise the statutes of Me. published 1857.

Shepley, George Foster, son of the preceding, to Saco, Me., Jan. 1, 1819; Dartm. Coll. 1837. He studied at the Harvard Law School and at Portland; began to practise law at Bangor in 1840; removed to Portland, and, under Pres. Cook, was app. U. S. dist. atty., which post he held till 1861. When civil war broke out, he became col. 12th Me. Vols., and, taking part in Gen. Butler's expedi., acted as com. of a brigade. On the surrender of N. Orleans, he was made commandant of the city, and July 18, 1862, brig.-gen., and military gov. of La. from June 2, 1862, to 1864; in it gov. of Richmond, Va., on its surrender 3 Apr. 1865. Resigned July 1, 1865, and resumed practice in Portland. Now (1871) U. S. circ. judge 1st circuit.

Sheppard, John H., b. Cranecaster, Eng., Mar. 17, 1789; H. C. 1808. His parents came to America in 1793, and settled at Hallowell, Me. Adm. to the Me. bar in 1810; settled in Wisconsin; was register of probate for Lincoln Co. 1817-34; removed to Boston 1842; librarian N. E. H. G. Soc. 1861-9. Author of a "Life of Com. Tucker of the Rev. Navy," 12mo, 1868; of tributes to the N. E. H. G. Bazaar; of several Masonic addresses; "Vindication of Masonry," 1831; an elegy on Benj. Vaughan, LL. D.; and of occasional and other fugitive poems.

Sherbrooke, Sir John Covert, a British gen., b. Feb. 14, 1830, at Calverton, Notts. App. a captain in 1783; lieutenant 1794, col. 1798; brig.-gen. 1811; col. of the 37th, 1818, 1822; May, 1825. He distinguished himself in the battle of S. Amagoatan in 1797. In 1809 he was app. to the staff of the army in the Peninsula, and at the battle of Talavera was second in command. For his conduct in that situation he was app. soon afterwards lieutenant-gov. of Nova Scotia; and from there he was removed, in the beginning of 1816, to the gov. of Lower Canada. He returned to England in Aug. 1818.

Sherburne, Asa, b. a pensioner of the Rev. navy afterwards a Baptist minister, b. Rev. N. H., Sept. 30, 1765; d. Augusta Oneida Co., N. Y., after March, 1841. Author of an Autobiography, pub. in 1828; 2d ed. Providence, 1831, 12mo.

Sherburne, Col. Henry, Revol. officer,

d. collector of Newport, 1824; N. J. Coll. 1789. Maj. in Varnum's regt., and taken prisoner at the "Cedars"; afterwards a col. in the army; commiss. to settle the accounts of R. I. with the U. S.; representative of Newport in the R. I. Assembly and treas. of R. I. 1792-1818.

Sherburne, Col. John Henry, register of the navy, d. at Washington, D. C. 1825; b. Portsmouth, N. H. Son of Judge John Samuel. Author of "Life of Pan Jones," 8vo, 1825; "Tourist's Guide in Europe," 8vo, 1847; "Suppressed History of the Administration of John Adams, 1797-1801," 1847; "Osceola," a tragedy; "Naval Sketches," "Eraic Poems," "Esquisses."

Sherburne, John Saml., judge, b. Portsmouth, N. H., 1757; d. 2 Aug. 1830, Dartm. Coll. 1776. He attended the H. Coll. Law School. Served as aide to Gen. Whipple in the Revol. war, and lost his left leg by a cannon-shot at the battle of Butt's Hill, R. I., 29 Aug. 1778. Judge N. H. Sup. Ct., M. C. 1793-7; U. S. dist. atty. 1801-4; judge U. S. Dist. Ct. 1804-30.

Sheridan, Phillip Henry, lieutenant U. S. A., b. Somerset, Perry Co., O., Mar. 6, 1831, West Point, 1853. Entering the 1st Inf., he served in Texas until in 1855 he joined the 4th Inf., with which he served in Oregon, receiving several mentions for gallantry in action with the Indians at the Cascades of the Columbia, Apr. 28, 1856, and for meritorious conduct in the settlement of the difficulty with the Cospulio Indians on Yakima Bay. Capt. 13th Inf. May 14, 1861; pres. of the milit. commiss. to audit claims in Mo. during the summer of 1861; D. e. 24, 1861, made quartermaster and chief commissary of the Army of the South-west; taking the same date out the staff of Gen. Hancock at Corinth, May 10, 1862. App. col. 21 Mich. Cav. May 6; he took part in the successful expedi. to destroy the Mobile and O. Railroad at Boseville, Miss.; defeated Forrest's cavalry, June 6; took com. of the 2d brig. of cavalry, with which he repulsed and defeated a superior Confederate force under Chalmers at Boseville, July 1, the date of his commission of brig.-gen. In Aug. he defeated Eam Kner's Cav. near Roubidoux, Miss.; Sept. 29 he took com. of the 3d div. of the Army of the Ohio; and Oct. 1 he was transferred to the 11th division, which he led at Perryville. In the advance to Murfreesborough, Dec. 26, he led a division under Gen. M. Coles, and contributed greatly to the successful issue of the battle of Stone River; maj.-gen. v. c. Dec. 31, 1862. He rendered signal service at the battles of Mission, Ridge and Chocomauga; was transf. to the Army of the Potomac as chief of cav. 3 Apr. 1864; routed the Confederate in several engagements; Aug. 1, 1864 was detached to the Shenandoah Valley; detached Early at Winchester Sept. 19, Fisher's Hill Sept. 22, and at Cedar Creek Oct. 19, where he turned disaster into victory; and finally, in cooperation with Gen. Grant, compelled Lee's surrender at Appomattox C. H., after gaining the decisive victory of Five Forks, Apr. 1, 1865, and capturing ab. 6,000 men at Sailor's Creek, April 6. After the war he performed valuable service in Texas and La., enforcing the reconstruction acts, for which he was removed to acid, founded by the State of La., resigning when the secession ordinance was passed in Jan. 1861. App. col. 13th U.S. Inf. May 14, he comd. a brigade at the battle of Bull Run, July 21; was made brig.-gen. of vols. from May 17, and succeeded G. M. Anderson in comd. of the dept. of Ky. Oct. 8, 1861. When asked by the sec. of war how many men he should require, he replied: "60,000 to drive the enemy from Ky., and 200,000 to finish the war in this section." His estimate was considered as wildly extravagant; and he was reprimanded, and relieved from the comd. Feb. 14, 1862, he took comd. of the 3d division of Gen. Grant's Army of the Tennes. His services at Shiloh, Apr. 6-7, were thus acknowledged by Grant: "On the first day he held with raw troops the key-point of the action. . . . To his individual efforts I am indebted for the success of that battle." He was wounded in the hand, and had three horses shot under him. Made maj.-gen. 1 May, and was prominent in the siege of Corinth. He comd. Memphis from July to Nov., 1862. In the Vicksburg campaign, which began in Dec., he comd. the first division, and attempted, unsuccessfully (Dec. 27), to capture that place from the north side. He rendered important services in several battles preceding the siege, and comd. some of the corps which made an unsuccessful assault on the works, May 22. After the surrender of Vicksburg, 4 July, 1863, Sherman marched against Gen. Johnston, and occupied Jackson, from which the enemy were driven July 17. App. comd. of the dept. of the Tennes. in Oct., 1863, he joined Grant at Chattanooga, Nov. 15; he occupied Mission Ridge on the 24th; rendered valuable services in the battle of Chattanooga, Nov. 25; and immediately moved to the relief of Burnside, who was besieged at Knoxville. The enemy raised the siege, and fled on his approach. Arriving at Memphis in Jan., 1864, he marched from Vicksburg eastward, destroying the railroads; and, on Feb. 14, entered Meridian, destroying depots, arsenals, &c. App. in March, 1864, to comd. the military division of the Mpls. May 6, 1864, he moved from Chattanooga with the armies of the Cumberland, Tennes., and Ohio, numbering 98,797 men, with 254 cannon. Turning Johnston's position, the latter fell back to Resaca, whence, after a severe battle (May 15), he retreated to Atlanta. Sherman again turned his flank by moving to Dallas; fought here at Dallas and New-Hope Church about May 28, driving him upon the strong positions of Kennesaw, Pigeon, and Lost Mountains; June 27, he attacked the works at Kennesaw, but was repulsed with severe loss. Another flank movement caused Johnston's withdrawal across the Chattahoochee, July 3; and, July 17, he drove the enemy to Atlanta. Gen. Hood, having superseded Johnston, attacked Sherman 22 July, and was repulsed with great loss. On Aug. 28 he gained victories at Jonesborough and Haysport's, forcing Hood to evacuate Atlanta Sept. 1. Hood then invaded Mobile, opening the way for Sherman to march through Ga. to the sea. Abandoning his communications with Chattanooga, and leaving Atlanta in ruins, Sherman began his famous march, Nov. 16, with 66,000 men, moving in three columns; passed between Macon and Augusta, destroying railroads and other public property; and arrived at the outworks of Savannah, Dec. 10. His loss in this march was 63 killed and 245 wounded. He occupied Savannah Dec. 21; marched northwest Jan. 15, 1865; took Columbia S.C., Feb. 17, compelling the enemy to evacuate Charleston; and moved by way of Chaw and Fayetteville towards Goldsborough, N.C. He drove the enemy at Averystown, N.C., Mar. 16, and at Bentonville on the 18th, entered Goldsborough, Mar. 23, and formed a junction with the army of Gen. Schofield. Apr. 17 he agreed with Gen. Johnston on a memorandum of basis of peace, which was disapproved by the pres. and cabinet. Apr. 26 Johnston surrendered at Durham Station, N.C., on the same terms as were granted to Lee; and the war ended. Made brig.-gen. U.S.A. 4 July, 1863; maj.-gen. 12 Aug., 1864; lieutenant 25 July, 1866; lieutenant of the army 4 Mar., 1869. — See Sherman and his Campaigns, Incidents and Letters, 1865; Ruler of the War, 1868.

Sherwin, THOMAS, LL.D., instructor, b. Westminster, N.H., Mar. 26, 1799; d. Boston, July 23, 1860. H.U. 1825. In his boyhood he worked on a farm in Temple, N.H. In 1825-6 he taught the school at Lexington, Ms.; was tutor in mathematics at H.U. in 1826-7; was engaged some months in engineering and surveying; taught a private school for boys in Boston one year, when he became sub-master of the Longish High School, Boston; and from 1838 till his death had charge of the institution, "the model school of the U.S." He was one of the originators of the Amer. Inst. of Instruction in 1830 and its pres. in 1833-4, as well as of the Ms. State Teachers' Assoc. in 1845, of which he was the moderator. He was one of the editors of the Ms. Teacher, and pub. "Elements of Algebra," and "Common-school Algebra." He was active in establishing the Ms. Inst. of Technology; member of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences. His son THOMAS, dentist, of no. 224 Ms. Bazaar in the late civil war, was afterward brig.-gen. — See N. E. Historical-Gleaner, &c., p. 224.

Shew, JOEL, M.D., hydropathist, b. Providence, Saratoga, N.Y., Nov. 13, 1816; d. Oyster Bay, N.Y., Oct. 6, 1855. Ab. 1841 he commenced the study of medicine, and soon after obtaining his degree, visited the water-cure establishment of Pressnitz in Germany; adopted his views, and on his return commenced the practice of hydropathy. Besides superintending a large establishment, visiting numerous patients, and contributing to the Hydrotherapeutic Journal (which he established) and other hydropathic periodicals, he pub. "Hydropathy, or Water Cure," 1848; "Waters of the Mountains," 1853; "Management of Children," 1852; "Maternity, and Diseases of Women," 1852; "Hydropathic Family Physician," 1854; "Tobacco, its History, Nature, and Effects," &c.; "Curiosities of Common Water;" "Conscription, its Prevention and Cure;" "Cholera, &c., treated by Water."

Shields, CHARLES WOODRUFF, D.D., b. N. Albany, In L., 1825. N. J. Coll. 1844; Princeton, Theol. Sem. Some years pastor 21 Presb. Church, Phila., and since Dec. 1865 prof. of the relations of science to religion in N. J. Coll. Author of Enology on Dr. E. K. Kane, 1857; Philosophical Utters, 8vo, 1861; "A Manual of Worship," 1862; "Directory for Public Worship," &c., 1863; Book of Common Prayer, &c., as amended for the Presb. Church, 1864; "The Book of Remembrance," 1867; Mémoire of Joel Jones, LL.D., prefixed to his Notes on Scripture, 1860; Review of Commerce, 1858, &c. — A. J. H.

Shields, GEN. JAMES, politician, b. Duncannon, Tyrone Co., Ireland, 1810; emig. to America abt. 1826. He pursued his studies till 1832, when he went to Ill., and commenced the practice of law at Kaskaskia. In 1835 he was in the legis.; State auditor in 1839; judge of th. Supreme Court in 1843; and in 1845 commiss. of the gen. land-office. He had served as a lieut. in the Florida war; app. by Pres. Polk a brig.-gen. U.S.A. 1847; and for his disling. services in the battle of Cerro Gordo, in which he was dang. wounded, was brev. maj.-gen.; also severely wounded in battle of Chapultepec. In 1848 he was app. gov. of Oregon Terr., which he resigned; U.S. senator from Illinois in 1849-55; subsequently took up his residence in the Terr. of Minnesota, and in 1858-60 was U.S. senator from that State; at the end of his term he went to California. Made brig.-gen. vols. Aug. 19, 1861; on the death of Gen. Lauder, he was assigned to his command. He gained the battle of Winchester Mar. 23, in the movements preparatory to which (on the 22d) he was severely wounded. At the battle of Port Republic, June 9, 1862, he was worsted by Gen. T. J. Jackson.

Shillaber, BENJAMIN P. ("Mrs. Partington"), b. Port-mouth, N.H., 1814. Entered a printing-office in 1830; came to Boston in 1832; became editorially connected with the Boston Post (1847-50) and Evening Gazette, and edited the Capit-Bay 1850-2; and in 1856 connected himself with the Saturday-Evening Gazette. Author of "Rhymes with Reason and Without," 12mo, 1853; "Poems;" "Lie and Sayings of Mrs. Partington," 1854; "Knit ing-Work," by Ruth Partington, 1859.

Shindler, MARY STANLEY BUNCE, poet, b. Beaufort, S.C., Feb. 15, 1810. Dau. of R. v. Genl. F. Palmer, D.D., who in 1814 removed to Charleston. Educated by the Misses Ramsay, daughters of the historian, and at the seminaries of Wetherfield, Ct., Elizabethtown, N.J., and of Rev. E. C. Herrick, New Haven. She m. Charles E. Dana of New York, 19 Dec. 1835. They removed to the West in 1838, where she lost her husband in 1839. She began her literary career by writing for the Rosabel, ed. by Mrs. Caroline Gilman, of Charleston, S.C. She pub. the "Southern Harp" in 1841, and "The Parted Family, and Other Poems," 1842; "The Northern Harp," Charles Marton, 1843; "The Young Sailor," 1845; "Fort-castle Tom;" "The Temperance Lyre," 1842. Having become a Unitarian, she pub. in 1845 "Letters to Relatives and Friends," re-pub. in Lond.; "South in Sketches," appeared in 1847. In May, 1848, she m. Rev. Robert D. Shindler, who since 1851 has been a prof.

in Shelby Coll., Shelbyville, Ky. Some of her lyric poems have much merit. — Hart's Poet. Writers.

Shippen, EDWARD, LL.D., jurist, a descendant of Edward Shippen, the first mayor of Phila., b. there Feb. 16, 1729; d. April 16, 1806. Having studi d law in Phila., he finished his education at the Temple in London, where he was adm. a barrister in 1750. On his return to Phila. he devoted himself to his profession; at the age of 24 he was app. prothonotary of the Supreme Court, and judge of the Admiralty Court for the province; was afterwards member of the Council until the cessation of the office at the Revol.; and was after that event app. pres. of the Courts of Quarter Sessions for the county of Phila. In 1791 he was app. judge of the Supreme Court, and in 1799 chief justice; which office he resigned in Feb. 1806. His dau. Margaret m. Gen. Arnold.

Shippen, WILLIAM, physician, b. Phila. Oct. 1, 1712; d. there Nov. 4, 1801. He was a skilful and successful practitioner; one of the founders and trustees of the Coll. of N. J.; a vice-pres. of the Philos. Society of Phila.; the first physician in the Pa. Hospital; a delegate to the Cont. Congress in 1778-80; and was one of the founders of the first Presb. church of Phila., of which he was a member 70 years.

Shippen, WILLIAM, M.D., son of the preceding, b. Phila. 1735; d. Germantown, July 11, 1808. N. J. Col. 1754. He received his early education at the grammar-school of Dr. Finley at Nottingham; studi d medicine under his father, and also at Lond. and Edinb., where he grad. M.D. Returning to Phila. in May, 1762, he commenced in the autumn the first course of anatomical lectures ever given in this country. In Sept. 1765 he was chosen prof. of anatomy and surgery in the Phila. M.d. School, of which he was a founder. He entered the med. dept. of the army in 1776; and from Apr. 11, 1777, to Jan. 1781, was its director-gen. He subsequently practis d as acouchur-surgeon and physician until 1798.

Shirley, WILLIAM, one of the ablest of the colonial governors of Ms. (1741-56), lieutenant. British army, b. Preston, Sussex, Eng., 1693; d. Roxbury, Ms., Mar. 24, 1771. He was bred to the law; came to Boston in 1734, and practis ed his profession. At the time of his app. he was a commiss. for the settlement of the boundary between Ms. and RI. He planned the successful exped. against Cape Breton in 1745; was in Eng. in 1745-53; was one of the commiss. at Paris for settling the limits of Nova Scotia and other controverted rights in America in 1750; treated with the Eastern Indians in 1754; and explored the Kennebec, erecting 2 or 3 forts; was com. chief of the British forces in N.A. in 1755; planned the exped. against Niagara, and himself proceeded as far as Oswego. In 1759 he was made lieutenant-gen. He was afterward gov. of one of the Bahama Islands, but returned to Ms. in 1770. He built the spacious mansion in Roxbury, afterward the residence of Gov. Eustis. He pub. "Electra," a tragedy; "Birth of Hercules," a mask; a Letter to the Duke of Newcastle, with a Journal of the Siege of Louisburg, 1745; and the Conduct of Gen. Win. Shirley briefly stated, London, 8vo, 1758. His son WILLIAM, an officer in the army, was killed with Braddock in 1755. THOMAS, a maj. gen. in the army, created a bar in 1786, gov. of the Leeward Islands b. Boston, d. Mar. 1800. — See Trabel's Partie, Hist. of the Five Years' French and Ind. War, 1744-9.

Short, CHARLES, LL.D., scholar, b. Haverhill, Ms., 1821. H U 1846. Assist. instr. Philips Acad 1847; master of the Roxbury Classical School 1847-53, and of a private classical school in Phila. 1853-63; pres. of Kenyon Coll., O., 1863-7; prof. of Latin in Columbia Coll., N.Y., since Mar. 2, 1868. He edited, with additions, Advanced Latin Exercises in Schmitz and Zumpt's Classical Series, and Mitchell's Ancient Geog. 1860; assisted in the preparation of several classical works; contributed many valuable papers to reviews; and has translated articles from the German for Herzog's Real Encyclop. — Allibone.

Short, WILLIAM, diplomatist, b. Spring Garden, Va., Sept. 30, 1759; d. Phila. Dec. 5, 1849. Wm. and Mary Coll. He was at an early age a member of the exec. council of Va., and, on the app. of Jefferson as minister to France in 1784, was joined with him as sec. of legation. In 1789 Mr. Short was appointed chargé d'affaires to the French republic by Washington; and he had the honor of holding the first exec. commission signed by him, and of being the first citizen app. to office under the Federal Constitution. During the administration of Gen. Washington he was successively minister res. at the Hague, and commiss. and subsequently minister to Spain. His State papers, and especially those connected with the important negotiations relative to the Spanish boundaries and rights in connection with Fla. and the Mpi., which resulted in the treaty of 1765, are marked by great clearness, ability, good temper, and research.

Shreve, CAPT. HENRY M., a pioneer in the steam navigation of the West; d. St. Louis, Mar. 6, 1851. He was for nearly 40 years constantly connected with commerce in that region. U.S. supt. of Western river improvements, and by the use of the steam snag-boat, of which he was the inventor, added largely to the safety of Western commerce. He was also employed by Gen. Jackson in several hazardous enterprises during the war of 1812. On the memorable 8th of Jan. 1815 he superintended one of the field-pieces, which was so destructive to that column of the British army which was led by G. W. Keim.

Shreve, THOMAS H., editor and poet, b. Alexandria, D.C., 1808; d. Louisville, Ky., Dec. 23, 1853. At first a merchant, he moved to Cincinnati in 1830, became associate editor of the Monitor in 1834, removed to Louisville in 1838; and ab. 1842 became an editor of the Louisville Journal. Besides his contribs. to periodicals, he wrote "Drayton, an American Tale," pub. in 1851. He was a Quaker in his religious faith, and a man of high and noble character. — Poets and Poetry of the West.

Shubrick, the name of several gallant officers of the U.S. navy, natives of S.C., sons of Col. Thomas, aide to Gens. Greene and Lincoln in the Revol. war, b. 1755, d. Charleston, S.C., 4 Mar. 1810. JOHN TAYLOR, b. 12 Sept. 1788, d. July, 1815. Mid-shipm. 20 June, 1806; lieut. 28 May, 1812. He was in "The Chesapeake" in her affair with "The Leopard" in 1807; in the action of "The Constitution" with "The Guerrière" in Aug.; and with "The Java," 29 Dec. 1812; of "The Hornet" with "The Peacock," 24 Feb. 1813 (for which he received medals from Congress); of "The President" when captured by a British squad, in Jan. 1815; and on the conclusion of peace was despatched to the U.S. in com. of "The Epervier" with the treaty. This vessel was never afterward heard from. WILLIAM BRANTFORD, b. 31 Oct. 1790. Mid-shipman 20 June, 1806; lieut. 6 Jan. 1813; com. 28 Mar. 1820; capt. 21 Feb. 1831; rear-adm. (ret. list) 16 July, 1862. Com. battery of 1 gun on Craney Island in the repulse of the British forces, 22 June, 1813; lieut. in "The Constitution" in action with "The Cyane" and "Levant," 20 Feb. 1815; com. squad in the Pacific in 1817, and captured Mazarlan and other ports from the Mexicans; com. Brazil squad, and Paraguay exped. 1859. Chairman light-house board 1860-70. EDWARD RUTLEDGE, d. at sea 12 Mar. 1844, a. ab. 50. Mid-shipm. 16 Jan. 1809; lieut. 9 Oct. 1813; com. 24 Apr. 1828; capt. 9 Feb. 1837. Served under Com. Rodgers in the war of 1812-15; app. to com. the Columbia, Brazilian squad, May, 1842. REYNE, b. 1797, d. Phila. 5 Apr. 1849. Mid-shipm. 12 May, 1814; lieut. 13 Jan. 1826; com. 8 Sept. 1841. Served under Decatur in the action of "The President" with the British squad, in 1815, also in the war with Algiers in 1816; as 1st lieut. of "The Potomac" in 1832, headed the sailors and marines in the destruction of Quallah Battoo.

Shulze, JOHN ANDREW, gov. of Pa. in 1823-9, b. Tulpehocken, Berks Co., July 19, 1775; d. Lancaster, Nov. 18, 1852. Son of a Lutheran clergyman. He represented Lebanon County for several years in the State legisl.; chosen gov. by the Democ. party.

Shunk, FRANCIS R., gov. of Pa. 1845-8, b. Montgomery Co., Pa., Aug. 7, 1788; d. Harrisburg, July 30, 1848. He became a teacher at the age of 15; in 1812 was app. a clerk in the surveyor-general's dept., at the same time studied law; assisted as a soldier in the defence of Baltimore in 1814; was soon afterwards assist. and then principal clerk in the house of representatives for several years; next became sec. to the board of canal commiss.; in 1838 was sec. of state; next established himself in the practice of law at Pittsburg.

Shurtleff, NATHANIEL BRADBURY, M.D., antiquary, mayor of Boston 1868-70, b. Boston, June 29, 1810. H U, 1831. Son of Dr. Benjamin. Has pub. "Epitome of Phrenology," 1835; "Perpetual Calendar for Old and New Style," 1848; "Passengers of the May Flower in 1620," 1849; "Brief Notice of Wm. Shurtleff of Marshfield," 1850; "Genealogy of the Leverett Family," 1850; "Thunder and Lightning, and Deaths in Marshfield in 1658 and 1666," 1850; "Records of Ms. Bay, 1628-86," 6 vols. 4to; "Topog. Description of Boston," 8vo, 1871; edited, with David Putisler, "Records of New Plymouth," 12 vols. 4to.

Shute, DANIEL, D.D., minister, of Hingham, Ms., from Dec. 10, 1746, to 1800, b. Malden July 19, 1722; d. Aug. 30, 1802. H.U. 1743. Member of the convention to adopt the Constitution of the U.S. He pub. occasional sermons.

Shute, SAMUEL, gov. of Ms. 1716-23, b. Lond. 1653; d. Eng. Apr. 15, 1712. Educated at Leyden. He served in the army of King William; was a lieutenant under Marlborough, and was wounded in one of the great battles in Flanders. During his administration he had a warm controversy with the legisl., who would not fix his salary, denied his right to negative the speaker, and assumed his powers as con. in chief. After his return to Eng., an explanatory charter was procured in 1724, confirming the gov. in the rights for which he had contended.

Siamese Twins, CHANG and ENG, b. Bangsai, on the north-west corner of the Gulf of Siam, 1810. The father was a Chinaman, the mother a Siamo-Chinese woman. They were brought to the U.S. at the age of 18 by Capt. Abel Coffin, and exhibited throughout this country and Europe; realiz'd a competence; married 2 sisters (mulattoes) in 1842, and settled in Surry Co., N.C. Each has 9 children. They revisited Europe in 1868-9.

Sibley, MAJ. GEORGE CHAMPLAIN, b. Great Barrington, Ms., 1782; d. Elm. Mo., 31 Jan. 1863. Son of Dr. John, a surgeon in the Revol. war. His youth was spent in N.C. Pres. Jefferson app. him an Indian agent, and, with 100 Osage warriors, he explored the Grand Saline and Sat Mountain, a report of which exped. was pub. Afterward a commiss. to lay out a road from Mo. to N. Mexico, and made several treaties with the Indians. Many years president of the St. Charles Co. Bible Society of Mo.; trustee and patron of Lindenwood College.

Sibley, HENRY H., gen. C.S.A., b. La. ab. 1815. West Point, 1838. Entering 2d Dragoons he served in the Fla. war; became capt. Feb. 16, 1847; brev. major for gallantry at Mexl'm, Mexico, March 25, 1847; Feb. 7, 1761, became major 1st Dragoons, being then in service against the Navajos in N. Mexico; and resigned May 13, 1861. He was app. brig.-gen. in the Confed. army, and led a force from Texas for the conquest of New Mexico. He attacked Fort Craig, Jan. 5, 1862, but was repulsed, and obliged to retreat. In 1870 he entered the service of the Khedive of Egypt as gen. of brigade of artillery.

Sibley, GEN. HENRY H., b. Detroit, Mich., Feb. 1-11. Son of Judge Solomon. Many years an Indian trader in the employ of the Amer. Fur Company at Mackinaw and Fort Snelling; delegate to Congress from Minnesota Terr. in 1849-53; first gov. of Minn. in 1858; brig.-gen. of vols. 29 Sept. 1862; com. an exped. against the Minnesota Indians in 1864; and afterward brev. maj.-gen. of vols. Delegate to the Cleveland Soldiers' Convention of 1866.

Sibley, JOHN LANGDON, b. Union, Me.,

Dec. 29, 1804. H.U. 1825. Assist. lib. there 1825-6 and 1841-56; librarian since 1856; ord. at Stow, Ms., May 4, 1829; dism. Mar. 31, 1833. Author of "History of Union, Me.," 1851; "Notices of the Triennial Catalogues of H.U.," with a Reprint of the Catalogues of 1674, 1682, and 1709," 1865. In 1837 he became the editor and afterward proprietor, of the American Man. of Usef. and Entert. Knowl., and since 1841 has edited the Triennial Catalogues of H.U., and since 1859 all its Annual Catalogues. He is now (1871) about pub. a biog. record of the early graduates of H.U.

Sibley, SOLOMON, judge, b. Sutton, Ms., Oct. 7, 1769; d. Detroit, Apr. 4, 1846. He studied law. Removed to Ohio in 1795; established himself first at Marietta, and then at Cincinnati. He removed to Detroit in 1797; was in 1799 elected to the first Terr. legisl. of the N.W. Terr.; was a delegate to Congress from Mich. Terr. in 1820-3; and judge of the Supreme Court in 1824-36.

Sickles, GEN. DANIEL E., b. N. Y. City, Oct. 20, 1821. U. of N.Y. He studied law; was adm. to the bar in 1844; became a member of the legisl. in 1847, and took a prominent position among the leaders of the Democ. party; in 1853 he became corporation atty.; and was sec. of legation in Eng. to Mr. Buchanan until 1855; he was then elected State senator, and in 1856 a representative in Congress. Feb. 27, 1859, he killed Philip Barton Key, U.S. dist. atty. for D.C., shooting him in the streets of Washington, for criminal connection with Mr. Sickles's wife. He was tried for murder, but acquitted. He was re-elected to Congress in 1860. In 1861 he raised the Excelsior Brigade in New York, and was made colonel. His commission as brig.-gen. was dated Sept. 3, 1861. He fought in the battles of the Chickahominy campaign, his brigade forming part of Hooker's division of Heintzelman's (3d) army corps. He succeeded to Gen. Hooker's command when that officer took the 1st army corps, and led that division at Antietam and Fredericksburg. He com. the 3d army corps in the battles near Chancellorsville, Va., May 2, 1863; and at Gettysburg, Pa., where he lost a leg, July 2, 1863. Maj.-gen. Nov. 23, 1862; col. 42d Inf. July 28, 1866; retired as maj.-gen. Apr. 14, 1869; minister to Spain 1869; now (1871) col. int. rev. 4th dist. Pa. In March, 1872, Gen. Sickles was instrumental in overthrowing the corrupt "Ring" which had long controlled the Erie Railroad.

Sigel, GEN. FRANZ, b. Zinsheim, Baden, Nov. 18, 1824. Was grad. at the military school of Karlsruhe; entered the service of Baden; but in 1848 resigned, and devoted himself to German unity and republicanism. The revol. govt., June 1, 1848, app. him minister of war. After the defeat of Mieroslowski by the Prince of Prussia, Sigel, who had taken part in these battles, at the head of this beaten and dispirited force, by a skilful retreat placed it safely within the walls of the fortress of Rastatt. Upon the flight of the provis. govt., Sigel (July 11) withdrew to Switzerland; expelled by the Swiss govt., he came in 1850 to New York, taught mathematics in the acad. of Dr. Rudolph Dalton, and afterward in his dau.

He interested himself in the State militia, and was maj. of the 5th Regt. Removing in Sept. 1858 to St. Louis, where he was a teacher in the college of that city, he became early in 1861 col. 3d Mo. Vols. Under Gen. Lyon he took part in the capture of Camp Jackson; and was sent into S. W. Missouri, June 23; fought the battle of Carthage, July 5, when, with ab. 1,200 men, he engaged 5,000, upon whom, in retreating, he inflicted very severe loss; took part in the battle of Wilson's Creek, and directed the retreat from Springfield, arriving at Rolla Aug. 19. Made brig.-gen., dating from May 17, 1861, he commanded a division in Fremont's army, which in Oct. pursued the Confederates under Price; was again sent to the South-west by Gen. Halleck, Feb. 1862, commanding a division; and bore a prominent part in the battle of Pea Ridge. His relations with Gen. Halleck, commander of the department, becoming unsatisfactory, he resigned in May, but was made major-gen., dating from March 21, and ordered to the com. of Harper's Ferry, where he arrived June 2. Succeeding to the com. of Fremont's army corps June 26, he served through the campaign of Va. under Gen. Pope; took a prominent part in the second battle of Bull Run, Aug. 29-30; and Sept. 14 was put at the head of the 11th army corps. Early in Mar. 1864 he was placed in com. of the dept. of West Virginia. He was defeated by Gen. Breckinridge at New Market 15 May, and was relieved of the com. by Gen. Hunter. He evacuated Martinsburg 2 July, and on the 3d was driven from Lcetown, and took a position at Maryland Heights. Elected register of N. Y. City and Co. Nov. 1871.

Signay, Josiah, Catholic archbishop of Quebec; d. Oct. 3, 1850, a. 71. Made bishop in 1833, archbishop in 1844.

Sigourney, Lydia Howard Hensley, authoress, b. Norwich, Ct., Sept. 1, 1791; d. Hartford, June 10, 1863. She enjoyed special educational advantages. At the age of 18 she engaged in teaching a young ladies' school at Norwich; opened a select school at Hartford in 1814; and in 1815 pub. "Moral Pieces in Prose and Verse." She early manifested poetic talent, and had pub. articles in periodicals. In 1819 she m. Charles Sigourney, a merchant of Hartford. Her poems, generally lyrical, are mostly on religious or serious topics; and her publications number 59 vols. In 1810 she visited Europe; and in 1842 pub. her "Pleasant Memories of Pleasant Lands." She has pub. "Traits of the Aborigines," a poem, 1822; "Lays from the West," pub. in London; "A Sketch of Connecticut Forty Years Since," a prose volume, 1824; "Letters to Young Ladies;" "Letters to Mothers;" "Poetry for Children;" "Zinzendorf and Other Poems," 1835; "Pocahontas and Other Poems," 1841; a choice collection of her miscellaneous poems, illustrated by Darley, in 1848; "Scenes in my Native Land," 1845; "How to be Happy," 1833; "Biography and Writings of Nancy M. Hyde," 1816; "Secret Poems," 1834; "Poems for the Sea," 1845; "Voice of Flowers," 1845; "Letters to my Pupils," 1851; "Memoirs of Mrs. Harriet S. Cook," 1852; "Past Meridian" 1855; "The Man of Uz, and other Poems," 1862; "Gleanings," 1860; "Selections from Various Sources," 1863; and a posthumous vol., "Letters of Life," 1866.

Sill, G. S., Joshua Woodrow, b. Chillicothe, O., Dec. 6, 1811; killed in battle at Murfreesborough, Dec. 31, 1862. West Point, 1853. Son of Hon. Joseph Sill. Entering the ordnance dept., he was instructor at West Point 1854-7; resigning 25 Jan. 1861, he accepted the professorship of mathematics and civil eng. in the Brooklyn Coll. and Poly. Institution. This post he resigned when Sumter fell; was made assist. adj.-gen. of O. in May, and 27 Aug. col. 3rd Ohio Vols.; and was in the combat of Rich Mountain 11 July, 1861. He com. a brigade in Gen. Mitchell's division in Ky.; and was made brig.-gen. 16 July, 1862, having taken part in the Huntsville exped. and the action at Battle Creek, Tenn. When Gen. McCook took com. of an army corps, Sill was assigned to the com. of a division, and was in the battle of Perryville 8 Oct., the pursuit of Bragg's forces, and the movement to Nashville. On the reorganization of the army under Maj.-Gen. Rosecranz, he was placed in com. of a brigade in Sheridan's division. He fell at the head of this brigade, with which he had three times checked the furious onset of the foe upon the right wing on the disastrous Wednesday of the battle of Stone River.

Silliman, Benjamin, LL.D. (Méd. Coll. 1826), physicist, b. N. Stratford, Ct., Aug. 8, 1779; d. N. Haven, Nov. 24, 1864, Y. C. 1796; tutor there 1799-1804. Son of Goll Sillcock Silliman. He studied law, and was adm. to the bar in 1802; app. in 1802 prof. of chemistry in Y. C., a sci. sec. then in his infancy in the U. S. After 2 years' study in Phila. with Dr. Woodhouse, he delivered at N. Haven in 1804 a partial course of lectures on chemistry to the students of the coll.; in the winter of 1805 he gave his first full course of lectures, and then visited Europe to prosecute his studies; aft. an absence of 14 months he resumed his professorship. He pub. "Journal of Travels in England, Holland, and Scotland in 1805-6," pub. in 1810 (2 vols. 8vo) and in 1820 (3 vols. 4mo). Soon after his return he made a geological survey of a part of Ct., which is believed to have been the first of these explorations mad. in the U. S. He pub. a full account of a meteorite of great size and splendor, which in Dec. 1807 threw off large fragments in the town of Weston, Ct. In 1813 he pub. in the "Memoirs of the Ct. Acad. of Arts and Sciences" an account of his experiments with the oxy-hydrogen blow-pipe of Dr. Hare, by which he had greatly extended the list of bodies known to be fusible. In 1818 Prof. Silliman founded the American Journal of Science and Art, of which for 20 years he was sol., and for 8 years more semi-r. editor. In 1838 his son Benjamin, jun., became associated with him in editing the work; and in 1846 it was transferred by the senior editor to Prof. J. D. Dana and B. Silliman, jun. Prof. S. was a frequent lecturer upon chemistry and geology in most of the populous towns and cities of the Union. In 1830 he pub. a textbook on Chemistry, 2 vols.; and in 1829 an edition of Bakewell's Geology, with Notes. An "Account of a Journey between Hartford and Quebec" appeared from his pen in 1820. He spent 6 months of 1851 in Europe, and in 1853 pub. "A Visit to Europe in 1851," 2 vols. 12mo. In 1853 he resigned his professorship, and was made prof. emeritus; but at the request of his colleagues he continued to lecture on geology till June, 1855, when he gave his closing academic course. He was a member of numerous American and European scientific societies. — S. Life of Silliman by Prof. Geo. P. Fisher, 2 vols. 8vo, 1866.

Silliman, Benjamin, Junr., M.D. (U. of S. C. 1849), physicist, son of the preceding, b. New Haven, Ct., Dec. 4, 1816. Y. C. 1837. He was an instructor at Yale in chemistry, mineralogy, and geology in 1838-47, and in 1842 opened a laboratory for instruction in analytical chemistry; in 1846 he was app. prof. of chemistry applied to the arts in the scientific school of the coll., which he was chiefly instrumental in organizing. He became as-soc. editor of the Journal of Science with his father in 1838, and in 1846 was as-soc. with Prof. Dana as editor and proprietor. In 1849-54 he was prof. of mineral chemistry and toxicology in the U. of Louisville, Ky.; and in 1854 succeeded his father as prof. of chemistry in Y. C., which position he now holds. In 1853 he had charge of the dept. of chemistry, mineralogy, and geology in the Crystal-Palace Exhibition in New York, and, in connection with Mr. C. B. Goodrich, prepared the "Illustrated Record" and the "Progress of Science and Art" then pub. In 1851 he visited Europe with his father, and prepared from his notes the "Visit to Europe," pub. in 1853. He was several years sec. of the Amer. Association for the Advancement of Science, and had charge of the publication of its "Proceedings." He is well known as a lecturer on scientific topics. Besides about 60 papers in the Journal of Science, he has pub. "First Principles of Chemistry," 1846, revised in 1856; and "Principles of Physics," 1858. — Apollon.

Silliman, Gold Selleck, b. near Fairfield, Ct., abt. 1720; d. there July, 1790. Y. C. 1752. A lawyer on the breaking-out of the Revol., and a col. of local cavalry, he served as brig.-gen., and during most of the war charged with the defence of the south-western frontier of Ct. adjoining N. Y. He served in the battle of Long Island at the head of his regt., and at White Plains; and was very efficient in repelling the raid on Danbury in 1777. Captured by a party of Tories, May 1, 1779, and held captive one year. Father of Prof. Silliman.

Silbee, Joshua S., comedian, the first to introduce Yankee characterizations into Eng. b. Liverpool, Ct., Jan. 4, 1815; d. San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 22, 1855. Made his débüt in the winter of 1837 in Natchez, Miss. Sept. 23, 1851, he opened at the Adelphi, London, as Jonathan Poughnogy.

Silbee, Nathaniel, senator, and merchant of Salem, Ms., b. Essex Co., 1773; d. Salem, July 1, 1850. His father Nathaniel was a shipmaster in the employ of E. H. Derby of Salem. The son amassed a fortune by honorable dealing; frequently served in each branch of the State legisl.; in 1823-6 was pres.

of the State senate; M. C. 1816-20; and was a U. S. senator in 1826-35.

Simcock, John, Quaker preacher; d. Chester Co., Pa., Jan. 27, 1701. He was 40 years a minister, and was endowed with great wisdom and spiritual discernment. He was a great sufferer in Eng. for his opinions, both by imprisonment, and loss of goods. He settled early in Chester Co., Pa.; was active in endeavoring to recover George Keith to the true faith, and afterward in testifying against him and his party. — Conf. of Quaker Ministers.

Simcoe, John Graves, a British Lieutenant, b. near Exeter, Eng., 25 Feb. 1752; d. Torbay, 26 Oct. 1806. His father, a capt. in the navy, was killed at Quebec during his siege by Wolfe. He entered the army an ensign in 1770, and, on the breaking-out of the Amer. war, purchased a company in the 40th Foot, which regt. he com. at the battle of Brandywine, where he was wounded, as also at Monmouth. He raised a battalion called the Queen's Rangers, drilled and disciplined in a superior manner for light and active service, and with which he performed important services to the royal cause in the South. Clinton gave him, 23 June, 1779, the local rank of lieutenant. In Oct. 1779, while on an expedition to destroy some boats, he was taken prisoner, and narrowly escaped death. His corps was constantly in advance of the army, and performed a series of gallant, skilful, and successful enterprises. Simcoe was included in the capitulation at Yorktown. A "Journal" of his campaigns, printed only for his friends, was reprinted 8vo, N. Y., 1844. After the war, the corps was disbanded, and the officers placed on half-pay. Gov. of Upper Canada in 1791-4; he retained his old enmity against the U. S., and, if he did not promote, certainly did nothing to prevent, Indian hostilities on our borders. Col. 18 Nov. 1790; maj.-gen. 3 Oct. 1794; lieutenant-gen. 3 Oct. 1798; gov. and commander-in-chief of St. Domingo, Dec. 1796-July, 1797, an exerted himself successfully to oppose the French, and to establish the financial and other interests of the Colony.

Simitière, Pierre Eugène de, painter and antiquary, b. Geneva; d. Phila. 1788. A. M. of N. J. Coll. 1781. From 1760 to his death he practised his profession in Phila.; painted miniatures in water-colors, and was also a collector of specimens of natural history. He had many of his portraits engraved in Paris, among them Washington, Arnold, Seneca Deane, Gates, Laurens, Huntington, Morris, Sturben, Charles Thomson, Gerard, and Jos. Reed. He was an ardent patriot and a well-informed man, and collected materials for a Hist. of the Amer. Revolution.

Simmons, George, Furberok, clergyman, b. Boston, Mar. 24, 1814; d. Concord, Ms., Sept. 5, 1855. H. C. 1832. Son of Judge Wm. of Boston, who d. 1843. He was distinguished for brilliant scholarship, and was ord. Oct. 9, 1838. He preached at Mobile, Ala., in 1838-40; at Waltham, Ms., in 1841-5; and at Springfield in 1848-54 (each of which places his anti-slavery preaching and opinions caused him to leave), and afterward in Albany. He was twice in Europe, — once (on graduation) as a tutor in a private family; and again in 1843-5, when he went to Germany, and studied theology. A vol. of his sermons was pub. 1855.

Simmons, JAMES F., senator, b. Little Compton, R. I., Sept. 10, 1795; d. Johnson, R. I., July 14, 1864. A farmer and manufacturer. A member of the Gen. Assembly in 1828-41; U. S. senator in 1841-7, and again in 1857-63.

Simmons, JOHN, merchant of Boston, b. Little Compton, R. I., Oct. 1796; d. there 29 Aug. 1870. By his will he provided for the founding of the "Simmons Female Coll.," for the education of indigent young women.

Simms, JEREMY ROOF, b. Canterbury, Ct., 1807. Author of "History of Schoharie Co., N. Y.," 8vo, 1845; "The American Spy, Nathan Hale," 8vo, 1846; "Trappers of N. Y.," 1850. Contrib. to periodicals. — A. S. M.

Simms, WM. GILMORE, LL. D., author, b. Charleston, S. C., Apr. 17, 1806; d. there June 11, 1870. His father was of Irish descent. At the age of 7 he began to write verses. Owing to the limited means of his family and a sickly childhood, his early education was slight. After a clerkship of several years in a store in Charleston, he at 18 began to study law. At 20 he was admitted to the bar in 1828, which he pursued after a year's practice, and became editor, and part proprietor, of the Charleston C. G. Zephyr, which, favoring the Union during the nullification excitement, became a losing concern, and in 1832 left Mr. Simms nearly penniless. Losing by death, about this time, his grandmother, father, and wife, he came north, and passed the summer at Hingham, Ms., where he finished the longest and best of his imaginative poems "Atlantis" (X. Y., 1830). He had previously pub. a "Monody on the Death of Charles C. Pinckney," 1825; 2 vols. of Poems, and "Early Lays," 1827; "Vision of Cortes, Cam, and other Poems," 1829; and in 1830 "The Tricolor, or Three Days of Blood in Paris." His other poetical works are "Southern Passages and Pictures," 1839; "Donna Anna," 1843; "Grouped Thoughts and Scattered Fancies," 1845; "Lays of the Palmetto," 1848; "Poems," 2 vols., 1854; "Anxios, or Songs and Ballads of the South," 1860; and in 1867 edited "War Poetry of the South." He also produced two dramas, "Norman Maurice," and "Missive Bonham, or the Fall of the Alamo;" a adapted Shakespeare's "Eumoi of Athens" for the stage, with numerous additions of his own. He is best known by his romances, founded upon local or revol. history. His novels are "Martin Faber," a melange, entitled "The Book of My Lady," 1831; "Carl Werner," 1838; "Confession, or the Blind Heart," 1842; "Castle Dismal," 1845; "The Wigwam and the Cabin," 1845-6; "Marie de Bernice," 1853; "The Yemassee," 1855; "Pelayo," 1858 and its sequel, "Count Juan," 1845; "The Damsel of Darien," 1845; "The Lady and the Tutor," "The Maroon and Other Tales," 1855; "Vasco-nos," 1867; "The Cassique of Kawaik," 1860; "The Partisan," 1855; "M. de Langle," 1836, and "Katherine Wagon," 1851; "The Story of a Family," pub. as the "Kinsmen," 1841; "Wesley;" originally entitled "The Sword and the Staff," "The Forayers, a Raad of the Doghays," 1835, and its sequel, "Lutaw," 1856; "Guy Rivers," 1834; "Richard Hurdie," 1838; "Boulder Beagies," 1840; "Beauchamp," 1842; "Helen Halsey," 1845; "The Golden Christmas," 1852; and "Charlemont, or the Pride of the Village," 1856. His hist. and biog. works are a "Hist. of S. C.," "S. C. in the Revol.," 1854; and Lives of Marion, Capt. John Smith, Chevalier Bayard, and Gen. Greene; also a "Geography of S. C.," and a number of articles on the "Civil Warfare of the South," and the "Amer. Loyalists of the Revol.," pub. in the South-Sea Messenger and Quarterly Review. His other works are, "Views and Reviews in Amer. Literature;" "Eccein," a collection of adularisms; "Father Abbot, or the Home Tourist, a Medley," "Southward Ho!" 1854; "The Morals of Slavery," &c. He also edited, with notes, the 7 dramas ascribed to Spack-pere, but not pub. among his works, under the title of "A Supplement to Shakespeare's Plays," and contrib. much to periodical literature besides delivering occasional orations. Many of the biographies of South Carolinians in the New Amer. Cyclop. are from his pen. He resided on his plantation of woodlands near Midway, S. C. A uniform edition of his works was pub. by Redfield, in N. Y., in 19 vols.

Simonds, WILLIAM, b. Charleston, Ms., Sept. 1822; d. Winchester, Ms., July 7, 1859. Established the Saturday Review in 1846 and was editorially connected with the N. E. Farmer, in which the Reader was merged in Dec. 1850, until his death. In 1848-9 he pub. and edited the Putnam's National Library, monthly. Author of the "Amwell Stories," 6 vols., and other juvenile books.

Simonsen, JOHN S., brev. brig. gen. U. S. A., b. Pa. Served in Dobbin's regt. N. Y. vols.; in campaign on the Niagara 1814. A resident of Clark Co., Ind., since 1817. Member of both branches of the legislature; speaker of the house in 1845. App. capt. mounted rifles, May 27, 1846; brev. maj. for battle of Chapultepec, Sept. 13, 1847, in which he was wounded; com. his regt. on the fall of Loring, and disting. in attack on D. B. Long Gate; maj. mounted rifles 1853; col. 3d Cavalry, May 13, 1861; retired Sept. 28, 1860. Brev. brig. gen. for long and faithful service in the army 13 Mar. 1865.

Simpson, EDWARD, actor and manager, b. 1781; d. New York, July 31, 1848. Made his débüt in Fowchester, England, in May, 1806; at the Park, New York, Oct. 22, 1809, as Harry Dromion in "Road to Rome." Manager of the Park Theatre from 1810 to June 5, 1814. While playing Erasmus in 1828, he broke one of his legs, causing permanent lameness. Retired from the stage in 1835, and last appeared in 1841 as Dizzle in "London Assurance."

Simpson, SIR CHARLES, gov. of the Hudson's B. Co., b. Ross-shire, Scotland, 1796; d. Montreal, Sept. 7, 1860. From 1809 to 1820 he was engaged in commercial pursuits in London, when he was employed by the Earl of Selkirk, who was engaged in founding in Canada the Red-river Settlement, to take the lead in the operations of the company; with whom, in 1820, he sailed from Eng., and in May left Montreal for the Northwest. Settling at Lake Athabasca, he carried on a great competition with the North-west Co.; but in 1821 the two coalesced, when he was app. gov.-in-chief of Rupert's Land, and gen. supt. of all the Hudson's Bay Co.'s affairs. He planned in 1836 the expedi., under his nephew Thomas Simpson, to connect the discoveries of Captains Ross and Buck, evincing such forethought and zeal, that the expedition was perfectly successful. It lasted 3 years, and traced the arctic coast of America from the mouth of the Mackenzie River to Point Barrow, and from the mouth of the Coppermine River to the Gulf of Boothia. For these services he was knighted by the queen in 1855. He soon after made an overland journey round the world, of which he published an interesting narrative, Lond. 8vo, 1847.

Simpson, HENRY; d. Phila. 1868; a 77. Member of the legis. of Pa., and appraiser of the port of Phila. Author of "The Lives of Eminent Philadelphians," 8vo, 1859 — J. P. S.

Simpson, JAMES H., brig.-gen., and col. of engineer corps U.S.A., b. N.J. abt. 1812. West Point, 1832. A.M. of N.J. Coll. 1848. Entering the 3d Art., he was aide to Gen. Ennis in the Florida war 1837-8; 1st lieut. topog. engs. 7 July, 1838; capt. 3 March, 1853; maj. engr. corps 3 Mar. 1863; lieutenant-col. June, 1863; col. 7 March, 1867; col. 4th N.J. Vols. 12 Aug. 1864, and in the Peninsular campaign; was engaged at West Point and Gaines's Mills, where he was captured 27 June, 1862; chief eng. dept. of the Ohio Aug. 1862 to June, 1865; brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865. Author of "Journal of a Military Reconnaissance from Santa Fé to the Navajo County in 1849," 8vo, 1852; "Shortest Route to California," 8vo, 1869; "Report on the U.P. Railroad and Branches," 8vo, 1865. — Col. S.

Simpson, MARLOW, D. D. (Wesl. U. 1841), Bishop M.E. Church, b. Cadiz, O., 21 June, 1810. Madison Coll. 1829; M.D. 1833. While an infant he lost his father, and the care of his education devolved upon his mother. Though he had studied medicine, yet he felt it his duty to preach; was licensed as a local preacher; ord. deacon in 1835, and elder in 1837; was pres. of the Ind. Asb. F. in 1839-41; vesp. pres. of Alleghany Coll. 1841-51, and prof. of natural science; app. in 1848 editor of the Western Christian Advocate; elected bishop in 1852. The intimate personal friend of Pres. Lincoln, he contributed greatly by his zeal and eloquence to sustain the cause of the Union in the great civil war.

Simpson, GUS. MICHAEL, who served in Andrew's Regt. expedi. in 1775; d. near Harrisburg, Pa. June 15, 1813, a 80.

Simpson, STEPHEN S., editor, b. Phila. July 2, 1780; d. Aug. 17, 1854. George's Clerk was cashier of the Bank of the U.S., and afterwards of Genard's Bank. Under the signature of "Barnum" Stephen wrote again. of the U.S. Bank for the American. He was with his brother George engaged in the battle of New Orleans, was wounded at Fort and prisoner of the Zealand, and in 1812, with John Comar, c. 1 the Columbian Observer, in the interest of Gen. Jackson. He wrote "A Life of Stephen Girard," 12mo, 1832, and many other works. Contrib. to the Philadelphia Book. — S. S. S.

Sims, CLIFFORD STASLEY, b. Pa. 17 Feb. 1839. Adm. to Phila. bar 1860. Now (1871) U. S. consul at Preston, Ontario (Dom. of Can.). Author of "Stemmata Rosellana," 1859; "Origin and Significance of Scottish Surnames," 8vo, 1862; "Hist. of the N. J. Soc. of the Cincinnati," 8vo, 1866. Contrib. to "Heroes and Martyrs," and the N. E. G. J., and Hist. B. R., &c. — A. P. S.

Sims, RICH. EDWARD DROMOGOOD, scholar, b. Brunswick Co., Va., March 24, 1805; d. Tuscaloosa, Ala., April 13, 1845. U. of N.C. 1824. Tutor there in 1825-7; subsequently principal of an acad. at La Grange, Ala.; and, when the coll. was established there, was elected prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. At a later period he was prof. of Languages in Randolph Macon Coll. In 1836 he made a European tour, and spent nearly two years in the U. of Halle; prof. of English lit. U. of Ala. 1841-5.

Sinclair, ARTHUR, capt. U.S.N., b. Va. abt. 1780; d. Norfolk, Va., 7 Feb. 1841. Midship. under Com. Truxton at the capture of the French frigate "L'Insurgente," 1 Feb. 1799; lieut. 10 Jan. 1807; com. 2 July, 1812; capt. 24 July, 1813.

Sinnickson, THOMAS, Revol. soldier and judge, b. Salem Co., N.J., 1745; d. there May 15, 1817. Received a classical education, and was bred a merchant. Member of the first Prov. Congress in 1775. He served in the Revol. war, at the battles of Trenton and Princeton as capt.; was for many years a member of the council and assenbly of N.J., and pres. judge of the C.C.P.; member of the first Congress 1789-91, and again in 1797-9.

Sitgreaves, JOHN, Revol. patriot; d. Hibernia, N.C., March 4, 1802. He resided at Newbern; was a lieut. in 1776; was aide to Caswell at the battle of Camden, Aug. 1780; member Old Congress 1784-5; member of G. L. 1783-9, and U.S. dist. judge 1789-1802.

Skene, COL. PHILIP; d. Oct. 9, 1810, near Stoke Goldington, Bucks, Eng. Grandson of John Sk. n. of Halyards in Fife-shir., Scotland. He entered the army in 1739, and served in the expedi. against Barbadoes; in 1741 was at the taking of Cartagena; and was also at the battles of Fontenoy, Culloden, and Loffdick. He came to Amer. in 1756; Feb. 2, 1757, became capt. 27th Regt.; was wounded in the attack on Flounders, July, 1758; was app. maj. of brigade 31 July, 1759; and in Oct. following was left in charge of Crown Point, and proceeded a settl. ment at Wood Creek and South Bay, at the head of Lake Champlain; in 1762 he accomp. the expedi. against Martinico and Havana, and was one of the first to enter the breach at the storming of the Mole Castle. On his return to N.Y. in 1766 he renewed his efforts to accomplish a settl. ment at Wood Creek, for which he a patent was granted March, 1765, and it was formed into a township under the name of Skeneboro' sh.; and in 1770 he established his settl. ment there. In June, 1775, he was an. of the Philles; a boyalist; was exchanged in Oct. 1776; accomp. Burgoyne's exped.; was with Baum in his expedition and defeat at Bennington; and he was taken prisoner at Saratoga. In 1779 he was attainted, and his property confiscated by the legislature of New York.

Skinner, Charles W., commo. U.S.N., b. Me.; d. Richmond, Va., Nov. 15, 1860. Midshipm. 1809; lieut. July 24, 1813; com. Mar. 3, 1827; capt. Feb. 9, 1837; retired 1855.

Skinner, Cortlandt, a loyalist brig.-gen. of the Revol.; d. Bristol, Eng., 1799, a. 71. His mother was a dau. of Stephen Van Cortlandt, and he was therefore cousin to Gen. DeLancey. Was atty.-gen. of N. J. in 1775, and in the performance of his official duties evinced both ability and integrity. He organized 3 battalions, called the N. J. Volunteers. At the peace he went to Eng., where he received compensation for losses as a loyalist. One of his daughters m. Sir Wm. Ro'inson, commiss.-gen. in the British army. Another m. Field-Marshal Sir George Nugent. His son PULLER KEARNEY, lieut.-gen. British army, b. Am'way, N. J., d. Lond. Apr. 9, 1826. He entered the service as ensign 1st N. J. Vols. (loyalist); was made prisoner in the exped. to Osgend; served in Ireland, E. and W. Indies, and Spain; and attained rank of lieut.-gen. in 1825. — Saline.

Skinner, Jons, an English lieut.-gen., b. N. J.; d. Eng. Oct. 10, 1827. Entered the service as ensign 16th Regt. Sept. 4, 1772; capt. 70th, June 10, 1778. In the campaigns of 1779-81 he was at the actions of Banantort and Stono Ferry, the defence of Savannah against Lincoln and D'EStaing, the successful siege of Charleston; and com. a troop in Col. Tarleton's Legion in the battles of Blackstocks, Cowpens, and Guilford. In 1795, reducing the revolted Maroons to submission, he saved Jamaica from the fate of St. Domingo; in 1804 he com. the 16th Regt. in the exped. against Surinam; and afterwards, while major-gen., acted as gov. in succession of St. Martin's, Santa Cruz, and Guadaloupe in the W. Indies, at the capture of which latter island, in 1810, he com. a brigade, and for that service received a gold medal.

Skinner, Jons Stuart, writer on agriculture, b. Md. Feb. 12, 1788; d. Baltimore, Mar. 21, 1851. Adm. to the bar in 1809. He was atty. of the gov., to conduct some negotiations with the British forces in Chesapeake Bay in 1812, and, removing to Baltimore in the fall of 1813, held the office of postmaster of that city 1821-37. He began in 1819 the pub. of the Old Farmer's Friend, — the first periodical in the U.S. devoted wholly to agriculture; and was the first to propose and organize the agric. shows in the Middle and Southern States. Titled as 1st postmaster-gen. 1841-5. He subsequently edited the Amer. Prof. Register, the Farmers' & Horticultural Assoc. Journal, and from 1848 a monthly journal called The Plough, the Furrow, and the Hoe. Member of many foreign agric. societies. He received a vote of thanks from the Childs Congress for his services rendered them in their struggle for independence. Author of "A Christmas Gift to Young Agriculturists," 8vo, 1841; "The Dog and the Sportsman," 1845; "Lectures on Nautical Education," 1841.

— See Memoir of Jy B. P. Pove, in the P., L., and A., July, 1854.

Skinner, Otis Ainsworth, D.D., Univ. clergyman and author, b. Royalton, Vt., July 3, 1807; d. Naperville, Ill., Sept. 18, 1861. At 19 he began teaching school and preaching; settled in Baltimore in 1831; in Haverhill in 1836; over the 5th Society in Boston, Jan. 26, 1837; over the Orchard-st. Society, N.Y. City, in 1846; over his old society in Boston from Jan. 1, 1849, to April, 1857, when he settled in Elgin, Ill.; Aug. 1857 became pres. of Lombard U., Galesburg, Ill.; and in Oct. 1858 became pastor of the society at Joliet, Ill. In Baltimore he edited a religious paper, the Southern Pioneer; in Haverhill, the Gospel Sun; in Boston, the Universalist; in Massachusetts, a monthly mag. He pub. "Universalism Illustrated and Defended," "Doctrinal Reasons," "Lectures on the Knapp Excitement," "Letters to Parents," and "Family Worship." He was an efficient worker in the cause of temperance, of education, and of other reforms. — See L. J. F. F. Thayer, 8vo, 1861.

Skinner, Rowan, LL.D. (Midd. Coll. 1817), statesman and jurist, b. Litchfield, Ct., May 30, 1778; d. Manchester, Vt., May 23, 1833. Son of Gen. Timothy. Educated at the Litch. Law School. Adm. to the bar of Litchfield Co. in 1800, and passed the remainder of his life in Manchester, Vt. He soon became the ablest lawyer in the State; was app. in 1801 States-aty. for Bennington Co.; was in 1806-12 judge of probate; was M.C. 1813-15; app. assoc. judge of the Sup. Court in 1815; chief justice in 1816; in 1818 was elected a member, and subsequently speaker, of the h. of r. representatives; gov. in 1820-3; and ag. in chief justice in 1821-9. He was an officer of various local benevolent associations, and pres. of the N. E. branch of the Amer. Education Society.

Skinner, Thomas Harvey, D.D. (Winds. Coll. 1826), LL.D. (1855), clergyman, b. Harvey's Neck, N.C., Mar. 7, 1791. N.J. Coll. 1809. He began the study of law, but was licensed to preach in Dec. 1812, and ord. June 1813 as co-pastor of the 2d Presb. Church in Philadelphia. In 1816 he was settled over the 5th (New School) Presb. Church, Phila.; in 1812 he became prof. of sacred doctrine in Andover Theol. Sem.; in 1835 pastor of the Mercersb. Presb. Church, N.Y.; and was in 1848-71 prof. of sacred rhetoric and pastoral theology in the Union Theol. Sem. there. In 1836 he pub. "The Religion of the Bible," "Preaching and Hearing," and "Hints to Christians," and in 1854 translations of Vinet's "Hamletics" and "Pastoral Theology." He has also pub. occasional discourses, Religious Life of F. Munko, "Thoughts on Evangelizing the World," and "Discussions in Theology," 8vo, 1868. Died Feb. 1, 1871.

Slack, Elijah, M.D., LL.D. (N.J. Coll. 1833), Presb. clergyman, b. Bucks Co., Pa., 1784; d. Cincinnati, O., 29 May, 1866. N.J. Coll. 1808. Principal of Trenton Acad. 1808-12; vice-pres. and prof. of math and philos. N.J. Coll. 1812-17; removed to Ohio; was at one time prof. of chemistry in Ohio Med. Coll.; in the fall of 1817 removed to Brownsville, Tenn., where he established a high school of great excellence, and returned to Cin. in 1844; pres. of the Coll. of Cincinnati.

Slade, WILLIAM, gov. of Vt. 1844-6, b. Cornwall, Vt., May 9, 1786; d. Middlebury, Vt., Jan. 18, 1859. Midd. Coll. 1807. He commenced the practice of law at Middlebury, Vt., in 1810; and in 1814-15 pub. and edited the Columbian Patriot, in connection with book-selling and job-printing, but was unsuccessful. In 1815-23 he was sec. of state; in 1816-22 judge of Addison Co. court; in 1823-9 was a clerk in the state dept. at Washington; resumed the practice of law in Middlebury in 1829; was state's atty. in 1830-1 for Addison Co.; M.C. in 1831-43; in 1844 was reporter of the Supreme Court of Vt.; in 1846-58 he was sec. of the National Board of popular education. In 1829 he pub. the "Vermont State Papers," a valuable compilation. In 1825 he compiled the statutes of Vt.; and in 1844 the Vermont Reports, vol. xv. He also wrote many pamphlets — Hist. Mag., iii. 95.

Slater, SAMUEL, the father of cotton manufacturing in the U.S., b. Belpre, Eng., June 9, 1768; d. Webster, Ms., Apr. 20, 1835. The son of a farmer. He received a good education, and served his apprenticeship with Jedediah Strutt, the partner of Arkwright. Having completed his term of service, he sailed for New York, Nov. 13, 1789. In the ensuing Jan. he proceeded to Pawtucket, R.I., where he started in Dec. 1790 the first successful cotton-mill in the U.S. The restrictions of his govt. prevented his taking with him any patterns or drawings; and he was compelled to rely entirely upon his memory for carrying his plans into effect in all their complicated variety. Not only was he compelled to prepare all the plans in the several departments of the process of manufacturing, but also to construct with his own hands the different kinds of machinery, whether of wood, iron, brass, tin, or leather; or else teach others how to do it. Later in life, Mr. Slater also became interested in the wool-len and iron manufactures, and acquired great wealth. A Memoir, by Geo. S. White, was pub. Phila. 8vo, 1836.

Slaughter, GABRIEL, gov. of Ky. 1816-20, b. Va. ab. 1767; d. Mercer Co., Ky., Sept. 19, 1820. An early emig. to Ky.; was a skillful and successful farmer, and was frequently chosen to the State legisl. At the battle of New Orleans he was col. of a Ky. regt., and received the thanks of the legisl. He was chosen lieut.-gov.; but, on the death of Gov. Madison, the chief magistracy devolved on him.

Sleeper, JOHN SHERBURNE, b. Tyngsborough, Ms., 21 Sept. 1794. For 22 years a sailor and shipmaster in the merchant-service from Boston; connected with the N.H. News-Letter, Ex. ter. 1831-2; the Lowell Daily Journal 1833; and editor of the Boston Journal 1834-54; mayor of Roxbury, Ms., 1856-8. Author of "Tales of the Ocean," 1842; "Salt-water Bubbles," 1854; "Jack in the Fore-castle," 1860; "Mark Rowland," 1867; also addresses, &c. — Albion.

Slemmer, GEN. ADAM J., b. Montgomery Co., Pa., ab. 1828; d. Fort Laramie, Ks., Oct. 7, 1868. West Point, 1850. Entering the 1st Art. he was promoted for gallantry in the Seminole war, and was assist. prof. of ethics and mathematics at West Point in 1855-9. When the Rebellion broke out, he com. a small garrison at Fort Mifflin; Jan. 10, 1861, he threw himself into Fort Pickens, which he successfully held until relieved by Col. Brown, thus preserving the key to the Gulf of Mexico; maj. 16th Inf. May 14, 1861; brig. gen. of vols. Nov. 20, 1862; engaged at the siege of Corinth; severely wounded in the battle of Stone River, Dec. 31, 1862, and disabled from further active service; brev. lieut.-col. for gallant and merit service in that battle; lieut.-col. 4th Inf. Feb. 8, 1864; 13 Mar. 1865, brev. col. and brig.-gen.

Slidell, JOHN, lawyer and senator, b. N.Y. City ab. 1793; d. Lond. July 29, 1871. Col. Coll. 1810. He established himself as a lawyer in N. Orleans, and practised with success. U.S. dist.-atty. in 1829-33; was frequently elected to the State legisl., and was M.C. in 1843-5; in 1845 he was app. by Mr. Polk, minister to Mexico; in 1853 was elected to the U.S. senate, and was re-elected in 1859. He spoke rarely, but served on important committees, and exerted great influence. He was a strenuous supporter of the doctrine of the Southern-rights party, and after La. had passed the ordinance of secession, in Jan. 1861, he withdrew (Feb. 4) from the senate. In the fall of 1861 he was sent as a commiss. to France, together with Mr. Mason of Va. Embarking from Havana in the English mail-steamship "Trent," they were both arrested (Nov. 8) by Capt. Wilkes of the U.S. frigate "San Jacinto," and confined in Fort Warren, Boston harbor. Released on the reclamation of the British govt., he sailed for Eng. Jan. 1, 1862, where he resided until his death.

Sloan (Lan), SAMUEL, architect, b. Chester Co., Pa., 7 Mar. 1815. Establishing himself in Phila., he designed many important edifices, among them the Blockley Hospital for the Insane, Phila., and the State Lunatic Hospital, Montgomery, Ala. He pub. "Model Architecture," 1850-1; "City and Suburban Architecture," 1859; and "Homestead Architecture," 1869; and "Constructive Architecture," 4to. In 1868 he began the Architectural Review. — Thomas.

Sloat, JOHN DRAPER, rear-admiral U.S.N., b. New York 1780; d. New Brighton, Staten Island, Nov. 28, 1867. He entered the navy as sailing-master, Feb. 12, 1800; was honorably discharged in 1801; re-app. Jan. 10, 1812; made lieut. July 24, 1813; master com. Mar. 21, 1826; capt. Feb. 9, 1837; commo. (retired list) July 16, 1862; and rear-adm. July, 1866. He was in the action of "The United States" and "Maesdonium," Oct. 25, 1812; com. "The Grampus" in 1824-5, and engaged in exterminating the W. India pirates; and performed his last active service as com. of the Pacific squadron in 1846-52. He was then placed in charge of the Norfolk navy-yard, and subsequently superintended the construction of the Stevens Battery at Hoboken, and the U.S. mail-steamships sailing from New York.

Slocum, GEN. HENRY WADSWORTH, b. Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 24, 1827. West Point, 1852. Entering the 1st Art., he was made 1st lieut. March 3, 1855; resigned Oct. 31, 1856, and settled as a lawyer in Syracuse, having previously prepared him self for the profession; co. 27th N.Y. Vols., May 21, 1861; he joined McDowell's army when it was about to advance; was assigned to Col. Andrew Porter's brigade, Hunter's division, and at the battle of Bull Run was shot through the thigh; brigade n. vo's., Aug. 9, 1861, and assigned a brigade in Franklin's div.; he was at the battle of West Point, Va.; took com. of the division upon Gen. Franklin's being assigned to the com. of an army corps, May 15, 1862; served at the battle of Glanville's Mills, June 27, being ordered to re-inforce Gen. Fitzjohn Porter, then severely pressed by the enemy; and held the right of the main line at the battle of Glendale, Jan. 30, against superior numbers. He was made maj.-gen., July 4; took part in the battles of Manassas, South Mountain, and Antietam; and in Oct. was assigned to command the 12th corps, previously under Gen. Banks. This corps he led at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg, July 1-4, where he com. the right wing; was occupied in guarding the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, Sept. 1864-Apr. 1864; com. 20th corps in the Atlanta campaign; com. the army of Ga., one of the grand divisions of Sherman's army in the great march through Georgia and the Carolinas, Nov. 11, 1864, to June 9, 1865, taking part in the numerous skirmishes and battles of the campaign; resigned 28 Sept. 1865. M.C. from Brooklyn, N.Y., 1869-71. — Contemp.

Slough, Joun P., politician, b. Cincinnati, O., 1823; killed at Santa Fe, N.M., Dec. 16, 1867. He practiced law in Cincinnati. In 1850 he was elected to the Ohio legisl., from which, as he would not accept it, he was expelled for striking one of the members. In 1852 he became sec. of the Central Democ. Conv. of Ohio. Soon afterwards he went to Kansas, and in 1860 to Denver. On the breaking-out of the Rebellion, he raised a company of vo's., and assumed com. of Fort Garland. Becoming col. 1st Colorado Regt., he was sent into New Mexico, and took com. of Fort Union; here he fought his first battle at Pigeon's Rauche, causing the retreat of the Texan troops under Gen. Sibley. The battle was fought in direct opposition to the orders of Gen. Canby, but terminated successfully, and gave him great popularity. Returning to Washington, he was made a brig.-gen. of vo's., and was milit. gov. of Alexandria till the close of the war. Apechist justice of the Terr. of New Mexico, his impetuous temper rendered him very unpopular; and a series of resolutions were passed in the legisl., advocating his removal, which led to a personal encounter with the major who introduced them, resulting in the death of Mr. Slough.

Small, Joun, a British gen., b. Strathairle, Aberdeenshire, 1726; d. Conersey, March 17, 1796. After serving in the Scotch brigade in the Dutch service, he was commissioned as ensign in the 42d Highlanders, Aug. 29, 1747, and was employed hunting the rebels through the Highlands; in 1756 he was app. lieutenant, in his old regiment, on the eve of its departure for America; served in the north; and returned London; in 1758 he served under Abercrombie in the attack on Ticonderoga, and accomp. Amherst the following year in his exped.; in 1760 he went to Montreal; served in the W. Indies in 1762; and Aug. 6 of that year was made capt. June 14, 1775, he received a commission as maj. to raise a corps of Highlanders in Nova Scotia in aid of the crown. Maj. Small was in the battle of Bunker's Hill, and is a prominent figure in Trumbull's picture. App. maj. com. the 2d batt. of the 84th Royal Emigrants, with a portion of which he joined the army under Sir H. Clinton at New York in 1779, and in 1780 was app. lieutenant-col. of his regt. He became col. Nov. 18, 1790, and in 1793 was app. lieutenant-gov. of Conersey; maj.-gen. Oct. 3, 1794.

Smalley, Joun, D.D. (N.J. Coll. 1800), Cong. minister of Berlin, Ct., b. Lebanon, Ct., June 4, 1734; d. June 1, 1820. Y.C. 1756. He studied theology with Dr. Bellamy, and was ord. minister of Berlin, Apr. 19, 1758. He was one of the most eminent of the great divines of New England, and thought and wrote with a logical accuracy and purity that are seldom surpassed. His celebrated sermons on "Natural and Moral Inability," pub. in 1760, were repub. in Eng., and also, it is believed, in a German translation. He pub. a sermon on "Eternal Salvation," "None but Believers Saved," &c., "Perdition of Divine Law," and "Evils of a Weak Government;" also 2 large vols. of sermons, and contrib. to magazines.

Smallwood, William, maj.-gen., b. Md.; d. there Feb. 14, 1792. He was made a col. in 1776; Aug. 8 arrived at New York at the head of a battalion, composed of men belonging to the best families of Md., which suffered most severely in the defeat at Long Island, at which Smallwood was not present; was in the action at White Plains; made brig.-gen. Oct. 23, 1776; and in the summer of 1777 accomp. Gen. Sullivan on his exped. to Staten Island. When the British arrived in the Chesapeake, he was despatched to assemble the militia of the Western Shore of Md., with about 1,000 of whom he joined the main army, Sept. 28. He led the Md. militia at the battle of Germantown; was made maj.-gen. Sept. 15, 1780, while with Gates at the South, and, after the defeat at Camden, returned to the North, refusing to serve under Baron Steuben, who was his superior officer, and declaring his intention to leave the service unless Congress should cause his commission to be dated 2 years before his app. — a claim justly regarded as absurd. Member of Congress in 1785, and in 1785-8 gov. of Maryland.

Smarius, Riv S J., R.C. missionary and author, b. Esouze, Holland, 3 Mar. 1811; d. Detroit, 2 Mar. 1870. After completing his studies at the U. of North Brabant he came to the U.S. and joined the Society of Jesus at Foucault Mo., 13 Nov. 1841. While a member of poetry and rhetoric at Cincinnati (1841-8), he pub. anonymously many poems of much beauty. Ord. priest in 1849. App. in 1853 pastor of the Church of St. Francis Xavier, St. Louis, he became celebrated for his eloquence and for controversial ability. In 1861 he was detained for missionary labor, with a large field of operations; and in 1865 visited Europe for his health. His book, "The Points of Controversy," displays learning and ability.

Smet, FAHER PETER DE, since 1823 a R. C. missionary among the Rocky-Mt. Indians. Author of "Letters and Sketches, and Residence in the Rocky Mountains," 1843; "Oregon Missions and Travels, &c., in 1845-6," 1847; "Western Missions and Missionaries," 1863; "Wison zaden Beschouping," &c., 1865. — Albany.

Smbert, or Smybert, JONS, a Scottish painter, b. Edinburgh ab. 1684; d. Boston, 1751-2. He had studied in Italy. Early in life he went to London, where he had attained a respectable position as a portrait-painter, when he was induced in 1728 to accompany Dean Berkeley to America; and, upon the failure of the benevolent scheme of the latter, he settled in Boston, where in 1730 he m. Mary Williams. He painted most of the contemporary worthies of N. England and N.Y., and, according to Dunlap, exercised a considerable influence upon Copley, Allston, and Trumbull. The only portrait of Jonathan Edwards is his production. His most celebrated painting is a large piece representing Berkeley and several members of his family, together with the artist himself, on their first landing here. It is now in the possession of Yale Coll. His son NATHANIEL, also a painter, d. aged 21.

Smidel (smee'-del), or Schmeidel, Ulrich, a German traveller, b. Straublingen. Was one of the founders of Buenos Ayres ab. 1534. In 1554 he pub. an account of his travels in Peru and on the Paraguy River.

Smilie, JONS, M. C. 1793-5 and 1799-1813, b. Ireland, 1741; d. Washington, D. C., Dec. 30, 1812. Came to Pa. in 1760; settled in Lancaster Co.; served during the Revol. in both civil and military capacities, and afterward in the Pa. legislature; chairman of the com. on foreign relations in Congress.

Smillie, GEORGE D., landscape painter, b. N. Y. City, 29 Dec. 1840. Son of James, the well-known landscape-engraver. He entered the studio of James M. Hart in 1861, and in the autumn of 1862 took a studio and began his artist career. In 1864 his "Sunny-Brook Farm" procured him a membership in the Nat. Acad. His chief pictures are, "The Mountain Side," "A Mountain Ravine," "Meadows at Conway," and the "Bonquet River and Hills from the White Mts. and Adirondacks." — JAMES D., landscape-painter, bro. of the preceding, b. N. Y. City 1833. Learned the art of engraving of his father, and was in the employ of the Amer. Bank-Note Co. until 1862, when he visited Europe, and determined to become a painter. He took a studio with his bro. George in 1864; became a member of the Nat. Acad. in 1865; and is trans. of the Soc. for the Development of Water-color Painting. Among his pictures is "Ausable Lake," in the Adirondacks. He has been some time engaged upon a series of 22 plates illustrating Bryant's poem "Among the Trees."

Smith, ANDREW JACKSON, brev. maj. gen. U. S. A. b. Bucks Co., Pa., ab. 1811. West Point, 1838. Entering the 1st Dragoons, he became 1st lieut. 4 Mar. 1845; capt. 16 Feb. 1847; maj. 13 May, 1851; 1st Cav. 3 Aug. 1861; lieut.-col. 5th Cav. 9 May, 1864; col. 7th Cav. 28 July, 1866; brig.-gen. vols. 17 Mar. 1862; maj. gen. vols. 12 May, 1864. He served in the Mexican war 1847-8, in the Oregon hostilities 1855 and 1857; chief of cavalry (dept. of the Mo.) Feb.-Mar. 1862, and (of the M.-a.) Mar.-July, 1862, and engaged at siege of Corinth; com. division in assault of Chickasaw Bluffs 27-29 Dec. 1862, and at Arkansas Post 11 Jan. 1863; com. div. 13th corps in Vicksburg Campaign, Jan.-July, 1863; com. 6th div. 16th corps, Aug. 1863 to Jan. 1864, 3d div. (same corps) Jan.-Mar. 1864. In Red-river campaign, Mar.-May, 1864, he com. detachments of 16th and 17th corps, and engaged at Fort De Russy, Pleasant Hill, and Cane River; com. right wing 16th corps in Miss. and Tenn. June-Sept. 1864; in operations in Mo. during Price's raid, Sept.-Nov. 1864; com. detachment of Thomas's army against Hood, Dec. 1864 to Jan. 1865; com. 16th corps, Feb.-July, 1865, in Mobile campaign; and engaged in siege of Spanish Fort, and occupation of Montgomery; brev. col. 19 Apr. 1864 for Pleasant Hill, La.; brev. brig.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865 for battle of Tupelo, Miss.; and maj.-gen. for battle of Nashville; resigned May 6, 1869. — Calum.

Smith, ASA DODGE, D. D. (Wms. Coll. 1819), LL. D. (U. of N. Y. 1864), pres. of Dartm. Coll. since Oct. 18, 1863, b. Amherst, N. H., Sept. 21, 1809. Dartm. Coll. 1830, And. Sem. 1834. Pastor of the 14th St. Presb. Ch., N. Y. City, Nov. 2, 1834-Oct. 15, 1863; lectured as prof. of pastoral theol. at the Un. Theol. Sem. 1843-4. He has pub. "Letters to a Young Student," 1838; "Discourse on the Life of Rev. Charles Hall, D. D.," 1854; "Memoir of Mrs. Louisa A. Leavitt," 1843; and many sermons and discourses.

Smith, AUGUSTUS WILLIAM, LL. D. (Ham. Coll. 1850), clergyman and teacher, b. Newport, Berkmer Co., N. Y., May 12, 1802, d. Annapolis, Md., March 26, 1865. Ham. Coll. 1825. His earlier years were passed on a farm. He became a teacher in the Oneida Conf. Sem. at Cazenovia; was prof. of mathematics and astronomy in West. U. 1834-57, and pres. in 1852-9; from 1859 until his d. he was prof. of natural philos. in the U. S. Naval Acad. at Annapolis. He was an excellent mathematician, and author of some valuable text-books. In 1860 he was one of the corps of astronomers sent by govt. to Ecuador to observe the annular eclipse of the sun.

Smith, RAY AZARAH, M. D. (missionary), b. Mansons, N. Y., Feb. 16, 1817; d. Agra, June 3, 1851. Y. C. 1837. To improve his usefulness as a missionary, he studied medicine as well as theology. In 1842 he embarked for Western Asia; early in Jan. 1843 arrived at Smyrna, and, during two months of that year, resided at Bursa. He made numerous journeys into the interior; was the traveling companion of Layard; and subsequently, with Dr. Aslari Choltra aged there, he successfully endeavored to those afflicted with it. In 1848 he staid at Antak about 70 miles north of Aleppo. Author of papers on Meteorology and Syrian Antiquities, pub. in the J. R. S. Soc.

Smith, BENJAMIN BOSWORTH, D.D., bishop of the Philad. diocese of Ky., b. Bristol, R.I. June 18, 1794; Brown U. 1816; Ord. deacon 1817; presb. 1818; consec. bishop Oct. 31, 1822, at N.Y. 1. Intel. P. S. B. 1827; P. S. B. 1827, and P. S. B. 1829, Philad. 1829.

Smith, BROOKINGHAM, first written in Cumberland Is. and Ga., b. Oct. 1810, d. N.Y. City, Jan. 5, 1871. Cum. Law S. S. 1830; 11 years of law in Me., where he was a member of the Assoc. of U.S. Intel. P. S. B. 1830; to Mexico, 1839; sec. of legation at Madrid 1839-41; judge of a court, and State's atty. of Fla. He pub. "Narrative of Governor de Vaca," 1831; "Letter from De Soto in 1539, of July 9, 1539, with Maps and Notes," 1834; "Grammars of the Maye and Sumora Languages," 1861-2; "Inquiry into the Authenticity of Verriani's Claims of Discovery in the U.S.," 1864; "Narratives of the Career of De Soto in Fla.," pub. by the Bradford Club; "Conquest of Florida," translated from the Spanish, 1866; and in Spanish documents relating to the history of Fla. and a general description of Sumora, &c.; also contrib. to Harv. M. J. and to Duyckinck's "Cyclopedia of American Literature."

Smith, CURRY, minister of Orange, N. J., born Nov. 30, 1748; to his d. Oct. 20, 1762; b. Brookhaven, L.I., Dec. 29, 1723; Y.C. 1743. Author of a sermon on the death of Rev. Aaron Barr 1757. An "Account of his Life, from his D.," &c., was pub. 1763. He m. Martha, dau. of Jonathan Dickinson — S. 1777.

Smith, CURRY BROOK, statesman, b. Boston, Ms., Apr. 16, 1808; d. Philadelphia, Jan. 7, 1854. His parents emig. to Pa. in 1814. He was educated at the Cincinnati and the Miami Colleges. Studied law at Cincinnati and Commersville. Adm. to the bar in 1828; began practice at Commersville; established and edited the S. G. J. in 1822; was a member of the Ind. h. of representatives in 1835-6 and in 1840; speaker of the house in 1836-7; and was several years one of the judges of Ind. M. C. 1843-9; and one of the assessors to all the claims with Mexico and the Texas and Florida. In 1858 he moved to Indianapolis and practiced law, 1859-61; Mar. 1861, app. by Pres. Lincoln sec. of the Interior. D. Dec. 22, 1862, the senate confirmed his nomination as U.S. circuit judge for the 11th circuit of the Peace Congress at Washington, D. C., 1861.

Smith, CURTIS, bookseller of N.Y. City; b. N. Y. 1800. Translated to the stage plays of Myrtle, Myrtle, Myrtle, and to the edited Myrtle, Myrtle, Myrtle, N.Y., 2 vols. S. 1826-7; "Centiman's Poet." Pocket Companion, 1797.

Smith, CURTIS, LL.D., jurist, b. Pa., Jan. 1777; d. there Mar. 18, 1836; b. near W.P. Am. presb. of the U. of Pa. He arranged and published the Laws of Pa., 5 vols. S. 1810-12.

Smith, GUS CHARLES FRANKSON, b. Pa., 1789; d. Savannah, Tenn., Apr. 25, 1862. S. 1807. D. Samuel B. West Point, 1825. Ass't instr. inf. tactics, Jun., 1823-Sep. 1831, adj. West Point, Sept. 1831-Apr. 1838; instr. inf. tactics, and commandant of cadets, Apr. 1838-Sep. 1842; capt. 7 July, 1838; brev. major "for gallant conduct in battles of Palo Alto and Resaca de la Pama," 9 May, 1846; brev. lieutenant, for gallantry at Monterrey, Mex., 23 Sept. 1846; brev. col. "for gallantry in battles of Contreras and Churubusco," 21 Aug., 1847; major 1st Lt. Nov. 25, 1854; lieutenant, 10th Inf. Mar. 3, 1855; acting inspector of Mexico, June, 1848; col. 3d Inf. Sept. 2, 1861; brig. gen. Vols. Aug. 31, 1861; maj. gen. M. R., 24, 1862. He com. the Union forces for some time in Ky., led a division under Gen. Grant at the capture of Fort Donelson, in which he greatly disting. himself, leading a charge that was decisive of the battle, and was afterward ordered to Savannah, Tenn., where he died of dysentery soon after his arrival.

Smith, CHARLES H., brev. maj. gen. U.S.A., b. Eastport, Me. Capt. 1st Me. Cav., Sept. 1861; lieutenant, Mar. 1863; colon June, 1863; engaged at Cedar Mountain, Rappahannock Station, Second Bull Run, Stone Mountain, Adle, Middleburg, Gettysburg, Brtston's Station, and Mine Run; in Saederland's campaign, May-June, 1864; at Todd's Tavern, South Anna, Howe's Shop, Trevilian's Station, and wounded; and brev. brig. gen. for disting. conduct at St. Mary's Church; com. cav. brigade at Reams's Station; com. 3d Div. Gregg's Div. Oct. 1864; at Rowanz Crook, Gravelly Run, Boydton Plank Road, Denwilde C.H., Jetersville Station, and the operations ending in the surrender of Lee; brev. brig. gen. U.S.A. for Sailor's Creek, and brev. maj. gen. U.S.A. for gallant and meritorious services during the war; col. 19th U.S. Inf. 15 Mar. 1869. — Howe.

Smith, COTTON MATHEW, minister of Sharon, Ct., born Aug. 28, 1755; to his d. N. Y., 27, 1836; b. S. d. N. Y., Ct., 1731; Y.C. 1751. Grandson of Rev. Henry of Watertown, 1539-1648. A zealous patriot, and a chaplain in the Revol. army in 1775. He pub. 3 single sermons, 1779, 71, 93.

Smith, GUS DEXTER, Revol. patriot, and an early settler of Cumberland, Tenn., b. Fauquier Co., Va., d. Sumner Co., Tenn., 16 June, 1818. He held many public offices; was a conspicuous member of the conv. that formed the Tenn. const.; and was U.S. senator 1798-9 and 1805-9. He pub. the first map of Tenn., and a geography of the country, printed by Carey at Philad. 1799.

Smith, DEXTER, missionary at Natchez 1816-20; b. Rural 2500, Va., 1789; d. Louisville, Ky. 1822. M. d. Col. 1810. And Theol. Sem. With S. J. Mills he pub. report of their tour west of the Allegheny Mountains, S. 1815. — Spence.

Smith, EDWARD KIRBY, Gen. U.S.A., b. St. Augustine, Fla., abt. 1825; West Point, 1845; Son of Joseph L. Smith, first presb. and a member of the Supreme Court for the eastern district of Fla. formerly a lawyer at Richmond, Va. His mother was Francis, dau. of Judge Ephraim Kirby. App. brev. 24 hour, 5th Inf., serving at Palo Alto and Resaca de la Pama, May 9, 1846; 2d lieutenant 7th Inf. Aug. 2, won the brass of 1st lieutenant and capt. for gallantry at Cerro Gordo (Apr. 18) and Contreras and Charribusco (Aug. 20, 1847); a-sist. prof. mathematics West Point, Oct. 23, 1849-52; 1st lieut. 9 March, 1851; capt. 21 May, 3 Mar. 1855; major 31 Jan. 1861; resigned April 6, 1861. He served under Van Dorn in Western Texas; and was disting. and severely wounded in action with the Comanches, May 13, 1859. App. a brig. gen. Confed. arm., he served under Gen. J. E. Johnston in the Army of the Shenandoah, and brought up the fresh brigade whose arrival decided the battle of Bull Run in favor of the Confederates, on which occasion he was severely wounded. Sept. 24, 1861, he was m. at Lynchburg, Va., to Miss Cassie Selden, after which he com. the 4th division of the Army of the Potomac. Promoted to major-gen., he was ordered immediately after the capture of Fort Donelson, April 8, 1862, to com. the dept. of East Tenn. He led the advance of Gen. Bragg into Ky. Aug. 1862; was made lieut.-gen. in Oct.; was in the battle of Murfreesborough; and early in 1863 took com. of the Trans-Mp. Army, which he surrendered to Gen. Canby 26 May, 1865, at Baton Rouge. He com. the troops in the Red-river campaign of Gen. Banks, and was much occupied in cotton speculations in 1874-5.

Smith, EDWARD DARRILL, M.D. (Phila. Coll. 1800; prof. of chemistry and mineralogy S. C. Coll.; d. near St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 17, 1819. N. J. Coll. 1795. Translator of Desault's "Surgery," 2 vols. 8vo, 1814. He pub. Inaug. Dissertation on the Circulation, 1800.

Smith, EDWARD DELAFIELD, lawyer, b. Rochester, N. Y., 8 May, 1826. U. of N. Y., 1846. Son of Dr. Archelus G., whose grandfather emig. from Eng. to Ct. Adm. to the bar in 1848, and began practice in N. Y. City, obtaining a high rep. as a mercantile lawyer. U. S. dist. atty. for N. Y., 1861-5. Author of "Aldine," a poem, 1843; "Destiny," a poem, 1849; Reports N. Y. Court of Common Pleas, 1848-8, 4 vols. 8vo, 1855-9. Contrib. to Knickerbocker Magazine, &c.

Smith, REV. ELI, D. D., b. Northford, Ct., Sept. 13, 1801; d. Beirut, Syria, Jan. 11, 1857. Y. C. 1821; And. Sem. In May, 1826, embarked as a missionary, and took charge of the printing-establishment at Malta. He was afterwards transferred to the mission in Syria. An account of an exploration of Armenia made by him in 1830-1 was pub. 1833 in 2 vols. He afterwards pub. a coll. of missionary sermons and addresses. In 1838, and again in 1852, he was the companion and co-adjutor of Prof. Edward Robinson in his extensive and thorough exploration of Palestine. His great knowledge of Arabic enabled him to render important service in the production of a new and improved form and font of Arabic type. Ab. 1846 he commenced the great undertaking of preparing a new translation of the Bible into Arabic, on which he labored to the close of his life.

Smith, ELLAS, preacher and author, founder of the first religious newspaper in the world, b. Lyme, Ct., June 17, 1769; d. Lynn, Ms., June 20, 1846. In early life he taught school, though his own education was scanty; and in 1790 commenced preaching; ord. at Lee, Ms.,

Aug. 1792; at Woburn, Nov. 14, 1798, where he remained till Sept. 1801. He afterward preached in various places. Rev. Matthew Hale Smith ("Bulcreek") is his son. In 1803 he pub. "The Clergyman's Looking-glass," and "The History of Anti-Christ;" in 1805 he began the Christian's Magazine, pub. quarterly for two years. He pub. 22 sermons on the Prophecies, Exeter, 1808. Sept. 1, 1808, he began the Harbinger of Gospel Liberty. This was the first religious newspaper ever published, having been started 5 years before the Religious Repository of Phila., and 8 years before the Christian Pioneer (Paine's Christian History, 1733-4, was not properly a newspaper). It was discontinued in Sept. 1817. A co-author of "New Testament Dictionary," Phila. 1812; (see also "The Fall of Angels and Men," &c., 1812, "Life, Conversion, Preaching, Travels, and Sufferings of Elias Smith," Boston, 12mo, 1816; "The Herald of Life and Immortality," 870cs. from Jan. 1819 to Oct. 1820, 12mo, Boston; "The American Physician and Family Assistant," 12mo, 1822; "The People's Book," Boston, 1833; "The Age of Enquiry;" "Christian's Pocket Companion," Exeter, 1825, &c.)

Smith, LEAH, HARRARD, M.D., physician, b. Litchfield, Ct., 4 Sept. 1774; d. N. Y. City 19 Sept. 1798. Y. C. 1786. He settled in practice in New York in 1793; soon became disting., obtained lucrative business, and in 1796 was app. a physician in the N. Y. Hospital. He was unremitting in his attention to the sufferers by the yellow-fever in 1798, to which he himself fell a victim. He possessed practical talent of a high order, as is evinced by his epistle prefixed to the Amer. edition of Darwin. He pub. "Edwin and Angelina" an opera in 3 acts, 1797; "Discourse before the Mammision Society," 1798; Letters to Wm. Buel on the Fever which prevailed in New York in 1795; and in 1793 pub. the first collection ever made of American poetry. He contrib. to the N. Y. Med. Repository papers on Pestilential Fever in Granada in 1793, Natural History of the Elk, and on Pestilential Diseases. Supposed author of "André," a 5-act tragedy, 1798.

Smith, ELIZABETH OAKEN (PHISOL), authoress, b. Portland, Me. She m. Seba Smith at the age of 16, and about the same time became an anonymous contrib. of poems to the periodical press. Her husband's pecuniary misfortunes afterwards induced her to make Free-trade a profession. Her children, it is said, bear the name of Oaksmith. In 1843 appeared the first considerable coll. of her poetical pieces, entitled "The Sunless Child and Other Poems," and her contributions of verse to the magazines have since been numerous. She is the writer of "The Roman Tribune" and "Jacob Leisler," tragedies; "The Western Captive" a d. "Bertha and Lily," novels; "The Lost Angel," 1848, a novel; "Riches without Wings;" "Hunts on Dress and Beauty;" "Shadow Land;" "The Salamander, a legend for Christmas;" and many children's books and miscellaneous works. In 1851 she pub. "Woman and her Needs," a work devoted to the rights of woman, which Mrs. Smith has often advocated by pen and public addresses.

Smith, ELIZER GOODRICH, b. Durham, Ct., Y. C., 1822; Cong. minister of Ogdensburg, N. Y., 1824-31, since in the same service at Washington for many years. His pub. "Memorials of C. A. Porter," 1830; "Economy of Language," from the German of Burger, 1842; "John May," 1850; "War in the S.," 1852; "from the German of Hallbrandt," 1852; "The Days of Missions," from the German of Ullmann, 1855; and "Confession Rust and B. 2000," 1857. He prepared the U. S. A. G. Reports of 1841-8, and has edited and contributed to a number of periodicals. — Idem.

Smith, Mrs. EMILINE SULLMAN, wife of James M. Smith of the N. Y. bar, b. New Baltimore, N. Y., 1823. Author of "The Fairy's Secret and Other Poems," 1847; and "Poems and Ballads," 8vo, 1859. Mrs. Smith has contributed to the Harvardian, New-Yorker, Ladies' Chronicle, &c. — Idem.

Smith, ERICUS, minister and theolog. writer, b. Bartonsville, Dec. 19, 1762; d. Aug. 29, 1849. Dartm. Col. 1790. He was a soldier at West Point at the time of Arnold's treason; was minister at Haverhill 1792-1800, and at Hockinson, N. H., from Mar. 12, 1800, to 1818; past. of the church at Hebron, N. Y., in 1818; at Pointley, Va., from Nov. 21, 1821, to Dec. 1823; at Hanover, Ms., from May 16, 1827, to Jan. 12, 1842; and afterward city missionary at Boston. Besides sermons, he pub. "Dissertation on the Prophecies," "Lectures on Baptism," "Memoirs of Mrs. Bailey" (1815), "Key to Revelation" and "View of the Hebrews, or the Tribes of Israel in Amer.," 12 mo., 1825.

Smith, FRANCIS, a British-Gen. gen.; d. 17 Nov., 1791. Capt. 10th Foot 23 June, 1747; maj. 25 Sept. 1755; lieutenant, Jan. 1762; col. and adjutant to the king's Sep., 1775; maj. gen. 27 Feb. 1779; lieutenant, 25 Sept. 1787. He com. the troops at 19 April, 1775, to destroy the Amer. stores at Concord, and was wounded in the night at Lexington; was made a brig. gen. in America in 1776; and com. a brigade in the battles on Long Island in Aug. 1776, and at Quaker Hill, R. I., in Aug. 1778.

Smith, FRANCIS H., mathematician, b. Norfolk, Va., 1812. West Point 1833. Prof. math. in Hamp. S. Col. 1837-59, and of Va. M. I. Institute, L. S., Va., 1854-61, and sup. He has pub. with R. T. W. Duke a treatise on Statistics; Author, too, and is the author of books on Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry, a report on Science of Education in Europe, and of essays on College Reform, and Commonwealth Education. A. M. of Harv. S. Col. 1838. Joined in the Rebellion, and served in the U. S. — Idem.

Smith, GEORGE WILLIAM, gov. of Va. 1841, and his last in the spring of the Richmond Theatre, Dec. 25, 1811.

Smith, GEORGE W., Phila. 1809. N. J. Col. 1818. Author of "Facts and Arguments in Favor of Railroads," 8vo, 1824; "Defense of the System of Soberly Contentment," 8vo, 1829, and of some pamphlets on similar subjects. — Idem.

Smith, GERRIT, philanthropist, b. Utica, N. Y., Mar. 6, 1797. Ham. Col. N. Y., 1818.

His father Peter left him one of the largest land estates in the U. S., the management of which has been his principal occupation. In 1853 he was adm. to practice, and subsequently took part in several important trials. He early joined in the benevolent enterprises of his day, and in 1825 connected himself with the Am. Colonization Society, to which he gave largely for the accomplishment of its objects; but in 1835 withdrew from it, and joined the Am. Anti-Slavery Society. He has practically illustrated his opposition to land monopoly by distributing 200,000 acres, partly among institutions of learning, but mostly among poor white and black men, in parcels of ab. 50 acres. His largest gifts of money have been in aid of emancipation, and to buy farms for the poor. In 1852 he was a member of Congress. He was long a prominent advocate, with both tongue and pen, of a large liberty of opinion, and freedom from what he believed the bondage of sect. In 1861 he made some speeches in behalf of a vigorous and uncompromising prosecution of the existing war, and also wrote many articles to this end for the press. He has pub. many speeches and addresses. A vol. of his speeches in Congress was pub. in 1856, and in 1861 another, entitled "Sermons and Speeches by Gerrit Smith;" also "Theologies," 8vo, 1865; "Nature the Base of a Free Theology," 1867; "Religion of Reason," 1864. — Idem.

Smith, GOLDWIN, M. D., b. Reading, Eng., 1824. Son of a physician. Educated at Oxford, where he was a tutor, and in 1855-66 prof. of modern history. He was called to the bar in 1847, but declined to do so, and became sec. of the Oxford commission, and in 1859 a member of the education commission; in 1868 he became prof. of history at Cornell U., N. Y., delivering his first lecture there Nov. 17. He has pub. some historical works, including "Lectures on Modern History," and "Three English Statesmen," and during the Rebellion aided the Union cause by his forcible tract on Slavery and his letter on Southern Independence. Also author of "Speeches and Lectures on the Rebellion," 1863-5, 2 vols. 8vo; "The Civil War in America," an address, 1866.

Smith, GEN. GILES A., b. N. Y. Col. 8th Mo. Inf. 1862; com. brig. 2d div. 13th Corps, Dec. 1862; in capture of Ark. Post 11 Jan. 1863; Yazoo-Pass expul. 19-26 March, 1863; in the assaults on Vicksburg, 19 and 22 May; disting. and wounded at Lookout Mountain; brig. gen. 4 Aug. 1863; com. div. in 17 regiments in subsequent operations of Sherman, including the campaign of Atlanta, march to the sea, and camp of the Carolinas. Brev. maj. gen. 1865.

Smith, GEN. GREEN CLAY, b. Richmond, Ky., July 2, 1800. Transylv. U. 1819. Son of John Special Smith. At 15 he volunteered as a private in the Mexican war, and became lieutenant, 1st Ky. Cav., serving one year. He studied law, practised in Madison Co. until 1859, when he moved to Covington; school-commissioner 1853-7, a member of the Ky. legis. 1861, he was a most decided ally of the gov't; app. col. 4th Ky. Cav. Feb. 1862; served under Gen.

Dumont; was wounded at Lebanon, Tenn.; made brig.-gen. vols. June 11, 1862; resigned Dec. 1, 1863, having been in some 50 engagements. M.C. 1863-6; deleg. to the Baltimore Convention 1864; app. gov. Montana 1866.

Smith, Gen. GUSTAVUS WOODSON, b. Scott Co., Ky., ab. 1820. West Point, 1842. Assist. prof. engr. West Point, Aug. 31, 1844, to S. pr. 24, 1846, and Nov. 1, 1849-54; 2d. lieutenant, Jan. 1, 1845; brev. 1st lieutenant for gallantry at Cerro Gordo Apr. 18, and capt. for gallantry at Contreras and Churubusco Aug. 20, 1847; com. of sappers, miners, and pontooniers from Mar. 10, 1847, to May 22, 1848; 1st lieutenant, Mar. 3, 1853; and resigned Dec. 18, 1854, in order to join a projected expedition against Cuba under Gen. Quitman. Smith is said to have received from the Cuban fund $10,000 in consideration of resigning his commission, to take part in this enterprise. After its failure, he was for a time employed in the iron-works of Cooper & Hewitt, at Trenton, N. J., but in 1855 was appointed commissioner of N. Y. City. This he resigned in Aug. 1861, having previously joined the Confed. army by way of Ky., with his friend and official dep. Mansfield Lovell; and at once made a maj.-gen. and served in Va.; at the battle of Fair Oaks he succeeded to the command after Gen. J. E. Johnston was wounded; in Dec. 1862 he com. at Petersburg; in 1864 at Augusta, Ga.; and was made prisoner at Macon, 23 Apr. 1865, by Gen. Wilson.

Smith, Henry Boynton, D.D. (U. of Vt. 1850), LL.D. (N. J. Coll. 1869), clergyman and author, b. Portland, Me., Nov. 21, 1815. Bowd. Col. 1834; tutor there in 1836-7 and 1840-1. He studied theology at Andover and Bangor, and afterward at Halle and Berlin; was pastor of the W. Am. ch. in Cong. ch. in 1842-7; was prof. of mental and moral phil. in And. Coll. in 1847-50; of church history in the Union Theol. Sem., N. Y., in 1850-5; and, since then, of systematic theol. there. He revised and edited Gieseler's "Church History" (1849-57) in 1859; pub. "The History of the Church of Christ, in Chronological Tables," in 1860; a "Memorial of Anson G. Phelps;" in 1860-2 a revised edition of Hagenbach's "History of Christian Doctrines," with valuable additions; "Report on Religion in the U. S.," made to the Evang. Alliance, Oct. 1867; and "The Re-union of the Presbyterian Churches," svo, 1867. Many years a contrib. to religious periodicals, and since 1859 has edited the Amer. Theol. Review. Has pub. many addresses and sermons, and contrib. to the "New Amer. Cyclopaedia" articles on Calvin, Hegel, Kant, the Reformed Church, and Schelling.

Smith, Henry R., M.D. (U. of Phila. 1837), prof. of surgery U. of Pa. 1855, surgeon-general of the State 1861, b. Phila. 1818. After spending 4 years in the hospitals of Paris and Phila., he settled in practice in Phila. Author of "Minor Surgery," 1843; "Anatomical Atlas," svo, 1844; "Operative Surgery," svo, 1854; "Treatment of Fractures," 1855; "Professional Visit to Lond. and Paris," svo, 1855; "Lectures on Surgery," 1855; "Practice of Surgery," svo, 1856; "Principles and Practice of Surgery," svo, 2 vols. 1863; "Influence of the Alumni of the U. of Pa.," svo; translator of Civiale on "Stone and Gray I," svo, 1841; editor of Horner's "U. S. Dissector," Thompson's "Dictionary of Surgery and Dom. Med.," and contrib. to medical journals. — Albion.

Smith, Horace Wm., son of Richard Penn, b. Phila. 1825. Has pub. "Nuts for Future Historians to Crack," svo, 1856; "Works of Richard Penn Smith," 1856; "Yorktown Orderly Book," 1865; poems in Geology and Geobotany Memorials; and is preparing "Patriotic Songs of America," and "Life of Wm. Smith, D.D.," 4 vols. svo — J. 1860.

Smith, Isaac, Revol. patriot, d. Trenton, N. J., Aug. 29, 1807, a. 71. N. J. Coll. 1755, and a tutor there. Commenced the practice of physic, and from the beginning of the Revol. was disting. for his patriotic services. In 1776 he com. a regt., and, soon after the termination of the struggle, received the app. of judge of the Supreme Court of N. J., which post he held 18 years. M.C. in 1795-7, and was app. by Pres. Washington in the latter year a commiss. to treat with the Seneca Indians. Pres. of the Bank of Trenton at the time of his death. — Patriot, v. 135.

Smith, ISAAC, Gov. of Vt. 1807-8, b. Salfield, Ct., Apr. 4, 1759; d. Rutland, Vt., Dec. 2, 1810. Y. C. 1781. He practised law at Rupert, Vt.; was soon after elected to the Assembly; in 1789 he was one of the commiss. app. to determine the boundary controversy with N. Y., and was active in procuring the admission of Vt. into the Union. M.C. in 1791-7 and 1801-3. Removed to Rutland; was again a representative; was chief justice of the Supreme Court in 1797; and was U. S. senator in 1803-7. Member of the convention that adopted the Federal Constitution in 1791.

Smith, Col. JAMES, a signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Ireland ab. 1720; d. July 11, 1806, York, Pa. His father, whom he had accomp. to America in 1729, was a farmer on the Susquehanna. James, the second son, was educated at the Coll. of Phila., studied law, was adm. to the bar, and settled near Shippensburg as a lawyer and surveyor, but afterwards removed to York, where he continued the practice of his profession during the remainder of his life. In 1774 he raised the first vol. company in the State for the purpose of resisting Great Britain; and was a member of the convention to consider the expediency of abstaining from importing any goods from Eng., and also of assembling a General Congress. At this meeting he was one of the com. to prepare instructions for the representatives; and these "instructions," together with Smith's "Essay on the Constitutional Power of Great Britain over the Colonies in America," gave the first strong impulse to the cause of the Revolution in that region. Member of the Pa. conv. of Jan. 1775; was also a member of the Prov. Conf. which assembled on the 18th of June ensuing to form a new govt. for Pa., and seconded the resolution moved by Dr. Rush in favor of a decl. of indep. It was unanimously adopted, signed by the members, and presented to Congress a few days only before the Decl. of Indep. July 4, a convention, of which Col. Smith was a member, was assembled in Phila. for the pur-explored the bay, returning Sept. 7; having sailed 3 000 miles, and from his surveys constructed an accurate map, still extant. Sept. 10 he was inaug. pres. of the Colony. The men were regularly drilled in military exercises; and buildings were repaired or erected. Every man was obliged to labor 6 hours a day. In order to prevent an apprehended deficiency of corn, he made an intellectual attempt to seize the person of Powhatan. In this enterprise he encountered great peril, and was nearly poisoned. Having been severely burned by the explosion of a bag of gunpowder, and feeling the need of surgical skill, and tired of struggling with malicious enemies, he returned to Eng. in the autumn of 1609. In Mar. 1611 he sailed from Lond. with 2 ships for trade and discovery in N. England. He returned in August, and gave to Prince Charles a map of the country between the Peninsula and Cape Cod. In March, 1615, he sailed again, intending a permanent settlement, but was taken by a French man-of-war, and carried to Rochelle, but escaped from the ship, and returned to Eng. While on board this ship, which was really a pirate, he wrote an account of his voyages to N. Eng., which was pub. in 1616; and he distributed the work in the west of Eng. himself. The Plymouth Company created him admiral of New Eng. He passed the rest of his life in Eng. Smith spared neither time nor labor to advance the colonization of America. His was an enthusiastic, determined, and uncompromising spirit; and this made him many enemies. Author of "A True Relation of Va.," 1608, republ. with introd. and notes by Charles Deane, Boston, 1866; "Map of Va.," &c., 1612; "N. England's Trials," &c., 1620; "Pathway to Experience," 1626; a "Sea Grammar," 1627; "The General Historie of Virginia, New England, and the Summer Isles," 1624; "The True Travels, Adventures, and Observations of Capt. John Smith in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, from 1593 to 1629," 1630 (both reprinted at Richmond in 1819); "Advertisements for the Unexperienced Planters of New England," 1631. — See Smith's Life in Sparks's Amer. Biog.

Smith, John, D.D. (B.A. 1801), prof. of languages at Dartm. Coll. from 1778 to his death, Apr. 30, 1809, b. Rowley, Ms., Dec. 21, 1752. Dartm. Coll. 1773. Tutor 1774-8. He was a preacher as well as a linguist; pub. sermons, also Hebrew, Greek, and Latin grammars. Associate pastor of the Presb. Ch. at Dartm. Coll. from Nov. 1772 to Sept. 5, 1787, and sole pastor from that time till his d. Susan, his widow, author of a Memoir of her husband in 1843, d. 1845, a. 82.

Smith, John, capt. U.S.N.; d. Phila. 6 Aug. 1815; lieutenant 8 Mar. 1798; com. 25 May, 1801; capt. 24 Dec. 1801; com. the brig, "Vixen," in the squadron of Com. Preble in the attacks on Tripoli in 1804.

Smith, John Augustine, M.D., lecturer on anatomy in the Coll. of Phys. and Surgeons, N.Y., and pres. of Wm. and Mary Coll. 1814-26 (grad. there 1800). Author of "Introd. Discourse, New Med. Coll., Crosby St., N.Y.," 1837; "Functions of the Nervous System," 1840; "Mutations of the Earth," 1846; "Monograph upon the Moral Sense," 1847; "Moral and Physical Science," 1853. Dr. S. edited the N.Y. Med. and Phys. Jour., 1809. — Albion.

Smith, John Bevier, D.D. (N.J. Coll. 1796), an eloquent preacher, b. Poquea, Pa., June 12, 1756; d. Phila. Aug. 22, 1799. N.J. Coll. 1773. Son of Robert, D.D., and studied theology with a bro., Samuel Stanhope, then pres. of Hampden Sid. Coll.; and in 1779 succeeded him in that position. He became celebrated as a preacher in the Valley of Va. Dr. Alexander thus pictures him in the midst of the revival scenes of his time: "In person he was about the middle size; his hair was uncommonly black, and was divided on the top, and fell down on each side of the face; a large blue eye, of open expression, was so piercing, that it was common to say Dr. Smith looked you through." In Dec. 1791 he was called to the Third Presb. Church, Phila., and thence to the presidency of Va. Coll. upon its foundation in 1795; but in May, 1799, returned to his former charge in Phila., where he soon after died of the epidemic then raging. — Sprague.

Smith, John Cotton, LL.D., scholar and statesman, b. Sharon, Ct., Feb. 12, 1765; d. there Dec. 7, 1845. Y.C. 1783. Son of Rev. Cotton Mather Smith, a descendant of Rev. John Cotton and Rev. Richard Mather. Adm. to practice at the Litchfield Co. bar in 1786; was in 1793 and in 1796-1800 a member of the lower house, of which he was clerk in 1799, and speaker in 1800; M.C. in 1800-6; he devoted himself to agricultural and literary pursuits, at the same time representing his native town in the State legisl. till 1809, when he was chosen a member of the council; was nominated to the bench of the Supreme Court in Oct. 1809; was made lieutenant-gov. before the second term of the court; and was gov. in 1813-18. Member of the Society of Northern Antiquarians in Copenhagen, as also of the Ct. and Ms. Hist. Societies; pres. Ct. State Bible Society, American Board for Foreign Missions, and, lastly, of the American Bible Society. In the celebrated discussion on the Judiciary in 1801, he presided over the com. of the whole. Gov. Smith was for several years an occasional contrib. to various scientific and literary periodicals. — See Edgely by Rev. W.W. Andrews before the Ct. Hist. Soc., 12mo, N.Y. 1847.

Smith, John E., brev. maj. gen. U.S.A., b. Pa. Aide-de-camp to Gov. Yates of Ill. Apr. 1861; col. 15th Ill. Vols. July, 1861. Engaged at capture of Fort Henry and Donelson, battle of Shiloh, siege of Corinth; brig.-gen. U.S. Vols. Nov. 29, 1862; com. 8th div. 16th army corps, Dec. 1862; engaged at Yazoo Pass, Fort Gibson, Raymond, Jackson, Champion Hill, and Big Black River; com. 1st div. 17th corps, June, 1863; transferred to 15th corps, Sept. 1863; engaged at Vicksburg, Mission, Ridge, Atlanta campaign, May to Sept. 1864; Sherman's Georgia and Carolina campaign, Nov. 1864 to Apr. 1865; and battle of Bentonville, N.C.; col. 28 July, 1865; transf. to 14th Inf. 20 Dec. 1870; brev. brig. for siege of Vicksburg, and maj.-gen. U.S.A. for capture of Savannah. — Hewey.

Smith, JOHN GREGORY, gov. Vt. 1863-5, b. St. Albans, 22 July, 1818. U. of Vt. 1838. N. Lawyer Law School. Son of John, a lawyer and M. C., with whom he began practice in 1844, and whom, on his d. in 1858, he succeeded as chancellor. Active in railroad interests of Vt., and made pres. N. Pacfic Railroad in 1866; member Vt. Senate 1858, 59, rep. 1860-2, and speaker in 1862. An active supporter of the Union cause during the civil war.

Smith, JOHN JAY, great-grandson of James Logan, b. Barington Co., N. J., June 16, 1798. In 1829-31 librarian of the Phila. and Loganian Libraries. Author of "A Summer's Jaunt," 2 vols. 1846; "Amer. Hist. and Lit. Curiosities," 1861; "Notes for a Hist. of the Phila. Library Co.," 1841; "Guide to Laurel Hill Cemetery," 1844; Lives of Franklin, Rittenhouse, Keanon, Montgomery, and A. Washington, in National Port. Gallery. Editor of a number of works, — of the Saturday Evening Post, 1840-2; Times Express, 1842; World's Spectator, 1843-49; World's Progress, 2 vols. 490; Smith's Work, Vols. 1845-6, 3 vols.; World's Natural Gazette; and Knowlton's Heterologist, 1855-60, &c. — A. J. S. base.

Smith, JOHN SPELD, b. Jessamine Co., Ky., July 31, 1792; d. Madison Co., Ky., June 6, 1854. He served under Harrison at the battle of Tippecanoe, and was his aide at the battle of the Thames, 5 Oct. 1813. In 1819, 1827, and several subsequent years, he was a member of the State legisl., and speaker in 1827; M. C. 1821-3, U. S. atty. for the dist. of Ky. under President Jackson; at one time a commis. to the legisl. of Ohio; and for several years supt. of public works in Kentucky.

Smith, JONATHAN BAYARD, member Old Congress 1777-8, b. Phila. 1741; d. there June 16, 1812. N. J. Coll. 1760. His father was of Boston. He became a successful merchant of Phila.; con. a company of militia at Princeton, many years judge of C. C. P.; and a trustee of N. J. and Pa. Colleges.

Smith, JOSEPH, founder of Mormonism, b. Sharon, Vt., 1805; murdered at Carthage, Ill., June 27, 1844. In his youth his parents removed to Palmyra, N. Y. Here he pub. in 1830 "The Book of Mormon, an Account written by the Hand of Mormon upon Plates taken from the Plates of Nephil." Smith professed to have translated this English version from the original plates, discovered to him by angel St. Oliver Cowdery acting as his scribe. This "divine revelation" is a corrupt version of a real Wisconsin romance ("The Manuscript Found") by Solomon Spaulding, written in 1809, and left in MS. by him. The "Law Revelations" are in a vol. entitled "Doctrines and Covenants of the Latter-day Saints." Having made some converts, he removed with them to Kirtland, O., in 1834, and afterward to Independence, Mo., whence they were expelled in 1838. They then founded in Illinois the town of Nauvoo, where they began to build a great temple in 1841. Smith amassed a large fortune, took the title of lieut.-gen. and pres. of the church, and exercised absolute authority over the "saints." Popular indignation having been aroused by his acts, he was arrested, and confined in jail at Carthage. The jail was broken into by a mob, and Smith was killed. — See Autob. of Joseph Smith; J. B. Finner's Life of Joseph Smith.

Smith, JOSEPH, D. D., Pres. clergyman and educator, b. Westmoreland Co., Pa., July 15, 1796; d. Greensburg, Pa., Dec. 4, 1868. Jeff. Coll., Pa., 1815; Princeton Theol. Sem. 1819. Licensed to preach in 1819, he labored in Va., and was principal of an acad. at Staunton; in 1832 he took charge of the church and a large acad. at Frederick City, Md.; was afterward pres. of Franklin Coll., New Athens, O.; resigned on account of his conservative view of slavery; resumed his pastoral charge at Frederick City, and was pres. of the coll. newly organized there. In 1847 he became gen. agent for the synods embracing W. Pa., S. W. Va., and E. Ohio. Subsequently he held pastoral charges in Roundhill, Pa., and Greensburg. Author of "Old Redstone, being Historical Sketches of Western Presbyterianism," &c., 8vo, 1831; "History of Jefferson Coll.," &c., 1857.

Smith, JOSEPH, rear-adm. U. S. N., b. Hancock, Ms., Mar. 30, 1790. Midshipm. Jan. 16, 1809; lieut. July 24, 1813; com. Mar. 3, 1827; capt. Feb. 9, 1837; rear-adm. (retired list) July 16, 1862. Lieut. Smith was disting. and wounded in MacDonough's victory on Lake Champlain, Sept. 11, 1814; and was at the capture of Algerine vessels, 1815. He com. ship-of-the-line "Ohio," Medit. squad., 1840; Medit. squad. 1843-5; chief of bureau of yards and docks 1847-69. One of his sons was killed in the frigate "Congress" when destroyed by the "Merrimack," near Fortress Monroe, Mar. 1862; another, Capt. ALBERT S., U. S. N., chief of bureau of equipment, d. Sept. 8, 1866, aged 43.

Smith, JOSEPH MYRTLE, M. D., (Coll. Ph. and Surg., 1815), physician and med. writer, b. New Rochelle, N. Y., March 14, 1799; d. N. Y. City, Apr. 22, 1866. His father Dr. Marston Smith was an eminent physician of Westchester Co., and his mother a descendant of the famous Mathers of Ms. He studied medicine; was licensed to practise in May, 1811, and settled in New York. He aided in founding the Medical Society's Hospital, and contrib. to the first vol. of its Transactions, in 1817, a paper on the "Efficacy of Emetics in Spasmodic Diseases." From June, 1820, to April, 1824, he was visiting-physician to the N. Y. State Prison. In 1824 he pub. "Elements of the Etiology and Philosophy of Epidemics." App. in 1826 to the chair of theory and practice of physic in the Coll. of Physicians and Surgeons, which he filled near 30 years; in 1855 he was transferred to the chair of materia medica; in 1829 he was app. visiting-physician of the N. Y. Hospital. He was a frequent contrib. to the med. periodicals, and in 1828 became an editor of the N. Y. Medical Phys. Journal; in 1834 he delivered an address on the "Epidemic Cholera of Asia and Europe," afterward pub.; in 1854 he was elected pres. of the N. Y. Acad. of Med.; in 1860 he read before the Amer. Med. Assoc. an admirable report on the Medical Topography and Epidemics of the State of N. Y. Among his essays are "The Public Duties of Medical Men," 1846; "The Influence of Diseases on the Intellectual and Moral Powers," 1848; "Report on Practical Medicine;" "Report on Public Hygiene," 1850; "Illustrations of Mental Phenomena in Military Life," 1850; "Puerperal Fever," 1857; "Therapeutics of Albuminaria," 1862.

Smith, JOSEPH R., brev. brig.-gen. U. S. A., b. Sandy Hill, Wash. Co., N. Y., 1802; d. Monroe, Mich., Sept. 3, 1868. West Point, 1823. Adj.-Sept. 1835 to 1838; capt. 25 Apr. 1838; brev. maj. and lieutenant-col. for gallantry in battles of Cerro Gordo, Contreras, and Churubusco, Aug. 20, 1847, — twice wounded in the latter, maj. 7th Inf. June 11, 1851; retired 25 Sept. 1861. Brev. brig.-gen. 9 Apr. 1865. — Calicut.

Smith, JOSHUA HALEY, notorious for his complicity in Arnold's treason, and at whose house, near Stony Point, Arnold and André held their interviews; d. N. Y. 1818. He was tried by a military court for his connection with this affair, and acquitted; but, being subsequently imprisoned by the civil authorities, escaped to New York, disguised in a woman's dress. Bro. of Chief Justice William Smith, and a man of considerable influence; counsellor-at-law; and a member of the convention of the State of N. Y. 1775. At the close of the war he went to Eng. In 1808 he pub. in London "An Authentic Narrative of the Causes which led to the Death of Major André," — a book held in slight estimation.

Smith, JOSEPH, clergyman, b. Charleston, S. C., 1704; d. Phila. Oct. 1781 while a prisoner of war, taken at Charleston. II. U. 1725. Grand ord. of Gov. Thomas; ord. minister for Bermuda, July 11, 1726; afterward of Cainhoy and of the Presb. church at Charleston. He maintained in 1739 a learned disputation with Hugh Fisher on the right of private judgment. He pub. a vol. of sermons, Svo., 1752, and a number of occasional discourses.

Smith, JESUS, LL. D. (Y. Coll. 1840), pioneer of ocean steam-navigation, b. Plymouth, Ct., Oct. 2, 1780; d. Astoria, N. Y., Jan. 23, 1853. Y. C. 1802. Son of Gen. David. He studied at the Litchfield Law School; in 1803 delivered the annual oration before the Cincinnati Ct.; practised at the New-Haven bar until 1805, when he was employed to prosecute a claim against the British govt. for a large amount in the Admiralty Court of Lond., upon the successful termination of which he embarked in commercial pursuits with America, and conducted a prosperous business for many years. In 1822 he engaged in the project of endeavoring to secure the navigation of the Atlantic Ocean with steamships; pub. a prospectus pressing the enterprise upon the public mind; established in 1826 the British and Amer. Steam-Navigation Company; and in the spring of 1828 the feasibility of the project was proved by the crossing of the small steamer "Syrus." Foiled, from various causes, in his anticipations of advantage from this project, after years of effort, he endeavored to introduce the tea-plant, purchased an extensive plantation in Greenville, S. C., and was engaged in this enterprise when he was assaulted, and received a fracture of the skull from which he never recovered.

Smith, LYNDON ARNOLD, M. D., physician, b. Haverhill, N. H., Nov. 11, 1795; d. Newark, N. J., Dec. 15, 1865. Dartm. Coll. 1817. He grad. M. D. at Dartm. and Wms. Med. Colleges in 1823; began practice at Williamstown, Ms., in Mar. 1823; and in July, 1827, settled permanently at Newark. He was made a fellow of the N. Y. College of Phys. and Surgeons in 1843, member of the Amer. Scientific Assoc. in 1855, vice-pres. of the Am. Med. Assoc. in 1859, and pres. of the N. J. Med. Society. He pub. many articles in medical journals and other periodicals, and a treatise on "The Epidemics of New Jersey." He was prime mover in establishing the lunatic asylum of New Jersey.

Smith, MARCUS, comedian, b. N. Orleans, Jan. 7, 1829. Son of Sol. Smith. Made his debut Nov. 11, 1849, at the St. Charles, N. Orleans, as Digory in "Family Jars;" at Phila., at the National, Aug. 31, 1857, as Bramble in "The Poor Gentleman." Has since played in the leading theatres, been a successful star, and was long a favorite at Wallack's. Lessee of the N. Y. Theatre in 1866. Now (1874) at the St. James Theatre, London. Is a careful and reliable actor. — Brown's American Stage.

Smith, MARGARET, b. Phila. 1778; d. Washington, D. C., 1844. Dan. of Col. John Bayard. She m. Samuel Harrison Smith 1800. Author of "A Winter in Washington," 2 vols. 1827; "What is Gentility?" 1830; and tales in "The Lady's Book" and South. Lit. Messenger. — Miss Hall's Woman's Record.

Smith, GLENN MARSH LUTHER, b. New York 1819; d. Rome, Ga., July 29, 1866. West Point, 1842. Entering the topog. engineers, he became 2d lieutenant, Nov. 1, 1843; brev. 1st lieutenant for meritorious conduct during the Mexican war; 1st lieutenant, Mar. 1853; capt. July 1, 1856; and resigned Apr. 1, 1861. Brig.-gen. Confed. army from Florida; com. a brigade in defence of New Orleans, and was at the head of the eng. corps of the army, and planned and constructed the defences of Vicksburg; afterward made major-gen., and taken prisoner at Vicksburg. At the time of his death he was chief engr. of the system of railroads which was to connect Selma, Ala., and Dalton, Ga.

Smith, REV. MATTHEW HALL ("Barleigh"), son of Rev. Elias. Successively a Universalist, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, and a Baptist. Author of "Text-Book of Universalism," 1845; "Universalism Exposed," Svo., 1842; "Universalism not of God," 1847; "The Bible, the Root, and Religion, in Common Schools," a sermon, 1847; "Reply to Horace Mann," 1847; "Sabbath Evenings," 1859; "Mount Calvary," 1866; "Sun-shine and Shadow in New York." Long a correspon. of the Boston Journal under the pseudonym "Barleigh."

Smith, MELANCTHON, rear-adm. U. S. N., b. New York, May 24, 1809. Midshipm. Mar. 1, 1826; lieutenant, March 8, 1837; com. Sept. 14, 1855; capt. July 16, 1862; commo. July 25, 1866; light-house insp. 1856-60; rear-adm. July, 1870 (retired list). Served in the Seminole war 1839-40, com. frigate "Constitution," Medit. squad, 1848-51; com. steamer "Massachusetts," 1861; engaged with Confed. steamer

"Florida" Mpi. Sound, Oct. 26, 1861; com. steam-sloop "Mississippi" at the capture of N. Orleans, in which fight he ran the ram "Manassas" ashore and destroyed her. He took part in all the engagements of the squadron until Mar. 14, 1863, when, in passing the Port-Hudson batteries, "The Mississippi" grounded, and was set on fire by Captain Smith. While com. "The Monongahela," he participated in the attacks on Port Hudson in June and July, 1863; com. steam-sloop "Onondaga," N. A. block. squad., 1864; engaged with Confed. ram "Albatross" in Albem. Sound, May 5, 1864; com. frigate "Wabash" in both attacks on Fort Fisher; app. chief of bureau of equipment and recruiting 1866. — Hampshire.

Smith, MERRIWETHER, of Essex, Va.; d. at an advanced age. He was long a member of the h. of burgesses, of all the Va. conventions in 1775-6, and in that of May, 1776; member of the Federal convention of Va.; also a member of the Cong. Congress 1778-82.

Smith, NATHAN, M.D. (H.U. 1790), surgeon, b. Rehoboth, Ms., Sept. 30, 1762; d. N. Haven, Jan. 26, 1829. While young, his father removed to Vt., where the son's education was limited. During the closing years of the Revol. war he served in the Vt. militia. Until the age of 24 he labored on a farm, then devoted himself to the study of medicine, practised a few years in Cornish, N.H., and then attended the med. lectures at H.U. When in 1798 the med. inst. connected with Dartm. Coll. was established, Dr. Smith was app. its prof. There were neither appliances nor funds; so that Dr. Smith had to create every thing needed in the institution, as well as to perform his own appropriate duties. Dr. Smith then went to Europe, where he spent a year attending the best medical schools of Eng. and Scotland. In 1813 he was invited to the chair of the infant med. school of Y.C., but also continued to lecture at Dartm. Coll., besides delivering lectures at the U. of Vt. and at Bowd. Coll. Author of "Essay on Typhus-Fever," 1824; "Medical and Surgical Memoirs, with Anecdotes by N. R. Smith," 1831. His son, NATHAN RYSON, M.D. (U. of Vt. 1820). Y.C. 1817. Med. prof. in the U. of Md. Author of "Physiological Essays on Digestion," 1825; "Diseases of the Ear," from the French of De Saëssy, 1829; "Surgical Anatomy of the Arteries," 1832; "Treatment of Fractures," 1867; papers in Amer. Med. Jour., &c.

Smith, NATHAN, lawyer and senator, b. Roxbury, Ct., 1770; d. Washington, D.C., 6 Dec. 1835. Son of Richard, and bro. of Hon. Nathaniel Smith. Educated at the Litchfield Law School. He was many years county-att. for New Haven, and U.S. att. for Ct.; member of the conv. that framed the State const., and often in the legisl. of the State; practised law in New Haven until his d.; delegate to the Hartford conv. in 1814; U.S. senator 1832-5; M.A. of Y.C. 1808.

Smith, NATHANIEL, jurist, b. Woodbury, Ct., Jan. 6, 1762; d. there Mar. 9, 1822. His education was limited. Studying law under Judge Reeve, he began practice in his native town in 1789, and soon became eminent. He was repeatedly a member of the State legisl.;

was M.C. in 1795-9; State senator in 1799-1804; judge Sup. Court, Oct. 1806-May, 1819.

Smith, OLIVER, a wealthy and benevolent farmer, b. Hatfield, Ms., Jan. 1766; d. there Dec. 22, 1845. He acquired great wealth by stock-raising. Was for 40 years a magistrate, twice a representative to the State legisl., and in 1820 was a member of the Const. Conv. During his lifetime, besides other charitable acts, he gave marriage-portions to several females, and built schoolhouses. At his death he bequeathed his large estate to charitable and educational objects.

Smith, OLIVER HAMPTON, b. Trenton, N. J., Oct. 23, 1794; d. Indianapolis, Mar. 19, 1859. Emig. to Ind. 1817; practised law; in 1824 he was pros. att. for the 3d Dist. of Ind.; member of State legisl. 1822; M.C. in 1827-9; and U.S. senator in 1837-43. Author of "Recollections of Congressional Life;" "Early Indiana Trials, Sketches, and Reminiscences," Phila. 8vo, 1858. — Genial. Reg., xiii, 282.

Smith, PERSIFOR FRAZER, brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Phila. Nov. 1798; d. Fort Leavenworth, Ks., May 17, 1858. N.J. Coll. 1815. His maternal grandfather, Persifor Frazer, a lieut.-col. in the Revol. army, d. Phila. May, 1792. He studied law, and practised at New Orleans. He was adj.-gen. of the State; a vol. under Gen. Gaines during two campaigns in the Fla. war (as col. of La. Vols.) in 1836 and '38; and received the com. of the brigade of La. Vols. under Taylor on the Rio Grande, May, 1846; col. mounted rifles, May 27, 1846; com. a brigade of inf. from Sept. 1846; brev. brig.-gen. for his services at Monterey; brev. maj.-gen. for gallantry at Contreras and Churubusco, Aug. 20, 1847. The official report of the battle of Contreras states that he "closely directed the whole attack in front with his habitual coolness and ability;" and he was again disting. at the Belen Gate. He was commiss. of armistice with Mexico, Aug. 22, 1847; military and civil gov. of Mexico, Oct. 1847, and com. 2d division U.S.A.; milit. and civil gov. of Vera Cruz, May, 1848; subsequently com. the depts. of Cal. and Texas; made brig.-gen. Dec. 30, 1856; and just before his death was app. to com. the Utah expedition.

Smith, PERSIFOR FRAZER, b. Phila. 1808. U. of Pa. 1825. Adm. to the bar 1829. Author of "Reports Sup. Ct. of Pa.," 1865-6; "Forms of Procedure," 8vo, 1862. — Allibone.

Smith, PRESTON, brig.-gen. U.S.A., killed at Chickamauga, Sept. 19, 1863. He entered the service as an officer in a Tenn. regt., and rose to the rank of brig.-gen. He, and nearly all his staff, were killed, while making a reconnaissance, by a volley from a Union regiment.

Smith, RICHARD PESS, lawyer and dramatist, b. Phila. March, 1799; d. at his residence on the Schuylkill, Aug. 12, 1854. Son of Wm. Moore Smith. Adm. to the bar in 1821. His first production was a series of essays, entitled "The Plagiary," in the Union. In 1822-7 he edited the Jurora as the successor of Duane. He then resumed his practice of law. He pub. "The Forsaken," a novel, 1831; "The Actress of Padua, and Other Tales;" "Caius Marius," a tragedy written for Forrest; and many other successful plays, among them "Quite Correct," "The Eighth of January," "The Sentinels," "Wm. Penn.," "The Water-Witch," "Is she a Brigand?" &c. He frequently contrived poetical pieces for the newspapers. Also author of "Life of David Crockett," 1836. His miscellaneous works, coll. by his son Horace W. Smith, with a Memoir by Morton McMichael, were pub. 1856. — Dagbladet.

Smith, RICHARD SOMERS, b. Phila. 1813. West Point, 1834. Railroad engr. 1836-40; prof. of drawing, West-Point Acad., 1840-56; resigned from the army in 1856; prof. math., eng., and drawing, Brooklyn Inst., 1855-9; director Cooper Inst., N.Y. City, 1859-61; maj. 12th U.S. Inf. 14 May '61, to 30 May, 1863, serving in the Rappahannock campaign, and com. a brig. at Chancellorsville in May, 1863. Pres. of Girard Coll. 1863 to Sept. 1867. Author of "Manual of Topog. Drawing," 1854; "Linear Perspective," 1857. — Columb.

Smith, ROBERT, D.D. (N. J. Coll. 1760), clergyman and scholar, b. Londonderry, Ireland, 1723; d. Rockville, Pa., Apr. 15, 1793. When a child, his parents settled on the headwaters of the Brandywine, in Chester Co., Pa. He was educated at the Fogg's Manor School of Rev. Samuel Blair, whose sister Elizabeth he m. in 1750. Licensed Dec. 27, 1749. Mar. 26, 1751, he was settled pastor of Pequea Pre-b. Church, Lancaster Co. Here he estab. a classical and theol. sem. of high character, where was laid the foundation of the eminence of his two sons, Samuel Stanhope and John Blair Smith. Author of some sermons. — Synopse.

Smith, ROBERT, D.D., first Prot.-Epis. bishop of S.C., b. Norfolk Co., Eng., 1732; d. Charleston, Oct. 28, 1801. U. of Camb., Eng., 1753, of which he was elected a fellow. Adm. to deacon's orders March 7, and to priest's Dec. 21, 1756. In 1759 he became rector of St. Philip's, Charleston, S.C.; visited Eng. in 1768-70, and though loyal at the commencement of the Rev. vol., became an ardent patriot, and went to the lines armed as a common soldier. Banished in consequence by the British, in 1780 he took temporary charge of St. Paul's parish, Queen Anne Co., Md.; returned to his former charge in May, 1783, and, on account of their depressed condition, took charge of an acad. incorporated in 1786 as Charleston Coll., and in which he held the office of principal until 1798. Elected bishop of S.C. in 1795, he was consec. at Phila. Sept. 13.

Smith, ROBERT, statesman, bro. of Gen. Samuel, b. Nov. 1757; d. Baltimore, 26 Nov. 1842. N.J. Coll. 1781. He was present at the battle of Brandywine as a vol.; studied law, and rose to distinction at the bar; was some years a member of the Md. legisl.; sec. U.S. navy 26 Jan. 1802-1805; U.S. atty.-gen. Mar.-Dec. 1-05; sec. of state 6 Mar. 1-09-25 Nov. 1811; was some years pres. of the Bible Society and of the Md. Agric. Soc.; and succeeded Archbishop Carroll as provost of the U. of Md. Author of an "Address to the People of the U.S.," 1811.

Smith, ROSWELL C., b. Franklin, Ct., 1797. Author of school text books on geography, grammar, and arithmetic, extensively used; and a "Reply to the Charges of Daniel Adams," 1831.

Smith, SAMUEL, historian, b. Burlington, N.J., 1720; d. there 1776. Member of the assembly, treas. of West Jersey, &c. He pub. "History of New Jersey from its Settlement to 1721," 8vo, 1755. Some of his valuable MSS. were used by Proud in his Hist. of Pennsylvania.

Smith, GEN. SAMUEL, Revol. officer, b. Carlisle, Pa., July 27, 1752; d. April 22, 1839. His father John Smith, who removed to Baltimore in 1760, was several years a member of the legisl.; and member of the Md. Coast. Conv. of 1776; and during nearly the whole war was chairman of the com. of ways and means in the house of delegates. Samuel received the rudiments of his education at Carlisle; then attended school in Baltimore, and afterwards in Elkton. Until 1771 he was in his father's counting-room, when he visited Europe in one of his father's vessels. Early in the struggle for liberty he joined a vol. company, and in Jan. 1776 was app. a capt. in Smallwood's regt., which, at the battle on Long Island, did eminent service, and lost on third of his men. Disting. at Harlem and White Plains, where he was slightly wounded; and, in the harassing retreat through N. J., he was, Dec. 10, 1776, given a major's commission in Gil's batt.; made lieut.-col. of the 4th (Md.) Regt. in 1777, and was at the attack on Staten Island and at Brandywine. Immediately afterwards he was detached by Washington to the defence of Fort Mifflin. In this naked and exposed work he maintained himself, under a continual cannonade, from Sept. 26 to Nov. 11, when he was so severely wounded as to make it necessary to remove him to the Jersey shore. For this gallant defence, Congress voted him thanks and an elegant sword. Not entirely recovered from the effects of his wound, he yet took part in the hardships of Valley Forge. He took an active part in the battle of Monmouth. Reduced, after a service of three years and a half, from affluence to poverty, he was compelled to resign his commission, but continued to do duty as a col. of militia until the end of the war. Several years a member of the legisl.; he was a member of Congress either in the house or senate, where his services were of the utmost importance, from 1793 to 1833. Under Mr. Jefferson he served a short time as sec. of the navy, though declining the app. He was a brig.-gen. of militia, and served as major-gen. of the State troops in the defence of Baltimore in the war of 1812, the success of which was principally due to his talents and knowledge. In the summer of 1835, when in his 83d year, a com. of his fellow-citizens having called on him to put down a fearful mob which had possession of the city, he at once consented to make the attempt, was successful, and was elected mayor of the city.

Smith, SAMUEL EMERSON, jurist, b. Hollis, N.H., March 12, 1788; d. Wisasset, Me., March 3, 1860. H.U. 1-08. His father Marnasseh (H.U. 1773), a chaplain in the Revol. army, afterward a lawyer at Wisasset, d. there 1823. He studied law; was adm. to the Boston bar, and settled in Wisasset in 1812; representative in 1819-20. He was chief justice C. C. P., Me., 1821; a justice of the State C. C. P. in 1822-30; gov. 1831-4; again judge of C. C. P. in 1835-7, and in 1837 a commis. to revise the public statutes of Maine.

Smith, SAMUEL FRANCIS, D.D. (Colby U. 1853), clergyman, b. Boston, Oct. 21, 1805. H. U. 1829. After studying theology at Andover, he edited for 18 months the Baptist Missionary Magazine in Boston. He was at this time a large contributor to the Encyclopedia Americana. From Feb. 12, 1834, to 1842, he was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Waterville, Me., and prof. of modern languages in Waterville Coll.; from Jan. 1, 1842, to July, 1851, he was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Newton, Ms.; edited the Christian Review in 1842-3; and since 1854 has been engaged in literary pursuits, and editing the publications of the Baptist Miss. Union. He has from early youth been a contrib. to periodical literature; and the well-known hymns, "My Country, 'tis of Thee," and "The Morning Light is Breaking," are among his early productions. In 1843, in connection with Rev. Baron Stow, he compiled "The Psalmist," a collection of psalms and hymns. His other publications are "Lyric Gems," 1844; and "Life of Rev. Joseph Grafton," 1845. He also contrib. a large portion of the songs in the "Juvenile Lyre," edited by Lowell Mason.

Smith, SAMUEL HARRISON, editor; d. Washington, Nov. 1, 1815, a. 73. U. of Pa. 17-7. Son of Jonathan Bayard, a Revol. patriot. He edited the New World at Phila. in 1796; and, when the seat of gov. was located at Washington, he established there, Oct. 31, 1800, the National Intelligencer, which he relinquished in 1810. Commis. of the revenue from 1813 until the abolition of the office. Author of "Remarks on Education," &c., 8vo, 1798.

Smith, SAMUEL J., poet, b. Burlington, N. J., 1771; d. 1835. Grandson of Samuel, the historian of N. J. With large inherited wealth he lived on his estate, dividing his time between literature, his farm, and public benefactions. A vol. of his poetry was pub. 8vo, 1836. Two of his beautiful lyrics are in Lyric Songs Americana.

Smith, SARAH LANSMAN, missionary, b. Norwich, Ct., 1802; d. Boujah, near Smyrna, Sept. 30, 1836. Dan. of Jabez Huntington. In 1830-1, she, with Sarah Breed, established and conducted a sabbath school among the Mohagan Indians; in 1833 she in Rev. Eli Smith; embarked for Smyrna, laboring chiefly at Bérât; in 1836, in ill-health, she was wrecked on a voyage to Smyrna, but escaped in a boat, dying soon after. Her Memoirs were pub. by Dr. H. W. Hooker in 1839.

Smith, SARAH LOUISA P. (HICKMAN), b. Detroit, Mich., 30 Jan., 1811; d. N. Y. City, 12 Feb. 1892. Grand-daughter of Gen. Wm. Hull. Her family resided at Newton, Ms., where she was liberally educated. In 1828 she in Samuel J. A. Smith, an editor in Providence, R. I., with whom she removed to Cincinnati in 1829. He was afterward connected with the N. Y. press, and while on a voyage to Europe in 1842. Her poems were pub. 12mo, 1828. — Six Poets and Poets, of the W. St.

Smith, SAMUEL STANHOPE, D.D. (Y. C. 1783), LL.D. (H. U. 1810), scholar and clergyman, b. Piquette, Pa., Mar. 16, 1759; d. Princeton, Aug. 21, 1819. N. J. Coll. 1769. Son of Robert Smith, D.D., in whose acad. he was educated. He became an assist. in his father's school, and was in 1760-3 tutor at Princeton, pursuing at the same time the study of theology. Ord. in 1774. He commenced the labors of a missionary in the western counties of Va., and was solicited to preside over Hamp. Sid. Coll.; in 1779 he became prof. of moral philos. at Princeton, where the ravages of the war had been most severely felt, depriving the students, reducing the building to a state of dilapidation, and greatly embarrassing the institution financially. He made great exertions and pecuniary sacrifices to restore it to prosperity; accepted in 1783 the additional office of prof. of theol., and in 1786 that of vice-pres. of the college. Member of a com. to draw up a system of gov. for the Presb. Church in 1786, and in 1795 succeeded Dr. Witherspoon, his father-in-law, as pres. of the college, resigning in 1812. Dr. S. wrote with elegance and perspicuity, was an eloquent and popular preacher, and was elegant in person and manners. Author of "An Essay on the Variety of Complexion in the Human Species," 1788, maintaining the idea of the unity of the race; "Lectures on the Evidences of the Christian Religion and on Moral Philosophy," 1809; and a "System of Natural and Revealed Religion," 1816. Also sermons, 2 vols. 8vo, 1821, with a memoir. — Spongy.

Smith, SARVA, author, b. Backfield, Me., Sept. 14, 1792; d. Patchogue, L. I., July 29, 1868. Bowd. Coll. 1818. He settled in Portland as a writer for the periodical press, where he wrote the series of humorous political letters under the pseudonym of "Major Jack Downing," first pub. collectively in 1833. In 1842 he removed to New York. His other publications are, "Dew-Drops of the 19th Century," 1846; "My 30 Years out of the Senate," by Maj. Jack Downing, 1859; "Powhatan," a metrical romance, 1841; "New Elements of Geometry," 1850; and "Way Down East, or Portraits of Yankee Life," 1855. He also wrote many minor occasional poems. Editor of and contrib. to many newspapers and periodicals. His widow (Elizabeth Oakes) resides in N. W. York.

Smith, SOLOMON FRANKLIN, actor and manager, b. Norwich, Chenango Co., N. Y.; Apr. 20, 1801; d. St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 14, 1869. He learned the printer's trade, and, while very young, joined a company of strolling players at Louisville, Ky. He soon became a leading actor and great favorite in the West and South, then a star, and finally a manager in many Western theatres. July 4, 1822 he issued a Cincinnati paper called the Laborer's Press, continued one year; in 1833 he quitted the stage, practised law in St. Louis, and in 1851 was a member of the State convention as an unconditional Union man. His poet as an actor was low comedy, in which he was unequalled. His "Autobiography" and "Reminiscences of the Stage" were pub. in N. Y. in 1868; "Theatrical Apprenticeship," in 1845; and "Theatrical Journey-Work," &c., in 1854.

Smith, THOMAS, first minister of Portland, from Mar. 8, 1727, to 1784, b. Boston, Mar. 10, 1702; d. Portland, May 23, 1795. III. 1720. In 1725 he went to Falmouth, now Portland, as chaplain to the troops there, and preached to the inhabitants; in 1767 he received a colleague, Samuel Deane. He pub. some sermons. Exercises from his Journals, 1720-88, with Appendix, were pub. by S. Freeman, 1821; "Journals of Thos. Smith and Saml. Deane," with Notes, &c., by William Willis, were pub. 8vo, 1849.

Smith, THOMAS, jurist, b. Scotland; d. Bedford, Pa., June, 1809. An emigrant to America at an early age, and a lawyer by profession. Feb. 9, 1769, he was app. dep. surveyor, and established himself in Bedford, Pa. He became prothonotary, clerk of the sessions, and recorder of Bedford Co.; col. of militia in the Revol.; member of the State Const. Conv. in 1776; member State legisl.; member of the Old Congress 1780-2; pres. of the judicial dist. of Cumberland, Millin, Huntingdon, Bedford, and Franklin Counties, 1791-4; judge of the Sup. Court of Pa. 1794-1809. — Portfolio, 1809.

Smith, THOMAS JEFFERSON, judge, an accomplished scholar and vigorous writer; d. Baltimore, July 13, 1857. He was at one time judge of a Marine Court in N.Y., and had occupied a judicial position in California.

Smith, THOMAS L., b. Phila. 1805. Judge Sup. Court of Ind. 1847-53. Author of "Reports Sup. Ct. of Ind. 1848-9;" "Elements of the Law," &c., 2d ed., 1859, 8vo. — Albion.

Smith, THOMAS MYRER, D.D. (Bowd. Coll. 1850), b. Stamford, Ct., 1797; d. Portland, Me., 6 S. pt. 1864. Y.C. 1816; Andover Sem. 1820. Ord. 1822. Son of Rev. Daniel of Stamford, Ct. Cong. pastor successively of Portland, Fall River, Catskill, N.Y., and New Bedford. Ord. priest in the Pr.-Episc. Church, he was prof. of syst. divinity at Kenyon Coll., O., in 1845-63, and 4 years president.

Smith, TRUMAN, U.S. senator, 1840-54, b. Roxbury, Ct., Nov. 27, 1791, A.C. 1815. Admitted to the bar in 1818; was a member of the State legis. in 1831-2 and '34; M.C. in 1839-43 and in 1845-9. He has since practised law in N.Y. City. Judge of the Court of Arbitration in N. York under the treaty of 1862 with Great Britain; a judge of the Court of Claims arising from the Rebellion. He pub. "An Examination of the Question of Anæsthesia," 8vo, 1859; again, 8vo, 1867. He assigns the discovery to Dr. Horace Wells.

Smith, WILLIAM, chief justice of N. Y., b. N. Y. June, 1728; d. there 3 Dec. 1793. Y.C. 1745. Son of an eminent lawyer of the same name, who was mayor of the city, judge of Sup. Court, and influential in public affairs, and who d. 22 Nov. 1769, a. 73. The son became one of the foremost lawyers of his time in America. App. a judge of the Supreme Court in 1763; member of the council as early as 1769; adhered to the royal govt in the Revol.; went to Eng. at the peace in 1783; and in Nov. 1785 was appointed justice of Canada. It is believed that he at first opposed the measures of Eng., and joined the royal side with many others in 1774. He wrote an excellent history of New York from its settlement to 1732, pub. Lond. 1757, republ. with additions in 1814, and continued to 1762 by WILLIAM, son of the chief justice, also author of the first "English History of Canada." b. June, 1770.

Smith, WILLIAM, D.D. (Oxf. 1759), Pr.-Ep. clergyman and author, b. Aberdeen, Scotland, 1726; d. Phila. May 14, 1803. V. of Aberdeen, 1747. He emig. to Amer. in 1750; was a private tutor in the family of Gov. Martin on Long Island; and, being invited to take charge of the coll. in Phila., revisited Eng. to be ord. in the Epis. Church; returned to Amer. in Dec. 1753; and in May, 1754, was placed at the head of the coll. This institution, of which he was founder and first provost, attained a high character in his hands, and was subsequently erected into the present U. of Pa. During his long life he was disting. for his oratorical powers, for his sermons and political writings during the Revol., and more particularly for his devotion to the cause of education and literature. His orations on the deaths of Gen. Montgomery and Dr. Franklin, pronounced by request of Congress and other public bodies, were considered masterpieces of composition. Besides these, he pub. discourses on several public occasions during the war, 1759, 2d ed., with sermons added, 1763; "Concerning the Conversion of the Heathen in America," 1769; "An Account of the Charitable Corporation for the Widow of Clergymen," 1769; an Oration before the Amer. Philos. Society, 1773; on "The Present Crisis of American Affairs," June 23, 1775; on "Temporal and Spiritual Salvation," 1790; an essay entitled "A General Idea of the College of Mirania," 1753. One of the earliest of his writings was "A Philosophical Meditation and Religious Address to the Supreme Being," Lond. 1754. From Oct. 1757 to Oct. 1758 he pub. a series of eight essays in the Amer. Mag. at Phila., entitled "The Hermit;" and was the author of "Bouquet's Exped. against the Western Indians." A selection of his works was pub. 2 vols., 8vo, 1803.

Smith, WILLIAM, statesman; d. Baltimore, 27 Mar. 1814, a. 85. A delegate to the Old Congress 1777-8; M.C. 1789-91; and afterwards auditor of the treasury.

Smith, WILLIAM, D.D., Pr.-Ep. clergyman, b. Scotland, 1753; d. New York, Apr. 6, 1821. He emig. to America as ord. minister in 1785; ordained in Md., Narragansett and Newport, R.I., Norwalk, Ct., and New York; his unhappy temperament preventing his long sojourn in any parish, though highly respected for scholarly attainments. He taught a grammar-school in New York in 1800; and in 1809-64 was principal of the Epis. Academy, Chelsea, Ct.; he subsequently resided in New York, writing for the press. Among his publications were a series of essays on the Christian Ministry, a Book of Charts, and a large work on Christian Psalmsody, 1811. The Office of Institution of Ministers into Parishes or Churches, as set forth in the Book of Common Prayer, was his production. His colloquial powers were extraordinary. — Ibid.

Smith, WILLIAM, LL.D. (N.Y. Coll. 1796), senator, b. N. C. 1762; d. Huntsville, Ala., 26 June, 1840. Educated at Mount-Zion Coll. Admitted to the bar in 1792; M. C. from Charleston dist. 1797-9; U. S. senator 1817-23 and 1826-31; member State legis. and judge of the Sup. Court. A disting. supporter of the doctrine of State rights. Declined a seat on the bench of the U. S. Sup. Court; candidate of S. C. for vice-pres. in 1837; twice pres. pro tem. U. S. senate.

Smith, WILLIAM, politician, nicknamed "Extra Billy," b. King George Co., Va., 6 Sept. 1797. Educated at Plainfield Acad., Ct., and in private schools in Va.; and began to practise law in 1818. By establishing a line of coaches through Va., the Carolinas, and Ga., he made a fortune. Was a member of the legis. in 1836 and 1840; M. C. 1842-3; gov. of Va. 1846-9; and again M. C. in 1853-61; made a brig.-gen. in the Confed. army, and wounded at Antietam.

Smith, WILLIAM, commo. U. S. N., b. Ky. 9 Jan. 1803. Midshipm. Mar. 4, 1823; lieut. Mar. 3, 1831; com. Sept. 12, 1854; commo. July 16, 1862; retired 9 Jan. 1865. Attached to "The Sea-Gull" in 1823, and served in Porter's squad against W. I. pirates; in "The Vandalia" 1835-7, co-operating with the army in several exped. against the Seminole Indians, Fla.; during the Mexican war assisted at the capture of Tuxpan and Talasco; com. "The Levant" in the E. I. squad, 1854-8; and participated in the capture of the barrier forts, Canton, China, in 1856; was in the frigate "Congress" when sunk by "The Merrimack;" com. "The Wachusett" and gunboats co-operating with McClellan's army in 1862; and com. Pensacola naval station in 1862-3. — Hammish.

Smith, GEN. WILLIAM FARRAR, b. St. Alban's, Vt., Feb. 17, 1824. West-Point, 1845. Entering the topog. engrs. he became 2d lieut. 1849; 1st lieut. 1853; capt. 1859; major Mar. 3, 1863; a-sist. prof. of math-matics at West Point 1848-8 and 1855-6; and also employed on the surveys of the Lake-Superior region, of the Rio Grande, Texas, the military road to California, and on the Mexican-boundary commission. When civil war began, he was sec. of the lighthouse board at Washington; obtaining leave of absence, he took com. of the 3d Vt. Vols. 16 July, and became brig.-gen. Aug. 13, 1861; maj.-gen. July 4, 1862. He was in the Bull-run battle 21 July, 1861. During the Chickahominy campaign he was highly disting.; com. a division in the corps of Gen. Franklin; participated in the battles of South Mountain and Antietam; com. the 6th corps in the battle of Fredericksburg Dec. 13; chief engr. dept. of the Cumberland, Oct.-Nov. 1863; of the milit. division of the Mpd. Nov. 1863-Mar. 1864, in operations about Chattanooga, and battle of Mission Ridge; com. 18th corps, Army of Potomac, May-July, 1864; and engaged in Cold Harbor and siege of Petersburg; resigned 7 Mar. 1867; pres. Internat. Teleg. Co. since 1864; brev. lieut. col. for White-oak Swamp, 28 June, 1862; col. for Antietam 17 Sept. 1862; brig.-gen. and maj. gen. 13 Mar. 1865 for Chattanooga, and for gallant and meritorious services during the Rebellion. — Critch.

Smith, WILLIAM LOUGHTON, LL.D., statesman of S. C.; d. 1812. M. C. from S. C. 1789-97; an able supporter of the administrations of Washington and Adams; minister to Portugal in 1797-1800, and to Spain 1800-01. He pub. an oration, July 4, 1796; a comparative view of the Constitutions of the States and the U. S., 1797; a pamphlet against the pretensions of Jefferson to the presidency; essays signed "Floodion;" address to his constituents, 1794. His speeches and letter to his constituents were repub. in London in 1795.

Smith, WILLIAM MOORE, lawyer and poet, b. Phila. June 1, 1759; d. there 1821. Son of William Smith, provost of Phila. Coll., and pub. a vol. of poems, 1785, which in 1787 was repub. in Eng. He was, under Jay's treaty, general agent for claimants, and visited Eng. in 1803 to close his commission, accomp. by his son William Rudolph Smith as private sec. Richard Penn Smith was his son.

Smith, WILLIAM BIDDLEPH, hist. writer, son of Wm. Moore Smith, b. at the Trappe, Pa., 31 Aug. 1787; d. Quincy, Ill., 29 Aug. 1868. Author of "Observations on W. S. Territory," 1818; "Hist. of Wisconsin," 4 vols. 8vo; "Discourse before the Wis. Hist. Soc.," 1850. In early life he edited the Huntingdon (Pa.) Monitor, and contrib. the Memoirs of Wythe to "Sanderson's Lives." Many years pres. of the State Hist. Soc. He went to Wis. in 1837, and in 1853 became atty.-gen. of the State.

Smith, WILLIAM R. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., formerly a judge; M. C. 1851-5. Author of "The Alabama Justice," 8vo, 1841; "Uses of Solitude," a poem, 1860; "A-1-A," a novel; Condensed Ala. Reports, 1862.

Smith, COL. WILLIAM STEUBEN, Revol. officer, b. N. Y. 1755; d. Lebanon, N. Y., June 10, 1816. N. J. Coll. 1774. Son of Capt. John He was aide to Gen. Sullivan, Aug. 15, 1776; lieut.-col. 13th M. S. Regt. from Nov. 1778 to Mar. 1779; was several times wounded; was then for a short time attached to the staff of Steuben, but left in July, 1781, to become aide-de-camp to Washington. He m. the only dau. of John Adams, whose sec. of legation he was in Eng. in 1785; was surveyor of N. Y.; 3 years a member of the Assembly; pres. of the N. Y. Cincinnati in 1804, and M. C. 1813-16.

Smith, WORTHINGTON, D. D., pres. of the U. of Vt. 1849-56, b. Hadley, Ms., 1795; d. St. Alban's, Vt., Feb. 30, 1856. Wms. Coll. 1816. Minister at St. Alban's, Vt. 1823-49. His sermons, and Memoir by Rev. J. Torrey, D. D., were pub. 1861, 8vo.

Smithson, JAMES LEWIS MACIE, F. R. S., an English chemist, and founder of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington; d. Genoa, June 27, 1829. M. A. of Pembroke Coll., Oxford, May 26, 1786. The birth of this gentleman is thus described by himself at the commencement of his will: "I, James Smithson, son of Hugh, first duke of Northumberland, and Elizabeth, heiress of the Hungerforts of Studley, and niece to Charles, the proud duke of Somerset." His brother was Earl Percy of Lexington fame. He was elected fellow of the Royal Society in 1787, and appears under the name of Macie in the Philosoph. Transactions for 1791; but, between that date and 1803, he chose to change his name to Smithson (the laamy name of his father). He was at one time a vice-pres. of the Roy. Soc., to whose Transactions he added eight communications, and was also deeply interested in geological investigations. Mr. Smithson's will, dated Oct. 23, 1826, devised the whole of his property (£120,000) to his nephew Lieut.-Col. Dickenson for his life, and, after his decease, to his surviving children; but in the event of his dying without a child or children, then the whole of the property "to the United States, for the purpose of founding an institution at Washington, to be called the Smithsonian Institution, for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." By the death of his nephew in 1835 without heirs, the property devolved upon the U.S. Hon. Richard Rush, as agent of the U.S., received the bequest, and, Sept. 1, 1838, paid into the U.S. treasury $515,169. In Aug. 1856 Congress passed an act to establish the institution; and, up to 1871, 17 vols. of "Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge" have been pub. In 1862 a niece of Smithson bequeathed to the institution £25,000.

Smybert. — See SMILLET.

Smyth, GEN. ALEXANDER, b. Island of Rathlin, Ireland, 1765; d. Washington, D.C., 26 Apr. 1830. Member Va. legisl.; app. col. of rifles 8 July, 1808; acting insp.-gen. 30 Mar. 1812; insp.-gen. (rank of brig.-gen.) 6 July, 1812; undertook the invasion of Canada in Nov. 1812, but proved incompetent, and was soon removed from the army; M.C. 1817-25 and 1827-30. He pub. "Regulations for U.S. Infantry," 1812, and a pamphlet on the Apocalypse.

Smyth, CLEMENT, D.D., R.C. bishop of Dubuque, Iowa; consec. 3 May, 1857; d. 22 Sept. 1865.

Smyth, JOHN F. D., a loyalist, who was imprisoned at Phila. for attempting to raise a force in Va.; escaped, and was retaken at Pittsburg. He pub. in Lond. 2 vols. 1784, "A Tour in the U.S.," which, though replete with falsehood and calumny, contains truthful pictures of society and manners in Va. at that date. — Albion.

Smyth, THOMAS, D.D. (N. J. Coll. 1843), clergyman, b. Bedast, Ireland, 14 July, 1808. Educated at Belfast and London; came to the U.S. in 1830; soon after entered the Princeton Theol. Sem.; visited Charleston, S.C., in Nov. 1831; and in 1832 became pastor of the 2d Presb. Church there, where he continued till 1862. He has written "Ecclesiastical Republicanism," "On the Prelatic Doctrine of Apostolic Succession," "The Life and Character of Calvin Defended," 1844; "The History, Character, and Results of the Westminster Assembly of Divines," 1847; "Bereaved Families Comforted," 1845; "The Unity of the Human Races proved to be the Doctrine of Scripture, Reason, and Science," 1850; "Nature and Claims of Young Men's Christian Associations," 1857; "Why do I Live?" 1857; "The Well in the Valley," 1857; "Obedience the Life of Missions," 1860; "The True Origin and Source of the Mecklenburg Decl. of Indep.," "How is the World to be Converted?" &c.

Smyth, GEN. THOMAS A., b. Ireland; d. Petersburg, Va., Apr. 9, 1865, being mortally wounded near Farmville, Va., while com. the 2d div. 2d army corps, Apr. 6, 1865. While a boy, he came to the U.S., and settled at Wilmington, Del., and engaged in coach making. At the opening of the war he raised a company in Wilmington, and joined in Phila. a 3-months' regt., serving in the Shenandoah Valley. Returning home, he was made major of a Del. regt., and rose to the com. of a brigade. Made brig.-gen. 3 June, 1864, for gallantry at Cold Harbor.

Smyth, WILLIAM, D.D., b. Pitt ton, Me., 1797; d. Brunswick, Me., Apr. 3, 1868. Bowd. Coll. 1822. 40 years a prof. of mathematics in that institution, and author of valuable school text-books on algebra, geometry, trigonometry, &c.

Snell, THOMAS, D.D. (Amh. Coll. 1828), clergyman, b. Cummington, Ms., Nov. 21, 1774; d. N. Brookfield, May 4, 1862. Dartm. Coll. 1795. He taught an acad. at Haverhill one year; was licensed to preach by the Tolland Association, Oct. 3, 1797; and ord. pastor 2d Church, North Brookfield, June 27, 1798. Among his 24 pub. — chiefly sermons — are an oration at Brookfield, July 5, 1813; sermon on the Completion of the 40th Year of his Ministry, with a brief History of the Town, 1833; sermon on the 50th Anniv. of his Ordination, 1848; discourse containing an Historical Sketch of N. Brookfield, 1850; and Historical Sketch of the Lt. Cong. Church, N. Brookfield, to May, 1852.

Snelling, COL. JOSIAH, b. Boston, 1782; d. Washington City, Aug. 20, 1828. App. lieutenant 4th Inf. May 3, 1808; capt. June, 1803; disting. in the battle of Tippecanoe, Oct. 1811; b. ev. major for disting. service in the battle of Brownstown, Aug. 9, 1812; ass't insp.-gen. Apr. 25, 1813; lieutenant-col. 4th R. I. s. Feb. 21, 1814; insp.-gen. (rank of col.) Apr. 12, 1814; disting. in affair at Lyon's Creek; col. 5th Inf. June 1, 1819. Author of Remarks on "Gen. Hull's Memoirs," svo, 1825. Col. S. was a principal witness against Hull at his trial.

Snelling, WILLIAM JOSEPH, poet and journalist, b. Boston, 26 Dec. 1804; d. Chelsea, Ms., 24 Dec. 1848. Son of the preceding. Educated at West Point. Afterward a fur-trapper in Mo., and subsequently engaged at the Galena lead-mines. He began writing in 1828; was many years connected with the newspapers, and at his death was editor of the Boston Herald. He was the victim of imposture. His contributions to the Udberg, the N.E. Map, and "The Boston Book" (1837), evinced his ability as a writer of the first rank. His principal poetical work, "Truth," is a spirited but severe satire on some of our best poets. His "Tales of the North-west" contain capital descriptions of Indian life. He also published "Polar Regions of the Western Continent Explored," svo, 1831; "The Rat Trap," &c.

Sneath, NATHANIEL, clergyman, b. Glen Cove, L.I., Nov. 15, 1769; d. Princeton, Ind., May 30, 1845. He labored on his father's farm; entered the itinerant ministry of the M. E. Church in 1794; traveled and preached 4 years in N. Eng.; labored at Charleston, S.C., for a year, thence was ordered to Baltimore; afterward traveled as assistant to Bishop Ashbury, acting as his private secretary. In 1811-6 he was stationed in New York; whence he removed to his farm on Laganore, Frederick Co., Md. Becoming by marriage an owner of slaves, he emancipated them in 1829. In 1809 he again became an itinerant, and while stationed at Georgetown was elected chaplain to Congress. He returned to farming in 1814, and in 1829 removed to Indiana. In 1821 he advocated the reproduction of lay representation into the Church, and in 1828 bore a prominent part in the formation of the Meth. Prot. Church, in connection with which he traveled and preached for a short time before his death, residing principally in Cincinnati. He published a vol. of essays on Lay Representation; Lectures on Biblical Subjects, 1836; and was co-editor of the Meth. Post-Standard in 1834. A volume of 22 of his sermons was pub. soon after his death, and subsequently his writings, with a biography by his son, W. E. S. of Baltimore.

SNOW, CYLER HOPKINS, physician and author, b. Boston, 1 April, 1796; d. there July 6, 1845. Brown U. 1813. Son of Prence Snow, some years deputy-sheriff of Suffolk. Published in 1825 "History of Boston," 8vo; "Geography of Boston," &c., 1830.

Snowden, James Ross, numismatist, b. Chester, Del. Co., Pa., 1810. Speaker of the house of rep., Pa., 1842-4; State treas. 1845-7; treas. U. S. mint 1847-50, and director of the same 1853-61. He has pub. "Description of Coins in the U. S. Mint," 8vo, 1860; "Description of Medals in the U. S. Mint," 4to, 1861; "The Mint at Philadelphia," 8vo, 1861; "Coins of the Bible," &c., 1864; "The Corn-Lender Memorial," &c., 1867. Author of the article on the Coins of the United States in the National Almanac of 1863, and of many pamphlets on similar subjects.—A. C. L.

Snyder, Jous Ludwig, a Revol. soldier of great bravery, b. Michelsstadt, Germany, Aug. 5, 1746; d. Pa. March 23, 1809, a. 63, 7 mos. 18 d. He came to Amer. in 1775; entered the army in 1775, and fought through the whole war, being present at Trenton, Brandywin, Paoli, Germantown, Valley Forge, Monmouth, Stony Point, and under Lafayette at Yorktown. He was a gunsmith by trade, and made a perfect gun when aged 107. He retained his sight and vigor to the last year of his life.—H. M. B., iv, 157.

Snyder, Simon, gov. of Pa., 1808-17, b. Lancaster Co., Nov. 5, 1759; d. Selin's Grove, in Northham Co., Nov. 9, 1819. He rose from the humble situation of an apprentice to the enjoyment of the highest honors of the State. Member of the convention which formed the constitution of Pa., several years speaker of the house of representatives; and in 1818 was a member of the State senate.

Solger, Reinhold, Phila. D., b. Prussia, son of a barrister of Eng., came to the U. S. with Kossuth, and became assistant register U. S. treasury; d. 13 Jan. 1836. Author of the States System of Finance, 1814, 28, 258. "History of Question," 8vo, 1862. "History of the Revolution in the U. S.," to German, 1862; and of the prize-poem for the Schiller Centennial, Nov. 10, 1859.

Solis, Antonio de, a Spanish poet and historian, b. Acaña de Henares, 18 July, 1610; d. Madrid 19 Apr. 1686. He studied law at Salamanca, but devoting himself to literature, produced a comedy at 17, and acquired some repute as a poet. App. in 1632 to a lucrative office under the sec. of state, he became, after the death of Philip IV., historiographer of the Indies, but took orders in the Church in 1667, and d. poor. His "Historia de la Conquista de Mexico" (vol. Madrid, 1684) commenced with the subjugation of the Mexicans, that he might not have to record the subsequent cruelties of his countrymen. An Eng. translation was pub. in 1724, and another, by Townshend, 3 vols. 8vo, Lond. 1809. His plays were collected and pub. at Madrid in 1742.

Somers, Richard, a brave naval officer, b. 122 Harbor, N. J., 1778; d. Sept. 4, 1804. Son of Col. Richard of the Revol. army, who d. 1794. Educated at a school in Phila. and at the Burlington Acad. He went to sea in 1794; became a midshipman in the navy in 1798; lieutenant in 1801; and was at his death a master-com. In 1803 he com. the schooner "Nautilus," in Com. Pr. Bice's squadron, in the Mediterranean, and bore a distinguished part in the several attacks on the Tripolitan gunboats; himself leading one of the attacking divisions, and Decatur the other. He vol. to take the "Ketch Intrepid," fitted up as a fireship, into the harbor of Tripoli, and with his brave comrades lost his life by its premature explosion.

Sommers, Charles G., D.D., b. London, 1721; d. N. Y. City, Dec. 19, 1868. He came in 1802 to the U. S.; was in 1811 in the employ of John Jacob Astor, but soon turned his attention to the ministry, in which he labored over 50 years. He was active in mission and reform work under the auspices of the Tract Society and the Bible Societies; founded the American Baptist Home Mission Society, and, in connection with Rev. Mr. Griffiths, established the first Sunday school in America, upon the plan of Robert Rukes, in Days on St. He pub. some controversial papers in defence of his sect, edited a vol. of psalms and hymns, and 3 vols. of the Baptist Library, and a Memoir of John Stanton, D.D., with selections from his Correspondence, 1835.

Sontag, Geronok, admiral in the Russian navy, b. Phila. 1786; d. Odessa, Russia, 23 Mar. 1841. Son of Wm. Lewis Sontag, a French officer, who came to the U. S. during the Revol. war, and subsequently established a mercantile house in Phila. George went to Russia in 1815, was in the allied army at the entry into Paris, and attained the grade of admiral, and of a gen. in the Russian army, by his talent, energy, and integrity.

Sothern, Edward Askew, ("Douglas Southard"), b. Liverpool, Eng., Apr. 1, 1830. Made his first appearance in Jersey, Eng.; became stage-manager for Charles Poole. Made his debut in Boston at the National, as Dr. Pangloss, Sept. 1852; at Laura Keane's Theatre, N. Y., May 12, 1858, and there made his great hit as Dundreary, in "Our American Cousin,"—a play remodelled by him

He performed this character at the Haymarket, London, from Nov. 11, 1861, for 496 times; but was not successful in it at Paris, where he opened July 8, 1867.

Soublette, CARLOS, Venezuelan statesman; d. Caracas, 12 Feb. 1870, a. ab. 70. He distinguished himself in the war for So. American independence; had been sec. of war, of state, of foreign affairs, and of finance. Pres. of Venezuela in 1842-6, and had been also ambassador to Eng., France, and Spain.

Soule, CAROLINE A., b. Albany, N.Y., 1824. Author of "Memoir of Rev. H. B. Soule, 1852; "Home-Life," 1854; "The Pet of the Settlement," 1860; "Wine or Water," 1862; edited the Rose-Bud 1854-5; co-editor of Ladies' Depository 1856-62; and contrib. to mags. and papers.

Soule, JOSEPH, D.D., bishop of the M.E. Church south, b. Bristol, Me., Aug. 1, 1781; d. Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 6, 1867. Licensed to preach in 1798; ord. elder in 1802; and in 1804 presiding elder of the Me. dist.; and at the gen. conf. at Baltimore, 1808, drew up the constitution of the plan then adopted for a delegated gen. conf. In 1816 he was chosen book-agent, and editor of the Meth. Mag.; in 1820 was elected to, but declined, the episcopate; had charge of the N.Y. City station in 1821, and that of Baltimore in 1822-3; in 1824 he was re-elected and ord. bishop; he was delegate to the British West. Meth. Conf. in 1842, and afterward travelled extensively in the British islands and in France. On the division of the church, Bishop Soule adhered to the southern portion, and changed his place of residence from Lebanon, O., to Nashville, Tenn. In 1853-4, he made an episcopal tour in Cal. Until forced by age and infirmity to retire from active business, he was "abundant in labors," scorning ease and self-indulgence.

Soule (sou-lé'), PIERRE, lawyer and senator, b. Castillon, in the Pyrenees, 1801; d. N. Orleans, 16 Mar. 1870. Son of a lieut.-gen. in the Republican armies, who afterward filled the office of judge, previously hereditary in the family. Destined for the Church, he was sent in 1816 to the Jesuits' Coll. at Toulouse, and completed his studies at Bordeaux. At the age of 15 he took part in a conspiracy against the Bourbons, and, the plot having been discovered, he was obliged to conceal himself, and for more than a year followed the occupation of a shepherd. Permitted to return, he went to Paris, and, in conjunction with Barthélemy and Méry, established a paper advocating republican sentiments. Placed on trial for a bitter attack upon the ministry, his advocate appealed to the clemency of the court in behalf of the prisoner on the score of his youth. This line of defence did not suit Soulé, who rose from his seat, and addressed the court, denying the criminality of his opinions and conduct. His eloquence did not save him from St. Pelagie, whence he escaped to Eng. He afterward came to Baltimore, and in the fall of 1825 removed to N. Orleans. Having determined to make the law his profession, he applied himself assiduously to the study of Eng., passed his examination for the bar in that language, was adm., and soon rose to great eminence in the profession. In 1847 he was elected a U.S. senator to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected in 1849 for 6 years. He took extreme Southern ground, and was a frequent participant in the debates upon the compromise measures of 1850. In 1853 he was app. by Pres. Pierce minister to Spain. He was soon involved in a quarrel with M. Furgot, the French ambassador, whom he severely wounded in a duel. He lent his influence to the revol. outbreak of Aug. 1854 in Madrid, and was led, by his peculiar views on the subject of the acquisition of Cuba by the U.S., to exceed instructions, and to withhold a treaty for reciprocity of trade between the U.S. and Cuba which had been concluded by our sec. of legation at Madrid during the temporary absence of the minister. He joined in the Ostend Conference in 1854, returned to the U.S. in 1855, and is understood to have opposed the secession of La. In 1862 he was arrested in N. Orleans for disloyalty to the govt., and confined some months in Fort Lafayette, but was released on condition that he would leave the country. He returned to N. Orleans a few months before his death.

Souloque (sou-look'), FAUSTIN, a Haytian general, and emperor under the title of FAUSTIN I., b. in the southern part of St. Domingo in 1789; d. Jamaica, W.I., Aug. 6, 1867. A slave by birth, he was freed by the decree of 1790; took part in the negro insurrection against the French in 1803; served as capt. under Boyer in 1820, as col. under Herard in 1844, as brig.-gen. under Guerrier in 1845; and com. a division at the time of the death of Riché in 1846. While the generals Simon and Paul were disputing and plotting for the succession, the senate unexpectedly elected Souloque to the presidency, March 1, 1847. He belonged to the mulatto party; but, jealous of their power, he began to attack the blacks to his interest, and to pursue a system of terror toward the citizens, who were decimated in 1848 by confiscations, proscriptions, and execution. He attempted, unsuccessfully, to subjugate the republic of St. Domingo. In 1849 he caused the restoration of the empire, ostensibly by the will of the people; was chosen emperor (Aug. 26); surrounded himself with a numerous court; and issued a constitution, reserving to himself, however, the right of annexature to rule as he pleased. He was crowned with great pomp, Apr. 18, 1852, imitating on the occasion the ceremonial at the coronation of Napoleon I. In 1855, while repeating his attempt to conquer St. Domingo with 10,000 men, he was completely defeated by Santana. He was also defeated in the next campaign. A commercial crisis in 1858 increased the general discontent, and Gen. G. Ferrard, an enterprising mulatto, led a rebellion, and was recognized as pres. of the republic of Hayti by the clerk and officials. Souloque took refuge, Jan. 15, 1859, on board a British frigate, and afterward resided in Jamaica.

Southard, SAMUEL LEWIS, LL.D., U. of Pa. 1832), an eminent lawyer and statesman, b. Basking Ridge, N.J., June 9, 1787; d. Fredericksburg, Va., June 26, 1842. N. J. C. P. 1804. Son of Henry, R. col. soldier and M. C.

(1801-31 and 1815-21), b. L.L.O. r. 1747, d. 22 May, 1842. Samuel taught school 18 months in his native State; was tutor in the family of Hon. John Tadiatorro of Va. until 1810; studied law, and was about to practice in that State; in 1811 he located himself at Huntington, N.J.; in 1813 was adm. as counsellor-at-law, and app. law-reporter by the Legislature; in 1815 was app. assoc. justice of the Sup. Court of N.J.; U.S. senator, Jan. 22, 1821-March 3, 1827; was app. sen. U.S.N. in 1823; was also acting sec. of the treasury during 5 or 6 months of 1825; for a short period acted as sec. of war; in 1829 was app. attorney-gen. of N.J.; in 1832 was gov. of the State; and again U.S. senator from 1833 to his death, becoming in 1841 pres. of that body. In 1841 he was elected a member of the Philos. Society. His remains are in N.J. as the "favorite son" of that State. He pub. "Reports Sup. Ct. of N.J.," 1816-20, 2 vols., 8vo, addresses, discourses, speeches, &c.; SAMUEL LEWIS, his son, b. Trenton, 1819, d. 1859, N.J. Coll., 1836. Prot.-Epis. divine. Author of "The Mystery of Godliness," 8vo, 1848; "Pastoral Letter to Calvary Church, N.Y.," 1849; "Sermon on the Death of Henry Clay," 1852.

Southgate, Horatio, D.D., b. Portland, Me., 1812. Bowd. Coll., 1832; And. Theol. Sem., 1835. Ord. Prot.-Epis. Ch., 1836; bishop of Constantople 1844-50; elected bishop of Cal. in 1850, but declined; rector of St. Mark's, Portland, 1851-2; of the Ch. of the Advent, Boston, 1852-8. Horatio his father, a lawyer of Portland (b. Scarborough, Me., 1781; register of probate for Cumb. Co., 1815-36), pub. in 1830 "The Probate Manual." The son is the author of "Tour in Armenia, Kurdistan," &c., 1841, 2 vols., 8vo; "Practical Directions for Lent," 1850; "Visit to the Church of Mesopotamia," &c., 42mo, 1844; "The War in the East," 1855; "Parochial Sermons," 1859; also of some pamphlets and contribs. to periodicals.

Southwick, Solomon, editor and politician, b. R.I. ab. 1774; d. Albany, N.Y., Nov. 18, 1839. He was brought up to the trade of a book-keeper, but, after having been a journeyman-printer in Albany, about the beginning of the century he became sole editor of the Albany Register, which under his management became the leading Repub. or Democ. paper in the State; but Mr. Southwick quarrelled with his printers, and alienated his friends, and the Register closed in 1817. He afterwards entered into numerous wild speculations, and finally became bankrupt. Though a fatalist in religion, he nevertheless established a religious paper called the Albany Register, which, in addition to his personal paper, he published with talent; also, for a time, carrying on an agricultural paper called the Ploughman, which he did not want of support. He afterwards prepared an able course of lectures in behalf of the temperance cause, another upon biblical literature, and another upon self-education, which he delivered extensively throughout the State.

Southworth, Emma D. F. (NORVICH), nov. ist, b. Washington, D.C., Dec. 26, 1818, St. was married in 1841, and in 1843 was obliged to resort to her pen for support, and made her début as a writer in the National Era, a newspaper of Washington, to which she became a regular contributor of tales and sketches. Her first novel, "Retribution," written while engaged in school-teaching in Washington, appeared in 1839. She has since produced "The Deserted Wife," "Shannondale," "The Curse of Clifton," "The Lost Hives," "The Discarded Daughter," and many others, which have attained considerable popularity. Her novels display strong dramatic power, and contain many excellent descriptive passages of the Southern life and scenery, to which they are chiefly devoted. In 1853 she removed to a charming villa on the Potomac Heights, near Georgetown; and has since been engaged as a regular contributor to the N. Y. T.

Southworth, NATHANIEL, miniature-painter, b. Scituate, Ms., 1806; d. Doncaster, Apr. 25, 1858. He early manifested talent in drawing, and, establishing himself in Boston, ranked as one of the best in his department. His likenesses were characterized by a energy in drawing and great delicacy in execution. After visiting Europe in 1848, he practised his profession in New York and Philadelphia.

Sower, CHRISTOPHER, printer and publisher of Phila., b. Germany; d. 8 pt. 1758. He pub. in 1755 a quarterly journal in German, — the first of its kind in a foreign language issued in Pa.; established the first type-foundry and printers' shop in the country; and in 1743 printed a German quarto Bible. He possessed great influence among his countrymen, frequently acting as their representative in their intercourse with the gov't. About 1744 he resigned his business to his son CHRISTOPHER, b. Hess-Darstadt, Germany, Sept. 26, 1721, d. Aug. 1784. He emigrated with his father to Pa. in 1726, and conducted by far the most extensive book-manufacturing, and for many years sold quantities established in America. He is supposed to be the inventor of cast-iron types, and it is certain that he introduced the use of them. He was noted for philanthropy, and during the Revol. distributed flour and provisions by the wagon-load among the destitute families of the militia in service. He was subsequently known as "The Revol. Book-Printer," — the bread-baker. The Revol. broke up his establishment; and, taking part with the loyalists, his estate was confiscated.

Spaight, RICHARD D., gov. of N.C. 1792-5; killed in a duel with John Stanly, Sept. 5, 1802. He commenced his academic studies in Ireland, and completed them at the U. of Glasgow. He joined the Am. army in 1778 as aide to Gen. Caswell, and was at the battle of Camden in 1780. In 1781 he entered the house of commons of N.C.; in 1782-4 was a member of the Cont. Congress, also in 1785-6; was one of the delegates to frame the U.S. Constitution; in 1792 he was again elected to the local legisl.; M.C. 1798-1799, after which he was elected to the State senate.

Spaight, RICHARD DOUGLAS, lawyer and statesman, son of the preceding, b. Newbury, N.C., 1796; d. there, Nov. 1850. U. of N.C., 1815. Member of the house in 1819; of the State senate in 1820-2; M.C. 1823-4; again a State senator in 1824-34; and in 1835-7 was

gov. of the State. Member of the State Const. Convention in 1835.

Spalding, BENEDICT JOSEPH, D.D., administrator of the R.C. diocese of Louisville, Ky., b. Marion Co., Ky., 1810; d. Louisville, Ky., Aug. 4, 1868. He studied at St. Mary's Coll. and at Bardstown; grad. at the Coll. of the Propaganda, Rome, in 1837; was made priest, and, returning home, taught for several months at the St. Thomas Sem.; and was afterward agent and Canon in St. Joseph's Coll. In 1840-2 he carried on, with Rev. John Hutchins, a seminary for boys in Breckinridge Co. Vice-pres. of St. Joseph's Coll. in 1842-4; pastor of St. Joseph's, Bardstown, from July, 1844, till 1849; and from 1849 till his death pastor of the Cathedral Church, Louisville, and vicar-gen. of the diocese. His property, which was considerable, was left for benevolent objects. He was greatly beloved both by Catholics and Protestants for his blameless life, his generous liberality, and his self-sacrificing disposition.

Spalding, LYMAN, M.D. (Dartm. 1798), physician and med. writer, b. Cornish, N.H., 5 June, 1775; d. Portsmouth, N.H., 31 Oct. 1821. H. U. 1797. He studied under Dr. Nathan Smith, whom he aided in establishing the med. school at Dartm. Coll.; delivered there the first course of chemical lectures; and began practice at Portsmouth in 1799. He was a skilful anatomist; became pres. of the Coll. of Phys. and Surgeons in Western N.Y. in 1812; and removed to N.Y. City in 1813. He planned the U.S. Pharmacopœia, and was one of the committee for its pub. in 1820; and was a member of many learned societies in America and Europe. He pub. "A New Nomenclature of Chemistry," 1799; "Inaug. Address," 1813; "History of Scutellaria," "Reflections on Yellow-Fever," 1819; and was a contrib. to many med. and philos. journals.

Spalding, MARTIN JONES, D.D., R.C. archbishop of Baltimore, b. Marion Co., Ky., May 23, 1810. Consec. bishop of Leuzonia, Sept. 10, 1848; succeeded to the see of Louisville, Feb. 11, 1850; transl. to Baltimore, May 6, 1864. Educated at St. Mary's (near Lebanon, Ky.), at St. Joseph's (Bardstown, Ky.), and grad. at Rome, July, 1834. Author of "Miscellanies," 8vo, 1855; "Early Catholic Missions of Ky.," 8vo, 1844; "Lectures on the Evidences of Catholicity," 1847; "Life of Rt. Rev. B. J. Flaget," 1852; "History of the Prot. Reformation," 2 vols. 1860. He edited the Abbe' Darra's "History of the Catholic Church," 4 vols. 8vo, 1865-6. D. Feb. 7, 1872.

Spalding, REFSA PAINE, lawyer, and M.C. 1863-9, b. West Tibury, Ms., May 3, 1798. Y. C. 1817. He removed with his parents to Ct. when very young; m. a dau. of Judge Zeph. Swift; settled as a lawyer in Trumbull Co., O., in 1821; was elected to the legisl. in 1839; reelected in 1841, and chosen speaker; judge of the Ohio Sup. Ct. from Feb. 1849 to Feb. 1852; and afterwards practised law in Cleveland.

Spalding, SOLOMON, author of the "Book of Mormon," b. Ashford, Ct., 1761; d. Amity, Washington County, Pa., 1816. Dartm. Coll. 1785. He had been a soldier in the Revol.

army; became a licentiate of the Windham (Ct.) Cong. Assoc. Oct. 9, 1787; preached 8 or 10 years, when he was ord. an evangelist, but did not settle, owing to ill-health. While residing in Salem, Ohio, about 1812, he wrote a work of fiction suggested by the opening of a mound in which were discovered human bones, and some relics indicative of a former civilized race; he entitled it "The Manuscript Found." About 1814 he went to Pittsburg, Pa., where he was followed by Sidney Rigdon, then a printer, and afterward a noted Mormon. He told his employer of Spalding's novel, who borrowed the manuscript, and offered to print it. His widow returned to New York with it, but it was afterwards stolen from her. The uniform testimony of those who read the work is, that the basis, and in great part the tone thereof, now constitute the Mormon Bible. — Hist. Mag., Aug. 1869; Mormon D.C.

Spangenberg, AUGUSTUS GOTTLIEB, Ph. D. (Jena, 1729), a Moravian bishop, b. Klettenberg, Germany, 15 July, 1704; d. near Herulluth, 18 Sept. 1792. The son of a clergyman. He aided in establishing near Jena five schools for poor children; became in 1751 a prof. in the U. of Halle, and assist. supt. of Francke's Orphan House; and, joining the Moravians in 1733, was a missionary to the W. Indies and North America in 1735-9. He established a colony in Ga., and received a grant of land, a part of which is within the present limits of Savannah. He preached to the Germans of Pa.; and his report on the state of religion there induced his church to found the town of Bethlehem; made a bishop in 1743. He was again in America in 1744-9, and a third time in 1751-June, 1762. He made frequent journeys to the Indian country; was adopted by the Oneidas, and was highly respected by the Indians. A large tract of land in Western N.C. was bought in 1752, and a pioneer church planted there. During the French and Indian war of 1755-62, Bethlehem became the frontier post, and was stockaded and guarded by the Christian Indians, thus affording protection to the country south of it. On the death of Zinzendorf in 1760, he was called to the supreme council of the sect, and in 1764 app. supreme inspector in Upper Alsatia. Made in 1789 pres. of the gen. directory. Author of "Biography of Zinzendorf," 1772-3, 8 vols. 8vo, and "Idem Vobis Fiat unum," 8vo, 1779.

Sparks, JARED, LL.D. (H. U. 1803), historian, b. Wilmington, Ct., May 10, 1789; d. Cambridge, Ms., March 14, 1866. H. U. 1815. Tutor 1817-19. His youth was passed in a rural and mechanical occupation. During his college course he taught for a time a small private school at Havre de Grace, Md., and while there served in the militia called out to repel an anticipated attack by the British. He studied theology at Camb.; and also became one of the conductors of the N. A. Review, of which he was sole proprietor and editor in 1821-39. From May 5, 1819, until 1823, when his health became impaired, he was a Unitarian minister in Baltimore. In 1821 he was elected chaplain to the house of representatives; McLean prof. of history at H. U. in 1829-49; and pres. in 1849-52; in 1857 he made a European tour with his family, and afterward resided in Cambridge. He pub. in 1820 "Letters on the Ministry, Ritual, and Doctrine of the Prot. Ep. Church," "Unitarian Miscellany and Christian Monitor," 1821-31; "Comparative Moral Tenets of Trinitarian and Unitarian Doctrines," 1821; "Essays and Tracts on Theology," 6 vols., 1820; "Life of John Wesley," 1825; "The Writings of George Washington, with a Life," 12 vols., 8vo., 1834-7; "The Disunion Correspondence of the Amer. Revol.," 12 vols., 8vo., 1829-30; "The Life of Gouverneur Morris," 3 vols., 8vo., 1832; "The American Almanac," 1830; "Library of Amer. Biog.," 25 vols., 1smo., 1834-8 and 1844-8; "The Works of Benjamin Franklin, with a Life," 10 vols., 8vo., 1840. His long and important labors in illustration of American history were closed in 1854 by his "Corresp. of the Amer. Revol.," 4 vols., 8vo., 1854. His historical writings evince thorough research, candid judgment, dispassionate criticism, and accuracy and simplicity of style. In 1852 he printed two pamphlets in defence of his mode of editing the Writings of Washington, in reply to the strictures of Lord Mahon and others; and a similar pamphlet in 1853, occasioned by a reprint of the original letters from Washington to Joseph Reed. His "Washington" cost him 9 years of labor, including researches in 1828 in the archives of London and Paris, then opened for the first time for historical purposes, and the personal examination of the Revol. papers in the public offices of the original 13 States and the dept. at Washington. He also secured the possession of all the Washington papers at Mt. Vernon. To his series of Biography he contributed Lives of Ethan Allen, Marquette, Arnold, De La Salle, Pulaski, Ribault, Charles Lee, and Ledyard. A Memoir of Sparks, by G. E. Ellis, D.D., was pub. 1860.

Spear, CHARLES, Universalist minister, b. Boston, d. Washington, D.C., 1863. His labors in behalf of prisoners were constant, visiting them, and, after their release, aiding them to obtain employment. Author of "Names and Titles of Christ," 16th ed., 1844; "Essays on the Punishment of Death," 1844; "Phylax for Discharged Convicts," 1844; "Voices from Prison," a selection of Poems. Edited the P. Spenser's Fables 1849-54, 6 vols., 8vo.

Speece, CONRAD, D.D. (N.J. Coll., 1820), b. N. London, Va., Nov. 7, 1776; d. Staunton, Va., Feb. 15, 1836. Employed in farm labor until 16. Educated at Liberty Hall since known as Wash. Coll.; studied divinity, and was a Baptist preacher, and a tutor in Hampden Sel. Coll. Licensed by the presbytery of Hanover 1801. He published in the Republican Era, weekly, "The Mountaineer," 1813-16, a description of men and things in Va., after the manner of the Spectator; a number of single sermons, 1810-32; and some poems. Pastor of the Augusta Church, Va., 1813-36 — Spectator.

Speed, JAMES, lawyer, b. Jeff. Co., Ky., March 11, 1812. St. Joseph Coll. Studied law at Transy. U., adm. to the bar, and practised at Louisville from 1834; member of the Legislature in 1847; State senator 1861, U.S. atty.-gen. Nov. 1864-July, 1866; resumed his profession; delegate, and pres. of the Phila. Loyalist Convention of 1866.

Spelman, HENRY, third son of Sir Henry the admiral. Came to Va. in 1609. Author of "Relation of Virginia," pub. Lond., 1861.

Spence, ROBERT FRANK, capt. U.S.N., b. Portsmouth, N.H.; d. near Baltimore, 26 Sept. 1826. Midshipm. 15 May, 1800; lieut. 17 Feb. 1807; com. 24 July, 1813; captain 28 Feb. 1815. He served under Probe in the attack on Tripoli, July-Sept. 1804.

Spencer, AMBROSE, LL.D. (H.C., 1821), politician and jurist, b. Salisbury, Ct., Dec. 13, 1765; d. Lyons, N.Y., March 13, 1848. H.C., 1783. The son of a farmer and mechanic. Educated, together with his bro. Philip, at Yale and at Harvard. He studied law with John Canfield of Sharon, Ct., whose dau. he m. before he was 19, and settled in Hudson, N.Y. In 1786 he was app. clerk of that city; in 1793 he was elected a member of the Assembly; in 1795 he was elected to the senate for 3 years, and in 1798 was re-elected for 4 years. He was the author of a bill, which became a law, meliorating the criminal code, and authorizing the erection of a State prison near New York. It abolished the punishment of death in all cases but treason and murder, and substituted imprisonment and hard labor. In 1796 he was app. assist. atty.-gen., atty.-gen. in 1802-4; and in 1804 he received the app. of a justice of the Supreme Court, of which he was chief justice in 1810-23. Though a laborious and eminent lawyer, Judge Spencer never failed to take the most lively interest in politics. He was the warm friend of De Witt Clinton, but separated from him on the question of the war of 1812. In 1812 he was active in the struggle to prevent the charter of the six-million bank. Member of the State Const. Conv. in 1821; resumed for a while the practice of his profession at Albany; and was subsequently employed in various public duties, particularly that of mayor of Albany; M.C., 1829-31. In 1830 he removed to the village of Lyons. In 1841 he presided at the Whig Nat. Convention, held at Baltimore. While in Congress, the difficulty with the Cherokee Indians enlisted in their behalf his warmest sympathies, and he united with Wirt and other philanthropists in the vain endeavor to arrest the monstrous injustice of our government.

Spencer, MRS. BELLA Z., authoress, b. London, Eng., ab. 1840, d. Tusculooa, Ala., 1 Aug. 1867. She came to the U.S. in infancy; m. Gen. Geo. E. Spencer in 1862, and was the author of "True and True," 1866; "Surface and Depth," 1867; "Ora, the Lost Wife," 1864; and other works.

Spencer, ELING, D.D. (U. of Pa. 1782), Presbyt. pastor, b. E. Holdam, Ct., Feb. 12, 1721; d. Trenton, Dec. 27, 1784. Y.C. 1746, Ord. Sept. 14, 1748. Descended from Jared of Cambridge, 1634, who settled in Hadham in 1669. Missionary to the Oneidas in 1748-9; pastor at Enzabethtown, N.J., Feb. 7, 1750-6; afterwards at St. George's, Del.; and from Oct. 1769 at Trenton, N.J. Gen. Joseph was his bro. A dan. m. Jonathan Dickson Sergeant. — Synogue.

Spencer, ICHABOD SMITH, D.D. (H. m. Col. 1841). Presb. minister, b. Rupert, Vt., Feb. 23, 1798; d. Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 23, 1854. Union Coll. 1822. Descended from Thos., a first settler of Hartford, who d. 1657. He studied at Salem Acad., N. Y., and taught school at Schenectady and Canandaigua. Settled at Northampton, Sept. 14, 1828, as colleague with Mr. Williams; dism. March 12, 1832, and was pastor of the Second Church, Brooklyn, until his death. Besides occas. sermons, he published two vols. of "Pastoral Sketches." His sermons, with Memoir, were pub. by J. M. Sherwood, 2 vols. 1855; his Sacramental Discourses by Gardiner Spring, 1861; "Evidences of Divine Revelation," 1865.

—Spencer.

Spencer, JESSE AMES, D.D. (Col. Coll. 1852), clergyman and author, b. Hyde Park, N. Y., June 17, 1816. Col. Coll. 1837. Removing to N. Y. City in 1825, he was several years assist. to his father as city surveyor. He studied theology in the Gen. Sem. of the Epis. Church; was ord. deacon in July, 1840, and priest in 1841. After 2 years' ministerial labor at Goshen, N. Y., he was compelled by ill-health to make a trip to Europe, and on his return engaged in educational and literary occupations. In 1848-9 he travelled in Europe, Egypt, and the Holy Land; and in 1850 was app. prof. of Latin and Oriental languages in Burlington Coll., N. J. He became editor and sec. of the Epis. Sunday-school Union and Church Book Society in Nov. 1851, but resigned in 1857; in 1858 was elected vice-pres. of the Troy U., but declined; prof. of Greek in the Coll. of N. Y. City since Oct. 1869. He has pub. a vol. of "Discourses," 1843; "History of the English Reformation," 1846; "The New Testament in Greek, with Notes," 1847; "Caesar's Commentaries," 1848; "Egypt and the Holy Land," 1849; and a "History of the U. S.," 4 vols. 8vo, 1858. He has also edited a valuable series of classical books by T. K. Arnold.

Spencer, JOHN CANFIELD, LL.D., lawyer and politician, b. Hudson, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1788; d. Albany, N. Y., May 18, 1855. Un. Coll. 1806. Son of Chief Justice Ambrose. In 1809 he m. and opened a law-office in Canandaigua, whence in 1845 he removed to Albany. Becoming at the age of 19 private sec. to Gov. Tompkins, from that time until his last illness he was prominent in public affairs. In 1811 he was made master in chancery; in 1813 brigade judge-advocate in active service on the frontier; in 1814 postmaster of Canandaigua; in 1815 assistant atty.-gen. for the western part of the State; and was M. C. from 1817 to 1819. While there, as one of the com. to examine into the affairs of the U. S. Bank, he drew up its report. When, 15 years afterwards, the final struggle came, and Gen. Jackson was using the means furnished to his hand by this report, Mr. Spencer was found among the friends of the bank. In 1819-20 he was a member of the Assembly, and was speaker in 1820; State senator in 1824-8; in 1827 he was app. by Gov. Clinton one of the board to revise the statutes of New York, and took an important part in the performance of that laborious and responsible task. Joining the anti-Masonic party, he was app. special atty. gen. under the law passed for that purpose, to prosecute those connected with the alleged abduction of Morgan, but resigned in May, 1830, having, meanwhile, involved himself in a controversy with Gov. Throop. In 1832 he was again elected to the Assembly; in 1839-41 he was sec. of state, and supt. of common schools; in Oct. 1841 he was made sec. of war by Pres. Tyler; and in March, 1843, was transferred to the treasury dept., but resigned in 1844 from his opposition to the annexation of Texas, and afterward devoted himself to the practice of his profession. The organization of the State asylum for idiots, and the improvement of the common-school system of the State, were, to a very considerable extent, due to him. He edited the first American edition of De Toqueville's "Democracy in America," with an original preface and notes.

Spencer, GLENN JOSEPH, b. East Hadham, Ct., 1714; d. there Jan. 13, 1789. Judge of probate in 1753; joined the Northern army in 1758 as major under Col. Whiting, and as lieutenant-col. in the two following campaigns, when he acquired the reputation of a brave and good officer. Elected a member of the council in 1766, and was app. brig.-gen. in the Cont. army, June 22, 1775; maj.-gen. Aug. 9, 1776. He was with the army in the exped. against R. I. in 1778, and assisted in Sullivan's retreat; and resigned 14 June, 1778, in consequence of an order by Congress to inquire into the reasons of the failure on his part to carry out the plan of an exped. against the British in R. I. the preceding year. In 1779 he was elected to Congress, and in 1780 was again elected into the council, and was annually re-elected until his death. He was highly esteemed by Washington.

Spencer, PLATT R., teacher and author of the "Spencerian" system of penmanship, b. Greene Co., N. Y., 1801; d. Geneva, O., 16 May, 1864.

Spencer, THOMAS, M. D., founder and prof. of the Medical Coll. at Geneva, N. Y., b. Great Barrington, Mass., 1793; d. Phila., May 30, 1857. He was a surgeon in the army during the Mexican war, and was atty. and prof. in a med. coll. in Chicago and in Phila. He had been pres. of the N. Y. Medical Assoc., and was the author of "Chemistry of Animal Life," 1845; "Epidemic Diarrhoea," 8vo, 1842; "Introductory Lecture at Geneva College," 1842. — See Memoir by S. D. Wildard, M.D., 8vo, 1858.

Spencer, WILLIAM A., capt. U. S. A., b. N. Y. 1793; d. N. Y. City, 3 Mar. 1854. Son of Judge Ambrose. Midshipm. 15 Nov. 1800; lieut. 9 Dec. 1814; com. 3 Mar. 1831; capt. 22 Jan. 1841; resigned 9 Dec. 1843. Acting lieut. in Macdonough's victory on Lake Champlain 11 Sept. 1812.

Spinner, FRANCES E., U. S. trans. since 1861, b. German Flats, Berk. Co., N. Y., 21 Jan. 1802. Educated by his father, a German clergyman. 20 years the exec. officer of the Mohawk valley Bank; major-gen. of militia; ex. sheriff; auditor in the naval office, New York, 1845-9; M. C. 1855-61.

Spofford, HARRIET ELIZABETH (PROSCOTT), author, b. Calais, Me., 3 April, 1835. Dan of Joseph W. Proscott; married in 1865 to R. S. S. Miller, jun., of Newburyport, Ms. She has pub. "Sir Rohan's Ghost," 12mo, 1859; "The Amber Gods, and Other Stories," 1863; "Azazel," an episode, 1864. Contributed to Littell's Monthly, N. Y. Review, Our Young People, Harpes's and Knight's Illustrated Magazines, the Gleaner, &c.

Spooner, ALDEN JEREMIAH, editor Brooklyn Star, and 20 years contrib. to the Kentucky Liberator and Columbia's South-Western, b. Sag Harbor, L. I., 2 Feb. 1810. Editor, with notes and memoir, G. Furman's "History of Brooklyn," and also Wood's "Hist. of Long Island," with Memoir of Wood, and additions.

Spooner, LEVI ANDREW, b. Petersburg, Ms., 1808. Author of "The Deist's Reply," &c., 8vo, 1836; "Credit, Currency, and Banking," 1843; "Unconstitutionality of prohibiting Private Mail;" "Unconstitutionality of Slayery," 1845; "Poverty, Causes, and Cure," 1846; "A Defence of Fugitive Slaves," 1856; "Trial by Jury," 1852; "New System of Paper Currency," 1861; "Considerations on U. S. Bonds," 1863; "No Treason," 1867. He is a vigorous and perspicuous writer.—A. J. M.

Spooner, SAMUEL ANDREW, M. D. (Coll. of Phys. and Surg., 1835), b. Brandon, Vt., 1800; d. Plainfield, N. J., March, 1859. Med. Coll. 1830. He practised dentistry with success in New York until 1858, when he removed to Plainfield, N. J. Author of "Guide to Sound Teeth," 1836; "Art of Manuf. Mineral Teeth," 1837; "Treatise on Dentistry," 8vo, 1838; "Anecdotes of Painters," &c., 3 vols. 1853; "Dictionary of Painters, Sculptors, Engravers," &c., 2 vols. 8vo, 1855.—A. J. M.

Spotswood, COL. ALEXANDER, gov. of Va. 1710-23, b. Tangier, Africa, 1676; d. Annapolis, Md., 7 June 1749. Bred in the army, he served under Metchborough; was dangerously wounded at B. unheim, and became dependent on a pension; he was app. postmaster in 1730, and in 1739 com. of the forces intended to operate against Fla. He was the author of an act improving the staple of tobacco, and making tobacco-notes the medium of ordinary circulation; was the father of the non-import. in Va.; was the first to explore the Appalachian Mountains; exerted himself to betray Wm. and Mary Coll.; and was zealous in efforts to Christianize the Indians. His son ROBERT was killed by Indians in 1757. A grandson, COL. ALEX., a disting. Revol. officer, app. maj. 21 Va. Regt. 13 Feb. 1776, m. Eliza, niece of Gen. Washington, d. Nottingham, Va., 20 Dec. 1818. JOHN, bro. of the 1st, also a Revol. officer, was severely wounded at the battle of Germantown.

Spotts, JAMES H. (capt. U. S. N.), b. N. C. March 11, 1821. Midshipm. Aug. 2, 1837; lieut. Nov. 21, 1851; com. July 16, 1862; capt. July 25, 1866. Com. steamer "Magnolia," U. S. Gulf block-squad, 1862; steamer "South Carolina," S. A. block-squad, 1863-4; steamer "Powhatan," N. A. block-squad, 1864-5, in both engagements with Fort Fisher, N. Y., 1864 and Jan. 1865; in the engagement with

Fort Anderson and in the Cape-Fear River Feb. 1865; also at the bombard. of batteries above Dutch Gap, James River, Apr. 1865; com. "Guerrière," 1870.—H. University

Sprague, CHARLES, poet, b. Boston, Oct. 26, 1791. Son of Samuel, one of the famous tea-party. At the age of ten he unfortunately lost the vision of his left eye. He engaged in mercantile business until 1820, when he became a teller in the State Bank, and on the establishment of the Globe Bank (in 1825) was chosen cashier, a station he occupied until 1865. He has six times received the prize for the best poems for the America stage, becoming known as a poet by being in 1821 the successful competitor for the prize offered for the best prologue at the opening of the Park Theatre, N. Y. In 1824 he wrote the prologue to the payment in honor of Shakspeare at the Boston Theatre; in 1830 he pronounced an ode at the centennial celebration of the settlement of Boston; in 1837 he delivered an address on intemperance; and at the commencement at Harvard, 1829, d. versed before the Phi Beta Kappa Society the ingenious poem "Curiosity." He was of the city council in 1817, '21, and '27, and delivered the city oration July 4, 1825. Among his best pieces are the "Ode on Shakspeare," and the "Winged Worshippers." An edition of his poems and prose writings appeared in 1855, 8vo. A son, CHARLES JAMES, has also written verses in a delicate vein of sentiment.

Sprague, JOHN T., col. U. S. A., b. Newburyport, Ms., 1812. App. lieut. U. S. marines 17 Oct. 1833; served against the Creek and Seminole Indians; adj. Nov. 1836-6; br. v. capt. 15 Mar. 1842 for good conduct in Fla. war; capt. Sept. 1846; maj. 18 June 14 May, 1861; chief of staff to Gen. Pope; a lieut. n. of N. Y. 1861-5; lieut. col. 11th Inf. Mar. 1863, col. 7th Inf. 12 June, 1865; and retired 15 July, 1870. Author of a "History of the Florida War," 8vo, 1848.

Sprague, PETER, LL. D. (H. U. 1847), jurist, b. Danbury, Ms., Apr. 2, 1793. H. U. 1812. Litchfield School. William his ancestor is supposed to have come over with Rev. Mr. Higginson to Salem in 1629, and settled at Hingham. Adu. to the Plymouth-Cogbar in Aug. 1815; practised 2 years in Augusta, Me., and then settled in Hallowell, where he speedily acquired distinction. Member of the Me. legis. 1820-1; M. C. 1 25-9; U. S. senator 1829-35; U. S. dist. judge of Ms. 1841-65. Judge Sprague removed to Boston in 1835. Author of "Speeches and Addresses," 8vo, 1858; "Decisions," 1841-61, edited by F. E. Parker, 8vo, 1861; vol. ii. 1854-61, 8vo, 1865.—W. S. Loomis, M.

Sprague, WILLIAM, gov. of R. I. 1838-9, b. Cranston, R. I. 1800; d. Providence, Oct. 19, 1851. When quite young, he was elected to the General Assembly, and in 1822 was chosen speaker of the house; M. C. in 1836-8; U. S. senator 1842-5; and afterwards member of the Assembly of his State. He was engaged largely in the manuf. of cotton, and was pres. of the Hartford, Providence, and Fishkill Railroad, of the Globe Bank, and of the People's Savings Bank.

Sprague, WILLIAM, gov. of R.I. in 1860-3, b. Cranston, R.I., Sept. 12, 1830. Nephew of the preceding. Amana, his father, was murdered at Cranston, R.I., ab. Jan. 1844. He has been engaged from boyhood in the calico print-works founded by his grandfather William, after whose death they were carried on by his father and uncle, and in which he became partner. In Feb. 1-61 he offered to the Pres. 1,000 men and a battery of artillery, and, as soon as the call for troops was made, hastened with them to the field. The commiss. of brigaden. of vols. was offered him; but he refused it. He fought with the R.I. troops at Bull Run, where his horse was shot under him, and in several engagements of the Chickahominy campaign. Chosen U.S. senator for 6 years from Mar. 4, 1863, and re-elected for the following term.

Sprague, WILLIAM BUELL, D.D. (Col. Coll. 1823), clergyman and author, b. Andover, Ct., Oct. 16, 1795. Y.C. 1815. Princeton, Th. of Sem. 1819. Privat. tutor in the family of Maj. Lawrence Lewis of Va. one year; was colleague pastor, with Rev. Joseph Lathrop, of the First Cong. Church, West Springfield, Ms., 1819-29; and has, since Aug. 26, 1829, been pastor of the Second Presb. Church at Albany. He visited Europe in 1828 and 1836. His writings are: "Several Discourses on Special Occasions," 1821; "Letters to a Daughter," 1822; "Letters from Europe," 1828; "Life of E. D. Griffin," 1838; "Life of Timothy Dwight," in Sparks's "Amer. Biog.," 1845; "Lectures on Revivals of Religion," 1832; "Hints on Christian Inter-course," 1834; "Contrast between True and False Religion," 1837; "Aids to Early Religion," 1847; "Words to a Young Man's Conscience," 1848; "Visits to European Celebrities," 1855; "Annals of the Amer. Pulpit," 9 vols. 8vo, 1857-66; "Lectures to Young People," 1825; "Letters to Young Men," 1854; "Women of the Bible," 8vo, 1859; "Memoirs of Rev. John and W. A. McDowell, D.D.," 1864; and was a contrib. to App't's New Amer. Cyclop. He has also written numerous introductions to biog. and other works, and is the author of more than 100 pamphlets. Among these are: "Funeral Sermon on Dr. Joseph Lathrop," 1821; "Hist. Discourse at West Springfield," 1824. "Fourth-of-July Discourse at Northampton," 1827; "A Sermon at Albany in behalf of the Polish Exiles," 1834; "Oration Commemorative of Lafayette, at Albany," 1834; "Phi Beta Kappa Address" at Yale, 1843; "Address Before the Philomathean Society of Middlebury Coll.," 1844; "Hist. Discourse on the Second Presb. Church of Albany," 1846; "Discourses on Dr. Chalmers and Silas Wright," 1847; "Ambrose Spencer," 1848; and on "Samuel Miller of Princeton," 1850. He has one of the largest collections of autographs in America. — Dupplink.

Spring, GARDNER, D.D. (Ham. 1819), LL.D. (Lat. Coll. 1853), author and clergyman, b. Newburyport, Ms., Feb. 24, 1785. Y.C. 1805. Son of Rev. Samuel. He studied law with Judge Daggett at New Haven; taught school 15 months in Bermuda; was adm. to the bar in December, 1808, and commenced practice; but was induced soon after to study theology. After studying at Andover, he was licensed toward the end of 1809, and Aug. 10, 1810, was called to the Brick Church in N.Y. City, where he has since remained, unmoved by invitations to preside at Hamilton and Dartmouth Colleges, maintaining for over half a century a position as one of the most popular preachers and esteemed divines of the city. His works include "The Attraction of the Cross," 1845; "The Mercy-Seat," 1849; "First Things," 1851; "The Glory of Christ," 1852; "The Power of the Pulpit," 1818; "Short Sermons for the People," "The Obligations of the World to the Bible," 1844; "Miscellanies," including "Essays on the Distinguishing Traits of Christian Character," 1813; "The Church in the Wilderness," "Memoirs of the Late Hannah L. Murray," 1849; "Memoirs of Rev. S. J. Mills," 1829; "Fragments from the Study of a Pastor," 1838; "The Bible not of Man," 1847; "Discourses to Seamen," 1847; "Contrast between Good and Bad Men," 2 vols. 1855; "Brick-Church Memorial," 1861; "Pulpit Ministrations," 2 vols. 8vo, 1864; and "Personal Reminiscences," 2 vols. 8vo, 1866. His works are pub. 10 vols. 8vo, 1855. — Dupplink.

Spring, MARSHALL, M.D., physician, b. Watertown, Ms., Feb. 19, 1742; d. there Jan. 11, 1818. H.U. 1762. He studied under his maternal uncle, Dr. Josiah Converse, and, after a short residence at St. Eustatia, settled in Watertown, where he soon acquired a large practice. Though differing in political sentiment from his neighbors, he was early on the ground at Lexington, skilfully attending the wounded. In 1789 he was a member of the State conv. which adopted the U.S. Constitution, which he opposed, never having believed in the capacity of the people for self-govt.; several years a Democ. member of the exec. council. He was remarkable for wit and repartee. — Thacher.

Spring, SAMUEL, D.D. (Wms. Coll. 1806), clergyman, b. Northbridge, Ms., Feb. 27, 1746; d. Newburyport, Mar. 4, 1819. N.J. Coll. 1771. Having been licensed to preach, he in 1775 became a chaplain in the army, and accomp. Arnold's exped. to Canada. At the close of 1776 he left the army, and (Aug. 6, 1777) was ord. pastor of a church in Newburyport, where he continued till his death. He was a man of great influence, and weight of character; was active as a leader of the Hopkinsian party, and also in the organization of the A. B. C. F. M.; he also aided in founding the Ms. Missionary Society in 1799, of which he was pres. Besides some controversial works, he pub. some 25 miscellaneous discourses. By his wife, dau. of Dr. Hopkins of Hadley, he had two sons, ministers in N.Y. and Hartford.

Sproat, COL. EBENEZER, Revol. officer, b. Middleborough, Ms., 1752; d. Marietta, O., Feb. 1805. Entering the army a capt. early in 1775, he was successively major and lieutenant, and finally lieutenant-col. comd. 2d Ms. Regt. He was in Glover's brigade at Trenton, Princeton, and Monmouth, and app. insp. of brigade by Steuben. After the war, he was a surveyor in Providence, R.I., where he m. a dau. of Com

Whipple. He began a survey of Ohio lands in 1786, led the party of emigrants who settled Maumee in 1788, and was 14 years sheriff, and chief of militia. He was a land commandant in prison, and was by the Indians called "the Big Buckeye." — H. J. C.

Spurzheim, JOHN GASPARD, M.D., physiologist, b. Longwisch, Prussia, 31 Dec. 1776, d. Boston, 10 Nov. 1842. Educated at the U. of Frères. In 1799 he studied medicine at Vienna; assisted O'Fall, the originator of the science of phrenology, in investigating the anatomy of the brain, and accompanied to Paris, lecturing and teaching until 1813. Spurzheim then visited Great Britain, where for many years he taught and explained his theories in various cities. Arriving in N. Y. in Aug. 1812, he proceeded to Boston, where he was enthusiastically received, and drew to his lectures large and intelligent audiences, but soon sunk under his labors, and was buried at Mount Auburn. He assisted Gill in preparing his great work on the "Anatomy and Physiology of the Nervous System in General, and of the Brain in Particular;" and was the author of "Physognomy in Connection with Phrenology," 1833; "Observations on Insanity;" "Phrenology or Doctrine of the Mind;" "Sketch of the Natural Laws of Man;" and "Anatomy of the Brain," 1838-2; "View of the Elem. Principles of Education," 12mo, 1842.

Squier, FERRIS GRONIE, archæologist, b. Bethlehem, N. Y., June 17, 1821. A. M. of N. J. Coll. 1848. Son of a High minister of N. Y., and grandson of a Revol. soldier, who d. 1842, a. 97. In his youth he worked on a farm in summer, and taught school in winter. He next pub. a village newspaper, studied civil engineering; and in 1841-2 continued to, and virtually edited, the N. Y. State Messenger at Albany; pub. also a vol. on the Chinese in 1843; in 1844-5 he edited the H. J. C. J. C.; and was efficient in organizing the Whig party of C. t.; in 1845-8 he edited the S. J. C. J. C. at Chatham, and was clerk of the High in 1847-8. In connection with Dr. Davis of Ohio, he commenced a systematic investigation of the aboriginal monuments of the Mpl. Valley, the results of which he embodied in a Memoir in the first vol. of S. J. C. J. C. "Contribs. to Knowledge." At the request of Albert Gallatin, he prepared a Memoir on the Ancient Monuments of the West; pub. in the Trans. of the Ethnological Society. Under the auspices of the N. Y. Hist. Society, he pub. in 1849 "Aboriginal Monuments of the State of N. Y. from Original Surveys and Explorations." App. in 1848 Journal papers to the republics of Central America, he negotiated treaties with Nicaragua, Honduras, and San Salvador. In 1850 he again visited Central America to investigate the line of an interoceanic railway, the result of which is pub. in his Report of the Honduras Inter-Oceanic Railway Co. of which he was sec. In a subsequent visit to Europe he secured the co-operation of French and English capitalists, and special guarantees for the road from those powers. His explorations and observations are found in his "Nicaragua, its People, Scenery, and Monuments," 2 vols. 1852; "Notes on Central America," &c. 1854; "Waikoa, or Adventures on the Mosquito Shore," 1855; "Quest for Topog. Discoveries," &c. Paris, 1856; "The States of Central America," 1857; "Monograph of Authors who have written on the Aboriginal Languages of Central Am.," 1861; and "Tropical Fibres and their Economic Extraction." He has received the medal of the Geog. Society of France, and is a member of various scientific and literary societies. He has also pub. "The Serpent Symbol," 1851, a paper in the Ethnological Society's Collections on the remains at Stonehenge, examined during a visit to Europe in 1852; "Honduras and San Salvador, Geographical, Historical, and Statistical," 2 vols., and "Hitting a Pass," comprising adventures, observations, and impressions during a year of active explorations in the States of Nicaragua, Honduras, and San Salvador, with numerous illustrations. He has also been an industrious contributor to the periodical, newspaper, and scientific literature of the day, on Central America, politics, and antiquities, and ethnology of the aborigines. Editor of Frank Leslie's publications. U. S. commiss. to Peru 1861-4. First pres. Anthropological Institute of N. Y. 1871.

Stahel, GUS. JUDITH, b. Hungary 1826. Entering the military service of Austria, he rose from the ranks to be 1st lieutenant, but espoused the Hungarian cause, and served through the war on the staffs of Görgey and Gayon. When Austria triumphed, he emigrated to Germany, thence to Eng., and finally to N. Y. City, where he became a journalist, and in 1850 established the N. Y. Times and V. S., which he conducted a year. In May, 1851, he became lieutenant 5th N. Y. Vol. (Col. Benken's), and com. the regt. in the battle of Bull Run. He was soon after made its col.; had charge of a brigade in Benken's division, and became brig. gen. Nov. 12, 1861. In Dec. 1862 he com. a div. in Sigel's 11th army corps, resigning March 14, 1863.

Stagg, RICHARD M., miniature and engraving painter of Boston, b. Eng. abt. 1820. Came to the U. S. in early childhood, and while engaged in mechanical occupations at Newport, R. I., received instructions in painting from June Stuart and A. Stone, and soon attained high rank as a painter of miniature portraits. Those of Alison, Webster, and Everett, are memorable. His cabinet easel-scenes and genre-pieces are highly valued, among them are "Cut's Oracle," "The Crossing-Sweeper," "News from the War," "Knitting," "The Love-letter," and "The Sailor's Grave." — Tr. J. C.

Stanard, ROBERT, jurist, d. Richmond, Va., May 13, 1846, a. 66. He was a distinguished member of the State Const. Conv. of 1829-30, represented Richmond for several sessions in the house of delegates; and stood at the head of the bar of that city when he was elevated to the bench of the Court of Appeals.

Stanberry, HENRY, lawyer, b. New York, Feb. 20, 1803. Wash. Coll., Pa., 1819. He went to Ohio in 1814, adm. to the Ohio bar in 1824, atty. gen. of Ohio 1846, U. S. atty. gen. July, 1866, to March, 1868. Defended

President Johnson during the impeachment trial.

Standish, MILKS, an early New-Eng. soldier, b. Lancashire, Eng., ab. 1584; d. Duxbury, Ms., Oct. 3, 1656. He had served in the Netherlands. Came to Plymouth with the first company in 1620; and was chosen capt. by the Pilgrims, though not of their church. He was small in stature, but of a very hot and angry temper; possessed great courage, energy, and determination; and rendered important services to the early settlers. Sent in 1623 to Weymouth to protect the inhabitants from a conspiracy of the Indians. He seized their chief, Pecksnot, snatched his knife from his neck, and killed him with it. This and similar exploits filled the savages with a wholesome terror of him, and gave security to the colonists. In 1625 he went to Eng. as agent for the Colony, and returned with supplies in 1626. He then settled in Duxbury, where he was a magistrate for the rest of his life. — See his War in Gen. ed. R. n. v. 335.

Stanford, JOHN, D.D., Baptist clergyman and philanthropist, b. Wandsworth, Eng., Oct. 20, 1754; d. New York, Jan. 14, 1834. He studied medicine; then engaged in teaching at Hammersmith, near London; and, after joining the Baptist Church, came in 1786 to the U.S.; spent some months at Norfolk, Va., and then opened an acad. at New York; pastor of the Baptist church in Providence, R.I., in 1787-9; again a teacher in New York in Nov. 1789-1813; and in 1791 commenced a course of Sunday-evening lectures. A Baptist church having been formed, through his exertions, in 1794, he officiated as its pastor until ab. 1809; in 1811 he became chaplain of the almshouse; and ultimately the prisons, hospitals, and charitable asylums of the city became his field of labor. He also taught classes of theol. students. Besides a "History of the First Baptist Church of Providence," he wrote a number of tracts, a blessing, and discourses; a coll. of essays entitled "The Aged Christian's Companion," 1829; "Domestic Chaplain," 1806; "Description of New-York City," 1814. — See Memoir by C. G. Sumners.

Stanford, LELAND, a prominent citizen of Cal., b. near Albany, N.Y., 9 Mar. 1824. His ancestors settled as farmers in the Mohawk Valley ab. 1720. He had a com. school education. Was adm. to the bar in 1849; practised in Port Washington, Mich., in 1849-52; became a merchant in Sacramento and was a deleg. to the Chicago conv. in 1860; gov. of Cal. 1862-4; and, as pres. of the Central Pacific Railroad Co., was foremost in pushing forward that great national enterprise. He is largely interested in care of and manuf. enterprises in California.

Stanford, THOMAS, col. U. S. A., b. Vt. 1789; d. Cambridge, Md., Feb. 3, 1855. App. ensign 11th Inf. Oct. 12, 1812; adj. 1819; capt. Mar. 4, 1820; maj. 4th Inf. Dec. 1, 1839; brev. lieutenant for gallant conduct in battles of Palo Alto and R. de la Palma, May 9, 1846; lieutenant 8th Inf. June 29, 1846; brev. col. for gallant and meritorious conduct in battles of Monterrey, Mexico, Sept. 23, 1846; col. 3d Inf. Feb. 21, 1852. — Guardian.

Stanley, ANTHONY DUNOUD, mathematician, b. East Hartford, Ct., April 2, 1810; d. there March 16, 1853. Y.C. 1830. He was tutor there in 1832-6, and prof. in 1836-53. Author of a "Treatise on Spherical Trigonometry," "Tables of Logarithms," and a revised edition of Day's "Algebra."

Stanley, DAVID S., brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Cedar Valley, Wayne Co., O., 1 June, 1828. West Point, 1852. Entering the 2d Dragoons, he became (27 Mar. 1855) 1st Lieut. 1st Cav.; distinguished at defeat of Comanche Indians in the Wichita Mountains, 25 Feb. 1859; capt. 4th Cav. 16 Mar. 1861; brig.-gen. vols. 28 Sept. 1861; maj.-gen. 29 Nov. 1862; maj. 5th Cav. 1 Dec. 1863; col. 2d Inf. 28 July, 1866. When the Rebellion broke out, he successfully brought off all the gov't. property from Forts Smith, Washita, Arbuckle, and Cobb; did good service in Mo., especially at Dug Springs and Wilson's Creek; and was afterward some time disabled by a fall from his horse. Joining Gen. Pope at New Madrid, he com. the 2d div. Army of the Mpt. at the battle of Farmington; May 28, 1862, he repulsed an attack by Cleburne on the left wing; was in the pursuit of the Confeds. to Booneville in the battles of Tuka and Corinth; chief of cav., Army of the Cumberland, Nov. 1862; displayed great ability and skill at the battle of Stone River; was engaged in the advance on Tallahoma; the ex. ad. to Huntsville, Ala.; the passage of the Tenn. River in Sept. 1863; com. 1st div. 4th corps in Nov. 1863; in the Atlanta campaign under Sherman; com. the 4th corps from July, 1864, to the close of the war. His timely arrival on the battle-field of Franklin averted disaster; but he was wounded and disabled. He was brev. lieutenant-col. 31 Dec. 1862 for Stone River; col. 15 May, 1864, for Resaca, Ga.; brig. gen. and maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865 for Ruff's Station, Ga., and Franklin, Tennessee.

Stanley, EDWARD, lawyer and statesman, b. Newbern, N.C. Eldest son of Hon. John, lawyer and M.C. (1801-3 and 1809-11), d. 3 Aug. 1833. Edward was a Wing M.C. in 1836-42 and 1849-53; represented Beaufort in the legis. of N.C. in 1844, '46, and '48; speaker in 1848, and atty.-gen. of the State in 1847. He was one of the ablest of the Whig members of Congress; voted for the compromise measures of 1850, but was not thought in the South to be sufficiently devoted to the defence and preservation of slavery. In 1853 he went to San Francisco, where he practised law; in 1857 he was the Repub. candidate for gov., receiving 21,040 votes to 53,122 for Weller, Democrat. After the capture of Newbern (March 14, 1862) and the occupation of other points in N.C., he was app. military gov. of the State, which place he filled some months, then resigned, and returned to California.

Stanley, FAIRBES, commo. U.S.N., son of John, lawyer and M.C., b. Newbern, N.C., Dec. 15, 1815. Mid-shipm. Dec. 20, 1831; lieutenant, 8, 1841; com. May 19, 1861; capt. July 25, 1866; commo. June, 1870. Attached to sloop "Date," Pacific squad., during Mexican war, and present at the capture of Guaymas, and many engagements on the Pacific coast; com. the "Wyandotte" in 1860, and prevented the attack of Fort Taylor, Key West, by the Combeds; com. steamer "Narraganset," Pacific squad, 1862-3; steamer "State of Georgia," S. Atl. squad, 1864-5. In 1865 ordered to com. Fort Johnson, also an expedition up the Santee, and that of Bull's Bay against Charleston, com. "Tuscarora," S. Pacific squad, 1866-7. — Hawesly.

Stanley, J. M., portrait-painter, b. Canandaigua, N.Y., 1814; removed to Michigan in 1834. Began his profession in Detroit in 1835, and has practised it in various places, traveling extensively among the Indians, taking the likenesses of the principal chiefs. In 1851-63 he resided in Washington, D.C. His extensive collection of Indian portraits and miscellaneous pictures were for many years a chief attraction of the Smithsonian Inst., where they were in Jan. 1865 unfortunately destroyed by fire. Now (1871) resides in Detroit.

Stansbury, M^o Howard, b. N.Y. City, Feb. 8, 1806; d. Madison, Wis., April 17, 1863. App. 1st lieut. topog. engs. July 7, 1828; capt. July, 1849; maj. Sept. 28, 1861. Prior to his entry into the eng. corps, he was engaged in various surveys of Western rivers, and in 1835 had charge of a number of public works in Indiana. In 1841 he was engaged on a survey of the Lakes; in 1842-3 he was in charge of the survey of the harbor of Portsmouth, N.H., — a work which, for minute accuracy of detail, is unsurpassed in this country; in 1847 he was charged with the construction of an iron lighthouse on Caryfort Reef, Florida, the largest lighthouse on our coast; in 1849-51 he was engaged in the Great Salt-Lake exped., his report of which gave him a wide reputation; in 1852-3 he was engaged upon the lake harbor; in 1856 he was assigned to the charge of the military roads in Minnesota; at the time of his death, he was mustering and disbursing officers at Madison.

Stansbury, Gen. Thomas E., b. 1756; d. Baltimore Co., Md., Oct. 25, 1849. From the opening events of the Revol. war, down to within a few years of his death, he participated actively in national and state affairs; was repeatedly a member of the legisl., and presided as speaker of the house of delegates; brig.-gen. of Md. militia 1813-14; com. a brigade in battle of Bladensburg and in defence of Baltimore.

Stanton, DANIEL, Quaker preacher, b. Phila. 1708; d. there June 28, 1770. He began to preach in 1728; travelled in N.E. and the W. Indies; went to Europe in 1748; and visited the Southern Colonies in 1760. He bore testimony against slavery, and against the vices of the city, especially horse-racing, drunkenness, and stage-plays; and was a very zealous, faithful preacher. — See Journal of his Life, Travels, and General Labors, Phila. 8vo, 1772.

Stanton, Edwin McMASTER, LL.D. (Y.C. 1867), lawyer and statesman, b. Steubenville, O., Dec. 19, 1814; d. Washington, D.C., Dec. 24, 1869. Kenyon Coll. 1833. His parents were of Quaker origin, and came from Culpeper Co., Va. He became a bookseller's clerk at Columbus, O.; studied law; and in 1836 was adm. to the Columbus bar. He began practice at Cadiz, O.; became prosec. atty.

of the Co. in 1837; but soon removed to Steubenville, where he had extensive practice. In 1839-42 he was reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Court. In 1848 he removed to Pittsburg, became the leader of the bar, and was often employed in the Supreme Court at Washington. His argument in the case of the Wheeling Suspension Bridge is among the most noted of his efforts during this period. In 1857 he removed to Washington; and in 1858 was employed by Atty.-Gen. Black to go to California to plead the cause of the U.S. in some very important cases. Dec. 14, 1860, he succeeded Mr. Black as atty.-gen., and did his country great service by resisting, as far as possible, the efforts of the secession leaders, then actively engaged in preparing the civil war that soon after broke out. He went out of office with Mr. Buchanan's administration, March 4, 1861; succeeded Gen. Cameron as sec. of war, Jan. 13, 1862, suspended Aug. 12, 1867, by Pres. Johnson; reinstated by the senate, Jan. 14, 1868; resigned May, 1868; to judge U.S. Supreme Court, Dec. 20, 1869. His labors as war secretary during the Great Rebellion were overwhelming; he slept for months at the office, working till two or three o'clock in the morning, and rising before the sun. His assistant secretaries, men of energy and ability, broke down one after another, but he bore the brunt of the burden with inflexible courage and perseverance, and unequalled ability. His opposition to the policy of the pres. made him obnoxious to Mr. Johnson, who sought to deprive him of his office; but it was retained by Mr. Stanton until the failure of the impeachment trial, upon which he resigned. His health had been shattered by his arduous labors; and he died before his commission to the Supreme-Court bench had been made out. He pub. Reports, Sup. Ct. of Ohio, 1841-4, 3 vols. 8vo; also Reports as Secretary of War, 1862-8.

Stanton, ELIZABETH CADY, reformer, b. Johnstown, N.Y., Nov. 12, 1816. Dan. of Judge Daniel Cady. She was educated at the Johnstown Acad., and Mrs. Willard's Seminary at Troy. In 1840 she m. Henry B. Stanton, an anti-slavery orator, and accomp. him to London, where he was a delegate to the World's Anti-slavery Convention. Here she made the acquaintance of Lucretia Mott, with whom, upon the question of woman's rights, she found herself in sympathy. On their return, Mr. Stanton practised law in Boston until 1845, when they removed to Seneca Falls, N.Y. The first woman's-rights convention was called by her at Seneca Falls, July 19-20, 1848; and it made the first public demand for woman's suffrage. Since that period she has labored incessantly with pen and voice, traveling over the country, endeavoring to give this great object. In 1863, she, with Parker Pillsbury and Susan B. Anthony, began to pub. the Revolution in advocacy of the new ideas. (See Eminent Women of the Age.) Her husband, HENRY BRAWSTER, b. Griswold, Ct., 1810, studied at Lane Sem., O. Author of "Reforms and Reformers," 1849; addresses, &c.

Stanton, HENRY, brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. Vt. ab. 1796; d. Fort Hamilton, N.Y., Aug.

1, 1856. App. lieut. of light art. June 29, 1813; assist. dep. qmtr.-gen. July, 1813; military sec. to Gen. Izard 1814; dep. qmtr. (rank of major) May 13, 1820; acting adj.-gen. of the army under Gen. Jesup in Florida 1836-37; assist. qmtr.-gen. (rank of col.) July 7, 1837; brev. brig.-gen. "for meritorious conduct in the Mexican war." Jan. 1, 1847. — Genl. &c.

Stanton, RICHARD H., M. C. from Ky. 1849-55, b. Alexandria, Va., 1812. Author of "Code of Ky.," 8vo, 1859; "R. v. Statutes of Ky.," 2 vols. 8vo, 1860; "Treatise for Justices," 1861; "Manual for Executors," 1862. Edited the Maysville Monitor and Maysville Express. — Alliance.

Stanwix, JOHN, Lieut.-gen., lost at sea in Dec. 1765 while crossing from Dublin to Holyhead in "The Eagle" packet. Nephew and heir to Brig.-Gen. Stanwix, who served with reputation in the wars of Queen Anne. Entered the army in 1706; was an old captain of grenadiers in 1739; made maj. of marines in 1741; lieut.-col. in 1745; app. enquiry to Frederick, Prince of Wales, in 1749; in 1750 was advanced to the govt. of Carlisle, which city he then represented in parliament; and in 1754 became dep. qmtr.-gen. of the forces. Jan. 1, 1756, he became col. com. of the first batt. of the 60th, or Roy. Americans; was put in com. of the Southern dist. on his arrival in Amer., and had his headquarters at Carlisle, Pa., during 1757, and was app. brig.-gen. Dec. 27. On being relieved by Forbes in 1758, Brig. Stanwix proceeded to Albany, whence he was ordered to the Oneida carrying-place to secure that important position by the erection of a work, which, in his honor, was called "Fort Stanwix." He returned to Pa. in 1759; became maj.-gen. June 19; repaired the old fort at Pittsburg, and superintended the works with cannon; and by his prudent conduct secured the good will of the Indians. He resigned his com. to Montforton, May 4, 1760; became lieut.-gen. Jan. 19, 1761; and on his return to Eng. was app. lieut.-gov. of the Isle of Wight; became col. of the 8th Foot, and M.P. for Appleby.

Staples, WILLIAM READ, LL.D. (B.U. 1862), jurist and historian, b. Providence, R.I., Oct. 10, 1798; d. there Oct. 19, 1868. — Brown U. 1817. Adm. to the bar in 1819; assoc. judge Sup. Court, R.I., 1835-54; chief justice of that court 1854-6; sec. and treas. R.I. Soc. for the Encouragement of Domestic Industry from 1856 until his death, and a contrib. to Biographies to its Transactions. One of the founders of the R.I. Hist. Society, many years its librarian and sec., and a vice-pres. at his death. He edited the 2d vol. Colls. R.I. Hist. Society, and in the 5th vol. pub. "Annals of Providence." He also pub. "Documentary Hist. of the Destruction of the Gaspee," 1845; "Proceedings of the First General Assembly for the Incorporation of Providence Plantations, &c., in 1647," 8vo, 1847; and "R. I. Book of Forms," 12mo, 1859. He left unfinished a "History of the State Convention of 1790," since pub.; "History of the Criminal Law of R.I.," "R. I. in the Cont. Congress 1765-90," pub. 8vo, 1879; edited with notes Gorton's "Samuel's Defence," 1835.

Stark, CALLEN, d. Dambarton, N.H., Feb. 1, 1864, a. 59. B.U. 1823. Son of Cal b. maj. Revol. army, who served from Bunker's Hill to Yorktown, and who in 1828 removed to O. (b. 3 Dec. 1759; d. 26 Aug. 1838.) He practised law in Cincinnati, O., and Concord, N.H. Author of "Reminiscences of the French War," &c., 8vo, 1831; "A History of Dambarton, N.H.," 1860; and a Lie. of his Grandfather, Gen. John Stark, 8vo, 1860.

Stark, JOHN, maj.-gen., b. Londonderry, N.H., Aug. 28, 1728; d. Manchester, N.H., May 8, 1822. Removing with his father to Derryfield, now Manchester, about 1736, he was employed in hunting and husbandry until April 28, 1752, when, being on a hunting expedition, he was taken prisoner by the St. Francis Indians. After six weeks' captivity, he was ransomed for 100 dollars. He became very popular with the Indians by his frequent exhibitions of courage and independence, and was adopted into the tribe. App. in 1755 a lieut. in Rogers's company of Rangers, he served in that and the following campaign, and in Jan. 1757, while returning from an expedition, the corps was attacked by the French and Indians near Ticonderoga. A sanguinary battle ensued, in which his superior officers were killed or wounded; and upon him devolved the conduct of the retreat, which he effected with great skill and prudence. He was soon afterwards appointed capt. of rangers, and in 1758 participated in the attack on Ticonderoga under Gen. Abercrombie. In the following spring he joined the army of Amherst, and was present at the reduction of Ticonderoga and Crown Point. A member of the com. of safety at the commencement of the Revol., on the news of Lexington battle he repaired at once to Cambridge, and was immediately chosen col. of the N.H. troops. At Bunker's Hill his men were stationed at the left of the line, behind a rail fence, and repeatedly repulsed the enemy with great loss, but, when the retreat was carried, were compelled to retire. At the close of the northern campaign, in Dec. 1776, he joined Gen. Washington at Newton, com. the vanguard at Trenton, and was very active at the battle of Princeton; having been overlooked in the promotions, he resigned his commission in Apr. 1777, and returned to his farm. On the advance of Burgoyne, the council of N.H. commissioned Stark to raise a force, and guard the frontier. Aug. 16, 1777, he attacked Col. Baum in his intrenchment on the Walloomschaick, near Bennington, and defeated him. Scarcely was this action over, when a detachment under Col. Breyman, sent to succor Baum, arrived, which he also defeated with great loss. Congress passed a vote of thanks to him for this brilliant service, and made him a brig. gen. Oct. 4, 1777, notwithstanding it had just before passed a vote of censure for his disobedience of the order of Gen. Lincoln to march to the west of the Hudson, — which step, if taken, would have left Burgoyne's rear un molested. In Sept. he joined Gates, and contributed to the successful issue of the campaign; early in 1778 he com. the northern dept. at Albany; in Oct. joined Gen. Gates in R.I.; in May, 1780, he joined the army in Morristown, and was in France in 1787; was a principal actor in the war which for a short period subsisted between Sweden and Russia; and was rewarded for his services by the empress to St. Petersburg in 1790, which he long retained. In 1744 he repaired to Paris in command of the Swedish army, and ambassador of the Swedish king to sign the treaty of peace.

Stedman, CHARLES, author of "The History of the American War," 2 vols. 8vo, Lond., 1794; d. London, 26 June, 1812. He served as a commissary under Howe, Clinton, and Cornwallis in the Amer. Revol. war, and at the time of his death was dep. commr. of the stamp office. — Lewis says Stedman's "History" was written by Wm. Thomson, LL.D.

Stedman, EDWARD CHRYSLER, poet, b. Hartford, Ct., 1 Oct. 1833. Son of Edward B. and a daughter of H., by Elizabeth C. Dodge, now Mr. Kimsey, poet, and wife of Wm. B., editor New York (N. Y.) Herald. One of his ancestors on his mother's side was Rev. Aaron Cleveland; his op. A. C. Case being her cousin. His father died when he was 2 years old, and he was educated under the care of a relative, entering Y.C. in 1849. He did not graduate, but in 1850 received the hon. degree of A.M. He began journalism in his 20th year; ed. the West Hill, Lincoln Co., Ct.; removed to N.Y. City (where he is now a member of the stock exchange); became connected with the Tribune, becoming generally known by his satirical poem, entitled, to that journal, "The Diamond Wedding" (1859); and in 1861-3 was war-corresp. in Va. for the N.Y. Herald. Besides contributions to the Tribune, Standard, the Galaxy, &c., he has pub. "Poems," 1869; "Battle of Bull Run," 1861; "Voice of Monmouth, an Idyl of the Great War, with Other Poems," 1864; "The Banjo-Less Prince," &c., 1869. Now (1874) occupied upon a manufactory of the Greek, Sicilian poets.

Stedman, GUN. GERRIT, A. b. Hartford, Ct.; ed. at Fair Haven, Vt., Aug. 6, 1844. Trin. Col. — Maj. 11th Cav.; first-cool. at Antietam, and wound 1; com. the rest at Frederick, Md., Cham. Borville, and Gettysburg, and com. a brigade in the campaign of 1864. He was 6 balls wounded from the skirmishes before Petersburg.

Stedman, JOHN GERRIT, b. Scotland, 1745; killed at St. Mary's Church, Berkeley, D.C., 18th July, 1797. Author of "Narrative of Expedition into the River of Negroes of Surinam, 1772-7." London, 2 vols. 8vo, 1796.

Steebly, CHARLES, rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Georgetown, S.C., Sept. 24, 1814. Midshipn. Am. 1, 1828; Bnt. Feb. 25, 1841; com. S. pr. 14, 1857; capt. Sept. 19, 1862; commo. July 25, 1866; rear-adm. 18 June, 1874. He com. a gun in naval battery at bombard of Vera Cruz, com. brig. "Dolphin," Paraguan exped., 1850-60; com. "The Herald" at battle of Port Royal, S.C., Nov. 7, 1861; with "The Philadelphia" and other gunboats under his command at Fort Mifflin, Va., Aug. 1, 1862; Sept. 17, 1862, signed the letters of St. John's Point, S. John's River, Va.; Sept. 30 com. in command with Gen. Beaumont in capture of Fort Fisher, com. 2nd reg. of Va. of 10 companies from a detachment of Fort Fisher, and in European April 1865-7; commanding navy-yard, Boston, 1870-1. — Herald.

Steedman, GEORGE JAMES BAYNE, b. Northampton Co., Pa., July 30, 1818. In 1837 he went to Ohio as a contractor in the construction of the Wabash and Erie Canal; in 1841 he was sent by the Democrats to the Ohio legislature; in 1849 he organized a company to colonize the plains to California, good lumbric; returning in 1850, he became in 1851 a member of the board of public works of Ohio. During Mr. Buchanan's administration, he was painter to Congress. In 1861 he was col. 15th Ohio Vols.; was ordered to Western Va.; took part in the battle at Philippi, and subsequently joined Gen. Buell in Ky.; app. 1st com. of vols. July 17, 1862; dist. at Perryville; in July, 1863, com. the 18th div. 2nd corp., Army of the Cumberland; and, besides other views at Chickamauga, was com. major 24 Apr. 1864. He took an active part in Sherman's Atlanta campaign; relieved the 11th garrison at Dalton, and det. of Wheeler's cavalry in June, 1864; joined Gen. Thomas when Sherman marched to the sea; and was dist. in the battle of Nashville. Resigned July 19, 1866. Internal rev. collector at New Orleans under Pres. Johnson — Ed's Ohio in the War.

Steele, RAY ASHLEY, b. Waterbury, Ct., 31 Jan. 1796. Pastor in Washington, D.C. Author of "Chief of the Pilgrims or Life of Brewster," 8vo, 1857; "General of the Brewster Family." Contrib. to Spirit of Missions, Phila. Recorder, and Nat. Intelligencer. — Steel's Ohio Genl.

Steele, GUN. FARMWELL, b. Delhi, N.Y., 1824; d. San Mateo, Columbia Terr., Jan. 12, 1868. West Point, 1843. Entering the 24th Inf., he served during the Mexican war. For gallantry at Contreras and Chiquitero he was brev. 1st lieutenant and capt.; capt. 24 Inf. 5 Feb. 1855. He served in Mo. at the beginning of the civil war; was made major 11th Inf. May 14, 1861; and for his conduct at the battle of Wilson's Creek (Aug. 10, 1861) was made brig.-gen. of vols. Jan. 29, 1862; in Dec. 1862 he com. at Helena, Ark., capturing Little Rock Sept. 10, 1863; maj. gen. Nov. 29, 1862. He com. a division in the 15th army corps and Sherman, and took part in the battle of Chickasaw Bayou, capture of Fort Hindman, and Siege of Vicksburg, where he com. the 5th division of Grant's army; and com. the dept. of Ark. until the end of the war. He com. a column at the capture of Mobile 12 Apr. 1865. In 1865 he was transferred to Texas, and placed in com. of the Rio Grande. Lt. in col. 31 Inf. 26 Aug. 1863; col. 20th Inf. July 25, 1866; brev. col. for Vicksburg; brig. gen. 13 Mar. 1865 for Little Rock, and major gen. for services in the rebellion.

Steele, JOHN, Revol. officer, b. Augusta Co., Va., ab. 1755; d. ab. 1805. He was an officer at the battle of Point Pleasant, Va., 19 Oct. 1774, and at the battle of Germantown was shot through the body. Many years one of the Va. executive council, admitted to treat with the Cherokee under John Adams's administration; and see of Mgr. Terr. 1798-1800.

Steele, GUN. JOHN, Revol. officer, b. Lancaster, Pa., 1758; d. 27 Feb. 1827. Capt. through the war; wounded at Brandywine, and present at Yorktown; afterward State senator; a commissioner to settle the Wyoming troubles; and long collector of the port of Philadelphia; com. Washington's Life Guard in 1780; gen. of Pa. militia.

Steele, GEs. JOHNS, b. Salisbury, N.C., Nov. 1, 1764; d. there Aug. 14, 1815. His mother Elizabeth was dist. among the patriotic "women of the Revol." John was a successful planter; from 1787 was frequently a member of the h. of commons; member of the convention to adopt the Federal Constitution in 1788; M.C. 1790-3; was often speaker of the h. of commons; was in 1806 a commiss. to adjust the boundaries between N. and S. Carolina; was a gen. of militia, and first compt. of the treasury until 1802.

Steele, JOHN H., gov. N.H. 1844-6; b. N. C. 1742; d. P. township, N.H., July 3, 1865.

Steen, ALEXANDER E., brig.-gen. U.S.A., of St. Louis, Mo.; killed at Prairie Grove, Ark., 7 Dec. 1862. Lieut. 12th U.S. Inf. 6 Mar. 1847; brev. for Contreras and Churubusco, disting., and wounded in the conflict with the Apaches 27 June, 1857.

Steers, GEORGE, naval constructor, b. WASHINGTON, D.C., 1821; d. Brooklyn, N.Y., 25 Sept. 1856. Among many of his beautifully-modeled vessels, the most celebrated were the yacht "America," and the steamships "Africatic" and "Niagara."

Steinwehr, GEs. ADOLPH WILHELM FRIEDRICH, baron von, b. Blankenberg, duchy of Brunswick, Sept. 25, 1822. His father was a major, his grandfather a lieut.-gen., in the Prussian service. He was educated at the Military Acad. of Brunswick; became a lieut. in 1841; resigned in 1847, and came to the U.S. to offer his services to the govt. in the Mexican war; but, failing to obtain a commiss., in the regular army, returned to Germany after marrying in Mobile. In 1854 he came again to the U.S., and bought a farm near Wafangford, Ct. He raised the 29th N.Y. Regt., which he com. in the first battle of Bull Run. Made brig.-gen. vols. Oct. 12, 1861, and appt. to the 2d or 3d of Benker's division. When Sigel assumed com. of the corps after the organization of the Army of Va., Steinwehr was promoted to com. the 2d division, 11th corps, and participated in the campaign on the Rapidan and Rappahannock in August and in Dec.; in the battle of Chancellorsville, May 2, 1863, and in the siege of Gettysburg, Pa., July 1, 1863.

Stellwagen, HENRY S., capt. U.S.N., b. Pa.; d. Cape Isle, N.J., July 16, 1866. Midshipm. Apr. 1, 1828; lieut. July 2, 1840; com. Sep. 14, 1855; capt. Aug. 22, 1862; com. sloop "Comet," 1862; "Mercedita," 1864.

Stembel, ROBERT N., commo U.S.N., b. Middletown, Md., Dec. 27, 1810. Midshipm. Mar. 27, 1832; lieut. Oct. 26, 1843; com. July 1, 1861; capt. July 25, 1866; commo 1874; com. N. Pacific squad 1871; attach 16 coastsurvey, 1844-7; to Mex. flotilla, and in action at Lucas's Bend, Sept. 3, 1861; Belmont Nov. 7, 1861; Fort Henry, Feb. 6, 1862; E. and No. 10, Mar. 16 to Apr. 7, 1862; near Fort Plow-with Confeder. rams, May 10, 1862; besides some minor affairs from Aug. 1861 to May, 1862, and wounded May 10, com. steam-sloop "Cannadaigua," European squad, 1866-7. — Harvards'.

Stephen, GEs. ADAM; d. Va. Nov. 1791. He had been a meritorious Va. officer in the colonial wars; was a capt. in the Ohio exped. of 1754, served with distinction under Braddock; afterwards com. Fort Cumberland with the rank of lieut.-col.; and, on his return from an exped. to S.C. against the Creek Indians, he was placed at the head of the troops for the defence of the Va. frontier, and was made a brig.-gen. When the Revol. commenced, Col. Stephen was appt. to one of the Va. regts.; was made a brig.-gen. in the Cont. service, Sept. 4, 1776, and a maj.-gen. Feb. 19, 1777; and behaved well at the Brandywine. Yielding to a bad habit, he fell into disgrace at Germantown; was found guilty of being intoxicated, and was dismissed from the army 1778.

Stephens, ALEXANDER HAMILTON, statesman, b. Tallahassee Co., Ga., Feb. 11, 1812. Franklin Coll. 1832. Left an orphan, he was indebted to his friends for the means of education. Adm. to practise law in 1834, and soon acquired extensive practice at Crawfordville. After repaying his friends, his first earnings were devoted to redeeming from the hands of strangers the home of his childhood, upon which he still resides. In 1836-41 he was a member of the State legisl.; in 1839 he was a delegate to the Charleston commercial convention; in 1842 he was elected to the State senate; and was M.C. in 1843-59, serving on many committees, and delivering many speeches; chairman of the com. on Territorial. He favored the annexation of Texas, was a supporter of Mr. Clay for the presidency in 1844; opposed the Clayton Compromise in 1848; took a leading part in effecting the compromise of 1850; and was an active supporter of the Kansas and Nebraska Act of 1854. After the breaking-up of the Whig party, he joined the Democrats, and was a prominent supporter of Buchanan's administration. He advocated the election of Douglas to the presidency in 1860, and in numerous public addresses denounced those who advocated a dissolution of the Union, and in the State convention vigorously opposed the secession of Georgia. He was elected provisional vice-pres. of the Confederate States 2 Feb. 1861, and permanent vice-pres. in Nov. In a speech at Richmond, Va., Apr. 22, 1861, he justified the secession movement, and pronounced slavery the cornerstone of the new govt. He was for some time a prisoner of state in Fort Warren, but was released 11 Oct. 1865. He has pub. "History of the War between the States," 2 vols. 8vo, 1868; "Constitutional View of the Late War," 2 vols. 8vo, Letters and Speeches, 8vo, 1867, ed. by Henry Cleveland.

Stephens, Mrs. ANN SOPHIA (Winterbottom), authoress, b. Derby, Ct., 1813. She m. in 1832 and removed to Portland, Me., where in 1835 she commenced and continued for some time the Portland Magazine. In 1836 she edited "The Portland Scotch-Book." She in 1837 removed to N.Y. City, where she has since resided, and actively contributed to the magazines. "Mary Derwent," a tale, won her a prize of $400, and gave her popularity as a magazine-writer. Her most elaborate work is the novel of "Fashion and Fame" (1854), a story of the contrasts of city life. It is of the intense school, but contains excellent descriptions and delineations of character. She has also pub. "The Heiress of Greenhurst," "The Old Homestead," and two books on needlework, and has also written much in verse. She edited the Ladies' Companion 4 years, and in 1842 was co-editor of Greenham's Magazine, to which she was long a contributor; also editor of the Ladies' World; in 1856 she started the Illustrated New Monthly. An edition of her works in 14 vols. was pub. 1869-70.

Stephens, Mrs. HARRILEY MARION, authoress, d. East Hampton, Me., 1858, a. 55. She appeared upon the stage under the name of Miss Rosalie Somers until 1851, and was afterward well known by the contributions of her pen under the signatures of "Marion Ward" and "H. M. S." She wrote "Hagar the Martyr," and a variety of tales, sketches, and poems, collected and pub. with the title of "Home-Scenes and Home-Sounds."

Stephens, JOHN LLOYD, an eminent traveller, b. Shrewsbury, N. J., Nov. 28, 1805; d. N. Y., Oct. 12, 1852. Col. Coll. 1822. He studied at the Litchfield Law School, and practised in N. Y. City for about 8 years. Taking an active interest in politics, he joined the Democ. party, and became a favorite speaker at Tammany Hall. In 1834-6 he visited Europe and Egypt; and in 1837 pub. "Incidents of Travel in Egypt, Arabia Petraea, and the Holy Land;" which was followed in 1838 by "Incidents of Travel in Greece, Turkey, Russia, and Poland." Mr. Stephens was in 1839 app. special ambassador to Central America; on his return in 1841 he pub. "Incidents of Travel in Central America, Chiapas, and Yucatan." In 1842 he again visited Yucatan, and pub. in 1843 another work, entitled "Incidents of Travel in Yucatan." All his books were exceedingly popular; and his travels in Central America and Yucatan have been pronounced to be the richest contribution ever made by any one man on the subject of American antiquities. He was a director of the "Ocean Steam Navigation Co.," which established the first American line of trans-Atlantic steam-ships, and went to Europe as the representative of the company on the trial-trip of its first vessel, "The Washington." The latter part of his life was devoted to the construction of the Panama Railroad, of which he was president. Delegate to the State Const. Conv. of N. Y. in 1846.

Stephens, WILLIAM, gov. of Ga., son of Sir Wm. S., lieutenant-gov. of the Isle of Wight, b. there Jan. 28, 1671; d. Ga., Aug. 1753. King's Coll., Camb. Studied law at the Middle Temple, and in 1696 was M. P. for Newport. In 1712 he was a commissioner of the victualling; he afterward came to Charleston, S. C.; became acquainted with Oglethorpe, at whose recommendation he was, in Aug. 1737, app. sec. of the trustees in Ga., and in Nov. arrived in Savannah. In 1741 he was made pres. of the county of Savannah; and was in 1743-50 pres. of the Colony. His journal 1737-41 was printed in 3 vols. 8vo. "The Castle Builders, or the History of William Stephens," a very rare work, was written by his son.

Stephens, EDWARD JENNER, lieutenant-col., b. Va. 1816; d. near Lynchburg, Va., 1 Apr. 1865. West Point (lieut. 3d Art.), July, 1837. Disting. under Col. Florida in Florida war 1838-42; assist. instructor of inf. tactics, Military Acad., 1842-3; capt. 3 March, 1847; com. light battery in Quitman's division in the valley of Mexico; brev. major "for gallantry in battle of Cerro Gordo," April 18, 1847; brev. lieutenant-col. "for gallantry in battle of Chapultepec," Sept. 13, 1847; maj. 9th Inf. March 3, 1855; com. and disting. in conflicts with Indians at the Cascades, Washington Terr., Apr. 27 and 28, 1856; lieutenant-col. 10th Inf.; resigned Nov. 1, 1861. App. gov. of Utah Terr. 1854, but declined. — Callan.

Sterrett, ANDREW, capt. U. S. N.; d. Lima, 9 Jan. 1807. App. lieutenant U. S. N., 25 Mar. 1798; dist. in action between "The Constellation" and "L'Insurgente," 9 Feb. 1799; and 1st lieutenant in the action with "La Vengeance," another French frigate. While in com. of "The Enterprise," he captured "L'Ami de la Patrie." Resigned 29 June, 1805.

Steuben, FRIEDRICH WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, baron, maj.-gen. Revol. army, b. Magdeburg, Prussia, 15 Nov. 1750; d. Steubenville, N. Y., 28 Nov. 1794. Educated at Neisse and Breslau. At 14 he was a volunteer under his father, an officer of Frederick the Great, at the siege of Prague; disting. at Prague and Rossbach in 1757; made adj.-gen. in 1758, and wounded at Kunnersdorf; made prisoner in 1761, and sent to St. Petersburg, but was soon released; in 1762 app. adj.-gen. on the king's staff; was one of the young officers under the special instruction of Frederick, and after the siege of Schmiednitz, in which he took part, received from the king a valuable lay benefice. After the seven-years' war, he retired from the army, and travelled with the prince of Hohenzollern-Heckingen, who in 1764 app. him grand marshal and gen. of his guard, and made him a knight of the order of "Fidelity." Leaving these offices, and an income of $8,000 a year, at the suggestion of Count St. Germain he offered his services to the Americans, and arrived at Portsmouth, N. H., in Nov. 1777. Joining the army at Valley Forge, he was app. ins.-gen. (rank of maj.-gen.) 29 Mar. 1778; was a vol. in the battle of Monmouth in June; performed important services; prepared a manual of instruction for the army, which was approved by Congress in 1779; and introduced the most thorough discipline, a change of which the army stood greatly in need, and which contributed largely to its ultimate success. In 1780 he com. in Va., and finally in the trenches at Yorktown. He frequently shared his last dollar with the suffering soldiers, as he often did his clothing and camp-equipments also. At the close of the war, the State of N. J. gave him a small farm; the legisl. of N. Y. gave him 16,000 acres of wild land in Oneida Co.; and the govt. granted him an annuity of $2,500. He erected a log-

Louse at Steubenville; gave a tenth part of his lands to his slaves — North, Popham, and Walker — and his servants, and parcelled out the rest to 20 or 30 tenants. A man of great kindness and generosity, always cheerful, of ready wit, and highly polished manners. His Life by F. Kapp was pub. N.Y., 1860; and by F. Bowen, Sparks's "Amer. Biography."

Steuben, Baron Von, b. Prussia; killed at Spotsylvania, May 12, 1864. He was a Prussian officer; came to the U.S., and joined the 52 N.Y. Vols.; and was a brave and efficient officer.

Stevens, Aaron F., M.C. 1867-9, b. Derby, N.H., 9 Aug. 1819. Educated at Pinkerton Acad. Came to the bar in 1845, and set. Ct. in Nashua; member State legis., 1849-51 & 52; State solicitor 5 years. Major 1st N.H. Vols., 1861; col., 1862; served through the war; wounded at Fort Harrison, Va., in 1864; and brev. brigadier-general.

Stevens, Anna, LL.D., Meth. clergyman, b. Phila., Jan. 19, 1815. He studied at the West. U., Middletown, Ct. Settled as pastor in Boston in 1834; in 1837 travelled in Europe; until 1840 was stationed in Providence; removed to Boston in 1840, editing Zoe's Herald; went to New York in 1852, and edited the National Hist.; and in 1856 edited the Christian Advocate and Journal. Dr. S. has pub. "Memorials of the Introduction of Methodism into the U.S.;" "Progress of Methodism in the Eastern States;" "Church Polity;" "The Practical Republic" by the Times;" "Sketches and Incidents, a Budget from the Sack of Bags of an American;" "The Great Reform;" "History of the Religious Movement of the Eighteenth Century, call. Methodism;" "History of the Methodist Church in America," 4 vols., 1861-7; "Centenary of Amer. Methodism," &c., 1865; "Women of Methodism," &c., 1866.

Stevens, Alexander Hogenon, M.D. (U. of Pa. 1811), LL.D. (N.Y. State U.), prof. of surgery, son of Gen. Ebenezer of the Revol. army, b. N.Y. 1784; d. N.Y. City, March 30, 1869. Y.C. 1807. His mother, a sister of Col. Ledyard, was aunt to the famous traveller, John. He studied in Lond. and Paris in 1812, and then began practice in N.Y. City. Fellow of the Coll. of Phys. and Surgeons 1813; prof. of surgery in Queen's-mow Surgeons Coll. 1814-16; pp. visiting surgeon N.Y. Hospital in 1817; prof. of surgery Coll. of Phys. and Surge., 1826-37, of clinical surg. 1838-9; magna prof. of surgery 1840-4; pres. of the coll. 1841-57; and meritorious prof. of clinical surgery from 1841. Pres. of the State Med. Soc., and in 1848 of the Amer. M. I. Assoc. He pub. "Inflammation," 4 to; "Fungus of the Eye," 1-18; "Clinical Lectures on Injuries," 1837; on "Lithotomy," 1848; "Medical Education," 1840. Ed. of Cooper's "First Lines of Surgery," 1822, 2 vols., 8vo. — Obit. Rev. U.S.

Stevens, George, Engstrom, R. vol. officer, b. Boston, 1752; d. 2 Sept. 1823. He was one of the famous "Ten Part." of Boston in Dec. 1775; was afterwards employed to R.F.I.; commanded a light S. May, 1775; raised two companies of art., and one of artillery, for the capture of Fort Quebec; app. page 9 Nov. 1776;

com. the art. at Ticonderoga and at the battle of Stillwater; app. 5th ut. col. 30 April, 1778, and soon after assigned to Col. Lamb's regt.; was with Lafayette in Va., and at Yorktown was in all mate com. of the art. with Lamb and Carrington. After the war, he was many years a leading merchant in New York. Became a maj.-gen. of militia, and during the war of 1812 served in defence of N. Y. City. Served his son, a disting. member of the N.Y. bar, d. N.Y. 24 Nov. 1844, a 60.

Stevens, Howard, brig.-gen. Revol. army, b. Culpeper Co., Va., 1745; d. at his at there Aug. 17, 1820. At the commencement of the war, he com. with distinction a battalion of riflemen at the battle of Great Bridge, near Norfolk, Va.; he was soon appointed commander of the 10th Va. Regt., with which he joined Washington; and at the battle of Brandywine (Sept. 11, 1777), by his gallant exertions saved a part of the army. From capture, checked the enemy, and secured the retreat; he also distinguished himself at Germantown, and being made a brig.-gen. of Va. militia, fought at Camden, also at Guilford Court House, where his skillful dispositions were extremely serviceable to the army, and where, though severely wounded in the thigh, he brought off his troops in good order. Gen. Greene bestowed on him marked commendation. At Yorktown he performed important duties; and all through the war possessed a large share of the respect and confidence of Washington. Member of the State senate from the foundation of the State const. until 1790. — Obit.

Stevens, George M., brig.-gen. C.S.A., b. Me.; killed near Atlanta, Ga., 20 May, 1864.

Stevens, Henry, bill engraver, son of Henry (1791-1857), first pres. of the Mt. Hist. Soc., b. Stevensville, Va., Aug. 24, 1819. Y.C. 1843. Since 1845 he has resided in London, engaged in collecting rare and valuable books, adding to the collection of Amer. books in the British Museum, and enriching Amer. libraries. He has pub. "Historical Nuggets;" "Rare Books relating to America," 2 vols., 1862; "Catalogue of Amer. Books in the Brit. Museum," 8vo, 1859; "Hist. and Geographical Notes on the Earliest Discoveries in America," 1869; and many catalogues of private libraries. He has also made indexes of historical papers for several of the States, compiled from the records in the English State-paper office. — Obit.

Stevens, Gen. Isaac Ingalls, b. Andover, Ms., 25 Mar. 1818; killed in battle of Chantilly, Va., 6 Sept. 1862. West Point, 1839 (first in his class). Entering the eng'rs., he was made Lt. Col. in 1840; adj. in 1847-8; attached to Scott's staff in Mexico, and brev. capt. and major Contreras, Churruasco, and Chapultepec; and was severely wounded in the attack on the San Cosme Gate of the capital, and pronounced by his general the most promising officer of his age. Attached to the eng'rs. survey in Washington. On the accession of Pierce, his personal friend, to the presidency, he resigned, and was made gov. of Washington Terr., and placed in charge of the survey of the route for the North Pacific R.R., a narrative of which he pub. He did not rain-d the feasibility of the route for a railroad, established the practicability of navigating the Upper Mo. and Columbia River by steam, and negotiated several treaties with the Indians. He also suppressed an Indian war, and resigned in Aug. 1857. He was wounded in a rencontre with Chief Justice Lander, and his action was disapproved by the gov. M.C. for Wash. Terr 1857-61; member Nat. Democ. conventions at Charleston and Baltimore; support of the nomination of Breckenridge for the presidency; and was chairman of the Breck. exec. committee, but, when secession became imminent, strongly advised the pres. to dismiss secretaries Floyd and Thompson. Field, vol. 79th N.Y. Highlanders, 30 July, 1861; brig.-gen. vol. 28 Sept. 1861; maj.-gen. 4 July, 1862. He com. under Sherman in the Port-Royal exped.; attacked, and with the aid of gunboats carried, the Confed. batteries on the Coosaw in Jan. 1862; com. the principal column in the unsuccessful attack on Secessionville, S.C., 16 June, 1862; was subsequently attached to Gen. Pope's command; had charge of a division in the series of battles fought by that general in Va.; fought gallantly at the second Bull-run battle; and fell while bearing about the colors of one of his regts., cheering it on. He pub. in 1851 "Campaigns of the Rio Grande and Mexico, with Remarks on the Recent Work of Major Ripley."

Stevens, JOHN, inventor, b. New York, 1743; d. Hoboken, N.J., 1828. In 1787 he became interested in steamboats from seeing that of John Fitch, and experimented for near 20 years. In 1789 he petitioned the N.Y. Leg. for a grant of the exclusive navigation of the waters of that State, without success. In 1804 he built a propeller, a small open boat worked by steam, with such success, that he built the steamboat "Phoenix," completed soon after "The Clermont" was finished by Fulton. The latter having the exclusive right for Hudson River, Mr. S. placed his boats on the Delaware and Connecticut. In 1812 he pub. a remarkable pamphlet, urging the gov. to make experiments in railways traversed by steam-engines; and if feasible, proposed the construction of such a railway from Albany to Lake Erie.

Stevens, CAPT. PHINEAS, b. Sudbury, Ms.; d. Charlestown, N.H., 1756. His father loved to Rutland, N.H., whences, at the age of 16, he was carried prisoner to Canada. In 1746 he volunteered in an exped. against Canada; was afterwards ordered to the frontiers; and in "Number 4" made a gallant defence against the French and Indians in March, 1747. For his bravery on this occasion he was presented with a valuable sword by Commodore Knowles, and continued in com. of the fort until 1750. Sent to Canada by Gov. Shirley in 1749, he left a journal of his life printed in N.H. Hist. Colls., v. 199.—Old Connecticut.

Stevens, ROBERT LIVINGSTON, inventor, b. Hoboken, N.J., 1788; d. there 20 Apr. 1856. Son of John the inventor. The son at the age of 20 built a steamboat with cone-shaped rudders, the first application of the way-sine to ship-building; adopted a new method of tracing and fastening steamboats; in 1818 discovered the utility of employing steam expansively, and using an elastic coal torped in steamers; in 1822 substituted the skeleton wrought-iron for the heavy cast-iron walking-beam; in 1824 applied artificial blast to the boiler-tunnace, and in 1827 the hog-tram to boats to prevent them from landing at the centre. He also invented the T-rail. About 1816 he commenced steam ferrying between N.Y. City and the Jersey shore. A projector of the Camden and Amboy Railroad, and many years pres. of the company. About 1845 invented an improved bomb for the naval service; commissioned by gov. in 1842 to build an immense steam-battery for the defence of N.Y. harbor, left unfinished at the time of his death.

Stevens, THADDEUS, political leader, b. Peacham, Vt., Apr. 4, 1793; d. Washington, D.C., Aug. 11, 1868. Darin, Col., 1844. His parents were poor. He was sickly and lame; but his mother toiled with all her strength to secure for him an education. His was ambitious, and turned his scanty opportunities to such good account, that he succeeded in qualifying himself for college. Immediately after leaving Dartmouth, he moved to York, Pa., where he taught school. Studied law; was adm. to the bar in 1816; and was for many years an eminent practitioner in Gettysburg. In 1828 he entered the political arena, taking sides with the Adams party, and becoming an active Whig. He was several years in the legisl. betw. 1833 and '41; in 1837 he was a member of the State Const. Conv., taking an active part in all important debates, but, being hostile to slavery, refused to sign the constitution because it restricted suffrage on account of color. After the adoption of the constitution, he was a leading seceder in one of the two legislatures in session at the same time, but they finally closed without voting on Canal commiss. In 1842 he removed to Lancaster, took a front rank at the bar, and was devoted to his profession until 1848, when he was elected to Congress, and ardently opposed the repeal of the Mo. Compromise, the fugitive-slavery law, and the Kansas-Nebraska bill. He was again in Congress from 1850 to his death, and was a re-organized leader. During 3 sessions he was chairman of the important com. of ways and means, and was chairman of the com. on reconstruction of the Canal and 140th Congresses. He was also chairman of the board of managers in the impeachment of President Johnson; member of the Baltimore convention in 1861. Thoroughly radical in his views, having slavery without the "innocent" type of this nature, believing it just, right, and expedient not only to emancipate, but to arm the negro, and make him a soldier, and, at the close of the war, to make him a citizen and give him the ballot, he led off in all measures for abolishing the seceders. The Emancipation Proclamation was based upon the principles he advanced grounds of right, justice, and expediency. The 14th Amendment to the Constitution was drafted and passed by him. He also advocated and carried through the war, as stated earlier, and proposed the most rigid and stern measures against the instigators and promoters of the Rebellion to the faculty of his life.

Stevens, Capt. THOMAS HOLDEN, U.S.N., b. Charleston, S.C., 1793; d. Washington, D.C., Jan. 22, 1841. While an inmate and pupil of the orphan asylum in Charleston, Gen. Stevens of that city became interested in him, presented him a midshipman's warrant in 1809, and in 1815 he added by legal examination the name of Stevens to that of Holmep. Lieut. July 24, 1813; master com. Mar. 3, 1825; capt. Jan. 27, 1836. In 1812 he volunteered for lake service. In Dec. he accompanied a party who stormed a battery at Black Rock in the night, in which he received a canister-shot through the right hand, impairing its use for life. In Apr. 1813 he took charge of fitting and rigging the squadron at Erie. In the action of Sept. 10 he com. the sloop "Tripp," fought bravely against the rear of the enemy's line, and, in the pursuit which followed, aided in conquering and bringing back two of the enemy's vessels. In the summer of 1814 he was 1st lieut. of "The Niagara," and subsequently com. different vessels. He was chivalrous, generous, and heroic, and possessed considerable literary talent.

Stevens, THOMAS H., capt. U.S.N., b. Ct.; May 27, 1819. Son of the preceding. Midshipm. Dec. 14, 1836; lieut. May 10, 1840; com. July 16, 1862; capt. July 25, 1866. Com. steamer "Ottawa," at battle of Fort Royal, Nov. 1861; in various engagements in Florida in Mar. and Apr. 1862; com. steamer "Maratona" in battle of West Point, May 7, 1862; capture of Cont'd. gunboat "Teaser," com. steamer "Sonoma," W. I. squad., 1862; com. moned "Pataseo" in engagement with Fort Wagner (Aug. 22, 1863), with Fort Moultrie and batteries (Aug. 31 and Sept. 7 and 8); com. boat-attack on Fort Sumr. night of Sept. 8, 1863; com. "Onondaga" in operations before Mobile; and in battle of Mobile Bay, and capture of Cont'd. fleet (Aug. 5, 1864) and capture of Fort Morgan, com. monitor "Winnebago." The gallantry, coolness, and command of this officer have won for him the highest encomiums. — Harper's.

Stevens, GEN. WALTER H., b. New York abt. 1827; d. Essexville, La., Dec. 1867. West Point, 1848. Entering the engineers he became 1st lieut. July, 1855, and was dism. 2 May, 1854, on the staff of Gen. Blagg; as engineer, had the rank of brig. gen., and served at Appomattox. C. H. Apr. 9, 1865. Change of the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico for some time before his death.

Stevens, WILLIAM BACON, D.D., M.D., b. Ct.; d. 1848. H. D., conse., bishop of Pa. 1822, 1862; b. Bath, Me., 1815. Ord. deacon, 1834; priest, Prot. Ep. Church 1844, and prof. of sciences and moral philos. U. of Ga.; rector of St. Andrew's, Phila., 1848-62; prof. of liturg. in Ep. Divinity School, Phila., 1862. He has pub. "Discourse before the Ga. Hist. Society," Feb. 12, 1841; "History of Georgia to 1797," 2 vols. 8vo, 1847-50; "Parables of the N. Test.," 1857; "Consensus," "Home Service," "The Lord's Day," "The Past and Present of St. Andrew's," 1858, and sermons. He edited the "Ga. Hist. Collections," vol. 1, and pub. many tracts and papers in periodicals. — ibid.

Stevenson, ANDREW, statesman, b. Culpeper Co., Va., 1784; d. Blenheim, Albemarle Co., Va., June 25, 1857. Prominent at the bar. In 1804 he became a member of the Va. legisl., and afterwards speaker, M.C. in 1821-31, and in 1827-34 was speaker; minister to Eng. in 1836-41; he devoted himself, on his return, chiefly to agricultural pursuits and to the interests of the Va. University, of which institution he was a rector at the time of his death.

Stevenson, JOHN W., statesman, son of Andrew, b. Richmond, Va., abt. 1819. U. of Va. He settled at Covington, Ky., in 1841; practised law with success; in the Ky. legisl. in 1845-7, a leader in the State Con. Conv. in 1849; member of the Democ. Nat. Conv. of 1848, '52, and '56; M.C. 1857-61; acting gov. of Ky. 1867-8; gov. 1868-72; one of the commissioners to revise the code of Kentucky.

Stevenson, GEN. THOMAS G., b. Boston, 1836; killed near Spottsylvania, Va., May 10, 1864. Son of Hon. J. Thomas. Early entered a taste for military life, and was major 4th batt. Ms. Inf. when the Rebellion began. He had a high reputation as a drill-master, and trained a large number of young men since honorably disting. in the field. He raised the 24th Regt., participating as its col. in the capture of Roanoke Island and Newbern; successfully defended Washington, N.C., against superior forces of the enemy; led a brigade in the movements on Kinston, 1862; in Dec. 27, 1862; and in the following summer aided in the reduction of Morris Island and in the assault on Fort Wagner. He was in com. of the 1st div. 9th corps when he fell.

Stewart, ALEXANDER, a British gen.; d. Dec. 1794. App. capt. 37th Foot 20 June, 1761; maj. Aug. 1774; lieut.-col. 3d (Buff.) 7 July, 1775; col. 16 May, 1780; maj. gen. 23 Apr. 1790. In May, 1781, he succeeded to the com. of the British forces in S.C., and Sept. 8, 1781, fought at Eutaw, against Greene, the last battle of the Amer. Revol., which is noted in his retreat to Charleston.

Stewart, ALEXANDER T., a leading merchant of New York, of Scotch-Irish parentage, b. near Belfast, Ireland, abt. 1793. Educated at Trin. Coll., Dublin. Came to N.Y. City in 1823, taught school for a brief period, then established a retail dry-goods store on Broadway; in 1848 he erected his large marble structure (on Chambers St. and Broadway), and has acquired great wealth by industry, enterprise, and sagacity. Nominated sec. of the U.S. treasury by Pres. Grant in Mar. 1869, but found himself ineligible by the U.S. senate. In 1847, during the Irish famine, Mr. Stewart chartered a ship, which he filled with provisions, and sent as a gift to Ireland. A strenuous upholder of the Union during the Rebellion, and strongly identified with the Repub. party. He was one of the Amer. representatives at the Paris Exposition of 1867.

Stewart, CHARLES, rear-admiral U.S.N., b. of Irish parents, Phila., July 18, 1778; d. Bordentown, N.J., Nov. 7, 1869. At the age of 13 he entered the merchant service, in which he rose from the situation of cabin-boy to the com. of an Indiaman. March 9, 1798, he was commissioned a lieut. in the navy; in July, 1800, was app. to the com. of the schooner "Experiment," and cruised in the West Indies, where he rendered efficient service; Sept. 1 he captured the French schooner "Deux Amis" (of 8 guns), and soon after "The Diana" (of 14 guns), besides recapturing a number of American vessels which had been taken by French privateers. In 1802, as first officer, he joined the frigate "Constellation," which had been ordered to the Mediterranean to blockade Tripoli; and on his return, after one year's cruise, was placed in com. of the brig "Siren;" in this vessel he was engaged in the expedition to destroy the frigate "Philadelphia" (Feb. 16, 1804), and subsequently in the blockade and siege of Tripoli. For his services in the bombardment of Aug. 3, 1804, he received the thanks of Com. Preble in General Orders. Promoted to be master com. May 19, 1804, he was placed in com. of the frigate "Essex," which joined the squadron in Tunis Bay, and subsequently took com. of the frigate "Constellation;" Apr. 22, 1806, he was made capt., and was employed in superintending the construction of gunboats at New York; in Dec. 1812 Capt. Stewart was again app. to "The Constellation," and proceeded to Hampton Roads, where he assisted in defending Norfolk and Craney Island from the attacks of the enemy; in Dec. 1813 he sailed in com. of frigate "Constitution," in which, in Feb. 1815, he fell in with the British ships of war, "The Cyane" of 34, and "The Levant" of 21 guns, and captured them after a sharp conflict of 40 minutes. "The Levant" was subsequently retaken by a British squadron; but "The Constitution" escaped with her other prize to S. Jago. On his return to America he was received with the highest honors. The legisl. of Pa. presented him with a gold-hilted sword; and a gold medal was ordered to be struck by Congress. He com. the Medit. squadron from 1817 to 1820, when he took com. of the Pacific fleet. On his return home, he was tried by a court-martial, but was honorably acquitted. Member of the board of navy commis. 1830-3, and in 1837 succeeded Barron in com. of the navy-yard at Phila. In 1857 he was placed on the reserved list on account of his advanced age; but in March, 1859, he was replaced on the active list by special legislation; July 16, 1862, he was made a rear-adm. on the retired list. He rendered important service in the organization of the navy, and submitted to the dept. many valuable papers on the subject. A Memoir of Stewart was pub. Phila., 8vo, 1836.

Stewart, Col. CHARLES, Revol. officer; d. N. J. 24 July, 1800. He was an active and influential soldier and patriot. Member of the first N. J. conv., that issued a decl. of rights against the aggressions of the crown; member of its first Prov. Congress; col. of its first regt. of maintenance; col. of its 2d regt. of the line; and from 1776 to the close of the war was commis. gen. of issues.

Stewart, CHARLES JAMES, D. D. (Oxf. 1817), Prot. Ep. bishop of Quebec from Jan. 1, 1826, to his d. Lond., July 13, 1837, b. April 13, 1775. Son of the Earl of Galloway. M. A. of Oxford 1799. Rector of Orton, near Peterborough, 8 years; app. to the mission of St. Armand, in the Eastern Townships, C. E.; in 1819 app. visiting missionary to the diocese of Quebec. Author of "Short View of Eastern Townships in L. C.," 8vo, 1817. — See Life by Rev. J. N. Norton, 1859.

Stewart, CHARLES SAMUEL, D. D. (U. of N. Y. 1863), clergyman, b. Flemington, N. J., 1795, d. Cooperstown, N. Y., 14 Dec. 1870, N. J. Coll. 1815. Grand-son of Col. Charles, and son of Samuel Robert, counsellor-at-law. He studied law at Litchfield; then studied at Princeton Theol. Sem.; and was ord. an evangelist and missionary to the Sandwich Islands in 1822. An account of his residence in the Sandwich Islands in 1823-5 was pub. by him in 1828. Returning home in 1826, he trav. a-d and preached extensively in the Northern States, advocating the cause of missions. App. a chaplain U. S. N. in Nov. 1828, the result of his first cruise was his "Visit to the South Seas in 1829-30," 2v. ols. 1831. He also pub. "Brazil and La Plata," 8vo, 1856; and 2 vols. of "A Tour through England, Scotland, and Ireland in 1832." He held the chaplaincy of the navy station at New York, where he edited the Naval Magazine, in 1836-7. His wife, Harriet Bradford (Tilney) (b. Stamford, Ct., June 24, 1798; m. June 3, 1822), embarked 1 for the Sandwich Islands with her husband and other missionaries, Nov. 19, 1822, d. Sept. 1830. His son CHARLES S. graduated at West Point (first in class) 1846, and is now a lieutenant, in the corps of engs.

Stewart, MAJOR JOHN, Revol. officer, b. Ireland; killed by a fall from his horse near Charleston, S. C. Bro.-in-law of Gen. Wayne, and for his gallantry in the storming of Stony Point was awarded a gold medal by Congress. He com. a corps of light inf., and 31 Aug., 1778, had a severe engagement at Indian Field with Col. Enmenick's command of Tories and Indians. A John Stewart was com. lieut. col. 1st Md. Regt. 10 Feb. 1781.

Stewart, or Stuart, GEN. PHILIP, Revol. officer, b. Va. 1760; d. Washington, D. C., 14 Aug. 1820. He was an officer of Bayard's Dragoons, and was disting. in Col. Washington's cavalry at Entaw, where he led the forlorn hope, and fell covered with wounds. M. C. from Md. 1811-19.

Stewart, ROBERT M., gov. Mo. 1857-61, b. Truxton, Cortland Co., N. Y., 12 March, 1815, d. St. Joseph, Mo., 21 Sept. 1871. When a boy, he emig. to Ky., and in 1838 to Mo., settling in Buchanan Co. He was 10 years a member of the State senate, and a member of the State Const. Conv. of 1845. Entering the Union army in 1861, ill health prevented him from remaining in the service. An efficient promoter of railroads.

Stewart, GEN. WALLER, Revol. officer, b. Ireland. Aide-de-camp to Gen. Gates, and col. 13th Regt. (Pa.) in 1777, and honorably disting. himself in the service. He was one of the handsomest men of his day, and m. 11 April, 1781, Deborah, dau. of Blair McClenahan. He enjoyed the esteem and friendship of Washington, and, after the war, resided in Philadelphia.

Stiles, EZRA, D. D. (Edinb. 1765), LL. D. (N. J. Coll. 1784), clergyman and scholar, b.

North Haven, Ct., Dec. 15, 1727. N. Y. Haven, May 12, 1795. Y. C. 1746, prior 1749-55. His grandfather was brought in a convict to N. E. in 1634. His father Isaac was minister of North Haven. Ezra was licensed and preached his first sermon in June, 1749. Dr. Frank in having sent in a critical paper to the Yale, Mr. Stiles, with one of his school tutors, entered a controversy upon this new field of science, and performed the most of critical experiments ever performed in N. E. and U. In Apr. 1750 he preached at the "Sno. bridge" in France. The high and rigorous doubts caused him to begin the study of law in 1752. He was admitted to the bar in 1757, and practised at N. Haven 2 years. In Feb. 1755 he pronounced a Latin oration in honor of Dr. Franklin on occasion of his visiting New Haven, and was on intimate terms with him till his death, in April, 1755, he was invited to preach at Newport, and soon after became settled there permanently, having conquered his theological doubts; in 1777, when a resident of Portsmouth, whether he removed on the British occupation of Newport, he was a second time invited to the pres. of Yale Coll., which he accepted, and entered upon June 23, 1778, filling this post till his death. After the death of Prof. Daggert in 1780, he discharged the duties of prof. of divinity, besides giving each week one or two dissertations on philosophical or astronomical subjects. Dr. Stiles was an indolent student, a pupil of many Oriental languages, corresp. with the Jesuits on the geography of California with Greek bishops on the physical formation of Palestine and the adjacent countries, and addressed scientific and philological queries to travellers from remote regions. Dr. Stiles was, undoubtedly, one of the purest and best-gifted men of his age. One of his daughters in Rev. Asa Holmes, by whom his life was written and printed in 1798. His life by Prof. Kingsley is in the second series of Sparks's Collection. His chief literary productions are his "History of the Jews of the Jews of King Charles I." 1794; "Account of the Settlement of Bristol," 1755; a funeral oration on Gov. Law, 1754; and on his reelection to his office of president, 1778, in Latin. He wrote many addresses and sermons. One of the latter is an able paper for the union of various N. England denominations. Stiles's Diary and bound manuscripts, preserved at Yale, fill 45 vols., and include numerous important details of the Revolt, of which he was an early and constant promoter. "A Family Taber," Boston, 12mo, 1796, contains poems by the Stiles family. 43 are by Mrs. Ruth Stiles (p. Lonsa?), who in Rev. Charles G. Coffin's "signed" "Epigrams" are by Dr. Ezra Stiles, jun., who d. N. C. Aug. 22, 1783, saved by Mexico. Myra, 3, and 16 are by her husband, Rev. Asa Holmes (p. Myron?).

Stiles, Henry Ripley, M.D. (U. of N. Y. 1855) last writer, b. N. Y. City 10 Mar. 1832. Practised medicine in California, 1856-1871. In Brooklyn, N. Y. Has pub. "History of America at Windsor, Ct." 8vo, 1850; a serial supplement to "The Sun," 8 v., 1858-1860; "The History of Brooklyn, N. Y." 8vo, 1850-57; "Burlington, Vt." 9 v., 1857-62; "Autobiog. of Thos. Douglass," 12mo, 1856. He has edited "The Wallaces of Prison Ship," "Rev. Adventures of Ed. Fox," "Andrew Sherburne's Memoirs," and "Prison-Ship Narrative," and has edited as well as contributed to the N. Y. Hist. Magazine.

Stiles, William H., politician and author, b. Savannah, Ga.; d. there Dec. 20, 1865. He became a lawyer in Savannah in 1831; was solicitor gen. of the eastern dist. of Ga. in 1833-6; M. C. 1843-5; and was deputy deputatus to Austria 1845-9. Served as a col. in the Comed. army. Author of "A History of Austria in 1848-9."

Stillé, ALFRED, M.D. (U. of Pa. 1836) b. Phila. 1811. U. of Pa. 1832. Studied also in Europe. Res. physician Phila. Hospital 1836, Pa. Hospital 1839-41, lecturer on pathology and prac. of med. to Phila. Assoc. for Med. Instruction 1844-50, physician to St. Joseph's Hosp. 1849; prof. of theory and prac. of med. in Pa. Med. Coll. 1854-9, and in U. of Pa. since June 20, 1864. He has pub. "Medical Instruction in the U. S." 8vo, 1845; "Elements of Pathology," 1848; "Report on Med. Literature," 1850; "Essay of Melancholy," 1859; "Humboldt's Life and Char." 1859; "Therapeutics," 2 vols. 8vo, 3d ed., 1868; "War as an Element of Civilization," 1862; "Epidemic Meningitis," 1867. Contrib. to med. and surg. journals. — A. S. M.

Stillé, CHARLES JANEWAY, LL.D., b. Phila. 1819. Y. C. 1819. Prof. of Law, lit., U. of Pa., May 1, 1866, and provost of the same, Sept. 1868. Author of "How a Free People conduct a Long War," 1862; "Northern Inter- and Southern Impediment," 1863; "Hist. Development of Amer. Civilization," and others at Y. C., July 29, 1863; "Hist. U. S. Sanitary Com.," 8vo, 1866; "M. mod. of Rev. Wm. Smith, D.D.," 1869. — A. S. M.

Stillé, MONTROS, M.D., physician and author, b. Phila. Oct. 27, 1822; d. Savannah, N. Y., Aug. 20, 1855. U. of Pa. 1844. His ancestor Olof P. on S. side came with the first Swedish colony to the banks of the D. L. in 1638. He began his medical studies with his bro. Alfred, and, after spending 3 years in Europe, settled in practice in Phila. in 1847. Resident phys. Pa. Hospital 1848-9; resident Euro. in 1850-2; and in Mar. 1855 was supp. lecturer in the Phila. Assoc. for Med. Instruction. Besides many contributions to med. journals, he was joint author with Mr. Wharton of a valuable treatise on med. jurisprudence. — Goss's Med. Lex.

Stillman, SAMUEL, D.D. (B. U. 1788), Baptist gymnast, b. Phila. Feb. 27, 1787; d. Boston, March 12, 1867. In 1748 his parents removed to Charleston, S. C.; and he received his education at an acad. in Chartery. He preached his first sermon, Feb. 17, 1788; was ord. Charleston, Feb. 26, 1789; settled at Jan's Island, but soon returned to Phila., where he m. Hannah, dau. of Evan Morgan. His health occasioned his removal to Bordintown, N. J., in 1790, whence, 2 years afterwards, he came to Boston. After being one year an assist. at the Second Baptist Church, he was installed minister of the First, Jan. 9, 1795, where he continued till his death from a paralytic shock. Mr. Stillman soon became one of the most popular pulpit-orator of his day, and contributed powerfully to the cause of liberty by his patriotic discourses. He was a delegate to the U. S. Const. Conv. in 1788, and was a decided Whig, and a Federalist of the Washington school. He was a tivo in the interests of Brown U., and his name appears in the act of incorporation 1764. A memoir by his son-in-law Thomas Gray, D.D., is prefixed to a vol. of occasional sermon pub. in 1808. Among his pub. discourses are, "On the Repeal of the Stamp Act," 1766; "Four Discourses," 1769; "Ancient and Hon. Art. S. rmon," Jun 4, 1770; "Election S. rmon," May 26, 1779; "Masonic Dis. at Charles-town," June 24, 1785; "Oration," July 4, 1789, Boston; "On the Death of Mary Silliman," his mother, 1768; "Hon. Samuel Ward," Cong. s. rmon, Mar. 26, 1776; "Nicholas Brown of Prov.," May 31, 1791; "Washington," 1800; "Rev. H. Smith," Haverhill, Jan. 31, 1805. — Gen. B. N., ix, 78.

STIRLING, LORD. — See ALEXANDER, Wm.
STIRLING, Sir THOMAS, of Ardoch, a British gen.; d. 9 May, 1798. He obtained his captaincy, in July, 1757, in the 42d, or Royal Highland Regt., which became Abercrombie's in 1758, and Anders't in 1759, in their respective exped. on Lake George and Champlain; was afterwards detailed to assist at the siege of Niagara, and accompany Auferst from Oswego to Montreal in 1760; in 1765 Capt. Stirling was stationed at Fort Charrois in Ill., and returned to Phila. in June, 1766, after a march of more than 3,000 miles, with his entire detachment of 100 men in perfect health, and without accident; app. a major in 1770, and lieut.-col. 42d in Sept. 1771. He com. this regt. throughout the Am. Revol.; was in the engagement on Staten Island, and in the battle of Brooklyn Heights in 1776; at the storming of Fort Washington, the capture of Red Bank, and in the battle of Brandywine; wounded at the battle of Springfield, June 7, 1770. He became a col. in the army in 1779, and was brigadier under Clinton in the exped. against Charleston, S. C., in 1780. He succeeded Lieut.-Gen. Frazer as col. of the 11th Highlanders in Feb. 1782; and in Nov. following became maj.-gen.; in 1796 he was app. lieut.-gen. and created a baronet; and became a gen. Jan. 1, 1801. He was an officer of superior merit.

STITH, Rev. WILLIAM, pres. of Wm. and Mary Coll. 1752-5, b. Va. 1689; d. Williamsburg, Va. 27 Sept. 1755. Son of Capt. John and Mary Randolph, and was a bro.-in-law of P. von Randolph. Studied theol., and ord. in Eng. in 1731; master of the grammar-school of Wm. and M. Coll. 1731, chaplain h. of burgesses 1738, and rector of Henrico parish 1752-5. Author of "History of Va. from the First Settlement to the Dissol. of the Lond. Co.," written in 1745, pub. Williamsburg 1747.

STOBO, Maj. ROBERT, b. Glasgow 1727; d. Ab. 1770. The son of a merchant. Came to Va. ab. 1742; was app. a capt. in 1754; was with Washington at Fort Mifflin when it surrendered in July of that year, and was a hostage for the fulfilment of the articles of capitulation. While at Fort Du Quesne, he drew up a plan of the works, and sent it to the commanding officer at Wills' Creek. His correspondence fell into the hands of the French on the defeat of Gen. Bradlock, and he was imprisoned at Quebec, when, on a kind attempt (in 1758), he succeeded in escaping, and joined the British army at Louisburg. He accompanied it to Quebec, and was useful by his knowledge of localities. He returned to Va., where in 1760 he sailed for Eng.; was made capt. 15th Foot, Jun 5, 1761; served in the W. Indies in 1762; returned to Eng. in 1767; and left the army in 1770. — See Memoirs of N. B. C., Pittsburg, 1854, 1850.

Stockton, RICHARD, signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Princeton, N. J., Oct. 1, 1750. d. near there Feb. 28, 1781. N. J. Coll. 1748. He studied law with David Ogden of New Jersey; was adm. to the bar in 1754, and soon became disting. Visiting Eng. in 1766, he rendered valuable services to N. J. Coll.; and on his return, in 1767, was escorted to his residence by the people, by whom he was much beloved. In 1768 he was made a member of the exec. council of N. J.; in 1774 he was appointed judge of the Sup. Court of N. J.; and was chosen a deleg. to Congress in 1776, in time to participate in the debate on the proposition for independence, though at first doubtful of its policy, he cordially supported it. He was reelected to Congress, where he was an active and influential member. Soon after his return from a mission to the northern army under Schuyler, he was captured by a party of royalists, Nov. 20, 1776, who threw him into prison at New York, and treated him with great severity. Congress interposing, he was exchanged; but he paid a sacrifice to the illusage he had received. The enemy destroyed his library, and devastated his lands. He was unwell at the bar, and refused to engage in any cause which he knew to be unjust, and stood forth in defence of the helpless and humbled.

Stockton, RICHARD, LL. D., lawyer and statesman, son of the preceding, b. Princeton, N. J., April 17, 1764; d. March 7, 1828. N. J. Coll. 1779. In 1796 he was chosen to the U. S. Senate, and in 1813 to the house of representatives; in 1825 he was a commissioner from N. J. to negotiate the settlement of an important territorial controversy with N. Y., and penned the proposed agreement appended to this report. He was a profound lawyer, and an uncommonly eloquent advocate, and, during more than a quarter of a century, was at the head of the bar of New Jersey.

Stockton, ROBERT FRITH, commodore U. S. N., b. Princeton, N. J., 1796; d. there Oct. 7, 1866. A. M. of N. J. Coll. 1820. Secy. of the preceding. He left N. J. Coll. in his 15th year; entered the navy as midshipn. Sept. 1, 1811; received honorable notice for gallantry in several battles; was made Lieut. Dec. 9, 1814; comm. May 27, 1830; capt. Dec. 8, 1838; resigned May 28, 1850. In 1815 he was Lieut. of "The Spire," he disting. himself by boarding with a boat's crew an Algerine vessel. Ordered in 1821 to the coast of Africa, he obtained by treaty from the natives a tract constituting the present republic of Liberia. He also captured many slaves, and a Portuguese privateer, "The Marianna Flora" of 22 guns. On his return, he was successful in breaking up the nests of many W. India pirates. In 1826 '28 he took an active part in parties in favor of Gen. Jackson, and also in anti-slavery efforts in his State. In 1843 he was flag officer of "The Otter" in the Mediterranean. He was one of the first to advocate a steam navy, and "The Princeton," built according to his plans in 1844, furnished the model for numerous other vessels. By the explosion of one of her large guns, Feb. 28, 1844, Com. Stockton was seriously injured. Sent to the Pacific in Oct. 1845, he with 1,500 men, including 600 sailors, in about 6 months conquered the whole of California, and established the authority of the U. S. there. Forming a provisional government to the east in June 1847. The difficulty betw. him and Gen. Kearny in relation to the same, soon there, was subsequently made the subject of a court-martial. U. S. senator in 1851-3, he strenuously opposed intervention in favor of Hungary, and procured the passage of a law for the abolition of flogging in the navy. His life and speeches were pub. N. Y. New York.

Stockton, Thomas, gov. of Del. 1844-6; d. Newark, Del., March 2, 1849. Capt. 3d A. C. S. of 10, 1812; major 4th Inf. Apr. 15, 1814, resigned July 6, 1825.

Stockton, Thomas, H. W. H. S. G. D. D., M. in a company, b. Mt. Holly, N. J., June 4, 1808, d. Phila. Oct. 9, 1868. He wrote for the press at Phila. and studied in Phila.; b. in May, 1829, b. in Providence; in 1830 was stationed at Baltimore; and was chaplain to Congress in 1833, '35 and '37. At Baltimore he compiled the hymn book of the Meth. Prot. Church, and edited the Meth. Student; but, unwilling to submit to restrictions in its discussions of slavery by the Baltimore Conf., he resigned, and went to Phila., where he was pastor and a public lecturer until 1847. He then removed to Cincinnati, where he held the presidency of Mt. St. P. in 1850-61, was assoc. pastor of St. John's Church, Baltimore, and for 33 years was temporary pastor of an assoc. R. F. Presb. Church. In 1856-8 he was pastor of the Church of the New Testament, and performed a considerable literary labor. He had a high reputation for eloquence, and labored with ability in the Christian World and Liberty Bells. He was in the van in all forms of social progress, and a pioneer in the anti-slavery party. He opposed sectarianism, and by voice and pen helped to promote Christian brotherhood and union. His memoirs of Stockton have been pub. by Rev. Alex. Clark, and by Rev. John G. Wilson. He was again chaplain to the U. S. House of representatives in 1859-61, and in 1862 of the U. S. senate. Dr. Stockton pub. a collection of the New Testament in paragraph form, many pamphlets, sermons, and addresses. "Flooding Flowers from a Hidden Brook," 1840; "The Bible Abroad," 1850; "Sermons for the People," 1854; "The Blessing," 1857; "Stand up for Jesus," 1858; "Poems, with Autobiography and Other Notes," 1862.

The Peerless Magnificence of the Word of God, 1862; and "The Meditation of Christ"

Woodbury, Ct., O. L. 26, 1762; d. May 11, 1813. Grandson of Roy Anthony. He was a soldier from 1779 to the close of the war of indep.; then clerk of the Supreme Court in Boston; was a lawyer in Hallowell, Me., in 1792-8, was adj. capt. of mt. June 1, 1798; gov. of Mo. Terr. 1804-5; major June 30, 1807; dep. quarterm. July 16, 1812; dist. ing. and dangerously wounded by a shell in the siege of Fort Mifflin, and died of tetanus. Author of "Sketches of Louisiana," 12mo, 1810, and the "Political Crisis," Lond. His papers are in the archives of the Western Reserve Hist. Soc., Cleveland, Ohio.

Stoddard, Asa, b. Northampton, Aug. 9, 1678, minister of Woodbury, Ct., from May 27, 1702, to his d. Sept. 6, 1760. H. U. 1697. He was clerk of probate 40 years, was the lawyer and physician of his people, and one of the largest farmers in the town. A genealogy of the descendants of Anthony of Boston, by Charles and Elijah W. Stoddard, was pub. N. Y., 8vo, 1865.

Stoddard, Richard Henry, poet, b. Hingham, Ms., July, 1825. His father, a sea-captain, was lost on a voyage to Sweden in the early youth of the son, who, for several years, worked as a non-unionist in New York, in which city he has resided since 1845, holding for some years a post in the custom-house. His health failing he became in 1848 a contributor to the magazines and newspapers. In 1852 he m. Elizabeth Drew (Barstow), a poetess, b. Mattituck, Ms., 1823, author of 3 novels:—"Morgensons," 1862; "Two Men," 1865; "Temple House," 1867. He pub. in 1849 a collection of poems entitled "Footprints." A collection of his mature poems was pub. in Boston in 1852. He has written "Adventures in Fairy-Land," 1853, a series of prose tales: "Songs of Summer" and "Town and Country," a book for children, 1857; "Loves and Heroines of the Poets," 1860; "The King's B. L." 1864; "Pinnac the Brave," 1869; "Life, Travels, and Books of Alexander von Humboldt," 1869; "Abraham Lincoln," an H. U. edition, 1865; "Madrigals," mostly from the old Eng. poets, 1865; "Book of the East," 1871; edited the "Late Eng. Poets," Dec. 1865.

Stoddard, Solomon, clergyman, b. Boston, Oct. 4, 1643; d. Northampton Ms., Feb. 11, 1729. H. U. 1662. He was a fellow and in 1667-72 first librarian, of H. U. During this time, his health being poor he went to Barbadoes as chaplain to Gov. Serle, and for near 2 years preached to dissenters. Called in 1669 to the church at Northampton, he was ord. there Sept. 11, 1672, and remained there till his death. In Feb. 1727, Jonathan Edwards, his grandson, was elected as his colleague; in 1700 he pub. "The Doctrine of Instructed Churches," in answer to T. Mather's "Order of the Gospel," which occasioned an exciting controversy, which was renewed in 1708-9. He pub. some miscellaneous sermons, "A Guide to Christ," 1714, and "The Satire of appearing in the Day of Judgment in the Righteousness of Christ," republished at Etub. in 1792; "The Trial of Assurance," 1696. He was a man of learning, and a very successful preacher.

Stoddard, Amos, soldier and author, b.

His son Col. JOHN d. Boston, June 19, 1748, a. 67. H. U. 1791. He was many years member of the council of Ms., chief justice of C. C. P., and col. of militia. — See His Jour. of Exped. to Canada, 1713-14, in Genl. Reg., Jan. 1851.

Stoddert, BENJAMIN, see U. S. N. 21 May, 1798-26 Jan. 1802; b. Md. 1751; d. Bladensburg, Md., 17 Dec. 1813. A capt. at the battle of Brandywine; afterward a maj. in the Revol. army. Many years extensively engaged in mercantile pursuits in Georgetown, D. C.

Stoever, MARTIN LUTHER, Ph. D. (Ham. 1866), LL. D., b. Germantown, Pa., 17 Feb. 1820; d. Gettysburg, Pa., 22 July, 1870. U. of Pa. 1838. App. in 1839 tutor of Pa. Coll., he was connected with it as tutor, principal of prep. dept., or prof. of Latin, until his death. Author of "Self-Culture," an address, Sept. 14, 1841, Gettysburg; "Life of H. M. Muhlenberg, D. D.," 1856; "Memorial of P. F. Mayer, D. D.," 1859; "Brief Sketch of the Lutheran Church in the U. S.," 1860. Editor Literary Record 1847-8; and co-editor, and from 1862-70 sole editor, of the Evangelical Review; contrib. to periodicals.

Stokes, ANASTASY, d. Lond. 27 Mar. 1799, a. 63. Barrister at law of the Inner Temple, Lond.; from 1768 chief justice, and from 1772 councillor, of Ga., and until its evacuation by the British forces in 1782. Pub. Lond., 1783, "View of the Constitution of the British Colonies in N. A.," &c. A loyalist at the opening of the Revol., he was made a prisoner, but was soon afterward exchanged, and returned to Eng. — Europ. Mon., Aug. 1783.

Stokes, MONTROND, gov. of N. C. 1830-2, b. N. C. 1760; d. Ark. 1842. Served in the Revol. army; several years clerk of the Superior Court, and afterwards of the Senate; U. S. senator 1816-23; State senator 1826; member of the House 1829-30; Indian agent in Ark. from 1831 until his death. His bro. Col. JOHN, a Revol. officer, afterward U. S. dist. judge of N. C., d. Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 1790.

Stone, ANDREW LELTE, D. D. (Amh. Coll. 1861), b. Oxford, Ct., Nov. 25, 1815. Y. C. 1837. Son of Dr. Noah Stone, a physician. Three years a prof. in the N. Y. Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb; at the same time pursuing the study of theology. He then connected himself with the Amer. S. S. Union at Phila.; in Sept. 1844 was ord. pastor of the South Church, Middletown, Ct.; in Jan. 1849 was called to the pastorate of the Park-street Church, Boston; and in 1855 was settled in San Francisco, Cal. He is a very popular preacher, and is deeply interested in the great reforms of the day. Author of "Service the End of Living," 1858; "A-sion's Mothers," 1859; "Discourse on the Death of Abraham Lincoln," 1865; addresses, sermons, &c.

Stone, GEN. CHARLES P., b. Greenfield, Ms., 1826. West Point, 1845. Assist. prof. of ethics, West Point, Aug. 1845-Jan. 1846; brev. 1st lieutenant for gallantry at Molino del Rey Sept. 8, and capt. for Chapultepec Sept. 13, 1847; became 1st lieutenant 26 Feb. 1853; and resigned Nov. 17, 1856. Banker in San Francisco 1856-7; chief comr. under the Mex. gov.

for survey and explor. of public lands in Sonora and L. Cal. 1857-60. Jan. 2, 1861, he was app. by Gen. Scott to organize and com. the militia of the Dist. of Col.; May 14, 1861, he was made col. 14th Inf.; May 28 he was attached to the staff of Gen. McDowell; was soon after assigned to com. a brigade under Gen. Patterson; and was made brig.-gen. vols. May 17, 1861. The troops engaged in the battle of Bull's Bluff, Oct. 21, belonged to his division, and acted under his orders; and, reports unfavorable to his loyalty having been circulated, he was arrested Feb. 9, 1862, and confined in Fort Lafayette. In Aug. 1862 he was released, and ordered to Washington. May 9, 1863, he was ordered to report for duty to Gen. Banks in La.; was engaged in the siege and capture of Fort Hudson; was chief of staff to Gen. Banks, July, 1863-April, 1864; engaged at Bayou Tiehe, Sabine Cross-Roads, and Pleasant Hill; and com. a brigade in 5th corps, Army of Potomac, before Petersburg, Aug. 21, to his resignation 13 Sept. 1864, in 1870 he entered the service of the Khedive of Egypt as brig.-gen. and chief of staff.

Stone, DAVID, judge and senator, b. Bertie Co., N. C., Feb. 17, 1770; d. Raleigh, Oct. 7, 1818. N. J. Coll. 1788. He studied law; rose to a high position at the bar; was 4 years in the State legis.; judge of the Supreme Court in 1795-8; M. C. 1799-1801; U. S. senator 1801-7; gov. of N. C. in 1808-10; and again U. S. senator in 1813-14.

Stone, DAVID MARVIN, editor, and one of the proprietors, of the N. Y. Jour. of Commerce since 1849, b. Oxford, Ct., 23 Dec. 1817. Son of Dr. Noah Stone. At first engaged in mechanical pursuits, he afterwards employed himself in mercantile affairs, and was long a contrib. to various periodicals.

Stone, EDWIN MARRIS, 13 years Cong. pastor at Beverly, Ms., and since 1847 in the ministry at large, Providence, RI; b. Framingham, Ms., 29 Apr. 1805. He pub. "Biog. of Eliban Winchester," 1836; "Hymns for Sab. Schools," 1837; "History of Beverly, Ms.," 1843; "Life of John Howland," 1857; "History of the Providence Association," 1860; "The Architect and Monetarism," 1869; "Hist. Sketches of the Services of R. I. Regts.," &c. (1861-5), pub. in the "Register of R. I. Vols.," 1866; "Hymns and Tunes for Vestry and Conf. Meetings," 6th ed. 1844; "Invasion of Canada in 1775, including the Journal of Capt. S. Thayer, with Notes and Appendix," 1867. Contrib. of hist., educ., theol., and other articles to periodicals, and successively editor of the Boston Times (1827), Indep. Messenger (1832-3), and Sabbath Observer. His son EDWIN WISCHENSTRER, b. Beverly, Ms., 30 Sept. 1835, served in the 1st R. I. Art. in the Rebellion; was a war corresp. of the Proc. Journal, and pub. "Rhode Island in the Rebellion," 1864, 2d ed. 12mo, 1865.

Stone, JOHN AUGUSTUS, actor and dramatist, b. Concord, Ms., 1801; d. Phila. June 1, 1834, having drowned himself in the Schuylkill in a fit of derangement. He made his début in Boston as Orl Naval in the play of "Douglas;" acted in N. Y. City in 1826, and in Phila. at intervals afterwards. He produced "Metamora," for which Mr. Forrest paid him $500, and "The Ancient Briton," for which he received from the same source $1,000, the "Bunker de Rouen," "La Reine the Regicide," the "Demagogue," "Tamerol," and other pieces. — Dupont.

Stone, JOHN HASKISS, gov. of Md. 1794-7; d. Annapolis, Oct. 5, 1804. While young, and at an early period of the Revolutionary war, he was the first capt. in Smallwood's regt.; was made col. in Dec. 1776; and resigned Aug. 1, 1779. He distinguished himself at the battles of Long Island, White Plains, Princeton, and Germantown, in the last of which he received a wound which disabled him from further service. In 1781 he became a clerk in the office of R. R. Livingston, sec. of foreign affairs; was subsequently a member of the exec. council of Maryland.

Stone, JOHN SELLY, D.D., Epis. divine, b. W. Stockbridge, Ms., 1795. Un. Coll. 1823. Rector of Christ Ch., Brooklyn, and of St. Paul's Ch., Boston, 1832-41; some years lecturer in the Phila. Div. School, and since July, 1867, dean of the Theol. Sem., Cambridge, Ms. Author of "The Mysteries Opened," 1844; lectures on the Christian Sabbath, 1867; "The Church Universal," 1846, enlarged to "The Living Temple," 1866; "The Contrast," &c., 1853; "Life of James Milnor, D.D.," &c., 1848; "Life of Bishop Griswold," &c., 1844.

Stone, LUCY, reformer, b. West Brookfield, Ms., 1818. She grad. at Obedin Coll., where her oratorical talent decided her vocation. On her return to N. Eng. she became an agent of the Am. Anti-Slavery Society, lecturing alternately to the slave and woman. In 1855 she was married to Henry B. Blackwell, retaining her own name. "She was the first speaker who really stirred the nation's heart on the subject of woman's wrongs." She was prominent in all the early nat. conventions, as she was sec. of the woman's-rights organization for many years. She left her retirement in the spring of 1867, and travelled through Kansas speaking to large audiences, and in the following winter lectured on suffrage for woman in Ct. Ms., N.J., and N.Y. She has an intellectual face, and a soft, clear, and musical voice.

Stone, SAMUEL, minister, b. Hartford, Eng., d. Hartford, Ct., July 20, 1663. Emanuel Coll., Cambridge, 1623-7. He came to America to escape persecution, with Mr. Cotton and Mr. Hooker, in 1633; was an assistant to the latter, Oct. 11, 1633-47; removed with him to Hartford in 1636; and was his successor in the ministry for 16 years. Eminent as a controversialist, and celebrated for wit and good humor. The latter part of his life was embittered by theological disputes, which led to a divided church. He left in MS. a body of divinity much esteemed by theol. students, and a continuation of the Antinomians.

Stone, THOMAS, a signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Pomton Manor, Charles Co., Md., 1743; d. Port Tobacco, Md., Oct. 5, 1787. Descended from William Stone, gov. of the state during Cromwell's protectorate. He received his academic education under the care of a Scotch tutor; afterwards studied law in Annapolis under Thos. Johnson, and engaged in practice at Fredericktown, Md., at the age of 21; and in 1771 removed to Charles Co. Member of Congress 1775-9 (foremost among the champions of his country's rights and honor at that trying period), and again in 1783-4, and pres. pro tem. He strongly favored the establishment of independence, served on several committees, including that charged to prepare a plan of confederation, and was app. a deleg. from Md. to the conv. of 1787 which formed the Const. of the U.S.; but domestic circumstances compelled him to decline. Repeatedly a member of the Md. senate during the intervals of his congressional service.

Stone, WILLIAM LITTLE, author and editor, b. New Paltz, N.Y., Apr. 2, 1792; d. Saratoga Springs, Aug. 15, 1844. Son of Rev. Wm. Stone. Removed to Cooperstown 1809, where he assisted his father in the care of a farm, but at the age of 17 became a printer in a newspaper-office. In 1813 he became editor of the Herkimer American, and subsequently edited a polit. newspaper at Hudson, then at Albany, afterwards at Hartford, and from 1821 until his death was one of the props. and editor of the N.Y. Commercial Advertiser. Col. Stone also edited while at Hudson the Livingston, a lit. periodical, disting. for its pleasantry and wit; in 1834 he pub. two vols. of "Facts and Sketches," in 1832 "Letters on Masonry and Anti-Masonry," "Mathias and his Impostors," 1835; in 1836 "Ups and Downs in the Life of a Gentleman," a satire on the follies of the day; Memoirs of Blandt, 1838, and of Red Jacket, 1841; "Life of Frazar," "History of Wyoming," 1840; "Border Wars of the Amer. Revol.," 2 vols. 1834; "Maria Monk," &c., 1836; Letters on Annal Magneton, 1837. He had completed the collection and arrangement of the materials for an extended memoir of Sir Wm. Johnson at the time of his death, since completed and pub. by his son. For some years he had been supr. of common schools in N.Y. City, and did much for the cause of education. His son WILLIAM LITTLE, Jun. (b. N.Y. City, 1815; Brown U. 1837), has published "Guide to Saratoga Springs," 1866; "History of N.Y. City," 8vo, 1868. "Life of Sir Wm. Johnson," 2 vols. 8vo, 1865. Is engaged on a "History of the Six Nations," and has contrib. to the magazines. Ed. of Gen. Boscawen's Memoirs, from the German of Von E.cking, 2 vols. 8vo, 1868.

Stone, WILLIAM MERRILL, D.D. (U of Pa. 1830), Pr. Ep. bishop of Md. (consec. 21 Oct. 1830), b. Somerset Co., Md., 1779; d. near Salisbury, Md., Feb. 26, 1838. He was educated at Washington Acad., on the Eastern Shore; ord. deacon 1802, and ministered for many years in his native parish with ability and success. Bishop Stone was remarkable for the meekness, humility, and simplicity of his character. He pub. a charge, 1831; pastoral letter, 1835, and a sermon, 1835.

Stoneman, GEORGE, br. v. major-gen. U.S.A., b. Bush, Chautauqua Co., N.Y., Aug. 8, 1822. West Point, 1846. Entering the 1st Dragoons, he acted as quartermaster to the Mormon battalion at Santa Fe, and sent with it to Cal. in 1847; capt. 3 Mar. 1855; in 1861, being in com. of Fort Brown, Texas, he refused to obey the order of his superior, Gen. Twiggs, for the surrender of the gov't. property to the secessionists, chartered a steamer, evacuated the fort, and arrived at N.Y. March 15; May 9 he was made maj. 4th Cav., and served in Western Va. as insp.-gen. until Aug. 13, when he became brig.-gen. vols., chief of cav., and highly efficient in organizing that arm of the service. After the evacuation of Yorktown by the Confeds., his com. of cav. and flying art. pursued and overtook them, and thus brought on the battle of Williamsburg, May 5, 1862. After the second battle of Bull Run, he took com. of the division of Kearny; succeeded Hantzman as com. of the 3d army corps, which he led at Fredericksburg 13 Dec. 1862; maj.-gen. Nov. 20, 1862; com. cav. corps in raid towards Richmond, Apr. 13-May 2, 1863; and com. 2d corps, Jan.-Apr. 1864. On the reorganization of the armies operating against Richmond by Gen. Grant, Gen. Stoneman was app. to com. the cavalry corps in the dept. of the Ohio; was engaged in the operations of the Atlanta campaign to July 31, 1864, when he was captured at Clinton, Ga., while on a raid to Andersonville; com. raid to Southwest Va. in Dec. 1864; com. dist. of E. Tenn. Feb.-Mar. 1865; com. exped. to Ashville, N.C., Mar.-Apr. 1865, and engaged at Wytheville; capture of Salisbury, N.C., and Asheville. Brev. brig.-gen. and maj.-gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865 for capture of Charlotte, N.C., and service during the Rebellion; lieut.-col. 3d Cav. Mar. 20, 1864; col. 21st Inf. July 28, 1866; retired 1871. — Civilian.

Storer, David Humphreys, M.D. (H.U. 1825), naturalist, b. Portland, Me., 1804. Bowd. Coll. 1822. Author of "Gemma, Species, &c., of Recent Shells," 1837; "Ichthyology, &c., of Me.," 1839; "Fishes of N.A.," 1846; "Fishes of Me.," 1853. Contrib. to scient. journals.

Storer, Francis Humphreys, prof. of chemistry in Ms. Institute of Technology, b. Boston 1822. H.U. Scient. School, 1855. Author of "Alloys of Copper and Zinc," 1859; "Manufact. of Paraffin Oils," 1860; "Solubilities of Chemical Substances," 1864; with C. W. Eliot, "Manual of Inorganic Chemistry," 1866; and a "Manual of Qualitative Chem. Analysis."

Storer, George W., rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Portsmouth, N.H., 1789; d. there 8 Jan. 1861. Nephew of Col. Tobias Lear. Midshipm. 16 Jan. 1803; lieut. 24 July, 1813; com. 24 Apr. 1828; capt. 9 Feb. 1837; rear-adm. (retired list) 16 July, 1862. Com. the squad off Brazil 1818; com. sloop-of-war "Boston," in Mediterranean, 1831; com. frigate "Potomac," coast of Brazil, 1838-43; governor naval asylum 1855-8.

Storer, Horatio Robinson, M.D. (H.U. 1853), prof. of obstetrics and med. jurispr. in Berkshire Med. Coll., Ms., b. Boston 1830. H.U. 1850. Author (with F. F. Heard) of "Criminal Abortion in America;" "Why Not a Book for Every Woman;" 1866; "Is it a Book for Every Man;" "Decrease in the Rate of Increase of Population in Europe and America," 1867; "Nurses and Nursing," 1868; co-editor of the Journal of the Gynecological Soc. of Boston, 1863; and contrib. to scientific journals. — Albion.

Storrs, Charles Barker, first pres. of the West. Res. Coll., O., b. Longmeadow, Ms. 15 May, 1794; d. Braintree, Ms., Sept. 15, 1833. N.J. Coll.; And. Theol. Sem. 1820. Son of Rev. Richard S. Ord. 3 Jan. 1821, and preached at Ravenna, O., from 1822 to Mar. 1828, when he was chosen prof. of Christ. theol. in the W. Res. Coll., and in 1831 pres. — Specops.

Storrs, Henry Randolph, lawyer, b. Middletown, Ct., 1787; d. New Haven, July 29, 1837. Y.C. 1804. Adm. to the bar in 1807; practised first at Champion, Jed Co., N.Y., and afterward at White-town and Utica, N.Y.; M.C. in 1819-21, 1823-31; and subsequently removed to N.Y. City, where he soon rose to high distinction in his profession. He was 5 years first judge of Oneida County.

Storrs, Richard Sailer, D.D. (Wms. Coll. 1835), son of Richard S. (minister of Longmeadow, Ct., from 1785 to his d. Oct. 3, 1819, a. 54), b. Feb. 1787. Wms. Coll. 1807. Pastor 1st Cong. Church, Braintree, Ms., since 1811. He pub. "Memoir of Rev. Samuel Green, 12mo, Bo-t., and some 20 single sermons. Edited Boston Recorder; co-editor of the Congregationalist; and contrib. to the Panoplist, Home Monthly, &c.

Storrs, Richard Sailer, Jun., D.D. (Un. Coll. 1853), el. gymna. b. Braintree, Ms., Aug. 21, 1821. And. Coll. 1839; And. Theol. Sem. 1845. His father and grandfather of the same name were disting. clergymen. 22 Oct. 1845 he was ord. pastor of the Harvard Cong. Church, Brookline, Ms., and in 1846 of the Church of the Pilgrims, Brooklyn, N.Y., which position he still retains. He was assoc. editor of the Ind. Standard at its commencement in 1848. He has pub., besides sermons, orations, and addresses, "Graham Lectures on the Wisdom, Power, and Goodness of God," 1856; "Life and Letters of Rev. Daniel Temple," 12mo, 1855; and an elaborate report on the revision of the English version of the Bible, undertaken by the Bible Society some years since; and articles in Bibliotheca Sacra and New-Englander. For specimens of his writings, see "The Amer. Pulpit," 1856, 401-20; "Pulpit Eloquence of the 19th Century," 1857, 485-500.

Storrs, William Leitch, LL.D. (W. Res. Coll. 1846), jurist, bro. of H. R., b. Middletown, Ct., Mar. 25, 1795; d. Hartford, June 25, 1861. Y.C. 1814. He studied at Whites-town, N.Y., and was adm. to the bar in 1817. He soon after went to Middletown, where he practised until 1840. He was a member of the State Assembly 1827-9 and 1834, and was speaker in 1834; M.C. in 1829-33 and 1839-40; app. assoc. judge of the Supreme Court of Errors in Ct. in June, 1840, and chief justice in 1856. In 1846-7 he was prof. of law in Yale College.

Story, Isaac, poet, b. Marblehead, Aug. 25, 1774; d. there July 19, 1803. H.U. 1793. Son of Rev. Isaac Story, and grandson of Rev. Simon Bradstreet. His father, minister of Marblehead (1771-1800; N.J. Coll. 1768), d. there Oct. 1816, a. 67. He practised law at Castine, where he also edited the Journal, and at Rutland, Worcester, Co., Ms. Of his writings for periodicals, some were pub in the Farmers' Museum. He wrote a vol. under the signature of "The Traveller," much of which appeared in the Constitutional Centinel. A vol. entitled "The Parnassian Shop, by Peter Quince," Boston, 1801, was in imitation of Peter Pinlar. In 1792 he pub. at Marblehead "An Epistle from Yarioc to Inkl;" in verse; "Consolatory Odes," 12mo, 1799. In 1800 he delivered a eulogy on Washington at Sterling, Ms., where he then resided; and in 1801 he delivered a Fourth-July oration at Worcester, which was published. Judge Joseph Story was a kinsman.

Story, JOSEPH, LL.D., jurist, b. Marblehead, Ms., Sept. 18, 1779; d. Cambridge, Sept. 10, 1845. H U, 1798. His father Dr. Elisha was a surgeon in the Revol. army. At the university, Joseph was disting. for his poetical talent. He studied law with Samuel Sewall, and afterwards with Samuel Putnam; was adm. to the bar in July, 1801, and began practice at Salem. In 1804 he pub. a vol. of poems containing "The Power of Solitude." In 1805-8 he was a member of the legisl., and a leader on the republican side; M C. in 1808-9, separating himself from the administration on the question of continuing the embargo, which he strenuously opposed; speaker of the Ms. house in 1811, and from Nov. 18, 1811, to his death, was assoc. judge of the U.S. Supreme Court, a position for which he was eminently qualified, and in which he not only won great fame as a judge, but achieved both a European and American reputation as a jurist. In the State Const. Conv. of 1820, Judge Story was a very useful member. Dane professor of law in H U from 1820 until his death. In his constitutional views he was of the school of Washington and Marshall. His juridical works evince extraordinary learning, luminous expositions, and profound views of the science of law. They include a commentary on the Constitution; "Conflict of Laws," treatises on the law of bailments, agencies, bills of exchange and promissory notes, partnership, and commentaries on equity jurisprudence and equity pleadings. Judge Story possessed great colloquial powers. His "Miscellaneous Writings" were pub. in s.v.o. 1854; a Life, by his son William Story, was pub. 2 vols. s.v.o. 1851. He received the degree of LL.D. from Harvard, Brown, and Dartm. Colleges. His commentaries and his written judgments in his circuit make 27 vols., and his judgments in the Supreme Court form an important part of 34 volumes more.

Story, WILLIAM WELMORE, son of the preceding, poet and artist, b. Salem, Feb. 19, 1819. H U, 1838. He studied law under his father's auspices; was a frequent contrib. in prose and verse to the Boston Messenger; and has pub. "Reports of Cases in the U.S. Circuit Court for the First Circuit," 2 vols., 1842-5; and "A Treatise on the Law of Contracts not under Seal," 1844; "A Treatise on the Law of Sales of Personal Property," 1847; "The American Question," 1862; "Roma di Roma," 1862; "Proportions of the Human Figure," 1866; "Grafting of Italia," 1869; and a poem entitled "The Roman Lawyer in Jerusalem," 1870. In 1844 he delivered the Phi Beta Kappa poem at H U. "Nature and Art." He pub. a volume of poems in 1847 and in 1856, and "Life and Letters of Joseph Story," 1851. He has resided since 1848 in Italy, and is disting. as a sculptor. Among his admired works are "Cleopatra," "The Sibyl," "Delilah," "Shepherd Boy," "Little Red Riding-Hood," "Medea," "Sappho," "Sappho," statues of his father, of Josiah Quincy and George Peabody, and a bust of James Russell Lowell. He is also an accomplished musician.

Stoughton, COL. ISRAEL, an early settler of Dorchester; d. Lincoln, Eng., 1645. A lin. freeman, Nov. 1633; member of the first Gen. Court, convened May, 1634, and again in 1635, '36, and '37; disabled from holding office for 3 years for publishing a pamphlet denying to the gov. and assistants some of the powers they claimed, but restored in 1636. In May, 1637, he had com. of the Ms. troops sent against the Pequots; capt. of the Art. Co. 1642, a comm. to administer the gov. of N H in 1641; assist. in 1637-42, and again in 1644. He was in Eng. in 1642, and returning in 1644, served as lieut.-col. of Rainsborough's regt. until his d. He was a large land-owner of Dorchester, and gave 300 acres of land to Harv. College.

Stoughton, WILLIAM, statesman, b. 30 Sept. 1631; d. Dorchester, July 7, 1701. H U, 1650. Son of the preceding. He studied theology, went to Eng., and was a fellow of New Coll., Oxford, but was ejected at the Restoration. Returning to N E. in 1662, he acquired a high reputation as a preacher, his sermon at the annual election in 1668 being pronounced one of the best ever heard on the occasion. Declining all invitations to a settlement as pastor, he was an assist. from 1671 until the dissolution of the gov. in 1686; from 1676 to 1679 he was in Eng. as agent for the Colony. Elected assist. and gov. May 12, 1686, he refused to serve, inasmuch as Dudley was left out in compliance to him. He was chief justice from July 26 to Dec. 20, 1686, and a justice, and a member of Andros's council until Apr. 1689, when he was one of the "Council of Safety" which wrested the gov. from that officer; from May, 1692, until his death, he was lieut. gov. of Ms., and chief justice of the Superior Court from Dec. 22, 1692, until just before his death. His name is unfortunately connected with the witchcraft persecution, he being the chief justice of the special tribunal on that occasion. He was a generous and liberal benefactor of H. Coll., and left a tract of land for the support there of students, natives of Dorchester, and another tract for the benefit of schools.

Stoughton, GEN. WILLIAM L., lawyer, and M C. 1860-71, b. N Y., 20 Mar., 1827. Scitised in the practice of law in Stoughton, Mich., in 1851; prose. atty. 1856-60; app. U.S. dist. atty. 1861. Col. 11th Mich. Regt. 1862, and disting. at Stone River, Dec. 31-Jan. 2, 1863; afterwards com. a brigade at Chickamauga, Mission Ridge, and at Atlanta, where he lost a leg; brev. maj.-gen. U.S. vols.; atty.-gen. of Mich. 1866-8.

Stow, Byron, D.D., Baptist clergyman, b. Croydon, N.H., June 16, 1801; d. Boston, Dec. 27, 1869. Col. Coll., D.C., 1825. After editing the Colubian Star, a religious newspaper, for 2 years, at Washington, he was ord., Oct. 24, 1827, over the church in Portsmouth, N.H.; in 1832 became pastor of the Baldwin-place Church; and from 1848 to 1867 of the Rowe-street Church, Boston. He was many years prominent in the Baptist Missionary Union; pres. of the trustees of the Newton Theol. Institution. Besides sermons, he pub. "Duly Manna for Christian Pilgrims," 1848; "Christian Brotherhood;" "The Psalmist," 1849; "First Things," 1859; "History of the Danish Missions on the Coast of Greenland;" "Memento of Harriet Dow;" "History of the English Baptist Mission to India;" "Discourse at the 100th Anniv. Babw, Pl. Ch., 27 July, 1843; also many articles in reviews and periodicals.

Stowe, Calvin Ellis, D.D., clergyman, b. Natick, Ms., April 26, 1802. Bowd. Coll., 1824. And. Theol. Sem., 1826. He was for two years an assist. to Prof. Stuart, and at the same time assist. editor of the Boston Recorder. In 1830 he became prof. of languages in Dartm. Coll.; and was prof. of biblical lit. in Lane Sem., Cincinnati, 1835-50. He lectured and wrote off. cravely on the school system of Ohio. On his return from Europe in 1837 he pub. his report on "Elementary Education in Europe." He subsequently pub. reports on the "Education of Immigrants," "The Course of Instruction in the Primary Schools of Prussia," and on "Elementary Instruction in Prussia." In 1850 he became divinity prof. at Bowd. Coll., and in 1852-64 was prof. of sacred lit. in And. Theol. Sem. He pub. "History of the Hebrew Commonwealth, from the Geiman of John," 1828; "Catholicism and Interpretation of the Bible," 1835; "Origin and History of the Books of the Bible," 1867. He m. Harriet, dau. of Lyman Beecher, in 1832.

Stowe, Harriet Elizabeth Beecher, author, dau. of Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher, b. Litchfield, Ct., June 15, 1812. One of a family of 12, which, out of 10 survivors, has given to literature 8 authors of more or less repute. Mrs. Stowe had the advantage of intellectual companionship and strict moral training from infancy. From her 15th year she was associated with her elder sister Catharine at a successful female sem. she had established at Hartford in 1822. In her 21st year she m. Rev. Calvin E. Stowe. During a long residence in Cincinnati, she became interested in the question of slavery. She pub. in 1840 a collection of moral tales, "The Mayflower, or Sketches of the Descendants of the Pilgrims." Her great work, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," originally appeared in the Northwestern Era, an anti-slavery paper at Washington, and was pub. Boston, 1852. It has been translated into 9 different languages, and has been dramatized in 20 different forms, and acted in every capital in Europe, and in most of those of the U.S. She subsequently pub. "A Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin." She soon afterward, in company with her husband, and Rev. Charles Beecher her bro., visited Great Britain, where she was favorably received. After her return she pub. "Sunny Memories of Foreign Lands;" and in 1861 "The Minister's Wooing," originally pub. in the Atlantic Monthly. She has also pub. "Dred, a Tale of the Old-time Swamp," 1856; "Agnes of Sorrento," 1862; "The Pearl of Orr's Island," "The May Flower, and Miscellaneous Writings," 1855; "House and Home Papers," 1864; "The Chimney Corner," a series of essays in the Atlantic Monthly, 1865-6; "Little Foxes," 1865; "Queer Little People," 1867; "Oldtown Folks," 1869; "Men of Our Times," 1868; "True Story of Lady Byron's Life," in Atlantic Monthly, Sept., 1869; "Lady Byron Vindicated," 1870; "Pink and White Tyranny," 1871; "My Wife and I," 1872. In Dec., 1868 she became co-editor with D. G. Mitchell of "Heath and Home," a magazine. Mr. and Mrs. Stowe now reside in Hartford.

Strachan, Jons, D.D., LL.D., bishop of Toronto, b. Aberdeen, Apr. 12, 1778; d. Toronto, Nov. 1, 1867. U. of Aberdeen, 1796. He studied theology at St. Andrew's; taught a village school in 1797; and in Aug., 1799 came to Canada, and taught school at Kingston till ord. deacon, May 2, 1803; priest, June 3, 1804; and app. to the mission of Cornwall, where he taught a grammar-school. In 1812 he was app. rector of York; in 1818 exec. councillor; archdeacon of York in 1825; and in 1830 bishop of Toronto. From the year 1818, he took an active part in politics; and a bitter strife arose between his party on the one side, and that of W. L. Mackenzie on the other, out of which the rebellion in Upper Canada of 1837-8 arose. He pub. 70 essays in the Kingston Gazette in 1811 under the name of "Rockner," also a number of letters and other pamphlets. He received the degree of LL.D. from the U. of St. Andrew's, and that of D.D. from the U. of Aberdeen, in 1807. Among the many benefits he conferred upon Toronto was the establishment of Trinity College.

Strachey, William, first sec. to the Colony of Va., where he resided 1610-12; was shipwrecked on the Bermudas 1609. He pub. for the Colony in Va. "Laws, Divine, Morall, and Martiall," 4to, 1612; "History of Travaille into Va.," &c., pub. by the Hakluyt Soc., and the second book in Mass. Hist. Colls., 4th ser. i.

Strader, Capt. Jacob, a pioneer in the steamboats and railroads of the West, b. N.J. 1795; d. Cincinnati, Aug. 28, 1860.

Strain, Louis Isaac G., U.S.N., explorer, b. Roxbury, Franklin Co., Pa., 1821; d. Aspinwall, May 15, 1857. In 1845, while a midshipman, he led a small party to explore the interior of Brazil, in 1848 he explored the peninsula of Cal.; in 1849 he crossed from Valparaiso to Buenos Ayres, and wrote a narrative entitled "The Cordillera and Parapa." "Sketches of a Journey in Chili and the Argentine Provinces," in 1849. He was in 1850 attached to the Mexican Boundary Commission, and later more known as the leader of the expedition across the Isthmus of Darien. An interesting account of this journey was prepared from his materials by J. T. Hodder, and pub. in Happell's Mon. 1855. In 1856, in the steamer "Arctic," he ascertained by soundings the practicability of laying an ocean telegr. cable between America and England.

Strange, Bonier, E. D. (Rutg. 1840), jurist and senator, b. Va. Sept. 20, 1796; d. Feb. 25, 1854. Hamp. Sol. Coll. He studied law, was with some interruptions a member of the N. C. house of delegates from 1821 to 1826; judge of the Superior Court 1826-36; and U. S. senator in 1836-40. He resumed his profession, and subsequently became solicitor of the 5th jud. circuit of the State. Author of: "Tom Tuski, or the Cherokee Chief," a novel.

Stratton, Charles C., b. N. J. 1796; d. Gloucester Co., N. J., March 30, 1859. Rutg. Coll. 1814. Many years in the State legis.; M. C. 1817-9, and 1841-3; member Const. Conv. 1844; and gov. of N. J. 1844-8.

Stratton, Charles S. — See TOM THUMB.

Street, ALBERT BEELINGS, poet, b. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 18, 1811. Descended from Rev. Nicholas, pastor of the first church in New Haven. His father Randall S., an eminent lawyer, d. Monticello, N. Y., in 1841. Alfred was educated at the Dutchess Co. Acad.; studied law in the office of his father; practised a few years in Monticello, and since 1839 has resided in Albany, where he has been for some years State attorney. He commenced his literary career at an early age as a poetical writer for the magazines. His first vol., "The Burning of Schenectady, and Other Poems," was pub. 1842; a 2d vol., "Drawings and Tintings," 1844. His longest public poem, "Frontenac, a Poem of the François in 1696," Lond. 1849. Besides his numerous pieces in periodicals, he has delivered three very able poems before the students of Geneva and Union Colleges, from the latter of which he received in 1841 the hon. degree of A. M. An edition of his poems was pub. in N. Y. in 1847, and another in 2 vols., 1866. In 1859 he pub. two prose vols., "The Council of Revision," a history of the courts of N. Y., with biogr. sketches of its governors and judges, from 1777 to 1821; "Woods and Waters, or the Stranges and Rackets," a tour in the great wilderness of Northern N. York; in 1864 "Forest Pictures in the Adirondacks;" in 1866 "The Indian Pass," 1869. Some of his poems have been translated into German.

Street, AUGUSTUS RUSSELL, philanthropist, b. N. Haven, Nov. 5, 1791; d. there June 12, 1860. Y. C. 1812. He studied law, but finally abandoned his pursuing the profession. Inheriting a large fortune, he gave freely to benevolent objects. His Anna Maria Society nearly $300,000; he founded the Street professorship of modern languages, created the first chair for the Yale School of Fine Arts, providing for its partial endowment, and also of a valuable legacy for ultimately founding the Latin Street professorship in the Yale Theol. Sem. He was an invalid the greater part of his life. In 1843-8 he travelled abroad. A plan in Admiral Hood, and d. 1860 = Y. C. Obit., 1861.

Stribling, CONSULUS K., naval architect U. S. N. S. C. M. 1840; June 18, 1812; d. there Apr. 1, 1818; com. Jun. 24, 1810; com. Aug. 1, 1811; com. July 16, 1812; resigned com. Oct. 7, July 25, 1861. He was in the Mercury, in which the Agassiz was were captured in 1815; com. in April, 1823, two barges on the coast of Cuba, and returned the private schooner "Pilot," commanded ship "Ohio," Pacific squadron, 1848-50; supt. Naval Acad. 1850-3; command. d. E. I. squad. 1859-61; com. Phila. navy yard 1861-4; com. Eastern Gulf block. squadron 1864-5; member high house board 1867-71. — Har. Assn.

Stricker, G. S. JONES, b. Md.; d. Baltimore, June 23, 1825. A patriot of the Revol.; he was also brig.-gen., commanding 3d brigade Md. militia in defense of Baltimore, in 1814 and disting. in battle of North Point. Pres. of the Bank of Baltimore at his death.

Strickland, LEWIS, COL. SAMUEL C. M., bro. of Agnes Strickland, b. Eng. 1802; emigr. to Canada 1825; d. Lakeland, U. C., 1867. Author of "27 Years in Canada West," London, 2 vols., 1857.

Strickland, WILLIAM, architect, b. Phila. 1787; d. Nashville, Tenn., 7 Apr. 1854. He studied under Latrobe; established his reputation by planning the Chesnut-street Massoco Hall; and for many years was employed on the public buildings of Phila., among them the U. S. Bank, the Merchants' Exchange, the U. S. Mint, and the U. S. Naval Assn. His last great work was the capitol, Nashville, Tenn., begun in 1845, completed in 1857. In 1825 he examined the canal and railway systems of England, and on his return superintended the building of the railroad between Newcastle and Frenchtown, Md. Member Roy. Soc. of Civil Eng'rs, and of Amer. Philos. Soc. — T. A. S.

Strickland, WILLIAM P. D. D., clergyman and author, b. Pittsburg Pa., Aug. 17, 1800. Educated at the Ohio U. Entered the itinerant ministry of the M. E. Church, O., in 1812; was for some years agent and secy. of the Amer. Bible Society. Removing to N. York in 1836, he has since been connected with the Meth. Book Concern, and assoc. ed. of American Board Jour. In 1862 he was chairman of the 48th N. Y. Regt. at Port Royal, S. C. He has pub. "History of the American Bible Society," 1849; "History of Methodist Missions," 1850; "Genius and Mission of Methodism," 1851; "Christianity Demonstrated," 1852; "Memoir of Rev. James B. Finley," 1853; "A Treatise on Biblical Literature," 1853; "The Light of the Temple," a Masonic work, 1854; "The Astrologer of Chaldea," 1855; "Pioneers of the West," 1856; "Life and Times of Francis Asbury," 1858; "Life of Jacob Gruber," 1859, and "Old Mackinaw," 1860. He has edited the Western Messenger, the Western Liberator, and has contributed to several magazines, and to Appleton's "New Cyclopaedia."

Stringer, SAMUEL, physician, b. Md. 1734; d. Albany July 11, 1817. He studied medicine in Phila. under Dr. Boerhaave, was in 1755 sent by Gov. Surry to the medical dept. of the army, and was in the campaign of 1758 at Fort Mifflin. After the war he settled as a druggist in Albany. In 1775-7 he was director-gen. of hospitals in the northern dept., and as emp. of troops in the invasion of Canada. Resuming practice at Albany, he was until his death one of the first physicians and surgeons in that vicinity. — T. A. S.

of the doctrine of future punishment, 1796. He was also editor of the Evang. Mag.; principal founder of the missionary soc. of Ct. in 1798. He possessed great shrewdness and wit as well as strong common sense.

Strong, NEHEMIAH, prof. of mathematics at Y.C. 1770-81; b. Northampton, 24 Feb. 1730; d. Bridgeport, Ct., 12 Aug. 1807. Y.C. 1755; tutor there 1757-60. Minister of Simsbury, now Granby, 21 Jan. 1761-8. He pub. "Astronomy Improved," 1784.

Strong, SIMON, LL.D. (H.U. 1805), jurist, b. Northampton, 6 Mar. 1736; d. Amherst, Dec. 14, 1805. Y.C. 1756. He was several years a preacher; but his health not permitting his continuance in that employment, he studied law; was adm. to the bar in 1761, and became eminent in the profession. Representative 1767-9; senator 1793; and in 1801-5 was a judge of the Ms. Sup. Court. — See Panoplist for 1812, 433-6.

Strong, THEODORE, LL.D. (Rutg. Coll. 1835), mathematician, b. S. Hadley, Ms., 26 July, 1790; d. N. Brunswick, N.J., Feb. 1, 1869. Y.C. 1812. Son of Rev. Joseph (Y.C. 1784). On quitting Yale, he was tutor in Ham. Coll., N.Y., 1812-16, and in 1816-27 prof. of mathematics and nat. philos., changing in 1827 the scene of his labors to Rutg. Coll., New Brunswick, where he continued until 1862. In 1859 he pub. his "Treatise on Algebra," — a work original in its method and in many of its conclusions. He succeeded in solving by a direct method the Irreducible Case of Cubic Equations left by Cardan, which had baffled the best mathematicians of Europe; and he also discovered a method of extracting by a direct process, for the first time, any root of any integral number. At the time of his death he had prepared for the press a vol. on the Differential and Integral Calculus. He pub. many mathematical papers in Simsbury's Journal. An orig. member of the Nat. Acad. of Arts and Sci. news.

Strong, TITUS, D.D., Pr-Epis. clergyman, b. Brighton, Ms., Jan. 26, 1787; d. June 11, 1855. Leaving the trade of a printer, he engaged early in politics. Becoming a decided churchman, he was ord. deacon in 1814, priest in 1826, and labored in Greenfield, Ms., to the close of his life. His "Candid Examination of the Pr-Epis. Church" is one of the most efficient productions of its class. He also pub. the "Scholar's Guide," besides preparing several elementary books for common schools, and frequently contributing to the periodical press.

Stroud, GEORGE McDOWELL, b. Stroudsburg, Pa., Oct. 12, 1795. N.J. Coll. 1817. Many years an eminent judge of the District Court of Phila. Has pub. "Sketch of the Laws relative to Slavery in Several of the States," 1827 and 1853; some pamphlets and articles in the Law Rev., &c. — Atlas.

Stryker, JAMES, b. Richmond Co., N.Y., 1792; d. Sharon, Ct., 3 Jan. 1864. Col. Coll. 1809. Lic. used to practice law 1813; capt. in the war of 1812-15; judge in the courts in Buffalo, N.Y., 1830-40, chief justice and editor of Strober's Amer. Register and Magazine, 6 vols. 8vo, 1849-55. He was at one time editor of the Buffalo Republican, and contrib. to periodicals. A commiss. to negotiate with the Six Nations for their removal to the West.

Stuart, ALEXANDER, H. H., politician, b. Staunton, Va., Apr. 2, 1807. Wm. and M. Coll. 1825. U. of Va. 1828. Adm. to the bar at Staunton in 1828; member of the young men's convention in Washington in 1832; of the Va. house of delegates in 1836-9; M.C. 1841-3; sec. of the interior 1850-3; State senator 1857-61. He was active in the canvasses preceding the election of Harrison and Fillmore, and advocated the election of Henry Clay, his personal friend, in 1841. In 1844 he delivered the annual address before the Amer. Institute in New York.

Stuart, CHARLES B., eng. in chief U.S.N., b. 1814. Author of "Naval Dry Docks of the U.S.," 1851; "Naval and Mail Steamers of the U.S.," 1853; "Railroads of the U.S. and Canada," 1855; "Water-Works of the U.S.," 1855.

Stuart, GILBERT CHARLES, portrait-painter, b. Narragansett, R.I., 1754; d. Boston, July 9, 1828. He was first taught by a Scottish painter named Alexander, by whom, at about 18 years of age, he was taken to Edinburgh. He soon returned, and painted at Newport, Boston, and New York; but the war making his prospects hopeless, he went to London, where he was aided by Benju. in West with money and instruction. Stuart painted a full-length portrait of his benefactor, now in the British National Gallery. Ab. 1781 he began practice in Lond., and soon rose to great eminence. Subsequently he resided successively in Dublin and Paris, and painted a portrait of Louis XVI. Returning to Amer. in 1792, he painted at Phila. the well-known head of Washington, the original of which is now in possession of the Boston Athenaeum. After residing in Washington, he took up his permanent abode in 1805 in Boston. His last work was a portrait of John Quincy Adams. He painted many of the disting. men of the Revol. and of the early period of the Union. He ranks among the first Amer. portrait-painters, and was a man of fine social qualities. His daughters, Mrs. Stebbins and Miss Jane Stuart, long pursued their father's profession in Boston.

Stuart, ISAAC WILLIAM, scholar, b. New Haven, Conn., d. Hartford, Ct., Oct. 2, 1861. Y.C. 1828. Son of Rev. Moses. He taught a while in the Hopkins grammar school, Hartford. A taste for the study of Hieroglyphics and Oriental lit. led to his pub. in 1830 a translation, with notes, of Grog's "Essay on the Hieroglyphic System of Champollion." Elected prof. of Greek and Latin in the Coll. of S.C., he resided in Columbia some years. Returning to Hartford, he was for many years proprietor of the Wyllis Estate, on which stood the Charter Oak. He wrote a "Life of Nathan Hale," 1856; "Hartford in the Olden Time," 1853; and an elaborate Life of Jonathan Trumbull, 1857; and edited, with Notes, the "Ellipsis Tyrannus" of Sophocles, pub. 1837. He was three times a member of the Congress, and was an orator of unusual excellence. — Old Road Yr., 1862.

Stuart, GLEN JAMES E. B., b. Patrick Co

Va., 1832; kill d near Richmond, Va., May 11, 1864. West Point, 1834. 1st lieut. 1st Cav. Dec. 20, 1855; disting. himself in a fight with the Cheyennes, June 20, 1857, when he was severely wounded; became capt. 22 Apr. 1861; and resigned May 14, 1861. App. col. of a regt. of Va. cav.; com. all the Conf'd. cav. at Bull Run; disting. himself at Lewisville, Va., Sept. 13, 1861; made brig.-gen. Sept. 1861; maj.-gen. in 1862; conducted a brilliant incursion within Gen. McClellan's lines on the Pamunkey, June 13, 1862, destroying much property, and causing very great alarm; surprised Gen. Pop's headquarters at Catlett's Station, near the Rappahannock, Aug. 22; and, with 1,800 cavalry and 4 guns, passed from south of the Potomac, Oct. 9, crossing between Williamsport and Hancock on the right wing of Gen. McClellan's army, traversed Md., and, Oct. 10, entered Chamber-burg, which was surrendered without resistance, took a great quantity of spoil, and destroyed a vast amount of valuable property, and, retreating, crossed the Potomac on McClellan's left; thus making a circuit of his army without loss. He was justly regarded as a cavalry officer of great merit. He m. a dau. of Gen. Philip St. George Cooke. At Beverly Ford, Va., and in Md. and Pa. during the Gettysburg campaign, he was invariably worsted by the Federal cavalry. He did good service in protecting Lee's army on its retreat from Gettysburg. He was mortally wounded in an encounter with Sheridan's cavalry at Yellow Tavern, and died a day or two afterwards.

Stuart, JOHN, D.D., founder of the English Church in Upper Canada, b. Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 24, 1740; d. Kingston, U.C., Aug. 15, 1811. His father Andrew was a rigid Presbyterian. Young Stuart having made a voyage to Eng., where he was ord. priest, returned to Phila. ab. 1770, and for 7 years officiated as a missionary among the Indians of the Mohawk Valley. For them he made a translation of the New Testament into the Mohawk language. Refusing allegiance to the revolted Colonies, he fled to Canada in 1781; was soon after chaplain in a prov. regt.; and as a missionary travelled through the upper province, where he labored with energy and success; in 1786 he settled at Kingston, and for some time previous to his death was chaplain to the legislative council. His son Sir JAMES LL.D., an eminent Canadian jurist, chief justice of Lower Canada, b. Fort Hunter, N.Y., Mar. 2, 1780; d. Quebec, July 14, 1853. Created a baronet in 1840, called to the bar in 1801, solicitor-gen. 1805-9, atty.-gen. 1822-32, chief justice of L.C. 1838-53. ANDREW, his second son, also a disting. jurist, and solicitor-gen. of L. Canada, b. Kingston, 1786; d. Quebec, Feb. 21, 1840. Un. Coll. To the Quebec Historical Society's "Trans." he contrib. "Notes on the Saguenay Country," a paper on the "Ancient Etruscans," and "Ditched Thought upon the History of Civilization." — Monn.

Stuart, SIR JOHN, a British gen., b. Ga. 1761; d. Clifton, Eng., 1 April, 1815. John his father came to Ga. with Oglethorpe, became Indian agent and one of the council, m. Miss Fenwick, dau. of a wealthy citizen of Charleston, S.C., was a loyalist, and d. in Eng. His son was educated at Westminster School; entered the 3rd Foot Guards in Jan. 1779; served under Cornwallis; and was dangerously wounded at the battle of Guilford. He attained distinction in the wars growing out of the French revol., and, while com. the British troops in Sicily, gained 4 July, 1806, the splendid victory of Maida over the French Gen. Regnier. For this service he received the Order of the Bath, a gold medal, the thanks of parliament, and the freedom of the city of London. He was subsequently lieut.-gov. of Grenada, and d. a lieut.-gen. and com.-in-chief of the Western District.

Stuart, REV. MOSES, D.D., theologian and philologist, b. Winton, Ct., 26 March, 1789; d. Andover, Ms., 4 Jan. 1852. Y.C. 1799; tutor 1802-4. Adm. to the bar in Danbury, Ct., Nov. 1802; studied theology; ord. pastor of the 1st Church, N. Haven, 5 Mar. 1806; and was prof. of sacred lit. in And. Theol. Sem. 28 March, 1810-48. He was an excellent pulpit-orator, possessing a sonorous voice and a commanding and impassioned manner, and a teacher of disting. usefulness and success. He pub. a "Hebrew Grammar" in 1813, and another in 1831; commentaries on the Hebrews, Romans, Revelation, and the books of Daniel, of Ecclesiastes, and of Proverbs; a vol. of "Miscellanies," 1846; "Conscience and the Constitution," a defence of the policy of Daniel Webster, 1850; "Hebrew Cretomathy," 1829; "Letters to Dr. Channing on Religious Liberty," 1830; "The Mode of Christian Baptism," 1833; "Grammar of the New-Testament Dialect," 1834; "Hints on the Prophecies," 1842; "Scriptural View of the Wine Question," 1848; and a large number of contribs. to the periodical press.

Stuber, DR. HENRY, b. Phila. ab. 1770; d. there ab. 1792. Of German origin. He was a pupil of Dr. Kunze in Greek, Latin, and German, when that divine was connected with the U. of Pa. He studied medicine, obtained a situation in one of the public offices of the U.S. govt., and was engaged in the study of law when he died, still very young. He wrote for the journals of the day; and to the early editions of Franklin's Autobiography added a continuation, giving an historical account of his discoveries in electricity. — J. W. Francis, in Sparks's Franklin.

Sturges, JONATHAN, LL.D. (Y.C. 1805), jurist, b. Fairfield, Aug. 23, 1749; d. there Oct. 4, 1819. Y.C. 1759. He became a lawyer. In 1774 was a delegate to Congress; M.C. in 1789-92; judge of the Supreme Court of Ct. in 1792-1805.

Sturges, SAMUEL DAVIS, brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Shippensburg, Pa., 1822. West Point, 1846. Entering the 2d Dragoons, he served in the Mexican war, and was made prisoner while on a reconnoissance before the battle of Buena Vista, but was soon exchanged. He subsequently served in Cal., New Mexico, and the Territories, and for his energy and skill against the Indians was made capt. 3 Mar. 1855. He com. at Fort Smith, A.K., until 1861. All his officers resigned, and joined the Southern Confederacy; and he evacuated the fort on his own responsibility, thus saving his com. and the govt. property. May 3 he was app. major 4th Cav., and served in Com. under Gen. Lyon, whom he succeeded in com. after his death, at the battle of Wilson's Creek; Aug. 10, 1861, he was made brig.-gen., vols., and signed to the army in Tenn., and afterward com. the dept. of Kansas; in 1862 he was called to Washington, and assigned to the com. of the fortifications around the city. At the battles of South Mountain, Antietam, and Fredericksburg, he com. the 2d division 9th army corps. Engaged at the battle of Fredericksburg Dec. 1862; in operations in Ky. Apr.-July, 1863; chief of cavalry, dept. of the Ohio, July, 1863, to Apr. 1864, capturing Gen. Vance and his command 13 Jan. 1864; engaged at Boivar, Tenn., 10 May, 1864; and expd. against Gen. Forrest, and in the combat near Guttown, M^o, 10 June, 1864; lieutenant, 6th Cav., Oct. 27, 1863; col. 7th Cav. 6 May, 1864; brev. col. for Fredericksburg; brig. and major-gen. 13 Mar. 1865. — Callam.

Stuyvesant, PETER, the last Dutch gov. of N. Y., b. Holland, 1602; d. N. Y. City, Aug. 1682. He served in the war in the W. Indies; became director of the colony of Curaçoa; and, having lost a leg in an unsuccessful attack on the Portuguese island of St. Marín, returned to Holland in 1644. Gov. of N. Y. 1647-64. He exerted himself vigorously to repress the encroachments of the Swedes and English, and in 1655 took the Swedish fort Casimir, afterwards called New Castle, in Delaware Bay. An exped. under the Eng. colonel, Nichol, compelled him to capitulate 27 Aug. 1664; and the New Netherlands became an Eng. possession. He returned to Holland to report to his superior, and subsequently resided on his farm in N. Y. He had two sons by his wife Judith Bayard. He conciliated the Indians, and made honorable treaties respecting boundaries with the people of Ct., and was dignified, honest, and true, but aristocratic and arbitrary. Irving has immortalized him in the humorous pages of "Knickerbocker."

Sucre (soo-kra), GEN. ANTONIO JOSÉ DE, next to Bolívar, the greatest defender of S. America, b. Cumana, Venezuela, 1793; assassinated while on his way to Pasto, New Granada, in 1830, by order of the traitor Gen. O'Leary. Was educated at Caracas. Entered the army in 1811, and com. the patriots at the battle of Pichincha (May 24, 1822), by which was secured the indep. of Colombia. In June, 1823, he was elected com. in chief of the patriot forces in Peru; Dec. 9, 1824, gained the battle of Ayacucho, the most brilliant ever fought in S. America, and which secured the independence of Peru. He afterwards liberated Bolívar, and was in Peru app. by the Congress of that republic pres. for life. The revol. in Peru in 1827, which overthrew the govt. of Bolívar, exerted an untoward influence in Bolivia, and an insurrect. took place, in which Sucre was attacked and dangerously wounded. On his recovery in Aug. 1828, he resigned, and returned to Colombia, and was at once made gov. of the Colombian Army of the South, and in 1829 com. of the southern division of the Colombian republic; in this capacity he led his troops in a series of military operations which terminated in the defeat and capitulation of the Peruvians, under Gen. Lamar, at Tarqui, Feb. 26, 1829. He was the first pres. of the Cong. Congress of Bogota in 1830, and was delegated by that body as one of the commiss. to propose friendly terms with Venezuela. When this mission had proved unsuccessful, and the Congress had closed its labors, he was proceeding to the southern departments to appease certain disturbances which had arisen under Gen. Flores, when he met his untimely fate.

Sullivan, JAMES, LL. D. (H. U. 1780), statesman and jurist, b. Berwick, Me., Apr. 22, 1744, d. Boston Dec. 10, 1808. Bro. of Gen. John. John's father, a man of liberal education, came from Ireland in 1723, and d. July, 1795, a 104. James was intended for a military life; but the fracture of a limb caused him to study law under his bro., and he practised some years at Biddford, receiving in 1770 the app. of king's atty. for York Co. He took an early and active part in the Revol. movement; was a member of the Prov. Congress of Ms. (of which Maine then formed a part) in 1775, and with two others executed ally a difficult mission to Ticonderoga. Early in 1776 he was app. a judge of the Superior Court, which post he resigned in Feb. 1782; in 1779-80 he was a member of the State Const. Conv.; in 1784-5 he was a delegate to Congress, and he was repeatedly chosen a representative of Boston (whither he had removed) in the legisl.; in 1784 he was a commiss. to settle the controversy between Ms. and N. Y. respecting their claims to Western lands; in 1787 he was of the exec. council, and judge of probate for Suffolk Co., atty.-gen. 1790-June, 1807, when he was elected gov. by the Republican party, and re-elected in 1808. He was one of the commiss. app. by Washington for settling the boundaries between the U. S. and the British Provinces; he was the projector of the Middlesex Canal, constructed under the superintendance of his son John L.; a member of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences from its institution; a principal founder and many years pres. of the Ms. Hist. Society. He pub. "Observations on the Govt. of the U. S.," 1791; "A Dissertation on the Stability of the States;" "The Path to Riches, or Dissertation on Banks;" "History of Maine," 1795; "Impartial Review of the Causes, &c., of the French Revol.," 2 vols., 1795; "Corresp. with Col. Pickering," 1808; "History of Land Titles in Ms.," 1831; "Dissertation on the Const. Liberty of the Press," 1801; "A History of the Penitentiary Institutions, in the Ms. Hist. "Colts.," and "The Avar of Baal Torn Down," 2 vols., 1795. His life, with selections from his writings, by his grandson Thos. C. Amory, was pub. 2 vols., 2 vols., 1859.

Sullivan, JOHN, LL. D. (H. U. 1780), major-gen. Royal army, b. Berwick, Me., Feb. 17, 1749, d. Durham, N. H., Jan. 23, 1795. He practised law with success in Durham, and then 1772 held the commission of major. In 1774 he was a member of the first Gen. Congress, and in Dec. 1774, with John Langdon, a force against Fort Mifflin and Mary, near Portsmouth, and took 100 barrels of gunpowder (afterward used at Bunker's Hill), 15 cannon, small-arms, and stores; June 22, 1775, he was app. by Congress a brig.-gen., and com. on Winter Hill at the siege of Boston; after the evacuation he was sent with reinforcements to the northern army in Canada, of which he took com. June 2, 1776; planned the unsuccessful attack upon the British at Trois Rivières, and, in effecting his retreat from the Province, displayed skill and resolution. Congress having app. Gates to that dept., Sullivan joined the army under Washington. Made a maj.-gen. Aug. 19, 1776, he acted under Putnam on Long Island, and on the disastrous day of Aug. 27, 1776, was taken prisoner, but was soon exchanged for Gen. Proseott, and was with Washington in the autumn at Westchester. After Lee's capture, Sullivan took com. of his division, led the right at Trenton, did good service at Princeton, and during the rest of the season protected the lines at Morristown; Aug. 22, 1777, he made a descent on Staten Island, which came near being successful. He com. the right wing at Brandywine, and was fully exonerated by Washington and Lafayette from the charge of being responsible for that defeat. He defeated and drove the British left at Germantown; but mistakes on the Amer. left, occasioned by the fog, changed a victory into a repulse. In Aug. 1778 he com. in Rhode Island; but deprived of the expected cooperation of DE-staing's fleet, upon which success depended, Sullivan was obliged to raise the siege. At Butt's Hill, on the 29th, he repulsed the enemy, and withdrew from the island with slight loss. In 1779 he com. an expedition against the Indians of the Six Nations, and waste their settlements, and, Aug. 29, inflicted a severe defeat on the Indians under Brant and Tories under Sir John Johnson, at N. orowa, in Western N.Y. Owing to his shattered health, he then resigned, and received a vote of thanks from Congress. In the autumn of 1780 he again took his seat in Congress, and was chairman of the com. which aided in suppressing the mutiny of the Pa. troops in 1781. Resuming practice in N.H., he was atty.-gen. in 1782-6, and was in 17-6-9 president of the State; member of the State Const. Conv. of 1784; State councillor 1785; a commissioner to settle the "New-Hampshire grant" trouble with Vt. In 1786 he saved the State from anarchy by his intrepidity and good management, and in 1788 secured the adoption of the Federal Constitution. From 1789 till his death he was U.S. judge of N.H. His life, by O. W. B. Peabody, is in Sparks's "Amer. Biog.;" and another, by Thomas C. Amory, was pub. 1858. His youngest son, GLOBE, (b. 29 Aug. 1771, d. 14 June, 1838, H. F. 1790), was an eminent lawyer. M. C. 1811-13; atty. gen. of N.H. 1806-7 and 1816-36. He published orations, addresses, and pamphlets.

Sullivan, JOHN LANGDON, M.D. (Y.C. 1827), engineer and inventor, son of Gov. James, b. Sacon, Me., Nov. 9, 1777; d. Boston, Feb. 9, 1865. H. F. 1807. After engaging in mercantile business, he travell'd in Europe, studying the construction of canals in France and Eng.; and in 1804 was app. agent and engr. of the Middlesex Canal, between Boston and Concord, N.H., and for the improvement of the Merrimack. He invented a steam tow-boat, for which he received a patent in 1814 in preference to Fulton, his priority of discovery being fully shown. In 1824 he was app. by Pres. Monroe associate civil engr. of the board of int. improvements; which post he resigned in 1825, after reporting the practicability of a canal across the Alleghanies. In 1837 he engaged in the practice of medicine at New Haven; afterward adopted the homoeopathic system, and made some important inventions and discoveries both in medicine and surgery. In 1847 he removed to New York.

Sullivan, WILLIAM, LL.D. (H. F. 1825), lawyer and scholar, b. Sacon, Me., 30 Nov. 1774; d. Boston, 3 Sept. 1839. H. F. 1792. Son of Gen. James. He acquired a liberal education at the Suffolk bar; was frequently a member of the legisl. and council of Ms. between 1804 and 1830; a delegate to the State Const. Conv. of 1820; brig.-gen. of militia; and was a member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences, of the Ms. Hist. Soc., and of the Amer. Philos. Soc. He was an elegant belles lettres scholar, and a persuasive orator. He pub. besides addresses, "Familiar Letters on the Public Men of the Revol.," 1834, in vindication of the Federal party; "Sea-Life," 1837; "Political Class-Book," 1839; "Moral Class-Book," 1833; "Hist. Class-Book," "Historical Causes and Effects," 1837. To an enlarged edition of "The Public Men of the Revol.," Phila. 1847, his life was prefixed by his son, JOHN TRENSER SARGENT, b. Boston, 1813, d. there 30 Dec. 1848. He was educated in Germany; practised law in Phila. and St. Louis; and was the author of many well-known songs and translations from the German. His social and convivial qualities were extraordinary.

Sully, ALFRED, brev. brig. gen. U.S.A., b. Pa. ab. 1820. West Point, 1841. Entered the 2d Inf., he served in Florida war 1841-2; at the siege of Vera Cruz, Mex., Mar. 1847; capt. 2d Inf. 23 Feb. 1852; col. 1st Minn. Vols. 22 Feb. 1862; maj. 8th Inf. 15 Mar. 1862. Brevet gen. vols. 26 Sept. 1862; hon.-col. 2d Inf. 28 July, 1866; assigned to 19th Inf. 15 Dec. 1870. He com. a brigade in the Peninsular campaign, and was brev. hon.-col. 1 June, 1862, for Fort Oaks; col. 1 July, 1862, for Malvern Hill; was engaged at South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, and Chancellorsville; com. a brigade in Dakota in 1863-6; and 13 Mar. 1865 was brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A. for gallant and meritorious services in campaign against the Indians in the North west, and at the battle of White-stone Hill, Dak. Terr., 3 Sept. 1864. — Col. 1864.

Sully, THOMAS, painter, b. Horencast, Lincolnshire, Eng., June, 1783. He came to the U.S. with his parents, who were painters in 1792, and began to paint in 1798 at Charleston, S.C. He established himself as a portrait painter in Richmond, Va., in 1809, and a few years after in N.Y., where he had a lucrative practice. In 1809 he went to Phila., where he has since resided, specially exercising in delineating heads lowliness. Among his large works are full-lengths of George Frederic Cooke as "Richard the Third," Dr. Benjamin Rush, Commodore Decatur, Jefferson, and Lafayette. His well-known picture of "Washington crossing the Delaware" is in possession of the Boston Museum. During a visit to Eng. in 1837-8, he painted a full-length of Queen Victoria, esteemed a very faithful likeness. His portraits of Cooke, Mrs. Wood the singer, and Fanny Kemble, are among the most successful of his efforts.

Summerfield, JOHN, an eloquent preacher, b. Preston, Eng., Jan. 31, 1798; d. N.Y., June 13, 1825. A.M. of N.J. Coll., 1822. He was educated at a Moravian school; was destined by his father for the Meth. ministry, and exhibited great precocity of intellect, but falling into bad habits, was at one time in prison in Liverpool. His father removed to Dublin in 1813, where, at the age of 19, the son joined the Wesleyan society. Becoming a preacher in the Irish conf. in 1819, he in 1821 came with his father to Amer., and was received as a preacher in the N.Y. conf. In 1822 he visited Phila., Baltimore, and Washington; but his constitution, naturally feeble, gave way; and, to restore his health, he sailed in December for France. After visiting Eng., he returned to N.Y. in April, 1824, with little improvement of health, but continued to travel, and to preach with great success, and aided in founding the Amer. Tract Society. His "Sermons, and Sketches of Sermons," were pub. in N.Y., one vol. 8vo, and a Biography, by John Holland, 8vo, N.Y., 1829.

Summers, THOMAS OSMOND, D.D., clergyman, b. near Corfe Castle, Dorsetshire, Eng., Oct. 11, 1812. He came to the U.S. in his 18th year. Became a Meth. in 1832; began to preach in 1834; adm. to the Baltimore conf. in 1835; and app. on the Augusta circuit, Va., where he had to travel 250 miles, and preach 30 sermons, a month. In Dec. 1840 he was one of the 9 preachers who constituted the first Texas conf.; in 1844 he was a member of that of Ala.; sec. of the conv. at Louisville, Ky., at which the M.E. Church south was organized; and in 1846 was app. assist. editor of the Southern Christian Advocate, and chairman of the com. to compile the new hymn-book; in 1850 he was elected by the Gen. Conf. its editor of books and tracts, of the Sunday-School Visitor, and in 1858 also of its Quarterly Review. He has been sec. of every general conference. Beside numerous tracts and pamphlets, he has written "A Treatise on Sinning," "A Treatise on Holiness," "The Sunday-school Teacher," "Seasons, Months, and Days," "Talks Pleasant and Profitable," "The Golden Censer," "Scripture Catechism," 2 vols., and a "Refutation of Thomas Paine's Theological Writings."

Sumner, CHARLES, LL.D. (H.U. 1839), orator and statesman, b. Boston, Jan. 6, 1811. H.U. 1830; Camb. Law School, 1834. Joh. his grandfather, major Revol. army, d. 16 Sept. 1789. Charles Pinckney, his father (b. Milton, Ms., 20 Jan. 1776, d. Boston 24 Apr. 1839, H.U. 1796), high sheriff of Suffolk Co. 1825-39, pub. "Eulogy on Washington," 1800; "The Compass," a poem, del. at H.U. Sept. 1798, and delivered addresses and poems on various occasions. Charles began practice at Boston, 1834, and was app. reporter of the Circuit Court; lectured to the Camb. Law School in 1835-7, 1843; traveled in Europe in 1837-40, 1857-8, and in 1851 succeeded Daniel Webster as U.S. senator. After the delivery of his famous speech, "The Crime against Kansas," May 19-20, 1856, he was assaulted, while in his seat, by Preston S. Brooks, M.C. from S. Carolina, and so severely injured as to be unable to resume his public duties for 3 or 4 years. He took an active part as a public speaker in opposition to the annexation of Texas, in support of Van Buren for the presidency in 1848, and was identified with the peace and anti-slavery movements of the day. In the senate he opposed the fugitive-law in a speech in which he declared, "Freedom is national, and slavery sectional." In the debates on the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and on the contest in Kansas, he took a leading part. On resuming his seat in the senate, his first speech was on "The Barbarism of Slavery," June 4, 1860. He early proposed emancipation as the speediest method of ending the Rebellion; and from Mar. 4, 1861, to 1870, was chairman of the senate com. on foreign affairs. In 1831 he became chief editor of the Amer. Jurist; ed. of "Dunlap on Admiralty," 1836; 3 vols. of Circuit-Ct. Reports, 1829-39; with J. C. Perkins, ed. Vesey's "Chancery Reports," 20 vols. 8vo; wrote for Gallivan's Messenger a defence of our N.E. boundary claims; and suggested to Mr. Wheaton a work on the Law of Nations. Among his orations, speeches, are "The True Grandeur of Nations," 1845; "The Scholar, the Jurist, the Artist, the Philanthropist," 1846; "Fame and Glory," 1847; "White Slavery in the Barbary States," 1847; "Law of Human Progress," 1848; "Finger-Point from Plymouth Rock," 1853; "Landmark of Freedom," 1854; "The Anti-slavery Enterprise," 1855; "Position and Duties of the Merchant," 1855; "Our Foreign Relations," 1863; "The Case of the Florida," 1864; "The Provisions of the Decl. of Indep.," "Eulogy on Abraham Lincoln," 1865; "The National Security and the National Faith," 1865; "Our Claims on England," Apr. 13, 1869. A coll. of his speeches was pub. 2 vols. 1859; recent speeches and addresses, 1856; his complete works, with a Memoir by Dr. Charles A. Phelps, are now in press (Lee & Shepard, Boston, 1870-2).

Sumner, EDWIN VOSE, maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Boston, Ms., Jan. 1796; d. Syracuse, N.Y., Mar. 21, 1863. Son of Seth. His youth was passed at Milton; and his early education was received at the acad. there. At 15 he entered a mercantile establishment at Montreal, and in 1812 pursued the same career with Stephen Hugginson, jun., of Boston. App. in March, 1819, 2d lieut. 2d Inf., he served in the Black-Hawk war; 1st lieut. July, 1823; capt. 2d Dragoons, March, 1833; served many years on the Indian frontier; maj. 2d Dragoons, June 30, 1846; in April, 1847, led the famous cavalry charge at Cerro Gordo; wounded, and brevetted lieut.-col.; disting. at Contreras and Churu busco; and at Molino del Rey com. the entire cavalry, holding in check 5,000 Mexican lancers; for his gallantry brev. col.; disting. in Col. Harney's affair at Modelin, Mex., Mar. 25, 1847; lieutenant-col. 1st Drags., July 13, 1848; col. Mar. 3, 1853; milit. gov. of N. Mexico 1851-3, when selected for special duty in Europe. In July, 1857, he led a successful exped. against the Cheyennes, whom he defeated at Solomon's Fork of the Kansas River. In March, 1861, he superseded Gen. A. S. Johnston in the com. of the Pacific dept.; became brig.-gen. Mar. 16, 1861; maj.-gen. U.S. Vols. July 11, 1862; brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A. May 21, 1862. He com. the 1st corps in the Army of the Potomac; com. the left wing at the siege of Yorktown; and was in all the battles of the Peninsula, and twice wounded. At Fair Oaks he rendered most important service, and earned his promotion. Assigned to com. the 2d corps on the re-organization of the army, he was wounded at Antietam; and at Fredericksburg, 13 Dec. 1862, com. the right grand division of the Army of the Potomac. He left two sons, EDWIN V. JUN., and SAMUEL S., both capt. of cavalry, U.S.A.

Sumner, GEORGE, M.D., physician, and prof. of botany at Trin. Coll., Hartford, b. Pomfret, Ct., Dec. 19, 1793; d. Hartford, Feb. 20, 1855. Y.C. 1813. He studied med. at New Haven and at Phila.; established himself in Hartford in 1819, and for several years delivered lectures on botany to young ladies. In 1820 he pub. a compendium of Physiological and Systematic Botany.

Sumner, GEORGE, son of C. P., and bro. of Charles, b. Boston, Feb. 5, 1817; d. there Oct. 6, 1863. He studied at Heidelberg and Berlin, and travelled many years in Europe, Asia, and Africa, acquainting himself with internat. law, the codes politic, institutions, and philanthropic organizations, of each country. To his labors, in conjunction with those of Dr. S. G. Howe, we owe the establishment here of schools for idiots. He was often consulted by foreign govts. upon questions of polit. economy; and such men as Humboldt and De Tocqueville paid tribute to his learning and accuracy. Between Nov. 1 and Mar. 15, 1860, he delivered 192 lectures in the U.S. He pub. Memoirs of the Pilgrims at Leyden, "Ms. Hist. Colls.," 3d ser. vol. ix.; "The Pac. System of Prison Discipline," 1847; "Progress of Reform in France," 1853; oration bef. the city authorities of Boston, July 4, 1859. Author also of many articles in American and foreign periodicals. — Athenaeum.

Sumner, INCREASE, LL.D., judge, and gov. of Ms. 1797-9. b. Roxbury, Nov. 27, 1746; d. June 7, 1799. H.U. 1767. His ancestor William, of Oxfordshire, Eng., settled in Dorchester, Ms., ab. 1635, and held various public offices. Increase his father, a prosperous farmer, d. Nov. 28, 1774. The son taught school at Roxbury two years, studied law in the office of Samuel Quincy, was adm. to the bar in 1779, and commenced practice in Roxbury. Representative in 1776-80; a senator in 1780-2; and in Aug. 1782-97 was an assoc. judge of the Sup. Jud. Court; member of the State Const. Conv. 1779, and in 1789 of that assembly for the adoption of the Federal Constitution. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of William Hyslop. — Genl. Reg., xiii. 105.

Sumner, G. S. JUNIOR, b. Va.; d. Warren Co., N.C. Wm. his father emigr. from England ab. 1690, and settled near Suffolk, Va. J. thro was in 1760 app. paymaster in the prov. army of that State, and com. of Fort Cumberland. By the Prov. Congress which met at Halifax, Apr. 4, 1776, he was app. col. of the 3d Regt., with which he joined the army of Washington at the north; Jan. 9, 1779 he was app. a brig.-gen. in the cont. service; and in 1780 was engaged in the disastrous battle near Camden. He was actively engaged in N.C. until he joined Greene upon the High Hills of Santee. He was at the battle of Eutaw; and, after the abdication of Governor Burke, he was sent by Greene into N.C. to overawe the Tories and encourage the Whigs. After the war, Gen. Sumner m. a wealthy widow at Newbern. He was buried near old Shocco Chapel, and Bate Old Court House. His dau. m. Hon. Thos. Blount of Edgecombe. — White's N.C.

Sumner, GEN. WILLIAM HYSLOP, b. Dorchester, Ms., 4 July, 1780; d. Jamaica Plain, Ms., 24 Oct. 1861. H.U. 1799. Son of Gov. Increase. He studied and practised law in Boston; was a member of the Ms. legis. in 1808-19, and adj.-gen. in 1818-34. Active in the improvement and settlement of East Boston. He pub. "Memoir of Gov. Inc. Sumner," and "Bibliographies," 1854; and a "History of East Boston," 8vo, 1858. — See Genl. Reg., 1862.

Sumter, THOMAS, maj.-gen., b. Va. 1734; d. at his residence, South Mount, near Camden, S.C., June 1, 1832. He was a vol. in the old French war; was pres. in at Braddock's defeat, and early in life removed to the upper part of S.C. He took part in the warfare against the Cherokees, and at its close accomp. "Oconostota," or the "Emperor," to Eng. on a visit, returning home in 1763. He was prominent in the early ante-Rev. movements at Charleston; in March, 1776, was app. lieutenant-col. 2d Regt. of infantery, and stationed in the interior of the State to overawe Indians and loyalists. On the fall of Charleston in May, 1780, Sumter, then a col., took refuge in the swamps of the Santee, and, on the burning and ravaging of his estate, retired to N.C., where he soon raised a larger force than he could arm; July 12, 1780, he attacked a British detachment on the Catawba, totally routed and dispersed the whole force, killed Capt. Huck, who com. the British, and Col. Ferguson, who com. the Tories. This success brought him reinforcements, and with 600 men he made a spirited attack on the post at Rocky Mount, Aug. 4, but, having no artillery, was repulsed. In July he had been made a brig.-gen. in the State militia. Aug. 6 he attacked the post at Hanging Rock, where he annihilated the Prince of Wales's regt., and put to flight a large body of N.C. Tories; on the 16th Aug. he captured a valuable convoy on the road from Charleston to Camden, but on the 18th was overtaken, surprised, and completely routed by Tarleton at Fishing Creek; in 3 days, however, he was again at the head of a respectable force. He shifted his position frequently in the vicinity of Broad, Emory, and 125th St. versus maintaining a continual skirmishing with the enemy, beating up their quarters, carrying off their supplies, and harassing them by incessant marches and alarms. Nov. 12-14, was at the battle of Broad River by a British corps, and he showed a fighting spirit with the 10th, M^{rs} Wiggins. Nov. 27, he was attacked at Broad Springs by a British column, whom he repulsed with great and glorious action. Sumter, after the battle, his severe wound in the shoulder, and a fever, six months interrupted his professional career. July 13, 1781, he received the thanks of Congress for his eminent services. Cornwallis, writing to Tarleton after this affair, says, "I shall be very glad to hear that Sumter is in a condition to give us no further trouble." He certainly has been our greatest plume in this country." Recovering from his wound early in Feb. 1781, he crossed the Congaree, and destroyed the magazines at Fort Granby; two days after, he defeated an escort of the enemy, and captured the wagons and stores they were conveying to Camden. Attacked on the Broad River by Maj. Fraser with a large force, he repulsed him with loss. In March, 1781, he raised 3 regts., and co-operated with Marion until the end of the war, striking many successful blows. May 10, 1781, he captured the British post at Orangeburg; he soon after captured the posts at Donahoe and Monk's Corner. He was a distinguished member of the conv. to adopt the Federal Const., which he approved. He was minister to Britain in 1809-11, M^{rs} C. in 1789-91 and 1797-1802, and U.S. senator in 1804-10. His son C. Thomas d. near Statesburg, S.C., June 15, 1849, a 71.

Sunderland, Rev. Lx. Roy, b. Exeter, R.I. 1804; became a Meth. preacher at Walspole, Ms., 1823. He has lectured on the subjects of temperance, slavery, Mormonism, magnetism, mesmerism, spiritualism, and the immortality of the soul in Maine. Edited the Westerner, N.Y., 1836-43, the Mass., 1842-43, the S. W., d. B. 1849, 1850-2; and his eulogy on Z. A. Hall's Ch. St. Hist., M. J. Q. R. G., Rev. Post, Geo. S. A. T. J. J. J., N. Y., and H. A. J. Post, Geo. S. A. T. J. J..

Susini (HISEKLEY) ISABELLA, v. Pist.; d. New York, July 6, 1862. Dan of a physician of Albany. She early manifested a taste for music, and her voice being an excellent soprano, 20 or 25 years was spent upon her vocal education. At 17 she went to Italy; studied there 2 years under the best masters, then appeared in Padua, on a tour several times in capitals, and on her return, in several American cities, being everywhere twice received. In 1861 she sang at S. S. S. in the well-known basses.

Sutchin, Romina, a Dutch, from a miller's business at S. G. P. M. removed with his family to the vicinity of Philadelphia in 1811, and entered at year of a ten-year contract to be an assistant in extinguishing a fire. A brother of "Travels in South Paris of N. A. in 184-6," Phila. 1842. — J.

Sutherland, John B., b. 1791, d. Phila. Nov. 15, 1861. U. of Pa. 1812. He served in the war of 1812, was afterward in the Pa. E. 181; M^{rs} C. 1827-37, and chairman of the com. on commerce 1835-7, and a judge of the Phila. C. C. Pleas. Author of "Manual of Legislative Practice," 1840; "Congressional Manual," 1850.

Sutcliffe, ALBERT, poet, b. Meriden, Ct., ab. 1840. Pub. a vol. of poems, Boston, 1859. He contributed to the N. H. Am. Free Press, the West, Chimney, 1854. Taught a private school in Ky., and since 1855 has resided in Minnesota. — S. A. Post and Free Press, the West.

Suydam, James A., landscape-painter, b. New York, d. N. Conway, N. H., Sept. 15, 1865. He was of an old N. Y. family; possessed a competency, and devoted much of his time and income to the encouragement of art and the aid of struggling merit. His "Long Island Shore" is a characteristic landscape. — Littell's.

Swain, David Lowry, LL. D. (N. J. Coll. 1841), statesman and educator, b. near Asheville, N. C., Jan. 4, 1801; d. Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 3, 1868. U. of N. C. His father was b. Roxbury, Ms. He was adm. to the N. C. bar in 1824, soon entered on a lucrative practice; in 1824 was elected to represent Buncombe Co. in the house of commons; in 1831 was appointed judge of the Sup. Court; in 1842-5 was gov. of the State; and from that time until his death was pres. of the U. of N. C. He pub. "British Invasion of N. C. in 1776," S. C., 1853; and contributed many valuable papers on the History of N. C. to the U. S. M. J. — S. N. E. H. J. J. J., Rev., xxiv, 344.

Swain, Col. James B., engr. A. d. of State of N. Y., b. N. Y. City 1820. His pub. "Life and Speeches of Henry Clay," 2 vols., Svo., 1842; "Military Hist. of N. Y., 1814-57," 3 vols., Svo., Editor H. A. J. J. J., Geo. S. A. T. J. J., 1844-9; co-editor N. Y. T. J. J., 1849-51; Int. T. J. J., 1851-7; editor Am. J. J. J., Geo. S. A. T. J. J., 1851-61. — J. J. J..

Swan, Maj. Cullen, paymaster B. vol. army, and paymaster-gen. U. S. A. 1792-1808; d. Washington, D. C., Nov. 20, 1809. He pub. "Some Account, &c. of the N. Western Indians of America," 1798. Cullen, schoolmaster, trader, and commander in the B. vol. army (son of Col. Joshua of Methuen, Apr. 12, 1718), d. Jan. 17, 1793. Cullen, 3rd at in Hall's regt. at capture of Louisburg, 1745.

Swan, Col. James, in infant, politician, soldier, and author before the age of 22, b. Finshire, Scotland, 1734; d. Paris, 18 Mar. 1831. He came very young to Boston, was a clerk in a store; pub. in 1772 "A Dissertation to Great Britain and the Colonies, from the Slave-Trade to Africa," was one of the "Boston Tea-Party" in Dec. 1773; was sec. of the patriotic assemblies of the city; accomp. Gen. Warren on his trip to Banker's Hill, and was wounded at his side; next retired as a surgeon and went to Gen. 18, became a capt. in Grant's regt. of art. in 1776, and took part in the expedition which drove the British fleet out of Boston harbor; was sec. to the Ms. Board of War; member of the 101st, in 1778, and afterwards adj. gen. of Ms. Dr. in d. 1801, he went to Paris in 1787, became known there by his work on the Commerce of the U. S. with France (Svo, 1799); acquired reputation and a fortune; came to the U.S. in 1795, and displayed great charity and munificence. Returning to Europe in 1798, he was engaged in commercial affairs of great magnitude. On the claim of a German with whom he had dealt, Swan was imprisoned in St. Pelagie, in Paris, in 1815, and remained there until July, 1830; keeping up all the while an indefatigable litigation in the French courts. He was a man of large enterprise and benevolence, mainly in person, and dignified in manner. His other works are "On the Fisheries," 1784; "Fisheries of Ms.," 1786; "National Arithmetic," 1786; &c.

Swan, Josiah R., of Columbus, O., b. Westernville, N.Y., 1802. Has pub. "Treatise on Justices," 8th ed., 1862; "Statutes of Ohio," 2 vols., 8vo, 1809; "Manual for Executors and Administrators," 1843; "Practice and Pleadings," 2 vols., 8vo, 1860; "Commentaries on Pleadings," &c., 1860; "Supplement to the Rev. Statutes of Ohio," 1869. — Albion.

Swan, Timothy, of Sudfield, Ct., composer; d. Northfield, July 23, 1842, a. 82. Author of "China," "Poland," and other pieces of sacred music; also "New-England Harmony," 1801.

Swan, William Draper, many years principal of the Mayhew Grammar School, Boston, afterward a bookseller and prominent politician in that city, b. Dorchester 17 Nov. 1809; d. there 2 Nov. 1864. Member of the Ms. senate 1862. Author of a valuable series of Readers, and in connection with his bro. Robert, and Daniel Leach, of a series of Arithmetics; also "The Critic Criticised, and Worcester Vindicated," 8vo, 1860.

Swartwout, Gen. ROBERT; d. New York, July 19, 1848. Son of a Revol. soldier. Col. N.Y. militia; served in N.Y. harbor, Aug.-Nov. 1812; quarterm.-gen. (rank of brig.-gen.) 21 Mar. 1813; and com. 4th brigade in campaign of 1813 on the St. Lawrence, and succeeded to the com. on the fall of Gen. Covington. — Alderman of N.Y. City.

Swayne, Gen. JOHN WYGER, b. Columbus, O., 1835. Y.C. 1856. Son of Judge Noah H. Swayne. He practised law at Columbus. Was made maj. 45d O. Inf., which he accomp. to the field, in Feb. 1862; fought at luka and Corinth; was made col.; served in all the marches and battles of the Atlanta campaign; lost a leg at Salkahatchie; was made brig. and maj. gen. (20 June, 1865); and was afterward a-s-t. commiss. of refugees, freedmen, and abandoned lands; col. 45th Inf. 28 July, 1866; and retired 1 July, 1870.

Swayne, Noah Hayes, LL.D. (Dartm. 1867), app. a justice U.S. Sup. Court 4 Jan. 1862; b. Culpepper Co., Va., 27 Dec. 1804. While an apothecary's clerk in Alexandria, he acquired some education; began the study of law at Warrenton, and, on his admission to the bar in 1824, settled at Cochocton, O. Member of the legist. 1829; U.S. dist.-att. 1830-9; chosen judge of C.C.P. in 1834, but declined the office; again in the legist. in 1836, and took a leading part in organizing asylums and institutions for the blind, the lunatic, and the deaf and dumb. His district comprises Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

Sweat, Mrs. MARGARET JANE MESSLEY, b. Portland, Me., 1823. Has pub. "Ethel's Love-Lite," 1859; "Highways of Travel," 1859. She has been a contrib. to the N.Y. Review. — Albion.

Sweeny, Gen. THOMAS W., b. Ireland, 1818. Came to the U.S. in childhood; was 2d lieut. of N.Y. Vols. in Mexican war; lost an arm at Churubusco; capt. 2d U.S. Inf. Jan. 1861; col. of vols. May, 1861; brig. gen. 29 Nov. 1862; maj. 6th U.S. Inf. Oct. 20, 1863. He disting. himself at Wilson's Creek, Mo., and was severely wounded; col. 52d Ill. Vols. Jan. 1862; engaged at Fort Donelson, Shiloh, siege of Corinth, battles of luka and Corinth (wounded); com. division in Atlanta campaign, and engaged at Snake-tree Gap, Resaca, Dallas, Kennesaw Mountain, and the battle of Atlanta, July 22, 1864. Received a silver medal from the city of N.Y. for services in Mex. war, and a second from the city of Brooklyn for services in the civil war. Retired brig. gen. U.S.A. 11 May, 1870. — Harv.

Sweet, Dr. CHARLES, a surgeon of eminent skill in the treatment of fractured, dislocated, and diseased bones; b. Lebanon, Ct., Dec. 11, 1811. Resides there. Son of Dr. Benoni, also an eminent surgeon, who d. at Lebanon, Aug. 1840, a. 80.

Sweetser, CHARLES HEMPHREYS, b. Athol, 25 Aug. 1841; d. Pilatka, Fla., Jan. 1, 1871. Amh. Coll. 1862. Author of "Songs of Amherst," 1860; "Hist. of Amh. Coll.," 1860; "Tomist's Guide to the North-west," 1867. He founded the Round Table; was connected with the N.Y. Evening Gazette; in 1857 began the Evening Mail, and in 1869 the City, both in New York.

Sweet, JOHN APPLETON, M.D., physician, b. Boston, Dec. 3, 1808; d. New York 18 Sept. 1854. H.U. 1828. He pract. ed. medicine for a time in New York; spent 18 months in Europe, in 1835-6, attending the medical schools of Paris. He was in 1842 elected one of the physicians of the N.Y. Hospital, and in 1852 pub. his "Treatise on the Diseases of the Chest." In 1853 he was app. prof. of the theory and practice of medicine in the N.Y. U. About 1810 he was associated with Dr. Watson as editor of the N.Y. Jour. of Medicine.

Sweet, Col. SAMUEL, soldier and military writer, b. Newburyport, Ms., June 9, 1782; d. Boston, Oct. 28, 1866. H.U. 1800. A lawyer; afterward a merchant. Served on the staff of Gen. Izard, on the northern frontier, in the war of 1812, with rank of major. Rep. in Ms. legislature. He pub. an Account of the Bankers'-hill Battle, 1826; Sketches of Disting. Men of Newburyport; "Who was the Commander at Bunker Hill?" &c., 1850.

Switt, Col. HERMAN, a Revol. officer, b. Sandwich, Ms., 1733; d. Cornwall, N.Y., Nov. 14, 1814. His father Jabez settled in Vermont soon after his birth. Heron at an early age was a lieut. of provincials in the French war, serving on the northern frontier, and served throughout the Revol. as a col. in the Cont. line. He afterward resided in Cornwall, held various civil offices under the State govt., and in a battle of 4 hours. For this latter service he was commissioned a capt. in the navy Sept. 17, 1779. After cruising successfully for some time in "The Argo," and afterward in a private ship, he was captured in 1780 by a British fleet, and confined in the Jersey prison-ship; was afterward removed to England; and in Dec. 1781 was exchanged. After the war, he purchased the landed estate of Sir Wm. Johnson, near the Mohawk; was several years in the Assembly from Montgomery Co.; and was an M.C. in 1794-4. On the re-organization of the navy in 1794, he was again employed, and superintended the construction of the frigate "Constitution" ("Old Ironsides"), which in 1799 was his flagship during a cruise in the W. Indies. Resigning in Sept. 1801, he passed the residue of his life in N.Y. City — See Talbot's Hist. of H. E. Packer's life, N.Y. 1850, and Hist. Sketch of the F. of N., N.Y. 1803, 12mo.

Talcott, Mvt. John, b. Eng.; d. 23 July, 1688. Son of John, who came to Cambridge in 1632, and to Hartford in 1636. A rep. until 1654, and an assist. and treas. of the Colony until his d. 1659. The son was made ensign 1659; r. pres. 1660; capt. 1661; treas., and an assist. commiss. at the Cong. of the N.E. Colonies, 1660-71, 73, and 76; dining in the Indian war of 1676; r. signed the office of treasurer on receiving his app. to com. the forces of the Col.; and, collecting abt. 450 whites and friendly Indians, scoured the country as far as the falls above Deerfield, inflicted severe blows upon the hostile tribes, and saved Hadley from the attack of 700 Indians. He also did good service in the Narraganset country, and fought a successful battle at the Housatonic, killing the sachem of Quaug. His son Joseph, gov. Ct. 1725-41, b. Hartford, Nov. 16, 1669, d. Oct. 11, 1741.

Taliaferro (Tolliver), Col. Benjamin, statesman, Va. abt. 1751; d. Wilkes Co., Ga., Sept. 3, 1821. He served with distinction in Morgan's rifle corps at Saratoga, Monmouth, and at the siege of Savannah, where he displayed great bravery and coolness. He was taken at Charlestown in 1780, where he acted as a volunteer aide to Lincoln. Removing to Ga. in 1784, he was M.C. 1799-1802; judge Sup. Court, State senator, pres. of that body, and a member Ga. Const. Convention of 1798.

Tallmadge, Col. Benjamin, Rev. officer b. Scarsset, I. I., 25 Feb. 1754; d. Litchfield, Ct., 7 Mar. 1835. Y. C. 1773. Son of Rev. Benjamin, who d. 5 Feb. 1786. He had charge of a high school at Wethersfield, but 20 June, 1776, became a lieut. and soon afterward son of a brigadier, and rose to the rank of col. Sept. 5, 1779, he crossed the Sound to Lloyd's Neck, I. I., and surprised and captured 500 Tory mariners, without losing a man; in May, 1780, he planned and conducted the expedition which resulted in the taking of Fort George, at Oyster Bay, and the destruction of British stores on I. I. He was in several of the principal battles of the war, had the custody of Major Andre until his execution, and was long one of Washington's military family, and most esteemed secret corresp. After the war he was a successful merchant, and M.C. in 1801-17. In 1784 he m. the dau. of Gen. Wm. Floyd of Mastic. His Memoirs were pub. by his son, F. A. Tallmadge, 8vo, N.Y. 1859. His son, Col. William S., an officer of the war of 1812, d. Moscow, N.Y., Sept. 1822, a. 57.

Tallmadge, FULTON K. AUGUSTUS, lawyer and politician, b. Litchfield, Ct., Aug. 29, 1792; d. there Sept. 17, 1869. Y. C. 1811. Son of the preceding. Studied at the Law School; was adm. to the bar of Litchfield Co.; in 1814 commenced practice in N.Y. City, and became one of its most successful advocates and counsellors. An alderman in 1814 and a common-councilman in 1816, then State senator; and was subsequently elected its presiding officer, being at the same time ex officio a judge of the Supreme Court of Errors. After 4 years' service in that body, he was in 1816-6 r. recorder of the city; M.C. in 1816-68; again recorder in 1848-51; and in 1857 was app. gen. supt. of the metropolitan police, and was clerk of the Court of Appeals in 1862-5. The Astor-place Riot, which occurred in May, 1849, was effectually put down by his decision and energy.

Tallmadge, JAMES L. D. (U. of N.Y.), statesman, b. Stamford, N.Y., Jan. 28, 1778; d. New York, Sept. 29, 1853. Brown U. 1798. Son of Col. James, who led a company of vols. at the capture of Burgoyne (b. Saaron, Ct., Sept. 5, 1744; d. Poughkeepsie, Dec. 21, 1821). He practised law for several years successfully, but devoted much of his time to agriculture. He was some time private sec. to Gov. George Clinton, and, during the war of 1812, at one time com. a portion of the force detailed for the defence of the city of N.Y. M.C. in 1827-19, he soon showed himself a sound and ready debater; ably defended Gen. Jackson's course in the Seminole war; and introduced, as an amendment to the bill authorizing the people of Mo. to form a State organization, a proposition to restrict slavery to the region west of the Meri. Prominent in the State Const. Convs. of 1821 and 1846, member of the State leg. sl. in 1824, and four times in 1826-7. Visiting Europe in 1835, Mr. Tallmadge was influential in introducing into Russia a knowledge of American machinery and mechanics, particularly in the dept. of cotton-mannf. He was for 19 years pres. of the Amer. Institute. All his speeches and acts were directed to the great end of encouraging domestic production. One of the founders of the U. of N.Y. He pub. a number of addresses and speeches.

Tallmadge, NATHANIEL P., politician, b. Chatham, N.Y., Feb. 8, 1795; d. Battle Crk., Mich., Nov. 2, 1864. Un. Coll. 1815. Adm. to the bar 1818, member N.Y. Assembly 1822; of the State senate 1830-33; U.S. Senator 1833-44, and Terr. gov. of Wis. 1844-5. He pub. some speeches and cont. an Introd. and Appendix to Linton's "Healing of the Nations," 8vo, 1835.

Talmage, Rev. SAMUEL KENNEDY, D. D. (N. J. C. 1845), Presb. clergyman and author, b. Somerville, N.J., 1798; d. Midway, Ga., 2 Oct. 1865. N.J. Coll. 1820. Tutor at N.J. Coll. 1822-5; prof. of ancient lang. Ogleth. U. 1838-41, and pres. 1841-65. Contrib. to Southon Press Revue, &c.

Talmage, Rev. T. DE WITT, Presb.

Allegyman, b. near Bound Brook, N. J., 7 Jan. 1832; v. of N. Y., 1853; New Buns Theol. Sem. 1856. Ord. at Belleville, N. Y., where he remained 3 years; pastor of the Second Ref. Church, Phila., 1859-69; and since Apr. 1869 of the Central Presb. Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. His pulchng soon filled the church to overflowing, and a new edifice was erected, which holds 3,000 people. Also a successful lecturer, and contrib. to the N. Y. Lithopolit and other periodicals.

Tallman, PLATO, an enterprising merchant of Bath, Me., b. Tiverton, R. I., July 24, 1764; d. Bath, March 8, 1841. In 1778, when only 14 years of age, he entered the privateer service against Great Britain; lost an arm in the engagement between "The Triton" and "Warr" in 1780; and was a prisoner in Eng. and Ireland in 1781-3. Subsequently master of a vessel, he finally became a merchant, and acquired by his enterprise and perseverance an ample fortune. M. C. from Ms. 1811-13; State senator 1821-2.

Taney (tan-ee), ROGER BROOKS, jurist, b. CANTON, Md., 17 Mar. 1777; d. Washington, 12 Oct. 1864. Dick Coll. 1795. Descended from a family of English Catholics who settled in Md. ab. the middle of the 17th century. Adm. to the bar in 1799; member of the house of delegates in 1800, of the State senate in 1816; app. in 1827 atty.-gen. of Md. by a gov. and council opposed to him in politics, and, after 22 years' residence at Frederickton, removed to Baltimore ab. 1822. He enjoyed an extensive practice in the State and Federal courts, and was originally a Federalist, but became a partisan of Gen. Jackson, who app. him U. S. atty.-gen. in 1831. Nominated in Sept. 1833 sec. of the treasury, he was rejected by the senate, as was also the case with his nomination as a justice of the U. S. Sup. Court in 1835. In Mar. 1836 he was app. chief justice of the U. S. Sup. Court, in place of John Marshall, deceased; in 1857 he held, in the celebrated "Dred Scott" case, that, for more than a century before the Declaration of Independence, "the negroes had been regarded as beings of an inferior order, and altogether unfit to associate with the white race either in social or political relations, and so far inferior, that they had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; and that the negro might justly and lawfully be reduced to slavery for his benefit." He also affirmed that the Mo. Compromise was unconstitutional, and that the suit must be dismissed for want of jurisdiction. He possessed considerable legal learning, and his decisions were generally sound. — See Van Santvoord's Lives of the Chief Justices, 8vo, 1854.

Tannchill, WILKINS, journalist and author, b. PITSBURG, Pa., 4 Mar. 1787; d. Nashville, Tenn., 2 June, 1858. Son of Gen. John, a Revol. officer. He was early connected with the Nashville press; was co-editor of the Blot, and many years editor of the Herald. — the first Henry Clay organ in Tenn. He subsequently edited the Orthopodion, a new literary and independent paper, and, from July, 1848, to June, 1849, the Pathfinder, a journal of Freemasonry. In his later years he was blind.

Author of "Freemason's Manual;" "Sketch of the History of Literature," 8vo, 1827; "Sketches of the Hist. of Roman Literature," 12mo, 1846. — Johnson's Dictionary.

Tanner, HENRY S., geographer, b. N. Y., 1786; d. N. Y. City 1858. In Phila., where he lived many years, and until 1850, he pub. maps, and contributed statist. and geog. articles to periodicals. He pub. "New Amer. Atlas," fol. 1817, '23, &c.; "General Atlas," 1828-44, 4to, since pub. by S. A. Mitchell; "Mémorial of the Recent Surveys," &c., 12mo, 1829; "View of the Valley of the Mpa," 12mo, 1832; "Amer. Traveller," 12mo, 1836; "Central Traveller," N. Y., 1840; "New Picture of Phila.," 12mo, 1840; "Canals and Railroads of the U. S.," N. Y., 8vo, 1840. Member of the geog.ographical societies of Paris and London — Johnson.

Tanner, JOHN, captured by the Indians at the age of 6 years, remained with them voluntarily 30 years. The Narrative of Tanner, U. S. Interpreter, &c., was prepared for the press by Edwin James, M. D., N. Y., 1830. He d. 1847. His son JAMES was a Unit. missionary.

Tappan, ARTHUR, merchant and philanthropist, b. Northampton, Ms., May 22, 1786; d. N. Haven, July 23, 1865. His father Benjamin, a Revol. patriot and merchant, died Northampton, Jan. 29, 1831, a 83. Arthur had a common-school education; was long engaged with his bro. Lewis in the importing of dry goods in Boston; failed in 1842, and was afterward interested in the mercantile agency first established by his bro. He established the Journal of Commerce in N. Y.; was one of the chief founders of the Tract Society; started the Lane Sem. at Cincinnati; founded an indispensable professorship in the Auburn Theol. Sem., and aided in founding another at Kenyon Coll.; established a scholarship at Andover; and erected Tappan Hall at Oberlin. His private charities were innumerable. An original abolitionist, he established in 1833 the Emancipator, in N. Y., at his own expense, and called the meeting which formed the N. Y. City Anti-slavery Society, of which he was chosen pres. Dec. 4, 1833, he was app. pres. of the Amer. Antislavery Soc. He aided in sustaining the Liberator, and redeemed Mr. Garrison from the Baltimore jail. He was a man of rare integrity, and fidelity to principle. — See his Life by his brother Lewis.

Tappan, BENJAMIN, jurist, brother of Arthur, b. Northampton, Ms., May 25, 1773; d. Steubenville, O., April 12, 1857. He was taught the business of copper-plate engraving and printing; devoted some attention to portrait painting; and subsequently adopted the profession of law. In 1799 he emig. to Ohio, and in 1803 was elected to the legisla.; served in the war of 1812 as aide to Gen. Wadsworth; was for 7 years pres. judge of the 6th Ohio circ.; in 1833 was app. by Pres. Jackson U. S. judge for the Ohio dist.; and was a U. S. senator in 1839-45. He was an active leader in the Democ. party until the Free-soil movement originated, when he joined its ranks. Eminent for drollery and wit. A vol. of Reports, C. C. P., 1816-19, was pub. by him 1831.

Tappan, DAVID, D. D. (H. C. 1794), cler-gyman, b. Manchester, Ms., Apr. 21, 1752; d. Aug. 27, 1803. H. U. 1771. He was son of Benjamin, minister of Manchester (1720-90; H. U. 1742), who was son of Saml. of Newbury, and grandson of Dr. Peter. After studying divinity he began preaching. Was ord. minister of the 3d Church in Newbury in Apr. 1774; and from Dec. 26, 1792, until his death, was Hollis prof. of divinity in H. U. Many of his discourses and addresses have been pub. A vol. of sermons on important subjects, and an other of lectures on Jewish Antiquities, were pub. 8vo, Boston, 1807. Mary his widow d. Sept. 1831, a. 72. Father of BENJAMIN, D. D. (Bowd. 1845), minister of Augusta, 16 Oct. 1811, to his d. 23 Dec. 1863, b. Newbury, 7 Nov. 1788; H. U. 1805.

Tappan, HENRY PHILIP, D. D., LL. D., scholar and author, b. Rhinebeck, N. Y., about 1806. Co. Coll. 1825. He studied 2 years at the Auburn Theol. Sem.; was one year assist. pastor of the Ref. Dutch Church, Schenectady; and in 1828-31 was pastor of a Cong. Church at Pittsfield, Ms. Prof. of intell. and moral philos. in the U. of N. Y. in 1832-8; and was inaug. first chancellor of the U. of Michigan in Dec. 1852, retiring in 1863. The subject of university education had long engaged his attention, and he studied its practical workings in Eng. and Prussia during a foreign tour, recorded in "A Step from the New World to the Old." Author of a treatise on the Will; a work on the "Elements of Logic;" "Illustrations of Personages of the 19th Century;" "Treatise on University Education," 1851; and a large number of addresses and orations. In 1859 he was elected corresp. member of the French Imperial Institute, and pres. of the Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Education. — See Amer. Jour. of Education, October, 1863.

Tappan, WILLIAM BINGHAM, poet, b. Beverly, Ms., Oct. 29, 1791; d. W. Needham, M., June 18, 1843. His father Samuel, a teacher, died when William was 12 years old. With but 6 months' schooling, he was a successful teacher in Phila. for 6 years. Removing to Boston, he engaged zealously in Sunday schools, and was gen. agent of the S. S. Union. He was also engaged in the same cause in Cincinnati and Phila. He was licensed to preach in 1810. He pub. "New England and Other Poems," 1819, in Phila.; a larger coll. in 1822 and in 1831; an addition in vol. in 1836; and a complete edition in 1848 in 4 vols. "Poetry of the Heart," 1845; "Sacred and Miscellaneous Poems," 1846; "Poetry of Love," 1848; "The Sunday School and Other Poems," 1848; "Late and Early Poems," 1849; "Memoirs of Capt. James Wilson," Phila. 18mo. "Poems and Lyrics," 12mo, 1842; "Poet's Tribute," 12mo, 1840. — Dugl. Litch.

Tarbell, JOHN ADAMS, M. D. (Bowd. Coll. 1836), b. Boston, 1811; d. there 21 Jan. 1864. H. U. 1832. He studied medicine in Paris in 1833-5; practised in Boston; became a homoeopathist in 1833; became assoc. editor of its Quarterly Review in 1852; also of Dr. Epp's "Domestic Homoeopathist;" and pub. in 1849 the "Pocket Homoeopathist," and "Sources of Health," 1850; "Art of Conversing," 1846 "Homoeopathy Simplified," &c., 1856.

Tarleton, SIR BARNASTON, a British gen. b. Liverpool, Eng., 21 Aug. 1754; d. 23 Jan. 1833. He began to study law, but, on the breaking out of the Amer. war, purchased a cornetcy of dragoons, and in Dec. 1776 com. the advanced guard of the putrid which captured Gen. Lee in N. J. He served with Howe and Clinton in the campaigns of 1777-8, and, after the evacuation of Phila., raised and com. with the rank of lieut.-col., a cavalry corps called the British Legion. This corps accompanied the army to the siege of Charleston, and was constantly in service in the south until the surrender at Yorktown, rendering important service to Lord Cornwallis. 14 April, 1780, Tarleton surprised and defeated Gen. Isaac Huger near Monk's Corner; 29 May, 1780, he surprised Col. Buford at Waxhaw Creek, massured the entire force, refusing to give quarter; and Tarleton's quarter became a synonyme for cruelty. Aug. 16 he was at the battle of Camden; Aug. 17 he attacked and defeated Sumter at Fishing Creek; 20 Nov. he was defeated by Sumter at Blackstocks, on the Tyger River; 17 Jan. 1781, at the head of 1,100 men, he attacked an inferior Amer. force near the Cowpens, under Gen. Morgan, and was signally defeated, and wounded in the hand; 15 Mar. he was at the battle of Guilford Court House; in June he was despatched to Charlottesville, Va., to capture Gov. Jefferson and the members of the legisl., but was too late. Present at the battle of Fort Mifflin, and at the capture of Yorktown in Oct. 1781. On his return to Eng. he was made a col.; was elected to parliament in 1790, and acted with the liberal and reform party; was made a baronet in 1818, and attained the rank of a full gen. Tarleton was brave but sanguinary, below middle size, stout, strong, and heavily built. He pub. "History of the Campaigns of 1780 &c.," 4to, London, 1787.

Tate, GEORGE, admiral Russian navy, b. Lond. June 14, 1745; d. Feb. 17, 1821. George his father (b. Eng. 1700) was a seaman in the first frigate built in Russia by Peter the Great. He came to Falmouth, Me., with his father, in 1757; was brought up to the sea; entered the Russian navy as lieut. in July, 1770; rendered disting. services, particularly at Lunda, in Dec. 1790, where he was severely wounded; also in the war with Sweden; and attained the rank of first admiral, and member of the imperial senate. He was in the actions with the Swedish fleet, July 6, 1789; near Hoghland in 1789; near Oland, on the roadstead at Ryal, May 2, 1790; and June 22 in the Gulf of Weiborg. Vice admiral in 1798.

Tatham, COL. WILLIAM, engineer and polit. economist, b. Hutton, Cumberland Co., Eng., 1752; d. Richmond, Va., 22 Feb. 1809. His father was rector of Appleby. In Apr. 1769 he came to Amer., and entered a mercantile establishment on James River, Va. Serving as adj. of militia against the Indians, he studied their character, and drew up a biog. account of the celebrated warriors, Atankulakulla, Oronistoto, Cornstalk, &c. He served in the Va. cavalry under Gen. Nelson, and was 12mo, 1845; "January and June," 12mo, 1853, new ed. 1868; also of fugitive poems, papers on army life, articles in the Knickerbocker, &c. He resides at Wheaton, Ill. — See Poets and Poetry of the West.

Taylor, CHRISTOPHER, Quaker scholar and preacher, b. near Skipton, Yorkshire, Eng.; d. Phila. 1686. Originally a Puritan preacher. He became a proselyte of George Fox; was eminent as a minister among the Friends; and suffered persecution and imprisonment. He also taught a classical school in several places, and emig. from that at Edmonton in Middlesex, in 1682, to Pa. On his arrival he was made a representative in the Assembly; was a member of the first prov. council, and continued in that office till his death. He also held the place of register-gen., and was one of the justices of Chester Court. He was one of the best scholars among the early settlers. In 1679 he pub. "Compendium Trium Linguarum." — Smith's Del. Co.

Taylor, EDWARD T. ("Father Taylor"), many years preacher at the Seaman's Bethel, Boston, b. Richmond, Va., 25 Dec. 1794; d. Boston, 5 Apr. 1871. A sailor in his youth, and ord. a Meth. preacher in 1819. His discourses, filled with quaint nautical phrases, made him famous, and attracted many strangers. Chaplain to the U.S. frigate sent to Ireland during the famine there, and delivered public addresses at Cork and Glasgow. A dau. m. Hon. Thomas Russell, collector of the port of Boston.

Taylor, FITCH WATERMAN, Epis. clergyman and author, b. Middle Haddam, Ct., Aug. 4, 1803; d. Brooklyn, N.Y., July 24, 1865. Y.C. 1828. He went to N.Y. in 1820 with a mercantile life in view, but studied for the ministry, and obtained a parish in Md. From 1841 to his death he was a chaplain in the navy. He pub. "The Flag-Ship," giving an account of his voyage round the world in "The Columbia," 2 vols. 1840, and "The Broad Pennant, or History of the Naval War with Mexico," 1848.

Taylor, GEORGE, a signer of the Decl. of Ind. p., b. Ireland 1716; d. Easton, Feb. 23, 1781. He arrived in the U.S. penniless in 1736, but, having received a good education, rose from the condition of a laborer in the iron foundry of Mr. Savage, at Durham, Pa. (who paid the expenses of his voyage over), to the station of his clerk, and subsequently m. his widow. After acquiring a handsome fortune, he established iron-works on the Lehigh, Northumberland Co. In 1764 he was elected to the Col. Assembly, where he soon became prominent; member of the Prov. Assembly 5 consecutive years, and in 1770 was made judge of the county court, and col. of militia; in Oct. 1775 he was again elected to the Prov. Assembly, and was active in promoting Revol. measures. The action of some of the members of the Cont. Congress in refusing their assent to the Decl. of Indep. led to the election of new members, July 20, 1776, of whom he was one. He subsequently negotiated a treaty with several of the Indian tribes on behalf of the U.S., and March, 1777, retired from Congress, and removed to Delaware.

Taylor, GEORGE, lawyer and M.C. 857-9, b. Wheeling, Va., Oct. 19, 1820. Received a liberal education; studied medicine, and subsequently the law; was adm. to the bar in 1840; practised in Ind.; removed to Ala. in 1844, and in 1848 removed to New York. He pub. in 1851 "Indications of the Creator," a vol. of collected addresses and lectures, and has also written much in behalf of popular education. — Lanman.

Taylor, GEN. GEORGE W., b. Clinton, N.J., 1808; d. Alexandria, Va., Sept. 1, 1862, of wounds received at the second battle of Bull Run. At 19 he entered the navy as a midshipman, but after 3 years' service settled as a farmer in N.J. In the Mexican war he was a lieutenant, and afterward a capt in the 10th Inf. After the war, he resided 3 years in Cal.; then engaged in mining and manuf. in N.J., and in June, 1861, was made col. 3d N.J. Regt., which, under Gen. Runyon, formed a part of the reserve at Bull Run. Attached to the Army of the Potomac when it went to the Peninsula, Col. Taylor took charge of the 1st brigade of N.J. Vols. May 9, 1862, he was made brig.-gen. He took a manful part in the severe fighting before Richmond, and also in the battles under Gen. Pope near Manassas.

Taylor, JACOB, surv.-gen. of Pa., and a schoolmaster and physician; d. 1736. Author of "Pennsylvania," a poem, pub. in 1728; and wrote poetry for almanacs which he prepared for publication. — See Talbot's Almanac, 1730.

Taylor, GEN. JAMES, b. Midway, Va., Apr. 19, 1769; d. Newport, Ky., Nov. 7, 1848. His ancestor James emig. to E. Va. in 1692. His father was the cousin of Pres. Zachary. He emig. to Ky. in 1792, and served with distinction during the war of 1812 as quarterm.-gen. of the N.W. army under Gen. Hull. He was one of the largest landed proprietors in the West.

Taylor, COL. JOHN, U.S. senator 1792-4, 1803, and 1822-4, b. Orange Co., Va.; d. Caroline Co., Va., Aug. 20, 1824. Wm. and M. Coll. 1770. Mover of the celebrated resolutions of 1798-9 in the h. of d. of Va. He did much towards advancing the science of agriculture in his native State, and was ever forward in promoting objects conducive to the public good. He pub. "Construction Construed," 8vo, 1820; "An Inquiry into the Principles of the Govt. of the U.S.," 1814; "Avatar," a series of agric. essays, 12mo, 1818; "Tyranny Unmasked," 8vo, 1822; "New Views of the Constitution of the U.S.," 8vo, 1823.

Taylor, JOHN, Baptist preacher, b. Fauquier Co., Va., 1752; d. Franklin Co., Ky., 1835. Author of "History of Ten Baptist Churches," &c., 12mo, 1826 or 1827; and of a pamphlet, "Thoughts on Missions." — Sprague.

Taylor, JOHN, statesman of S.C., b. 1770; d. 1832. N.J. Coll. 1790. He studied law, and was adm. to the bar in 1793, but turned his attention chiefly to planting. He was some years in the State legisl.; M.C. 1807-9 and 1817-21; U.S. senator 1810-16; gov. 1826-8; trustee of the S.C. Coll. in 1806; State senator in 1810 and '22. He was also at one time receiver of public monies in Miss. Territory.

Taylor, JOHN LOUIS, jurist, b. London, Mar. 1, 1769; d. Jan. 29, 1829. Brought to this country at the age of 12 by his brother. He studied law, and settled in Fayetteville, N.C. He was often a member of the State legis.; filed for a short time the office of atty-gen.; was in 1793 elected a judge of the Superior Court of Law and Equity, and was in 1810 a p. chief justice. A vol. of his reports, 1799-1802, was pub. Newbern, Svo, 1802; another, 1816-18, at Raleigh, 1818; "Charge to the Grand Jury of Edgecombe Sup. Court, 1817," Svo, 1817.

Taylor, JOHN NEILSON, legal writer, b. N. J. 1805. N. J. Coll. 1824. Lawyer in N. Y. City since 1825. Author of "Treatise on Landlord and Tenant," Svo, 1814 and 1869; "Law of Executors and Administrators," 12mo, 1851.

Taylor, JOHN W., lawyer and M. C., b. Saratoga Co., N. Y., 1784; d. Cleveland, O., Sept. 18, 1854. Un. Coll. 1803. He studied law in Albany; was in 1811 elected to the State legis.; M. C. 1813-33; speaker, Nov. 13, 1820-Mar. 3, 1821 (during the passage of the Mo. Compromise, against which he made an eloquent speech), and again in 1825-7; and State senator 1841-3. In Sept. 1843 he removed to Cleveland, Ohio.

Taylor, JOSEPH PENCEL, commiss.-gen. U. S. A., b. Ky.; d. Washington, D. C., June 29, 1864. Bro. of Pres. Taylor. App. lieut. of inf. May 29, 1813; capt. July, 1825; commissary (rank of major), July 7, 1838; assist. com.-gen. Nov. 30, 1841; brev. col. for services in the Mexican war in May, 1848; commiss.-gen. Sept. 29, 1861; brig.-gen. and commiss.-gen. U. S. A. Feb. 9, 1863.

Taylor, NATHANIEL WILLIAM, D. D., Dwight prof. of didactic theol. in Y. C., b. N. W. Milford, June 29, 1786; d. New Haven, Ct., Mar. 10, 1858. Y. C. 1807. Grandson of Rev. Nathani. He studied theol., and from April 8, 1812, to Nov. 1823, when he was app. to his professorship, he was pastor of the First Cong. Church in New Haven, during which time he acquired the reputation of being one of the ablest and soundest divines in N. Eng. His talent for theological discussion was shown in a series of articles upon the Unitarian controversy in the Monthly Christian Spectator. In theology, Dr. Taylor was in the main a disciple of Edwards and Dwight, adopting the Calvinistic theory as modified by the Edwardses. 4 vols. of his works have been pub. 1858-60. — See also Life and M. Journal of N. W. Taylor, D. D., Svo, New Haven, 1858.

Taylor, OLIVER ALDEN, minister and author, b. Yarmouth, Ms., 18 Aug. 1801; d. Manchester, Ms., Dec. 18, 1851. Un. Coll. 1825; And. Theol. Sem. 1829. Minister of Manchester, Ms., from 1829 till his death. In 1836 he taught sacred literature in the Andover Sem. He pub. articles in the Bible Repository and many other journals; "Brief Views of the Saviour," 1835; "The Music of the Hebrews," a translation; "Memoir of Reinhard," 1824; "Memoir of Andrew Lee," 1844; also some periodical pieces; Reinhard's "Plan of the Propagation of Christianity," 1831; "Catechism of the Liberty of And. Theol. Sem.," 1828. A number of his poetical pieces were pub. from 1820 to 1828. His Memoir, by his brother Rev. T. A. Taylor, was pub. in 1853.

Taylor, RICHARD, capt. in the Va. navy of the Revol., b. Va. 1747; d. Obolham Co., Ky., 1825. Pension of $300 S. pt. 3, 1816, for wound received while commanding flotilla in the Chesapeake.

Taylor, GEN. RICHARD, son of President Zachary Taylor, b. Florida. Chosen col. 9th La. Vols. in 1861, he com. that regt. at the battle of Bull Run; made brig.-gen. 21 Oct. 1861; served with r. Stonewall Jackson in Va., and was promoted to maj.-gen.; in 1863-4 served with Gen. E. Kirby Smith in the Trans-Miss. dept., and defeated Gen. Banks in his Red-river expedition at Sabine Cross-Roads, and was in turn defeated at Pleasant Hill; Sept. 19, 1864, he assumed the com. of the dept. of E. Louisiana at Mobile; and May 4, 1865, surrendered to Gen. Canby. He resides in La. One of his sisters married Jefferson Davis.

Taylor, RICHARD COWLING, scholar and geologist, b. Hinton, Suffolk, Eng., Jan. 18, 1789; d. Phila. Nov. 26, 1851. He became distinguishing as an antiquary and geologist, and pub. a number of works on those subjects. In July, 1830, he emig. to Phila. Among his pub. in that city were treatises on the Geology and Nat. Hist. of the North-east Extremity of the Alleghany Mts., and a Supplement to a Nat. Hist. of Birds of the Alleghany Range. He made surveys of different coal-fields; and his most important work was that pub. in 1848, entitled the "Statistics of Coal," an octavo vol. of 754 pages. He pub. in Eng., in 1821, an "Index Monasticus," in the ancient kingdom of Anglia; also a very complete "General Index to Dugdale's Monasticon Anglicanum" (fol. 1809), "Geology of East Anglia," 1827, Svo.

Taylor, GEN. ROBERT BARNARD, b. Va. 24 March, 1774; d. Norfolk, Va., 13 Apr. 1834. Wm. and Mary Coll. 1793. Brig.-gen. Va. militia; com. in defence of Norfolk 1813-14; brig.-gen. U. S. A. 19 July, 1813. He was an eminent lawyer; member of the Va. Assembly 1798-9; of the Const. Conv. 1829-30; and was judge of the Gen. Court of Va. 1831-4.

Taylor, SAMUEL HARVEY, LL. D. (B. U. 1831), classical scholar, b. Londonderry, N. H., Oct. 3, 1807; d. Andover 29 Jan. 1871. Dartm. Coll. 1832; And. Sem. 1837. Tutor at Dartm. 1836-7; principal of Phillips And. Acad. from Sept. 1837 to his death; one of the editors of the "Bibliotheca Sacra" from 1852. Has pub. "Method of Classical Study," 1861, and some Latin and Greek school books. He was without a superior as a classical instructor, and made Phillips Acad. the most celebrated preparatory school in the country.

Taylor, STEPHEN WILLIAM, LL. D. (1851), educator, b. Adams, Ms., Oct. 24, 1791; d. Hamilton, N. Y., Jan. 7, 1856. Ham. Coll. 1817. He taught 14 years the Black-river Acad. at Lowville, Lewis Co.; was 3 years teacher of a family school; in 1834 took charge of the preparatory dept. of the Hamilton Institution, near Madison C., where, from 1838 to 1845, he was prof. of math. and nat. philos.; then added in establishing the university at Lewisburg, of which he was 5 years pres.; and from 1851 to his death was pres. of Madison U., which he brought from a depressed to a highly-flourishing condition. He left an hist. sketch of this university, some inaugural and baccalaureate addresses, and a series of essays on the theory of education, pub. in the Christian Chronicle, Phila.

Taylor, THOMAS HOUSE, D.D., rector of Grace Church, New York, from 1834 to his d. 9 Sept. 1867, b. Georgetown, S.C., 18 Oct. 1799. Received his education in S.C.; was an elegant preacher, and held high rank as a writer and debater among the Episcopal clergy. Author of Sermons, 1846-67, 8vo, N.Y. 1869.

Taylor, VIRGIL CORYDON, author of a new musical notation entitled "Taylor's Index-Staff," b. Barkhamsted, Ct., 1817. His pub. "Sacred Minstrel," 1846; "The Lute or Musical Instructor," 1847; "Choral Anthems," 1850; "The Golden Lyre," 1850; "The Concordia," 1851; "The Chime," 1851; "The Celestina," 1856; "The Song Festival," 1858; "The Enchanter," 1861; "The Concertina," 1864; "The Praise-Offering," 1868. — Allibone.

Taylor, GEN. WALLER, d. Lunenburg, Va., 26 Aug. 1826. Maj. and aide to Gen. Harrison at the battle of Tippecanoe 7 Nov. 1811; U.S. senator from Ind. 1816-25; and a man of much literary culture.

Taylor, WILLIAM ROGERS, rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Newport, R.I., Apr. 1, 1811. Son of Capt. W. V. Mid-ship. Apr. 1, 1828; lieut. Feb. 10, 1840; com. Sept. 24, 1855; capt. July 16, 1862; commo. July 25, 1866; rear-adm. Jan. 1871. Attached to the sloop "St. Mary's" during Mexican war; engaged at Tampico Bar, June 8 and 15, 1846; at the siege of Vera Cruz, com. a gun in the naval battery; com. steam-sloop "Housatonic," S. Atl. block. squad., 1862-3. Senior officer off Charleston when attacked by Confed. rams "Choeura" and "Palmetto;" present as fleet-capt. with Adm. Dahlgren during all the operations against Morris Island in July, 1863; was in the battle with Forts Wagner and Sumter, July 10, and again July 19, 1863; com. steam-sloop "Junista," N. Atl. block. squad., 1864-5, and in both attacks on Fort Fisher. — Hammersly.

Taylor, WILLIAM VIGNERON, capt. U.S.N., b. Newport, R.I., 1781; d. 11 Feb. 1858. His maternal ancestor, Dr. N. F. Vigneron, settled in Newport in 1690, and d. 1764. He went to sea before the mast; became a capt. in the merch. service; was app. sailing-master U.S.N. 29 Apr. 1813; lieut. 9 Dec. 1814; master-com. 3 Mar. 1831; capt. 8 Sept. 1841. He did good service in equipping Com. Perry's fleet on Lake Erie, and was conspicuous in the victory, navigating "The Lawrence," Perry's flag-ship, into and during the fight. His last service was in com. of "The Ohio" (74) on a cruise to the Pacific in 1847. Father of Adm. Wm. R. Taylor, U.S.N., and of Capt. O. H. P. Taylor, U.S.A., who was killed by Indians in Wash. Terr., 17 May, 1858, a. 30.

Taylor, ZACHARY, 12th pres. of the U.S., b. Orange Co., Va., Sept. 24, 1784; d. Washington, D.C., July 9, 1850. His father RICHARD was col. 9th Va. Regt. in the Revolution; was disting. in the Indian wars; was one of the framers of the Const. of Ky., where he had settled in 1785; and d. Louisville, Ky., Jan. 19, 1829, a. 83. Zachary was scantily educated, and until his 24th year was engaged in the labors of his father's plantation. May 3, 1808, he was made 1st lieut. 7th Inf.; capt. Nov. 1810. For his gallantry in repelling an Indian attack on Fort Harrison, a stockade on the Wabash River (Sept. 5, 1812), he received the brev. rank of major, — the first instance in the service of this species of promotion. He took part in the successful exped. of Gen. Hopkins against the Indians, and in 1814, with the rank of major, com. an exped. against the British and Indians on Rock River. App. maj. 3d Inf. May, 1816; lieut.-col. Apr. 20, 1819; col. 1st Inf. Apr. 1832; brev. brig.-gen. June, 1838; brev. maj.-gen. May 28, 1846; maj.-gen. June 29, 1846. In 1832 he was engaged in the Black Hawk war; in 1836 he was ordered to Florida; Dec. 25, 1837, he defeated the Seminoles at Okecho-bee in a decisive battle; and in April, 1838, was made com.-in-chief in Florida. App. in 1840 to the com. of the army in the South-west, he purchased an estate at Baton Rouge, to which he removed his family. On the annexation of Texas in 1845, he was ordered to the frontier; marched to the Rio Grande in March, 1846; gained the battles of Palo Alto (May 8) and Resaca de la Palma (May 9); took possession of Matamoros, May 18; captured Monterrey, Sept. 24; and Feb. 21, 1847, defeated the Mexicans under Santa Anna at Buena Vista, notwithstanding their immense superiority in numbers. By this decisive victory, the reputation of Gen. Taylor, already great, was immensely enhanced. He was remarkable for his care of his men, and for his readiness to expose himself to danger. He received the thanks of Congress and a gold medal for his victories in Mexico, and from his soldiers the sobriquet of "Old Rough and Ready." Nominated to the pres. at the Whig Conv. at Phila. June 1, 1848, he received in the following Nov. 163 electoral votes against 127 for his opponent Cass. Inaug. March 5, 1849, his administration is memorable as the period in which the antagonism between the free and slave States reached a crisis that seriously threatened the Union, — a crisis avoided by a compromise. He succumbed to an attack of bilious fever a few months after his inaug.; and the executive power devolved on Vice-Pres. Fillmore. Plainness and simplicity were the characteristics of his manners and appearance. His son Richard became a Confed. gen. A dau. m. Jefferson Davis.

Tazewell, HENRY, statesman and jurist, b. Brunswick Co., Va., 1753; d. Phila. Jan. 24, 1799. His ancestor Wm. came from Somersetshire in 1715, and engaged in the practice of law. He lost his father (Littleton) in early life. Became a student of Wm. and Mary Coll., and studied law with his uncle John Tazewell (clerk of the State conv. of June, 1776, who d. at Williamsburg 1781), and was adm. to the bar. In 1775 he was a member of the h. of burgesses, and in the conv. of June, 1776, was placed on the com. which reported the decl. of rights and the Constitution. In the h. of delegates, to which he was regularly returned until elevated to the bench, he displayed great talents. At the bar he long enjoyed a large and lucrative practice, but in 1785 was elected to a seat on the bench, and consequently became a member of the first Court of Appeals. He was elected to the Court of Appeals in 1793; and from 1794 to his death he was in the U. S. senate, over which he pres. in 1795. He bore in that body a disting. part in the discussions on the British treaty, and performed with unqualified applause the office of a leader in the Repub. party. He was a friend of religious freedom, and as a State politician approved the abolition of primogeniture and entails, and the separation of the Church from the State. He was remarkably prepossessing in his personal appearance. — Griggs's.

Tazewell, LITTLETON WALKER, gov. of Va. in 1834-6; b. Williamsburg, Va., 17 Dec. 1774; d. Norfolk, Va., May 6, 1860, Wm. and Mary Col., 1791. Son of the preceding. He studied law under John W. Khan of Richmond, and began practice at Williamsburg in 1796. He was in the State legis. in 1798. He moved to Norfolk in 1801, and acquired a large and lucrative practice; M. C. 1800-1; U. S. senator 1824-33. In 1820 he was one of the commiss. under the Fla. treaty; in the senate he was a strong sympathizer with the nullification movements, and a zealous advocate of all Southern political measures; in 1829 he declined the mission to London. Author of a "Review of the Negotiations between the U. S. and Great Britain respecting the Commerce of the Two Countries," &c., Lond. 8vo, 1829; contrib. under the signature Sour to the Norfolk Herald in 1827. — See Discourse on his Life, by Hugh B. Grigsby, LL.D., 8vo, 1860.

Tecumseh, chief of the Shawnees, b. near Springfield, O., ab. 1770; killed in the battle of the Thames, C. W., Oct. 5, 1813. He first appears in a fight with Ky. troops on the Mad River when he was ab. 20, and was said to have run at the first fire; yet, in the war ending at the treaty of Greenville in 1795, he was noted as one of the boldest and most active of the Indian warriors. Ab. 1804 he projected with his bro. Elskwatawa, the "Prophet," the union of all the Western Indians for the extirpation of the whites. He visited all the tribes on the W. bank of the Mpi., on Lakes Superior, Huron, and Michigan; the Prophet assuming to be commiss. to the Indians from the Great Spirit, and preaching against the influence of the white men. They had in 1811 gathered at Tippecanoe, on the Wabash, a force of several hundred warriors, which Gov. Harrison, in the battle of Tippecanoe, Nov. 7, 1811, completely defeated. Tecumseh's plan was not yet matured, and this battle ruined it. He next sought the alliance of the English, and, with the rank of brig.-gen., com. all the Indians who co-operated with the English in the campaigns of 1812-13; was present in every important engagement previous to that of the Thames; and was conspicuous in the skirmishes preceding Hull's surrender at Detroit. In the battle on the Thames, near the Moravian towns, he com. the right wing, the only part of the forces engag'd. The Indians were driv'n back; but Tecumseh rush'd forward where the fire was hottest, and fell. The statement that he was killed by Col. R. M. Johnson is not now credited. A Life of Tecumseh, and his bro. the Prophet, was written by Benjamin Drake of Cincinnati in 1841.

Telft, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, D.D. (of West. U. of Ohio, 1846), LL.D. (of Madison U. of N. Y., 1852), clergyman, b. Floyd, Oneida Co., N. Y., Aug. 20, 1813. West. U., 1835. After leaving college, he devoted 4 years to legal metaphysical, and historical studies. He was in 1839-41 pastor of a M. E. church at Bangor, Me.; in 1841 pres. of a classical sem. at Providence, R. I.; and after one year's residence in Boston he was for 3 years prof. of Greek and Hebrew in the Indiana Asbury U.; in 1846 he became general editor of the books and magazines of the Meth. book concern at Cincinnati; and in 1851-4 was pres. of Genesee Coll., N. Y.; pastor at Bangor, Me., 1858-61; U. S. consul and acting minister at Stockholm, 1862; commiss. of emigration for Me. to the north of Europe, 1864; since 1866 pastor M. E. Church, Portland, Me. He has pub. "The Shoulder Knot, or Sketches of the Threefold Life of Man," 1850; "Hungary and Kossuth," 1851; "Methodism Successful," 1859; "Webster and his Masterpieces," 2 vols. 1854; oration on "Life and Character of Webster," 1852; "The Northern Harp," a poem, 1838; "Pardon Late," and an Analysis of Butler's Analogy.

Telft, THOMAS ALEXANDER, architect and monetarian, b. Richmond, R. I., 3 Aug. 1826; d. Florence, Italy, 12 Dec. 1859. B. U. 1851. After studying architecture in Providence, and furnishing designs for many private and public edifices, he in 1856 visited Europe to perfect himself in the art, and to diffuse his ideas of a united currency for all nations, upon which subject he read a paper before the Brit. Institut. of Social Science. The principal features of his plan were after his d. incorporated into a plan agreed upon by an international conf. at Paris, at which 19 nations were represented, in 1867. He pub. "Our Deficiency in Art Education," Prov. 1852; "Universal Currency," &c., Lond. and Edinb. 1853; papers on architecture in the N. Y. Courier, and letters from Europe in the N. Y. Times, 1857-8. — Memoir by E. M. Stone, Prov., 1869.

Telfair, EDWARD, gov. of Ga. 1786 and 1790-3, b. Scotland 1735; d. Savannah 17 Sept. 1807. Educated at Kirkenbright grammar-school. He came to Amer. at 23 as agent of a merc. house, an resident some time in Va. He removed to Halifax, N. C., and in 1755 to Savannah, where he was a merchant. An active promoter of the Revol., he served on many of the committees of the time, and was one of the party that broke open the magazines at Savannah, and removed the powder; d. he att. to the Old Congress in 1778 and 1780-3; and in 1783 was one of the commiss. to make a treaty with the Cherokees. THOMAS, his son (N. J. Coll. 1805; M. C. 1813-17), d. Savannah, Apr. 1818.

Tellier, VERY REV. REMIGIUS-JOSEPH, superior of the Jesuits in N. Y., Canada, and of the Indians of the Lakes, b. Soissons, France, 1709; d. St. Mary's Coll., Montreal, 7 Jan. 1866.

He entered the society 11 Oct. 1818; was rector of Chamberry Coll., and in 1842 was sent to Canada. He officiated 2 years at La Prairie; founded the Church of St. Patrick, Montreal; was 3 years stationed in U.C.; was preceptor of studies, and pres. of St. Francis Xavier Coll., and afterward at St. John's Coll., Fordham, N.Y. Made superior of his order in 1839, and returned to Montreal.

Temple, DANIEL, missionary to Malta, b. Reading, Ms., 1790; d. there Aug. 9, 1851. Dartm. 1817; And. Sem. 1820. He was a shoemaker until 21. Having been an agent for the Amer. Board of Missions a year, he was ord. in 1821; went to Malta in 1822; in 1833-44 was at Smyrna; was afterward an agent of the board, preaching in various places; and was settled in Phelps, N.Y., in 1847-9. He took a printing-press to the East, and pub. books in the modern Greek, Italian, and Armenian languages; wrote many Scripture histories; and edited a magazine in Greek. His Life and Letters by his son, Rev. D. H. Temple, with introd. by R. S. Storrs, D.D., was pub., Bost. 1855, 12mo.

Temple, SIR JOHN, 8th bart., b. Boston, 1731; d. New York, Nov. 17, 1798. He succeeded Sir Richard (commander of the royal navy in 1761, afterward commiss. of the revenue at New York), who d. Nov. 15, 1786, without issue. Sir John was a d. in Gov. Bowdoin, and was agent and consul-gen. of Great Britain to the U.S. — Biog. Anon.

Temple, WILLIAM, gov. Delaware, 1846, b. Q. Anne Co., Md., Feb. 24, 1815; d. Smyrna, D. C., 28 May, 1863. A merchant at Smyrna. A member and speaker of the legis. in 1844; member of the States senate 1845-54; and member elect of the 38th Congress when he died.

Ten Broeck, GEN. ABRAHAM, b. Albany, May 13, 1734; d. there Jan. 19, 1810. His father Dirck was many years recorder, and then mayor, of Albany. He began business as a merchant in 1753, and m. Elizabeth, daughter of Gen. Steph. Van Rensselaer, member Col. Assembly 1761-75, and of the Prov. Congress and conv. which organized a State gov. in 1777, and pres. of the conv.; June 25, 1778-1781, brig.-gen. of Albany militia; com. a brigade at the battle of Bemis Heights, Oct. 1777; State senator 1780-83; mayor of Albany 1779-83, and first judge Albany County 1781-94. — Hess's Northern Pioneer.

Ten Eick, ABRAHAM S., capt. U.S.N., b. N.Y. 1787; d. 28 Mar. 1844; mid-shipm. 11 Sept. 1811; lieut. 27 Apr. 1816; com. 9 Feb. 1837; capt. 10 Dec. 1843; in the action between the frigates "U. States" and "Macedonian," 25 Oct. 1812.

Tennent, GILBERT, an eminent preacher, b. Armagh, Ire., in 1705, 5, 1703; d. 23 July, 1764. Son of William, a Presb. minister, who came to this country in 1718, and settled near Philadelphia, where he opened an acad. for the education of students in divinity, and d. ab. 1743. This was assisted in the direction of this establishment by, and, after having studied in divinity as well as theology, was in 1726 ord. pastor of a cong. at New Brunwick. In 1740 and '41 he travell'd through N. Eng., at the request of Walter Chalmers, and preached in many places with great success. He was one of the most conspicuous ministers of his day, ardent in his zeal, forcible in his reasoning, and bold and passionate in his addresses to the conscience and the heart. He affected eccentricity in his preaching, entering the pulpit on his New-England tour in an overcoat bound with a leather girdle, and with long hair. Notwithstanding his zeal and success as a missionary, a party was formed against him, and he was accused of immorality. To a hostile pamphlet, called "The Examiner," he replied with the "Examiner Examined." This controversy occasioned the convocation of a synod in 1741; but no decision on the points in dispute took place. Tennent, with a view to conciliation, pub. a remarkable work under the title of "The Peace of Jerusalem." In 1743 he founded a Presb. church at Philadelphia, and subsequently travell'd through some of the States as a missionary. In 1753 he went to Eng. to solicit benefactions to the college of Princeton. Among his other pub. are an account of a revival of religion in 1744, and on the success of the exped. against Louisburg; discourses on several subjects, 12mo, 1745; "On the Lawfulness of Defensive War," 1747; "On the Consistency of Defensive War with True Christianity;" "Defensive War Defended;" and "Sermons on Important Subjects," 8vo, 1758; xxiii. Sermons, Phila., 8vo, 1744.

Tennent, WILLIAM, clergyman, bro. of the preceding, b. Antrim Co., Ireland Jan. 3, 1705; d. Freehold, N. J., Mar. 8, 1777. N. J. Coll. 1758. He came to America with his father's family in 1718, and studied theology under his bro. at N. Brunswick. He had nearly completed the course when his health failed, and he fell into a catalepsy, or trance, and for several days appeared as if dead, his body being cold and stiff. His physician, who was also his particular friend, perceiving some slight symptoms of vitality, refused to consent to his burial; and, although his friends were satisfied he was dead, his funeral was postponed 3 days, and subsequently for several hours, efforts for his resuscitation being finally successful. His recovery was slow and painful; all previous knowledge was forgotten; and he had to be taught reading, writing, and all things, as a newborn child. At length he felt a sudden shock in his head, and by degrees his recollection was restored. He told his friends, that, at the time of his apparent death, he found himself in heaven in the presence of an indescribable glory, and of an innumerable host of happy worshippers, and heard songs of praise which were marvellous. When about to join the throng, a heavenly messenger said to him, "You must return to the earth." At the shock of this news he opened his eyes, and, finding himself in the world, fainted. For 3 years, he said, the recollection of what he had seen and heard was so intense as to make earthly things seem worthless. Oct. 25, 1753, he was ord. at Freehold, Monmouth Co., N. J., at the request of his bro. John, and continued pastor 44 years. He pub. a few occasional sermons. A Memoir, giving a very full account of his trance, was prepared and pub. by Judge Elias Boudinot, N.Y., 18mo, 1847.

Tenney, JOHN S., LL. D., an able lawyer, did justice of Me. 1856-63, b. N.H. 1781; d. Norridgewock, Me., 23 Aug. 1869. Bowd. Coll. 1816.

Tenney, SAMUEL, M. D., physician and physicist, b. Batfield, Ms., Nov. 27, 1748; d. Exeter, Feb. 6, 1816. H.C. 1772. After teaching school one year at Andover, he studied medicine with Dr. Kittredge; went in 1775 to commence practice at Exeter, but, joining the army on the day of the battle of Benken's Hill, continued in service as a surgeon during the war. After serving one year in the Ms. line, he entered that of R.I.; was present at Saratoga and Yorktown; and was a volunteer at Red Bank, where he dressed the wounds of Donop, the Hessian commander. After the war, he m. and settled at Exeter, but did not resume practice. In 1788 he was a member of the State Const. Conv.; judge of probate for Rockingham Co. in 1793-1800; and M.C. in 1800-7. Member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences, to whose Memoirs he contrib. an account of the celebrated Saratoga mineral-waters and his "Theory of Prismatic Colors." For the Ms. Hist. Society he furnished an account of Exeter, and a notice of the "dark day," May 19, 1780, and for the Ms. Agric. Soc. a much-approved treatise on orcharding. He pub. many political essays in the newspapers, and particularly in 1788 in favor of the Federal Constitution. In 1811 he pub. in the N.Y. M. d. Repository "An Explanation of Certain Curious Phenomena in the Heating of Water." TAUGHT his wife, dau. of Samuel Gilman, m. in 1788 (b. Exeter, N.H., 1762; d. there 2 May, 1837), was the author of "Adventures of Dorcasina Sheldon, or Female Quixotism" (2d ed. Newburyport, 12mo, 1808), and "The New Pleading Instructor."

Tenney, WILLIAM JEWETT, editor, b. Newport, R.I., 1811. Y. C. 1832. He completed and indexed Benton's Abridgment of the Debates of Congress; has edited Appleton's Annual Cyclop.; was editor N.Y. Jour. of Commerce, 1841, and N.Y. Evening Post, 1842-3 and 1847-8. Monist. Magazine, N.Y., 1873-60, 8 vols. 8vo; contrib. to Hunt's M. d. Mag.. Author of the "Milit. and Naval History of the Rebellion," 8vo, 1865; "Grammatical Analysis," 1866. — Albion.

Terhune, MARY VIRGINIA (cf. MARRON HALLAND?), novelist, b. Va. Her father, Sam. P. Hayes of Dorchester, is a merchant of Richmond, and a descendant of the Puritans; her mother is a descendant of the earliest settlers of Va. At 14 she began to contrib. to a weekly city journal. A fugitive sketch written at 16, entitled "Marrying through Prudential Motives," was copied from Godley's Lady's Book into an English paper, thence transferred to a Parisian journal, retranslated for another English periodical, and finally copied in American, and extensively circulated as an English story. In 1851 she pub. "Alone," a highly-successful novel, under the assumed name of Madon Harland; the "Hidden Path" followed in 1856; "Moss Side" in 1857; "Husbands and Homes," "Nonesis," "Sunnybank," 1858; "Christmas Holly," 1867; "Ruby's Husband" (1868); "Common Sense in the Household," a book of domestic receipts. 1871. In 1856 she m. Rev. E. P. Terhune, pastor of a Va. church, who in 1859 became pastor of the Dutch Ref. Church in Newark, New Jersey.

Ternant, CHEVALIER JEAN DE, a French officer, who served in the Amer. Revol. arm., d. Comches, Normandy, 1816. In Apr. 1778 he was app. one of Stueben's sub-intendant (rank major); Sept. 25, 1778, he was made lieutenant-col. and inspector of the troops in S.C. and Ga.; was taken prisoner at Charleston in 1780; was afterwards exchanged, and leaving temporarily filled the place of Col. Arnold resumed his duties in the south. He was a col. during the wars of the French revol.; and was ambassador to the U.S. in 1790-3. Ternant was a man of decided ability and remarkable accomplishments. — See Kapp's Lett. of Stueben.

Ternaux (tér-nô) Compans, HENRI, nephew of Baron Guillaume Louis; d. Dec. 1864. Has pub. 2 series of 10 vols. each of "Discours, Révolutions, et Mémoires," from incited Spanish MSS., relating to the discovery and conquest of America, — a work of incalculable value (Paris, 1836-40); "Billotéologie Américaine," 1499-1700" (8vo, Paris, 1847); and various other works.

Ternay, CHARLES LEWIS D'ARSADE, a French admiral; d. Newport, R.I., Dec. 15, 1780, a. 58. He was descended from an ancient and noble family of Bretagne, and entered the service in 1738. He invaded Newfoundland in 1762 in com. of a squadron; landed at St. John's June 2, reduced the place, and captured several vessels; resigned in 1772, and till 1779 was gov. of Bourbon and the adjacent isles. In 1780 he was ordered with a fleet to the U.S., carrying Rochambeau's army, and arrived at Newport, July 10, 1780, but died shortly afterwards.

Terrell, DR. WILLIAM, M. C. from Ga. 1817-21; d. Sparta, Ga., July 4, 1855. He was frequently a member of the State legisl.; took great interest in the promotion of agricultural science; and in 1853 gave $20,000 for the establishment of an agric. professorship in the U. of Georgia.

Terrill, GEN. WILLIAM R., b. Va. 1832, killed at the battle of Perryville, Ky., Oct. 8, 1862. West Point, 1853. 2d lieut. 4th Art. 4 Nov. 1853; was in the Florida war 1856-7. 1st lieut. 31 Mar. 1856; capt. 5th Art. 11 May, 1861. He then raised a regt. of vols., was sent to Ky., com. a battery in Gen. McCook's division, was assigned to com. a brigade in Gen. Buell's army, and was chief of art. 2d div. 30, and, for his bravery and ability at the battle of Shiloh, was made brig.-gen. of vols. Sep. 9, 1862.

Terry, AFRID HOWE, brig.-gen. U.S.A. b. Hartford, Ct., Nov. 10, 1827. Educated at Y.C., from which he received an hon. deg. in 1865; studied law; was adm. to the bar in 1848; was clerk of the N. Haven Co. Courts from June, 1851, to June, 1859. He had com. the N. Haven Co. (2d Regt.) since 1854, on May Apr. 1861 led it to the battle, seven 2. of Bull Run, returning in good order when the day was lost, bringing up the rear in the retreat, and saving a large amount of gov. property. He then raised the 7th Ct. Regt., which was attached to the exped. under Gen. T. W. Sherman; Nov. 7 it occupied the captured fort on Hilton Head; was employed in the investment of Fort Polaski, and on its capture was placed in charge of it. During the summer of 1862 he had com. of the posts and forts on the Atlantic coasts of Florida. Made brig.-gen. Mar. 24, 1862, and led a brigade in the battle of Pocotaligo; com. div. 10th corps, and engaged in the operations in Charleston harbor; also in Army of the James, and engaged at Drury's Bluff, Bermuda Hundred, Deep Bottom, siege of Petersburg, actions of Newmarket and Williamsburg Roads; com. 10th corps May to Dec. 1864; Jan. 15, 1865, at the head of the 1st div. 24th corps, aided by the fleet of Com. Porter, he carried by assault Fort Fisher, ending Confed. supremacy in Cape-Fear River; maj.-gen. of vols. and brig.-gen. U.S.A. Jan. 15, 1865; com. corps, and engaged in the capture of Wilmington, N.C., and action of North-east Creek, N.C.; brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A. for gallant and meritorious conduct at capture of Wilmington, North Carolina.

Terry, WILLIAM R., brig.-gen. Confed. army, b. Va.; killed in the assault on Fort Steadman, near Petersburg, March 25, 1865. He was educated at the Lexington Military Acad.; com. 24th Va. Regt., and wounded at Gettysburg; afterward com. a brigade.

Tertre, JOHN BAPTIST, a French missionary, b. Calais; d. Paris, 1687. After serving his country in the military and naval service, he became a Dominican friar, and, after a zealous prosecution of missionary labor in America, returned to Europe in 1658. Author of "A General History of the Antilles belonging to the French," 4 vols. 4to, 1667-71.

Teschemacher, J. E., geologist and naturalist; d. 1853. Author of "Concise Application of the Principles of Structural Botany to Horticulture," Boston, 1840; "Essay on Guano," 1845; "Chemical Field Lectures," from the German, 12mo, Cambridge, 1852.

Thacher, GEORGE, judge, b. Yarmouth, Ms., Apr. 12, 1754; d. Biddeford, Me., Apr. 6, 1824. H.U. 1776. He studied law, and in 1782 established himself in practice in Biddeford. A delegate to the Old Congress in 1787-8; M.C. 1789-1801; dist. judge in Me. 1792-1800; judge of the Sup. Court 1800-Jan. 1824; also a member of the conv. which framed the const. of Me. in 1819. He was a man of superior abilities, and was famous for his wit.

Thacher, JAMES, M.D., physician and author, b. Barnstable, Ms., 14 Feb. 1754; d. Plymouth, Ms., 24 May, 1844. He studied under Dr. Abner Hensley; joined the Revol. army at Cambridge in 1775 as a surgeon's mate under Dr. John Warren; was promoted to surgeon, and served through the war, being present at many of the principal battles. He kept a diary of the war, pub. in 1824 as a "Military Journal of the Revolution,"—a work of great historical value. In Mar. 1783 he settled in practice at Plymouth. Author of "Amer. New Dispensatory," 1810; "Hydrophobia," 1812; "Modern Practice of Physic," 1817; "Amer. Orhardist," 8vo, 1822; "Amer. Med. Biog.,"

2 vols. 8vo, 1828; "Management of Bees," 1821, 12mo; "Demonology, Ghosts," &c. 1831; and "History of Plymouth," 1832. He also contrib. many valuable papers to periodicals. He received the hon. d.g. of A.M. from H.U. 1808, and of M.D. in 1810. Member Ms. Med. Soc. and of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences.

Thacher, OXENBRIDGE, an eminent lawyer and patriot; d. July 8, 1765, a. 45. H.U. 1738. Grandson of R. v. P. of Milton, and son of Oxenbridge of Milton, who d. 1722, a 92. His delicate health compelled him to exchange the pulpit for the bar, where, as also in political life, his talents made him conspicuous. A representative from Boston when the first of the unpopular measures of the British govt. to raise a revenue in the Colonies was passed, he was their firm opponent. His pamphlet, "The Sentiments of British Americans" (1764), levelled against the Navigation Act, was very popular, and well adapted to the times. He also pub. "Considerations upon reducing the Value of the Gold Coins within the Province," 1760, — Eliot.

Thacher, PETER, first minister of Milton from Sept. 2, 1681, to his d. Dec. 23, 1727, b. Salem, July 18, 1651. H.U. 1671. Son of Rev. Thos. He preached to the neighboring Indians in their own language, and, being a physician, expended much of his salary in the purchase of medicines for the sick and indigent. He published "Unbelief Detected and Condemned," 1708; and some occasional sermons. — Sprague.

Thacher, PETER, minister of Attleborough from Nov. 30, 1748, to his d. Sept. 13, 1765, b. Middleborough, Jan. 25, 1716. H.U. 1737. Son of Peter, minister of Middleborough (1709-44). A vol. of his sermons was pub. after his death.

Thacher, PETER, D.D. (Edin's 1791), minister in Boston, b. Milton, Mar. 21, 1752, d. Savannah, Ga., Dec. 16, 1802. H.U. 1769. Son of Oxenbridge (ante). Sept. 19, 1770, he was ord. minister of Malden. During his residence there, he took an active part in the pre-Rev. measures; wrote, at the request of the Ms. com. of safety, a "Narrative of the Battle of Bunker's Hill," pub. in the "Journals" of the Prov. Congress, of which he was a member; draughted the spirited resolves and instructions recorded on the Malden records of 1775; was a delegate to the State Const. Conv. of 1780, and strenuously contended against establishing the office of gov., and finally to the title of "His Excellency." Often a chaplain of the State Regt. Installed over the Braintree Church, Boston, Jan. 12, 1775, and retained the pastorate till his death. He was an excellent preacher, possessed in a singular degree the gift of prayer, and was not less remarkable for his colloquial powers. Whitefield called him "the young Elijah." He was a member of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences, and of many N.E. literary and charitable institutions. March 5, 1776, he pronounced the annual oration commemorating the "Massacre," at Watertown, against "Standing Armies." He pub. 22 distinct works, among which were "Observations on the State of the Clergy in New England," 17-3; and "Memoirs of Dr. Boylston," 1789.

Thacher, PETER OKENBRIDGE, lawyer and jurist, b. Malden, Dec. 22, 1776; d. Boston, Feb. 22, 1843. H.U. 1796. Son of the preceding. He studied and practised law in Boston, and in 1823-43 was judge of its Municipal Court. The criminal cases of Judge Thacher, edited by Woodman in 1845, is a standard text-book. Member Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences.

Thacher, SAMUEL COOPER, Cong. clergyman, b. Dec. 4, 1785; d. of consumption at Moulins, France, Jan. 2, 1818. H.U. 1801. Son of the Rev. Peter, D.D. After visiting Europe with R.v. Mr. Buckminster in 1806, he was librarian of H.U. in 1808-11; and was ord. as successor of Dr. Kirkland, in the New South Church, Boston, May 15, 1811. Mr. Thacher was a fine scholar; and his contribs. to the periodical literature of the day were noted for purity of style, and elegance of diction. As a preacher he was fervent and impressive. A vol. of his sermons, with a Memoir, was pub. by his successor, Rev. F. W. P. Greenwood, 8vo, 1824.

Thacher, THOMAS, first minister of the Old South Church, Boston, from Feb. 16, 1670, to his d. Oct. 15, 1678; b. Eng. May 1, 1620. He emig. to Boston in 1635. Studied under Chauncy; was ord. minister of Weymouth, June 2, 1644; moved to Boston in 1654. He prepared a "Hebrew Lexicon," and was a good physician and a popular preacher. He pub. "A Brief Rule, &c., in the Small-Pox and Measles," 1677, 2d edition, 1702.

Thatcher, BENJAMIN BESSY, author, b. Warren, Me., Oct. 8, 1809; d. Boston, July 14, 1840. Bowd. Coll. 1826. His father Samuel was a disting. lawyer, and M.C. in 1802-5. The son studied law, and practised in Boston. He was a constant contrib. to the leading periodicals of the day. Pub. "Indian Biography," 1832; "Indian Traits," 1833; a "Memoir of Philip Wheatley;" "Traits of the Boston Tea-Party," 1835; "Tales of the Amer. Revol.," 1846; "Memoir of S. Osgood Wright," 16mo, 1834; "Tales of the Indians," 4mo, 1831. Edited the "Boston Book," 12mo, 1837. His poems are numerous, and mostly of a meditative and descriptive character.

Thatcher, HENRY KNOX, rear-admiral U.S.N., b. Thomaston, Me., 26 May, 1806. His grandfather was Gen. Henry Knox, Midshipm. March 4, 1823; lieut. Feb. 28, 1833; com. Sept. 14, 1855; capt. 1861; commo. July 3, 1862; rear-admiral, July 25, 1866; retir'd 26 May, 1868. Com. frigate "Constellation," Medit. squadron, 1862-3; com. steam-frigate "Colorado," N. Atl. block-squad, 1864-5, and in the two attacks on Fort Fisher, Dec. 1864 and Jan. 1865; afterward com. West Gulf squad., and co-operated with Gen. Canby in the reduction of Mobile; and May 10, 1865, he received the surrender of the Confed. naval force in those waters.

Thaxter, ADAM WALLACE, journalist and poet, b. Boston, 16 Jan. 1832; d. there 8 June, 1864. H.U. 1852. Camb. Law School, 1854. Dramatic and literary critic of the Boston Evening Gazette for 7 years, and author of some acting plays, including "The Regicide," a tragedy; a poem before the "Fadna" of H.U., Cambridge, 1850; "The Grotto Nymph," 1859.

Thayer, EDWIN D.D. (Dartm. 1807), minister of Kingston, N.H., from Dec. 18, 1776, to his d. Apr. 3, 1812, b. Braintree, Ms., March 29, 1747. N.J. Coll. 1769. He was a good scholar, and fitted many young men for college. A vol. of his sermons was pub. 1813.

Thayer, JOHN MILTON, U.S. senator from Nebraska 1867-71, b. Bellingham, Ms., 24 Jan. 1820. Brown U. 1841. Studied and practised law; settled in Nebraska in 1854; came here gen. of militia and member of the Terr. legis.; col. of vols. 1854; brig-gen. 13 Mar. 1863 for services at Fort Donelson and Shiloh; disting. at Vicksburg and Chickasaw Bayou, and promo. maj-gen. of volunteers.

Thayer, NAHASIELE D.D. (H.U. 1817), a Unitarian clergyman, b. Hampton, N.H., July 11, 1769; d. Rochester, N.Y., June 23, 1840. H.U. 1789. He commenced his ministry at Wilkesbarre, Pa., where he remained nearly a year; and, on his return to N.E. in 1793, he was settled at Lancaster, Ms., where he resided during the remainder of his life. 23 of his ocean discourses have been pub. His son NATHAN has been a munificent patron of H.U.

Thayer, MAJ. SAMUEL, Revol. officer, b. Mendon, Ms., Apr. 30, 1737; d. Cumberland, R.I., Oct. 14, 1800. In his youth he was an apprentice in R.I.; in 1756 served with the R.I. troops in the French war; in 1757 in the Ms. line under Col. Fife, and under Rogers the ranger; in Aug. 1757 was taken prisoner at Fort William Henry; in May, 1775, was app. capt. by the Gen. Assembly of R.I.; accomp. Arnold's exped. to Quebec, and was taken prisoner; was exchanged July 1, 1777; was app. maj. Jan. 1, 1777; was prominent in the defence of Red Bank and the brilliant victory there, and in the subsequent heroic defence of Fort Mifflin, for which he received a sword from the R.I. Assembly in July; was severely wounded in the battle of Monmouth in 1778; in 1780 was in Col. Angell's regt. in N.J.; and Jan. 1, 1781, retired from the service. His Journal of the Invasion of Canada in 1775, with notes and appendix by E. M. Stone, appeared in 1867.

Thayer, SYLVANUS, LL.D. (St. John's Coll. 1809), brv. brig-gen. U.S.A., b. Braintree, Ms., 19 June, 1785. Dartm. Coll. 1807. West Point, 1808. A.M. of Ken. Coll. 1846; H.U. 1857, member Amer. Philos. Soc. 1858. Entering the U.S. engin., he became chief engr. of Gen. Dearborn's army in 1812, and of Hampton's divs. 1813, and also his a depts. camp; capt. of engs. Oct. 1813; chief engr. in defence of Norfolk, Va. 1814; brig. ad. maj. to Gen. Porter, Jan. 1814-May, 1815; brv. maj. for services at Norfolk 20 Feb. 1815; brv. lieutenant, 3 Mar. 1823; sent with Col. McRae by the govt. to France and Belgium in 1815 to examine the fortifications in those countries; superint. West-Point Acad. 1817-33; maj. 24 May, 1828; lieut. col. 7 July, 1838; col. 3 Mar. 1863; brv. brig-gen. 51 May, 1863; resigned 1 June, 1863. Constructing engr. of the defences of Boston harbor 1833-57; and temporary chief of the engineer corps in 1857-9. Author of "Papers on Practical Engineering," &c., 8vo, 1844.

Thayer, WILLIAM MAKEPEACE, D.D., b. Franklin, Ms., 1820. Brown U 1843. Pastor of Cong. Church, A-land, Ms., 1849-68, now (1871) re-files in Franklin, Ms. Author of a number of religious and juvenile books, among them a series of popular biographies and "Youth's Hist. of the Rebellion," 4 vols., 1 64-6. Editor of the Home Monthly, and the Mother's Assistant; contrib. to the Congregationalist and to the Princeton Recorder. — Allibon.

Theller, DR. EDWARD ALEXANDER, journalist; d. Honitas, Cal., 1859. For his active participation in the Canadian rebellion in 1837, he was arrested, tried, convicted, and sentenced to death, but escaped from jail, came to the U. S., was a resident of N. York in 1841-2, where he published "Canada in 1837-8," 2 vols. 1841. He went to California in 1853, and was editor of the Public Ledger, and afterward of the Argos. He was at one time supt. of the public schools in San Francisco. — Hist. Mont., iii, 257.

Thom, JAMES, a self-taught Ayr-shire sculptor; d. N. Y. City, Apr. 17, 1850, a. 51. The celebrated group of Tam O'Shanter first raised Thom into notice, and, from the condition of an obscure, uneducated stone-cutter, secured for him fame and employment in London. Mr. Thom came to America ab. 1837 in pursuit of a person who had been previously sent over by the proprietors to exhibit his Tam O'Shanter and Old Mortality, but who, we believe, made no returns, or report of his proceedings. He succeeded in recovering a portion of the money for which it appeared these admirable works had been sold, and transmitted it to the proprietors, who had been his benefactors, determining to remain in Newark to pursue his profession. In exploring the country in that vicinity for stone adapted to his purposes, he brought into notice a fine free-stone quarry at Little Falls, which has since furnished the stone for the court house in Newark, Trinity Church, New York, and many other public buildings.

Thomas, BENJAMIN F., LL.D. (B. U. 1853), jurist, grandson of Isaiah, b. Boston, 12 Feb. 1813, removed to Worcester 1819. Brown U 1830. Adm. to the bar 1833; member Ms. legisl. 1842; judge of probate, Wore. Co., 1841-8; judge Ms. Sup. Court 1853-9; resumed practice in Boston; M. C. 1861-3. Author of "Law of Towns and Town-Officers," 1845; "Suggestions upon the Personal-Liberty Law," 1861.

Thomas, GEN. CHARLES, b. Pa. ab. 1800. Lieut. of ordinance Aug. 13, 1819; assist. commiss. Jan. 1824; assist. quarterm. May, 1826; capt. Apr. 1833; quarterm. (rank of major) July 7, 1838; brev. lieutenant for meritorious services in Mexico, May 30, 1848; dep. quarterm.-gen. (rank lieutenant-col.) May 23, 1850; assist. quarterm.-gen. (rank col.) Aug. 1, 1856; brev. major-gen. March 13, 1865, for faithful merit, and dist. services during the war; ret. July 29, 1866. — Gardner.

Thomas, DAVID, pomologist and agriculturist, b. Montgomery Co., Pa., 1776; d.

Cayuga Co., N. Y., 1859. Of Quaker parentage. Removed in 1805 to near Aurora, Cayuga Co., N. Y. Pub. in 1817 "Travels in the West," which led to his app. of chief eng. Erie Canal, west of Rochester; and was subsequently a principal eng. of the Welland Canal, Canada. Eminent as a florist and pomologist; his contributions to the Genesee Farmer led to great practical improvements, and more enlightened views of agriculture. — Thomas.

Thomas, EBENEZER SMITH, journalist, b. West Cambridge, Ms., 1775; d. Cinin 22 Oct. 1845. A relative of Isaiah, in whose office at Worcester he learned the printer's art. Established himself as a bookseller in Charlestown, S. C., in 1795, and edited the City Gazette in 1810-16; removed to Baltimore in 1816; was a member of the legisl. in 1818-19; and from 1829 to his death was a resident of Cincinnati, where he edited the Daily Advertiser in 1829-35, and the Evening Post in 1835-9. He pub. "Reminiscences of the Last 65 Years," 2 vols. 1840. Fred. Wm. and Lewis F. are his sons.

Thomas, FRANCIS, statesman, b. Frederick Co., Md., Feb. 3, 1799. St. John's Coll. Adm. to the bar in 1820; member of the house of delegates in 1822-27 and '29, when he was chosen speaker; M. C. 1831-41 and 1861-9; gov. of Md. 1841-4; pres. of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal 1839; member of the State Const. Conv. of 1850. He was one of the first men in Md. to warn the people of the approaching Rebellion, and raised a brigade of 3,000 vols., but declined a military app.; delegate to the Phila. Loyalist Conv. of 1866.

Thomas, FREDERICK WILLIAM, author and journalist, b. Providence, 25 Oct. 1808; d. Washington, D. C., 30 Sept. 1866. Son of E. S. Thomas. Adm. to the Baltimore bar in 1828. Removed to Cincinnati in 1830, and assisted his father in editing the Advertiser, contributing to it the song, "Tis said that Absence conquers Love," and "The Emigrants," a poem, pub. in 1833. Associate editor of the Democ. Intelligencer in 1834; of the Daily Evening Post in 1835; resided in Washington in 1841-50; was for a short time a minister in the M. E. Church in Cincinnati; afterward prof. of rhetoric and Eng. lit. in the Ala. U.; resumed the practice of law at Cambridge, Md., in 1858; and in 1860 took charge of the lit. dept. of the Richmond Empire. He was a successful lecturer, especially on "Eloquence," "Early Struggles of Eminent Men," &c. Author of "Clinton Bradshaw," a novel, 1835; "East and West," 1836; "Howard Pinckney," 1840; "The Beechen Tree, and Other Poems," 1844; "John Randolph of Roanoke, and Other Sketches of Character," 1853.

Thomas, GABRIEL, author of "A Hist. and Geog. Account of Pa. and Western N. J.," London, 12mo, 1697. He was a Quaker, and resided in this country in 1682-97.

Thomas, SIR GEORGE, bart., gov. of Pa. 1738-47; d. London, Jan. 11, 1775. He was previously a wealthy planter of Antigua, and a member of the council of that island. In 1752-66 he was gov. of the Leeward and Caribbee Islands. Created a baronet in 1766.

Thomas, GEN. GEORGE HENRY, b. Southampton Co., Va., 31 July, 1816; d. San Francisco, Cal., 28 March, 1870. West Point, 1840. His father was of Welsh, and his mother of French-Huguenot descent. Entering the 3d Art., he was brev. 6 Nov. 1841 for gallantry and good conduct in the Florida war; 1st lieut. 30 April, 1844; earned the brevets of capt. and major for gallantry at Monterey and Buena Vista 23 Sept. 1846 and 23 Feb. 1847; again served against the Seminole Indians in 1849-50; instr. of art. and engr. at West Point 1851-4; capt. 3d Art. 24 Dec., 1853; maj. 24 Cay. 12 May, 1855; served in Texas in 1856-60, in Red-river and Kowa expeditions, and wounded 26 Aug. 1860 near Clear Fork of Brazos River; lieut.-col. 25 Apr. 1861; col. 3 May, 1861; 5th Cav. 3 Aug. 1861; com. Brigade in action at Falling Waters 2 July, at Martinsburg, and at Banker Hill, Va.; brig.-gen. vols. 17 Aug. 1861; com. division of Army of Ohio, Nov. 1861 to 19 Mar. 1862, and com. at Mill Stream, Ky., defeating Zollikofer 19 Jan. 1862; com. the right wing, Army of Tenn., at Corinth, Miss.; second in com. of Army of the Ohio at battle of Perryville 8 Oct. 1862; com. 14th corps, Army of the Cumberland, Nov. 1862 to Oct. 1863, and engaged at Stone River and at Chickamauga, where he checked the enemy's advance, standing firm when the rest of the army had been routed, 21 Sept. 1863; com. the Dept. and Army of the Cumberland 19 Oct. 1863; brig.-gen. U.S.A. 27 Oct. 1863; in battles of Mission, Ridge, Ringgold, Dalton, Resaca, Cassville, Dallas, Kenesaw, siege of Atlanta, assault on Jonesborough and capture of Atlanta 2 Sept. 1864; defended Tenn. against Gen. Hood; won the battle of Franklin 30 Nov., and completely routed the Confd. army at Nashville 15-16 Dec., 1864, and was made maj.-gen. U.S.A. from 15 Dec., Mar. 3, 1865, he received the thanks of Congress for this eminent service, and from the legis. of Tenn., 2 Nov. 1865, a vote of thanks and a gold medal. Gen. Thomas was remarkable for simplicity of character, modesty, stability, and discretion. In Feb. 1868, Pres. Johnson having offered him the brev. of lieut.-gen., he declined the appointment, saying he had done nothing since the war to merit such promotion.

Thomas, ISAIAH, LL.D. (Alleg. Coll.), journalist and author, b. Boston, Jan. 19, 1749; d. Worcester, Ms., April 4, 1831. Moses, his father, died while he was yet a child. After an apprenticeship of 11 years to a printer, he at the age of 18 commenced business at Newburyport. In 1770 he transferred his establishment to Boston, and on 17 July, 1771, issued the first number of the Ms. Sp., in which appeared many bold and spirited appeals on the subject of the oppressive acts of parliament towards the Colonies. In 1771 Gov. Hutchinson sought to arraign Mr. Thomas to answer for an article which appeared in his paper; and the atty.-gen. endeavored to procure an indictment against him, but in vain. A few days after the battle of Lexington, in which he participated, he moved his printing-office to Worcester, where he continued to pub. his paper, with which he was connected till 1801; in 1801-19 it was pub. by Isaiah Thomas, jun.

In 1788 he opened a book-store in Boston under the firm of Thomas and Andrews, and also established branches of his publishing business in several parts of the U.S. They pub. the Ms. Magazine 1789-96 in 8 vols. In 1775 he commenced "The New-Eng. Almanac" continued with several titles 42 years. During many years, most of the Bibles and school-books throughout the continent emanated from his establishment at Worcester. In 1812 Mr. Thomas founded the Antiquarian Society of Worcester, of which he was pres., and a most liberal patron. He furnished his library with 7,000 or 8,000 books, besides tracts, and one of the most valuable series of newspapers in the country; erected a building for them on his own ground, and bought out the land and half, with a provision equal to $24,000 for its maintenance. Author of a valuable "History of Printing," 1810, 2 vols. 8vo.

Thomas, JAMES, Gov. of Md., 1839-61; d. St. Mary's Co., Md., Dec. 25, 1875, a. 61. He was a man of great worth, and held many public trusts.

Thomas, GUY, JOHN, b. Marshfield, Ms., 1725; d. Chambers, June 2, 1776. He practised medicine in his native town and in Keosauqua, Ms., and became an eminent practitioner. In 1746 he was surgeon to a regt. sent to Annapolis Royal, and in 1747 was on the medical staff of Shirley's regt., — a post where he exchanged soon after for that of a lieut. He became in 1750 a col. of provincials; was employed for a time in Nova Scotia; in 1759 com. a regt. and in Amherst at Crown Point, and with Col. Haveland, in August, 1760, co-operated in the capture of Montreal. He early enrolled himself among the "Sons of Liberty;" was an agent to the Prov. Congress; app. provincial brig.-gen. Feb. 9, and cont. brig.-gen. June 22, 1775; maj.-gen. March 6, 1776. During the siege of Boston he com. a brigade on the Roxbury side, against the British lines. On the evening of Mar. 4, 1776, with 3,000 men and intrenching tools, he took possession of Dog-hesler Heights, and, before dawn, formidable works had been thrown up. This strategic movement caused the British to evacuate the town Mar. 17. He was shortly after intrusted with the command in Canada, to lead the army before Quebec, May 1, but finding his effective force less than 1,000 men, 300 of whom refused to do duty (the small-pox being among the troops, and the enemy receiving reinforcements), he refused to raise the siege, and retreated. Before reaching Chamblee on the River St. John, he was attacked by small-pox, and died of that disease.

Thomas, JOHN, J., son of David, b. Cayuga Co., N.Y., 1810. Author of "A Treatise on Fruit-Cultivation," 1843. "Farm-Implements," &c., 1854. "List of the Bees," &c., 1858. 1859-79. "Farm-Implements and Farm Machinery," &c., 1869. "Assistants in the Farm," 1844-4. "A Treatise on Bees," 1841-53, and of the Contents of the Year, since 1852. — Amos.

Thomas, JOSEPH, M.D. of Philadelphia, with Thomas Baldwin, "Phrenology of Great Britain," 8vo, 1845. "U.S. Geog. Dict., 8vo, 1854. "Geog. Dict. of the World," 1855. Author of "Travels in Palestine and Egypt," 1853; "Medical Dictionary," 8vo, 1865; "Lippincott's Biog. Dictionary," 2 vols. imp. 8vo, 1870-1. The feature of the pronunciation of names has been introduced by him in his dictionaries with success. He was some time prof. of Latin and Greek in Haverford Coll., and has contrib. to various journals, also some of the vocabularies in Webster's Dictionary.

Thomas, J. R., musician and composer, b. Newport, S. Wales, 1830. First appeared with the Seguin troupe, about 1852, as the count in the "Bohemian Girl." He then began the career of composer and concert-singer. His best-known songs are, "The Cottage by the Sea," "Happy be Thy Dreams," "Some One to Love," "Tis but a Little Faded Flower." He has also written church-music, a selection of which was pub. 8vo, 1863.

Thomas, Gen. Lorenzo, b. Newcastle, Del., 26 Oct. 1804. West Point, 1823. App. capt. 23 Sept. 1836, and served in the Florida war in 1836-7 and 1839-40; assist. adj.-gen. (rank of major) July, 1838; brev. lieut.-col. for Monterey 23 Sept. 1846; maj. 4th Inf. 1 Jan. 1848; assist. adj.-gen. (rank lieut.-col.) 18 July, 1852; adj.-gen. (rank of brig.-gen.) 7 May, 1861; brev. maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865; resigned Feb. 2, 1869. In 1863 he occupied himself successfully in organizing colored troops in the West, and superintending the establishment of the free-labor system on abandoned plantations. 21 Feb. 1868, Pres. Johnson app. him sec. of war ad interim in place of E. M. Stanton, who, however, refused to give up the office.

Thomas, Gen. Puleston, b. N.C. 1764; d. Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 18, 1847. He was engaged in many skirmishes during the Revol. war. Resided some years in Ky., and was a member of its legisl.; afterwards removed to La.; and in 1810-11 headed the insurrection which threw off the yoke of Spain from W. Fla. Maj.-gen. of La. militia in U.S. service, Dec. 1814-Apr. 1815; M.C. from La. 1831-5.

Thomas, Philip Francis, statesman, b. Talbot Co., Md., Sept. 12, 1810. Adm. to the bar in 1831; member of the State Const. Conv. in 1836; of the State legisl. in 1838 and 1843-5; M.C. 1839-41; judge of the land-office court of the Eastern Shore of Md.; gov. 1848-51; commiss. of the U.S. patent-office in 1860; and in Dec. 1860 succeeded Howell Cobb as sec. of the treasury, resigning 11 Jan. 1861.

Thomas, Robler Bailly, of West Boylston, Ms., d. 19 May, 1846, a. 80; prepared for the press annually (1793-1846) the "Old Farmer's Almanac," which was exceedingly popular, reaching a sale of 225,000 copies in 1863.

Thomas, Theodore Gallard, M.D., b. Charleston, S.C., 1831. Charlest. Med. Coll. 1852. Since then, prof. of obstetrics, &c., in the Coll. of Phys. and Surgeons. Author of "Essay upon Prolapse of Funis," 1858; "Diseases of Women," 1868, 2d ed. 1869; "History of 9 Cases of Ovariotomy," 8vo, 1869. — Albion.

Thomas, Gen. Thomas, Revol. officer; d. at his seat in Harrison, Westchester Co., N.Y., May 29, 1824, a. 79. He com. a regt.

in 1776, and was in the battle of Harlem Heights and at White Plains. In the autumn of that year the enemy burnt his house, took his aged and patriotic father a prisoner to N.Y., and confined him in the provost, where he died through their inhuman treatment. Gen. Thomas was an active partisan officer till the peace, except during a brief term of captivity; and was afterwards frequently a member of the legislature. — Hoops.

Thompson, ABRAHAM G.; d. New York, Nov. 1851. He bequeathed $347,000 to various charitable societies.

Thompson, Col. Alexander Ramsay, b. N.Y. City 1792; killed 25 Dec. 1837. Son of Maj. Alexander, capt. of art. Revol. army (b. N.J.); d. West Point, L.I., 28 Sept. 1809). West Point, 1812. Capt. 1 May, 1814; brev. maj. 1 May, 1824; maj. 6th Inf. 4 Apr. 1832; lieut.-col. 6 Sept. 1837; disting. and killed at the battle of Okeechobee.

Thompson, Augustus Charles, D.D. (Amh. Coll. 1860), clergyman, b. Goshen, Ct., April 30, 1812. Y. C. 1841. He entered Y.C. in 1832; but ill-health prevented his completing the course. In 1838 he finished his studies at the theol. sem. at East-Windsor Hill, Ct.; afterward spent a year at the University of Berlin; and since July, 1842, has been pastor of the Unit. Cong. Church, Roxbury, Ms. In 1855-6 he was with Rev. Dr. Anderson a dep. to the missions in India. He has pub. "Songs in the Night," 1845; "The Lambs Fed;" "The Young Martyrs;" "Last Hours, or Words and Acts of the Dying," 1851; "The Poor Widow, a Memorial of Mrs. Anna J. Waters," 1854; "The Better Land, or Believer's Journey and Future Home," 1855; "The Yoke in Youth, a Memorial of H. M. Hill," 1851; "Gathered Lilies, or Little Children in Heaven," 1858; "Feeding the Lambs," 1859; "Eliot Sabbath-school Memorial," 1859; "Morning Hours in Patmos," 1860; "The Mercy-Seat;" "Seeds and Sheaves;" "Lyra Cælestis," 1863; "Christus Consolator," 1869.

Thompson, Sir Benjamin. — See RUMFORD.

Thompson, Cephas G., artist, b. Middleborough, Ms. Son of a portrait-painter, from whom he, with his bro. Jerome, acquired facility in the art. At 18 he painted portraits at Plymouth, afterwards in Providence, R.I.; had a studio in New York in 1837-47; resided in Italy in 1852-60; and has since practised his art in New York, having m. a sister of Mrs. Anna Mowatt Ritchie. Besides many portraits and copies from the old masters, he has painted "Angel of Truth," "Guardian Angels of Infancy," "Liberation of St. Peter," "Brigand's Daughter," "Mother's Prayer," and "Christy." — Tuckerman.

Thompson, Charles C. B., capt. U.S.N., b. Va.; d. Sept. 2, 1832. Midshipm. 22 Dec. 1802; lieut. 15 Feb. 1803; com. 27 Apr. 1816; capt. 3 Mar. 1825.

Thompson, Daniel Pierce, novelist, b. Charlestown, Ms., Oct. 1, 1795; d. Montpelier, Vt., June 6, 1868. Midd. Coll. 1820. His grandfather Daniel, of Woburn, a cousin of Count Rumford, fell in the battle of Lexington.

His father, being unsuccessful in business in Charlestown, emig. to Berlin, Vt. Daniel was brought up to farm-labors, but had scanty education, but, by making good use of his limited resources, qualified himself for school-keeping in the winter of 1815-16. After graduating, he became private tutor in a family in Va., and was adm. to the bar of that State. Returning home, he opened a law-office in Montpelier in 1824; was made register of probate; was in 1830-3 clerk of the leg. l.; and was app. compiler of a vol. of the statute laws; judge of probate of the Co. 1837-40; clerk of the Co. (1843-5) and Supreme Court; and in 1853 sec. of State. His literary career began at college in contributing to periodicals; but in 1835 he wrote for the N. E. Galaxy a prize tale, "May Martin, or the Money-Diggers." He pub. in 1849 "The Green-Mountain Boys;" in 1847 "Locke Amsden, or the Schoolmaster," involving much of his own autobiography; in 1850 "The Rangers, or the Toy's Daughter," a counterpart to the "Green-Mountain Boys," and, like that work, illustrative of Revol. history of Vt.; "Lucy Hosmer," 1848; "Gaut Gurley, or the Trapper of Lake Umbagog," 1857; "The Doomed Chief," 1860; "Hist. of Montpelier," 8vo, 1860; "Laws of Vermont," 1824-34, 8vo, 1835; "Adventures of Timothy Peacock," 1835. — Dupleck.

Thompson, EDGAR, capt. U.S.A., b. New York, June 10, 1822. Midship. Mar. 13, 1837; lieut. Sept. 27, 1850; com. July 16, 1862; capt. July 26, '67. Attached to Wilkes's expl. expd. 1838-42. He participated in all the operations of the home squadron in the Mexican war; com. the ironclad "Pittsburg" in the attack on Ft. Donelson, on Island No. 10, and floating battery; attack on batteries opposite New Madrid; and in the action with Confed. rams above Fort Pillow. Com. steamer "Com. McDonough," S.A.B. squad, 1864-5; steam-sloop "Dacotah," S. Pacif. squad, 1866-7. — Hearse's q.

Thompson, GEORGE W., lawyer, b. Ohio, 1806. J.F. Coll. 1826. T.S. dist. atty. West Va. 1849; M.C. from Wheeling dist. 1851-2, and left Congress for the bench. Author of "The Living Forces of the Universe," &c., 12mo, 1856; "Address on Com. Schools," 1841; "Right of Virginia to the N.W. Territory;" "Life of Hon. Linn Boyd;" and contrib. to Boston Quar. Review, 1839-42. — Atholour.

Thompson, JACOB, politician, b. Caswell Co., N.C., 15 May, 1810. U. of N.C. 1831. Adm. to the bar in 1834. He removed in 1835 to the Chickasaw country, Mpi; and applied himself to its improvement so successfully as to be made its rep. in Cong. in 1839-51. Some years chairman of the com. on Indian affairs, and a zealous defender of Mississippi and the Democ. party when the cry of "reputation" was ringing throughout the land. He opposed the compromises of 1850, as not conceding enough to the South. Sec. of the interior Mar. 1857-7 Jan. 1861; resigning on the ground that the attempt to re-occupy Fort Sumter violated a distinct understanding entered into with the cabinet. In Dec. 1860 he was app. by the Mpi. leg. l. a commiss. on behalf of that State to urge upon N.C. the adoption of an ordinance of secession. Gov. of Mpi 1862-4. During the Rebellion he was aide to Gen. Beauregard, and insp. gen. for the dept. of Mississippi.

Thompson, JOHN, political writer; d. Petersburg, Va., 1789, a. 22. Author of articles in the Petersburg Gazette, signed "Cassia" and "Graculus," hostile to Adams's administration. His Life was written by George Hay. His letters signed "Curtius," addressed to Chief Justice Marshall in 1798, were pub. 12mo, 1804.

Thompson, JOHN R., author, b. Richmond, Va., Oct. 23, 1823. U. of Va. He studied law in the office of James A. Seldon, and in the law school of the university; was in 1845 adm. to the bar; and in 1847 became editor of the Southern Ed. Messenger at Richmond, filling that post for many years. Besides his contributions to this and other literary journals, he has delivered numerous addresses at colleges, and several lectures. His pen was active in behalf of the Rebellion, during which he escaped to England, and contributed to the Index, Morning Herald, and Blackwood, since 1869, one of the editors of N. Y. Evening Post.

Thompson, JOSEPH PARISH, D.D. (H.U. 1856), LL.D. (U. of N.Y. 1868), clergyman, b. Phila. Aug. 7, 1819. Y.C. 1838. He studied theology at Andover and New Haven; was ord. pastor of the Chapel-st. Cong. Church, N. Haven, in Nov. 1840; and since Apr. 1845 has had charge of the Broadway Tabernacle Church, N.Y. He was one of the originators of and a contrib. to the New-Englander, and of the Independent newspaper. In 1852-4 he visited Europe and the East. The fruits of his Oriental studies have appeared in the N. A. Review, Bibliotheca Sacra, "Journal of the Amer. Geographical and Statistical Society," Smith's "Dictionary of Biblical Geography and Antiquities," and Kitto's "Cyclopaedia of Biblical Lit." Besides sermons, addresses, and pamphlets, Dr. Thompson has pub. "Memoir of Timo. Dwight," 1844; "Lectures to Young Men," 1846; "Hints to Employers," 1847; "Memoir of David H. H.," 1850; "Foster on Missions, with a Preliminary Essay," 1850; "Stray Meditations," 1852; "The Bible's Refuge," 1857; "Egypt, Past and Present," 1856; "Memoir of Rev. David T. Stoddard," 1858; "The Christian's Graces," 1859; "Love and Penalty," 1860; "The Sergeant's Memorial," 1863; "Christianity and Emancipation," 1863; "The Holy Comforter," 1866; "Man in Genesis and Geology," 1869; "Theology of Christ," 1870.

Thompson, LAUREN, sculptor, b. Queen's Co., Ireland, 1833. Came to the U.S. at 14, and in the office of Dr. Armsby studied drawing. For 9 years he worked in Palmer's studio, and went in Nov. 1858 to New York, where he found ample employment. Among his best works are a bust of Edwin Booth as Hamlet; a bass-relief of "Elaine;" a colossal bust of Bryant; a medallion likeness of Gen. Dix; "Morning Glory," a bass-relief; a design for a statue of Gen. Sedgwick; and of a colossal statue of Napoleon — Underman.

Thompson, SMITH, LL.D. (Y.C. 1824; H.U. 1835), jurist, b. America, N.Y., 1767; d. Poughkeepsie, Dec. 18, 1843. N. J. Coll. 1788.

Studied law with Chancellor Kent, and became dist.-atty. in the middle dist. of N.Y. in 1801; judge of the Supreme Court 1802-14; chief justice 1814-18; sec. of the navy 1818-23; associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court from 1823 until his death.

Thompson, Waddy, lawyer and M.C., b. Pickensville, S.C., Sept. 8, 1798; d. Tallahassee, Fla., Nov. 23, 1868. S.C. Coll. 1814. Adm. to the bar in Dec. 1819, and attained a high rank in the profession. Served in the legisl. of S.C. 1826-30; was at one time solicitor for the western circuit; was brig.-gen. of militia; M.C. 1835-41, serving in 1840 as chairman of the com. on military affairs; and in 1842 was app. minister to Mexico, where he negotiated two important treaties, and procured the release of more than 200 Texan prisoners. He had been a cotton-planter in Fla., but resided at his homestead near Greenville, S.C., where his father, Judge Waddy, d. 9 Feb. 1845. Author of "Recollections of Mexico," 8vo, 1846.

Thompson, William, brig.-gen. Revol. army, b. Ireland; d. at his seat near Carlisle, Pa., Sept. 4, 1781. He was a capt. of horse in the Pa. service in the French war (1759-60). He afterwards lived at Pittsburg, where he was joint purchaser of the buildings of old Fort Pitt. In June, 1775, Capt. Thompson was app. col. of the regt. of riflemen which marched to the camp at Cambridge; and, Nov. 10, had a skirmish with the British at Lechmere Point. He was made brig.-gen. March 1, 1776; succeeded Lee in command at New York, Mar. 19; and in April was ordered to Canada to reinforce Gen. Sullivan, by whose orders he attacked the enemy at Three Rivers, June 6, where, by a series of unfortunate accidents, he and several other officers were taken prisoners. He returned to Phila. in Aug. on parole, but was not exchanged for more than two years. — Phila. Packet, Sept. 15, 1781.

Thompson, Zadock, naturalist, b. Bridgewater, Vt., May 23, 1796; d. Burlington, Vt., Jan. 19, 1856. U. of Vt. 1823. Tutor in 1825, and in 1851 prof. of chemistry and nat. history, in that institution. In 1833 he removed to Hatley, C.E., where, and in Sherbrooke, he was a teacher; pub. a "Geography of Canada," and studied theology. Ord. deacon in the Prot.-Ep. Church, May 27, 1835; returned to Burlington in 1837, and taught in the Vt. Epis. Institute; State geologist 1845-8. He collected and preserved over 3,000 specimens of the productions of Vt. State naturalist from 1853 to his d. He began authorship with an almanac for 1819; subsequently made astronomical calculations for the Vt. Registers, and for 34 years made similar calculations for Waltton's Register. He pub. "Gazetteer of Vt.," 1824; an "Arithmetic," 1825; edited the Iris and Burlington L.A. Gazette, 1828; Green Mountain Repository, 1832; and in 1843 pub. his great work, the "Natural, Civil, and Statistical History of Vt.," pub. with an Appendix in 1853; "Geography and Geology of Vt.," 12mo, 1848; "Journal of a Trip to London, Paris, and the Great Exhibition of 1851." In June, 1850, he delivered the annual address before the Boston Society of Nat. Hist., on the "Geology of Vermont."

Thomson, Charles, LL.D. (N.J. Coll.

1822), sec. of Congress during the Revol. war. b. Maghera, Derry, Ireland, 29 Nov. 1729; d. Lower Marion, Montg. Co., Pa., 16 Aug. 1824. In 1741 he with his 3 sisters landed at Newcastle, D.-I., with no other dependence than their industry. Educated by Dr. Allison, he became a teacher at the Friends' Acad. at Newcastle. Removing to Phila., he obtained the advice and friendship of Dr. Franklin. In 1758 he was one of the agents to treat with the Indians at Oswego. The Delawares adopted him, and conferred on him an Indian name which means "one who speaks truth." Sole sec. of Congress from 1774 to 1789, his services were most efficient. John Adams in his Diary describes him as "the Sam Adams of Phila., the life of the cause of liberty." He was a good classical scholar. Author of a "Harmony of the Four Gospels," a translation of the Old and New Testaments, and an "Inquiry into the Cause of the Alienation of the Delaware and Shawnee Indians," &c., 1759. He m. Hannah Harrison, aunt of Pres. Harrison.

Thomson, Charles West, Prot.-Epis. clergyman, b. Phila. 1798. Author of "The Linnæus," 12mo, 1822; "Phantom Burge and Other Poems," 1822; "Ellinor and Other Poems," 1826; "The Sylph and Other Poems," 1828; "Love of Home and Other Poems," contrib. to Doughty's Cabinet of Natural History, "Atlantic Souvenir," "The Gift," "The Token," and other annals, German's Mag., and other periodicals. — Albion.

Thomson, Edward, D.D. (Asb. U. 1846), LL.D. (Wesleyan U. 1855), bishop M. E. Church, b. Portsea, Eng., Oct. 1810; died Wheeling, Va., 22 Mar. 1870. He came to America in 1819; studied medicine at Phila. and Cincinnati, and began practice in 1829. In 1833 he entered the ministry of the M. E. Church, and was stationed successively at Newark, Sandusky, Cincinnati, Wooster, and Detroit; in 1837-44 he was pres. of the Newark Sem., then became prof. of mental and moral philos. in the U. of Mich., and edited the Ladies' Repos. until chosen pres. of the Ohio West. U. in 1846. At the gen. conf. in 1860 he was elected editor of the Christian Advocate, N.Y. Elected bishop 1864, and made soon after a voyage round the world. Author of "Moral and Relig. Essays," "Biog. and Incidental Sketches," "Educational Essays," 1856, and "Letters from Europe."

Thomson, Samuel, M.D., botanist, and originator of the Thomsonian system of Medical Treatment, b. Alstead, N.H., 9 Feb. 1769; d. Boston, 1843. Author of "Materia Medica and Family Physician;" "New Guide to Health," 1849; "Life and Medical Discoveries," Boston, 1822 and 1832. Many years a resident of Boston.

Thomson, Col. William, Revol. officer, b. Pa. 1727; d. Sweet Springs, Va., Nov. 22, 1796. A relative of Charles, sec. of Cong. His parents, who were Irish, removing to St. Matthew's Parish, S.C., young Thomson grew up a frontiersman, and excelled as a marksman. In March, 1771, he com. a regt. under Tryon against the Regulators. Sheriff of Orangeburg in 1772; member of the Prov. legisl.; of the first State conv.; and in June, fulness). A founder of the N.E. Hist. General Soc., a vice-president of the Amer. Statistic Assoc., and of the Prince Publication Soc. He has pub. Lives of Isaac Heath, John Bowles, and Rev. John Eliot, jun., 1850; "Landing at Cape Ann," 8vo, 1854; "Ancient Pemaquid," 1857; "First Records of Anglo-American Colonization;" "Review of Oliver's Puritan Commonwealth," 1857; "Colonial Schemes of Popham and Gorges," 1863; and "Pulpit of the Amer. Revolution," 1860. Nov. 21, 1870, he delivered an address before the N.E. Hist. Gen. Soc. on the 230th anniv. of the signing of the compact in the cabin of "The Mayflower." Contrib. to Hist. Mag. and other periodicals.

Thornton, MATTHEW, COL., a signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Ireland, 1714; d. Newburyport, Ms., June 24, 1803. He came to America at an early age; lived a few years at Wiscasset; thence removed to Worcester, Ms., where he received an academic education; and afterwards settled as a physician at Londonderry, N.H., whence he removed to the banks of the Merrimack about 1780. He accomp. Pepperell's exped. against Louisburg in 1745 as a surgeon; was a col. of militia; and in 1775 presided over the conv. which assumed the govt. in the name of the people of the Colony. He was for a short time a delegate to Congress, taking his seat Nov. 4, 1776; and was a signer of, though not present to vote for, the Declaration. He held the office of chief justice of the Co. of Hillsborough, and afterwards that of judge of the Supreme Court of the State until 1782; was subsequently a member of the house and of the senate, and in 1785 of the council. He possessed an exceedingly tenacious memory, and uncommon powers of mind.

Thornton, SIR WILLIAM, an Eng. gen.; d. Stanhope Lodge, near Hanwell, Eng., Apr. 6, 1840. Ensign 89th Foot, March 21, 1796; obtained a majority in 1806, and in Aug. 1807 was app. milit. sec. and first-aid-de-camp to Gen. Craig, gov. of Canada. Returning to Eng. in 1811, he was in 1813 app. to the com. of the 85th Regt., with which he served in the engagements consequent upon the passage of the Rivers Bidassoa, Nivelle, Nive, and Adour, and received a medal for the battle of the Nive. In May, 1814, he com. the light brigade and advance of Gen. Ross's exped. in the first operations in the Chesapeake; and at the battle of Bladensburg, in which he was severely wounded and made prisoner; but, being exchanged for Com. Barney, he proceeded in Oct. following with the army destined against New Orleans. He com. the advance of the army on the landing of the troops, and in the severe conflict which afterwards took place. He was engaged in all the subsequent affairs which took place in that service until the general attack on the American lines, Jan. 8, 1815, when he com. a detached corps on the right bank of the M^p. with a co-operating flotilla of the navy, and was severely wounded; lieut.-gen. 1838.

Thornwell, JAMES HENLEY, D.D., clergyman and scholar, b. Marlborough Dist., S.C., 1811; d. Charlotte, N.C., Aug. 1, 1862. S.C. Coll. Dec. 1829. He began to study law, but soon became minister of Waxhaw (Presb.) Church. In 1836-8 he was prof. of logic and belles-lettres in S. C. Coll.; pastor of the church at Columbia, S.C., 1838. In 1840 he was made prof. of the evidences of Christianity, and chaplain on the resignation of Mr. Eliot, but in May, 1852, exchanged this position for the charge of Glebe-street Church, Charleston; and in Dec. 1852-6 was pres. of the S.C. College. He had the charge of the Presb. Theol. Sem. in Columbia until his death. Besides sermons, he pub. "Arguments of Romanists discussed and refuted in Relation to the Apocryphal Books of the Old Testament," N.Y. 1845; "Discourses on Truth," 1855; and several articles in the South. Presb. Review. He wrote with zeal and ability in advocacy of secession and slavery. His works have been coll. and pub. by John B. Adger, D.D., 2 vols. 8vo, 1871. — Dupkinck.

Thorpe, THOMAS BANGS, author and painter, b. Westfield, Ms., March 1, 1815. His father Thomas, a clergyman of literary genius, d. in N.Y. City at the early age of 26. The son passed 3 years at the Middletown West. U.; but, his health failing him, he became a resident of La. in 1836-53. In 1862-3 he was city surveyor of N. Orleans under Gen. Butler. In early life he displayed a taste for painting, but soon became known as the author of a series of Western tales, adopting the name of "Tom Owen, the Bee-Hunter," a new collection of which, entitled "The Hive of the Bee-Hunter," was pub. in N.Y. 1853. For many years he edited a paper in N. Orleans in the interest of Henry Clay. He disting. himself by his zeal in raising vols. for the Mexican war, and was bearer of despatches to Gen. Taylor after the taking of Matamoros. He pub. in 1846 "Our Army on the Rio Grande;" followed by "Our Army at Monterey;" "Mysteries of the Backwoods," 1846; "Linda Weiss, an Autobiography," 8vo, 1854; "A Voice to America, the Model Republic," 8vo, 1855. He was an active and effective speaker in the political campaign which resulted in the election of Gen. Taylor to the presidency. To Harpur's Mag. he has contrib. descriptive articles on Southern life and products, and "The Case of Lady Macbeth Medically Considered." In 1860 he exhibited his large picture, "Niagara as It Is;" and has since divided his time equally between literature and art.

Throop, ENOS T., gov. of N.Y. 1831-3, b. Johnstown, N.Y., Aug. 21, 1784. Acquired, while performing the duties of an attorney's clerk, a classical as well as legal education, and settled in Auburn; was M.C. in 1815-16; elected circuit judge in 1823; in 1829 was lieut.-gov.; and in 1838 was app. chargé d'affaires to the Two Sicilies.

Thruston, JOHN BUCKNER, judge, b. Va. 1763; d. Washington, D.C., Aug. 30, 1845. Son of CHARLES MYNS (b. Gloucester Co., Va., 1738; d. 21 Apr. 1812; Wm. and Mary Coll. 1754), a disting. Revol. officer, subsequently pres. judge of Frederick Co. Court, who in 1809 emig. to Ky. The fine abilities and liberal attainments of Judge Thruston brought him early into public life. App. U.S. judge in the Terr. of Orleans in 1805; U.S. senator 1805-Jan. 1810, when he was app. associate judge of the U.S. Circuit Court, which post he held till his death.

Thumb, Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Charles S. Strafford). He was b. Bridgeport, Ct., Jan. 1832. First introduced to the public by P. T. Barnum at the N.Y. Museum, Dec. 8, 1842. Visited Europe in Feb. 1844; m. Lavinia Warren, Feb. 10, 1863. She was b. Middleborough, Ms., Oct. 31, 1842. The pair visited Europe in 1865.

Thurston, Asa, Cong. clergyman, and missionary to the Sandwich Islands; b. Fitchburg, Ms., Oct. 12, 1787; d. Honolulu, March 11, 1868. Y.C. 1816; And. Theol. Sem. 1819. Until the age of 22, he was a seych-maker, and was a very athletic man. Ord. a missionary in 1819, he sailed with his wife, reached the Sandwich Islands March 30, 1820, and for more than 40 years resided at Kailua, Hawaii. He was the instructor of two of the kings, and the translator of a large portion of the Bible. — Y. C. Oct. Record.

Tichenor, Isaac, LL.D. statesman, b. Newark, N.J., Feb. 8, 1754; d. Bennington, Vt., Dec. 11, 1838. N. J. Coll. 1775. While studying law at Schenectady, N.Y., early in 1777, he was app. assist. commiss.-gen., and stationed at Bennington, where he practised law, and became prominent in public affairs. A representative in 1781-4; agent of the State to Congress in 1782; member of the State council 1787-92; judge of the Supreme Court 1791-4; chief justice 1795-6; member of the council of censors in 1792 and 1813; commiss. for adjusting the controversy with N.Y. 1791; U.S. senator 1796-7; gov. 1797-1807 and 1808-9; and again U.S. senator 1815-21.

Ticknor, Caleb B., M.D. physician of N. Y., b. Salisbury, Ct., 1805; d. N.Y. City, 19 Sept. 1849. He was one of 3 bros., physicians. Educated at the Berkshire Institute. He adopted homoeopathy, and was a skillful physician. He wrote much for the medical journals, and pub. "Philosophy of Living," a popular work, and a treatise on Medical Philosophy, 12mo, 1838. Litchin, his bro., also a physician, b. Jericho, Vt., 1791, d. Salisbury, Ct., 1846. He was a self-made man, of great energy and perseverance, and was pres. of the Ct. Medical Society.

Ticknor, George, LL.D. (H. U. 1850), scholar and author, b. Boston, Aug. 1, 1791; d. there 20 Jan. 1871. Dartm. Coll. 1807. After a diligent study of the classics, he turned his attention to law, and was adm. to the bar in 1813; in 1815 he went to Europe, pass'd two years at Göttingen in philological studies, and two years more in various capitals, making the acquaintance of Southey and Walter Scott; chosen in 1817 to the new professorship of modern literature at H.U., he returned home in 1820, and for 15 years occupied this important position. Resigning in 1835, he visited Europe again with his family, and made extensive collections of Spanish literature, the history of which, commenced upon his return in 1840, was pub. in 3 vols. in 1849. It at once took its position as a standard contribution to the history of literature. Beside the research displayed in this great work, his labors as a translator are acknowledged to be exact and felicitious. It has been translated into the Spanish and German. One of the founders of the Boston Public Library, and in 1864-5 pres. of the board of trustees. His other publications are "The Remains of Nathaniel Appleton Haven," a Life of Lafayette, in the N. A. Review of 1855; "Life of Wm. H. Prescott," 1863; and contribs. to the Monthly Catalogue, and the N. A. Review. Member of the Amer. Academy, Amer. Philos. Soc., Ms. Hist. Soc., London Antiq. Soc., and corresp. sec. of the Royal Hist. Acad. of Spain.

Ticknor, George, lawyer and journalist, b. Loston, Apr. 11, 1822; d. Keene, N.H., Dec. 25, 1866. Dartm. Coll. 1847. He began to practise law at Lebanon in 1850, and at Claremont in 1851; solicitor for Sullivan Co. 1855-9; and was afterward editor and proprietor of the N.H. Standard at Keene. He pub. "Gazetteer and Biog. Sketches of N.H."

Ticknor, William D., publisher, b. Lebanon, N.H., 1810; d. Phila. April 10, 1864. Began book-business in Boston in 1832; was the founder and head of the well-known house of Ticknor and Fields. Was the publisher of the works of Longfellow, Holmes, Saxe, Whittier, Lowell, and other leading authors, English and American, and of the Atlantic Monthly, a magazine of high merit and extensive circulation.

Tidball, John C., brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Ohio Co., Va. West Point, 1848. Entering the 3d Art., he accomp. Whipple in his explorations for a Pacific-railroad route in 1859-4; capt. 2d Art. May 14, 1861, and participated in the battles in Va.; com. an art. brigade at Gettysburg; col. 4th N.Y. Art. 28 Aug. 1863, which he led in the battles of the Wilderness; brev. brig.-gen. Aug. 1, 1864, and com. the art. brigade of the 9th corps; and, for gallant and meritorious services at Fort Steadman and Sedgwick, was made brev. maj. gen. Apr. 2, 1865. He had previously earned the bayonets of maj. U.S.A. for Games's Mill 27 June, 1862; lieut.-col. 17 Sept. 1862 for Antietam; col. 13 Mar. 1865 for Fort Steadman; and brig.-gen. for gallant and merit. services during the Rebellion; maj. 2d Art. 5 Feb. 1867. — Col. Com.

Tiffany, Osmond, of Springfield, Ms.; b. Balt., Md., 1823. Author of the "Canton Chinese," &c., 1849; "Life of Gen. Ohio H. Williams," 8vo, 1851; "Brandon, a Tale of the Amer. Colonies;" contrib. to Appleton's Cyclop., and to reviews and magz. — Atlantic.

Tiffin, Edward, M.D. (U. of Pa. 1789), the first gov. of Ohio under the constitution of 1802 (1803-7), b. Carlisle, Eng., June 19, 1766; d. Chillicothe, Ohio, Aug. 9, 1829. He emig. to the U.S. in 1786, and settled in Charlestown, Va. In 1789 he m. Mary, sister of Gov. Thomas Worthington. Removed to Chillicothe, O., in 1798. Speaker of Terr. legist. in 1799; pres. of Ohio Const. Conv. in 1802; U.S. senator 1807-9; in 1812 app. by Pres. Madison commissioner of the gen. land office; resigned in 1815, when app. surveyor-gen. of the North-west, which position he held until a short time before his death. — A. T. Coleridge.

Tilden, Samuel J., lawyer and Democ. politician, b. New Lebanon, Col. Co., N.Y., 1814. His father was a farmer, whose ancestors settled at Scituate, Ms., in 1636. He studied at Y. C. and in N. Y. City; was a delegate to the Assembly in 1846; in the Const. Convs. of 1846 and of 1867; and since 1861 has been chairman of the Democ. State Conv. He has been many years prominent in N. Y. politics, and was the trusted adviser of Dean Richmond. He has opened and spoken before many political meetings of his party, has been engaged in many important trials, and has been extensively concerned in railroad enterprises, especially in the West.

Tilghman, EDWARD, an eminent lawyer of Phila., b. Wye, on the Eastern Shore of Md., Dec. 11, 1750; d. Nov. 1, 1815. He studied in the best schools of Phila., and in the Middle Temple, London, in 1772-4. He was long a successful practitioner at the Phila. bar; and, on the death of Chief Justice Shippen, the office was tendered to him, but he declined it, and recommended for the app. his kinsman William Tilghman.

Tilghman, GEN. LLOYD, b. Md. 1816; killed in the battle of Baker's Creek, Mpi., May 16, 1863. West Point, 1836. 2d lieutenant. 1st Dragoons until Sept. 1836; he then resigned, and was a railroad engr. until 1841. During the Mexican war he was aide to Col. Twiggs at Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma; com. a body of vols. in Oct. 1846; superintended the defences of Matamoros in Jan. 1847; com. a light-artillery company in Col. Hughes's regt. May, 1847—July 24, 1848; became principal assist. engineer on the western division of the Panama Railroad in 1849; afterward settled in Ky., and, when the civil war began, was app. by the State authorities, who then proposed to remain neutral, to com. the eastern division of the State militia, with the rank of col. He became a gen. in the Confed. army; com. at Fort Henry, and was included in its surrender to Flag-Officer Foote, Feb. 6, 1862. He was confined in Fort Warren, in Boston harbor, but was exchanged in July, and afterward attached to the army under Gen. Bragg, and ordered to Vicksburg.

Tilghman, COL. TENCH, b. Baltimore, 1744; d. there April 18, 1786. Son of James, and bro. of Judge Wm. Tilghman. Before the Revol. he was a merchant. Was confidential sec. and aide-de-camp to Washington (app. Aug. 1776) during the Revol.; app. lieutenant Apr. 1777. He bore to Congress the news of the surrender of Cornwallis, who, Oct. 29, 1781, voted him their plaudit of his merit and abilities. Washington said of him in 1781, "He has been in every action in which the main army was concerned, and has been a faithful assistant to me for nearly 5 years, a great part of which time he refused to receive pay."

Tilghman, WILLIAM, LL. D. (H. U. 1814), jurist, b. Talbot Co., Md., Aug. 12, 1756; d. Phila. April 30, 1827. James, his father, was sec. of the proprietary land-office, and member of the council. After the removal of the family to Phila., Wm. studied law under Benj. Chew in 1772; was adm. to the Md. bar in 1783, and in 1793 began practice in Phila.; app. chief judge of the U. S. Circuit Court, Mar. 3, 1801 (the law establishing this office was repealed the next year, when he resumed practice); was in July, 1805, app. president of the C. C. P. in the first dist.; and in Feb., 1806, chief justice of the State Sup. Court. In 1788, and several successive years, he was a member of the Md. legisl. He was elected president of the Philos. Society in 1824. He prepared in 1809, by direction of the legisl., a report of the English statutes in force within the State. Pub. in 1818 a eulogium on Dr. Wi-tar, and in 1820 an address before the Phila. Soc. for promoting Agriculture. — See Life by J. Gobler, 8vo, 1829.

Tillary, JAMES, M. D., physician, b. Scotland; d. N. Y. 1818, a. ab. 67. After receiving a good classical and medical education, the latter at Edinburgh, he became a surgeon in the British army, with which he came to New York at an early period of the Revol. war. For more than 40 years he practised medicine and surgery in that city, displaying high professional merit. Many years pres. of the N. Y. Med. Society. During the pestilence of 1795 and '98 he devoted himself to his suffering fellow-citizens, by whom he was afterward rewarded with the office of resident physician. — Teacher.

Tilley, CHEV. LE GARDEUR DE, a French naval officer, of a Canadian family, of which M. de St. Pierre (on the Ohio in 1753) was of the other branch, — the Le Gardieur de Repentigny. He in 1781 com. the squadron which pursued Arnold in Chesapeake Bay, and took "The Romulus" (44) and several transports. In 1789 he was a commodore, and com. the 8th squadron at Rochefort.

Tilley, SAMUEL LEONARD, Canadian statesman, b. Queen's Co., N. B., 8 May, 1818. Educated at the grammar-school. Entered the Assembly from St. John's in 1851; member of the govt. and prov. sec. of New Brunswick Nov. 1854—May, 1855; re-app. in July, 1857, and was leader of the govt. Mar. 1861—Mar. 1865; member of the govt. and prov. sec. since Apr. 1866; delegate to Canada upon the questions of inter-colonial trade and railways 1861-3, and in 1864 on the question of union; also to the imperial govt. on the same subjects in 1861-2 and in 1866-7; minister of customs in the Dominion govt. since 1867. — Men of the Time.

Tillinghast, FRANCIS, judge, b. R. I. 1743; d. E. Greenwich, R. I., 26 Aug. 1821. An active patriot of the Revol.; was some time member of the Assembly; M. C. 1797-9 and 1801-3; some years judge of the Supreme Court.

Tillinghast, JOSEPH LEONARD, lawyer and scholar, b. Taunton, Ms., 1791; d. Providence, R. I., Dec. 30, 1844. Brown U. 1819. He removed to R. I. in his boyhood; studied law, and devoted himself to its practice in Providence with marked success; and to him is due the improved judiciary and free-school system of the State. Many years a representative to the State Assembly, during a great part of the time filling with great ability the post of speaker; and was M. C. in 1837-43. He pub. "Oration on Gen. Greene," 1813; "Eulogy on Adams and Jefferson," 1826; "Address on Domestic Industry," 1827; speeches in Congress, &c.

Tillinghast, PARSONS, minister of Providence, R. I., from 1645 to his d. Jan. 29, 1718; b. Bevely Head, Eng., 1622. He built, at his own expense, a meeting-house at the north end of the town in 1700. In 1689 he pub. a tract on Baptism, which was replied to by George Keith the Quaker. NICHOLAS his grandson, judge and heat-gov. of R. I. (b. Prov. 26 May, 1726, d. Taunton, 26 Feb. 1797), was a loyalist.

Tilton, JAMES, M.D. (Phila. Coll. 1771), an eminent physician, b. Kent Co., Del., June 1, 1745; d. near Wilmington, Del., May 14, 1822. After an academical education at Nottingham under Dr. Finley, he studied at the Penna. Medical School, graduating with its first class. He practised in Dover, Del., till 1776, when he relinquished a lucrative practice to become a surgeon in a Del. regt. with which he served at Long Island and White Plains. Early in 1777 he was made hospital-surgeon, and held that post throughout the war. In the hard winter of 1779-80 he improved the hospital huts by having earthen instead of wooden flooring. When the army was disbanded, he resumed practice in Dover; was a delegate to the Cont. Congress in 1783-5; was repeatedly a member of the State legisl.; was commiss. of loans 1788-1801; and in 1812 was app. physician and surgeon-gen. U. S. A. The climate of Dover compelled his removal to the hills of New Castle, where he soon obtained full practice, and secured the confidence of the people. After practising several years in Wilmington, he purchased and improved a small farm in the vicinity, to which he removed. In July and Aug. 1813 he examined the hospitals of the northern frontier, into which he soon introduced salutary changes, according to the principles of his work on "Military Hospitals." Many years pres. of the Med. Society of Del. Besides the above-named work he pub. papers on the Curculio, on Peach-Trees, and the Diseases and Insects to which they are subject; "Answers to Queries on the State of Hardsley in Delaware." — Trach.

Tilton, THOMAS, author, b. N. Y. City, 20th Dec. 1835. Y. C. From 1856 to 1871 he was connected with the Independent, of which he was some years editor. He has pub. the Amer. Board and Amer. Slavery, 18mo, 1860; Memorial of Mrs. Browning, prefixed to her last poems, 1862; "The Fly," 1865; "Golden-haired Gertrude," 1865; "The Two Hungry Kittens," 1865; "The King's Ring," 1866; "The True Church," 1867; "The School's Tale and Other Poems," 1867. He has also pub. many tracts and speeches chiefly in opposition to slavery; contrib. to "Lyrics of Love," and to "Eminent Women of the Age," and is preparing for publication a collection of his essays and sketches. — Trach.

Tilton, JOHN, D.D., R. C. bishop of Buffalo, conse. 17 Oct. 1847; d. there 16 Apr. 1875; b. Pa. 1775. Educated at Baltimore, and at the "Barnens," Mo. He was many years missionary in the West, and for one year assistant of Texas; he was greatly beloved, and during the Rebellion, was devoted to the military cause.

Tingey, THOMAS, comm. U. S. N., b. Eng.

1750; d. Washington, D. C., 23 Feb. 1829. App. capt. U. S. N. 3 Sept. 1798; com. "The Gazettes" (24) in 1799; captured many French armed vessels. He had been 50 years in the U. S. naval service, and 28 years in command of the Washington navy-yard.

Titcomb, JOSEPHUS, Revol. patriot, b. Newbury, Ms., 1747; d. 1817. Member of the com. of safety and the Prov. Congress 1774-5; col. of a regt. in the R. I. exped. in 1778; member of the State Conv. 1780; lieut.-gen. of militia; naval officer of Newburyport 1789-1812.

Titcomb, COL. MOSES, of Newbury; killed at the battle of Lake George, Sept. 8, 1755. He was a major in Hall's Essex regt. at the capture of Louisburg in 1745, and rendered great service there.

Tocqueville (tok'vil), ALEXIS CHARLES HENRI CÉLERE DE, LL. D., a French publicist, b. Paris, July 29, 1805; d. Cannes, A. r. 15, 1859. Great-grandson of Malsheries, Adm. to the bar of Paris, he was in 1826 made a judge in Versailles, and in 1830 was promoted. In 1831 he was, with Gustave de Beaumont, sent on a mission to the U. S. to examine the penitentiary system; and a full report of their observations was pub. in 1832, entitled "De Système Penitentiaire aux États-Unis," translated into English by Francis Lieber, 1833. De Tocqueville made himself thoroughly acquainted with the political and social institutions of the country, and pub. in 2 vols. 8vo, Paris, 1835, "De la Démocratie aux États-Unis;" and was rewarded in 1836 with a prize by the French Institute, and in 1837 by his nomination to the Acad. of Moral and Political Science, and in 1841 to the French Acad. It was translated by Henry Reeve, with a preface and notes by J. C. Spencer, 8vo, 1838, and abridged by the latter, under the title of "American Institutions and their Influence," N. Y. 1836. Elected in 1839 to the chamber of deputies, he sat with the most moderate members of the opposition; was in 1840 the reporter of a com. upon slavery, and advocated the establishment in France of the American penitentiary system. He foretold the revol. of 1848, and in the constituent assembly strongly opposed socialism and ultra-democratic measures. He was app. by Gen. Cavaignac to represent France in the diplomatic conferences at Brussels upon Italian affairs, June 3, 1849, he became minister of foreign affairs, and strongly supported the French exped. to Rome; but, dissatisfied with the policy of Louis Bonaparte, resigned his office before the end of the year, and sat with the opposition. Dec. 2, 1851, he was one of the deputies who protested against the coup d'état, and was incarcerated, but was released in a few days. Withdrawing from public life, he in 1857 pub. "L'Éducation Républicaine," and in 1858 his "Discours et Conférences," "Leçons," was pub. with a long notice by his friend G. de Beaumont. — Apbt.

Tod, DAVID, statesman, b. Youngstown, O., Feb. 21, 1805; d. there Nov. 13, 1868. Son of Judge George Tod, received from him a sound and thorough training, and in 1827 was admitted to the bar practicing at Warren 15 years. In 1838 he defeated his Whig competitor for the State senate; in 1840 he took the stump for Van Buren; in 1844 he was nominated gov., and was beaten by a few votes; minister to Brazil 1847-52; a delegate to the Charleston Convention in 1860, he warmly supported Mr. Douglas, and was first vice-pres. of that body; when the southern wing of the Democ. party withdrew at Baltimore, Mr. Tod became presiding officer. He warmly advocated the peace measures before and after the Peace Congress at Washington. Elected gov. of O. in 1862 by an overwhelming majority, he gave to the govt. a firm, unflinching support during his term of two years.

Tod, GEORGE, lawyer and jurist, b. Suffield, Ct., 11 Dec. 1773; d. Warren Co., O., 11 Apr. 1841. Y.C. 1795. In 1800 he settled in Georgetown, O. State senator in 1804-5; judge of the Sup. Court 1806-9; pres. judge 3d judicial dist. 1815-34; and was subsequently prosec. atty. for Warren Co. Lieut.-col. in the war of 1812, and disting. in defence of Fort Meigs in May, 1813. Father of Gov. Tod.

Todd, COL. CHARLES SCOTT, b. near Danville, Ky., Jan. 22, 1791; d. Baton Rouge,
La., 17 May, 1871. Wm. and Mary Coll.
1809. Son of Judge Thomas. App. ensign Ky. Vols.; brig. quartm. and judge-advocate of Winchester's division 1812; capt. 28th Inf.
May, 1813; aide to Gen. Harrison in battle of the Thames; assist. insp.-gen. Nov. 1, 1813; insp.-gen. (rank of col.) Mar. 2, 1815; sec. of state of Ky. 1817; member of the legis. 1817-18; confidential agent to Colombia in 1820-1;
envoy-extr. and minister-plenipo. to Russia 1841-5. Author of "Sketches of Civil and Military Services of W. H. Harrison," 1840.
Edited the Cincinnati Republican in 1840.

Todd, ELI, M.D., b. New Haven, July 22,
1769; d. Hartford, Ct., Nov. 17, 1833. Y.C.
1787. He established himself in 1790 at Farmington, Ct., in his profession; and in 1819 removed to Hartford, where he had an extensive practice, and took the lead in founding the Retreat for the Insane, of which he was the physician from its foundation, Apr. 1, 1824, till his death.
Pres. of the Ct. Med. Society, and of the Hopkins Med. Association.

Todd, COL. JOHN, b. Pa.; killed at the battle of Blue Licks, Ky., Aug. 19, 1782.
Educated in Va. by his uncle, Rev. John; settled as a lawyer at Fineastle, Va.; emig. to Ky. in 1775, and in 1776 located land near Lexington. He accomp. Col. G. R. Clarke's exped. against Kaska-kia and Vincennes, and succeeded Clarke in the com. of Kaskaskia.
The Va. legis. in 1777 app. him col. com. of the county which was erected into the county of Illinois. Col. of a frontier regt. in 1778; delegate to the Va. legis. in 1780. — Collins.

Todd, JOHN, D. D. (Wms. Coll. 1845), clergyman and author, b. Rutland, Vt., Oct.
9, 1800. Y.C. 1822; Andover Sem. 1823; and ord. mini-ster of the Cong. church at Groton, Jan. 3, 1827. In 1833 he was settled over the Edwards Church, Northampton; in 1836 over the First Cong. Church in Phila.; and from Feb. 1842 to Sept. 1870 was pastor of the First Cong. Church, Pittsfield, Ms. He was a founder of the Mt. Holyoke Female

Sem. Author of "Lectures to Children," 2 vols.; "Student's Manual;" "The Sabbath-school Teacher," 1836; "The Lost Sister of Wyoming," 1841; "Bible Companion;"
"Great Cities, their Moral Influence," 1841;
"The Young Man," 1843; "Simple Sketches,"
2 vols. 1843; "The Daughter at School," 1854;
"Summer Gleanings," 1852; "Truth made Simple," 1839; "Stories on the Shorter Catechism," 2 vols. 1850; "The Angels of the Iceberg," 1859; "Index Rerum," 1835;
"Sunset Land," 1869; "Future Punishment," 1863; "Mountain Gems," 1864;
"The Water-Dove, and Other Gems," 1868;
"Sketches and Incidents," 1866; "Polished Diamonds," 1866; "Hints and Thoughts for Christians," 1867; "Serpents in the Dove's Nest," 1867; "Woman's Rights," 1867;
"Mountain-Flowers," 1869; sermons, orations,
&c.; contrib. to Sartain's and Graham's Magazines and other periodicals.

Todd, THOMAS, jurist, b. King and Queen's Co., Va., Jan. 23, 1765; d. Feb. 7, 1826. Left an orphan at 11. He received a good English education; was a soldier of the Revolt; emig. to Ky. in 1786, and began to practise law at Danville. Clerk of the Dist.
Court of Ky. until 1799; clerk of the Court of Appeals 1799-1801; judge of that court 1801-6; chief justice of Ky. 1806-7; assoc. judge U.S. Sup. Court, March 3, 1807, to his death. Father of Col. C. S. Todd. — Collins.

Toler, RICHARD H., 23 years editor Lynchburg Virginian; d. Richmond, Va., 1848, a. 49.

Tom ("BLIND TOM"), an extraordinary musical prodigy, b. a slave in Columbus, Ga., ab. 1838. Blind from birth, and possessing little intelligence, he yet can repeat accurately upon the piano the most difficult music after once hearing it. The greatest musicians of the age have put his genius to the severest tests, and he has always triumphed. Brought north by his master in 1860, he first appeared in New York at Hope Chapel, Jan. 15, 1861, and has since travelled over America and Europe.

Tomes, ROBERT, M.D. (U. of Edinb.), author, b. New-York City, 1816. Wash. Coll.
1837. He studied physic at Phila., at Edinburgh, and in the Paris hospitals; engaged in practice at N. York; and made several voyages as surgeon in the employ of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. He pub. "Panama" in 1855;
"Lives of Richard Cœur de Lion and Oliver Cromwell," 1855-6; "The Bourbon Prince," 1853; "The Champagne Country," 1867; assisted in preparing "Commo-dore Perry's Naval Exped. to Japan," 1858, and the American matter in Appleton's "Cyclopedia of Biography," 1856. He has pub. in seri 1 form "Battles of America by Sea and Land," and "The War with the South, a History of the Great American Rebellion;" and has contrib.
articles for the Liberty Bells, Evening Post, Harper's Weekly, and Harper's Mag. — Dagekinck.

Tomlinson, GIDEON, LL D., lawyer and statesman of Ct., b. Stratford, Dec. 31, 1780;
d. Fairfield, Oct. 8, 1854. Y.C. 1802. Gideon his grandfather, an officer at the capture of Ticonderoga, d. Stratford Ct., 1766, a. 34

He practised law in Fairfield; was M. C. in 1818-27; gov. 1827-31; U. S. senator 1831-7.

Tomo-chi-chi, Mico or Chief of the Yamacraws, and a warm friend of the English settlers of Georgia; d. near Savannah 5 Oct. 1729. He accomp. Gen. Oglethorpe to England in 1734, and was presented to the king. — See Hist. Sketch of Tomo-chi-chi by C. C. Jones, Albany, 1866.

Tompkins, DANIEL D., Vice-President of the U. S., b. Scarsdale, Westchester Co., N. Y., June 21, 1774; d. Staten Island, June 11, 1825. Col. Coll. 1795. His father Jonathan G. was a farmer and a patriot of the Revol., during the whole of which he was a member of the legisl. The son was in 1796 adm. to the bar of N. Y. City. His talents soon brought him into notice. In 1800 he was a member of the State Const. Conv.; also served in the legisl.; M. C. in 1804-5; was app. judge of the Supreme Court in 1804; was gov. of the State in 1807-17, and vice-pres. of the U. S. in 1817-25; he was a chancellor of the University; in 1821 a delegate to the State Const. Conv., and was afterwards app. its pres. In politics he belonged to the Jeffersonian school, and lent an efficient support to the national govt. during the war of 1812, in which he com. the 3d military dist.; and by his exertions in calling out troops, and sending them into the field, he contributed largely to the national success. In a special message to the legisl. Jan. 28, 1817, he recommended the total abolition of slavery in New York; and an act for that purpose passed, taking effect July 4, 1827. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the governorship in 1829, and was an aspirant for the presidency; but, owing partly to the careless manner in which he kept his accounts during the war, he was accused of being a d. Futler, and in his latter days he was the victim of melancholy, and habits of intemperance.

Tompkins, DANIEL D., col. U. S. A., b. N. Y. 1799; d. Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 26, 1863. West Point, 1820. Neglect of the preceding. Capt. 31 Dec. 1835; disting. in engagement with Indians at San Velasco; and brev. maj. for gallantry in Florida war, Sept. 11, 1836; quarterm. (rank maj.) 22 July, 1842; brev. lieutenant, for meritorious conduct in Mex. war, May 30, 1848; dep. quartermaster-gen. (rank lieut.-col.) 16 Sept. 1851; assist. quartermaster-gen. (rank of col.) Dec. 22, 1856.

Tompkins, GEORGE, jurist; d. near Jefferson City, Mo., April 7, 1846, a. 66. He was an early settler of Mo. Judge of the Sup. Court 1828-49; chief justice 1840-6.

Tompkins, BENJAMIN, learned school-master and physician, and ye renowned poet of New England, according to his tombstone; b. Beaufort, July 14, 1642; d. April 9, 1714, and is buried at Roxbury. B. V. 1662. Son of Rev. Wm. of Braintree, Ms. Was master of the public school in Boston from 1667 to 1679, when he was called to Cambridge. He was the author of an "Elegy on the Rev. Samuel Whiting" of Lynn, in Mathr's "Magnum." His chief poem is entitled "New England's Crisis." — Doughlass.

Tompson, EDWARD, minister of Marshfield, Ms., from Oct. 14, 1696, to his d. March 10, 1705; b. Apr. 20, 1665. H. U. 1684. He taught school some years at Newbury. His gravestone is thus inscribed: —

"Here in a tyrant's hand doth captive lie
A rare synopsis of divinity."

His last sermons, Heaven the Best Country, were pub. in 1712.

Tonyon, PATRICK, a British gen., gov. of East Florida 1775-83; d. Lond. 50 Dec. 1804, a. 79. App. a capt. in the 6th Dragoons, May 15, 1751, with which he served in Germany in 1758; in 1761 was lieutenant-col. of the 104th, and attained the rank of gen. Jan. 1, 1768.

Toombs, ROBERT, politician, b. Washington, Wilkes Co., Ga., July 2, 1810. — Un. Col. 1828. He read law at the U. of Va., and practised it until his election to Congress in 1845; he was a capt. of vols. under Gen. Scott in the Creek war of 1836; was a member of the lower branch of the State legisl. in 1837-45, with the exception of the year 1841; M. C. 1845-53; entered the senate during the 3d Congress; was re-elected in 1859, and expelled Mar. 14, 1861. In Congress he served on important committees; was a prominent member of the extreme Southern party, and, after the election of Pres. Lincoln, was a leader in the secession of Ga. He strongly advocated secession in a speech at Milledgeville, Nov. 15, 1860, and in the U. S. senate, Jan. 7, 1861. He was a member of the Confed. Congress which met at Montgomery Feb. 4; was provost, sec. of State from Feb. 21 to Sept. 1861; and was a brig.-gen. in the Confed. army. Up to 1850 he belonged to the Whig party.

Torbert, GEN. ALFRED T. A., b. Del. West Point, 1855. Entering the 5th Inf., he served in Florida in 1856-7; Utah exped. 1857-60; capt. 25 Sept. 1861; col. 1st N. J. Vols. 16 Sept. 1861; engaged in the Peninsular campaign; com. brigade of 6th corps in battles of Manassas, South Mountain (where he was wounded), and at Antietam; brig.-gen. vols. 29 Nov. 1862; engaged at Gettysburg, and brev. maj. U. S. A. 4 July, 1863; com. divis. of cav. Army of Potomac, May-July, 1864; and in numerous actions, including Hawes's Shop, Codr Harbor, Trevilian Station, and Darbytown; chief of cavalry in the Shenandoah campaign, and in the batt's there in Aug.-Oct. 1864; brev. lieutenant-col. U. S. A. 28 May, 1864, for batt's of Hawes's Shop; col. 10 Sept. 1864 for Winchester; brig.-gen. and major-gen. 13 Mar. 1865 for Cedar Creek, and for gallant and meritorious service during the Rebellion. Resigned 31 Oct. 1866. Consul-gen. to Havana 1871. — C. ann.

Torquemada (tor ká má' dá), a Spanish monk of the 16th century. Author of a history of Mexico, entitled "Monarchia Indica," pub. at Seville in 1615, and at Madrid in 1723.

Torrey, CHARLES TURNER, a Connecticut minister, b. Scituate, Ms., 1803; d. Boston, July 9, 1846. Y. C. 1833. He was a d. of Rev. Jacob Bk., D. D.; and was settled first at Princeton, and then at Salem, but soon relinquished his eligible professional position to labor for the subversion of American slavery. Detected in the attempt to aid some slaves to escape from Md., he was tried, convicted, and sentenced to a long imprisonment in the State prison, where he died of consumption. Author of "Truce, or the Pilgrim's Faith Revived," and "A Memoir of Wm. R. Saxton," 1838.

TORREY, JOHN, M.D., (Coll. of Phys. and Surg., 1818), LL.D., botanist and chemist, b. N.Y. City 1798. He was at one time pres. of the N.Y. Lyceum of Nat. Hist., to the "Annals" of which he largely contributed. He pub. in 1817 a catalogue of the plants growing within 30 miles of N.Y.; in 1824 the first vol. of the "Flora of the Northern U.S.;" and in 1838 his "Compendium" of the same. In 1838, with his former pupil, Dr. Asa Gray, he commenced the more extended "Flora of N. America," which he carried as far as the close of the great order Compositæ. He has also prepared the botanical part of the Reports of the Nat. Hist. Soc. of the State of N.Y. (2 vols. 1843-4), and in connection with Dr. Gray has examined and described in the govt. exploring-expedts. a large portion of the new plants, shrubs, and trees collected by those expeditions. He has also been actively occupied in chemical and mineralogical investigations. In 1824 he was prof. of chemistry in the West-Point Milit. Acad.; prof. of botany and chemistry in the Coll. of Phys. and Surg., N.Y., 1827-55, when he was made honorary prof.; from 1828 to 1854 he was prof. of chemistry at N.J. Coll.; and since 1853 has been assayer in the U.S. assay-office, N.Y. In 1849 he presented to Columbia Coll., N.Y., his valuable herbarium. — J. J. J.

TORREY, JOSEPH, D.D. (H.U. 1850), Cong. clergyman, and scholar, b. Rowley, Ms., Feb. 2, 1797; d. Burlington, Vt., Nov. 26, 1867. Dartm. Coll. 1816; And. Theol. Sem. 1819. Ord. and settled as pastor at Royalton, Vt., 1827-27; prof. of Greek and Latin in the U. of Vt. 1827-42; prof. of intell. and moral philos. from 1842 until his disease; and pres. of the U. from 1863 until compelled by ill-health to resign in 1865. He edited Dr. Jas. Marsh's unpubl. papers, accompanying them with an interesting Memoir; and also edit. dably, and with great care, Neander's "Church History." He edited Dr. Worthington Smith's sermons, and prefixed a Memoir.

TORREY, CAPT. WILLIAM, of Weymouth, one of the first military officers and authors of the Ms. Colony; was a justice of the peace, a freeman in 1642, several years a representative, usually clerk of the deputies, and capt. of the train-band, — as high a rank as then existed. He was a good penman, "skilled in Latin," and wrote a book on the millennium, entitled "A Discourse concerning Futurities to Come, written by a Very Old Man in Continual Expectation of His Translation into Another Life and World," a 4to of about 60 pages, 2d ed., with a preface by Prince, 8vo, 1757. — Eliot.

TORTON, GEORGE MINNISON, engineer, b. N. Haven, Ct., May 28, 1809. Partridge's 21st Br. A. and 326. He became a civil engr. at 18, and until 1844 was employed on railroads and canals in Ms., Ct., Pa., N.J., Va., and N.C. He was next engaged for 5 years on the survey and construction of the Canal del Depu in N. Granada; and in 1849 was app. engr.-in-charge of the Panama Railroad, which in 1855 he successfully completed. He has since been employed in engineering in the U.S.

TOTTEN, JOSEPH GILBERT, brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. New Haven, Ct., Aug. 23, 1788; d. Washington, D.C., Apr. 22, 1864. West Point (lieut. of engineers), 1805. Capt. 31 July, 1812; chief engr. of the army in the campaigns of 1812-13 on the Niagara; disting. in capture of Fort George, 27 May, 1813; brev. maj. for meritorious service, June 6, 1813; chief engr. of Gens. Izard and Macomb's div. in 1814 at Lake Champlain; brev. lieut.-col. for gallant conduct at the battle of Plattsburg, Sept. 11, 1814; maj. Nov. 12, 1818; lieut.-col. May 24, 1828; col. and chief engr. Dec. 7, 1838; chief engr. of the army of Gen. Scott in the siege of Vera Cruz; commiss. at capitulation of Vera Cruz, Mex., March 25, 1847; brev. brig.-gen. for gallantry at the siege of Vera Cruz, 29 Mar. 1847. A regent of the Smithsonian Institution 1846-64. Brig.-gen. and chief of engs. U.S.A. 3 Mar. 1863; brev. maj.-gen. 21 April, 1864. The fortifications of Newport, R.I., and other defensive works built by him, are enduring monuments to his memory. Author of "Report on the Subject of National Defences," Washington, 1851; and translator of "Treatise on Mortars." — Culver.

TOUCCY, ISAAC, LL.D., politician and lawyer, b. Newtown, Ct., Nov. 5, 1796; d. Hartford, July 30, 1869. Descended from Rev. Thos., first Cong. minister of Newtown (Y.C. 1707). He received a common-school education; adopted the profession of law; was adm. to the Hartford bar in 1818, and was State-atty. for his native county in 1822-35; M.C. 1835-9; State-atty. 1842-4; gov. of Ct. in 1846-7; in 1848-9 U.S. atty.-gen.; State senator in 1851; member of the Assembly in 1852; U.S. senator 1852-7; and from 1857 to 1861 sec. of the navy. He wielded a powerful influence by his coolness, deliberation, and judicial cast of mind. "In justice to his memory it must be said, that the charges made against him, that, while sec. of the navy under Mr. Buchanan, he deliberately sent away our vessels to distant seas to prevent their use in suppressing secession at its commencement, and that he favored and aided secession, have very slight foundation in truth. He avowed that he opposed secession in the cabinet as wholly inadmissible under the Constitution; though his personal feelings were known to be with the South, and in opposition to the war."

TOUTMIN, HARRY, jurist and author, b. Taunton, Eng., 1767; d. Washington Co., Ala., Nov. 11, 1823. Son of the eminent Dr. Joshua Toutmin. Was a dissenting minister for several years at Chorobert, Lancashire; came to Norfolk, Va., in 1793; pres. of Transylv. U. 1794-6; sec. of state of Ky. 1796-1804; app. judge of U.S. Dist. Court of Mpl. 1804. Compiled "Digest of Territorial Laws of Ala." in 1823. Assisted in framing the constitution of Ala. in her conv., and serv'd in her legisl. Author of "Description of Kentucky," 8vo, 1792; "Magistrate's Assistant," 8vo; "Supposed Welsh Indians," Nic. Jour., 1803; "Collection of the Acts of Kentucky," 1802; with James Blair, "Review of the Crim. Law of Ky.," 8vo, 1804.

TOWNS, JERDAH, philanthropist, of Jewish descent, b. Newport, R.I., June 16, 1775; d.

N. Orleans, Jan. 18, 1854. His father, Rev. Isaac, came from Holland, and in 1762 became priest of the synagogue at Newport. In 1798 Julia sailed as supercargo to the Mediterranean for his uncle. During the voyage, the ship in which he sailed came off victorious in a desperate conflict with a French privateer. After residing some time in Boston, he in 1802 removed to New Orleans, where he became a merchant, and acquired a fortune, which he bequeathed principally to the public institutions of that city. In 1815 he served as a soldier at the battle of New Orleans, and was wounded in the hip by a cannon-ball, from the effects of which he never entirely recovered. Though of the Jewish faith, he contributed liberal sums to many Christian enterprises, among which may be mentioned the donation of a valuable building for the cong. of Rev. Mr. Clapp for the First Cong. Church of N. O. He gave $10,000 towards the Banker-hill Monument.

Toussaint L'Ouverture (toosan loo-ve'), an't. FRANÇOIS DOMINIQUE, a Haytian gen., b. near Cape St. François, 1743; d. in the dungeon of St. Joux, France, Apr. 27, 1803, of starvation. His parents were negro slaves. By intelligence and faithfulness he was raised to important posts on his master's estate, and was able to acquire some mental cultivation. In 1791, when the mulattoes appealed to the negroes for help against the tyranny of the colonial govt., Toussaint incurred the hostility of his race by remaining quiet and faithful. He joined the negro army subsequently in a medical capacity; was soon made brig.-gen.; disting. himself by the capture of the entire army of Brancifort, the gen. of the whites, also taking Dondon, an important post; July 27, 1795, he took Marmelade, another important post, defeated the French col. D'omoncaux, and seized Emery and Gonaives. Toussaint soon after declared for France, being already com. in chief of the black forces, formed a junction with Lavaux, received the capitulation of the entire English force at St. Marc, and drove the Spanish from the W. portion of the island. In 1796 he was app. com. in chief of St. Domingo by Saubouaix, the French commiss., and succeeded in restoring order and industry to the island; in 1799 he completely quelled the mulatto insurrection of R. Land; Nov. 26, 1800, he assumed the govt. under the French Directory alone; and in Jan., 1801, the whole island became subject to his sway. He labored successfully to restore industry, to remove prejudices, and to establish good order. A constitution was drawn up; he was named pros. for life; and free trade was established. These measures gave so much offence to Bonaparte, who had not been consulted previously, that he at once resolved to use a disaffected portion of his then unimpaired army to subjugate and re-enslave the blacks. Gen. Leclerc was sent in Nov., 1801, with 20,000 men; drove them, after a sanguinary conflict, from the seaports into the mountain fastnesses, and finally, by promises and bribery, won over Christophe, Dessalines, and their officers. The destruction of Toussaint having been determined upon, he was invited to an interview at Gonaives with Gen.

Brnet; was seized by an armed force, and taken to France; reached Paris Aug. 17, 1802; was confined in the Temple, and without a trial was transferred to the dungeons of the Castle of Joux, in the dpt. of Doubs. Deprived of all society, subjected to intense cold, with insufficient clothing and food, the heroic old man appealed repeatedly, but in vain, for a trial. Finding that his appeals for a trial produced no response, he commenced his defence, which was transmitted to Bonaparte. His Memoirs have been pub. by Saint-Rémy, Paris, 1850; by J. R. Beard, London, 1853; and by J. R. Lynch, 1863; and he was made the subject of a lecture by Wendell Phillips, 1863.

Toussard, COLOMBS, b. France, 1749; d. N. Orleans abt. 1820. Originally an art. de-vice officer in the regt. of La Fere. In Mar. 1777 he arrived in America with other officers recommended by Silas Deane; in June received a lieutenant's commiss.; was at Fort Mifflin to Lafayette; lost an arm at Rhode Island in the fall of 1778; and soon after received from Congress the brev. of lieutenant, and a pension for life. He afterward served the Penn. govt. in the W. Indies. He returned to the U.S. in 1794; was app. major in Feb. 1795; lieutenant, 2d Art. in 1800; disch. Jan. 1805. Afterward French consul at N. Orleans, 1812-15. Author of "Artillerist's Companion," 2 vols. 8vo, Phila., 1809.

Tower, ZENOBUS BATES, brow. maj. gen. U.S.A., b. Boston abt. 1819. West P. 10, 1841 (first in his class). Received his early education at the Boston High School. App. 2d lieutenant of engrs.; assist. prof. of eng. Aug. 31, 1842; to Apr. 4, 1843; brev. 1st lieutenant for gallantry at Cerro Gordo, April 18; capt. for gallantry at Contreras and Camrbusco, Aug. 20; an Ensign for gallantry at Chapultepec, Sept. 8, 1847; made 1st lieut. Apr. 24, 1847; capt. July 24, 1855; major, Aug. 6, 1851; lieutenant Col. Nov. 4, 1855; brig. gen. vols. Nov. 23, 1861; chief engr. of defenses of Fort Pickens, Fla., Feb. 1861 to May, 1862; and in the Northern V. campaign, July-Aug. 1862; was in the battles of Cedar Mountain, Rappahannock, Sharpsburg, and Thorontigare Gap. He com. a brigade in the second battle of Bull Run, and was wounded; was chief engr. of the defenses of Newville, Tenn., 28 Sept., 1864 to July, 1870; engaged in repulse of Hood, and battle of Newville, 15 and 16 Dec. 1864. Member of the board of engrs. since 18 May, 1867; brev. lieutenant Col. 23 Nov. 1861 for the defense of Ft. Pickens, Fla.; col. for Cedar Mountain, Va., 1862; brig. and maj. gen. U.S.A. 13 May, 1875, for battle of Groveton, Va., and for important military services during the R. Campaign. He pub. in 1843 "Illustrations of the Art of Appointing," 4vo, plates = Col. 1843.

Town, THOMAS, architect, b. Thomaston, Ct., 1784; d. N. Haven, Ct., 13 July, 1854. Author of Description of his Patent for the Construction of Buildings, &c., 1824, 4to. N.Y., 1839; and School-house Architecture, H. 1849; pub. Adm. St. George's College, Jamaica, in the "Rainbow," 1776-9, N.Y., 1855.

Towne, SAMUEL L. D., teacher, and compiler of school books, b. Biblesherov, Mass., March 5, 1770; d. 66, 1846, Astle, Ind. Feb. 24, 1854. Rel. of Gen. SALEM, a Revol. officer (b. Oxford, 2 Nov. 1746; d. Charlton, Ms., 23 July, 1825), a resident of Ansonia, N. Y.; 40 years a teacher in N. Y. He was at one time a member of the N. Y. senate. Author of "Speculative Masonry," 1818; "Analysis of Derivative Words," 1836; also a series of Readers and Spellers.

TOWNS, GEORGE W. B., statesman, b. W.kes Co., Ga., May 4, 1801; d. Macon, Ga., July 15, 1854. Of a Va. family. His father was disting. at the battles of Cowpens and Eutaw. Commencing lit. as a merchant, he was adm. to the bar of Ala. in 1824, and for a time edited a political paper. In 1826 he settled in Talbot Co., Ga.; served several years in both branches of the State legis.; was M. C. in 1845-9 and in 1848-7; and was gov. of Ga. in 1847-51. — M. S., Beach and Port of Ga.

TOWNSEND, EDWARD DAVIS, adj.-gen. U. S. A., b. Bost. 12 Aug. 1817. W. P. T., 37. Son of Maj. D. S., and grandson of Dr. David (1755-1820), surgeon Revol. army. He served in the Florida war; was made assist. adj.-gen. (rank capt.) 8 Aug. 1846; maj. 15 July, 1852; col. 3 Aug. 1861; adj.-g. n. (rank brig.-gen.) 22 Feb. 1869; brev. maj.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865.

TOWNSEND, ELIZA, poetess, b. Boston, 1759; d. there Jan. 12, 1854. She contrib. anonymously to the Monthly Anthology, Universalist, Ms. Lang. Post, &c., and other periodicals, religious and moral pieces; among them verses on "The Incomprehensibility of God;" "An Occasional Ode," written in June, 1800, in which she comments with severity on the career of Napoleon; "Lines to Robert Southey," written in 1812; and "The Rainbow," pub. in the Co. H. Post, and Rev., &c. In 1856, her sister, MARY P. TOWNSEND (d. 1861), privately printed a collection of her poems. — Impress.

TOWNSEND, JOHN K., naturalist, b. Phila. 1809; d. 1861. Author of "Narrative of a Journey across the Rocky Mountains, and a Visit to the Sandwich Islands, Chili, &c., 1833-7," 8vo, 1839; "Sporting Excursions in the Rocky Mountains," &c., 2 vols., 8vo, 1840; "Ornithology of the U. S., No. 1," 1839. Contrib. to Jour. of Acad. of Nat. Sci. of Phila. — A.

TOWNSEND, COL. PENN., b. Boston, Dec. 29, 1651; d. there Aug. 21, 1727. Son of William, who was in Boston 1636. Was a wilderness hunt; a leading man in town-affairs many years; a representative, 1686-98; afterward speaker of the house; one of the council, 1721; and chief judge of the Suffolk Superior Court. He was often capt. of the A. and H. Art. Co. and col. of the Boston Regt., 1703. He was one of the agents to superintend the military force destined against Port Royal in 1707, and was a patron of learning.

TOWNSEND, ROBERT, capt. U. S. N., b. Albany, 1819; d. China, Aug. 15, 1866. U. S. Coll., 1835. Entering the navy, he took part in the capture of Vera Cruz in 1847; was acting lieut. at the capture of N. Orleans; com. the iron-lad "Essex" at the siege of Port Hudson; and was a division-com. under Admiral Porter in the Red-river campaign.

TOWNSEND, VIRGINIA FRANCES, b. N.

Haven, Ct. Author of "Living and Loving;" "While it was Morning," 1859; "Buds from Christmas-Bonzlis," 1859; "By and By;" "Amy D. an.," 1862; "W. 31 in the Rock," &c., 1863; "Temptation and Triumph," 1863; "Battle-Fields of our Fathers," 1864; "Janet Strong," 1865; "D. rryl Gap," 1866; "The Hollands," 1869; "Jouanna Darling," 1871. Editor of Arthur's Home Mag., and contrib. to periodicals. — A. T. T.

Townshend, CHARLES, an English statesman, b. Aug. 29, 1725; d. Sept. 4, 1767. Second son of Charles, the third viscount. In 1747 he entered parliament, and acquired a bright reputation as an orator; in June, 1749, he was app. a commiss. of trade and plantations; in 1756 a member of the privy council; in Mar. 1761 s. e. at war; in Feb. 1763 first lord of trade and plantations; in June, 1765, paymaster-gn. and chancellor of the exchequer; and a lord of the treasury in Aug. 1765. He had voted, and in the year 1765 had been an advocate, for the Stamp Act. He then attended at the private meeting in which resolutions leading to its repeal were settled; and he would have spoken for that measure too, if illness had not prevented him. The very next session, as the fashion of this world passeth away, the repeal began to be in as bad odor as the Stamp Act had been before. To conform to the temper which began to prevail, and to prevail mostly among those most in power, he declared that revenue must be had out of America. June 2, 1767, he introduced into the house of commons the celebrated resolutions imposing duties upon paper, tea, and other articles imported into the American Colonies, which eventually led to their revolt and independence. Says Macaulay, "He was a man of splendid talents, of lax principles, and of boundless vanity and presumption."

Townshend, GEORGE, marquis, an Eng. field-marshal, b. Feb. 28, 1724; d. Sept. 14, 1807. Eldest son of the third viscount, whom he succeeded in May, 1767. He served at the battles of Dettingen, Fontenoy, Culloden, and Lauffeld; and, in the exped. to Canada under Wolfe, com. a division. After the first battle of the Plains of Abraham, and the death of Wolfe, he took com. of the army, and five days after received the capitulation of De Ramsay. He then returned to Eng.; was M. P. in 1754-64; rose to the highest rank in the army; became a privy councillor; was lord lieut. of Ireland in 1767-72; and was created marquis Oct. 6, 1787.

TOWSON, GEN. NATHAN, b. near Baltimore, Jan. 22, 1784; d. Washington, D. C., July 20, 1854. Previous to the war of 1812 he com. a company of vol. art., and was adj. of the 7th Md. Regt. In Mar. 1812 he was app. a capt. in the 2d U. S. Art., and Oct. 9, aided by Lieut. Elliot of the navy, captured the British brig "Calistonia," under the guns of Fort Erie. He was engaged in the battle of Queenstown, in the capture of Fort George, the affair at Stony Creek, and on the 17th of July, 1813, he was wounded in repelling an attack of the British on the outworks of Fort George, U. C. During the campaign of 1814, Towson com. a battery in one of the divisions of Gen. Brown's army. Being attached to the brigade of Scott, he participated in the capture of Fort Erie, July 4; was detailed with his battery to bring on the battle of Chippewa. In this conflict Towson bore a conspicuous part, and contributed greatly to the success of the day. In the obstinately-contested battle of Niagara, July 25 (the hardest fought and most sanguinary of the war), Capt. Towson was in the front rank from first to last. Aug. 15 he performed a most important part, and in the defence of Fort Erie elicited from Gen. Ripley the highest encomiums on his skill and valor. In May, 1816, he received brevets of major and lieutenant-col. for his achievements; was in 1819 app. paymaster-gen.; in 1834 received the brev. of brig.-gen., and in Mar. 1849 that of major-gen., for meritorious services performed during the Mexican war. In 1816 he m. Sophia, dau. of Caleb Bingham of Boston.

Tracy, ALEXANDER DE PROUVILLE, Marquis de, was viceroy of New France in 1663. He was a lieutenant in the French army, and had served on the Continent with distinction. Before arriving in Canada, he had retaken Cayenne from the Dutch, and brought several islands of the contiguous archipelago under French domination. He was one of the most able and popular of the French officials ever sent to Canada. During his brief sway of 18 months, he established a military aristocracy, fortified the country against the encroachments of the Iroquois, and concluded a peace with them of 18 years' duration, which was of great benefit to the country, long harassed with their sanguinary incursions.

Tracy, REV. EBENEZER CARTER, b. Hartford, Ct., 10 June, 1796; d. Windsor, Vt., 15 May, 1862. Dartm. Coll. 1819; And. Sem. 1-22. Tutor at D.C. 1823-5. Editorially connected with the N. Y. Jour. of Commerce, Adv. of Humanity, and Boston Recorder. Edited the U. Chron. 1826-8 and 1834-62. Author of "Life of Jeremiah Everts," 8vo, 1845.

Tracy, JOSIAH, D.D. (Vt. C. 1859), author, b. Hartford, Vt., Nov. 3, 1794. Dartm. Coll. 1814. Pastor of the Cong. churches at Thetford and West Fairlee, Vt., from June 26, 1821, to 1829. Edited the Churches at Windsor, Vt., 5 years, and the Boston Recorder 1 year; and afterward sec. of the Colonization Society at Boston. Resided at Beverly, Ms. He pub. "Three Last Things;" "History of the Amer. Board;" "The Great Awakening," 1842; "Memorial of the Colon. Soc. Centen.," 15 Jan. 1867.

Tracy, GEN. R. D., b. N.C.; killed at the battle of Port Gibson, May 1, 1863. He was col. of a N.C. regt. until promoted in 1862 to brig.-gen. C.S.A.

Tracy, URIAN, b. Franklin, Ct., Feb. 2, 1755; d. Washington, D.C., July 19, 1807. Y.C. 1778. Adm. to the bar 1781; practised law successfully in Litchfield, Ct., many years; member Ct. leg. l. in 1788-93; M.C. in 1793-6; U.S. Senator in 1796-1807, and pres. pro tem. in 1800. He was also a major-gen. of militia.

Trall, CATHERINE PARK (STRICKLAND), Canadian authoress, b. ab. 1-05; sister of Agnes Strickland; m. Lieut. Traill in 1832. At 16 she wrote a series of popular juvenile books, and after her marriage emig. to Canada. She has pub. "Backwoods of Canada," "Canadian Crusoes," "Ramblings in the Canadian Forest," "Female Emigrant's Guide," "Forest-Trees and Wild-Flowers of West Canada," "Lady Mary and her Nurse," 1856. — Monum.

Trayn, CHARLES R., lawyer, b. Framingham, Ms., 18 Oct. 1817. Brown U. 1837. Completed his legal studies at Cambridge. Adm. to the bar in 1841; member Ms. leg. l. 1847; U.S. district-att. for Northern Ms. 1848-51; member State Const. Conv. 1853; council for 1857-8; M.C. 1859-63; vol. aide on the staff of Gen. Gordon, and present at Antietam; again member Ms. leg. l. 1871. Practised law in Boston. With F. F. Heard, author of "Precedents of Judgments," 8vo, 1855.

Trayn, GEORGE FRANCIS, b. Boston, 1830, was a merchant there and in Australia. In 1860-1 he devoted himself to the introduction of street-railways in London, but, not succeeding, returned to the U.S. in 1862, and became noted as a public speaker on the issues of the day. Among his publications are: "An American Merchant in Europe, Asia, and Australia," 1857; "Young America in Wall St.," 1858; "Spread-Engelism," 1859; "Observations on Street-Railways," Liverpool, 1860; &c. Many of his speeches have been published. — Albion.

Trull, RUSSELL TRACHER, M.D., physician, b. Vernon, Ct., Aug. 5, 1812. Brought up on a farm. Ill-health led him to study medicine, which he practised for some time. Removing in 1819 to New York, he studied the systems of homoeopaths, hydropaths, &c., and abandoned the use of drugs under all circumstances, as contrary to the laws of nature. Since 1843 he has presided over a water-cure establishment in N.Y., and in 1853 established in connection with it a medical school for pupils of both sexes, chartered in 1857 as the New-York Hygieno-Therapeutic College, and in which he is prof. of theory and practice. He has edited various journals advocating temperance and hydropathy; is the author of a "Prize Essay on Temperance;" "Hydropathic Encyclopaedia," 1852; "Hydropathic Cook-Book," 1854; "Uterine Diseases and Displacements," 1855; "Home Treatment for Sexual Abuses;" "The Alcoholic Controversy;" "The Complete Gymnasium," 1857; "Prize Essay on Tobacco;" "Diseases of the Throat and Lungs;" "Pathology of the Reproductive Organs;" "Diphtheria;" "The Scientific Basis of Vegetarianism;" "Water-Cure for the Million;" "Nervous Debility;" "Lectures on Drug-Medicines;" "Lectures on Diseases of Females;" "Principles of Hyg. for the Family;" "Sexual Physiology," 1866; "Hand-Book of Hygienic Practice," 1865. — Albion.

Trantham, Mrs. BRISLA, b. Germany, d. Marcy Co., Tenn., Jan. 10, 1844, at the great age of 154. She emig. to Amer. when the first settlement was made in N.C. in 1740. At the age of 120 her eyesight became almost extinct, but during the last 20 years of her life it was as perfect as ever. At the time of her death she had entirely lost the sense of taste.

At the age of 65 she bore her only child, who was living in 1835.

Trask, WILLIAM BLAKE, antiquary, b. Dorchester, Ms., Nov. 25, 1812. Descended from Capt. William Trask, who settled in Salem prior to 1628, and who com. a company in the Pequot wars. In early life he worked at the trade of a cabinet-maker. Inheriting from his maternal grandfather, John Pierce, father of Rev. John of Brookline, a taste for historical and antiquarian pursuits, he assisted S. G. Drake in collecting materials for the notes to his History of Boston; aided Gen. Sumner in the preparation of his History of East Boston; was one of the authors of the History of Dorchester; one of the editors of and contributors to the N. E. Hist. General Register; and has assisted many persons in the preparation of their genealogies. Member of the N. E. Hist. General Soc. since 1851; and its historiographer 1862-7.

Travis, COL. WILLIAM B., the hero of the Alamo, b. Concech Co., Ala., 1811; killed at the Alamo, Mar. 1, 1836. He was in 1830 adm. to practice at the Monroe Co. bar, Ala., but, at the commencement of the Texan struggle for independence, drew his sword in that cause, and fell bravely fighting a vastly superior force of Mexicans.

Treadwell, DANIEL, A. A. S., inventor, b. Ipswich, Ms., 1791. His first invention, when quite young, was for making wood screws. In 1818 he produced a new printing-press, and in 1819 went to Eng., where he conceived the idea of a power-press, which was completed the year after his return, and widely used. In 1822 he with Dr. John Ware established and conducted the Boston Jour. of Philos. and the Arts; in 1826 he introduced the system of turn-outs for the railroads of the U. S.; in 1829 he completed the first successful machine for spinning hemp-cordage. His circular hackle, or lapper, has been generally adopted wherever hemp is spun for coarse cloth. In 1834-45 he was Rumford prof. of technology in H. U. Devoting himself to improvements in cannon, he in four years perfected his method of making them of wrought iron and steel, and received contracts from govt. He described a new method, by which the cost of his gun was greatly lessened, in a Memoir before the Amer. Acad. in 1835, secured his invention by patent, and pub. an account of it in 56. D. C. note bidge Feb. 27, '72.

Treadwell, JOHN, LL. D. (Y. C. 1800), gov. of Ct. 1809-11, b. Farmington, Ct., Nov. 23, 1745; d. Aug. 19, 1823. Y. C. 1767. He studied law, — though, being an only son, and heir to a competent estate, not with the intention of practicing, — and settled in his native town. In 1776 he was a representative in the legis., to which station he was, with one exception, annually chosen until 1785, when he became a member of the council, from which position he was in 1798 elevated to that of lieut. gov.; member Old Congress 1785-6. He had been, previously to 1809, 20 years judge of probate and of the Supreme Court of Errors; 3 years judge of the county court. He was active in establishing and managing the school-land of the State; and rendered great service to the cause of religion both in a private and public capacity, and was pres. of the A. B. C. F. M. from its organization until his death. In addition to his legal acquirements, he was well versed in literature, science, and theology, to the latter of which he contrib. some unpub. essays.

Treadwell, JOHN GOODRUE, M. D., physician and scholar, b. Salem, Ms., Aug. 1, 1805; d. there Aug. 6, 1856. H. U. 1825. His father, John Dexter, M. D. (H. U. 1788), A. A. S., and a disting. physician, d. Salem, Ms., June 6, 1833, a. 65, leaving him a fortune. He established himself as a physician in Salem in 1830. Besides his medical and scholarly acquirements, he had a taste for agriculture and gardening, in which he made careful and satisfactory experiments. His farm in Topsfield he bequeathed to the Essex-Co. Agric. Society for the purpose of experimental agriculture. He bequeathed to H. U. for the foundation of a professorship of physiology and anatomy, his library, and an estate estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000.

Treadwell, SEYMOUR B., politician, b. Bridgeport, Ct., June, 1795; d. Jackson, Mich., 9 June, 1867. In 1838 he pub. "American Liberties, and Amer. Slavery, Illustrated;" took charge of an anti-slavery paper in Mich. in 1839; and was twice elected commiss. of the land-office by the Free-soil party.

Treat, COL. ROBERT, gov. of Ct. 1686-1701, b. Eng. 1622; d. Milford, Ct., July 12, 1710. With his bro. Richard, he came to N. E. with Sir Richard Saltonstall, and was among the first settlers of Wetherfield. He was soon chosen one of the 5 judges; was a magistrate in 1661-5; major of the Ct. troops 1670. In Phillip's war, at the attack of Springfield by the Indians in 1675, he marched to its relief, and drove them from the town; in their assault upon Hadley, he put them to flight, and in Dec. performed a disting. part in the destruction of the Indians at Fort Narraganset. In 1676 he was elected deputy-governor.

Treat, SAMUEL, first minister of Eastham, Ms., from 1672 to his d. Mar. 18, 1717; b. Milford, Ct. 1648. H. U. 1669. Son of Gov. Robert. He devoted himself successfully to the conversion of the Indians in his vicinity, and pub. the confession of faith in the Nauset Indian language; election sermon, 1713.

Tredwell, THOMAS, b. Smithtown, L. I., 1742; d. Plattsburg, N. Y., Jan. 30, 1832. N. J. Coll. 1764. Member of the Prov. Congress of N. Y. in 1774-5; of the Const. Convs. of 1776-7, and that of 1788, for the adoption of the Federal Constitution; of the Assembly in 1777-83; of the State senate 1786-9 and again in 1803-7; first judge of the Court of Probate 1778-87; surrogate of Suffolk Co. 1787-91; M. C. 1791-5. One of the original proprietors of Plattsburg, N. Y., to which place he removed near the close of the last century; represented Clinton and Essex Counties in the State Const. Conv. of 1801; and surrogate of Clinton Co. in 1807-31.

Trelawney, GEN. HARRY; d. Eng. 1800. Com. the battalion of Guards in Gen. Howe's army at the battle of White Plains.

Trenchard, EDWARD, capt. U. S. N., b. N. J. 1784; d. Brooklyn, L. I., Nov. 3, 1824.

Midshipm. April 30, 1800; lieut. Feb. 18, 1807; com. July 24, 1813; capt. March 5, 1817.

Trenchard, SHELPH D., commo. U.S.N., b. New York, Oct. 23, 1817. Midshipm. Oct. 21, 1834; lieut. Feb. 27, 1847; com. July 16, 1862; capt. July 25, 1866; commo. 1871. Attached to coast survey 1845-9 and 1854-7; com. sloop "Rhode Island," supply vessel to block sloop, 1861-5; in both attacks on Fort Fisher, Dec. 1864 and Jan. 1865; com. steam-sloop "Lancaster," flag-ship S. Atlantic squad, 1869. — Hann sq.

Trescott, WILLIAM HENRY, of Beaufort, S.C., b. Charleston, S.C., 1822. Sec. of legation to Eng. in 1852-3; under-sec. of state of Washington, D. C., 1857-60. Author of "Diplomacy of the Amer. Revolution;" "A Few Thoughts on the Foreign Relations of the U.S.," 12mo, 1849; "Administration of Washington and Adams," 1857; "American View of the Eastern Question," 1854; Address before the S.C. Hist. Society, 1853.

Trevett, CAPT. JOHN, a Revol. patriot; d. Newport, R.I., Nov. 1823, a. 76. In Nov. 1775 he entered as a midshipman on board "The Columbus," Capt. Whipple, and was soon promoted to a lieutenant, in which capacity he served under Com. Hopkins, and in 1776 was attached to "The Andrea Doria," Capt. Biddle. He com. the marines in "The Providence," Capt. Haeker, and was active in the capture of New Providence. He joined the frigate "Triambull" in 1780, losing his right eye in an engagement; then cruised in "The Deane," in one of whose prizes he was taken, and carried to St. John's, and remained there two years.

Trevett, CAPT. SAMUEL R., a Revol. officer, b. Marblehead, Ms., 1751; d. there Jan. 19, 1822. He disting. himself by coolness and gallantry at the battle of Bunker's Hill, where he com. a company of artillery, and again in the R.I. exped. in Aug. 1778. In 1812 Capt. T. was captured by a British vessel as he was returning from Sweden, where he had resided four years, engaged in trade. From July, 1814, till his death, he com. the U.S. revenue-cutter at Boston. His son SAMUEL RUSSELL, M.D., surgeon U.S.N., b. Marblehead 20 Aug. 1783; d. Norfolk, Va., 4 Nov. 1822. II U. 1804. He began practice at Boston, but was app. to the navy; served in the frigate "U.S." when she captured "The Macedonian;" was in "The President" when captured by the British fleet in 1815; and disting. himself by his heroic conduct on the burning steamboat "Phoenix" on Lake Champlain in Sept. 1819.

Trigg, COL. SHELPH S., b. Va.; killed at the battle of the Blue Licks, Ky., Aug. 19, 1782. He came to Ky. in the fall of 1779 as a member of the court of land-commissioners; settled at the mouth of Dick's River, and soon became noted for his activity against the Indians.

Trigg, MAJ. WILLIAM, an early emigr. to Ky.; d. there Dec. 11, 1837. Maj. 28th U.S. Inf. March 11, 1813; acting aide to Brig.-Gen. Hopkins in the battle of the Thames; resigned Apr. 27, 1814. He filled ably many important offices.

Trimble, ALLEN, lawyer and politician,

b. Augusta Co., Va., Nov. 24, 1783; d. Hillsborough, O., Feb. 2, 1870. His father Capt. James emigr. in 1781 to Lexington, Ky., and d. there in Oct. 1804. Allen then settled in Highland Co., O., where he was clerk of the courts, and recorder, in 1809-16; com. a mounted regt. under Harrison in 1812-13; State representative in 1816; State senator in 1817-26, and speaker in 1819-25; acting gov. of O., 1821-2; gov. 1826-30; and pres. of the first State Board of Agric. 1846-8. While gov. he urged the extension and improvement of the common-school system, the encouragement of manufacturing companies, and the introduction of the penitentiary system. — A. T. Wash. mem.

Trimble, GR. ISAAC R., b. Va. abt. 1690, West Point, 1822. He entered the 1st Art., but resigned May 31, 1832, and became a civil eng., and was employed in 1832-49 upon various railroads. A resident of Baltimore, he took part in the secession movement there; but, on its occupation by the national forces, withdrew to the South, and was made a brigadier, afterward a major-gen., and wounded at Gettysburg, losing his left foot.

Trimble, ROBERT, jurist, b. Berkeley Co., Va., 1777; d. Aug. 25, 1828. When he was 3 years old, his father moved to Ky. With little education, he improved his scanty opportunities; taught school; studied law with George Nicholas; was adm. to practice in 1803; settled at Paris, and was chosen to the legal bar from Bourbon Co. He ever after declined political preferment, and devoted himself to his profession. Made judge of the Court of Appeals in 1808; in 1810 chief justice of the same; dist. atty. 1813; judge of the Ky. dist. 1816-26; judge U.S. Supreme Court 1826-8. His bro. JOHN (b. Clark Co., Ky., 1783; d. Hiram Co. 17 June, 1852) was a circuit judge, and subsequently a judge of the Court of Appeals.

Trimble, WILLIAM A., soldier and senator, b. Woodford, Ky., 4 Apr. 1786; d. Washington, D. C., 13 Dec. 1821. Son of Capt. James. Educated at Transylv. U. Studied law with his relative Judge Robert Trimble, and afterward at Lynchfield, Ct., and settled in practice at Highland, O., in 1811. Adj. in the regt. of his bro. Col. Allen Trimble in 1812; major of O., Vols. 7 May, 1812; maj. 26th Inf. Mar. 1813; brev. lieutenant-col. for gallantry at Fort Erie, Sept. 17, 1814, in which he was severely wounded; lieut. col. 1st Inf. 30 Nov. 1814-1 March, 1819; U.S. senator from O. 1819-21; commissioner with Gen. Cass in 1821 to treat with the North-western Indians at Green Bay.

Trippe, JOHN, a gallant officer of the U.S. navy; d. at sea, off Havana, 9 July, 1810, or com. U.S. brig "Vixen." He entered the service as sailing-master 6 May, 1803, and was made lieut. 9 Jan. 1807. Served under Preble in attacks on Tripoli, July-Sept. 1809.

Trist, NICHOLAS P., of Louisiana, b. Va. Educated at West Point, and acting assistant prof. of French 1819-20. Chief clerk of the State dept. 1845; U.S. commiss. during the war with Mexico, and anno. the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, Jan. 1818; U.S. consul to Havana. The intimate friend of Pres. Jackson. Married a granddaughter of Thomas Jefferson. Translator from the French of a Treatise on Milch Cows.

Trollope, FRANCES, author, b. Stapleton, near Bristol, Eng., 1790; d. Florence, Italy, Oct. 6, 1863. She was the dau. of Wm. Milton, an English curate; mar. Thomas Anthony Trollope in 1809, and, after visiting the U.S., began her career of authorship with "The Domestic Manners of the Americans." A great outcry was raised here by this publication, and unheeded obloquy long rested upon her name. Her views and impressions were further embodied in her novel, "The Refugees in America." In 1836 appeared "The Adventures of Jonathan Jefferson Whitlaw," a novel representing the condition of the colored races of the Southern States. She afterward resided in Florence, writing novels, and books of travel. Her son ANTHONY, a well-known novelist, has written a book of American travels, entitled "North America." Another son, THOMAS ADOLPHUS, is also a well-known novelist.

Trollope, SIR HENRY, a British admiral, b. Norwich, Eng.; d. Freshford, near Bath, Nov. 2, 1839, a. 83. Entering the navy in 1770, he was present at the battles of Lexington and Bunker's Hill; was afterwards at the siege of Boston; was employed by Lord Dummore in Virginia; and assisted at the taking of Rhode Island. In 1777 he was app. 3d lieutenant of "The Bristol" (50 guns), and assisted at the attack of Forts Montgomery and Clinton, and afterwards of Phila. and Mud Island. He was made a post-capt. in 1781; was knighted for his participation in the victory of Camperdown; was made full admiral in 1812; was a K.C.B. and a G.C.B.

Troost, GERARD, M.D., naturalist, b. Boisle Duc, Holland, March 15, 1776; d. Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 14, 1850. He was educated at Amsterdam and Leyden, studied medicine, chemistry, and other branches of science, and acquired distinction as a crystallographer. He practised medicine a short time at Amsterdam and the Hague; then served in the army, first as a private soldier, and afterward as an officer of the first rank in the medical dept. In 1807 he was sent by Louis Bonaparte, then king of Holland, to Paris, to pursue his favorite studies in natural science. He then translated into the Dutch Humboldt's "Aspects of Nature." The Dutch govt. in 1809 sent him on a scientific mission to the E. Indies; but he was taken by a French privateer, and conveyed to Dunkirk. After residing about a year at Paris, he embarked for America, where he arrived in 1810. He first settled in Phila.; was one of the founders and first pres. (1812-17) of the Acad. of Natural History; and estab. in 1814 at Cape Sable, in Md., the first alum-factory in the U.S. In 1821 he was app. prof. of mineralogy in the Phila. Museum; in 1825 removed to New Harmony with Owen, McClure, and others; and in 1827 was app. prof. of chemistry, mineralogy, and geology in the U. of Nashville; which post he filled during the rest of his life. He was for 18 years preceding his death State geologist, and pub. Reports on the geology of Tenn., and Memoirs in the "Trans." of the sciences of Paris and Phila. His mineral and geological cabinets, as well as his other scientific collections, are said to have been the largest in the U.S. A discourse by Pres. Linsley on his life and character has been published.

Trott, NICHOLAS, LL.D., jurist and scholar, b. Eng. 1663; d. Charleston, S. C., 1740. After having been gov. of the Bahamas, he became a resident of S. C.; was elected speaker of the House of Assembly in 1700; was a councillor in 1703; and at a later period he became a judge. He was deeply versed in the Latin, Greek, and Hebrew languages, as well as in the principles of jurisprudence, and during nearly 40 years was among the most influential men in the province. He revised and pub. the laws of S. C. before 1734, 2 vols. fol., 1736; also pub. "Clavis Linguae Sanctae," 1719; "Laws relating to the Church and the Clergy in America," Lond., 1721.

Trotter, GEN. GEORGE, b. Va. 1779; d. Lexington, Ky., 13 Oct. 1815. Son of Lieutenant-Col. James. App. capt. vol. Dragoons; distinguishing and wounded in action under Col. J. B. Campbell with the Indians 18 Dec. 1812; lieutenant-col. Ky. Vols. 1813; brig.-gen. at battle of the Thames 5 Oct. 1813.

Troubat, FRANCIS J., of the Phila. bar; d. Raney, near Paris, France, 1868, a. 66. Author of "Law of Limited Partnership in the U.S.," 8vo, 1853; and, with Wm. H. Haley, "Practice and Proceedings in the Sup. Ct. of Pa. 1825-9," 2 vols. 8vo. Edited Eng. Exch. Reports, 6 vols. 1835; "Chitty on Contracts," 1834, &c. — Verbois.

Troup, GEORGE MCINTOSH, statesman, b. on the Tombigbee River, Ala., Sept. 8, 1780; d. Lawrence Co., Ga., May 3, 1836. N.J. Coll. 1797. Studied law; member of the Ga. legisl. in 1800-3; M.C. in 1807-15; U.S. senator in 1816-18, 1829-34; and gov. of the State in 1823-7. He was an advocate of State-rights, and the champion of State sovereignty, an impassioned speaker, and a man of great integrity. — See Life by E. J. Hurdon, 8vo, Savannah, 1859.

Troup, COL. ROBERT, LL.D., a Revol. officer, b. N. Y. 1757; d. New York, Jan. 14, 1832. Col. Coll. 1774. He studied law in the office of John Jay; joined the army at Long Island as a lieutenant in 1776; was shortly after app. aide to Gen. Woodhull; and was taken prisoner at the battle on Long Island, Aug. 27, and confined some time in the Jersey prison-ship, and afterward in the Provost Prison in New York, but in the spring of 1777 was exchanged, and joined the army in N. J. He joined Gen. Gates as aide at Saratoga in Aug., and was present at the battle of Stillwater and at the surrender of Burgoyne, Oct. 17, 1777. In Feb. 1778 he was app. by Congress sec. of the board of war, of which Gen. Gates was pres., and on its dissolution in 1779 went to N. J., and completed his law-studies with Judge Patterson. After the peace, Col. Troup was judge of the U. S. Dist. Court of N. Y., and held that office several years, and was member of the State legisl. He pub. in 1822 a letter on the lake-canal policy of N. Y.; "Vindication of the Claim of Elkanah Watson," 1821; and "Remarks on Trinity-Church Bill," 1813. He was the warm personal and political friend of Hamilton. Resided many years at Geneva as principal agent of the great Putney estate.

Trousdale, WILLIAM, soldier and statesman, b. Tenn. App. col. Tenn. mounted vols. in Florida war, June 14, 1836; col. 14th Inf. March 3, 1847; brev. brig.-gen. for gallant and merit. conduct in battle of Chapultepec, Aug. 1848, in which he was twice severely wounded; gov. of Tenn. 1849-51; envoy-ex. and min.-plenipo. to Brazil 1853.

Trowbridge, EDMUND, jurist, b. Newton, Me., 1709; d. Cambridge, April 2, 1793. H.U. 1728. He bore for some time the name of Goffe, after an uncle. He became a disting. lawyer; was in 1749 app. atty.-gen.; and in 1767 was promoted to the bench of the Supreme Court, in which capacity he presided with uprightness and ability at the trial of the British soldiers arraigned for murder, March 5, 1770. In 1766 he was left out of the council by the popular party. Although attached to the royal govt., he did not approve of all its measures; and in 1772, alarmed at the revol. appearances, he resigned his office. Reputed to be the most profound lawyer in New England prior to the Revolution.

Trowbridge, JOHN TOWNSEND, novelist and poet, b. Ogden, N. Y., 18 Sept. 1827. Brought up on his father's farm; but his fondness for books determined his future career. At 19 he went to N. Y. City, wrote for the press, and at 20 came to Boston, where he became known as a writer of popular tales over the signature of "Paul Creyton." He ed. the Yankee Nation in 1850; now (1871) edits Our Young Folks; and has pub. "Father Bright-hopes," 1853; "Neighbor Jackwood" (written while in Europe in 1855), soon followed by his dramatic version of the same; "The Old Battle-Ground," 1859; "Cudjo's Cave," a war-novel, 1863; and "The South," the result of travels in the Southern States, 1866. "The Vagabonds," a highly-successful poem, contrib. by him to the Atlantic Monthly in 1863, was pub. in book-form in 1864, with illustrations by Darley, and again in 1869 in "The Vagabonds and Other Poems." For Our Young Folks he has written "Lawrence's Adventures," republished in 1870. His latest work, "Compon Bonds," is a coll. of graphic and entertaining magazine stories. Contributor to the Atlantic Monthly of many stories, sketches of travel, poems, &c. Resides at Arlington, near Boston.

Truett, GEORGE, gov. Del. 1808-11; d. Camden, Del., 8 Oct. 1818, a. 62.

Trumbull, BENJAMIN, D.D. (Y.C. 1796), divine and historian, b. Hebron, Ct., 19 Dec. 1735; d. North Haven, Ct., 2 Feb. 1820. Y.C. 1759. Pastor of North Haven from 1760 to his d. He was assisted in his education by Dr. Wheelock, founder of Dartmouth Coll., who preached the sermon at his ordination. He served in the Revol. war both as a chaplain and a vol. soldier. After the war, he pub. a pamphlet sustaining the claim of Ct. to the Susquehanna Purchase, which influenced the decision of Congress in her favor. Author of a History of Ct. 1630-1764, and to the close of the Indian Wars, 2 vols. 8vo, 1797 and 1818; "History of the U.S. to 1765," vol. i. 1819; "Twelve Discourses," 1790.

Trumbull, JAMES HAMMOND, LL.D. (Y.C. 1871), philologist and hist. writer, b. Stonington, Ct., 20 Dec. 1821. Son of Gardon and Sarah A. (Swan). Entered Y.C. in 1838, prevented, by loss of health, from prosecuting the study of a profession. A resident of Hartford since 1847. App. State librarian in 1854; assistant sec. of state 1855-61; sec. 1861-5; many years a member Ct. Hist. Soc., its corresp.-sec. 1849-63, and pres. since 1863; member also of many other hist. societies; and for some years has been librarian of the Watkinson Free Library. In 1842-3 he aided Rev. J. H. Linsley in compiling catalogues of the mammalia, reptiles, fishes, and shells of Ct. (Amer. Jour. of Science). In 1850-9 he ed. and pub. 3 vols. of the "Ct. Colony Record" (1636-89). About 1858 he began to study Amer. aboriginal languages, and was active in founding the Amer. Philolog. Assoc. in 1869. In 1855 he m. Sarah A. Robinson. Editor of Lechford's "Plain Dealing," with introd. and notes, 1867; Roger Williams's "Key into the Language of America," with introd. and notes (in vol. i. Narr. Club's pub., Prov. 1866); "The Defence of Stonington against a Brit. Squad, in 1814," 1864; "Origin of McFingal," 1868; of a part of the first and all of the second vol. Colls. Ct. Hist. Soc.; and contrib. of more than 50 articles to periodicals, and the Proc. of societies upon Indian names and upon hist. subjects.

Trumbull, JOHN, LL.D. (Y.C. 1818), poet, b. Westbury, since Watertown, Ct., Apr. 24, 1750; d. Detroit, Mich., May 10, 1831, Y.C. 1767. Son of John, minister of Watertown, a good classical scholar, who d. Dec. 13, 1787, a. 72. Possessing an extraordinary precocity, he was at the age of 7 adm. to college; though his extreme youth, and his subsequent ill-health, prevented his residing there until 1763. With Timothy Dwight, in 1769 he wrote a series of essays in the manner of the Spectator for a gazette printed in Boston, and subsequently similar essays for the New-Haven papers. From Sept. 1771 to Nov. 1773, when he was adm. to the bar of Ct., he was a tutor in Y.C., during which time he pub. "The Progress of Dulness,"—a poem designed to expose the absurd method of education which then prevailed. Entering the office of John Adams in Boston in 1773, he found himself in the centre of American politics. Warmly espousing the popular side, he employed his leisure in writing political essays for the public gazettes; and, just before leaving Boston, he anonymously pub. his "Elegy on the Times." Commencing a successful practice at New Haven in Nov. 1774, he wrote during the next year the first part of "McFingal," which was pub. in Phila. In Nov. 1776 he m. Sarah, dau. of Col. Laverett Hubbard of N. Haven; in May following he returned to his native place, whence he removed to Hartford in June, 1781. Having completed the poem of "McFingal," it was pub. at Hartford before the close of 1782. It is a burlesque epic in Hudibrastic verse, directed against the enemies of American liberty (his "Poetical Works" appeared at Hartford in 2 vols. 1820), and has passed through many editions,—the latest in 1864, with notes by B. J. Lossing. After the peace, Trumbull, in conjunction with Co. Humphreys, Barlow, and Dr. Lemuel Hopkins, wrote a series of essays entitled "American Antiquities," extensively printed by the papers throughout the Union, and designed to check, by the boldness of its satire, the spirit of anarchy and disorganization then prevalent. These essays consisted of suppressed extracts from a poem which they styled "The Anarchiad." States-atty. for Hartford, Ct., in 1789-95; was an active and influential member of the legisl. in 1792; in May, 1800, was again a member of the legisl.; and in 1801-19 was a judge of the Superior Court; in 1808 he received from the legisl. the additional app. of judge of the Court of Errors. He was several years treas. of Y.C., and in 1825 removed to Detroit, Mich., spending the rest of his days with his dau., the wife of Gov. Woodbridge.

Trumbull, Col. John, painter, b. Lebanon, Ct., 6 June, 1756; d. N.Y. City 10 Nov. 1843. H.U. 1773. Son of Rev. Jonathan. Joining the 1st Ct. Regt. as adjutant, an accurate sketch of the works around Boston attracted the notice of Washington, who, in Aug. 1775, app. him second aide-de-camp. He was soon app. major of brigade; in June, 1776, received from Gen. Gates the app. of adj.-gen., with rank of col.; dep. adj.-gen. northern department, 12 Sept. 1776; but retired from the army 22 Feb. 1777, Congress having refused to date his commission from the time of his app. by Gates. He then resided in London as the pupil of West the painter, but, upon André's execution, was, in retaliation, thrown into prison, where he remained 8 months. He painted the "Battle of Bunker's Hill" in 1786, the "Death of Montgomery" soon after, and in 1788 the "Sortie of the Garrison of Gibraltar," now in the Boston Athenaeum. In 1789-93 he was in the U.S., painting the portraits for his historical pictures, — the "Declaration of Independence," "Surrender at Saratoga," "Surrender of Cornwallis," and the "Resignation of Washington at Annapolis," which now adorn the rotunda of the capitol at Washington. In 1794 he was sec. to Jay's mission in Great Britain, and in 1796 a commiss. to carry into execution the 7th article of the treaty. Returning to New York in 1804, he again visited London in 1808, but, finding every thing American there unpopular, again came to N.Y.; was pres. of the Acad. of Fine Arts in 1816-25. His picture of Washington, painted in 1792, presented by the Cincinnati to Yale Coll., was regarded by the artist as the finest portrait of Washington in existence. It represents him on the evening before the battle of Princeton, meditating his retreat. The Trumbull Gallery at Yale Coll. contains 57 pictures by him, presented to that institution in consideration of an annuity of $1,000 to be paid him during his life; the profits of their exhibition after his d. to be applied towards the education of needy students. This is the largest and most important collection of the works of any Amer. painter. Besides the above-named are "Battle of Trenton," "Surrender of the Hessians at Trenton," "Death of Mercer," "The Woman taken in Adultery," "Suffer Little Children to come unto Me." copies of the old masters, &c. — See Trumbull's Autobiog., N.Y., 8vo, 1841.

Trumbull, Jonathan, LL.D. (Y.C. 1779, Edinb. 1785), gov. of Ct. 1769-83, b. Lebanon, Ct., 10 June, 1710; d. 17 Aug. 1785. H.U. 1727. Descended from John of Rowley, Ms., 1640-3. After preaching a few years, he studied law, in which profession he attained eminence; became a member of the Assembly at 23; and by his business-talents gained the public esteem. Chosen lieut.-gov. in 1766, he became by virtue of his office chief justice of the Superior Court. Boldly refusing in 1768 to take the oath enjoined on royal officers, he was chosen gov. in 1769, and was the only colonial gov. who espoused the cause of the people. He was considered the Whig leader in N.E. while the Adamses and Hancock were in Congress, and during the whole contest was relied on by Washington as one of his main pillars of support. The phrase sometimes used by him, "Let us see what Brother Jonathan says," is supposed to have originated the humorous term frequently applied to the U.S. — See Life of Trumbull by Isaac Stuart.

Trumbull, Jonathan, gov. of Ct. 1798-1809, son of the preceding, b. Lebanon, Ct., Mar. 26, 1740; d. Aug. 7, 1809. H.U. 1759. An active and influential member of the State legisl. during several sessions before and at the commencement of the Revol., and speaker of the house. In 1775-8 was paymaster to the northern dept. of the army; in 1780 was app. sec. and first aide to Washington, whose friendship and confidence he enjoyed, and in whose family he remained until the close of the war. M.C. in 1789-95; speaker 1791-5; U.S. senator in 1795-6; lieut.-gov. of Ct. 1796-8.

Trumbull, Col. Joseph, commiss.-gen. Revol. army, July 19, 1775-Aug. 2, 1777, b. 11 Mar. 1737; d. 23 July, 1778. H.U. 1756. Son of Gov. Jonathan (1769-83). Member Old Congress in 1774-5, and a commissioner for the board of war 27 Nov. 1777 to 18 Apr. 1778, when he resigned in ill-health. A com. of Congress having made a highly eulogistic report on his services, 31 Mar. 1779 that body voted to his heirs a commission on the sums received and issued and the purchases made by him.

Trumbull, Joseph, LL.D. (Y.C. 1849), statesman, b. Lebanon, Ct., Dec. 7, 1782; d. Hartford, Aug. 4, 1861. Y.C. 1801. Grandson of Gov. Jonathan (1769-83). Adm. to the bar in Windham in 1803; he settled in Hartford in 1804; retired from practice in 1828, and became pres. of the Hartford Bank. He represented Hartford in the legisl. in 1832, '48, and '51; was M.C. in 1834 for an unexpired term, and in 1839-43; and gov. in 1849-50. He was a great friend of internal improvements, and was pres. of a railroad company.

Trumbull, Lyman, jurist and senator, b. Colchester, Ct., 12 Oct. 1813; of the same family as the preceding. Educated at Colchester Acad.; taught a dist. school; and at 20 took charge of an acad. at Greenville, Ga., where he studied law; and was adm. to the bar in 1837, and settled in Belleville, Ill. Member of the Ill. legisl. in 1840; sec. of state in 1841-2; justice of the Supreme Court of Ill. 1848-53;

M.C. in 1854, chosen to the U.S. senate by the Ill. legisl. in 1855; re-elected in 1860 and 1866; since 1861 chairman of the senate judiciary com. He owed his election to the senate, over Gen. Shields, to his opposition to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. Removed to Chicago in 1863.

Truxton, THOMAS, commodore U.S.N., b. Long Island, Feb. 17, 1755; d. Phila. May 3, 1822. He commenced a seafaring life at the age of 12; was impressed, and served a short time on board a man-of-war. Early in 1776 he was lieutenant of the private armed ship "Congress," and brought one of her prizes to New Bedford; in June, 1777, he com. "The Independence," fitted out by himself and Isaac Sears; and off the Azores captured 3 valuable prizes. He afterwards made numerous prizes in "The Mars;" and in "The St. James" (of 20 guns), in a severe engagement, disabled a British ship of 32 guns, returning with a most valuable cargo from France. After the war he was extensively engaged in the E. India trade at Phila. till made capt. (June 4, 1794), and intrusted with the com. of the frigate "Constellation." While cruising in the W. Indies, he fell in with the French frigate "L'Insurgente," Feb. 9, 1799, and captured her, though of superior force, in consideration of which he received a service of plate from the merchants of Lloyd's coffee-house; Feb. 1, 1800, he obtained a victory over "The Vengeance" (of 54 guns and 500 men); though, in consequence of one of his masts falling, she afterwards escaped. For this action Congress gave him a gold medal. In 1801 he was transferred to "The President" (44), and was commodore on the Guadaloupe station; at one time he had a squadron of 10 sail under his command. Being app. in 1802 to com. the expedition against Tripoli, but denied the assistance of a capt. to com. his flag-ship, he declined the service, for which Jefferson dismissed him. High sheriff of Phila. 1816-19. He pub. Remarks, &c., relating to Latitude and Longitude, and Variation of the Compass, fol., 1794.

Tryon, CAPT. MOSES, of the Rev. navy, afterward com. of the U.S. sloop of war "Conquecut;" d. Wethersfield, Ct., Jan. 1818, a. 68.

Tryon, WILLIAM, LL.D. (King's Coll. 1774), a colonial gov., b. Ireland; d. Lond. 27 Feb. 1788. He was an officer of talent in the British army, and through his marriage with Miss Wake, a relative of the Earl of Hillsborough, colonial sec., received the app. of lieutenant of N.C. He arrived there 27 Oct. 1764; on the death of Gov. Dobbs, 20 July, 1765, succeeded him, and administered the gov. until advanced to that of N.Y. 3 July, 1771. In 1771 an outbreak by discontented individuals, called "Regulators," was suppressed by him, and the prisoners were treated with great cruelty. Made col. 25 May, 1772, maj.-gen. 29 Aug. 1777. He led in person the predatory exped. against Danbury, Ct., which he destroyed in Apr. 1777; and in July, 1779, in a similar exped., reduced to ruin the villages of Fairfield and Norwalk, staining his reputation by conduct unworthy a soldier and a man. Resigning the gov. of N.Y. 21 Mar. 1780, he returned to Eng., became a lieutenant 20 Nov. 1782, and col. 29th Foot 15 Aug. 1783.

Tuck, JOSEPH HENRY, inventor, b. Dorchester, Ms., 12 March, 1812. Grandson of John (minister of Epson, N.H., and a chaplain Revol. army; d. Peekskill, N.Y., 7 Feb. 1777, a. 36; H.U. 1758). A grad. of the Boston High School; learned the trade of watchmaking, and afterward, while employed in a candle-manuf., began the career in which he attained eminence with the invention of the endless wick. Establishing himself in London as a civil eng. in 1837, from that time until his return to the U.S. in 1865 he was constantly occupied in inventing and introducing improved machinery, &c. Among the 55 patents taken by him in different countries are those for a candle machine, wrought-iron and bitumen gas and water pipes, a ventilating machine, a dredging machine, a rotary engine, a new system of breakwater for harbors, and his steam-engine packing, — the most profitable of his inventions. He established, after great labor in overcoming prejudice, &c., the company to lay the first submarine electric-cable in 1848-9 between Dover and Calais, but was robbed of his interests in it by those whom he had interested in and assisted in planning that great undertaking. His plans and improvements for excavating the Suez Canal were taken by the contractors; but illness compelled him to abandon further connection with the undertaking. These arduous labors impaired his health, and compelled his retirement from active life for several years. Since 1869 he has been occupied in extensive real-estate operations and public improvements in Brooklyn, New York.

Tucker, GEORGE, jurist, b. Bermuda, 1773; d. Charlottesville, Va., 10 Apr. 1861. Wm. and Mary Coll. 1797. A relative of St. George Tucker. Practised law. Member Va. legisl.; M.C. in 1819-25, occupying a high position as a debater and constitutional lawyer; and in 1825-45 was prof. of moral philos. and polit. economy in the U. of Va. He subsequently, while in retirement, prepared several useful works; among them a "Life of Jefferson," 2 vols. 1837; "Progress of the U.S.," 8vo, 1855; a "Political History of the U.S.," 4 vols. 8vo, 1858; "Letters on the Conspiracy of the Slaves in Va.," 8vo, 1800; "Letters on the Roanoke Navigation," 8vo, 1811; "Recollections of Ellen R. Tucker," 12mo, 1819; "Essays on Taste, Morals, and National Policy," 8vo, 1822; "Valley of the Shenandoah," 2 vols. 12mo, 1824; "Voyage to the Moon by Joseph Atterley," 1827; "Principles of Rent, Wages, and Profits," 8vo, 1837; "Literature of the U.S.," 8vo, 1837; "Theory of Money and Banks," 1839; "Essays, Moral and Philos.," 1860; many contribs. to magazines and journals. — Allibon.

Tucker, REV. HENRY HOLCOMBE, D.D., a prominent divine of the Baptist church, pres. of the Mercer U. of Atlanta, Ga., b. Warren Co., Ga., 10 May, 1819. Author of "Pictures from an Ancient Artist;" "The Gospel in Enoch," 8vo, 1869; "Dignity of the Ministerial Office," ord. sermon, Tuskegee, Ala., 1853.

Tucker, HENRY ST. GEORGE, LL.D.

(Wm. and Mary Coll. 1837), jurist, b. 5 Jan. 1781; d. Winchester, Va., 28 Aug. 1848. Son of St. George Tucker. Received an excellent education; devoted himself to the law, in which he attained eminence; was prof. of law in the U. of Va.; M.C. 1815-19; chancellor 4th judicial dist., and pres. of the Va. Court of Appeals; pres. Va. Hist. and Philos. Soc. Author of "Lectures on Constitutional Law," 1843; "Commentaries on the Law of Va.," 2 vols. 1836; Introd. Lecture at the Opening of the Law School in the U. of Va., and Lectures on Natural Law and Government, 12mo, 1824. His son, DAVID HUSTLE, some years a prof. in the Jeff. Med. Coll., Phila., was educated at the Universities of Pa. and of Va., and in Paris. Prof. of the practice of med. in the Med. Coll. of Va., and author of some medical works.

Tucker, Josiah, D.D., an English divine and polit. writer, b. Langham, Wales, 1711; d. Gloucester, Eng., 4 Nov. 1799. Educated at St. John's Coll., Oxford. He took orders; was many years rector of St. Stephen's, Bristol; became a preacher there in 1755; and from 1758 was dean of Gloucester. He wrote much upon religion and polit. economy, and produced several tracts on the dispute between Great Britain and the Amer. Colonies, recommending at an early period of the contest their separation from the British empire, and the recognition of their independence. Dean Tucker was an able reasoner, well versed in polit. economy, and was almost the only Englishman of his time who took a clear-headed view of the great question at issue between the Colonies and the mother-country.

Tucker, Luther, a pioneer of agricultural journalism, b. Brandon, Vt., 1802. A printer. He in 1826 established the Rochester Daily Advertiser, the first daily paper west of Albany. In Jan. 1831 he began to issue the Genesee Farmer, afterward consolidated with the Albany Cultivator; and in 1852 began the Country Gentleman. — Thomas.

Tucker, Nathaniel Beverley, lawyer and novelist, son of St. George Tucker, b. Matoax, Va., Sept. 6, 1784; d. Winchester, Va., Aug. 26, 1851. Wm. and M. Coll. 1801. He studied law; settled in Charlotte Co. in 1809, and in 1815 in Mo., where he was a judge in 1815-30. From 1834 till his death, he was prof. of law in Wm. and Mary Coll. He pub. a work on "Pleading," lectures on the U.S. Constitution, entitled "The Science of Government," and 2 novels, "George Balcombe" and "Gertrude;" but his most remarkable production was an unfinished novel called "The Partisan Leader," first printed in 1837, and reprinted in 1861. He was a contributor to the Southern Review, and had begun a Life of John Randolph, his half-brother. He was a State-right man, and had many of the traits of Randolph. A son of the same name, a violent secessionist, who fled to Canada after the assassination of Pres. Lincoln, pub. the Sentinel, newspaper, in Washington in 1854, and was consul at Liverpool in 1856-60.

Tucker, St. George, LL.D. (Wm. and M. Coll. 1790), jurist and poet, b. Port Royal, Bermuda, 29 June, 1752; d. Edgewood, Nelson Co., Va., Nov. 1827. Wm. and M. Coll. 1772. He studied law, but took arms at the beginning of the Revol., and planned and aided personally in the capture of a large amount of stores in a fortification at Bermuda. At Yorktown, where he com. a regt., he was severely wounded in a charge of inf.; a bayonet thrust through his knee-gpan giving him a stiff knee for life. In 1778 he m. Frances Band, the mother of John Randolph. After the war, he was a member of the Va. legisl.; was one of the com. to revise and digest the laws of Va.; also a prof. in Wm. and M. Coll.; and one of the commiss. to the com. at Annapolis in 1786 which recommended that by which in 1787 the Federal Constitution was formed. He was a judge in the State courts nearly 50 years; was judge of the Court of Appeals in 1803-11; app. judge of the U.S. Dist. Court in 1813; and was called "the American Blackstone." He possessed great literary taste, keen wit, and great amiability. Of his poetical works, some of which were satires under the title of "Peter Pindar," one vol. was coll. et al. and pub. His poem on Liberty was celebrated in the army; and his stanzas, beginning "Days of my youth," have been much admired. He pub. an essay on the question, "How far the Common Law of England is the Common Law of the U.S.;" a treatise on Slavery, 1796; "Letter on the Alien and Sedition Laws," 1799; and an annotated edition of Blackstone in 1803.

Tucker, Samuel, a brave, able, and successful naval officer of the Revol., b. Marblehead, Ms., 1 Nov. 1747; d. Bremen, Me., 10 Mar. 1833. Son of a shipmaster. He was apprenticed at 11 on board "The Royal George;" and before the Revol. was a capt. sailing from Boston to London. Comms. a capt. in the Revol. navy 15 Mar. 1777, he took com. in Nov. of the frigate "Boston," in which, in Feb. 1778, he took out John Adams, minister to France. He took many prizes in 1779; aided in the defence of Charleston, S.C.; and was a prisoner from its capture in May, 17 0, till June, 1781, when he took com. of "The Thorn," and made many prizes. At the close of the war he received the thanks of Congress for his services. In 1792 he settled in Bristol, Me. In the war of 1812 he captured by a ruse a British vessel which had greatly annoyed the shipping of Bristol and vicinity. He was several times a member of the legisl. of Ms. and of Me. — See Life of Tucker by John H. Shippard, 8vo, 1868.

Tucker, Sarah, for 37 years a minister of the Society of Friends, b. Port-mouth, R.I., 1779; d. 1840. Author of Memoirs of her Life and Religious Experience, by herself, 12mo, 1848. — William.

Tucker, Thomas Tudor, statesman of S.C., brother of St. George; d. Washington, D.C., May 2, 1828, a. 83. Son of Henry of Port Royal, Bermuda. He was a patriot of the Revol.; a delegate to the Cont. Congress in 1787 and '88; M.C. in 1789-93; and U.S. treas. 1794 to his d. Author of an Oration at Charleston, S.C., before the S.C. Soc. of the Cincinnati, 4to, 1795.

Tucker, Tilghman M., gov. of Mpi. 1841-3, b. N.C.; d. Ala. 31 Apr. 1859; M.C. 1843-5

Tuckerman, Edward, prof. of botany in Acad. Coll., b. Boston, 1817; Union Coll., 1837; H.U. 1847. Author of several works on American lichens; editor of "New England's Rarities," by J. Eschlyn, 1860; contrib. of 51 papers and the title of "Adelium" and "Noctua Laticornis" to the N. Y. Churchman, and of papers to various scientific journals. — Album.

Tuckerman, Henry Theodore, poet, essayist, an artist, b. Boston, April 20, 1813; d. New-York City, 17 Dec. 1871. Nephew of Rev. Joseph. Studied in the schools of Boston, and sought improved health in a visit to Europe in 1833-4. Resuming his studies, he again visited Europe in 1837-8, and in 1845 removed from Boston to N. York. In 1850 he received from H.U. the honorary degree of Master of Arts. He has published "The Italian Sketch-Book," 1835; "Iabel, or Sicily, a Pilgrimage," 1839; "A Month in England," 1853; "Thoughts on the Poets," the first of his collections from the magazines, 1846; "Artist-Life, or Sketches of American Painters;" "A Memorial of Horatio Greenough," prefixed to his writings, 1853; two series of papers, entitled "Characteristics of Literature illustrated by the Genius of Distinguished Men," 1849-51; "Sketch of American Literature," appended to Shaw's text-book on English literature; a series of "Mental Portraits, or Studies of Character;" "Life of Com. Silas Talbot," 1850; "The Optimist, a collection of Essays," 1850; "Leaves from the Diary of a Dreamer," 1853; "Poems," 1851, the chief of which is "The Spirit of Poetry," an elaborate essay, in heroic verse, of 700 lines; "Biographical Essays," 1857; "Rambles and Reviews," 1841; "America and her Commentators, with a Critical Sketch of Travel in the U.S.," 1864; "Book of the Artists," 1867; a "M memoir of Dr. J. W. Francis," prefixed to "Old New York;" "The Criterion," 1866; "Miza Papers about Paris," 1867; "Essay on Washington, with a paper on the Portraits of W.," 1853; "A Sheaf of Verse," contrib. to the N. Y. Sanitary Fair, 1864; "Line of J. P. Kennedy," 1871. He contrib. frequently to the N. A. Review, Christ. Examiner, Democratic Review, Graham's Magazine, Southern Lit. Messenger, Putnam's Monthly, the Astoria Monthly, and other periodicals.

Tuckerman, Josiah, D.D. (H.U. 1824), a Unitarian clergyman and philanthropist, b. Boston, Jan. 18, 1778; d. Havana, April 20, 1840. H.U. 1798. Ord. pastor of the church in Ch. Isca, Ms., Nov. 4, 1801, where he continued till Nov. 4, 1826. He organized the Benevolent Fraternity of Churches for the support of a city mission called the "Ministry at Large," of which he became a minister. In this sphere he was distinct, for his untiring zeal, and for the success of his labors among the poor. In 1812 he was instrumental in organizing the first charitable society established in the U.S. for the religious and moral improvement of seamen. He wrote, and the society pub., in furtherance of that object, eleven tracts. In 1830 he wrote an essay "On the Wages paid to Females," which gained a prize offered in Phila. On his return from Europe, where he had promoted the organization of similar institutions, he pub. "Principles and Results of the Ministry at Large," 12mo, 1838. In 1811 he pub. "Seven Discourses on Miscellaneous Subjects," — See Memoir by Mary Carpenter, 8vo, London, 1849; Album.

Tuckerman, Samuel Parkman, mus. doc., b. Boston, 1819. After 5 years of musical study in Eng., he received his degree from the archbishop of Canterbury. Among his works are, "The Episcopal Harp," "Cathedral Chants," a collect. of psalm and hymn tunes, anthems, chants, &c., including the whole of the music used in Trinity Church, New York, and three complete morning-services. Co-author of "The National Lyre." — Album.

Tudor, Col. William, judge, b. Boston, Mar. 28, 1750; d. July 8, 1819. H.U. 1769. Son of Dea. John. Studied law with John Adams. Adm. to Suffolk bar, July 27, 1772; was an eminent counsellor; a col. in the army, and judge-adv. gen. in 1775-8; attached to the staff of the com-in-chief. He was a member of the house and senate of Ms., and in 1800-10 sec. of state. Col. Tudor was vice pres. of the Cincinnati of Ms. in 1816, and was one of the founders of the Ms. Hist. Soc., in whose Collections appears an extended Memoir. He delivered an elegant and spirited oration on the Boston Massacre, Mar. 5, 1779; an address to the Cincinnati of Ms.; and a discourse to the Ms. Char. Fire Soc. 1798.

Tudor, William, scholar and diplomatist, b. Boston, Jan. 28, 1779; d. Rio Janeiro, Mar. 9, 1830. H.U. 1796. Son of the preceding. Returning to his native country from a visit to Europe, with an ardent desire for the improvement of his fellow-citizens in arts and literature, he projected in Dec. 1811, and at first edited, the North American Review, which has ever since ranked high in American literature. He had previously aided in founding the Anthology Club, publishing his European letters in their magazine, the Monthly Anthology, begun Nov. 1803, continued until 1811, and supported by the best pens of the time in Boston. When a member of the Ms. legis., he proposed many plans in aid of his favorite object, several of which have since been accomplished. In Nov. 1805 he founded the ice-traffic with tropical climes, as the agent of his bro. Frederic, which has grown to be an important branch of commerce; and was afterward engaged in other commercial transactions in Europe, requiring ability and address. Mr. Tudor was the originator of the present Bunker's-hill Monument, and one of the founders of the Boston Athenaeum in 1807. In 1823 he was app. consul at Lima, and in 1827 was app. chargé d'affaires at the court of Brazil, where he negotiated a treaty, — his last public service. Besides his contribs. to several periodicals, and his critiques in the N. A. Review, he pub. "Letters on the East in States," 1820; "Miscellanies," 1821; "Life of James Ois," 1823; "Globe Tour," 1828. In 1809 he delivered the Fourth of July oration at Boston; and in 1810 he prepared the Phi Beta Kappa address for Harvard.

Tufts, Cordeus, M.D., physician, b. Medford, Ms., May 30, 1734; d. Weymouth, Ms., Dec. 8, 1815. H.U. 1749. Son of Dr. Samuel, who was grand-son of Peter, who emig. in 1654, and d. Maiden, Ms., 1700, a. 82. He fixed his residence at Weymouth, where he was highly esteemed as a physician; was one of the original members of the Ms. Medical Society, and pres. 1787-95; and one of the founders of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences. In 1765 Dr. Tufts wrote the spirited and patriotic instructions to the representatives of Weymouth against the Stamp Act. He was a State representative and counsellor; was for many years a disting. member of the State senate, and supported in the convention the adoption of the U.S. Constitution. He m. Lucy, dau. of Col. John Quincy, and sister of Mrs. Smith, the mother of Mrs. John Adams. — Teacher.

Tufts, JOHN, minister of the Second Church, Newbury, Ms., 30 June, 1714-38. b. Medford, 5 May, 1689; d. Aug. 1750. II U. 1708. A descendant of Peter of Malden. He pub. ordin. discourse of B. Bradstreet, 1729; "Humble Call to Archippus;" sermon, 1729; "Introduct. to the Singing of Psalms-Tunes," 1714 (the first book of the kind pub. in N. Eng.), with a collect. of tunes in three parts, 8th ed. 1731.

Tully, JOHN, "New-England astrologer," compiler of almanacs at Middletown, Ct., from 1681 to his d. 1701; b. England.

Tully, WILLIAM, M.D., physician, b. Saybrook, Ct., Nov. 18, 1785; d. Springfield, Ms., Feb. 28, 1859. Y.C. 1806. He studied at Phila., and in 1808 settled in practice at Milford, Ct. Ab. 1815 he removed to Upper Middletown, now Cromwell, Ct., where he became intimate with and adopted the method of treatment of Dr. Thomas Minor, and about 1820 established himself at Middletown. In 1820 he pub. with Dr. Minor "Minor and Tully on Fever." In 1824 he removed to East Hartford, Ct. He became eminent as a medical practitioner and teacher; was many years pres. of the Medical School at Castleton, Vt., and was prof. there of the theory and practice of medicine. He was also prof. of materia medica and therapeutics in the medical institution of Y.C. 1829-42; in 1851 he removed to Springfield, Ms. His latter years were passed in poverty. His scholarship was varied and excellent. He pub. several learned papers in the medical and other journals, besides the first vol. of an extended treatise on the materia medica, 4 vols., 1857-60.

Tupper, GEN. BENJAMIN, Revol. officer, b. Stoughton, Ms., 1738; d. Marietta, O., June, 1792. He was a soldier in the French war (1756-63), and afterward taught school at Easton. He was a major at Boston soon after the battle of Lexington, and disting. himself in a boat exped. at Castle Island Boston harbor; lieut.-col. of Ward's regt. Nov. 4, 1775. Made col. of the 11th Ms. Regt. early in 1776, he in Aug. of that year, com. the gunboats and galleys in the North River; in the following campaign he served under Gates; was at the battle of Monmouth in 1778; and before the end of the war received the brev. of brig.-gen.; with Gen. Rufus Putnam he originated the Ohio Land Company. He was app. surveyor of Ohio lands in 1785; disting. himself in suppressing Shays's insurrection; settled in O. in 1777, and became judge in 1788.

His son EDWARD W., brig.-gen. of O. Vols., serving under Harrison in 1812, d. Gallipolis, O., 1823.

Turell, EBENEZER, minister of Medford, Ms., from Nov. 25, 1724, to his d. Dec. 8, 1778; b. Boston, Feb. 5, 1702. II U. 1721. He was an eminent preacher, and a patriotic citizen. He pub. a Life of Dr. Colman, his father-in-law, 8vo, 1749; "Dialogue about the Times," 1742; and some sermons. A tract of his on Witchcraft is in Ms. Hist. Collections.

Turell, JANE, poetess, b. Boston, Feb. 25, 1708; d. Medford, Ms., Mar. 26, 1755. Dan. of Rev. Benjamin Colman. She early displayed precocious mental power, and wrote poetry at 11. Aug. 11, 1726, she married Rev. Ebenezer Turell of Medford. She afterward wrote eulogies on Sir Richard Blackmore's works, and on "The Incomparable Mr. Waller;" "An Invitation into the Country, in Imitation of Horace;" and some prose pieces. Her poems were col. and pub. by her husband in 1735. — Dupekinck.

Turgeon, PIERRE FLAVIAN, R.C. archbishop of Quebec, consec. June 11, 1851; b. Quebec, Nov. 12, 1787; d. there 25 Aug. 1867. Ord. priest Apr. 29, 1810; sec. of Bishop Plessier 1808-20; many years a teacher in the sem. of Quebec; consec. bishop and coadj. May 11, 1834; and administrator of the diocese from Nov. 1849 to 1855, when he resigned from ill-health. — Morgan.

Turnbull, LIEUT.-COL. GEORGE; d. Bloomingdale, N. J., Oct. 1810, after 60 years' service in the British army; lieut.-col. 3d Amer. Regt. (Loyal N.Y. Vols.); capt. at the storming of Fort Montgenery, Oct. 1777; disting. at the siege of Savannah in 1779. 30 July, 1780, he repulsed 3 attacks by Sumter on his post at Rocky Mount.

Turnbull, ROBERT, D.D. (Mad. U. 1851), Baptist divine, b. Whiteburn, Linlithgowshire, Scotland, Sept. 10, 1809. U. of Glasgow. He attended the lectures of Chalmers and Wilson at Edinburgh; studied theology under Drs. Dick and Mitchell; became a Baptist; preached a short time in Scotland and Eng.; and in 1833 settled in Danbury, Ct. App. in 1835 a home missionary to Michigan; he became pastor of the Baptist church in Detroit; in 1837 he took charge of the South Baptist Church, Hartford, Ct.; in 1839 of the Howard-street Baptist Church, Boston; and since 1845 of the first Baptist Church, Hartford. He has pub. "The Theatre," 1840; "Olympia Morata," 1842; Vinet's "Vital Christianity," with an introduction and notes, 1846; "The Genius of Scotland," 1847; "The Genius of Italy," 1849; "Theophany, or the Manifestation of God in Christ," 1851; Vinet's "Miscellanies," 1852; "Pulpit Orators of France and Switzerland," 1853; "Christ in History," 1856; and "Life-Pictures, or Sketches from a Pastor's Note-Book," 1857. He has edited Sir Wm. Hamilton's "Discussions on Philosophy," with a list. introd.; and was for some years senior editor of the Christian Review. — Appleton.

Turnbull, ROBERT JAMES, political writer, b. N. Smyrna, Fla., Jan. 1775; d. Charleston, S. C., June 15, 1833. His mother was a Greek lady of Smyrna in Asia Minor. The father, an English physician, in connection with Lord Hillsborough, obtained grants from the English govt., ab. the year 1772, for settling a Greek colony in Florida, where he founded New Smyrna. Adhering to the popular side, Dr. T. forfeited his grants from govt., and removed to Charleston, S.C. The son was educated in England; studied law in Charleston and Phila.; was adm. to the bar, and practised in Charleston until 1819, when he retired to his large plantation. His treatise on the penitentiary system (Lond. 1797) drew attention both in America and Eng.; his articles for the Charleston Mercury in 1827, subsequently collected and pub. under title of "The Crisis," became the text-book of the nullification party. In his treatise on "The Tribunal of Dornier Resort," pub. 1830, he argued that "each State has the unquestionable right to judge of the infractions of the Constitution, and to interpose its sovereign powers to arrest their progress, and to protect its citizens." In 1831 he was prominent in the "Free-trade Convention" which assembled at Columbia, S.C., and was the author of the report of that body; in a similar convention at Charleston, Feb. 1832, he was also conspicuous. July 4, 1832, he delivered an oration before an assemblage of the nullification party, which is said to have had a great effect upon the next election; in Nov. 1832 he was a delegate to the S.C. nullification convention, and penned its address to the people. A lofty monument in Charleston, erected by the nullification party, commemorates his services to their cause. — Ap. 1830.

Turner, DANIEL, commodore U.S.N., b. Newport, R.I., 1792; d. Phila., Feb. 4, 1853. Midship Jan. 1, 1808; lieutenant March 12, 1813; master com. March 3, 1825; capt. March 3, 1835. During the battle of Lake Erie he com. "The Caledonia," an English frigate and the gallant Perry in gaining that decisive victory. In testimony of this service, the State of N.Y. presented him with a sword of honor. In the autumn of 1814 while commanding one of the vessels co-operating with Col. Croghan, he was captured and taken to Montreal. He was a gallant disciplinarian, brave, and generous to a fault.

Turner, EDWARD, politician and jurist, b. Fairfax Co., Va., 1778; d. Natchez, Miss., May 23, 1860. He removed to Miss. in 1802; was a rep. legislator of that office, west of Pearl River, in 1803; mayor of Natchez 1814-21; was selected by the legisl. to make a digest of the Laws of the Territory (pub. Natchez, Svo., 1816); was several years in the legisl., and speaker of the house; was member of the conv. which framed the State constitution; and was successively atty.-gen., judge of the Superior and Supreme Courts, chancellor of the State, and judge of the High Court of Errors and Appeals.

Turner, GEORGE, judge, b. Eng. 1759; d. Phila. 1833. He joined the army at the breaking-out of the war; was a capt. in the service, commanded in S.C.; and distinguished himself in several severe engagements, especially in the defence of Fort Mifflin and Pens. He was the second time Lieut. Washington's chosen commander in the battle of the Clouds, Dec. 12

Sept. 1789. In 1833 he removed to Philadelphia.

Turner, JAMES, statesman, b. Southampton Co., Va., 1766; d. Bloomsbury, N.C., Jan. 15, 1824. His education was that of the private schools of the country. He served as a militia soldier in the Revol. Member of the N.C. legisl. in 1801; in 1802-5 was gov. of the State; and was U.S. senator 1805-16.

Turner, PHILIP, a celebrated surgeon, b. Norwich, Ct., 1740; d. York Island in the spring of 1815. Left an orphan at the age of 12, he was taken into the family of Dr. Elisha Tracy, who taught him medicine, and whose dau. he subsequently married. In 1759 he was app. assist. surgeon to a prov. regt. under Gen. Amherst at Ticonderoga; at the peace of 1763 he settled in Norwich, where at the breaking-out of the Revol. war, he was unrivalled as a surgeon; in 1775 he was the first surgeon of the Ct. troops before Boston. He went with the army to N. York in 1776, and attended it at the battles of Long Island and White Plains; in 1777 Dr. Turner was app. surgen. of the Eastern dept., which station he filled with great ability till near the close of the war. He then resumed his private practice, but removed in 1800 to N. Y. City; was shortly after app. a surgeon to the staff of the U.S. army, and stationed on York Island. A general of the family has been prep. by Dr. T. L. Turner of Boston.

Turner, SAMUEL HURLBART, D.D., biblical scholar, and clergyman, b. Phila., Jan. 23, 1790; d. New York, Dec. 21, 1861. U. of Pa. 1807. Son of Rev. Joseph. Ord. deacon in the Epis. Church in 1811; settled in a parish in Chesterstown, Md., 1812; returned to Phila. in 1817; app. prof. of historic theol. in the Gen. Theol. Sem. at N. Y., Oct. 7, 1818, where he was prof. of biblical learning in 1821-31; and afterward prof. of Hebrew in Col. Coll. In 1827 he prepared with Bishop Whittingham a translation of John's "Introduction to the Old Testament," and in 1834 Plunket's "Introduction to Sacred Criticism and Interpretation." He also pub. "Biographical Notices of Jewish Rabbis," 1847; "Spiritual Things compared with Spiritual," 1848; "Essay on our Lord's Discourse at Capernaum, in John vi.," 1851; "Thoughts on Scriptural Prophecy," 1852; "Commentaries on the New-Testament Epistles," 1852-83; "Companion to the Book of Genesis;" "Claims of the Hebrew Language and Literature," svo., 1831; "Parable References of the New Test.," 1848; "Teachings of the Master," 1858. His Autobiog. was pub. in N. Y. in 1863. — Ap. 1830; Duple, vol.

Turner, THOMAS, rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Va. 21 Apr. 1808. Midship, Apr. 21, 1825; lieutenant, Dec. 22, 1835; com. Sept. 14, 1835; capt. July 16, 1842; com. Dec. 13, 1843; rear-adm. May 27, 1868; retired 21 Apr. 1870. He was actively engaged in the Mexican war, and was present at Tuxpan Apr. 7, 1847; com. the sloop of war "Saratoga," and captured two Spanish steamers in the harbor of Anton Lizardo, Mexico, Mar. 6, 1859; com. 10,000 "New Ironsides" in the attack on the forts in Chiriquian harbor, Apr. 7, 1853, handling his ship with judgment and ability; com. South Pacific squadron 1860-70.

Turner, WILLIAM WADDEN, philologist, b. London, 1810; d. Washington, D.C., Nov. 29, 1859. He came to this country in 1818, and settled in New York as a journeyman printer. He acquired languages with great facility, and learned Hebrew, Sanscrit, and other Oriental languages, also those of modern Europe. Prof. of Oriental lit. in the Union Theol. Sem. at Schenectady, N.Y., in 1842-52. From 1852 till his death he was librarian at the patent-office, Washington, and recording sec. of the National Institute. With Dr. Nordheimer, he prepared a Hebrew chrestomathy. He went to N. Haven to print it, and worked upon it as a compositor by day, and prepared the manuscript at night. He translated the first vol. of Mackelder's Compendium of Modern Civil Law (aided by Dr. Kaufmann), Von Raumer's U.S., and the article on Fine Arts in the "Iconographic Encyclopaedia." He assisted in the preparation of the Latin-English Lexicon of Freund. The Dakota Grammar and Dictionary, and also the Yoruba Grammar and Dictionary, both pub. by the Smithsonian Institution, are substantially his works.

Turreau, LOUIS MARIE, baron, a French gen., b. 1756; d. 15 Dec. 1816. Entering the army young, he fought as a subaltern in the army of Rochambeau for Amer. independence, and gained the rank of capt. He served as agen. of division in La Vendée, Italy, and Switzerland; was in 1804 made baron; and was min. plenipo. to the U.S. in 1804-11. He did not succeed in his efforts to draw our govt. into the adoption of a French policy, and after his return pub. in 1814 "Aperçu sur la Situation Politique des Etats-Unis," a very bitter critique of the Federal govt., which, he says in the preface, "the author has studied 8 years without being able to comprehend it." He also pub. Memoirs of the War of La Vendée.

Tusten, COL. BENJAMIN, physician, com. the troops who, immediately after the destruction of Mimsink by the Indians (July 20, 1779), pursued the savages, but who were ambushed, and defeated with the loss of 44 of their number. Dr. Tusten was one of the victims, being tomahawked while attending to the wounded.

Tuthill, A. G. D., painter, a pupil of Benj. West; d. Montpelier, Vt., June 12, 1843, a. 67.

Tuthill, FRANK, M. D., journalist, b. Suffolk Co., L.I., 1822; d. Brooklyn, N.Y., 27 Aug. 1865. Amh. Coll. 1840. After practising medicine 7 years, he was until 1839 a writer for the N.Y. Times, and afterwards an editor and prop. of the San Francisco Bulletin. Member N.Y. legisl. 1851 and 1859. He left California in 1864, and had just completed a History of California when he died.

Tuthill, LOUISA CAROLINE (HUGGINS), authoress, b. N. Haven ab. 1800. In 1817, at an early age, she m. Cornelius Tuthill of N. Haven, editor for two years of the Microscope, a periodical, and who died in 1825, a. 29. After his death she contrib. anonymously to magazines. In 1827 she pub. "James Somers, the Pilgrim's Son;" in 1829 "Mary's Visit to Boston;" "Calisthenics," 1831. She pub. "The Young Ladies' Reader," 1839; "Young Ladies' Home;" a series of tales for the young, 1844-50; a new series for the young, 1852-4; "My Wife," a novel, 1846; "The History of Architecture," 1848; "Queer Bonnets," 1852. In 1849 she prepared "The Nursery-Book," a vol. of counsel to mothers. She is at present a resident of Princeton, N.J.

Tuthill, WILLIAM H., b. N.Y. City Dec. 5, 1808. A descendant of John, one of the first settlers of Southold, L.I. One of the original proprietors of Tipton, Cedar Co., O., he practised law there successfully; was a Whig, and afterwards a Republican politician; was judge of the 8th judicial dist. for two terms; and is now a banker at Tipton. Judge T. is an honorary member of several historical and literary societies, and has pub. a review of the Dred Scott decision, an address at the Tuthill family-gathering at Southold in 1867, and contrib. to the Annals of Iowa.

Tuttle, CHARLES WESLEY, astronomer, member Suffolk bar (adm. 1856), b. Newfield, Me., 1 Nov. 1829. Assist. observer H. Coll. Observatory, 1850-4; discovered a telescopic comet 8 Mar. 1853; studied in the Camb. Law School in 1854-5; joined with Sidney Coolidge in 1855 in U.S. exped. to determine the longitude between Greenwich and Cambridge. Has contrib. hist. articles to the Genl. Register, and scientific papers to Ast. Jour.; see also Annals Harr. Obs. Is now engaged upon a Life of Capt. John Mason of N.H. His bro.

HORACE PARSELL, now a paym. U.S.N. (b. 17 Mar. 1837), was an assist. at the H. Coll. Observatory 1857-62, and discovered two planets and a number of comets. For his discoveries he was in 1859 awarded the Lalande prize by the French Acad. of Sciences.

Twaits, WILLIAM, comedian, b. Birmingham, Eng., 25 Apr. 1781; d. N.Y. City 22 Aug. 1814. He first app. at the Chestnut-st., Phila., 23 Nov. 1803, and was a good low comedian. Manager of the Richmond Theatre when destroyed by fire. He m. Mrs. Vintners, formerly Eliza Westray, b. Bath, Eng., 1787, d. 13 Dec. 1813.

Twiggs, GEN. DAVID EMANUEL, b. Richmond Co., Ga., 1790; d. Augusta, Ga., Sept. 15, 1862. Son of Gen. John Twiggs, a Revol. officer of Richmond Co., Ga., who d. Mar. 1816, a. 86. App. capt. 8th Inf. Mar. 12, 1812; maj. 28th Inf. Sept. 21, 1814, and served throughout the war with Eng.; maj. 1st Inf. May 14, 1825; lieutenant-col. 4th Inf. July 15, 1831; col. 2d Dragoons, June 8, 1836; com. a brigade, May, 1846, and com. right wing, and disting. in battles of Palo Alto and R. de la Palma; brig.-gen. June 30, 1846; brev. maj.-gen. for gallantry at Monterey, Mexico, May, 1848, receiving also a sword by resolution of Congress; com. a division through Scott's campaign in Mexico. Military and civil gov. of Vera Cruz, Mexico, 1848; dismissed the service March 1, 1861, having in Feb. surrendered his troops and munitions of war to the authorities of Texas, which had then succeeded. He soon received an important command in the Confed. army; was for a short time in com. of New Orleans, but resigned toward the close of the year. His bro. LEVI, maj. U.S.A., disting. in the wars of 1812, the Seminole and Mexican wars, killed at Chapultepec 13 Sept. 1847, b. 21 May, 1793.

Tyler, BENNET, D.D. (Midd. Coll. 1823), theologian, b. Middlebury, Ct., July 6, 1783; d. S. Windsor, Ct., May 14, 1858. Y.C. 1804. He was the son of a farmer. Was pastor of the Cong. church in South Britain, Ct., in 1808-22, and pres. of Dartm. Coll. in 1822-8, when he became pastor of the Second Church, Portland, Me., resigning 22 Apr. 1834. He was the principal opponent of Dr. N. W. Taylor in the controversy on the New Divinity, and held essentially to the views of Edwards, Bellamy, Smalley, and Dwight. One result of this controversy was the formation of a pastoral union in Sept. 1833 by those of Dr. Taylor's opinions; and they founded a theol. sem. at East Windsor, Ct., of which he was pres. till his death. His principal works are "History of the New-Haven Theology," 1837; "Memoir of Rev. Asahel Nettleton," 1844; "A Review of Day on the Will," 1837; "Nettleton's Remains," 1845; "Treatise on the Sufferings of Christ," 1845; "The New-Eng. Revivals," 1846; and two series of Letters to Dr. H. Bushnell on Christian Nurture, 1847-8. He also pub. sermons and controversial pamphlets. There is a Memoir of him by his son-in-law Nathan Gale, D.D., prefixed to a vol. of his lectures, svo. 1859.

Tyler, GEN. CHARLES HUMPHREY, b. Va. 1826; killed in battle at West Point, Ga., Apr. 17, 1865. West Point, 1848. Entered the 21 Dragoons, and was a capt. at the breaking-out of the war, but was dismissed for deserting his post, 6 June, 1861, and became a brig.-gen. Confed. army.

Tyler, GEN. DANIEL, b. Brooklyn, Ct., Feb. 22, 1799. West Point, 1819. Son of Capt. Daniel, an art. officer of the Revol. Entering the light art., he served till June, 1821, when he was transferred to the 1st Art.; 1st Lieut. 6 May, 1824; visited France to study the improvements in art. 1828-30; translated from the French, "Manceuvres of Artillery," 1828; and in May, 1834, he resigned. Becoming a civil engin., he was pres. of various railroads until the civil war began, when he became col. 1st Ct. Vols.; soon after brig.-gen. 3-month's troops; and at Blackburn's Ford and Bull Run com. a division, being next in rank to Gen. McDowell; Mar. 13, 1862, he was app. brig.-gen., and ordered to the West. He com. a division of the Army of the Mpi. during the campaign which closed with the evacuation of Corinth; he was afterward employed in guarding the Upper Potomac, and engaged at Martinsburg, Va., 14 June, 1863; and com. at Harper's Ferry when the Confed. army invaded Pa.; resigned 6 April, 1864. Residence Red Bank, N. J.

Tyler, JOHN, gov. of Va., b. near Williamsburg, 1748; d. at his seat in Charles County, Jan. 6, 1813. His father, whose name he bore, was marshal for the colony. The son studied law under R. C. Nicholas; became a warm friend of Jefferson, and an early advocate of independence. In 1774 he removed to Charles City. He was one of the Revol. leaders of Va.; many years a member of the house of delegates; and in 1781 succeeded Benjamin Harrison as speaker. He was gov. in 1802-11, and was subsequently judge of the U. S. dist. court. Father of Pres. John Tyler.

Tyler, JOHN, 10th pres. of the U. S., b. Charles-City Co., Va., March 29, 1790; d. Richmond, Va., Jan. 17, 1862. Wm. and Mary Coll. 1806. Son of the preceding. May his mother was the only child of Robert Armstrong, whose ancestors emigrated to Va. from Hesse-Darmstadt. He studied law; at 19 was adm. to the bar, and soon entered upon a large practice. He was a member of the State legisl. in 1811-16, and a supporter of Jefferson and Madison; M.C. in 1816-21; again a member of the State legisl. in 1823-5; gov. of Va. 1825-7; U. S. senator 1827-36, resigning on account of a difference with Pres. Jackson. Chosen vice-pres. by the Whig party in 1849, the death of President Harrison, April 4, 1841, raised him to the chief magistracy. In 1861 he was a delegate to the Peace Conv., and presided over that body. He subsequently renounced his allegiance to the U. S., and at the time of his death was a member of the Confed. Congress at Richmond. In Congress he voted to censure Gen. Jackson's conduct during the Seminole war; opposed all internal improvements by the General Govt., and the U. S. Bank, which he declared unconstitutional. He held in all points to the State-rights or strict-construction doctrine of the Democ. party. He also opposed a protective tariff, and on the Mo. question all restriction on slavery. In the U. S. senate he avowed his sympathy with the nullification movement in S. C. in 1832 and in consequence withdrew his support from Jackson, but voted for Clay's Compromise Bill. By his veto of the U. S. Bank measure he lost the confidence of the party that placed him in power, and foreshadowed his desertion of it. The principal measures of his administration were the annexation of Texas, March 1, 1845, an act establishing a uniform system of bankruptcy, and the protective tariff of 1842. His Life and Speeches were pub. svo. N. Y., 1844.

Tyler, JOSEPH, actor, b. Eng. and, 1749; d. N. York, Jan. 25, 1823. He was a contemporary of Garrick, Barry, and Mossop as early as 1775, and was a disting. operatic performer in the provincial theatres of Eng. In 1793 he arrived in the U. S., and joined the company then performing in the Old Theatre in John Street, N. Y., and continued a favorite for many years.

Tyler, MOSES CORN, prof. of Eng. lit. in the U. of Michigan, b. Griswold, Ct., 1835. Y.C. 1857; And. Theol. Sem. 1860. Pastor at Poughkeepsie 1860-2. Author of "The Brawnyville Papers," 1869, a vol. of essays on physical culture. A frequent lecturer and contributor to the N. Y. Independent and other papers and periodicals.

Tyler, ROBERT O., brev. maj. gen. U. S. A., b. N. Y., ab. 1821. West Point, 1853. Entering the 3d Art., he was made 1st Lieut. 1 S. 30, 1856; served against the Indians of Wash. Terr. in 1858; made capt. and assist. quarterm. 17 May, 1861; col. 4th Ct. Vols. 29 A. 2, 1861; brig.-gen. vols. 29 Nov. 1862; lieut. col. and dep. quarterm. gen. 29 July, 1866. He served through the Peninsular campaign, Apr.-

Aug. 1862; com. the art. of the centre grand div. at Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, and brev. major U.S.A. for the latter 13 Dec. 1862; brev. lieut.-col. 2 July, 1863; for Gettysburg; com. divis. of heavy art. of 2d corps in the Richmond campaign, and brev. col. 17 May, 1864, for Spottsylvania; brev. maj.-gen. vols. 1 Aug. 1864 for Cold Harbor, where he was severely wounded; brev. brig. and major gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865. — Caliban.

Tyler, ROYALL, wit, poet, and jurist, b. Boston, July 18, 1757; d. Brattleborough, Vt., Aug. 16, 1826. H.U. 1776. His immig. ancestor and great-grandfather Thomas came from Budleigh, Devonshire, Eng., and married Miriam, dau. of Pilgrim Simpkins of Boston. He studied law in the office of John Adams, and was for a short time aide to Gen. Lincoln, serving in the same station in the Shays Rebellion in 1786. Settled as a lawyer in Guilford, Vt., in 1790, with success; in 1800, and for six years, was chief justice of the Supreme Court, of which he had been six years judge. In 1800 he pub. "Reports of Cases in the Sup. Court of Vt.," 2 vols. He was a successful dramatist, and in 1786 produced in New York "The Contrast," a comedy, in which the Yankee dialect and story-telling, since so familiar, were first employed. This was the first American play ever acted on a regular stage by an established company of comedians. He also produced "My Day, or New York in an Uproar," 1787; "The Georgia Spec, or Land in the Moon," 1797; and "The Algerine Captive," a fictitious memoir, 2 vols., 1799. He gained great reputation by his contributions to the Fremont's Bostonian, pub. at Walpole, N.H., assisting Dennie, its editor, with his contributions "from the shop of Messrs. Colon and Spoudee," an amusing melange of light verse and entertaining social and political squibs. To the Pacific he contributed "An Author's Evenings," 1801, &c., coll. in a vol. in 1801, entitled "The Spirit of the Farmer's Museum and Lay Preacher's Gazette." He also wrote for the N. E. Galaxy, Polynathos, and other journals. In 1799 he composed a Fourth-of-July ode for the celebration at Windsor, Vt., and a convivial song for the same occasion. He was frequently called on for these services, and for occasional prologues at charitable and other theatrical benefits. His son Rev. Edward ROYALL, a Cong. clergyman, and ed. of the N. E. A. and C., newspaper, d. New Haven, Ct., 28 Sept. 1848. — Traveller.

Tyler, SAMUEL, LL.D. (Col. Coll. 1859), lawyer and author, b. Prince George's Co., Md., Oct. 22, 1809; Md. Col. 1827. His father, Grafton, was a tobacco-planter and farmer. The son was educated at the sem. of Dr. Carrigan, at Georgetown; then studied law at Ferrick City, Md.; was adm. to its bar in 1831; and has since resided there, indulging in a social literary avocation. He pub. a "Discourse of the Baconian Philosophy," 1841; "Barnes as a Poet and as a Man," 1848; for the Days of Bohem, articles on "Bacon's Epitaph," July, 1836; "The Baconian Philosophy," July, 1840; "Lectures on the Mathematica," July, 1841; "Psychology," Apr. 1843; "The Baconian Philosophy," July, 1843; "Agricultural Chemistry," Oct. 1844; "Connection between Philosophy and Revelation," July, 1845; "Bush on the Soul," July, 1846; Humboldt's "Cosmos," July, 1852; "Progress of Philosophy in the Past and in the Future," 1859. He introduced the subject of law-reform to the Md. convention in 1850, and was by that body app. a commiss. to simplify the pleadings and practice in all the State courts. — Knickerbocker.

Tyler, WILLIAM, D.D., R.C. bishop of Hartford; consec. Mar. 17, 1844; d. June 18, 1849.

Tyler, WILLIAM SEYMOUR, D.D., clergyman and linguist, b. Harford, Pa., Sept. 2, 1810. Ansh. Coll. 1830. 7th in descent from Job, an early settler and proprietor of Andover, Ms. In 1831 he taught the classics in Ansh. Acad. After studying at And. Theol. Sem., he was licensed to preach by the 3d presbytery of N.Y. City in 1836; but, being chosen prof. of Latin and Greek at Ansh. Coll., was not ord. till 22 years later. In 1847 the professorship of ancient languages was divided, Prof. Tyler retaining that of the Greek. He pub. "The Germania and Agricola of Tacitus," 1847; "The Histories of Tacitus," 1848; "Plato's Apology and Crito," 1859; "Prize Essay on Prayer for Colleges," 1854; a "Life of Dr. Henry Lobb," 1859; and "Theology of the Greek Poets," 1867. He has also contrib. to numerous thol. periodicals.

Tyng, DUDLEY ATKINS, LL.D., a disting. lawyer, b. Newburyport, Sept. 3, 1760; d. Aug. 1, 1829. H.U. 1781. Son of Dudley Atkins, and a descendant of Gov. Dudley. Changed his name on inheriting the large estates of James Tyng of Tyngsborough. Was U.S. collector of Newburyport, and afterward reporter Mass. Sup. Court until his death. Edited "Reports Sup. Ind. Court of Ms.," Sept. 1804-Mar. 1822, 17 vols. 8vo. A Notice of Tyng by John Lowell is in "Ms. Hist. Coll.," 3d ser., vol. ii.

Tyng, DUDLEY ATKINS, D.D., Epis. clergyman, b. Prince George's Co., Md., 1825; d. Brookfield, near Phila., April 19, 1858. U. of Pa. 1843. Son of Rev. Stephen H. of New York. Received his theol. education at the Alexandria Sem.; ord. 1846; preached at Columbus, O.; then had charge of the Epis. church at Charlestown, Va.; and was transferred thence to Cincinnati; in 1854 he was called to the Church of the Epiphany, Phila. A year or two before his death, his career attracted public attention from his rejection by his congregation in Phila. in consequence of the stand taken by him in the pulpit in opposition to slavery. He was also known as a lecturer upon religious and secular subjects. Author of "Vital Truth and Deadly Error," 1852; "Children of the Kingdom," 1854; "Our Country's Troubles," 1856. — See A Father's Memoirs, &c., S. H. Tyng, D.D., 1858.

Tyng, EDWARD, a brave naval commander of M.; d. Boston, Sept. 8, 1755, a. 72. Grandson of Gen. Edward, and son of Edward, a councillor, who was app. gov. of Annapolis, and being taken on the passage, and carried to France, d. there. He was commissioned by Gov. Belcher, April 16, 1740, capt. of the south and north batteries and fortifications in Boston; succeeding Capt. Southac as commander of the sloop "Prince of Orange," he took the first privateer on this coast, June 24, 1744; com. "The Massachusetts" frigate in the exped. against Cape Breton in 1745; and was made commodore of the provincial fleet. He captured the "Vigilante," a French man-of-war of 64 guns. "Admiral Warren offered Tyng the command of this valuable prize, with the rank of post-capt.; he declined on account of his advanced age, but recommended Rouse, his second in command, who received that honor.

Tyng, STEPHEN HIGGINSON, D.D. (J. ff. Coll. 1832; H. U. 1831), a popular preacher, b. N. Warrypport, Ms., Mar. 1, 1800. H. U. 1817. Son of Hon. Dudley Atkins Tyng. He first engaged in mercantile pursuits, but soon studied theology; ord. deacon in 1821, and took charge of St. George's Church, Georgetown, D. C.; in 1823 he removed to Queen Anne Parish, Md.; in May, 1829, he became rector of St. Paul's, Phila., which he resigned in May, 1833, on an invitation to the Church of the Epiphany. Since his removal to New York in 1845, he has been rector of St. George's Church. An earnest advocate of the temperance and other social movements of the day. He is remarkable for readiness as an extempore speaker, and for fervid eloquence. Author of "Lectures on the Law and the Gospel," 1848; "The Israel of God;" "Christ is All;" "Christian Titles;" "Recollections in Europe," drawn from personal observations during a brief tour; "Sermons, preached in the Church of the Epiphany," 1839; "Family Commentary on the Four Gospels," 1849; "Bible Companion;" "The History of Ruth the Moabitess," 1855; "Esther, the Queen of Persia;" "The Child of Prayer," a memorial of his son Rev. Dudley A. Tyng; "Forty Years' Experience in Sunday Schools," &c., 1860; "The Spencers," 1879; "Memoir of Rev. G. T. Bebell," 12mo, 1896. He is an editor of the Protestant Churchman of New York.

Tyng, REV. STEPHEN H., Jun., son of the preceding, b. Phila. 28 June, 1829. Wms. Col. 1858. Ord. deacon 8 May, 1861, and assist. to his father at St. George's Church, New York, one year; priest 11 Sept. 1863; rector of the Church of the Mediator, Lex. Ave., N. Y. City, and subsequently organized the Church of the Holy Trinity, 424 St.; consec. in 1865; chaplain N. Y. 12th Regt. in 1864; tried in 1867 by an eccl. tribunal for preaching to a Meth. church in New Jersey.

Tyson, JOHN ROBERTS, LL.D., politician and man of letters, b. Phila. 12 Feb. 1804; d. Woodlawn Hall, Pa., June 27, 1858. He was educated a lawyer; served in the State legislature in the city council of Phila.; and was an influential M. C. in 1805-7. He was a man of literary and artistic tastes; and it was due to him that the archives of Pa. were pub. He m. a dau. of the eminent merchant, Thos. P. Cope. He delivered various addresses, and pub. letters and addresses upon the commerce of Phila. He pub. "Pennsylvania Prior to 1744," 8vo, 1843; "Essay on the Penal Laws of Pa.," 8vo, 1827; "Memoir of T. C. James, M.D.," 1836; "Lottery System of the U. S.," 1833; "Discourse on the 200th Anniv. of the Birth of William Penn.," 1844; "On the Col. Hist. of the Eastern and some of the Southern States," 1842.

Tyler, JAMES, author, b. Fern, Scotland, 1747; drowned at Salem, Ms., in Jan 1804. He received a surgical and chemical education. To avoid political prosecution, emig. about 1793 to Ireland, and to Amer. in 1796. He was one of the editors of the "Encyclopadia Britannica;" author of a "Treatise on the Plague and Yellow Fever," 1799; "Answer to Paine's Age of Reason;" "Essays on Natural and Revealed Religion," 1772; "Letter to John Barclay on the Doctrine of Assurance;" "System of Geography," 1788; "History of Edinburgh," "Geographical, Hist., and Commercial Grammar," 2 vols. 8vo; poetical translation of Virgil's "Elogues;" "System of Surgery," 3 vols.; and of some anonymous works and popular songs; and was a contrib. to many leading magazines of the day.

Ulloa (ool-loa), DON ANTONIO DE, a Spanish mathematician, b. Seville, Jan. 12, 1716; d. in the Isle of Leon, near Cadiz July 5, 1795. He was brought up in the royal marines, in which he obtained the rank of lieutenant. Disting. as an engineer, and man of science, he was in 1735 joined in a commission with Don George Juan and others to measure a degree of the meridian in Peru. He remained nearly ten years in S. Amer., and on his return (in 1745) was captured, and carried into an English port. He pub. on his return to Spain his voyage to S. Amer., which was soon translated into German, French, and English; but the latter pub. in 1758, 2 vols. 8vo, is miserably garbled and inaccurate. He became the chief promoter of the royal woollen manufactures, re-organized the colleges of history and surgery; superintended and completed the basins at Ferrol and Cartagena. In 1766 he was made gov. of La. Arriving in March, he found the inhabitants unwilling to submit to Spanish domination; and they broke out into open riot, which compelled him to leave the colony. In 1772 he pub. "Entretiens sur les Physico-mathematiques en Amerique Merid.," &c. 4to. Having become a lieutenant in the naval service, he received the command of a squadron intended to join an exped. against Fla. Absorbed in his astronomical investigations, Ulloa forgot to open his sealed orders, and, after cruising two months without success, returned; was court-martialed in 1780, and never again employed. This eminent Spaniard also contrib. several scientific papers to the Royal Society.

Ulloa, FRANCISCO DE, Spanish discoverer of California; assassinated at Xalisco, after returning from his voyage, "by a soldier who bore malice against him." He was the lieutenant of Cortez in his explorations of the west coast of Amer., and was in 1535 left by him in charge of the colony at Santa Cruz. He com. the exped. (July, 1539-May, 1540) which explored Cal., giving to the Gulf of California the name of Mar de Cortez. He ascertained that the peninsula of Cal. was united to the mainland, and sailed northward, examining the western side as far as 30° N. lat. "The name of this voyage by Pineda, one of the officers," in Ramusio, iii. 283, and in English in Birney, i. 193.

Uncas, sachem of the Mohegan tribe in Ct.; d. in 1683, at a great age. Originally a Pequot war chief. He revolted in 1634 from Sassacus, the Pequot sachem; became friendly to the English settlers; and was made chief of the Mohegans. In May, 1637, he joined Mason's expedition against the Pequots, and was rewarded with some of their lands; in 1638 he went to Boston, where he made a treaty to which he adhered; he also treated with the Ct. colonists in Sept. 1638, and in 1640 conveyed to them all his land, excepting Mohegan. In 1643 he joined the English in a war, which ended in the death of the powerful Narraganset sachem Miantonomoh. In 1648 the Mohawks, Pocockes, and other tribes, made war against Uncas, but with small result. Besieged in his fort on the Pequot (now Thames R.) in 1657, by the Narraganset chief Pessicus, he was relieved, when near starvation, by Ensign Leffingwell, to whom it is said Uncas deeded the land upon which Norwich now stands, though he afterward sold it to a company. A council of commissioners of the United Colonies, held at Boston in 1654, heard many complaints of the rapacity and injustice of Uncas, and ordered that "he be duly reproved, and seriously informed that the English cannot protect him in any unlawful, much less treacherous and outrageous courses." He was characterized in 1674 as "an old and wicked, wilful man, a drunkard, and otherwise very vicious, who hath always been an opposer and underminer of praying to God." He was always the ally of the English, though too old to be of much service in Philip's war in 1675, when all other Indian tribes united against them.

Underhill, CAPT. JOHN, b. Warwickshire, Eng.; d. at Oyster Bay, L.I., ab. 1672. He had been a soldier in the Netherlands and at Cadiz. Came to N.E. in 1630 with Winthrop; was a representative from Boston; and was sent by his friend Sir H. Vane in com. of the Colony troops, who with Capt. Mason, in 1637, destroyed the Indian forts at Mystic, and broke the warlike spirit of the Pequots. Banished in Boston for his religious opinions, he went to Eng., and pub. "News from America," a hist. of the Pequot war, 4to, 1638. In 1641 he was gov. of Exeter and Dover; afterwards lived at Stamford, Ct.; and in 1646 removed to Farmington. He was a delegate to the court at New Haven in 1643, and assistant justice there, and in the war between the Dutch and Indians (1643-6) had a principal command; in 1655 he was a delegate from Oyster Bay to the Assembly at Hempstead, and was app. undersheriff of the North Riding of York-shire; in 1667 the Martinecock Indians gave him 150 acres of land, now in possession of a descendant bearing his name.

Underwood, GLEN ADIN BALLOU, b. M. J. Md., 19 May, 1828. B. U. 1849. His ancestors Joseph and Thomas came to Hingham before 1637, and settled in Watertown. His father Orison was a brig.-gen. of militia. His mother was Hannah Bond Cheney. Adm. to the Wore. Co. bar in 1853; removed to Boston in 1855; capt. 2d Ms. Inf. Apr. 1861;

lieut.-col. and col. 33d Ms. Inf. Sept. 1862; in the battles of Frederick-burg, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg; served under Hooker at Look-out Mountain, and dangerously wounded, and disabled from further field-duty; brig.-gen. 6 Nov. 1863; brev. maj.-gen. 1 Sept. 1865; since surveyor of customs, Boston.

Underwood, JOSEPH ROGERS, judge, and U. S. senator 1847-53, b. Goodland Co., Va., Oct. 24, 1791. U. of Lex., Ky., 1811. In 1803 he was adopted by his maternal uncle in Barren Co., Ky.; educated at various schools in that State, and then read law with R. Wielife. At Dudley's defeat in 1813 he was a lieut. of vols., and was badly wounded and taken prisoner, but was lodged in a hospitable cabin near Cleveland until sufficiently recovered to return home. In the fall of 1813 he settled at Glasgow, Ky.; practised law there ten years, during which time he was trustee of the town, and county atty., and was member of the legisl. in 1816-19; in 1823 he removed with his family to Bowling Green; and was a member of the Assembly in 1825-6; judge of the Court of Appeals 1828-35; M. C. 1835-43. In 1846 he was again elected to the Ky. legisl., and was speaker of the house; delegate to the Chicago conv. of 1864. — Latman.

Udike, WILKINS, lawyer and author, b. Kingston, R. I., Jan. 8, 1784; d. there Jan. 14, 1867. He served many years in the legisl.; pub. in 1842 "Memoirs of the R. I. Bar," and, in 1847, "History of the Episc. Church in Narraganset."

Upfold, GEORGE, D. D. (Col. Coll. 1831), M. D. (Coll. Phys. and Surg. 1816), L. L. D. Union Coll. 1814. Pr. Epis. bishop of Ind.; consec. Dec. 16, 1849; b. near Guilford, Surrey, Eng., 1796; emig. to the U. S. 1802; ord. 1818; rector of St. Luke's, N. Y. City, 1819-27; of St. Thomas's, 1827-30; of Trinity, Pittsburg, 1830-49. Author of "The Last Hundred Years," 1845; "Manual of Private Devotions," 1863; also occasional sermons, addresses, &c.

Upham, CHARLES WENTWORTH, clergyman and author, b. St. John, N. B., May 4, 1802. H. U. 1821. Son of Judge Joshua, a loyalist of the Revol. (b. Brookfield, Ms., 14 Nov. 1741; d. Lond. 1808; H. U. 1763), judge of the Sup. Court, and member of the council of N. Brunswick 1784-1807; he practised law in Boston and N. Y. City, and was at one time aide to Gen. Carleton. The son, originally a merchant's clerk, afterward taught school in various places. Dec. 8, 1824, ord. coll. of Rev. John Prince over the First Church, Salem, Ms.; and Dec. 8, 1844, relinquished the ministry on account of loss of voice. He has at different times edited the Christian Review (Unitarian); ed. the Christian Register in 1845-6; was mayor of Salem in 1852; in 1840, '49, '59, and '60, in the State legisl.; in 1857 and '58, pres. of the State senate; M. C. 1853-55, and of the State Const. Conv. 1853. Author of "Letters on the Logos," 1828; "Lectures on Witchcraft," 1831; "Life of Sir H. Vane," 1835; "Life of J. C. Fremont," 1856; "Prophecy as an Evidence of Christianity," 1-35; and "Salem Witchcraft," 2 vols. 8vo, 1867. A frequent contrib. to leading reviews and other periodicals; wrote Memoirs for "The National Portrait Gallery;" and is author of several orations, pamphlets, &c.

Upham, Nathaniel Gookin, LL.D. (Dartm. 1862), jurist, bro. of T. C. Upham, b. Rochester, N.H., 1801; d. Concord, N.H., Dec. 11, 1869. Dartm. Coll. 1820. Son of Hon. Nathaniel, a prominent politician of N.H. (b. Deerfield, N.H., 9 June, 1774; d. Rochester, N.H., 10 July, 1829; educated at Phillips Exeter Acad.; M.C. 1817-23). He began to practise law at Bristol, N.H., but removed to Concord in 1829. A judge of the N.H. Supreme Court in 1833-43; connected with the Concord Railroad in 1843-63; many years a pillar of the Democ. party in N.H.; and made by his warm friend President Pierce, in 1853, a commis. to London to adjust claims pending between citizens of the two countries. He left the Democ. party early in 1861, and gave an unequalled support to the govt.; in 1865-6 member N.H. legislature.

Upham, Rev. Thomas Cogswell, D.D. (Wesl. U. 1-43), author, b. Deerfield, N.H., Jan. 30, 1799. Dartm. Coll. 1818; And. Sem. 1821. Son of Hon. Nathaniel. In 1821 he was Prof. Smart's assist. as teacher of Hebrew at And. Th. of Sem., and translated Jahn's "Biblical Archaeology." In 1823-4 he was colleague pastor of the Cong. church in Rochester, N.H.; prof. mental philosophy and ethics, and also instructor in Hebrew, at Bowd. Coll., from Feb. 1825 to July, 1827. Resides Kennesbunkport, Me. Author of "Elements of Mental Philos.," 1839; "Treatise on the Will," 1850; "Outlines of Imperfect and Disordered Mental Action," 1843; "Principles of Interior or Hidden Life." In 1855 he pub. 2 vols. entitled "Life and Religious Experiences and Opinions of Madame de la Mothe Guyon, and Fenelon, Archbishop of Cambray;" "Liberty Discipline," 1829; "Treatise on Divinity," 1851; "Religious Maxims," 1854; "Manual of Peace," 1836; "American Cottage Life," 1852; "Letters from Europe, Egypt, and Palestine," 1857; an Essay on a Congress of Nations, 1840; "The Life of Faith," 1856; "Life of Catharine Adorna," 1855; "A Method of Prayer," 1859.

Upham, Col. Timothy, b. Deerfield, N.H., 1783; d. Charleston, Ms., Nov. 2, 1855. Son of Rev. Timothy, Cong. pastor of Deerfield from Dec. 9, 1772, to his d. 21 Feb. 1841 (b. Malden, Ms., 20 Dec. 1748; H.U. 1768). He pub. some occas. sermons. His son commenced mercantile life in Portsmouth, N.H., in 1807; March 12, 1812, he was app. major 11th U.S. Inf.; was soon after placed in com. of the forts and harbor of Portsmouth; joined the army at Plattsburg in Sept.; was promoted (12 Mar. 1813) to lieutenant-col. in the famous 21st Regt., Col. Miller; and at the sortie from Fort Erie he com. the reserve; collector of Portsmouth 1816-29; major-gen. of the State militia; and was navy agent 1841-5.

Uphur, Abel Parker, jurist and statesman, b. Northampton Co. Va., Jan. 17, 1790; killed Feb. 28, 1844, by the bursting of a gun on board the U.S. steamer "in the Potomac." N.J. Coll. 1807. He studied law in the office of William Wirt, in Richmond, and practised his profession there from 1810 to 1824. After representing his native Co. in the State legisl. in 1826 he was app. a judge in the Gen. Court of Va.; in 1829 was a member of the State Const. Conv.; again sat on the bench of the G. n. Court until 1841, when he became sec. of the navy, and in 1843 sec. of State. A contrib. to the periodical press, and author of "An Inquiry into the Nature and Character of our Federal Govt.," and also a number of essays, reviews, addresses, &c.

Upton, Emory, brev. maj.-gen., U.S.A., b. N.Y., West Point, 1801. 1st lieut. 5th Art. 14 May, 1861; col. 121st N.Y. Vols. 23 Oct. 1862; brig.-gen. vols. 12 May, 1864; capt. 5th Art. 22 Feb. 1865; lieut.-col. 25th Inf. 28 July, 1866; as lieut. to 1st Art. 15 Dec. 1870; adj. to Gen. Tyler, and wounded at Bull Run 21 July; com. battery, and in the battles of the Peninsular campaign; engaged at South Mountain, Antietam, Frederickburg, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg; com. brigade in 6th corps, and brev. maj. 8 Nov. 1863 for Rappahannock Station, Va.; engaged in battles of the Wilderness; brev. lieut.-col. 10 May, 1864, for Spotsylvania, where he was wounded; in battle of Cold Harbor, siege of Petersburg, 8th month campaign; wounded, and brev. col. 19 Sept. 1864 for battle of Winchester; com. 4th cav. division in Gen. Wilson's operations in Ala. and Ga. Mar.-May, 1865; and brev. brig. and maj. g. n. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865 for the capture of Selma, Ala., and for merit services during the rebellion. Author of "Infantry Tactics" for the U.S. army and militia, adopted 1 Aug. 1867. — Ch. An.

Uring, Capt. Nathaniel, author of "Relation of the Late Intended Settlement of St. Lucia and St. Vincent," 8vo, 1725. His Voyages and Travels, 1726 and 1749, contain a curious account of his visit to New England in 1709.

Urquiza (oor-ko-wi-sa), Juan José, d., Argentine statesman, b. in the State of Entre Rios, 1800; assassinated May 14, 1870. He was of mixed Spanish and Indian blood. During the war in La Plata, he attached himself to the party of Rosas, and became gen. of division; in 1840 he com. the army sent against Uruguay; and completely defeated Rivera, Mar. 28, 1845, in the battle of India Muerta, receiving in reward the governorship of Entre Rios. When, in 1851, Rosas pretended to lay down the supreme power, Urquiza took him at his word, and a war was the consequence. Allying himself with Brazil, Paraguay, and Uruguay, he collected an army of 30,000 men; crossed the Parana in Jan. 1852; routed Rosas at Santos Ligueros, Feb. 3; and by a coup d'état made himself prof. dictator of the Argentine Repub. He called a new congress at Santa Fe in Aug. to settle the troubles of the country. A revol. springing up in Buenos Ayres, he besieged the city of that name, but was finally forced to retire. In March, 1854, he was elected for 6 years pres. of the 13 other States composing the union, and employed his power in an enlightened manner, most blessing commerce and navigation, and declaring the Parana, the Paraguay, and the Plata free to foreign powers. The war against Buenos Ayres was continued. In 1859 he arbitrated between the U.S. and Paraguay on occasion of the La Plata naval expedition. After retiring from the dictatorship, he was again appointed general, and once more attempted the reduction of Buenos Ayres, but was defeated by Gen. Mitre, and banished in 1862 to Entre Rios.

Usher, John, Genl.-gov. of N.H. 1827-7 and 1892, b. Boston, Apr. 27, 1647; d. Medford, M., Sept. 1, 1736. Son of Hazzeliah, of Cambridge 1693, of Boston 1746. He was a soldier and stationer in Boston; a col., com.-s., and treasurer of Ms.; and rendered important services to the province in purchasing the district of Ms. He married Samuel Allen, whose claims in N.H. he supported.

Usher, John P., lawyer, b. New York. Removed early in life to Indiana; practised law; became a member of the legisla.; was a short time atty.-gen. of the State; first assist. sec. of the Interior 1862; see, from Jan. 1863 till the spring of 1865. Has since been atty. for the Union Pacific Railroad Co., eastern division.

Vaill, Joseph, Cong. minister of Hadlyme, Ct., from Feb. 9, 1780, to his d. at Killingworth, Ct., Nov. 21, 1838; b. Litchfield, Ct., July 3, 1750. Dartm. Coll. 1778. He pub. in 1796 "Noah's Flood," a poem of about 500 lines. His Memoirs, by Rev. Isaac Parsons, were pub. in a vol. of 236 pages.

Valdivia de (dã val-dee-veã). DON PEDRO, one of the Spanish conquerors of Peru in 1532, b. a. s. 1510; d. 1539. About 1540, under the orders of Pizarro, he invaded Chili with a small force, founded Santiago, and gained victories over the natives. Returning to Peru about 1547, he fought and was slain against Gonzalez Pizarro. He was captured by the Araucanians, who put him to death.

Valentine, David Thomas, historian, b. E. Chester, N.Y., Sept. 15, 1801; d. N.Y. City, Feb. 25, 1863. He received an academic education at White Plains; became clerk of the Marine Court in 1821; and in 1837-63 was clerk of the common council of New York. From 1842 to 1868 he pub., yearly, "Manual of the Common Council," making 25 vols. of instructive and entertaining matter pertaining to the city of New York. He also pub. a "History of New York," 8vo, 1853.

Vallandigham (va-lan-de-gam). CLEMENT C., politician, b. New Lis on, O., 1822; d. Lebanon, O., 17 June, 1871, by the accidental discharge of a pistol. Of Huguenot ancestry. He received a good education; spent a year at J. Coll., O.; was 2 years principal of a school at Snow Hill, Md.; admn. to the Ohio bar in 1842; member of the State legisla. in 1845-6; editor of the Dayton Advertiser 1847-9; member of the Cincinnati conv. in 1856; M.C. 1857-63; delegate to the Chicago conv. of 1861. Banished in 1863 for his hostility to the gov. and went to Canada. In 1863 he was Democ. candidate for gov. of Ohio, and was defeated.

Van Aarsdale, Elias, LL.D., an eminent lawyer, 33 years pres. of the State Bank; d. Newark, N.J., 19 March, 1846, a. 75.

Van Berckel, Peter L., minister from Holland; d. Newark, N.J., 17 Dec. 1800, a. 76.

Van Bruut, Gershom J., commo. U.S.N., b. N.J. 1798; d. Dedham, M., Dec. 17, 1863. He entered the navy, Nov. 3, 1818; app. lieut. Mar. 3, 1827; com. May 29, 1846; capt. Sept. 14, 1855; commo. July 16, 1862. He com. "The Minnesota;" took an active part in the reduction of the Hatteras forts, and in the blockading service at Hampton Roads.

Van Buren, John, lawyer and politician, b. Hudson, N.Y., Feb. 18, 1810; d. on the passage between Liverpool and New York, Oct. 13, 1866. Y.C. 1828. Second son of Pres. Van Buren. Studied law with B. F. Butler of Albany, and admn. to the bar in 1830. He attended his father at the court of St. James in 1831; in 1845-6 was atty.-gen. of New York; and in 1848 acted with the Free-Soil party, ably advocating the exclusion of slavery from the Federal Territories. During the later years of his life, however, he acted with the Democ. party. In May, 1866, he left New York, and made an extensive European tour. He was an eloquent speaker, an able lawyer, and possessed fine social qualities.

Van Buren, Martin, 8th president of the U.S., b. Kinderhook, N.Y., Dec. 5, 1782; d. there July 24, 1862. His father was a farmer, and he was educated at the village academy. Adm. to the bar in 1803, he became surrogate of Columbia Co. in 1808; a member of the senate in 1812; an earnest advocate of the war of 1812-15; atty.-gen. of the State in 1815; again in the senate in 1816; and became the ruling spirit of the cabaret of Democrats who controlled the State for over 20 years. He was removed from the office of atty.-gen. in 1819; was a member of the State Const. Conv. in 1821; U.S. senator 1821-8; chosen gov. of N. York in 1828; from Mar. 1829 to Apr. 7, 1831, sec. of state to Pres. Jackson; app. minister to Eng. in 1831, but rejected by the senate; vics-pres. in 1833-7; and chosen pres. in 1837, but in 1841 was defeated by Gen. Harrison, who had 234 electoral votes, while Van Buren received but 60. In 1844 his renomination by his party was rejected on account of his opposition to the annexation of Texas; in 1848 he was the candidate of the antislavery party. With the exception of a European tour in 1853-5, he afterward remained in private life. On the outbreak of the civil war, Mr. Van Buren declared himself decidedly and warmly in favor of maintaining the republic in its integrity. In 1820 he opposed the admission of Mo. as a slave State. In the Const. Conv. he advocated an extension of the electoral franchise, but opposed universal suffrage, and also the election of justices of the peace. As gov., he proposed the safety-fund banking system. At the period of his accession to the presidency the country was involved in a crisis of unprecedented severity, and 2 months later the banks suspended specie payment. To meet this state of things, an extraordinary session of Congress was convened in Sept., to which he proposed various measures of relief. The principal measures of his administration were the establishment of the indep. treasury, and the pre-emption law, giving settlers on public lands the right to buy them in preference to other persons. Notwithstanding Mr. Van Buren was the subject of much party san denunciation, all parties have borne testimony to his admirable personal qualities. He m. a Miss Hoos ab. 1704, and had several sons. Author of an "Inquiry into the Origin and Course of Political Parties in the U.S.," edited by his sons, 8vo, 1867.—See his Life by W. Hall, 1836; D. Crockett, 1836; M. Pinson, 1740; W. L. Mackenzie, Balch, and Hoyt, 2 vols, 8vo, 1846.

Vance, JOSEPH, gov. of Ohio 1835-8, b. Washington Co., Pa., Mar. 21, 1786, d. near Urbana, O., Aug. 24, 1852. His father, Joseph Coville, served through the Revol. in Morgan's rid. regt.; afterwards settled in Ky.; and in 1805 was one of the first two settlers of Urbana, O. Joseph followed in nautic pursuits with success; was a member of the Ohio legisl. in 1812-16; M.C. 1821-35, and again 1843-7, serving as chairman of the com. on claims; State senator 1830-41; and rose to the rank of maj.-gen. of militia. Gov. V. was an enthusiastic farmer and stock-raiser. D. legate to the Whig Nat. Conv. at Phila. in 1848, and to the State Const. Conv. of 1850.—J. F. Coulcutt.

Vance, ZEBI LOX B., gov. of N.C. 1861-5 (under the Confederacy), b. Buncombe Co., N.C., May 13, 1810. He spent a year at the U. of N.C.; was adm. to the bar in 1834; member of the legisl. 1854-8; M.C. 1858-61; chosen U.S. senator in 1870.

Van Cleave, GLEN HOKAYO PHILLIPS, b. Princeton, N. J., Nov. 23, 1899. West Point, 1841. He studied at N. J. Coll.; and was a 2d lieut. 5th Inf., resigning in 1836. Returning to Mich., he employed himself in agriculture and civil engineering. He was a farmer in Minnesota in 1856-61; and July 22, 1861, was made col. of the 2d Minn. Vols. He com. this regt. at the battle of Mill Spring, Jan. 19, 1862; for his conduct on this occasion was made a Lieut.-gen. March 21, 1862; com. a brigade in Crittenden's division, before Corinth, through Northern Ala.; and at Louisville took com. of the division on Crittenden's promotion (Oct. 1, 1862); joining Rosecrans in Dec. he took part in the battle of Stone River, where he was wounded, having rendered disting. service; engaged at Ringgold, Ga., and Gordon's Mills 11-13 Sept. 1863; in battle of Chickamauga 19-20 Sept. 1863; and in com. of Murfreesborough, Tenn., 1863-5; adj.-gen. State of Minn. since Jan. 1866.—See him.

Van Cortlandt, GLEN PHILIP, a patriot of the Revol., b. New York, Sept. 1, 1719; d. Nov. 5, 1831. Son of Pierre. He became a land-surveyor at the age of 19; but, when the Revol. broke out, he joined the patriot army as a lieut.-col. In 1776 he was app. col. 2d N.Y. Regt.; served at the battle of Stillwater, also against the frontier Indians in 1778; in 1779 com. a regt. of militia under Lafayette, and for his gallant conduct at Yorktown was promoted to brig. gen. Member of the N.Y. Assembly 1788-90; of the State Conv. which adopted the U.S. Constitution in 1788; senator 1791-4; and M.C. 1793-1809. Gen. Van Cortlandt accomp. Lafayette in his tour through the U.S. in 1784. His dau. Gertrude m. Admiral Sir Edward Buller, and d. 3 Oct. 1849.

Van Cortlandt, PHILM., lieut.-gov. of N.Y. 1777-95; d. Cortland, N.Y., 1 May, 1814, a 94 Bro. of the preceding Member 1st Prov. Congress, also of the com. who framed the constitution of N.Y. The Van Cortlandt family, originally noble in Holland, was established in America by Rt. Hon. Oliver Stephen, who in 1629 accomp. the Dutch gov. to N.Y. as secretary.

Vancouver, GEORGE, navigator and explorer of the north-west coast of America; b. ab. 1757; d. May 10, 1793. Entering the navy in 1771, he accomp. Cook in his two last voyages, and in the latter part of 1780 was app. a lieut., in 1790 he was made master and com. of "The Discovery," in which ship he was sent out to ascertain if there existed in North America, between the 30th and 60th degrees of n. lat., an interior sea or any canals of communication between the known gulfs of the Atlantic and the great sea. He sailed from Eng. Apr. 1, 1791; and, after an examination of the Sandwich Island, crossed to Mar. 3, 1792, to the American coast, where he received the surrender of Nootka from the Spaniards, and spent the summers of 1792, '93, and '94 in surveying the coast as far N. as Cook's Inlet, wintering in the Sandwich Islands. He considered his explorations to have settled the question of a north-west passage in the negative. Vancouver's Island was named by him. On his return, he stayed most of the Winter of S. America from the Island of Chiloe, visiting the chief Spanish settlements. He was made a post-capt. in 1794, and arrived in Lond. in Nov. 1795 in a state of declining health from the effects of his voyages, but devoted himself to the arrangement of his manuscripts for publication until within a short time of his death. His Voyages, edited by his bro., was printed at the expense of govt. (4to Lond. 1797), and was shortly after translated into French, German, and Swedish.

Vandenhol, GEORGE, actor and reader, son of John M., a celebrated actor; b. Eng. ab. 1820. Made his débüt Oct. 14, 1839, at Covent Garden, London, as Leon, in "Rule a Wife, and Have a Wife;" Left the Eng. stage Aug. 1, 1842, as Hamlet; app. at the Park Theatre, N.Y. Sept. 21, 1842, as Hamlet; took farewell of the stage in Nov. 1856; was adm. to the bar in Nov. 1855; and has lately given public readings. Author of a "Plain System of Elocution;" "Leaves from an Actor's Note-Book," &c., 1860; "Dramatic Reminiscences," &c., 1859; "Clerical Assistant, an Elocutionary Guide," 1862; "A Lady's Reader," 1862.

Vanderbilt, CORNELIUS, a wealthy and enterprising citizen of N.Y., b. Staten Island, N.Y., May 1794. Originally poor, he began business as master of a small sail-boat; became capt. of a steamboat in 1817; built in my steamboats and steamships of improved construction, and in 1851 established a line from N.Y. to California by way of Nicaragua. In 1852 he gave to the U.S. govt. his new steamer "The Vanderbilt," which cost $800,000, and for which Congress passed a resolution of thanks. He now has the chief control of the N.Y. Central and the Harlem Railroads. "His enterprise, genius, and success are known and felt the world over."

Van der Lyn, Jons, painter, b. Kingston, Ulster Co., N. Y., Oct. 1776; d. there 23 Sept. 1852. Evincing aptitude for painting, he went at 16 to N. Y. City, where he received instruction from Gilbert Stuart; went to Paris in 1796 through the aid of Aaron Burr, studied there 5 years, and again resided in Europe in 1803-15. His picture of "Marius seated amid the Ruins of Carthage" won the gold medal at the Louvre in 1808, and a high compliment from Napoleon. While in Italy, he made many copies of the old masters, especially Ariadne, the Danae and the Antiope of Correggio, and a female figure from the transfiguration of Raphael. After his second return to America, he painted portraits of Madison, Monroe, Clinton, Cabot, and many other disting. in n. He introduced panoramic exhibitions into the U. S., but was peculiarly unsuccessful. In 1822 he was commissioned to paint a full-length of Washington for the hall of the house of representatives; and in 1839 painted the "Landing of Columbus" for the rotunda of the capitol. Another of his pictures was "The Murder of Miss McCrea." His last was a full-length of Pres. Taylor.

Van Derveer, GEN. FERDINAND, b. Butler Co., O., Feb. 27, 1823. Farmers Coll., O. Rose from a private to capt., 1st Ohio Regt. in the Mexican war, and at Monterey headed one of the assaulting columns. He afterwards practiced law, and was sheriff of Butler Co. Col. 35th O. Regt. 1861-2; succeeded to the com. of M. Cook's brigade in Sept. 1862, and led it until he debriz-gen. in the fall of 1864, and assigned to the 4th corps. He was in the Lane of Mt. Spring, and was highly disting. at Chickamauga and Mission Ridge. — Sold's of the War.

Van de Velde, JAMES OLIVER, D. D., R. C. bishop of Natchez, b. Bezzum, 1792; d. Natchez, Mpi., Nov. 13, 1855. Uniting himself early with the J. suits, he was sent when quite young to America. For some years he was pres. of the R. C. Coll. of St. Louis; was consec. bishop of Chicago in 1848; and was transferred to Natchez, July 29, 1853.

Van Dorn, GENS. EARL, b. Mpi. 1821; d. Spring Hill, Tenn., May 8, 1863. West Point, 1842. Aide-de-camp to Gen. P. F. Smith 1847-9. Brev. capt. and major for gallantry at Cerro Gordo and at Contreras and Churubusco; disting. at Chapultepec; wounded at the capture of Mexico City, Sept. 13, 1847; capt. 2d Cav. 3 Mar. 1855; disting. in several conflicts with the Comanches in Texas, in one of which, 1 Oct. 1858, he was 4 times wounded (twice dangerously); major 2d Cav. 28 June, 1860. Long known in the army as zealously devoted to the interests of the slaveholding States, he was among the first to resign his commission (Jan. 31, 1861); became a col. in the Confed. service; took com. of a body of Texas vol.; April 20 captured the valuable steamer "Star of the West" at Indianola; Apr. 21, at the head of 800 men at Salina, he received the surrender of Maj. C. C. Sibley and 7 companies of U. S. inf.; and May 9, of Lieut. Col. Reeve, and 6 companies 8th Inf. Made brig. gen., and soon after maj. gen., he took com. of the Trans-Mpi. dist. Jan. 29, 1862; was defeated at the battle of Pea Ridge, Mar. 6, 7, and 8; was superseded by Gen. Holmes; joined the army in Mpi.; com. and was defeated at the battle of Corinth, Oct. 3, 4; and was superseded by Gen. Pemberton. Defeated at Franklin, Tenn., Apr. 10, 1863, by Gen. Gordon Graeger. He was shot by Dr. Peters, whose family he had injured.

Van Dyke, NICHOLAS, pres. of Delaware, and member Cong. 1777-82; d. St. George's Hundred, Del., 19 Feb. 1789, a. 50. His son NICHOLAS (M. C. 1807-11; U. S. senator 1817-26) d. Newcastle, Del., May, 1826. N. J. Coll. 1788.

Vane, SIR HENRY, statesman, b. Hadlow, Kent, Eng., 1612; executed on Tower Hill, London, June 14, 1662. Son of Sir Henry, sec. of state, and treas. of the royal household under James I. and Charles I. Educated at Westminster and Oxford, he became so far alienated from the Church of England, that he refused to take the oath of allegiance, and returned from a residence at Geneva a Repub. and a Puritan. Resolving to join the Puritan Colony of Ms., he reached Boston Oct. 3, 1635; was enthusiastically received; and in 1636, at the age of 24, was chosen gov. A bitter religious controversy sprang up during his term of office. Vane was probably the first who laid down with precision the inviolable rights of conscience and the exemption of religion from all civil authority. He had a horror of all forms of bigotry, and had no sympathy with the attacks of the clergy on Mrs. Hutchinson. A strong opposition, under the lead of Winthrop, was organized against him, and he was at the next election defeated. The people of Boston, however, immediately chose him their representative to the General Court. He sailed for England, Aug. 3, 1637; was elected to parliament, and was, with Sir Wm. Russell, made joint treasurer of the navy, and also knighted in 1640. In the long parliament, of which he was a member, he was instrumental in the conviction of Strafford, and a zealous opponent of the royalists; was the prime mover of the Solemn League and Covenant; was upon all the commissions empowered to treat with the king during the war; and in 1648 led the minority of parliament which favored the rejection of the terms of settlement offered by the king. Not approving of Cromwell's "purge" of the parliament, he withdrew to private life, until, in Feb. 1649, he became a member of the council of state, which was intrusted with the exec. govt. of the nation. He had almost exclusive direction of the navy and the conduct of foreign wars; and was at the head of a com. which reported a bill for parliamentary reform. It was at this time that Milton wrote in his praise one of his finest sonnets. The forcible dissolution of the long parliament in April, 1653, brought Vane and Cromwell into open conflict; and Vane's opposition was carried to such a length, that he was for a short time confined in Carisbrooke Castle. In the parliament of 1659 he was the leader of the Repub. party. Committed to the Tower after the restoration, he was one of the 20 excepted from the act of oblivion and pardon. His bearing at the place of execution was dignified and manly. He was a leader of the Independents. His services to New England were important. It was in great measure through his influence that the charter for the R. I. Colony was procured, and Roger Williams declared that his name ought ever to be held in honored remembrance by her people. He was, says Foster, "one of the greatest and purest men that ever walked the earth." His Life, by C. W. Upham, is in Sparks's "American Biography," iv. The present duke of Cleveland, in whose veins the blood of Charles II. also flows, is his lineal descendant.

Van Ness, CORNELIUS PETER, LL.D. (U. of Vt. 1823), jurist and diplomatist, b. Vt. Jan. 26, 1782; d. Phila. Dec. 15, 1852. Educated for the law, he practised with great success at Burlington, Vt.; was U.S. atty. 1809-13; representative 1818-21; a commiss. to settle our national boundaries under the treaty of Ghent 1817-21; collector of the port of Burlington 1815-18; chief justice of the State 1821-3; gov. 1823-6; minister to Spain 1829-39; collector of the port of New York 1844-5.

Van Ness, WILLIAM W., jurist, b. Clavenack, N.Y., 1776; d. Charleston, S.C., Feb. 27, 1823. Adm. to the bar in 1797. He practised in his native town and in Hudson. Member of the Assembly in 1804-6; judge N.Y. Sup. Court 1807-22; member State Const. Conv. 1823.

Van Rensselaer (van ren's-sel-er), CORNELIUS, D.D. (U. of N.Y. 1845), a son of Stephen, b. Albany, May 25, 1808; d. Burlington, N.J., July 25, 1860. Y.C. 1827. Adm. to the N.Y. bar in 1830; studied at the Theol. Sem. in Princeton; was ord. in 1835, and preached in Va. In 1837 he became pastor of the 1st Presb. Church, Burlington, N.J. As agent for the Coll. of N.J., he raised $100,000 for its endowment. He founded the Presb. Magazine, and contributed largely to its pages. A vol. of his Essays and Discourses, Hist. and Practical, ed. by his son, was pub. Svo, Phila. 1861.

Van Rensselaer, COL. HENRY, insp.-gen. U.S.A., b. N. York 1810; d. Cincinnati, March 23, 1864. West Point, 1831; res. from 5th Inf. Jan. 27, 1832. Son of Stephen. M.C. from N.Y. 1841-3. App. on the breaking out of the Rebellion, chief of staff to Gen. Scott, with rank of brig.-gen.; and, on Scott's retirement, was made insp.-gen., with rank of colonel.

Van Rensselaer, GEN. HENRY KILLIAN, b. near Albany, 1744; d. Greenbush, N.Y., Sept. 9, 1816. He com. a N.Y. regt. in the Revol. war; was wounded at the capture of Burgoyne, and was afterward a gen. of militia. In July, 1777, he was attacked by a large force near Fort Mifflin. He made a brave resistance, but, learning of the abandonment of Fort Mifflin, he withdrew. In this affair he was severely wounded in the thigh.

Van Rensselaer, JEREMIAH, Revol. patriot, b. 1741; d. Albany, Feb. 22, 1810. N.J. Coll. 1758. Lieut.-gov. of N.Y. 1801-3; M.C. 1789-91.

Van Rensselaer, GEN. SOLOMON, b. Rensselaer Co., N.Y., Aug. 6, 1774; d. Albany, April 23, 1852. Son of Gen. Henry Killian. He entered the service March 14, 1792, as a cornet of cavalry, and as capt. was severely wounded through the lungs in the battle of Miami; fought under Gen. Wayne, Aug. 20, 1794; in 1801-10 and in 1813 he served as adj.-gen. of N.Y. militia; in the assault upon Queen-town Heights, Oct. 13, 1812, being then lieut.-col. of N.Y. Vols. He performed a conspicuous and gallant part, and received four wounds. M.C. 1819-22; postmaster at Albany 1822-39. In 1836 he pub. a "Narrative of the Affair at Queenstown."

Van Rensselaer, STEPHEN, LL.D. (Y. C. 1825), "the patron," b. New York, Nov. 1, 1764; d. Albany, Jan. 26, 1839. H.U. 1782. He was the 5th in lineal descent from Killian Van R., the original patron, or proprietor, of a tract of land which in 1637 was 24 miles in breadth by 48 in length, extending over the greater part of Albany, Renss., and Col. Counties. His mother was Catharine, dau. of Philip Livingston. In 1783 he m. a dau. of Gen. Philip Schuyler. Member of the Assembly in 1789, of the State senate in 1790-5; lieut.-gov. 1795-1801; member of the Const. Conv. of 1801, and most of the time its presiding officer; in 1810-11 one of the commiss. for exploring the route and considering the feasibility of a western canal; from 1816 till his death was one of the canal commiss., and for 15 years pres. of the board. In 1801 he com. the State cavalry, with the rank of gen.; was in com. of the N.Y. militia on the breaking-out of the war of 1812, and assaulted and took Queenstown, Canada, but was eventually defeated. He was again a member of the legisl. in 1816; in 1819 was elected a regent of the State U., and subsequently its chancellor; in 1820 pres. of the State agric. board; in 1821 a member of the Const. Conv.; and M.C. in 1823-9, where his vote caused the election of J. Q. Adams. Under his direction, and at his expense, Prof. Eaton made his geol. surveys of N.Y. in 1821-3. In Nov. 1824 he established at Troy a scientific school for the instruction of teachers, incorporated in 1826 as the Rensselaer Institute. Fully one-half of its current expenses were borne by him, and he continued to aid it till his death. Author of "A Geol. and Agric. Survey of the Dist. adjoining the Erie Canal," Svo, 1824. — See a History of the Life, Services, and Character of Van Rensselaer, by D. D. Barmond.

Van Santvoord, GEORGE, lawyer and author, b. Belvidere, N.J., Dec. 8, 1819; killed at E. Albany, by being run over by a train of cars, March 6, 1863. Un. Coll. 1841. His father, Rev. Staats, was pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church at Belvidere. He studied law at Kinderhook, removed to Indiana, but returned to K., and practised law from 1846 to 1852, when he went to Troy, N.Y. In 1852 and '56 he was elected to the State Assembly, and in 1859 became dist.-atty. of Rensselaer Co. He pub. "Life of Algernon Sidney," 1851; "Lives of the Chief Justices of the U.S.," Svo, 1854; "Principles of Pleading in Civil Actions under the N.Y. Code," Svo, 1852 and 1855; "Precedents of Pleading," 1858; "Practice in the Supreme Court of N.Y. in Equity Actions," 1860-2, and "The Indiana Justice," 1845. He also wrote for the Democ. Review lives of leading French revolutionists, including Robespierre, Danton, and Carnat.

Van Schaack, Peter, LL.D. (Col. Coll. 1826), jurist and loyalist, b. Kinderhook, N.Y., March, 1747; d. there Sept. 27, 1832. Col. Coll. 1768. He studied law; was adm. to practice in 1769; and in 1773 was app. to revise the statutes of N.Y. Being conscientiously opposed to engaging in civil war, he left this country at the close of 1778, arriving in London Jan. 14, 1779; in 1785 he returned, and resumed his profession, devoting much of his time to giving instruction in the science of the law. In 1788 he pub. "Conductor Generalis, or the Duty and Authority of Justices, Sheriffs, Coroners, Constables, Jailers, Jurymen, and Overseers of the Poor," which he revised, and adapted to the U.S.; "Laws of the Colony of N.Y. 1691-1773," 2 vols. fol. 1773. His Diary, Journal, and Letters, edited by Henry C. Van Schaack, were pub. in 1842.

Van Schaick, Ges. Gozes, b. Albany, 1737; d. July 4, 1789. His father was mayor of Albany in 1766-61. At the age of 19 he was app. lieutenant in the expedition against Crown Point, in which the French and Indians were defeated at Sabbath-day Point; capt. May 31, 1758. He took part in the exped. against Forts Frontenac and Niagara; major in Col. Johnson's N.Y. Regt. Mar. 7, 1759; and Mar. 20, 1762, lieutenant-col. in the 1st N.Y. Regt. At the battle of Pienderoga he received a severe blow on the cheek from the butt of a French musket, which led to a cancerous disease, of which he finally died. On the breaking out of the Revol. he was made col. 2d N.Y. Regt.; Nov. 22, 1776, he was app. to the first N.Y. battalion; and a few weeks later he was sent on an exped. to Cherry Valley to protect the inhabitants against the incursions of Brandt, and was active and efficient during this and the subsequent campaign. At the battle of Monmouth he acted as brig.-gen. to Lord Stirling; in Apr. 1779 he was app. by Washington to head a select detachment, with which he destroyed the Onondaga settlements. Congress for this service gave him a vote of thanks. App. brig.-gen. by brevet Oct. 10, 1783. He was a rigid disciplinarian, his regt. being one of the best in the service; and his patriotism was freely shown in sacrificing his private fortune to the public good. — His. N.Y.

Van Wart, Isaac, one of the captors of Andre, b. Greensburg, N.Y., 1746; d. Mount Pleasant, N.Y., May 23, 1828.

Vargas, José, M.D., an eminent physician, and pres. of Venezuela, b. Venezuela 1786; d. New York, July 14, 1854. Educated at the U. of Caracas and at Edinburgh. He visited England, France, and Spain, practised his profession several years in the Island of Porto Rico with success, and became the most eminent surgeon in the W. Indies. Returning to Caracas in his native country, he successfully exerted his influence with Bolívar to obtain for the university there a code of laws, and an endowment for its maintenance. He became prof. of anatomy, of surgery, and also of chemistry; pub. his Lectures, which became textbooks for the institution, of which he was subsequently made pres. or rector, and with which he was connected for upwards of 25 years. He possessed the most valuable collection of minerals and plants in Venezuela, the most extensive chemical laboratory, and the largest private library. Member of scientific institutions in both hemispheres. A leading member of the first congress of the republic, and was elected pres. in 1834; afterward senator, and councillor of state.

Varick, Col. Richard, Revol. soldier, b. Hackensack, N.J., March 25, 1753; d. Jersey City, July 30, 1831. On the breaking out of the Revol. war, he was a practising lawyer in N.Y. City. He entered the service as capt. in McDougall's regt.; was military sec. to Gen. Schuyler, who then com. the northern army; and was subsequently app. dep. muster-master-gen., with the rank of lieutenant-col. He remained with that army until after the capture of Burgoyne, in Oct. 1777, when he acted as ins-pgen. at West Point until after the discovery of Arnold's meditated treason. He then became a member of Washington's military family, and acted as rec. sec. until near the close of the war. After the evacuation of the city by the British (Nov. 25, 1783), Col. Varick was app. recorder of the city of New York, which office he held till 1789, when he took the office of atty.-gen. of the State, and subsequently that of mayor, which he held until 1801; in 1786 he was app., with Samuel Jones, reviser of the State laws. The result of their labors was the volume which bears their name, issued in 1789. In 1787 he was speaker of the House of Assembly. One of the founders of the American Bible Society, and, on the resignation of John Jay, was elected pres. In person he was tall (over six feet in height), and of imposing presence.

Varnum, James Mitchell, brig.-gen. Revol. army, and an eminent lawyer, b. Dea. cut, Ms., 1749; d. Marietta, O., Jan. 10, 1789. R.I. Coll. 1769. Adm. to the bar, he settled at East Greenwich, where he rapidly acquired a lucrative practice. In 1774 he was made com. of the Kentish Guards, a company which gave to the Revol. army Gen. Greene, Col. Crary, Major Whitmarsh, and some 30 other commissioned officers; app. col. 1st R.I. Regt. in Jan. 1775, he was soon after put on the cont. establishment; made a brig.-gen. Feb. 21, 1777; and Nov. 4 was detached to Red Bank, where he com. all the American troops on the Jersey side of the Del. when the British took Phila. It was under his direction that Major Thayer made his gallant defence of Fort Mifflin, for which Congress presented a sword to Col. Samuel Smith, who had relinquish'd the com. the day before the attack. In the following winter he was at Valley Forge; and his letters, quoted by Mr. Sparks, present vivid pictures of the sufferings of the army during that memorable period. He took part in the battle of Monmouth, June 28, 1778. In July, 1778, he joined Sullivan in his exped. to R.I., serving under the immediate orders of La Fayette; but, resigning his commission in 1779, was soon after elected maj.-gen. of militia, which office he held till his death. In 1780-2 and 1786-7 he was an active, eloquent, and influential member of the Old Congress. App. a judge of the Supreme Court in the North-west Territory, he removed to Marietta in June, 1788, and held that office till he died. — Vauble's R. J. Rev.

Varnum, Gen. Joseph Brevint, soldier and statesman, bro. of the preceding, b. Dracont, Ms., 1750; d. there Sept. 11, 1821. He sustained important offices in the Rev. army; after which he was rep., senator, and councillor of Ms.; M. C. in 1795-1811; speaker of the 9th and 10th Congresses; and U. S. senator 1811-17. He was a member of the conv. which ratified the U. S. Constitution in 1787; a leading member of other State conventions; and at the time of his death was senior member of the senate, and the oldest member in the State. He was an earnest advocate of the Federal Constitution, and a zealous supporter of Jefferson.

Vassar, Mathew, founder of the Vassar Coll. b. Norfolk Co., Eng., Apr. 29, 1792; d. Poughkeepsie, June 27, 1868. His father came to the U. S. in 1796, settled in 1797 on a farm near Poughkeepsie, and carried on a brewery from 1800 to 1812. His son followed this business, and accumulated a large fortune. In Feb. 1861 he delivered to trustees incorporated for the purpose $108,000 for the founding of a female college. After his death, it was found that the bequests he had made for its endowment, repair, and furnishing, increased the aggregate to over $800,000. He did not propose to make it a charity school, but to offer the highest educational facilities to females at a moderate expense, and to admit as beneficiaries those who were unable to meet even this expense. His site is about one mile from Poughkeepsie, and contains about 200 acres.

Vaudreuil (no drud), Pierre de Rivault, Marquis de, gov. of Canada from 1703 to his d., Quebec, Oct. 10, 1725. Son of the Marquis de V. who was killed at Luzara in 1702. He entered young into the career of arms; was distinguished at the siege of Valenciennes; was named in 1689 gov. of Montreal; served under Frontenac in the great expedition against the Iroquois, in 1690 was engaged in the defence of Quebec against the attack of Admiral Plaps; three years afterward he surprised and defeated La Chaudiere Noir, the most terrible and cunning of the Iroquois. He gave up the military for the naval service, and in 1702, before inheriting his father's title, obtained a seigniorship. De Vaudreuil gave the English Colonies meretricious trouble by the long war he maintained against them by exciting the savages to perpetual incursions on their frontiers. After the accession of Louis XV., he effected numerous reforms in the Colony, the most important of which were the improvement of education and civilization. His son Pierre, Francois, Marquis de Vaudreuil-Cavagnal, the last French gov. of Canada, and the best b. Quebec, 1698, d. France, 1764. Entering the army, he became major in the marine corps. In 1733 he became gov. of Three Rivers, and in 1743 of La. He succeeded to his father's title in 1748, and in 1755 was made gov. of New France. The jealousy, or rather contempt, with which Montcalm regarded him, tended to hasten the downfall of the French empire in America. After the surrender of Montreal, he returned to France, and was imprisoned in the Bastille on charges preferred by the friends of Montcalm; but a trial at the chateau de Paris exonerated him from blame, and he was released, but stripped of nearly all his possessions. Another son, Pierre, Francois-Rigaud, chev. de St. Montreuil, 8 Feb. 1704, was a brave soldier; captured Fort Massachusetts, destroyed Gen. Parker at Lake St. Sacrament, and performed other important services. He was living at St. Germain-en-laye in 1770. — Moniteur.

Vaughan, Benjamin, LL. D. (H. L. 1807), a man of learning and benevolence, b. in the Island of Jamaica, Apr. 19, 1751; d. Hallowell, Me., Dec. 8, 1835. Samuel his teacher, who was a wealthy planter removed to London; placed his son at the Univ. of Cambridge. After studying law at the Temple, and medicine at the Univ. of Edinburgh, to which he devoted much of his attention during his subsequent life, he collected a valuable medical library, and although he did not practice as a physician, exemplified his benevolent character by visiting his poor neighbors, and administering to their necessities gratuitously. Elected a member of parliament in 1792, he for several years zealously supported the Whigs. In 1796 he came to Hallowell, Me., where he superintended a large farm and employed himself in the performance of acts of benevolence. A part of his fine library he gave to Bowdoin College. Author of "The Rural Societies," 8vo, 1800, and transl. of "Travels of a Philosopher" from the French of Porte, 1797.

Vaughan, Charles, bro. of Benj., b. Eng., 20 June, 1759; d. Hallowell, May 15, 1839. Came to the U. S. abt. 1785. An active merchant, a man of great energy and enterprise, disting. for his knowledge and usefulness, and particularly for his enterprise and successful exertions for improving the agriculture of Maine.

Vaughan, Sir John, K. B., a disting. British gen., b. 1738; d. Martinique, June 30, 1795. Second son of the Earl of Lisburne. Was app. in 1746 a cornet 9th Dragoons; served in the war in Germany and in the W. Indies, particularly at the taking of Martinique, where, as lieutenant-col., he greatly disting. himself; app. May 11, 1775, col. of the 16th Regt., which being ordered to America, he served as brig. and maj. gen. on the staff, and app. Jan. 28, 1777, a major-gen. in the British establishment. He led the grenadiers to the attack of Brooklyn on Long Island; at the landing on New York he was wounded in the thigh; he com. at the storming of Fort Mifflin; and, for his intrepidity, Sir Henry Clinton in his orders, gave it the name of Fort Vaughan. With Sir James Wallace, he sailed up the Hudson in Oct. 1777 on a marauding expedition and destroyed Kingston, or Esopus, in May, 1779; he captured Stony Point and Verplanck on the Hudson; after the campaign of 1779 he returned to Eng., and was in Dec. app. commander in the Leeward Island, Feb. 3, 1781, in conjunction with Rodney, he took St. Eustatius. In 1779 he was app. gov. of Fort Williams, was a lieutenant-col. gov. of Berwick, and a representative for Berwick in parliament from 1774 till his death.

Vaughan, Lieut.-Colonel William, b. Portsmouth, N.H., Sept. 12, 1703; d. Lond. Dec. 11, 1746. H.U. 1722. His father George, Lieut.-gov. of N.H. 1715-17, b. Apr. 13, 1676, d. Nov. 20, 1724. H.U. 1696. The son was largely concerned in fisheries, and had settled at Danari-scotta. Conceiving the idea of the capture of Louisburg, he went to Boston to suggest an exped. against that place, and took part in its capture under Peppercell. At the head of a detachment, chiefly of N.H. troops, he marched in the night to the north-east part of the harbor, where they burned the warehouses, and staved a large quantity of wine and brandy. The French were forced by the smoke to desert the grand battery, of which Vaughan next morning took possession, and bravely defended; and the city soon after fell. Overlooked in the distribution of ministerial rewards, he went to Eng. to assert his claims, and d. there.

Vaughan, Sir William, LL.D. (Oxford, 1605), poet and physician, b. Wales, 1577; d. ab. 1640. Ab. 1625 he took up his residence on land he had purchased in Newfoundland; established a plantation, which he called Cambriol; and, to invite settlers from England, sent home and pub. in 1626 his "Golden Fleece," a quaint tract in prose and verse. In 1640 he pub. "The Church Militant" in verse. "The Newlander's Cure," 1630, gives some account of his settlement at N., and other experiences.

Vaux, Richard, son of Roberts, b. Phila. 1817. Recorder of that city 1842-7; mayor 1856-8. He has pub. remarks on the Writ of Habeas Corpus, 1843; Reports of Cases while Recorder; 28 Annual Reports of the Insp. of the Penitentiary; 3 Reports of Directors of Girard Coll.; "Hist. of the First Hose Co. of Phila.;" "Biog. Notice of J. P. Wetherill," 1853; essays on penal science; besides addresses, lectures on social science, critical and humorous essays, &c. — See Democ. Reviv. v. xxi. 167.

Vaux, Roberts, philanthropist of Phila., b. Jan. 21, 1786; d. Jan. 7, 1836. His father, an eminent merchant, d. in 1790. Roberts was educated at Friends' Acad., being a member of that denomination, and early relinquished mercantile business to devote himself to active philanthropic labors. The subjects of education, amelioration of the penal code, prison discipline, enlightened charities, and scientific investigations, constantly occupied his mind. 14 years pres. of the board of controllers of the public schools of Phila. To him the penitentiary system of Pa., or the "separate system" of punishment for crime, owes much of its success. Many of the public institutions of Phila. are indebted to his exertions either as originator or advocate. His Memoirs of Lay, Benezet, and Sandiford, evince the terseness and purity of his style as an author. A short time previous to his death, he accepted the office of judge of the County Courts of Phila. — See Albion for list of publications.

Veazey, Thomas W., gov. Md. 1836-8; member of the house of delegates and of the exec. council; d. Cecil Co., Md., 30 June, 1842, a. 68.

Vedder, Elint, artist, b. N.Y. City, Feb.

1836. After studying with Matteson, he visited Europe, then opened a studio in N. York, and has for some years resided in Italy. He is the most individual and independent of our genre painters. — See his "Arab listening to the Sphinx," "Lair of the Sea-Serpent," and "St. Simon Stylites on his Pillar." — Tuckerman.

Velasquez (vá-lás-kéth), Diego, a Spanish gen., who accomp. Columbus in his second voyage; d. 1523. He engaged in the conquest of St. Domingo, and founded in 1511 the city of Havana in Cuba. He sent out the exped. which discovered Yucatan and Mexico, and despatched Cortez to subdue the latter country. Ab. 1520 he sent a small army to Mexico, under Narvaez, against Cortez, who defeated him, and took him prisoner.

Venable, Abraham B., U. S. senator 1803-4; perished in the conflagration of the theatre at Richmond, Va., Dec. 26, 1811, with Gov. Smith and about 70 others, principally females. N. J. Coll. 1780. M.C. from Va. in 1791-9.

Ver Bryck, Cornelius, artist, b. Yough Paugh, N. J., Jan. 1, 1813; d. there May 31, 1844. In 1835 he studied under Morse; visited Mobile in 1837, and Europe in 1839; and was afterward occupied with landscape and historical pictures in New York. He visited Europe again in 1843 to restore his health, but returned only to die. Among his pictures are the "Head of a Cavalier," "Charles the First in Vanduyke's Studio," and the study for "Stephen before the Council." — Tuckerman.

Verendrye, Pierre Gauthier de Varennes, a Canadian fur-trader, discoverer of the Rocky Mountains in 1731, b. France; d. Quebec, Dec. 6, 1749, just as he was about, by the king's desire, to resume his journey to the Pacific. The expense of this achievement (though it had been projected by M. de Beauharnais) was borne entirely by Verendrye, upon whom the king conferred the cross of St. Louis. He related to Kalm, the Swedish traveller, that he had discovered, 900 miles beyond Montreal, some massive pillars, each formed of a single block of stone, one of which was surmounted by a small block only a foot high and a few inches across, bearing on two sides gray characters of an unknown language, said by the Jesuits to resemble the Tartaric. This was sent to Paris. — Morgan.

Vergennes (vér-zhén'), Charles Gravier, Count de, a French statesman, b. Dijon, Dec. 28, 1717; d. at Versailles, Feb. 13, 1787. Son of a pres. of the parliament of Dijon. In 1740 he accomp. M. de Chavigny, a relative, to Lisbon in a diplomatic capacity; and in 1750 was himself app. minister at the court of the elector of Trèves. In 1755-68 he was ambassador to Turkey. He was in 1771 sent to Sweden, and had no small share in the revol. which took place there under Gustavus III. When Louis XVI. came to the crown, he recalled Vergennes, and made him minister of foreign affairs in July, 1774. Among the principal acts of his ministry were the treaty of Soleure with the Swiss in 1777, that with the United States in 1778, the treaty of Teschen with the emperor Joseph II. in 1779, the treaty which concluded the Amer. war in 1783, and the treaty of commerce negotiated with Eng. in 1785-6. A "Hist. and Political Memoir on Louisiana," svo, 1802, has been attributed to him.

Vernon, EDWARD, an English admiral, b. 12 Nov. 1684; d. 29 Oct. 1757. He went to sea in 1702; captured Porto Bello, with all its fortifications, in 1739; made an unsuccessful attack on Carthagen in 1741, and on Panama in 1742; and was made an admiral in 1745. He was many years an opposition member of parliament. Author of a "New History of Jamaica," 1749; "Expedition to Panama," 1744, &c.

Vernon, JANE MERCHANT FISHER, actress, sister of Clara Fisher, b. Brighton, Eng., 1796; d. New York, June 4, 1869. Made her débüt at Drury Lane in 1817 in "Lilliput;" at the Bowery, N.Y., Sept. 11, 1827, as Cicely Homespun, in "Hair at Law;" was afterward attached to the Chatham; was at the Park from 1830 to 1847; and was long connected with Wallack's company, making her last appearance as Mrs. Satebile, in "School," April 5, 1869. Oct. 6, 1827, she m. George Vernon, comedian, who d. June 13, 1830. Mrs. Vernon was an excellent performer of old women, was long a great favorite in New York, and was a woman of cultivated mind.

Verplanck, GILIAN CROMMELIN, LL.D., author, b. N.Y. City, Aug. 6, 1786; d. there Mar. 18, 1870. Col. Coll. 1801. After being adm. to the bar, he passed several years in Great Britain and on the Continent. On his return home, he became interested in politics, and in 1804 was a candidate of the "Malcontents" in New York for the Assembly. In 1818 he delivered the first of a series of addresses, on which his literary reputation is mainly founded, at the anniversary of the N.Y. Hist. Society, on "The Early European Friends of America." It passed through several editions. One of the most celebrated of his discourses, "The Amer. Scholar," was delivered at Union Coll. in 1836; in 1819 he wrote "The State Triumvirate, a Political Tale," a satire on the political parties of the day, and other works of a similar description. In 1820 he was a prominent member of the N.Y. legis., and chairman of the com. on education. He soon after became prof. of the evidences of Christianity in the Theol. Sem. of the Pr.-Epis. Church in N.Y., and in 1824 pub. "Essays on the Nature and Uses of the Various Evidences of Revealed Religion;" in 1825 appeared his "Essay on the Doctrine of Contracts." Beside these works, he contrib. much to various magazines, and in conjunction with Bryant and Sands, he pub. "The Talisman," a sort of annual, 3 vols. of which appeared. M.C. 1825-33, warmly advocating the extension of the term of copyright from 28 to 42 years; and afterwards for several years was a member of the State senate. The N.Y. senate at that time composed, with the judges of the Higher court, the Court for the Correction of Errors, or the Court of Appeals. Mr. Verplanck took an active part in these judicial duties; and many of his opinions on important questions are preserved in the last 7 vols. of Wendell's N.Y. Reports. From 1846 he was pres. of the N.Y. board of emigrant commiss., and prepared nearly all its annual reports. He was also one of the govs. of the N.Y. Hospital, and was vice-chancellor of the State U. In 1833 he pub. a coll. of his discourses and addresses on various subjects, and in 1846 a handsome edition of Shakspeare. He wrote the Memoir prefixed to the writings of his friend Sands. His ancestral home, a fat Fish-Kill Landing, on the Hudson, is a well-preserved old mansion, in which the Society of the Cincinnati was founded.

Verazzani, or Verrazano (ver-rat-säh-no), JEAN, a Florentine navigator, l. near the close of the 15th century; d. 1525. He was of a noble family, and was employed by Francis I. to make new discoveries in N. America. Jan. 17, 1524, he sailed by way of Madira with the frigate "Dauphin," which he com., and, after experiencing a terrible tempest, landed on the coasts of N. America, which he traversed from the 34th degree of latitude as far as Newfoundland. His discoveries were quite important, since he visited more than 700 leagues of coast; and his letter to the king contains a curious description of the savages which he found there. This letter, dated 8 July, 1524, contains the earliest original account extant of the Atlantic coast of the U.S. From a voyage made in the following year he never returned. In the Strozzii Library at Florence is preserved a cosmographic description of the coasts and all the countries which Verazzani had visited; and it shows that he had sought a northern passage to the E. Indies. The relation of his voyage is found in the coll. of Ramusio, and in "L'Historia Generale des Voyages."—See an Ang. note on the Authenticity of Verazzani's Disc., by Bart. de Saabe, 1834.

Very, JONES, author, b. Salem, Mass., Aug. 28, 1813. H.U. 1836. In his youth he made several voyages to Europe with his father, a sea-captain, and was from 1836 to 1838 a tutor of Greek at Harvard. He pub. a vol. of "Essays and Poems," Boston, 1839. They contain a subtle essay on Shakspeare, and "The Point of Columbine," his best-known poem. He was licensed as a preacher by the Cambridge Association in 1843. Though never ordained over a cong., he still occasionally preaches. He has been a contrib. to the Christian Register, Monthly Relig. Mag., and Salem Gazette.

Vespucci, AMERIGO (ves-poo'-chee, ä-mä-re's-go), an Italian navigator, from whom the name of America is derived, b. Florence, Mar. 9, 1451; d. Seville, Feb. 22, 1512. He was of a noble family, and in his youth studied natural philos., astronomy, and geography. While commercial agent of the Medici family at Seville, Columbus was in that city, preparing for a second voyage; and Vespucci was smitten with the desire for nautical adventure. His first voyage was with Ojeda in 1499. Paria and several hundred miles of coast were visited; and the exp. d. returned in June, 1500. In July he wrote to Lorenzo de' Medici and Francesco de' Medici an account of the voyage, which lay hid in MS. until 1745, when it was pub. by Baudini. In May, 1501, he entered the service of Emanuel, king of Portugal, and made a voyage to Brazil, an account of which, written to the same de Medici, was first pub. by Bartolozzi in 1789. In 1504 he sent to the same person a fuller narrative of this exped., pub. at Strasburg, 1505, entitled "Americus Vesputii de Orbis Antartico per Regem Portugaliæ Peritum Itinerarium." From this voyage he acquired the reputation of being the discoverer of the mainland. In May, 1503, he com. a caravel in a squadron that sailed for the discovery of Malacca, but parted company from the rest, and ed. the coast of Brazil discovered the Bay of All Saints, ran 260 leagues farther S., where he land'd, built a fort, took in a cargo of Brazil-wood, returning to Lisbon in June, 1504. Entering the Spanish service early in 1505, he was, March 22, 1508, made principal pilot. After his return from his Brazil exped. in 1504, he wrote a letter to René, Duke of Lorraine, containing an account of 4 voyages which he says he had made to the N. W. World, and gives the date of his first voyage as May 20, 1497-Oct. 1498. This statement has occasioned much controversy as to the first discovery of the mainland of America, and as to the true character of Vesputi, against whom it has been charged, that, after the return from his first voyage to Brazil, he made a maritime chart, in which he gave his name to that part of the mainland. The name "Americus Terra" was applied to this continent as early as 1507 by Waldse Müller, a geographer of Freiburg, in a small work entitled "Geographica Astrologica in septem Questionibus, et 15. Capitulis Novæ orbis." Vesputi was on friendly terms with Columbus, and does not appear to have had any intention of taking the honor of the discovery from Columbus; and it was not until the appearance, in 1593, of the "Expusum Geographiarum" of Solomon, and of the attack of Scrivener, in the Lyons edition of Ptolemy's Geography, in 1595, that charges were brought against him. — S. Vesputius and his Voyages to the Indies, Boston, 1850; and Vesputius and Vesputius in America by C. E. Lester, N. Y., svo, 1846.

Vetch, Cor. SAMUEL, gov. of Annapolis, N. S., 1711; b. Edinburg; d. Lond. 30 Apr. 1732. Son of a minister. A councillor in the Scotch settlement at Darien in 1698; removed to N. Y.; trad'd with the Indians; was in 1705 a commissioner from Gov. Dudley of M. to the bc with proposals for a treaty between Canada and N. E.; and was afterward imprisoned in Boston for trading with the French and Indians, on migs. to the govt., and fined 2000. He visit'd Eng. in 1708; proposed the seizure of Canada; was bearer of the queen's instructions for the exped., which he led before the gov. and council 17 May, 1709; but it abort'd, and Vetch retired to R. I. In 1710 he was adj.-gen. in the exped. against Fort Royal; was its gov. after its capture, and change of name; and shortly after went to France. — S. Journal of the Voyages of M. de Vetch, 1701, in Travels and News by F. B. Ogle, London, 1806.

Vethake, HENRY, LL. D. (1836), author, b. Essex Co., Guinea, S. America, 1792; d. Phila. D. 16 1836. Col. C. 1808. Historiographer and geog. Col. Coll. 1813; prof.

math. and nat. philos. Rutgers Coll. 1813-17; N. J. Coll. 1817-21; Dick Coll. 1821-9; N. Y. City U. 1822-5; pres. of Wash. Coll., Va., 1835-6; prof. math. U. of Pa. 1836-54; prof. and prof. moral and nat. philos. U. of Pa. 1854-9; prof. of the higher math. in the Phila. Polytechnic Coll. 1859. In 1838 he pub. a valuable work on Political Economy, and edited the supplementary volume of the "Encyclopædia Americana." He also pub. addresses on education, &c., and contrib. to periodicals.

Victor, METIA VICTORIA (FALLER), sister of Mrs. Barritt, b. Erie, Pa. 2 Mar. 1831. Married O. J. Victor in July, 1856. At 14 she wrote tales and poems, and at 16 was known as the "singing sibil" of the Hon. Journal. Author of "Last Days of Tul," 1847; "Poems," svo, 1851; "Flesh Leaves from Western Woods," 1852; "Fashionable Dissipation," 1854; "The Two Mormon Wives," 1857; "The Arctic Queen, a Poem," 1858; "Mrs. Stimmis's Window, and Other Papers," 1860. Assist. ed. U. S. Journal, 1857-60; Home Monthly, 1859-61; contrib. to Geog. Harp's Map, Champlin's At. Journal, &c. — See Poets and Poetry of the West.

Victor, ORVILLE JAMES, author, b. Sandusky, O., 1827. Has pub. "History of the Southern Rebellion," 3 vols., svo, 1862-8; "Incidents and Anecdotes of the War," svo, 1863; "Hist. of Amer. Conspiracies," &c., 1760-1860," svo, 1864; editor of Beadle's Dime Publications; editor Sandusky Register, 1852-6; Champlin's At. Journal, 1857-61; contrib. to various periodicals. — U. S. M.

Vidal, FRANCISCO ASTORIO, pres. of the Republic of Uruguay 1856-8; b. Montevideo, 1827. Educated at Paris; obtained the degree of doctor of medicine; minister of the interior of Uruguay 1855-6.

Vidaurre, GUS SANTIAGO, a Mexican soldier and politician, b. New Leon, abt. 1803; shot in the city of Mexico, Aug. 8, 1867. While Alvarez was contending against Santa Aña in the south-west, Vidaurre took the field in the north. He was a candidate for the presidency in the junta of Cuernavaca, Oct. 4, 1855; but that body preferred Alvarez. Vidaurre now took up a semi-ind. and pt. position; decreed the confiscation of church property in the north-eastern states, and disbanded the armed force. He refused to recognize Comontort as the successor of Pres. Alvarez, Dec. 8, 1855; and in Feb. 1856 decreed the union of Coahuila and New Leon, proclaiming himself their gov. and commanding gen. By a treaty made Nov. 18, 1856, Vidaurre acknowledged the govt. of Comontort, and remained in control of the two combined states, which authority he exercised until 1860. In the summer of 1860 he entered into friendly relations with the secessionists of Texas, and on the invasion of Mexico by the allied French, Spanish, and English forces, in 1862, he declared his adhesion to the national cause. After having been long identified with the "Dona's," he was induced to support the Emper. Maximilian, and was executed as a traitor on the 25th day of the latter.

Viele, GUS EDWARD L., b. Waterford, N. Y., June 17, 1825. West Point, 1847. Prev.

2d lieut. 2d Inf., he served through the Mexican war; was made 1st lieut. Oct. 1850; resigned in 1853; was app. state eng. of N. J., and entered on its geodetic survey. In 1857-8 he was eng. in chief of the Central Park, N. Y.; and in Dept of Prospect Park, Brooklyn, Aug. 17, 1861, he was made brig.-gen. of vols.; accompanied the expedition to Fort Royal; com. the investing forces at the siege of Fort Pulaski in the spring of 1862; and led the advance at the occupation of Norfolk, of which place he was military gov. from Aug. 1862 to his resignation Dec. 20, 1863. Since 1863, civil eng. in N. Y. City. Author of a "Hand-Book for Active Service," 1861; reports on Central and Prospect Parks, and the topog. survey of N. J.; "Topog. and Hydrog. of N. Y.," 8vo, 1860; also of a number of papers on geographical and scientific subjects. — Columb.

Viger, JAMES, a disting. Canadian archaeologist, b. Montreal, May 7, 1787; d. there Dec. 12, 1858. He served as an officer of militia in the war of 1812, and took part in the engagement at Sackett's Harbor. First mayor of Montreal, and held other important trusts. He wrote much upon the early history of Canada; among his publications are a correction of the "Liste du Camp de Canada;" "Le Petit Registre," the basis of a history of Montreal and its first settlers; History of the Parishes of the Diocese of Montreal; "Le Chancelier, ou la Tradition de Defois;" a History of the Lemoyne de Longueuil family. He also furnished all the documents of the "Securities de Dieu en Canada," by Henry de Couray, Esq., and an Album which formed the plan of the work. This obtained for him from the pope the honor of Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory. — Hist. Mag., iii, 129.

Villere, JAMES, gov. of La. 1816-20; mayor of N. Orleans under Gen. Jackson, 1814-15; in battle of N. Orleans. His son GEN. GYRENE, of N. Orleans, 6 July, 1852, a. 67, rendered important service to Jackson before the battle of 23 Dec. 1814.

Vincennes, BISSOP M. D., founder of Vincennes, Indiana, b. Canada; d. 1736. Nephew of Jolliet the explorer. Entered the army as ensign, and was early employed in the West, especially among the Miamis, who were greatly attached to him. He was at Mchilimackinac in 1698. In 1704 he was sent to the Miami country, where he came in collision with Cahoon, the Com. at Detroit, but rendered essential services in a difficulty with the Indians of that place, and his fault was overlooked. He remained in the Miami country on the Ottawa d. M. until 1736, when he joined the expedition against the Chickasaws under D'Arvigny, in which he lost his life. Vincennes probably resided on the spot which bears his name, and whence he led the Miamis, who deserted him, but no French post or settlement existed there at the time. — Hist. Mag., iv, 155.

Vincent, PHILIP, an English minister, visited N. Y. in 1637-8, and published the "True Relation of the Battle between the English and the Papists," 1638. It is in "Ms. P. 1. C. 3. 7," 1st series, vol. 6.

Vincent, G. S. SIMONS, b. Lit. Co., Pa.,

June 17, 1837; d. July 7, 1863, of wounds received at Gettysburg July 2. II C. 1859. He was practicing law at Erie when the Rebellion broke out. Enlisted as a private in the Wayne guards, made lieut.-col. 83d Pa. Vols., Sept. 1861; col. June 29, 1862; brig.-gen. July 2, 1863. He com. a brigade at the battles of Fredericksburg, Alder, and at Gettysburg, with high distinction. — Haver. Mem. Bkg.

Vining, JOHN, b. Dover, Del., 23 Dec. 1758; d. there Feb. 1802. Deleg. to the Cont. Congress in 1784-6; M. C. from De. 1789-92; U. S. senator 1795-8.

Vinton, ALEXANDER HAMILTON, D. D. (U. of N. Y. 1849), clergyman, b. Providence, R. I., May 2, 1807. A. M. of Br. U. 1836. He received the degree of M. D. at Y. C. in 1828. After practising medicine 3 years, he entered the sem. of the Epis. church and was ord. in New York in July, 1835. He took charge of St. Paul's Church, Portland, from Nov. 1835 to Apr. 1836; was then for 6 years rector of Grace Church, Providence, R. I.; from 1842 to 1858 of St. Paul's Church, Boston; then accepted a call from the Church of the Holy Trinity, Phala.; in May, 1861, succeeded Dr. Anthon in St. Mark's Church, New York; and in 1870 became rector of Emanuel Ch., Boston. He pub. a vol. of sermons, 1855, and a number of ocean discourses and addresses. His bro. JOHN ROUTLER, brev. maj. U. S. A. (b. Prov., R. I., 16 June, 1810, killed at the siege of Vera Cruz, 22 March, 1847; West Point, 1817), served with distinction in Fla. and Mexico.

Vinton, FRANCIS, D. D. (Col. Coll. 1858), clergyman, b. Providence, R. I., Aug. 29, 1809. West Point, 1830. 2d lieut. 3d Art. While stationed at Fort Independence, Boston harbor, he studied at the Camb. Law School, and also served for 2 or 3 years as a civil engr. on several N. E. railroads; admitted to the bar of Portsmouth, N. H., in 1834; left the army 31 Aug. 1836; entered the Epis. sem. in N. Y.; was ord. deacon in 1838, and priest in 1839; successively rector of St. Stephen's, Providence (1840), Trinity Church, Newport (1840), Emmae Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. (1844) and Grace Church there (1847). He declared the bishopric of Indiana in 1848, and was a prominent candidate for prov. bishop of N. Y. in 1847 and '51. He was elected an assist. minister of Trinity Church, N. Y., in 1855. Prof. of eccl. law and polity in the Epis. col. Theol. Sem., New York, since 1869. Author of "Arthur Tremaine," 1830; sermons, pamphlets, &c., oration on the Annals of R. I., 8vo, 1863. Lecturer on Dante, the Gentleman, &c.

Vinton, G. S. FRANCIS LAWRENCE, b. Fort Prob. Me., June 1, 1835. West Point, 1855. Son of Maj. J. R. Vinton. Educated under the care of his uncle Rev. Francis, and entered the 1st Cav., but resigned in Sept. to devote himself to military study; and in 1857 became a pupil of the Imperial School of Mmes in Paris, where he grad. with distinction. Returning home from an examination of the mineral resources of Central America, at the outbreak of the civil war he was app. capt. 16th U. S. Inf.; was made finally officer in com. of a vol. regt. by the govt. of U. States, and accepted that of the 43d N.Y., with which he fought in Hancock's brigade through the Peninsular campaign; brig.-gen. vols. 13 Mar. 1863. He was wounded at the battle of Fredericksburg, Dec. 13, 1862, and resigned 5 May, 1863. Prof. of mining engineering, Col. Coll., N. York, since Sept. 1864. — Cullum.

Vinton, JOHN ADAMS, antiquarian, b. Boston, Feb. 5, 1801. D.C. 1828; Andover Theol. Sem. 1831. He was active in the ministry, in Me., Vt., and Ms., in 1832-52. He has pub. besides discourses and contribs. to various journals, "Vinton Memorial," 1858; "Giles Memorial," 1864; "The Sampson Family in America," 1864; "Deborah Sampson," a reprint, 1866; and "Reminis. of Park-st. Church," in Boston Recorder, 1849. — Dagkinek.

Viomenil (vé-ó-má-né'l'), ANTOINE CHARLES DU HOUC, Baron de, a French gen., b. 1728 at Faucoucourt, Lorraine; d. Paris, Nov. 9, 1792. He entered the army at the age of 15 as lieutenant; was wounded at the siege of Bergen-op-zoon 1747; disting. himself in com. of the light troops of Condé's army in the campaigns of Hanover, and also in Corsica, where he earned the brev. of maréchal-de-camp, and of com. of St. Louis. In 1770 he assisted the party of the confederation in Poland against the Russian armies; conducted while there some important operations, particularly the capture of the Castle of Cracow. In 1780 the Baron Viomenil came to America as second in com. under Rochambeau, and disting. himself at the capture of Yorktown. Made in 1783 lieutenant-gen., and, on his return to France, gov. of La Rochelle, receiving in 1782 the grand cross of St. Louis. At the period of the French revol. he stood by the king to the last moment, and was so badly wounded in defending him at the attack of the Tuileries, Aug. 10, 1792, that he died a few weeks later. His bro. CHARLES JOSEPH HYACINTHE DU HOUC DE, Marshal of France, b. 1734, d. Paris, 5 Mar. 1827; aide to Chevert in the 7-years' war; served as a maj.-gen. in Rochambeau's army in Amer.; was gov. of Martinique in 1789-90; served under Condé in 1792-7; was made a peer in 1814, a marshal 3 July, 1816, and a marquis in 1817.

Viscaino (vês-ká-ec'no), SEBASTIAN, Spanish navigator. Commanded an exped. sent from Acapulco in 1602, and explored the coast of New California, of which he made an accurate chart.

Vogdes, ISRAEL, e.d. and brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. Pa. ab. 1816. West Point, 1837. Assist. prof. math. there 1837-49; 1st lieut. 1st Art. 9 July, 1838, and served against the Seminoles in Fla. in 1849-50 and in 1856; capt. 20 Aug. 1847; maj. 14 May, 1861; brig.-gen. vols. 29 Nov. 1862; lieut.-col. 5th Art. 1 June, 1863; col. 1st Art. 1 Aug. 1863. He defended Fort Pickens, Feb.-Oct. 1861; was captured in rebel night-attack on Santa Rosa Island 9 Oct. 1861; com. at Folly Island, S.C., and took part in the attacks on Morris Island, and operations against Fort Sumter and Charleston, S.C.; and com. defences of Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va., 1864-5; brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A. 9 April, 1865. — Cullum.

Vogdes, WILLIAM, LL.D., prof. mathem.

Phila. High School 1838-62, b. Phila. 1802; adm. to the Phila. bar 1832. Author of "U.S. Arithmetic," 1845; "Elem. Treatise on Mensuration and Pract. Arith.," 1845. — Allibone.

Volney, CONSTANTINE FRANÇOIS CHASSE-BEUF, Count de, a French writer, b. Craon, Feb. 3, 1757; d. Paris, April 25, 1820. After completing his education, he went to Egypt and Syria in 1783, of which countries he pub. a description, in 2 vols. 8vo, 1787. At the beginning of the revol., he became a member of the States-Gen. In the reign of terror he was imprisoned, but in 1794 became a prof. in the new school of education. On the failure of this project, in 1795, Volney came to America, where he had a controversy with Priestley on the origin of Christianity, and returned in 1798. A republican by principle, he was always an ardent defender of the rights of the nation. Napoleon made him a senator; and, after the restoration of the Bourbons, he was designated a member of the chamber of peers, June 4, 1814. His other works are "The Ruins, or Meditations on the Revolutions of Empires;" "The Law of Nature, or Physical Principles of Morality;" "Account of Corsica;" "Lectures on History;" "On the Climate and Soil of the U.S. of America," Phila. 8vo, 1804, &c.

Voorhees, DANIEL W., Democ. politician, b. Fountain Co., Ind., Sept. 26, 1828. Ind. Asbury C. 1849. He began to practise law in 1851; was U.S. dist.-atty. for Ind. in 1858-61; M.C. 1861-5 and 1869-71.

Voorhees, PHILIP F., capt. U.S.N., b. N. J.; d. Annapolis, Md., Feb. 26, 1862. Midshipm. Nov. 15, 1809; lieut. Dec. 9, 1814; com. Apr. 24, 1828; capt. Feb. 28, 1838. He was in the actions between the frigates "United States" and "Macedonian," Oct. 25, 1812; and the sloops "Pacock" and "Egervier," Apr. 29, 1814, as lieut. of "The Peacock," com. "The John Adams" in the Mediterranean in 1831-2.

Vose, JOSEPH, col. 1st Ms. Regt. Revol. war, b. Milton, Ms., 1738; d. there May 22, 1816. He was col. of militia in Nov. 1774; May 27, 1775, he led an exped. which destroyed the light-house and the bay on the islands in Boston harbor. Lieut.-col. of Greaton's regt. Nov. 4, 1775, and accompanied it to Canada in 1776; joined the main army in N. J. in the spring of 1777; and closed his Revol. services in Lafayette's corps, at Yorktown. His bro. ELLIAR, lieut.-col. of his regt. (1st), b. Milton, 24 Feb. 1744, d. 19 Mar. 1822, served through the war, in which 4 of the brothers were engaged.

Vroom, PETER D., LL.D. (Col. Coll. 1850), statesman, b. N. J. Col. Coll. 1808. Member N. J. legisl. 1826-9; member N. J. Const. Conv. 1844; gov. of that State 1829-32 and 1833-6; M.C. 1839-41; and in 1853-7 was minister to Prussia. Delegate to the Peace Congress in Feb. 1861.

Waddell, JAMES, D.D. (Dick. Coll. 1792), Presb. minister, b. Newry, Ireland, July, 1739; d. Louisa Co., Va., Sept. 17, 1805. He was brought to Amer. in infancy by his parents, who settled on White-clay Creek, Pa. He studied under Dr. Finley at Nottingham, was an assist. to Pres. Smith of Hamp.-Sid. Col., and Pres. S. S. Smith of N. J. Coll. Meeting with the celebrated preacher Samuel Davies, he studied theology; was licensed to preach in 1761; ord. 16 June, 1762; and settled pastor in Lancaster Co., Pa. In 1776 he removed to Augusta Co., Va., and in 1785 to Hopewell, where he d. a teacher. While there, he was deprived of sight, but continued to preach. Wirt, in "The British Spy," has given an interesting picture of the blind preacher, whom he believed to be the equal of Patrick Henry, though in a different species of oratory. A dau. m. Rev. Archibald Alexander. — Springer.

Waddell, Moses, D. D. (Col. Coll., S. C., 1807), Pres. of Franklin Coll., Ga., 1819-29, b. Fred-ell Co., N. C., July 29, 1770; d. Athens, Ga., July 21, 1840. Hamp-Sid. Coll. 1791. He was self-educated; was licensed to preach by the Hanover presbytery 12 May, 1792; became a disting. teacher, and, under his care, Franklin College (now the U. of Ga.) attained a high position. Author of "Memoirs of Caroline E. Smith," 12mo, 1819. — Springer.

Wade, Benjamin Franklin, senator, a zealous opponent of slavery, b. Springfield, Ms., 27 Oct. 1800. His father was a soldier of the Revol., and a poor man. With a limited education, he in 1821 removed to Ohio, having been some months employed in digging the Erie Canal. He taught school; studied law; and was in 1828 adm. to the Ashabala-Co. bar; made prosec. atty. of that county in 1835; State senator in 1837-9; and in 1847 pres. judge of the 3d judicial dist.; and in 1851-69 was U. S. senator. Prominent in that body as a leader of the anti-slavery Whigs, and then of the Republicans; he advocated the Homestead Bill and the repeal of the Fugitive-Slave Law; opposed the Kansas-Nebraska Bill of 1854, the Lecompton Constitution for Kansas in 1858, the purchase of Cuba, and, in Dec. 1860, the making any new concessions to the slave-power. During the Rebellion, he labored incessantly for a more vigorous prosecution of the war; in 1861-2 was chairman of the joint com. on the conduct of the war, and was a rive in urging the passage of a confiscation bill. As chairman of the com. on Territories, he reported a bill in 1862 abolishing slavery in all the Territories. On the question of the reconstruction of the Southern States, after the war, he was decidedly radical. After the assassination of Pres. Lincoln in Apr. 1865, he became pres. pro tem. of the senate, and acting vices-pres. of the U. S. In Mar. 1867 he was chosen pres. of the senate. One of the commiss. to visit San Domingo in Feb.-Mar. 1871, and report upon its annexation to the U. S. Now (1879) atty. Northern Pacific Railroad.

Wadsworth, Alexander Scamwell, capt. U. S. N., b. Portland, Me.; d. Washington, Apr. 5, 1851. Son of Gen. Peleg. Middshipm. April 2, 1804; lieutenant, April 21, 1810; com. April 27, 1816; capt. Mar. 3, 1825; 2d lieutenant, "The Constitution" in the action with "The Guerriere," Aug. 19, 1812, and presented with a valuable sword by the citizens of Portland soon after.

Wadsworth, Benjamin, clergyman, pres. of H. U., b. Abilott, Ms., 1669; d. March 16, 1737. H. U. 1690. Son of Captain Samuel, who was killed by the Indians at Sudbury, April 18, 1676. Minister of the First Church, Boston, as colleague with Mr. Foxcroft, Feb. 8, 1696, until indented at H. U. July 7, 1725, and pres. until his death. He devoted a tenth of his income to charities. He pub. "Five Sermons" (Boston, 18mo, 1714), a large number of occasional sermons, and some theological treatises.

Wadsworth, Glen James, Revol. patriot, b. Durham, Ct., 6 July, 1730; d. there 22 Sept. 1817. Y. C. 1748. Town-clerk of D. 1756-86; col. and brig-gen. in 1776; and in 1777 was app. 2d maj.-gen. Ct. militia. In Mar. 1777 he was ordered to New Haven to defend the seacoast, and was some time a member of the com. of safety of Ct. He was some time justice, and then judge of the C. C. P., New-Haven Co.; member of the council 1785-90, and a delegate to the Cont. Congress 1789-90.

Wadsworth, James, philanthropist, b. Durham, Ct., April 20, 1768; d. Geneseo, N. Y., June 8, 1844. Y. C. 1787. Nephew of the preceding. In 1790 he became the joint owner with his bro. William of a large tract of land on the Genesee River, which advanced so much in value that he acquired a large fortune. He established the first Normal School in New York in 1811; procured the enactment of the school-library law in 1838; founded a library and institution for scientific lectures at Geneseo, and endowed it with $10,000. His gifts to the cause of education exceeded $90,000.

Wadsworth, Glen James Samuel, b. Geneseo, N. Y., Oct. 30, 1807; d. May 8, 1864, of wounds received in battle of Wilderness, Va., May 6. Son of the preceding. Educated at Harvard and Yale. He studied law at Albany, and in the office of Daniel Webster; was adm. to the bar in 1833, but never practised, employing himself in the management of his large patrimonial estates, and taking a deep interest in education. He took part in the free-soil movement of 1848; was a commiss. to the Peace Convention at Washington, Feb. 1861; and was one of the first to offer his services to the govt. when the civil war began. When communication between Phila. and Washington was obstructed, he chartered a vessel, freighted it with supplies at his own expense, and sailed with it to Annapolis, arriving opportunely for the necessities of the govt. In June he was a vol. aide on Gen. McDowell's staff, and was commended for bravery and humanity in the battle of Bull Run; made brig-gen. Aug. 9, 1861; in Mar. 1862 he was made milit. gov. of D. C. Candidate of the Repub. party for gov. of N. Y. 1 Nov. 1862, he was defeated by Horatio S. Seymour. In Dec. he was assigned a duty under Gen. Burnside; and, at the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg, com. the 1st division 1st army corps under Gen. Reynolds, which at the latter place saved the first day; com. the corps after the fall of Reynolds. Early in 1864 he was sent upon special service to the Mpl. Valley, and made an extensive tour through the Western and S. W. States. In the campaign of 1864 he led the 4th division of the 5th corps.

Wadsworth, Jeremiah, commissar-

gen. during the greater part of the Revol. war, b. Hartford 1743; d. there Apr. 30, 1804. He was the originator and promoter of public improvements in his native town; was a delegate to the Cont. Congress in 1786-8, and M.C. in 1789-95.

Wadsworth, PEELE, maj.-gen., b. Duxbury, Ms., May 6, 1748; d. Hiram, Me., Nov. 18, 1829. U. C. 1769. He taught school at Plymouth, Ms., in 1769, with Alexander Scammel, and engaged in commercial pursuits. Joining the Revol. army as capt. of minutemen at Roxbury early in the struggle, he became aide to Gen. Ward, and afterwards adj.-gen. for Ms., and was present at the battle of Long Island; brig.-gen. of militia in 1777; second in com. of the Penobscot exped. in 1779, on which occasion he displayed great courage, and was taken prisoner. Captured by a party of the enemy in Feb. 1781, they imprisoned him in the fort at Castine, whence he escaped in June. In 1784 he established himself in business in Portland, Me., and was much employed in surveying; in 1792 he was elected a State senator, and was M.C. in 1792-1806; in 1807 he removed to Oxford, Me., to improve a large tract of land granted to him by govt. for his services. His son Lieut. HENRY, U.S.N., disting. in Tripolitan war, d. off Tripoli, Sept. 4, 1804, a 19, by the explosion of a fireship. Another son, ALEXANDER SCAMMEL, was a capt. in the navy.

Wadsworth, GEN. WILLIAM, b. Durham, Ct.; d. Gen. sec. N.Y., Feb. 1833. Bro. of James. He was an early settler in Western N.Y.; served as brig.-gen. N.Y. militia in U.S. service, and disting. in assault on Queenstown Heights, Oct. 13, 1812 — Gardner.

Wafer, LIONEL, made voyages to the South Sea; in 1677 embarked for Bantam; sailed with Linen and Cook, buccaners; afterward surgeon of Dampier's exped. across the Isthmus of Darien, and left wounded with the Indians in consequence of a quarrel with Dampier; returned to London in 1690, and told his story in "A New Voyage, and Description of the Isthmus of America," 8vo, 1699. For his Voyage to Magellanica in 1685, see Callender's Voyages, b. 678.

Wainwright, JONATHAN MAYHEW, D.D. (Un. Col. 1826), D. C. L. (Oxf. 1852), Pr.-Epis. bishop of N.Y., b. Liverpool, Eng., of Amer. parents, 24 Feb. 1793; d. N.Y. City 21 Sept. 1854. U. C. 1812. His mother was a dau. of the celebrated Dr. Mayhew of Boston. Instr. in eloquent in H. U. 1815-17; rector of Christ Church, Hartford, Ct.; assist. rector of Trin. Church, N.Y. 1819-21; rector of Grace Church, N.Y.; of Trinity Church, Boston, 24 Nov. 1833-1838; and assist. rector of Trinity Church, N.Y., until his a. p., as prov. bishop 10 Nov. 1852. He was many years sec. of the h. of bishops. Before, he was made a bishop, he traveled in Egypt and the Holy Land, and pub. his observations in those countries in 2 vols. His most celebrated production was his printed controversy with Rev. Dr. Potts in 1843. He aided in the formation of the U. of N.Y.; was one of the first pulpit-orators of his day; was a popular scholar, and wielded great social influence. A devoted lover of music, he pub. in 1819 a vol. of chants; in 1828 "Music of the Church," &c.; and in 1851 "The Choir and Family Psalter." He also pub. "Our Saviour, with Prophets and Apostles," and "Sermons on Religious Education," &c., 1829; edited "Women of the Bible," and contrib. to many periodicals. A memorial vol. edited by his widow, 1856, contains 34 of his sermons, and a Memoir by Bishop Doane. His son JOYATHAN M., com. U.S.N., was killed, 1 Jan. 1863, upon "The Harriet Lane," in the attack on Galveston, Texas.

Waite, GEN. CARLOS A., b. N.Y. 1800; d. Plattsburg, N.Y., May 7, 1866. App. lieut. of inf. Jan. 28, 1820; capt. July, 1836; major 8th Inf. Feb. 16, 1847; com. his regt. in Valley of Mexico; brev. lieut.-col. for gallantry in battles of Contreras and Churubusco; brev. col. for El Molino del Rey, Aug. 1848, in which he was wounded; lieut.-col. 5th Inf. Nov. 10, 1851; col. 1st Inf. June 3, 1860. After continuous service in the Rebellion, he was retired in Feb. 1864; brev. brig.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865.

Waite, HENRY MARSON, LL. D. (Y. C. 1855), jurist, b. Lyme, Ct., Feb. 9, 1787; d. there Dec. 14, 1869. Y. C. 1809. Adm. to the bar in Dec. 1812, and practised in Lyme; member of the State legis. in 1815; of the senate in 1822-3; judge of the Superior Court and Sup. Court of Errors 1834-54, and chief justice from 1854 to Feb. 1857. — N. E. Hist. Gen. B. v., Apr. 1870.

Wakefield, Mrs. A. C., nee Nancy W. Priest; d. Winchendon, Ms., Sept. 20, 1870, a. 33. Author of the beautiful poem, "Over the River," first pub. in Aug. 1857.

Wakeman, GEORGE, journalist, b. Greenfield Hl., Ct., 4 Feb. 1841; d. N. York City, Mar. 19, 1870. Removed to New York in 1858, and wrote for the Ledger. Several years connected with the New-York Herald, and a contrib. to the Galaxy, Appleton's Journal, and other periodicals; app. in 1868 stenographer to the N.Y. senate.

Walbach, GEN. JOHN DE BARTH, b. Alsace, on the Rhine, 1764; d. Baltimore, Md., June 10, 1857. App. ensign of the Royal Alsace Regt. under Prince Maximilian (afterward king of Bavaria), in the French service Dec. 1, 1782; major, Nov. 1795. He came to Amer. in 1796; studied law in the office of Alexander Hamilton; was asp. lieut. of U.S. cavalry, Jan. 8, 1799; capt. Jan. 1806; assist. adj.-gen. (rank of major) June, 1813; adj.-gen. (rank of col.) Aug. 6, 1813; brev. major for gallant conduct in battle of Chrysler's Fields, Nov. 11, 1813; brev. lieut.-col. for meritorious services, May 1, 1815; major of art. Apr. 25, 1818; brev. col. May 1, 1825; brev. brig.-gen. May, 1850; lieut.-col. 1st Art. May 30, 1832; col. 4th Art. Mar. 19, 1842. — ibid.

Walbridge, GEN. IRAM, a prominent citizen of New York, b. Ithaca, N.Y., Feb. 22, 1821; d. N.Y. City, Dec. 6, 1870. Ohio U. 1841. He studied law in Toledo, O.; was adm. to the bar in 1843; and in 1844 was a brig.-gen. of Ohio militia; in 1847 he became a merchant in New York; a zealous promoter of the commercial interests of the country, and of its internal improvement; a Democ. M.C.

in 1853-5; and in 1869 a commiss. to examine and report on the Pacific Railroad. Early in 1861 he advocated the calling out of 600,000 men to suppress the Rebellion, and was ordered, and accepted, a seat in Mr. Lincoln's cabinet. Vice-pres. of the Nat. Commercial Conv. at Chicago, and subsequently pres. over similar bodies in Detroit and Louisville. He advocated free banking, a reduction of taxation, and the development of the resources of the West. A fluent and able speaker, and a liberal and popular man.

Walcot, CHARLES MELTON, Sen., comic actor and dramatist, b. London, 1816; d. Phila. May 15, 1868. He studied his profession in England, but entered on its practice in America in 1843, and acquired popularity at the Old Olympic and at Wallack's. In 1866 he removed to Phila. In eccentric comedy he had no rival on the English or American stage. His performance of Lavater, in the comic drama of that name, was especially good. Among his numerous plays are "Hiawatha, or Ardent Spirits and Laughing-Water;" "Washington;" "Don Giovanni in Gotham;" "David Copperfield;" "Richard III. to Kill;" "The Customs of the Country;" and "Snip-Snaps." CHARLES M., JUN., his son, also a comedian, b. Boston, July 1, 1849. Educated at St. John's Coll., Fordham, N.Y.; grad. 1858. He made his débüt in Charleston, S.C., in 1858, and soon assumed the rôle of leading light comedian, which he has performed in the leading theatres of the U. S. May 31, 1863, he m. Isabella, dau. of John N. Kinson, the comedian.

Waldo, DANIEL, a Cong. clergyman, b. Windham, Ct., Sept. 10, 1762; d. Syracuse, N.Y., July 30, 1864, a. 102. Y. C. 1788. He was a soldier in the Revol. army; was taken prisoner at Horseneck, and was confined in the Sugar-House in New York, where he endured sutl rings and cruelties from which he barely escaped with his life. He was from May 24, 1792, till 1809, pastor of the Cong. church, West Suffolk, Ct.; acting also as a missionary in Pa. and N.Y. In 1810-1811 he preached at Cambridgeport, Ms.; after which he was a missionary in R.I. till 1820; then preached at Harvard; and afterward resided in N.Y. Mr. Waldo, at the age of 93, became chaplain to Congress.

Waldo, GEN. SAMUEL, b. Boston, 1696; d. on the Penobscot, May 23, 1759. He was the son of Jonathan, a wealthy merchant of Boston, who d. in 1731; and was a brig.-gen. at the capture of Louisburg in 1745. He resided at Falmouth; was an accomplished, active, and enterprising man; had crossed the ocean 15 times; and was a disting. officer. There were remarkable coincidences between his life and that of his friend Sir Wm. Pepperell. They lived in Me., and were rich bachelors; they were counsellors together; they commanded regiments, and were together at Louisburg; they passed a year together in England; were born the same year; and died nearly at the same time.

Waldo, SAMUEL, portrait-painter, b. Wrentham, Ct., 1783; d. N.Y. City, Feb. 16, 1861. He studied at Hartford; went to London in 1806; was aided by West, Copley, and Fulton, and painted many likenesses at 5 guineas each. He landed in New York in Jan. 1809, and painted portraits there 53 years. Among them are those of Gen. Macomb, Myrtales Willett, Ralphele, and Allen, and Peter Reussen — Telescopium.

Waldo, SAMUEL PUTNAM, author, grandson of Gen. Putnam; d. Hartford, Ct., March, 1826, a. 46. Author of Lives of Jackson, DeCatur; "Robbins's Journal;" "Tour of President Monroe, with Sketch of his Life," 12mo, 1818; Biog. Sketches of Com. N. Biddle; J. Paul Jones, E. Preble, and A. Murray, 1823.

Waldron (or correctly Walderno), MAJ. RICHARD, president of N.H., b. Aicester, Warwickshire Eng. (bapt. 6 Jan. 1615); killed by the Indians, June 28, 1689. He came over in 1635, and was an early settler of Dover, N.H., whither he went in 1645; was a representative 1654-76; was 7 years speaker of the house; was counsellor, chief justice, and pres. in 1681. He was the chief military officer of the Colony. In the war of 1676 he seized by stratagem several hundred Indians, 200 of whom were hung, or sold into slavery. This act called down upon him the vengeance of the Indians, who, 13 years later, made him prisoner, and mangled him terribly. His son RICHARD (b. 1659, d. 30 Nov. 1730) removed to Portsmouth, was counsellor of N.H. 1681, representative at Boston 1691-2, chief justice C. C. P., judge of probate, and a colonel.

Waldseemüller, MAURIS, a German compiler, b. Fribourg ab. 1470; d. after 1522. He pub. an "Introduction to Cosmography, with the Four Voyages of Americus Vesputius," 1507, in which he advocated the application of the name "America" to the New World.

Wales, SAMUEL D. D. (Y. C. 1782; N. J. 1784), minister of Millford 1770-82; prof. of divinity, Y. C., from June 12, 1782, till his death, Feb. 18, 1794, a. ab. 46. Y. C. 1767. Author of "Dangers of Our National Prosperity, Election Sermon," 1785, Hartford.

Walke, HENRY, rear-adm. U. S. N., b. Princess Anne Co., Va., Apr. 26, 1809. Midshipm. Feb. 1, 1827; lieut. Dec. 9, 1839; com. Sept. 14, 1855; capt. July 16, 1862; com. July 25, 1866; rear-adm. (ret. list) 1871. Present at capture of Talasco, Vera Cruz, and Tuspan, during the Mexican war, 1847-51; com. "The Tyler" and "Lexington" at the battle of Belmont, Nov. 7, 1861; com. "The Carondelet" at Fort Henry, Feb. 6, 1862; Fort Donelson, Feb. 13-16, 1862; Island No. 10, Mar. 17, 1862; captured Conf. batteries opp. Point Pleasant, and spiked the guns, Apr. 6, 1862; battle of Fort Pillow, May 14, 1862; of Memphis, June 6, 1862; engagement between "The Carondelet" and Conf. iron ram "Arkansas," Yazoo River, July 15, 1862; com. the lower division of Mpd. fleet at Helena and Vicksburg, 1862; com. rounded "L'Estimote" in 1863; passage of batteries at Vicksburg, Apr. 16, 1863; battle of Grand Cross, Aug. 23, 1863; dispersed the forces of Dak. Terr. at Sumnerport, June 1, 1863; and in 1863 took

com. of naval station at Mound City, Illinois. — Huntsry.

Walker, AMASA, LL.D. (Amh. Coll. 1867), writer on polit. economy, b. Woodstock, Ct., May 4, 1799. Descended from Augustine, trectman of Charlestown, 1641; educated in the com. school of N. Brookfield, at which place he now (1871) resides. In 1825-40 he was a merchant in Boston, and was many years connected with the Ms. Antislavery Society; in 1848 he was a Free-soil representative; in 1849 State senator; was one of the earliest advocates of the establishment of the Western Railroad; has been a devoted temperance leader; and, besides cultivating a taste for literature, has carefully studied for many years the science of political economy, of which he was in 1842-9 prof. at Oberlin Coll. He visited Europe as a delegate to the first International Peace Convention in 1843, and again in 1849. Sec. of state 1851-2; member Const. Conv. 1853; M.C. from Ms. in 1862-3. Lecturer on polit. economy in Amh. Coll. since 1861. Author of "Science of Wealth," 5th ed., 1869; speeches, addresses, orations, &c.; and ed., with W. B. Calhoun and C. L. Flint, "Trans." Agri. Soc. of Ms. 1847-53, 7 vols. 8vo.

Walker, COL. BENJAMIN, Revol. officer, b. Eng. 1753; d. Utica, N.Y., 13 Jan. 1818. He was brought up a merchant; became a capt. in the 21 N.Y. Regt.; was aide-de-camp to Steuben, and in 1781-2 to Washington; after the war, was sec. to the gov. of N.Y.; then became a broker in N.Y. City; naval officer of N.Y. in Washington's administration; M.C. 1801-3. In 1797 he became agent for the Earl of Bute's great estates in Western N.Y.; and was identified with the growth and progress of Utica.

Walker, GEN. FRANCIS AMASA, statesman, second son of Amasa and Hannah Ambros Walker, b. Boston, 2 July, 1810. Amh. Coll. 1830. In 1843 his father removed to N. Brookfield. Francis began to study law with Devens and Hoar of Worcester; but in 1861 was made serg.-maj. of Devens's (15th Ms.) regt.; 14 Sept. 1861, assist. adj.-gen. Couch's brigade; 11 Aug. 1862, adj.-gen. Couch's div.; and 23 Dec. 1863, became a col. on the staff of the 2d army corps; brev. brig.-gen. 1865. He served in the Army of the Potomac; was wounded at Chancellorsville; made prisoner at Reams's Station; was confined in Libby Prison, suffering so much in health as to be obliged to resign after being exchanged early in 1865. He subsequently taught for 2 years in the Williston Sem.; was then for one year assist. ed. Springfield Republican; then took charge of the bureau of statistics at Washington; was superintendent of the census of 1870; and in Nov. 1871 was app. Indian commissioner.

Walker, HENDERSON, gov. N.C. from 1699 to his d. April 14, 1704, a. 44. He was a lawyer, judge of the Supreme Court, and pres. of the council, and introduced important reforms in the judiciary.

Walker, SIR HOVENDEEN, kt., of Somersham, Eng., a British adm.; d. broken-hearted in Darton, Jan. 1726. He entered the navy young, became a capt. in 1692; rear-adm. of the white in 1710; and for his gallantry was in 1711 knighted by Queen Anne. He is connected with our history by his ill-starred exped. which in that year sailed for Quebec to wrest Canada from the French. The difficult navigation of the St. Lawrence, as well as a storm, which wrecked half his ships on Isle aux Oies, compelled his return to England. Here he suffered more reverses; his ship "The Edgar" (of 74 guns) blew up at Spilhead, and nearly all the crew perished. Blamed for negligence in this matter, and his ill fortune at Quebec being yet recent, he was dismissed the service in 1715. He pub. in 1720 "A Journal or Full Account of the Late Exped. to Canada," &c. He had previously settled upon a plantation in South Carolina.

Walker, JAMES, D.D. (H.U. 1835), scholar and theologian, b. Burlington, Ms., Aug. 16, 1794. H.U. 1814. He was settled over the Unitarian society of Charlestown, April 15, 1818-39; was Alford prof. of moral philos. at H.U. 1839-53; and pres. from Feb. 1853 to Feb. 1860. He has delivered before the Lowell Institute a course of lectures on natural religion, also a course on the philosophy of religion, 1860. Besides contribs. to the Christian Examiner, with which he was editorially connected in 1831-9, he has pub. an edition of "Reid on the Intellectual Powers," and Dugald Stewart's "Philosophy of the Active and Moral Powers;" and in 1861 a vol. of sermons preached in the chapel of Harv. Coll. while a prof. there, 12mo; "Memoir of D. Appleton White," 1863; "Memoir of Josiah Quincy," 1867.

Walker, JAMES BARR, D.D., clergyman and author, b. Phila. July 29, 1805. He worked in a manuf. at Pittsburg, and for 4 years in a printing-office. At the age of 20, he travelled on foot to New York; became a clerk in the office of M. M. Noah; and was afterward principal of an academy at New Durham, N.J. Returning to the West, he next studied law in Ravenna, O., and from 1828 to 1831 studied in the Western Res. Coll. Hudson. He pub. and edited successively three religious newspapers at Hudson, Cincinnati, and Chicago, also engaging in the publication and sale of books. About 1839 he began to study theology; was licensed to preach by the presbytery of Chicago in 1841; and has since resided in Mansfield, O., where he has established a private asylum for orphans; has been for some time acting-pastor of a church in Sandusky, and is lecturer on "The Harmony between Science and Revealed Religion" at Oberlin College and Chicago Theol. Sem. Author of "Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation," pub. anonymously, 4 editions of which have been pub. in Eng., and which has been translated into several European languages; "God Revealed in Creation and in Christ," 1858; "Philosophy of Scepticism;" "Philosophy of the Divine Operation in Human Redemption," London, 1862; "Poems," London, 1862; "The Living Questions of the Age," 1869; "Doctrine of the Holy Spirit," 1870; and poetical pieces in "Poets and Poetry of the West." — Appleton.

Walker, ROBERT, judge of the Sup. Court of Ct. 1760-72; d. Stratford, Ct., 1772. Y.C.

1730. A descendant of Robert of Boston, 1634, and of his son Zechariah, minister of Stratford and Woodbury in 1679-1700.

Walker, ROBERT JAMES, statesman and financier, b. Northumberland, Pa., 19 July, 1801; d. Washington, D. C., 11 Nov. 1869. U. of Pa. 1819. Adm. to the Pittsburg bar in 1821. At 22 he was chairman of a Democ. com., and was instrumental in effecting Jackson's first nomination to the presidency in 1824. In the spring of 1826 he settled in Natchez, Mpi. U. S. senator 1837-45, and a leader of the Democ. party. He supported the leading measures of Van Buren, especially the divorce of the gov't. from the banks; exercised great influence over Pres. Tyler, whom he induced to veto the bank bill framed under the auspices of Mr. Clay; and counselled the vigorous steps which led to the incorporation of Texas into the Union. He was instrumental in defeating Mr. Van Buren's 3d nomination, and secured that of Mr. Polk; a letter of Mr. Walker's on the Texas question largely influencing the election of the latter. Sec. U. S. treasury 1845-9; gov. of Kansas Terr. Apr. 1857-8 (a period of great difficulty), he resigned, being "unwilling to aid in forcing slavery on Kansas by fraud and forgery." During the Rebellion he materially aided the Union cause, being financial agent of the U. S. in Europe (May, 1863-Nov. 1864), effecting the sale of $250,000,000 of 5-20 bonds, and defeating the second Confed. loan of $75,000,000. Influential in procuring the ratification of the Alaska Treaty, and an able and efficient advocate of the Pacific Railroad. His celebrated report in favor of free-trade was reprinted by order of the British house of commons. In connection with his law-partner, F. P. Stanton, he pub. a monthly mag. of merit, but with pecuniary loss. Author of "Reports of Sup. Court of Mpi. 1818-32," 8vo, 1834; "Argument on the Mpi. Slave-Question," 1841.

Walker, SEARS COOK, mathematician and astronomer, b. Wilmington, Ms., March 28, 1805; d. Cincinnati, Jan. 30, 1853. H. U. 1825. He taught school near Boston and in Phila., whither he removed in 1827. His parallaetic tables, first prepared in 1824, greatly reduced the time needed for computing the phases of an occultation. In 1837 he prepared a plan for the organization of an observatory in connection with the Phila. High School, which was the first in America deserving the name, except the one at Hudson, Ohio. From its equipment in 1840 until 1852, he pub. in the "Proceedings" of the Philos. Soc. and the Am. Jour. of Science many observations and investigations made by himself, or in conjunction with his half-bro. Prof. Kendall. In 1841 he pub. a valuable memoir on the periodical meteors of Aug. and Nov.; in 1845 he was placed in the Washington Observatory, where, Feb. 2, 1847, 4 months after the discovery of the planet Neptune, he discovered that a star observed by Lalande in May, 1795, must have been this planet,—a fact subsequently demonstrated. Leaving the observatory soon after, he took charge of the longitude computations of the U. S. coast-survey, an office in which he remained until his last illness. By 1849, the joint labors of Walker and Bache had successfully carried out the method of telegraphic longitude-determinations. The introduction of the chronographic method of recording observations belongs to them. Walker pub. Ephemeris of the planet Neptune for 1848-52; and Researches relative to that planet, 1850.

Walker, TIMOTHY, jurist, b. Rumford, June 26, 1737; d. May 5, 1822. H. U. 1756. Son of Rev. Timothy, minister of Concord 1730-82. He studied divinity; com. a reg't. of minute-men at the siege of Boston; was one of the com. of safety 1776; was afterwards paymaster; member of State Constitutional Convention; State representative and senator; judge of C. C. P. in N. H. 1777-1804; chief justice 1804-9.

Walker, TIMOTHY, LL. D. (H. U. 1854), jurist, b. Wilmington, Ms., Dec. 1, 1802; d. Cincinnati, O., Jan. 15, 1856. H. U. 1826. Bro. of Sears Cook. He taught three years in the Round-hill School, Northampton; entered the Dane Law School in 1829; and in 1830 went to Cincinnati, where he was in 1831 admitted to the bar, and began practice. In 1833, in connection with Judge Wright, he established a law school in Cincinnati, which in 1835 was united with the coll. there, he continuing a prof. until 1844, and having, for a time, the exclusive charge of it; in 1842 he was app. pres. judge of the Hamilton C. C. P., and, after leaving that post, became editor of the Western Law Jour. Author of "Introduction to American Law;" a treatise on geometry, used as a school text book; a discourse on the history of Ohio before the Ohio Hist. Soc., 1838; address at Miami U., 1832; "Dignity of the Law as a Profession," 1837; orations on J. Q. Adams, 1848, and on Daniel Webster, 1852; also speeches, a titles in the N. A. Review, &c.

Walker, WILLIAM, filibuster, b. Nashville, Tenn., May 8, 1824; executed at Truxillo, Honduras, Sept. 12, 1869. He studied, but never practiced, medicine; afterward studied law in Nashville; and, removing to New Orleans, became an editor of the Crescent, news-paper. In 1850 he went to California, where he was one of the editors of the San Francisco Herald, and afterward a lawyer at Marysville. In July, 1853, he organized an expedition for the conquest of Sonora, on the failure of which he surrendered himself to the U. S. officers in San Diego; was tried at San Francisco, May 15, 1854, for violating the neutrality laws, and acquitted. June 11, 1855, with 62 followers, he landed at Realajo, Nicaragua, and, after gaining two battles, took possession of Granada, Oct. 15, and was app. generalissimo of the republic. Hostilities with Costa Rica having broken out, he was defeated near Guanacaste, Mar. 20, 1856; and at Rivas, Apr. 11, gained an advantage which put a temporary stop to the war. June 25, he caused himself to be elected pres. By his arbitrary acts a powerful insurrection was excited; and May 1, 1857, after several battles, Walker was obliged to surrender himself to Com. C. H. Davis of the U. S. sloop-of-war "St. Mary's," by whom he was taken to the U. S. Nov. 11, he again landed at Punta Arenas, Nicaragua, but, Dec. 8, was compelled by Com. Paulding, U. S. N., to surrender, and taken as a prisoner to New York. In June, 1860, he again left New Orleans, landing at Truxillo June 27. In a proclamation to the people of Honduras he informed them that he was making war, not on them, but on their govt. He was captured, Sept. 3, brought back to Truxillo, condemned to a court-martial, and shot. Author of "The War in Nicaragua," M. J. G. L. 1860.

Walker, Gen. WILLIAM H. T., b. Ga., 1817; served in several wars at Ft. Mifflin, Ga., July 22, 1844; West Point, 1847; brev. 1st Lt. for gallantry in Florida, Dec. 25, 1837; three wounds in battle of Okeechobee on that day; capt. 7 N. Y., 1845; brev. maj. for Comoros in a Campaign Aug. 20, 1847; with storming party, and brev. lieutenant for gallantry, at Molina del Rey, Sept. 8, 1847, and severely wounded; com. of cadets, and instr. inf. tactics at West Point, 1854-63; major 10th Inf. Mar. 3, 1855; resigned 20 Dec. 1860, and made a 100-gen. Confed. army. Noted for reckless courage and frequent wounds in battle.

Walker, WILLIAM JOHNSON, M.D., physician, b. Charlestown, Ms., Mar. 15, 1790; d. Newbern, Apr. 2, 1865. B. U. 1810. Son of Maj. Timothy. He studied medicine, practised in Charlestown, and, as a skillful surgeon, had no superior in the State. Late in life he accumulated great wealth, of which he gave away $400,000, and at his death left a million and a quarter, of which he divided near a million among various institutions of learning.

Walker, CAPT. WILLIAM M., U. S. N., b. 1810; d. N. Y., 19 Nov. 1866; grad. U. S. Naval S. 1837; passed midshipm., June, 1838; took part in Walker's exploring exped. 1838-41; was sent by the navy dept. in 1851 to France and Eng. to collect information upon the application of steam to naval armaments and equipment, and during the Rebellion com. the steamer "De Soto" of the Gulf block-squadron. He pub. "Notes on the new Propulsion," Svo., N. Y., 1841.

Wall, GARRET D., lawyer and politician, b. Monmouth Co., N. J., Mar. 10, 1783; d. Burlington, N. J., Nov. 22, 1850. Receiving an academic education, he studied law at Trenton; was at 1804 admitted as an atty., and in 1807 as a counselor at law, clerk of the Sup. Court 1812-17; quartermaster-gen. of the State, 1815-37; member of the Assembly in 1827; U. S. district atty. in 1829; elected gov. of the State, but declined the office, the same year, was U. S. senator 1835-41; judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals 1848-50. When an attack was expected from the British during the war of 1812, he com. a vol. company from Trenton, which was stationed at Sandy Hook. His daughter, H. H. Peter D. Vroom. His son, JAMES WALL, a lawyer, and U. S. senator, 1862-63 (b. Trenton, 1824; N. J. Coll. 1838; is author of "Essays on Events," 1855; "Essays on the Early History of Poets," &c.

Wallace, DAVID, publican, b. Phila. Apr. 4, 1793; d. Philadelphia, S. or 4, 1859. West Point grad. at art. of 1821, resigned June 1, 1822. His father's family removed in 1817 to Bossier Co., Ind. The son studied law, acquired an extensive and lucrative practice in Frankfort, Co.; was several times elected to the State senate; member Const. Conv., 1850-51; gov. in 1847-50; gov. 1837-49; M. C. in 1841-3; and 1842-43; Mem. of C. C. P. 1856-9.

Wallace, HOWARD BISSEY, scholar, b. Phila. Feb. 23, 1817; killed himself at Paris, in consequence of a disease of the brain, Dec. 16, 1852. N. J. Coll. 1835. He studied chemistry, medicine, and finally law with his father John B., an eminent lawyer, and afterwards with Charles Chauncy. He edited, with notes, Smith's "Leading Cases in Law," White and Tudor's "Leading Cases in Equity," and "American Leading Cases." The tract of a European visit in 1849-50 was "Art, Scenery, and Philosophy in Europe," Phila. 1855; also author of "Literary Criticisms, and Other Papers," 1856; "Stanley, or the Recollections of a Man of the World," a novel, 12mo, 1838. He pub. many articles in periodicals, and was much interested in philo-sophical speculation.

Wallace, SIR JAMES, a British admiral; d. London, March 6, 1803. He became post-capt. Jan. 10, 1771; rear-adm. Apr. 12, 1794; vice-adm. Jan. 1, 1795; adm. of the Bue, Jan. 1, 1801; and in 1793-5 was gov. of Newfoundland. He com. the British fleet at Newport in 1775; Oct. 1777, ascended the Hudson on a marauding exped., and destroyed Kingston, plundering the towns he visited, and wantonly destroying private property. Captured in "The Experiment" (50 guns) by DTstating, Sept. 24, 1779; com. "The Warrior" in Rodney's victory over De Grasse, 12 Oct. 1782.

Wallace, JAMES, D.D., mathematician; d. S. C. Jan. 15, 1831. Prof. of mathematics in S. C. Coll., previously in Col. Coll., and Georget. Coll., D. C. Author of a treatise on geometries and on practical astronomy.

Wallace, JOHN BRADFORD, lawyer, b. Somerset Co., N. J., 17 Aug. 1778; d. Phila. 7 Jan. 1837. N. J. Coll. 1794. Adm. to the bar 1797. Author of "Reports of the U. S. Circuit Court," 1801, 8vo; "Remarks on the Law of Bailment," 1840. Edited "A lot on Snipping," ab. 1802. A Memoir by his widow was pub. 1848. — A. 1802.

Wallace, JOHN WILLIAM, reporter U. S. Sup. Court; since 21 Mar. 1864; son of J. B.; b. Phila. 17 Feb. 1815. U. of Pa. 1833. Master in chancery, Pa. Sup. Court. Author of "The Reporters," 8vo, 1843; "Cases in the 3d Cir. U. S. Circuit Court," 1842-53, 2 vols., 8vo. Address, 20 May, 1863, on the 20th birthday of William Bradford; "Reports U. S. Sup. Court," 1864, et seq. Edited British Crown Cases Reserved, 6 vols., 8vo; Smith's "Leading Cases," and "Amer. Leading Cases." Pres. Hist. Soc. of Pa. — A. 1800.

Wallace, GEN. LEWIS, b. Brooks, b. Franklin Co., Ind., Apr. 10, 1827; son of Gov. David. Was a law-student at the outbreak of the Mexican war, and, at the call for volunteers, became lieut. Ind. Vols. After the war began the practice of law in Covington, Ind.; thence removed to Crawfordsville. Served one term in the State senate. When the civil war broke out, he was app. adj.-gen. of Ind., and soon afterwards 11th Ind. Vols., with which he fought the battle of Romney, and forced the rebels to evacuate Harper's Ferry. Brig.-gen. of v. s., Sept. 3, 1861; led a division at the capture of Ft. Don, Tenn., where he won the grade of major-gen., dating from Mar. 21, 1862; was const.-gen. for Ga. army at Suwan. in 1863, by an act in preparing to defend, saved Cincinnati from capture by Gen. Kirby Smith; afterwards assigned to command of Middle Dept. and 8th Army Corps, Hd Qrs. Baltimore, Md.; with 5,800 men intercepted Early marching upon Washington with 28,000, and July 9, 1864, fought the battle of Monocacy, Md. Though defeated, he gained his object; viz., time for Gen. Grant to re-enforce the capital from City Point. By order of Gen. Halleck, he was superseded by Gen. Ord; but, when Gen. Grant learned the particulars of the action, he immediately re-instated Gen. W. in his command, and, in his official report, for 1865, said, "On the 6th (July) the enemy (Early) occupied Hagerstown, moving a strong column toward Frederick City. Gen. Wallace, with Eckett's div. and his own command, the latter mostly un- and undisciplined troops, pushed out from Baltimore with great promptness, and met the enemy in force on the Monocacy, near the crossing of the railroad bridge. His force was not sufficient to insure success; but he fought the enemy nevertheless; and, although it resulted in a defeat to our arms, yet he detained the enemy, and thereby served to enable Wright to reach Washington . . . before him." An acknowledgment that Gen. W. by his promptitude and firmness saved the capital from capture at a most important juncture in the war. Gen. W. was pres. of the commission app. to investigate Gen. Buell's operations in Tenn. and Ky.; member of court that tried the assassin of Pres. Lincoln; pres. of court that tried Capt. Wier of Andersonville. Resigned at end of Rebellion, and ret. to practice of law at Crawfordsville, Ind. Author of "The Fair God, a Tale of the Conquest of Mexico," 12mo, Boston, 1873.

Wallace, GEN. WILLIAM HARVEY LANGR, b. Urbana, O., July 8, 1821; d. Savannah, Tenn., April 10, 1862. He studied law at Springfield and Ottawa, Ill.; served in the Mexican war as private, lieutenant, and adj. in Haden's regt.; in 1853 was elected state-atty. for the 9th circuit of Ill.; in May, 1861, he became col. of the 11th Ill. Regt.; at the capture of Fort Donelson, where he was prominent, he com. a brigade in McTearmald's div.; was (Mar. 21, 1862) made brig. gen. of vols.; and was mortally wounded on the first day of the battle of Shiloh, where he com. a division. Was the dest. of five bros., all of whom served in the civil war.

Wallace, WILLIAM ROSS, poet, b. Lexington, Ky., 1819. Educated at the Boonington and So. Hanover Colleges, Ind., and studied law at Lexington, but at the age of 22 went to N.Y., where he has since resided, engaged in literary pursuits. Besides his contributions in verse to newspapers and periodicals, he has pub. "The Battle of Tippecanoe and other Poems" (1837); "Alban the Pirate" (1848); "Meditations in America and other Poems" (1851); "Loved and Lost" (1856); "The Liberty Bell" (1862); "Dirge of Napoleon" (written before he was 17); "Pensures of the Beautiful" &c.

Wallack, JAMES WILLIAM, actor, b. London, Aug. 24, 1795; d. N.Y. City, Dec. 25, 1864. His father Wm. was a disting. comedian and vocalist; and his mother, Elizabeth Field, played leading female characters with Garrick for several years. He first appeared in London at the age of 7, and Sheridan engaged him for Drury Lane. At 22 he replaced Booth in playing Iago to Kean's Othello. He first played in America at the Park Theatre, N.Y., Sept. 7, 1818, as Macbeth; after two years of remarkable success, he returned in 1820 to London; after two more visits to the U.S., he became stage-manager and leading actor at Drury Lane under Elliston; in 1846 he opened the National Theatre, N.Y., burned down in 1870, and during the next ten years he played six engagements here and in Great Britain; in 1851 he established Wallack's Theatre on Broadway, New York, where he long enjoyed uninterrupted success, the establishment being distinguished by a uniform artistic excellence in its stock company, and a careful regard to the proprieties of scenery and costume. In 1861 he built a new theatre near Union Square, and retired from the stage in 1862. He was best in dramas of a romantic and picturesque order; and he was unrivalled as Rola in "Pizarro." His "Life" was pub. N.Y., 8vo, 1865, by T. H. Morell. His sons, John Lester (b. N.Y., 1819), and James W., jun., inherit the family talent.

Walley, JOHN, lieutenant, judge of the Sup. Court of Ms., b. prob. in Lond., 1644; d. Boston, Jan. 11, 1712. Son of Rev. Thomas, Com. the first expedition against the French and Indians in Canada, Feb. 12, 1689; and under Gov. Philips in 1690, when he com. a regt., doing good service in repulsing a body of 300 French troops on the banks of the St. Charles. He was one of the principal founders of the town and church of Bristol; a member of the council, 1687; capt. of the A. and Hon. Art. Co. His journal of the expedition to Canada is given in Hutchinson's "Hist. of Massachusetts."

Wain, ROBERT, poet, b. Phila. 1794; d. Providence, July 4, 1825. He was liberally educated. Pub. in 1819 "The Hermit in America on a Visit to Phila.;" in 1820 "American Bards, a Satire;" and "Sisyphi Opus, or Touches at the Times;" and in 1821 "The Hermit in Phila.;" On his return from a voyage to China as supercargo, he pub. a history of that country in quarto numbers. He also edited Sanders's "Lives of the Signers" after the third vol., and pub. in 1824 a "Life of Lafayette." Account of the Insane Asylum near Frankford, Pa. He also contrib. to the periodicals of the day. His father ROBERT, a prominent merchant of Phila., and M.C. 1798-1801, d. Jan. 24, 1836, a. 71. Author of an "Answer to the Boston Anti-Protective Report of Henry Lee," and of "Seven Letters to Elias Hicks."

Walsh, MICHAEL, instructor, b. Ireland, 1763; d. Amesbury, 20 Aug., 1840. He came to America in early life; was an usher in the Marblehead Acad.; received the hon. degree of A.M. from R.U. in 1803. He pub. "Merecantine Arithmetic," 1801; "New System of Bookkeeping," 1826. Judge Joseph Story was one of his pupils.

Walsh, MICHAEL, a Democ. politician of N.Y., b. Yonghad, Ireland, 1810; d. N.Y. City, March 16, 1859. A lithographer by trade. Member of the Assembly in 1839; in 1840 he pub. and edited a paper called the Knickerbocker, which after a few years came to an end by his conviction and imprisonment for libel; next edited a paper called the Scissors-cutting, a scurrilous print, which lived two or three years. M.C. 1853-54; and afterwards visited Eng. and Mexico as agent of the gov't. He possessed great natural talents. Author of speeches, poems, and other writings, N.Y., 8vo, 1843.

Walsh, ROBERT, LL.D. (H.U. 1819), author, b. Baltimore, 1784; d. Paris, Feb. 7, 1859. His father, an Irishman, was a merchant of Baltimore. He was educated at the R.C. Coll. at Baltimore, and the Jesuit Coll. at Georgetown. Returning from a visit to Europe in 1808, he studied law under R. G. Harper; in and began practice, but, owing in part to deafness, abandoned law for literature. In 1811 he commenced the pub. of the first quarterly in America, The American Review of Historical and Political, continued 2 years; in 1813 he pub. his "Correspondence with R. G. Harper respecting Russia," and "Essay on the Future State of Europe." He also furnished several biog. prefaces to an edition of the English poets then being pub. in Phila. In 1817-18 he coll. the American Register; pub. a biography of Franklin in Delaplaine's "Repository," 1818; "An Appeal from the Judgments of Great Britain respecting the U.S.," 1819, — an able vindication of America from the a personal and standards of the Edinburgh and Quarterly Reviews. In 1820 he established the National Gazette, with which he was connected till 1826. He also edited the American Mag. of Foreign Literature, but resuscitated his American Review in March, 1827, continuing it with great ability 10 years; in 1836 he pub. 2 vols. of "Dialectics." About this time he went to Europe, where he spent the residue of his life, and was in 1845-51 U.S. consul at Paris, corresp. with the Not. Bibliographe and the Journal of Commerce. For the "Encyclopediar Americana," edited by Dr. F. Lieber, he furnished the articles on Amer. Biog. Member of the Philos. Society, and of the Roy. Spanish Acad. of History.

Walter, LYNDE MINSHALL, founder and first editor of the Boston Transcript 1830-42, b. 6 June, 1799; d. 24 July, 1842. H.U. 1817. Grandson of Rev. WILLIAM, rector of Trin. Church, Boston, 1764-76, b. 7 Oct. 1737; d. (rector of Christ Ch., Boston) 5 Dec. 1800, H.U. 1756. Great-grandson of Rev. Nathaniel

Walter, NATHANIEL, minister of Roxbury, Ms., from 17 Oct. 1688 to his d. Sept. 17, 1759, b. Ireland, Dec. 1663. H.U. 1684. His father brought him to America as early as 1679. After living a while in Nova Scotia, he became the colleague of the Apostle Elliot. He pub. an essay on E. Swelling Sin, 1707, and several sermons. A vol. of sermons on Isaiah, with Memoir of Walter's Life, was pub. 8vo. 1755. — Spanian.

Walter, THOMAS, minister of Roxbury, b. Dec. 7, 1696; d. Jan. 10, 1725. H.U. 1713. Ordained colleague with his father, Rev. Nehemiah, Oct. 29, 1718, and was a disting. scholar, a popular preacher, and a keen disputant. Excelling in the knowledge of music, he pub. "Grounds and Rules of Music Explained," an elementary work on vocal music, 1721, long in use in N.E.; essay on "Infallibility," 1724; and some sermons.

Walter, THOMAS, botanist, b. Eng.; d. abt. 1800. He was liberally educated. Settled as a planter near Charleston, S.C., and in 1788 pub. "Flores Caroliniana."

Walter, THOMAS USTICK, LL.D. (H.U. 1857), architect, b. Phila. 4 Sept. 1804. Ph. D. of U. of Lewisb. 1853. He had a good education; studied architecture and mathematics; designed in 1831 the Phila. County Prison; Girard College, perhaps the finest specimen of classic architecture on the continent, in 1833; the U. S. Capitol Extension, which occupied him 14 years (1851-65); the new Treasury Building; and the Govt. Hospital for the Insane. Many years prof. of architecture in the Franklin Inst. Phila. Member of the Amer. Philos. Soc., and of many other literary and scientific bodies, and one of the founders of the Amer. Institute of Architects. — Thomas.

Walter, WILLIAM EDKLE, poet, b. Boston, Apr. 19, 1796; d. Charleston, S.C., Apr. 23, 1822. Bowd. Coll. 1818. Grandson of Rev. Wm., and studied divinity at Cambridge, but did not preach. He pub. in 1821 a vol. of poems; also a rambling narrative and descriptive poem entitled "Sukey," the idea of which was evidently derived from the then recently-published "Fanny." — Doughlass.

Walton, GEORGE, signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Frederick Co., Va., 1740; d. Augusta, Ga., Feb. 2, 1803. Son of WILLIAM, and was early apprenticed to a carpenter, whose economy would not allow him a candle to read at night. In his zeal for knowledge, he found a substitute in pine knots. Adm. to the Car. bar in 1774; was one of the four persons who called a public meeting at Savannah to concert measures for the defence of the country, July 27, 1774; was one of the com. who prepared a petition to the king, and drew up the patriotic resolutions adopted on that occasion; was active in promoting the Revol. at home; and from Feb. 1776 to Oct. 1781 was a delegate to Congress. A col. of militia, he assisted in the defence of Savannah in Dec. 1778; was dangerously wounded in the thigh, and was a prisoner till Sept. 1779. He was chosen gov. the next month, and again in 1789; app. chief justice of the State in 1783; in 1787 was a delegate to the conv. for framing the Federal Constitution, but declined taking his seat; in 1793 was again a judge of the Supreme Court; and was in 1795-6 U. S. senator.

Walworth, REUBEN HYDE, LL.D. (N.J. Coll. 1835), jurist, b. Bozrah, Ct., Oct. 26, 1789; d. Saratoga, Nov. 24, 1867. He passed his earlier years on a farm in Hoosick, N.Y., to which his father removed in 1793, acquiring a scanty education by industrious application; and at the age of 16 taught school. At the age of 17 he began the study of law at Troy, N.Y., where in 1809 he was adm. to the bar, and settled at Plattsburg, attaining a high reputation. He was minister in chancery; was adj.-gen. of N.Y. militia during the war of 1812, participating in the operations at Plattsburg in Sept. 1814; M.C. in 1821-3; app. a circuit judge in 1823; and in April, 1828-48, was chancellor of the State. Chancellor Walworth's adjudications in his own court are collected in the 14 vols. of Paige and Barbour, while the opinions which he pronounced in the Court of Errors are to be found in the 38 vols. of Wendell, Hill, and Denio. Justice Story pronounced him "the greatest equity jurist living." He was an early friend of the temperance cause; a vice-pres. of the Bible Society and of the Tract Society; and a man of much benevolence. Author of "Rules and Orders N. Y. Ct. of Chancery," 9vo, 1829; "Hyde Genealogy," 2 vols. 8vo, 1864.

Wangenheim, FRIEDRICH ADAM JULIUS DE, botanist, b. in the duchy of Saxe-Gotha, 1747; d. Gumbinnen, Eastern Prussia, Mar. 25, 1800. During the American war he served in the British army as capt. of Russian chasseurs, 1778-83, and on his return he was sent to Gumbinnen to organize the dept. of rivers and forests in Eastern Prussia. While in N. Amer. he had studied the botany of its forests; and he succeeded in transplanting into Germany the different kinds of trees and shrubs produced in this part of the new world. He pub. "Descriptio generum plantarum Essequensium ad ducatum Saxoniam," 8 pt., &c., Göttingen, 1781, in 8vo; "Supplementum ad Speciem Essequensium," 8 pt., &c., in "Transact. of the Essequensium," &c., Göttingen, 1787, in 4to; "Descriptio de Dignitate Essequensium," &c., Göttingen, 1788; and some pieces in the Memoirs of the Natural-History Society of Berlin.

Wansey, HENRY, author of "A Tour in the U. S. in 1794," and other works, d. Westminster, Eng., July 19, 1827, a. 75. He was a Welsh scholar.

Wanton, JOSEPH, gov. of R.I. 1769-75, b. Newport, R.I.; d. there July 19, 1789, a. 75. Son of WILLIAM, gov. R.I. 1732-4, who d. Newport, May 9, 1737, a. 57. He acquired wealth as a merchant. Having in 1773 accepted an app. to inquire into the affair of the "Gaspe," he was looked upon by the people with distrust, and regarded as a loyalist. JONES, gov. R.I. 1794-41, was several years previously assist. and lieutenant-gov., d. July 11, 1741, a. 68. GIBBON, gov. R.I. 1745-47, previously treasurer, d. Newport, Sept. 12, 1767, a. 74.

Warburton, MAJ. GEORGE, some time a resident of Canada, subsequently M.P. for Hereford; d. by his own hand, 1857. Bro. of Elton the author. Maj. W. has pub. "Hochelaga, or England in the New World," 1846; "The Compact of Canada," 2 vols. 8vo, 1849, &c. — A. am.

Ward, AARON, lawyer and politician, b. Sing Sing, N.Y. 5 July, 1790; d. Georgetown, D.C., 27 Feb. 1867. Educated at Mt. Pleasant Acad., an I. adm., to the Westchester Co. bar. He served in the war of 1812-15, and was a capt. U.S.A.; afterward maj. gen. of militia, dist. army, of Westchester Co.; M.C. 1825-9, 1841-7, and 1841-3. Author of "Around the Pyramids," &c., 12mo, 1863.

Ward, ANDREW HENSHAW, author, b. Shrewsbury, Ms., May 26, 1744; d. Newtonville, Ms., Feb. 18, 1864. H.C. 1808. Adm. to the Northampton bar in 1811, and practised in his native town; was many years a customs-officer at Boston; member of the Const. Conv. of 1853; member of the N.E. Hist. Gen. Soc., contributing to its quarterly Register. Author of a "History of Shrewsbury," 1847, and genealogies of the Ward and Rice families.

Ward, ARTHUR, first maj.-gen. Revol. army, b. Shrewsbury, Nov. 27, 1727; d. there Oct. 27, 1800. H.C. 1748. At the age of 25 he was a justice of the peace; in 1755 a major in Col. Abr. Williams's regt.; and in 1758 was major in the regt. com. by William Williams. He accomp. the exped. under Gen. Abernethy, from which he returned with the rank of lieutenant. Succeding to the com. of the 3d Regt., he also represented his native town in the Regt., where he took an active part in the controversies that preceded the Revolution between the colonial gov. and the h. of representatives. Oct. 27, 1774, he was app. by the Provincial Congress, in which he was a delegate, a general officer; and on the 19th of May following, com. a school in which capacity he acted, com. the army which began the siege of Boston, until the arrival of Washington in July, when he was assigned to com. the right wing of the army stationed in Roxbury. Congress chose him first maj.-gen. June 17, 1775; but he resigned in April, 1776, from ill-health, though, at the request of Washington, he continued in service till the close of the year. Chief justice of the C.C.P. for Worcester Co. in 1776; in 1777 he was elected to the ex. council, and, by the council, pres. of th. board; and in 1779 was app. a delegate to Congress, but was prevented by ill-health from taking a seat in that body. He was 16 years a representative in the legisl., and in 1785 speaker of the house. M.C. in 1791-5. He was a man of incorruptible integrity, and of fixed and unyielding principles. His son ARTHUR, LL.D. (H.C. 1842-5), M.C. 1813-17, chief justice C.C.P. 1829-39, and an eminent lawyer, b. 9 Jan. 1762, d. Boston 7 Oct. 1847; H.C. 17-3. He practised law in Boston after 1809, and was frequently a member of the legisl. and of the council.

Ward, FREDERICK TOWNSEND, admiral-gen. in the service of the emperor of China, b. Salem, Ms., Nov. 1831; killed Oct. 7, 1862, during an engagement near Nanjing between the rebel Taipings and the European allied army. He was educated at the Salem High School, and was a lieutenant in the French service during the Crimean war; had seen service in Mexico, and under the filibuster Walker. He trained the Chinese into good soldiers, and at their head won many victories.

Ward, HENRY, sec. of R.I. from 1760 to his d. Dec. 1797; was, with his bro. Samuel a principal advocate and supporter of the Revol. in that State. He was a member of the Congress which met in N.Y. 1765, and a member of the com. of corresp. during the Revol. The office of sec. was held by the father and two of his sons for 70 years.

Ward, JAMES HARMAN, commander U.S.N., son of Col. James of Hartford, Ct., b. there 1806; killed in an attack on Matthews Point, Va., Jun. 27, 1861. Educated at the Norwich Milit. Acad., and at Trin. Col., Hartford. March 4, 1823, app. midshipman; lieutenant, Mar. 3, 1831; and com. 8 pt. 9, 1838. While serving on the coast of Africa, he compiled his "Manual of Naval Tactics," pub. in 1858. In 1842-3 he d. lived in Philadelphia, a popular course of lectures on Gunnery. He organized the establishment of a naval school; was app. a prof. of that organization, and lectured on "Naval Ordnance and Gunnery," subsequently pub. He next pub. "Steam for the Million." He was app. to command the Potomac flotilla, May 16, 1861. June 1 he attacked and silenced the batteries at Aquia Creek; June 26 he attacked a battery at Matthias Point, but was struck by a Minié-ball, and almost instantly killed.

Ward, James Waver, b. Newark, N.J., 1818. Pub. in 1848 "Yonck and Other Poems." He received a Frankin Medal at the Boston High School. Moved to the West, where he became a contrib. to periodicals, and in 1855 was associated with J. A. Warden in the Western Home Rev. Author of "Memoir of Mrs. H. L. Ward," 12mo, 1843; of some fine pieces of sacred music, and of many popular minor poems. One of the best parodies on "Hawaitha" was from his pen. His "Mosquito Song" was highly commended. In 1859 Mr. Ward settled in N. Y. City.

Ward, J. Q. A., sculptor, b. Urbana, O., ab. 1832. Passed his early life on a farm; was a pupil of H. K. Brown in 1850-6; spent two years in Washington, modeling busts; and, after visiting Ga. and Ohio, took a studio in N. York in 1861, and in 1863 became an academician. Besides a large number of busts, he has executed medallions, studies for bas-reliefs, statues, and groups. Among his works are the "Freedman," "Indian Hunter," a monument to commemorate the discovery of sulphuric ether as an anæsthetic, a bronze statue of Com. M. C. Perry, and a statue of Shakespeare for the N. Y. Central Park. — Looker's Ann.

Ward, Nathaniel, clergyman and author, b. Haverhill, Suffolk, Eng., ab. 1578; d. Sheffield, Essex, Eng., ab. 1632. Cambridge U. 1603. His father John, the "painted minister" of Haverhill, had three sons, Samuel, Nathaniel, and John, in the church, of whom, according to Dr. Fuller in his "Worthies," people used to say that all of them put together would not make up his abilities. Nathaniel was bred a lawyer; travelled on the Continent; with some remnants in Prussia and Denmark; devoted himself to divinity; and on his return became rector of Scionden Marcy, Essex. He was connected with the Ms. Company in 1630; was brought before Bishop Laud for nonconformity in 1631; was silenced in 1633; and arrived in N. E. in 1634. He immediately became pastor of the church at Agawam, or Ipswich, Rev. Thomas Parker being teacher. The latter having removed to Newbury, John Norton became in 1636 the colleague of Ward, who resigned in Feb. 1637 from impaired health. He was the author of the "Body of Liberties," adopted in Dec. 1641, — the first code of laws established in N. Eng. He preached the Ms. Election Sermon, June 2, 1641. In 1645 he was chosen by the General Court a member of a committee for the county of Essex to draw up laws to be submitted to the next legislature. Ward returned to England at the close of 1646. His "Simple Collier of Agawam," a quaint politico-religious tract, satirizing the affairs and manners of the Colony and the fashionable ladies of the day, but levelled mainly at the condition of England, was pub. at London, Jan. 30, 1647. In 1648 he became the minister at Shenneld, where he died. He was a celebrated wit, and was something of a poet, having written in 1648 a humorous satirical address to the London tradesmen turned preachers, entitled "Mercurius Anti-Mechanicus, or the Simple Collier's Boy," &c. His "Simple Collier" was reprinted at Boston in 1713 and 1843, and at Washington in 1844. Besides several tracts attributed to him, he pub. "A Sermon before the House of Commons, June 30, 1647;" "A Religious Retreat sounded to a Religious Army," 1647; "The Humble Petitions, Grievous Suggestions, and Durin' Exposulations, of some Freeholders of the East-ru. A-ssociation, to the High and Hon. Parliament of Eng.," 1648; and "Discollimium," a reply to "Bounds and Bonds," 1650. His son JOHN (b. Haverhill, Eng., 5 Nov. 1606, d. Haverhill, Ms., 27 Dec. 1693, Camb. U. 1630) was minister of Haverhill, Ms., from 1635 to his death, 27 Dec. 1693. — See Memoir by John Ward Dean, Svo, 1868.

Ward, Samuel, statesman, b. Newport, R.I., May 27, 1725; d. Phila. March 26, 1776. His ancestors, one of whom was an officer in Cromwell's army, were among the first settlers of R.I. Richard his father, gov. of R.I. in 1741 and '42, was sec. in 1744-53. Samuel was brought up a farmer, and man of business for his father, acquired a competency, and settled in Westerly. Member of the Gen. Assembly 1756-9, chief justice 1761, and gov. in 1762 and 1765-7. He was one of the originators of R.I. Coll., now known as Brown U. He was an active patriot; chairman of the Westerly com. of corresp. With Stephen Hopkins, he was app. a delegate to the First Congress in Phila. in Sept. 1774; and was also a member of that body in 1775, in which he usually presided when in com. of the whole, and was a member of important committees. — See Lib. J. Simmons, in Sparks's Amer. Biog., vol. 19. His son COL. SAMUEL, a brave Revol. officer, b. 17 Nov. 1756, d. N. Y. City, 16 Aug. 1832. Brown U. 1771. He participated in Arnold's exped. to Quebec, in the defence of Red Bank, and in the engagements in R.I., and at Springfield, N. J. Afterward a merchant in N. W. York.

Ward, Thomas, M.D. (Rutg. Coll.), poet, b. Newark, N. J., June 8, 1807. Son of Gen. Thomas Ward. He pub. in 1842 "Passaic," a group of poems touching that river. A contrib. to the Knickerbocker and N. Y. American.

Warden, David Bailie, M.D. (N. Y. Med. Coll.), b. Ireland, 1778; d. white American consul at Paris, Oct. 9, 1845. He was classically educated, and was disting. for his scientific attainments and varied learning. He was app. sec. of legation to Gen. Armstrong, minister to France, and was subsequently app. consul at Paris, in which station he continued 40 years; and a member of the French Acad. He pub. an "Account of the U.S.," 3 vols., svo, 1813; the same in French, at Paris; "On Consular Establishments," 1813; "Bibliotheca Americana," 1831; "Bibliotheca Americana," Paris, 1820; "Description of the Dist. of Columbia," svo, 1816; "Hist. of the Sick Bill," svo, Phila. 1837; "Inquiry concerning the Intellectual and Moral Faculties and Literature of the Negroes," 1810; "Recherches sur les Antiquités de l'Amérique Septentrionale."

Wardner, John A., M.D., prof. of chem. in Ohio Med. Coll., b. Phila. 1813; removed to Ohio 1830. Author of "Hedge Manual," 1858; "American Pomology," 1867. Edit. Botan. Mag. and Hort. Rev. Contributor to scientific periodicals. — Wabon.

Ware, Asa, LL.D. (Bowd. Coll. 1837), judge, b. Sherburne, Ms., Feb. 10, 1782. H.U. 1804; was tutor there 1807-11; prof. of Greek 1811-15. Attorney at law in Boston in 1816, and editor of the Boston Yankee. He removed to Portland in 1817, and from 1822 to 1866 was judge of the U.S. Dist. Court of Me. He was first sec. of state for Me. in 1820. In 1839 he pub. "Reports of Cases U.S. District Court of Me. 1822-34." He delivered an oration, July 4, 1816, before the Washington Society; another, July 4, 1817, in Portland. He contrib. to Bouvier's "Law Dictionary," articles on Admiralty Jurisdiction, on the Duty of Masters of Vessels, and Privileged Debts.

Ware, CATHERINE AUGUSTA, poet, b. Quincy, Ms., 1797; d. Paris 1843. Dan. of Dr. Rhodes, and in 1819 m. Charles A. Ware of the navy. Author of a vol. entitled "Power of the Passions, and Other Poems," London, 1842. She wrote occasional poems for the papers; edited the Power of Taste in Boston; and went to Europe in 1839. She was a relative of Robert Treat Paine, and at 15 wrote some verses on his death. — Dupleckner.

Ware, HENRY, D.D. (H.U. 1806), Hollis professor of divinity in H.U. (1805-45), b. Sherburne, Ms., Apr. 1, 1764; d. Cambridge, July 12, 1843. H.U. 1785. His father being a farmer of small means, his opportunities for education were limited. As his health was feeble, his two eldest brothers (his father having died when he was 15 years old) assisted him to procure a collegiate education. Oct. 24, 1787, he was ord. over the First Church in Hingham, where he continued till chosen prof. in 1805. The situation was one of great responsibility, on account of the controversies respecting it, which resulted in the separation of the Cong. Church of N.E. into the two sects called Unitarian and Orthodox. Among the writers on one side were Drs. Morse, Worcester, and Woods, and on the other Dr. Wm. E. Channing, Prof. Andrews Norton, and Prof. Ware himself, who about 1820 pub. his "Letters addressed to Unitarians and Calvinists," in answer to the Letters of the Rev. Dr. Woods. The latter replied; and the discussion was continued by Dr. Ware in two other publications. In 1842 he pub. also one course of his academical lectures on the Evidences, Doctrines, and Ethics of Christianity, 2 vols. He was a man of pure tastes and simple manners, with a refined and highly-cultivated intellect, and a generous and affectionate heart.

Ware, HENRY, Jun., D.D., clergyman, son of the preceding, b. Hingham, Ms., Apr. 21, 1794, d. Framingham, Ms., Sept. 22, 1843. H.U. 1812. He spent two years as assist. instructor at Phillips (Exeter) Acad.; and was ord. pastor of the Second Unitarian Church in Boston, Jan. 1, 1817. He became the editor of the Christian Disciple, an organ of the Unitarian denomination, which afterward became the Christian Examiner; and took an active part in all the public associations of his denomination. In 1829-42 he was prof. of pulpit eloquence, and the pastoral care at H.U.; and in the summer of 1830 he visited different parts of Europe. In 1824 he delivered a poem, entitled "A Vision of Liberty," before the Phi Beta Kappa of Cambridge. Author of "Poem on the Celebration of Peace," 1815; "Hints on Extemp. Preaching," 1824; "Recollections of Jotham Anderson;" on the "Recollection of Christian Character," 1831; "Feast of the Tabernacle," a poem, 1837; "Life of the Saviour," 1832; "Memoir of Rev. Dr. Parker," 1834; a "Selection from the Writings of Dr. Priestley," 1835. A selection of his writings was pub. by Rev. Chandler Robbins, 4 vols. 1846; a Memoir by his bro. John Ware, M.D., appeared in 1846, 2 vols. His wife, Mary L. Ware, a woman of great elevation of mind and active benevolence, d. April, 1849.

Ware, JOHN, M.D. (H.U. 1816), bro. of the preceding, physician and author, b. Hingham, Ms., Dec. 19, 1795; d. Boston, Apr. 29, 1864. H.U. 1813. He began to practise in Duxbury, Ms., and in 1817 removed to Boston. From 1832 to 1858 he was prof. of the theory and practice of medicine in the medical dept. of H.U.; several years pres. of the Ms. Med. Soc., and also a member of the Am. Acad. of Arts and Sciences. He pub. medical lectures and discourses; essays on "Croup," on "Delirium Tremens," and on "Hemoptysis;" a vol. on the "Philosophy of Natural History;" a "Memoir of H. Ware, Jun.," 1846; "Hints to Young Men," 1850; "Success in the Medical Profession," &c., 1851. His wife, Mary GLEENE, dau. of Mr. Chandler, b. Petersham, 1818, is author of "Elements of Character," 1854; "Thoughts in My Garden," 1862; "Death and Life," 1864.

Ware, WILLIAM, clergyman and author, b. Hingham, Ms., Aug. 3, 1797; d. Cambridge, Ms., Feb. 19, 1852. H.U. 1816; Camb. Theol. School, 1819. Son of Rev. Henry. He commenced preaching at Northborough; was settled successively in Brooklyn, Ct., and Burlington, Vt.; and from Dec. 18, 1821, to Oct. 19, 1836, was minister of the First Cong. Church in N.Y.; from June, 1837, to Apr. 1838, he was settled over the 2d Cong. Church in Waltham, Ms.; and in Dec. 1843 was settled at West Cambridge, but ill-health soon obliged him to give up preaching. He contrib. to the Kuckshucker Mag. "Letters from Palmyra," pub. in 2 vols. in 1837, better known under the present title of "Zenobia." A sequel to this work, now known as "Aurelian," appeared in 1838 with the title of "Probus." Removing to Cambridge in 1839, he for several years edited the Christian Examiner. "Julian" was pub. in 2 vols. in 1841; "American Unitarian Biography," 2 vols. 8vo, 1850; Memoir of Nath. Bacon, in Sparks's "Amer. Biog.," vol. 13. In 1848 he travelled one year in Europe; pub. after his return "Sketches of European Capitals," 1851; "Lectures on the Works and Genius of Washington Allston," 12mo, 1852; and was a frequent contributor to the Christian Examiner and other Unitarian periodicals.

Warfield, CATHERINE ANNE, poet, b. Washington, Mpi., 1817. Her father, Major Nath. A. Ware, was sec. of Mpi. Terr., and a political economist; author of "Views of the Federal Constitution." Her maternal grandfather was Capt. Charles Percy of the British navy. Educated with her sister in Philadelphia. She was m. in 1833 to Elisha Warfield of Lexington, Ky. whence in 1837 they removed to a farm near Lonsville, Ky. In 1843 was pub. "The Wife of Leon, and Other Poems, by Two Sisters of the West;" and in 1846 the sisters pub. a new collection, entitled "The Indian Chamber, and Other Poems." Her "Household of Bonverie," a novel, appeared in 1862; "Romance of the Great Seal," 1867.

Warham, Joun, first minister of Windsor, Ct., from Sept. 1636 till his death, Apr. 1, 1670. He was an eminent minister at Exeter, Eng., when the church which was gathered at Plymouth, and about to emigrate to America, of which Mr. John Maverick was pastor, secured him as teacher. They arrived May 30, 1639, and in June began a settlement at Dorchester. In 1635 this church removed to Windsor, where Mr. W. joined them the next year, Mr. Maverick having died.

Warner, Susan, novelist, b. N.Y. 1818, dau. of Henry W. Warner of the N. York bar, who resides on Constitution Is., near West Point. Pub. in 1849 "The Wide, Wide World," a story of domestic life; "Queechy," 1852; "The Law and the Testimony," 1853, a theol. work of research and merit; a prize essay on the Duties of American Women; "The Hills of Shatemuck," 1856, containing sketches of scenery near her residence; a vol. of "Lyrics from the Wide, Wide World;" "The Golden Laddler," 1862; "The Old Helmet," 1863. She has written under the nom de plume "Elizabeth Wetherell." Her sister ANNA B. WARNER is the author of "Dollars and Cents," a novel, 1853; "My Brother's Keeper," 2 vols. 1855; and of a series of juvenile tales. "Say and Seal," the joint production of the sisters, app. in 2 vols. in 1860.

Warner, Col. Seth, Revol. officer, b. Roxbury, Ct., May 17, 1743; d. there Dec. 26, 1784. He was early disting. by his energy, sound judgment, and manly and noble bearing. In 1765, with his father Dr. Benj. Warner, he removed to Bennington, in the New-Hampshire grants. During the dispute between N.Y. and the inhabitants of the "grants," over whom it claimed jurisdiction, Ethan Allen and Seth Warner were the leaders and champions of the people. They were outlawed by the State of N.Y.; and a reward was offered for the arrest of either. As second in com. he participated in the capture of Ticonderoga, and on the following day he took the important post of Crown Point, with its garrison and 113 cannon. Chosen col. July 27, 1775; in Sept. he was at the siege of St. John's under Montgomery, and defeated Gen. Carleton in the attempt for its relief. During the retreat of the Americans to Ticonderoga in May, 1776, Warner rendered valuable service. When Ticonderoga was evacuated on the night of July 4, 1777, the main body of the army took the road through Hubbardton and Castleton. At the former place the rear-guard was put under the com. of Warner, who was attacked by Fraser, July 7, and, after a severely-contested fight, was compelled to retreat. At the battle of Bennington, Warner's regiment arrived at the scene of action in season to repel and defeat the re-enforcement of the enemy under Braxman, and to share in the glory of that exploit. He remained in the service until 1782, when his constitution, though naturally strong and vigorous, gave way under the fatigue and hardships of the service, and he returned with his family to Roxbury. Seth Warner was over six feet in height, erect and well-proportioned. A Memoir by Daniel Chipman was pub. at Middlebury, 1848.

Warren, Gouverneur Kemble, brevet maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Cold Spring, N.Y., 1830. West Point, 1850. Entering the topog. engrs., he was made 1st lieut. 1 July, 1856; capt. 9 Sept. 1861; capt. engr. corps 3 Mar. 1863; maj. 25 June, 1864; lieut.-col. 3th N.Y. Vols. 14 May, 1861; col. 31 Aug. 1861; brig.-gen. 26 Sept. 1862; maj.-gen. 3 May, 1863. He was engaged in surveys of the western Terrs. until 1859; was assist. prof. of math. 1859-61, at West Point; com. a brigade in Peninsular campaign, and brev. lieut.-col. 27 June, 1862, for Gaines's Mill, where he was wounded; engaged in battles of Manassas, Antietam, and Fredericksburg; chief topog. engr. Army of Potomac from 4 Feb. 1863; engaged at Chancellorsville; brev. col. 4 July, 1863, for Gettysburg, where he was wounded; in temporary com. 2d corps, Aug. 1863 to Mar. 1864; and in com. at the combats of Auburn and Bristoe Station, 14 Oct. 1863; com. 5th corps, March, 1864, to Apr. 1, 1865, in Richmond campaign; and engaged at the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, North Anna, Bethesda Church, Cold Harbor, siege of Petersburg, Weldon Railroad, and Five Forks; brev. brig. and maj. gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865 for Bristoe Station, and for gallant and merit. services during the Rebellion. Author of Explorations in the Dakotah Country in 1855; of the Country between the Missouri and P.atte Rivers, 1857; in Nebraska and Dakotah, 1856-7; Pacific-Railroad Reports, part of vol. i., all of vol. ii.; "Battle of Five Forks," 1866. — Cullum.

Warren, Gen. James, Revol. patriot of Ms., b. Plymouth, Sept. 28, 1726; d. there Nov. 27, 1808. H.U. 1745. Many years a merchant. In 1757 the decease of his father left him a handsome patrimonial estate, which had descended from Richard, one of the first settlers of Plymouth in 1620. Succeeding his father as high sheriff, he retained the office till the commencement of the war. Chosen a member of the Gen. Court in May, 1766, he disting. himself in maintaining the rights of the Colonies. After the death of Gen. Joseph Warren, he was app. pres. of the Prov. Congress; and in 1775, while the army was at Cambridge, was made paym.-gen., but resigned the office on its removal to New York. He was afterwards app. maj.-gen. of the militia. After the adoption of the constitution of Ms., he was several years speaker of the house of representatives, and, refusing the offices of lieut.-gov. and judge of the Sup. Court, held a seat at the navy board. Husband of Mercy Warren the historian.

Warren, Joux, M.D., a disting. physician,

b. Roxbury, Ms., July 27, 1753; d. Boston, Apr. 4, 1815. H.U. 1771. His ancestors settled in Boston in 1720. After studying medicine two years with his bro, Joseph (afterwards Gen. Warren), he settled in Salem, where he soon had an extensive practice. On the day of the battle of Bunker's Hill, his anxiety on account of his bro, led him to attempt to pass a sentry, who inflicted a bayonet wound, the scar of which he bore through life. He administered to those wounded in that battle, and was soon after app. hospital-surgeon. In 1776 he accomp. the army to N.Y. and N.J.; served at Trenton and Princeton; and from 1777 to the close of the war was superintending surgeon of the military hospitals in Boston. He was for nearly 40 years the most eminent surgeon in N.E. He gave a course of dissections to his colleagues in 1780; and in 1783 became prof. of anatomy and surgery in the newly-established medical school at Cambridge. Pres. of the Ms. Med. Soc. from 1804 till his death, and was also pres. of the Agric. and Humane Societies. An instance of the energy of his character is found in his preparing a course of lectures on anatomy without books, without an instructor, and without a model. He delivered several public addresses, and in 1783 began the series of 4th-of-July orations at Boston, ever since continued. In 1777 he m. the dau. of Gov. Collins of R.I. He pub. a "Dissertation on the Mercurial Practice in Febrile Diseases;" an address to the lodges of Freemasons, of which he was grand-master; and contrib. many articles to the Journal of Medicine and Surgery, the "Memoirs" of the Amer. Acad., and the "Communications" of the Ms. Med. Society.

WARREN, JOHN COLLINS, M.D., an eminent surgeon and medical writer, b. Boston, 1 Aug. 1775; d. there, 4 May, 1856. H.U. 1797. Son of the preceding. He studied medicine with his father, and in the hospitals of London and Paris; began practice at Boston in 1802, and soon took the lead in his profession. Assistant prof. of anatomy and surgery H.U. 1806-15, full prof. 1815-47, and emeritus prof. 1847-56. One of the founders of the Ms. Gen. Hospital in 1820, and principal surgeon in daily attendance until his death; also a founder of the McLean Asylum for the Insane; pres. Ms. Med. Soc. 1832-6; pres. of the Boston Soc. of Nat. Hist. at the time of his death; and a member of the principal scientific bodies in America and Europe. Chiefly instrumental in founding, and from 1828 assoc. editor of, the Boston Med. and Surg. Journal. In 1846 he was the first to use ether in a surgical operation; and his sanction aided its general introduction. He devoted much of his later life to the natural sciences. His collection of specimens in comparative anatomy, osteology, and paleontology, was large, and included the most perfect mastodon known to exist. By his will he ordered that his body be given for examination to the officers of the Medical College, and that the skeleton should be deposited in its museum. An ardent friend of temperance, and many years pres. of the Ms. Temperance Soc. Besides contribs. to med. and scient. journals, he pub. "Diseases of the Heart," 1809; "Comparative View of the Sossocial System," 1820; "Account of the Boston Med. School and Ms. Gen. Hospital," 1824; "Dislocation of the Hip Joint," 1825; "Description of the Siamese Twins," 1829; "Observations on Tumors," 1837; "Etherization," 1848; "Description of an Egyptian Mummy," 1821; "Alcohol in the Prep. of Medicine," 1849; "The Preservation of Health," 1854; "Fossil Sandstone Rocks of Ct. River," 1854; "Genealogy of the Warren Family," 1855; "Mastodon Craniums," 1855. — See his Life, with Autob. and Anecdotes, by Edward Warren, 2 vols. 1860. His son JOSEPH WARREN, M.D., b. Boston, 1810, d. there, 19 Aug. 1867; H.U. 1832. Author of numerous monographs on special subjects; the latest of them, "Surgical Observations, with Cases and Operations," 1867, was finely illustrated.

WARREN, GEN. JOSEPH, physician and patriot, b. Roxbury, Ms., June 11, 1741; killed at Bunker's Hill, June 17, 1775. H.U. 1759. His father, a respectable farmer, held several municipal offices in Roxbury. He studied medicine under Dr. Lloyd; commenced practice in Boston in 1762, and, by his successful treatment of the smallpox in 1764, attained high rank among his brethren. His political sentiments were somewhat in advance of public opinion; for he held as tyranny all taxation which could be imposed by the British parliament upon the Colonies. In him the people found not only the firmness and decision they wished for in a leader, but prudence and wariness in all his plans. He met frequently with a considerable number of substantial mechanics, and others in the muddling asses of society, who were busy in politics, and was constantly enlightening the people by his pen. He was twice chosen to deliver the oration on the 5th of March, in commemoration of the "Massacre." The second of these was delivered Mar. 6, 1775, in the "Old South" meeting-house, and in defiance of the threats of the British officers, that it would be at the price of the life of any man to speak on that anniversary. In 1772 he became a member of the com. of corresp.; in the autumn of 1774 he was elected a delegate to the Ms. Congress, over which he presided after the departure of Hancock; and was also chairman of the com. of public safety, to whom the executive power was intrusted. He was thus the virtual head of the new commonwealth. Having discovered the design of seizing our stores at Concord, he despatched messengers to Hancock and Adams at Lexington to warn them of their danger. Hastening to the field of action on the next day, he shared the dangers of the opening battle of the Revolution, a musket-ball taking off a lock of his hair close to his ear. June 14, 1775, the Prov. Congress of Ms. made him a major-gen. He had previously been unceasing in his exertions to maintain order and enforce discipline amongst the troops which had hastily assembled after the battle of Lexington. He opposed the project of occupying Charlestown Heights, on the ground of want of ammunition sufficient to resist the attack of the British troops. When the step was determined on, he, however, resolved to share in its dangers. Arriving at the intrenchments on Breed's Hill just as the enemy were preparing to advance, Col. Prescott desired to act under his directions; but Warren declined taking any other part than that of a volunteer. During the retreat he was one of the last who left the redoubt, near which he fell as he was slowly retiring. A granite shaft, 216 feet in height, marks the spot sprinkled by the blood of the first Revol. martyr of rank. His eldest son was educated at the public expense. His Life, by A. H. Everett, is in Sparks's "Amer. Biog." Another, by R. Frothingham, was published 8vo, Boston, 1865.

Warren, Macey, authoress, b. Barnstable, Sept. 25 (N.S.), 1728; d. Plymouth, Oct. 19, 1814. A sister of the patriot James Otis, and ab. 1754 became the wife of Gen. James Warren. She had an active as well as powerful mind, and corresp. with some of the leading statesmen of the times. She wrote several satirical pieces, poetical and dramatic; a forcible poetical satire in the form of a drama, called the "Group;" the "Adulator;" two tragedies, of five acts each, called the "Sack of Rome" and the "Ladies of Castile." These productions, written during the war, and pub. in 1778, are full of patriotic feeling and heroic sentiment. Her Poems, dramatic and miscellaneous, were pub. in 1790. In 1805 she pub. her History of the Revol. War, 3 vols. 8vo.

Warren, Sir Peter, an English admiral, b. 1703; d. Ireland, July 29, 1752. Entering the navy in 1727, he rose to the rank of commodore, which he held in 1745, when app. com. of an armament destined to attack Louisburg, then belonging to the French. He joined the fleet of transports with the land-forces under Gen. Pepperell from Boston, in Casco Bay, 25 Apr.; and, being joined by several other ships of war from Eng., he took possession of Louisburg on the 17th of June. He was made a rear-admiral, and, falling in with a French squadron off Cape Fini-terre in 1747, completely defeated it, capturing the greater part. He m. Susan, eldest dau. of Stephen De Lanoy of N.Y., and was the owner of a valuable estate in the Mohawk Valley, which he placed in charge of his nephew Wm. (afterwards Sir Wm.) Johnson.

Warren, Mr. and Mrs. William, actors. Mr. W. was b. Bath, Eng., May 10, 1767; d. Washington, D.C., Oct. 19, 1832. Made his débüt at 17 as Young Norval; at Baltimore in 1796; and at the Chestnut-st., Phila., Nov. 5, 1796, as Friar Lawrence in "Romeo and Juliet;" afterward manager of the Chestnut-st., where he last app. Nov. 25, 1829. His wife ANNE BRUNTON, afterward Mrs. Merry and Mrs. Wignell, b. Bristol, Eng., 1770. M. Wm. Warren Jan. 1, 1803; d. Alexandria, June 28, 1808; made her débüt in Nov. 1785 as Ephrasia, in "The Grecian Daughter," in Bristol. M. Robert Merry in 1792; made her débüt on Dec. 5, 1796, at the Chestnut-st., Phila., as Juliet, and was one of the best actresses of her time. WILLIAM, Jun., son of Wm., and one of the best comedians on the American stage (b. Phila. Nov. 17, 1812), first app. at the Arch-st., Phila., Oct. 27, 1832, as Young Norval; at the Park, N.Y., in 1841, as Gregory Grizzle; at the Strand, London, in 1845; and

Aug. 23, 1847, as Billy Lackaday, at the Boston Museum, where he has ever since been a great favorite.

Warriner, Rev. Francis, Cong. clergyman and author, b. Springfield, Ms., 1805; d. Chester, Ms., 22 Apr. 1866. Amh. Coll. 1830. Teacher of math. and navigation on the frigate "Potomac," 1831-4, in the Indian Archipelago; he pub. on her return "The Cruise of the Potomac," 12mo, 1835. He studied theology at N. Haven and New York; pastor at Chester, Oct. 1841-8 and 1859-65, and of Waterford, Vt., 1848-59.

Warrington, Lewis, com. U.S.N., b. Williamsburg, Va., 3 Nov. 1782; d. Washington, D.C., 12 Oct. 1851. Wm. and Mary Coll. 1798. Midshipman 6 Jan. 1800; lieutenant 7 Feb. 1807; master com. 24 July, 1813; capt. 22 Nov. 1814; a navy commiss. 1827-30 and 1840-2; chief of bureau of Ordn. and Hydrog. from Sept. 1842 to his d. He was attached to "The Chesapeake" at the date of her encounter with the British frigate "Leopard," 20 June, 1807. 29 Apr. 1814, in the sloop "Peacock" (18 guns), he captured off Cape Canaveral, Florida, after an action of 42 minutes, the British sloop of war "Epervier." Capt. Wales, of about equal force. For this achievement Congress voted him a gold medal. 30 June, 1815, he captured in the Strait of Sunda the E. I. Co's cruiser "Nautilus;" but, peace having previously been declared, she was restored. He afterwards com. a squadron on the W. I. station.

Washburne, Gen. Cadwallader Colburn, b. Livermore, Me., April 22, 1818. Son of Israel, and bro. of Israel, jun., and E. B. Washburne. Originally a land-surveyor. In 1839 he went to Ill.; settled as a lawyer at Mineral Point, Wis.; and in 1859 removed to La Crosse, M.C. in 1856-62; delegate to the Peace Congress in 1861; raised a regt. of cavalry in 1861, of which he became col.; July 16, 1862, became brig.-gen.; maj.-gen. Nov. 29, 1862. In Dec. 1861 he conducted a successful exped. from Helena, Ark., into the interior of Mo. In the operations around Vicksburg in the campaign of 1863, he com. the two divisions of Gens. Smith and Kimball; afterward served in La. under Gen. Banks. M.C. 1867-71; chosen gov. of Wis. in Nov. 1871.

Washburne, Elihu Benjamin, minister to France (app. 1869), b. Livermore, Me., 23 Sept. 1816. Bro. of Cadwallader C., and Israel, jun. Served an apprenticeship in the office of the Kentucky American; studied law at H.U.; and settled in practice at Galena, Ill. Whig M.C. 1853-5; and subsequently, until 1869, a prominent Republican in that body, in which he was chairman of the com. on commerce (1857-65). He has also the merit of having procured Gen. Grant his app. of brig.-gen., and remained his best friend during all the vicissitudes of his military career. The latter, on reaching the presidential chair, app. Washburne sec. of state (Mar. 1869); but he shortly after took the mission to France, which he now (1872) holds.

Washburn, Emory, LL.D. (H.U. and Wms. Coll. 1854), lawyer, b. Leicester, Ms., Feb. 14, 1800. Wms. Coll. 1817. He studied law; was adm. to the bar 1821; practised in Leicester 1821-8, and at Worcester 1828-56; member of the Gen. Court 1825-7 and 1838; was judge of C. C. P. in 1844-7; gov. of Ms. in 1854-5; prof. in the Camb. Law School since 1855. Besides addresses before agr. societies, temperance and other associations, he has pub. "The Part taken by the Inhabitants of Leicester, Ms., in the Events of the Revolt," 1849; "A Address at the Social Festival of the Bar of Worcester County, Feb. 7, 1856;" "Historical Sketches of the Town of Leicester, Ms.," 1860; "Sketches of the Judicial History of Ms., 1630-1775," svo, 1840; "Address at the Celebration of the 200th Anniv. of the Incorporation of Bridgewater, Ms., June 3, 1856;" "Law of Easements and Servitudes," svo, 1863; "Professional Training, a Lecture," svo, 1861. His most important work is "A Treatise on the American Law of Real Property," 2 vols. svo, 1860-2, 3d ed. 3 vols. 1868. Member of the Academy of Arts and Sciences, Antiq. Society of Worcester, N. E. Hist. General Soc., and the Ms. Hist. Society.

Washburn, ISRAEL, gov. Me. 1861-3, b. Livermore, Me., 6 June, 1813. Bro. of C. C. and E. B. Washburne. He studied law; was adm. to the bar in 1834; and has practised at Orono, Penobscot Co., with success. Member Me. legisl. 1842; M. C. 1851-61; app. coll. of Portland 1863.

Washburn, PETER THACHER, jurist, b. Lynn, Ms., 7 Sept. 1814; d. 7 Feb. 1870. Dartm. Coll. 1835. He studied at the Camb. Law School; practised at Ludlow, Vt., 1839-41, afterwards at Woodstock; 8 years reporter Vt. Sup. Court; adj. and ungen. of Vt. 1861-6; gov. of Vt. from Oct. 1869 to his death. Author of Reports of S. up. Ct. of Vt., vols. 17-23, and of Digest; the first 15 vols. Vt. Reports, svo, 1845; of Reports of vols. 16-22, &c., svo, 1852.

Washburn, WILLIAM BARRETT, gov. of Ms. in 1852, b. Winchendon, Ms., 31 Jan. 1829, Y. C. 1844. A manufacturer. Member Ms. house 1850; senate 1854; subsequently pres. Gen. and B. Bank; M. C. 1863-71.

Washington, BISHOP, LL. D. (N. J. Coll. 1803), jurist, b. Westmoreland Co., Va., June 5, 1762; d. Phila. Nov. 26, 1829. Wm. and Mary Coll. 1778. He was the favorite nephew of the President. Studied law with James Wilson of Phila., and commenced practice with great success in his native county. He served as a private soldier at Yorktown; was a member of the Va. h. of delegates in 1787; and the next year was a member of the conv. to ratify the U. S. Constitution; afterwards removed to Alexandria, and thence to Richmond. Dec. 29, 1798, he was app. an assoc. justice of the U. S. Supreme Court; first pres. of the Colonization Society. Author of Reports Ct. of Appeals, Va. 1799-6, 2 vols. svo, 1798-9; Reports U. S. Cir. Court, 3d circ., 1803-27; edit. by R. Peters, 4 vols. svo, 1826-9.

Washington, GEORGE, first pres. U. S., b. 1732, s. Creek, Westmoreland Co., Va., 22 Feb. 1732; d. Mt. Vernon, 14 Dec. 1799. Fourth son of Augustine. John his ancestor came to Va. in 1657. Educated by a private tutor, and by an academy. A gen. 1751; sent on a mission to the French com. on the Ohio by Gov. Dinwiddie 31 Oct. 1753, returning 16 Jan. 1754, after much suffering; app. lieutenant-col. Mar. 1754; and 28 May captured a French detachment near Great Meadows, killing its com. Jumonville; surrendered his com. at Fort Necessity to a superior French force 4 July, 1754; vol. aide to Gen. Braddock at the battle of the Monongachela 9 July 1755; in 6 Jan. 1759 to Martha, widow of John Parke Custis, and dau. of John Dandridge; member of the h. of burgesses 1760-75; delegate to the first Congress, Sept. 1774, and to the second, May, 1775, by which (15 June) he was chosen com. in-chief of the Amer. army on the nomination of John Adams, and took com. at Cambridge 3 July. He forced the British to evacuate Boston (17 Mar. 1776); lost the battles of Brooklyn (27 Aug.), White Plains (28 Oct.); gained the victories of Trenton and Princeton (Dec. 26 and Jan. 3). Was defeated at Brandywine (11 Sept. 1777) and at Germantown (4 Oct. 1777); fought an indecisive battle with Sir H. Clinton (28 June, 1778) at Monmouth, and, in conjunction with the French army of Rochambeau and the fleet of De Grasse, captured the army of Cornwallis at Yorktown (19 Oct. 1781), virtually ending the war. Dec. 23, 1783, he resigned his com., and retired to Mt. Vernon. Pres. of the convention that formed the U. S. Constitution 1787; inaug. pres. of the U. S. at New York 30 Apr. 1789, and returned to private life on the exp. of his second term, 4 Mar. 1797. In Sept. 1796 he pub. his Farewell Address. — See Life and Correspondence, 12 vols. svo; Lives by Ramsay, Marshall, Bancroft, and Irving; concerning politics, see General, P. 1, 883, 25.

Washington, COL. WILLIAM AUGUSTINE, a distinguished cavalry officer of the Revolution, b. Stafford Co., Va., 28 Feb. 1752; d. Charleston, S. C., 6 Mar. 1810. D. signed for the church by his father Bunty Washington, a kinsman of Gen. W. His attainments as a scholar were respectable. A capt. under Mercer in the Va. line, he distinguished himself at Long Island, at Trenton (where he was severely wounded), and at Princeton. Major and then lieutenant-col. of Baylor's dragoons, and present at its surprise by Gen. Grey at Tappan in 1778. He was active in com. of a light corps in the vicinity of Charleston, S. C., in 1779-80, and was worsted at Monk's Corner and at Lemon's Ferry; attached to the division of Gen. Morgan, he carried by stratagem the fort at Rugely's Mill, capturing a large force; and for his valor at the Cowpens, where he had a personal encounter with Col. Tarleton, both being wounded, received from Congress a silver medal. He was active in Greene's celebrated retreat; was conspicuous at Guilford; behaved gallantly at Hobkirk's Hill, and also at Dutaw, where he was taken prisoner, remaining till the close of the war. He then m. and settled in Charleston, S. C., where he was a member of the legisl., but declined being a candidate for gov., as he could not write a speech. Upon Washington's app. as com. of the army to Pres. Adams, he succeeded Col. W. as one of his staff, with the rank of brig.-gen. Tall, strong, and active in person, he was valiant and bold in deportment, and exceedingly hospitable, generous, and benevolent.

Waterbury, DAVID, Jun., b. Stamford, Ct., Feb. 12, 1722; d. June 29, 1801. Major 3d Ct. Regt. in the French and Indian war; raised a regt. early in 1775; July 3, 1775, was ord. to the North, and returned in Jan. 1776; app. brig.-gen. militia, June, 1776; served in Northern army; Sept. 2, 1776, app. second to Arnold in the fleet on Lake Champlain; and in the action Oct. 14 was taken prisoner. He was soon exchanged, but saw no active service afterward. He was a farmer, and served in the State legislature many years.

Waterbury, JARED BELL, D.D., b. N.Y. City 1799. Y.C. 1822. Author of "Advice to a Young Christian," 1827; "The Brighter Age," a poem, 1830; "Remains of Mrs. Catherine Winslow," 1851; "Sketches of (23) Eloquent Preachers," 1864; "Southern Planters and the Freedmen," 1865; "Memoir of Rev. John Scudder, D.D.," 1870, &c. — Albano.

Waterhouse, BENJAMIN, M.D., physician and author, b. Newport, R.I., 4 March, 1754; d. Cambridge, Ms., 2 Oct. 1846. U. of Leyden. Placed in 1775 in charge of Dr. Fothergill, a maternal relative, he studied in London, Edinburgh, and Leyden. Prof. of the theory and practice of medicine in H.U. 1783-1812. Chosen in 1774 prof. of nat. hist. in Brown U., he delivered in Providence at that time the first course of lectures upon that science in America. He introduced the study of mineralogy (then a novelty in the U.S.), obtained a valuable collection of minerals from Dr. Lettson, and procured the establishment of the botanic gardens. For 7 years he vindicated by his writings Dr. Jenner's discovery of vaccination against ridicule and public prejudice. A prominent political friend of Jefferson, he was app. U.S. hospital-surgeon 29 June, 1813, and was post-surgeon in 1818-21. Author of "Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Medicine," 8vo, 1786; "Lectures on Natural History," 1810; "The Botanist," 1811; "Opus to Inaug." at H.U. 1783; on "Vitality," 1790; "Prospect of exterminating the Small-Pox," 1809; a work ascribing the authorship of "Junius" to Lord Chatham, 1831; "Journal of a Young Man of Ms.," a novel, 1816. Member of numerous scientific bodies in the U.S. and Europe. His son JOHN FOTHERGILL, M.D., physician, naturalist, and orator, b. 1 Aug. 1791, d. Charleston, S.C., 18 May, 1817. — Polynathos, vol. ii.

Waterman, THOMAS WHITNEY, lawyer of N.Y. City, son of Thomas Glashy, lawyer (Y.C. 1806), b. Binghamton, N.Y., 1821. Entered Y.C. 1838; travelled in Europe 1842-4; adm. to the bar 1848. Author of "Treatise on Justice," 8vo, 1849; "Amer. Chancery Digest," 3d ed., 3 vols. 8vo, 1851; "Treatise on Justice for Wisconsin and Iowa," 8vo, 1853; "Treatise on New Trials," 2 vols. 8vo, 1855; "Digest of Ct. Sup. Court Reports," 8vo, 1858; "Treatise on the Law of Set-Off," &c., 8vo, 1869; and editor of Archbold, 7th ed.; Caine's N.Y. Reports, 3d ed., 1854; and Hoffman's Chancery Reports, 1863. — Albano.

Waterston, Rev. ROBERT CASSIE, Unit. clergyman, b. Kennebunk, Me., 1812. Studied 3 years at Cambridge; was ord. 1839; labored 5 years as minister at large; m. Anna C., dau.

of Josiah Quincy; and has had charge of several churches. Resides in Boston. Author of "Thoughts on Moral and Spiritual Culture," 12mo, 1842; "Arthur Lee and Tom Paine;" "Address on Life and Char. of T. Sherwin," 16 Feb., 1870, before High-school Assoc., Boston; also addresses, discourses, poems, &c.; compiled a hymn-book; and contrib. to many reviews, magazines, &c. — Albano.

Waterton, CHARLES, English naturalist, b. abt. 1782; d. 1865. He visited S. America, and pub. in 1825 "Wanderings in S. America, the North-west of the U.S., and the Antilles." He also pub. "Essays on Natural History."

Watkins, TONTAS, M.D., physician and author, b. Md. 17 0; d. Washington, D.C., Nov. 14, 1855. St. John's Coll. 1798; Phila. Med. Coll. 1802. He commenced practice at Havre de Grace, Md.; was surgeon in the army during the war of 1812; assist. surgeon-gen. 1818-21; and fourth auditor of the treasury 1824-9. In 1809 he edited the Baltimore Med. and Physical Recorder. In 1816 he commenced with his brother-in-law Stephen Simpson, at Phila., the Pastor. He also contrib. freely to the public press and to literary periodicals. Transl. Bichat's "Physiol. Researches" from the French, 8vo, 1809; and De Oms's "Memoir upon the Treaty of 1819," from the Spanish, 8vo, 1822.

Watmough, JONAS G., soldier and politician, b. on the Braudwynne, Del., Dec. 6, 1793; d. Phila. Nov. 29, 1861. U. of Pa. and N.J. Coll. A lieut. of art. in the war of 1812; he was wounded at Fort Erie; was aide to Gen. Gaines on the southern frontier in 1814-16; resigned in 1816; M.C. from Pa. 1831-5; high sheriff of Phila. city and county in 1835; and surveyor of the port in 1841. Author of "Scrabblings and Sketches," Phila. 8vo, 1844.

Watson, SIR BROOK, an English baronet (Dec. 5, 1803), b. Plymouth, Eng., Feb. 7, 1735; d. Oct. 2, 1807. Early in life he entered the sea-service, but, while bathing in the harbor of Havana in 1749, a shark bit off his right leg below the knee, and he was obliged to quit his chosen profession. He then entered upon mercantile pursuits; in 1755 was commiss. with Col. Moncton at the siege of Beauséjour, N.S.; and in 1758 at Louisbourg, having in charge Wolfe's division; in 1759 he settled as a merchant in London, and subsequently did business in Montreal. Visiting Ms., N.Y., and other Colonies, just before the Rev., he professed himself a Whig; but intercepted letters to Gen. Gage showed his true character to be that of a spy. When Lord North's bill to cut off the fisheries of N. Eng. was before parliament in 1775, he was examined by the house of commons. In 1782 he was made commiss.-surgeon to his friend Sir Guy Carleton in America; in 1784-93 was M.P. from London; in 1785 sheriff of London and Middlesex; lord-mayor in 1796; and, in reward of his services in America, parliament voted his wife an annuity of £500 for life. Made agent for the Colony of N. Brunswick in 1786; commiss.-gen. to the Duke of York in 1793-5; commiss.-gen. of Eng., March 1798-1806.

Watson, ELKANAH, agriculturist, b. Plymouth, Ms., Jan. 22, 1758; d. Port Kent, N.Y., who d. 1793, m. Capt. Kennedy, who became Earl of Cassilis. Their son, the 12th earl, was b. in America. JOHN, 2d son, b. N.Y. 1749, d. there Sept. 3, 1836. M.C. 1793-6; made a munificent donation to the Leake and Watts Orphan House; m. his cousin-german Jane De Lancey, and left descendants, one of whom was Gen. Philip Kearney.

Watts, ROBERT, M.D. (Coll. Phys. and Surg. 1835), physician and surgeon, b. Fordham, N.Y., 1812; d. Paris, France, Sept. 8, 1867. Col. Coll. 1831. While an under-graduate, he was app. lecturer on anatomy at the Vt. Medical Coll., and in 1838 was prof. of the same branch there and at Pittsfield, Ms. From 1839 to his death he was prof. of anatomy in the Coll. of Phys. and Surgeons; and from 1859 was an attending physician of the Nursery and Child's Hospital; one of the founders of the N.Y. Pathological Soc., and for several years its presiding officer. He pub. many able articles and reports of cases in the medical periodicals, and revised and edited with notes some manuals of anatomy.

Wayland, FRANCIS, D.D. (Un. Coll. 1827), LL.D. (1852), scholar and clergyman, b. N.Y. City, Mar. 11, 1796, of English parents; d. Providence, Sept. 26, 1865. Un. Coll. 1813. After studying medicine 3 years, in 1816 he studied at the Theol. Sem., Andover; and was tutor at Un. Coll. in 1817-21, a part of the time preaching to a cong. at Burnt Hills; in 1821-6 he was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Boston; in 1826 he was for a short time prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. at Un. Coll.; from Feb. 1827 to 1855 was pres. of Brown U.; and was afterward, for two or three years, pastor of the First Bapt. Church in Providence. Dr. Wayland manifested eminent ability in managing the affairs of B.U., largely increasing its reputation, and doubling the number of its students. He taught by lectures in place of the old text-books, and pub. works on "Moral Science," "Political Economy," and "Intel. Philosophy." In 1842 he pub. "Thoughts upon the Collegiate System of the U.S.," which led to much discussion. His other publications are "Letters on Slavery;" "Life of the Missionary, Dr. Judson," 1853; "Univ. Sermons," 1838, subsequently pub. as "Salvation by Christ," 1858; "Limitations of Human Responsibility," 1840; "Memoir of Harriet Ware," 1850; "Notes on the Principles and Practices of Baptists," 1856; "Oeas. Discourses," 1856; "Sermons to the Churches," 1853; "Letters on the Ministry," 1863. — See Memoir by his Sons, Francis and H. L. Wayland, 2 vols. 8vo, 1867.

Wayne, GEN. ANTHONY, b. Chester Co., Pa., 1 Jan. 1745; d. Presque Isle, 15 Dec. 1796. His grandfather Anthony of Yorkshire com. a squadron of dragoons under King William at the battle of the Boyne, and came to Pa. in 1722. — Like his father was an officer in Indian wars, and served in the Prov. legisl. Anthony was educated at the Phila. Acad., and, through the friendship of Dr. Franklin, was app. a land-agent in Nova Scotia, where he resided in 1765-6. Marrying in 1767, he was until 1774 a farmer and land-surveyor; member of the legisl. in 1774-5, and of various patriotic associations of the time. He raised a regt. in Sept. 1775; was made a col. 3 Jan. 1776; brig.-gen. 21 Feb. 1777. Disting. and wounded at Trois Rivieres, Canada. At the Brandywine, 11 Sept. 1777, he was opposed to Knyphausen, and held his ground until the right of the Amer. army was turned. On the night of 20 Sept. he was surprised by Gen. Grey near the Paoli Tavern, and compelled to retreat with serious loss. Wayne demanded a court of inquiry, and was acquitted with the highest honor. At Germantown, where he led the attack of the right wing, he signalized himself, and was twice slightly wounded. For his conduct at Monmouth (28 June, 1778), he was especialy mentioned in Washington's official report. His most brilliant achievement, however, was the storming of Stony Point, a strong post on the Hudson, on the night of 15 July, 1779. In this attack he was wounded in the head. Congress gave him a vote of thanks and a gold medal. After the mutiny of the Pa. line, Wayne, with the remnant of Pa. troops, joined Lafayette in Va. 7 June, 1781; at Green Spring, Va., 6 July, 1781, he was ordered to attack what was supposed to be only a rear-guard, but which proved to be the whole British army in order of battle within less than 100 paces. His course was at once sagacious and energetic. A well-executed bayonet-charge stopped the enemy, and gave Wayne time to retreat without loss. Present at Yorktown; ordered to Ga., he defeated Col. Brown, 20 May, 1782, and a month later the renowned Indian chieftain Gristersigo, who was killed; 14 Dec. 1782 he took possession of Charleston on its evacuation. He served in the Pa. Assembly in 1784-5, and in the conv. that ratified the U.S. Constitution. Apr. 3, 1792, he was made gen.-in-chief of the army engaged against the North-western Indians; 20 Aug. 1794 he gained a complete victory over them at the Maumee Rapids, "Fallen Timbers," which was followed by the treaty of Greenville, resulting in a long peace and a considerable accession of territory. Wayne, though by his bravery gaining the sobriquet of "Mad Anthony," was discreet and cautious, fruitful in expedients, quick in decision, and prompt in execution. "Wayne's Orderly-Book at Tidoncl.," with notes and app., was pub. by Munsell, 1859. — See Memoirs by H. N. Moore, Phila. 1845, and by John Armstrong in Sparks's Amer. Biog., vol. iv.; the Assault on Stony Point, by H. B. Dawson, 1863. His son Col. ISAAC (M.C. 1823-5) d. Chester Co., Pa., 25 Oct. 1852, a. 52.

Wayne, JAMES MOORE, LL.D. (N. J. Col. 1849), judge, b. Savannah, Ga., 1790; d. Washington, D.C., July 5, 1867. N. J. Coll. 1810. He became a lawyer and politician; was two years a member of the State legisl.; mayor of Savannah 1823; was judge of the Superior Court 1824-9; M.C. 1829-35; took a prominent position as a debater; and was a supporter of Gen. Jackson, who app. him, 9 Jan. 1835, assoc. judge U.S. Sup. Court. His opinions upon admiralty jurisprudence are everywhere cited as high authority. In Congress he sustained free trade; opposed internal improvements by Congress, except of rivers and harbors; opposed a recharter of the U.S.

Bank; and took an active part in the removal of the Indians to the West. He presided in two conventions for revising the constitution of Georgia.

Wear, MESHECH, first pres. of N.H., b. Hampton, N.H., Jan. 16, 1713; d. Jan. 14, 1785. H.U. 1735. Son of Nathaniel. He was chosen speaker of the house in 1752; commissioner to the Congress at Albany 1754; afterwards a justice of the Sup. Court; in 1777 chief justice; and was councillor from Rockingham, and chairman of the com. of safety. In 1775 he was chosen pres. of the State; was annually re-elected during the war, and in 1784 under the new constitution; made fellow of the Acad. Art. and Sciences in 1782.

Weatherford, WILLIAM, a noted chief of the Creek Indians; d. Monroe Co., Ala., 1824. His father was a white trader, his mother a Seminole woman. He was a skilful hunter and warrior; commanded his tribe in the war with the U.S. in 1813-14, in which they were overpowered, and surrendered voluntarily to Gen. Jackson in Apr. 1814. He afterward lived peaceably on his plantation at Little River.

Webb, GEN. ALEXANDER S., b. N.Y. ab. 1834. West Point, 1855. Son of James Watson Webb. Entering the 2d Art., he served against the Seminoles in Fla. in 1856; was assist. prof. of math. at West Point 1857-61; 1st lieut. 25 Apr. 1861; capt. 11th Inf. 14 May, 1861; maj. 1st R.I. Vols. 14 Sept. 1861; lieutenant, staff U.S. vols. 20 Aug. 1862; brig.-gen. vols. 23 June, 1863; lt. colonel, 41th U.S. Inf. 28 July, 1865. He served in defence of Fort Pickens, at Bull Run, and through the Peninsula campaign; was chief of staff 5th corps at Antietam and Chancellorsville; brev. major 3 July, 1863, for Gettysburg, where he com. a brigade in 2d corps, and was wounded; com. div. 2d corps in Rapidan campaign, Oct. 1863 to Apr. 1864, and brev. lieutenant-col. 11 Oct. 1863 for Bristow's Station, com. brigade in battles of the Wilderness and Spottsylvania, and breveted for the latter 12 May, 1864, where he was severely wounded; chief of staff to Gen. Meade 11 Jan. 1865, and brev. brig. and maj. gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865; discharged 15 Dec. 1870. App. pres. N.Y. City Coll. 1869.

Webb, COL. CHARLES, b. Stamford Ct., Feb. 13, 1724; d. ab. 1782. Member State legis. in 1758, and 23 times re-elected. Attained the rank of capt. in 1760, having served in the French war. Sent in May, 1775, by Congress on a tour of military investigation to Cumberland, Col. 19th Reg., July, 1775. In the battles at White Plains, Oct. 28, 1776, and at Long Island, Aug. 27, 1776; also White-mars 5 Dec. 1777, in which his right arm and shoulder were lost.

Webb, CHARLES HENRY, b. Rouss's Pt., N.Y. Author of "Liftin' Lank, or Lunacy," N.Y. 1837; "St. Two Pm." (a travesty of St. Paul), 1867; "Our Friend from Victoria," a parody; "Arrah-na-pok," a ballad, 1865; and "The Jumpin' Frog," by Mark Twain, found and ed. of the California of San Francisco; and has contrib. to mag. and journals.—A. G. O.

Webb, GEORGE JAMES, prof. in the Boston Acad. of Music, and an eminent composer and teacher of music. Author of "American Glee Book," "Ms. Coll. of Church Music," "Vocal Class-Book for Schools," "Orthophony," &c.; "Cantata Ecclesiastica," 1870; also some musical publs. in connection with Lowell Mason.

Webb, JAMES, jurist, b. Va.; d. Goddard, Texas, Nov. 2, 1856. He studied law; removed to Ga.; and, after practising his profession a few years, was made a judge of the Sup. Court. He held for many years the office of U.S. dist. judge in the Terr. of Fla.; resigned, and removed to Texas in 1839. Under Pres. Lamar he filled successively the offices of attorney-gen. and sec. of state; served one term in the senate; and, after Texas became a state, was reporter of the decisions of the Sup. Court, sec. of state; and, at the time of his death, judge of the 14th judicial dist. Author of "Reports Sup. Ct. of Texas," 1846-8, 3 vols. 8vo, 1848-51.

Webb, JAMES WATSON, journalist, son of Gen. S. B. Webb, b. Claverack, N.Y., Feb. 8, 1802. 7th in descent from Richard, to whom of Boston 1692. He entered the army as 2d lieut. in Aug. 1819; was first lieut. in 1823, and resigned in 1827. He then took charge of the N.Y. Courier, which in 1829 he united with the Essex, under the name of the Western Courier and N.Y. Express, becoming sole editor, and in 1830 sole proprietor, of the journal. It sustained the Whig party during its existence. App. in 1850 ex officio to Vienna, the senate did not confirm the nomination. In 1861 Pres. Lincoln appointed him minister to Brazil. While in this position he secured the settlement of long-standing claims against Brazil, and was instrumental, through his intimacy with Napoleon III., in procuring the withdrawal of the French from Mexico. Author of "Abowah, or Adventures in the Rocky Mountains," 2 vols. 8vo, 1846; "Slavery and its Tendencies," 8vo, 1856.

Webb, JOSEPH, grand-master of Freemasons in America, d. Boston, Apr. 25, 1787, a. 52.

Webb, GEN. SAMUEL B., b. Westfield, Ct., 1759; d. Claverack, N.Y., Dec. 18, 1807. He was engaged, and wounded in the arm, at Brinker's Hill, and for a day on the day was personally taken, and made captive to Gen. Putnam. A letter written by him to the capt. of the Siles Deans, describing that liberty is in the Hist. Soc. of Hartford. In July, 1776, he was appointed to West Point, and was wounded at White Plains; he was also wounded at Trenton, and was engaged at Red Bank; in 1778 he took command of the 10th Rgt. In crossing to Long Island with Gen. Putnam's expedition in 1779, he was amongst the crew, was captured by the British fleet, released in 1782, he was promoted to 1st Lieut. of the 12th and upon the evacuation of Boston Station.

Webb, THOMAS SMITH, poet and grand-master of the R.I. Grand Lodge, 1850-60. Was the author of some Miscellaneous poems, and of an excellent musical comedy, "The Philosopher's Monody," 1877. The best of us, by G. T. Carson, 8vo, 1875.—A. G. O.

Webb, WILLIAM H., shipbuilder, b. N.Y. City 19 June, 1816. Educated at the grammar-schools of N.Y., and learned his art in the shipyard of his father ISAAC, who d. 14 Jan. 1810, a. 46. Since 1843 he has carried on the business alone, and has constructed many vessels of great speed and capacity, upon original plans. Among them are "The General Admiral," a steam-frigate for the Russian navy, two steam screw-frigates for the Italian navy, and the ironclad ram "Dunderberg" for the U. S. navy.

Webber, CHARLES WILKINS, author, b. Russellville, Ky., May 29, 1819; killed in Nicaragua in 1856, while serving with the filibuster Walker. His mother, the dau. of Gen. John Tammehill, a Revol. officer, m. Dr. Augustine Webber, a prominent physician of South Ky. Her son's early life was passed in the sports of the field and on the frontier of Texas, where his singular adventures of several years furnished themes for his earlier books, "Old Hicks the Guide," "Shot in the Eye," and "Gold Mines of the Gila," 1849. He studied medicine and then theology at Princeton Sem., but soon relied solely upon his pen. He went to New York at the age of 25, where he wrote a series of papers on "Texan Adventure" for the New World, sketches and other papers for the Democ. Review; edited the Ill'ig Review 2 years; contrib. to the Literary World papers on Western Life and Natural History. He pub. in 1851-3 "The Hunter-Naturalist," illustrated; "Spiritual Vampirism;" and "Tales of the Southern Border," 1853; "Wild Scenes and Song-Birds," 1854; "History of Mystery," 12mo; "Texan Virago," 1852; "Wild Girl of Nebraska," 1852. — Dauobiosk.

Webber, SAMUEL, D. D., pres. of H. U., b. Hyfield, Ms., Jan. 13, 1760; d. Cambridge, July 17, 1810. H. F. 1784. At Harv., where he exhibited a strong predilection for mathematics, he studied theology; was in 1787 app. a tutor; succeeded Dr. Williams as prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. in 1789; and on the death of Pres. Willard was inaug. as his successor, May 6, 1806. In 1796 he was employed by the govt. to ascertain the boundary between Canada and the U. S. In 1801 he pub. a System of Mathematics, 2 vols. 8vo; Enology on President Willard, 1804. He revised the Introduct. to Morse's Geography, 2 vols. 8vo, 1796. Vice-pres. of the Amer. Acad., and a fellow of the Philos. Society.

Webster, DANIEL, LL. D. (N. J.) 1818; D. C. 1823; H. U. 1824), statesman, lawyer, and orator, b. Salisbury, N. H., Jan. 18, 1782; d. Marshfield, Ms., Oct. 24, 1852. Dartm. Coll. 1801. His father Ebenezer, a Revol. soldier, and subsequently a judge, was b. Kingston, N. H., 1739; d. April, 1806. Daniel was educated at Phillips (Exeter) Academy and at Dartm. Coll., defraying a portion of the expense by teaching school. In 1802 he taught an acad. at Fryeburg, Me.; then studied law; came to Boston in July, 1804; studied in the office of Christopher Gore, afterward gov. of Ms., and was adm. to the bar in the spring of 1805. After practising a year in Boscawen, N. H., he removed to Portsmouth, where he rose at once to full practice at a bar where Samuel Dexter, Joseph Story, and Jeremiah Mason, were prominent. M. C. in 1813-17, and placed on the com. of foreign affairs, he at once took rank with the foremost both for business and debate. In Aug. 1816 he removed to Boston. The famous Dartm. Coll. case, carried by appeal to Washington in 1817, placed him in the front rank of the American bar. Among the great causes argued by him before the U. S. Sup. Court were those of Gibbons and Ogden (steamer monopoly case), that of Ogden and Saunders (State insolvent laws), the Charles-river Bridge Case, the Aldama Bank Case, the Girard Will Case, and the R. I. Charter Case. In the trials of Goodbridge at Newburyport, and the Knapps at Salem, Mr. Webster exhibited unsurpassed skill as a criminal lawyer. Member of the Ms. Const. Conv. of 1820, he spoke upon oaths of office, the basis of senatorial representation, and the independence of the judiciary. Dec. 22, 1820, he delivered his celebrated discourse at Plymouth on the anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims. Others of this class of efforts were that on the laying of the corner-stone of the Bunker-hill Monument (June 17, 1825), and at its completion (June 17, 1843), and the eulogy on Adams and Jefferson, July 4, 1826. He again entered Congress in Dec. 1823; made his famous speech on the Greek Revol.; and as chairman of the judiciary com. reported and carried through the house a complete revision of the criminal law of the U. S. In the 19th Congress he made a masterly speech on the proposed diplomatic Congress at Panama. Under the presidency of Mr. Adams he was the leader of the friends of the administration, — first in the house, and afterward in the senate, of which he was a member in 1827-39. His great speech in reply to Hayne, delivered in the senate Jan. 26 and 27, 1839, on Footes's resolution, has been declared, next to the Constitution itself, the most correct and complete exposition of the true powers and functions of the Federal Govt. This resolution related to the survey of the public lands; and the debate turned on the newly-declared doctrine of Calhoun, on the right of an individual State to nullify an act of Congress. In 1836 he received the electoral vote of Ms. for pres., and in 1840 was app. by Harrison sec. of state. While in this post, he negotiated the North-eastern boundary treaty in 1842, putting an end to a protracted and threatening dispute with Great Britain. In the spring of 1839 he visited Europe; in May, 1843, he retired from Mr. Tyler's cabinet; was rechosen to the senate in 1845, and strenuously opposed the annexation of Texas and the war with Mexico. In support of the compromises of 1850, he delivered his celebrated speech of March 7, which, by its concessions to the demands of slavery, proved highly distasteful to a large number of his supporters, and weakened his influence at home; in July, 1850, on the access on of Fillmore to the presidency, Mr. Webster was again made sec. of state, which post he filled at the time of his death. In Dec. 1850 the famous Hulse-mann Letter was written. He paid much attention to agriculture, and resided much of the latter part of his life at Marshfield, Ms., or at his birth-

State courts, and one of the aldermen of the city. He returned there in 1822, and visited Europe in 1828. Early in 1843 he pub. "A Collection of Papers on Political, Literary, and Moral Subjects," and an elaborate treatise on "The Supposed Change in the Temperature of Winter." His last literary labor was the revision of the Appendix to his Dictionary, which he completed only a few days before his death. Of the "Elementary Spelling Book" nearly 5,000,000 copies have been sold; and, during the preparation of the Dictionary, the entire support of his family was derived from its copyright. His Dictionary has been revised since his death by his son-in-law, Prof. Goodrich, and others. Dr. W.'s other works are a "History of the U.S.," revised in 1838; "Letters to a Young Gentleman commencing his Education," 1823; "Manual of Useful Studies," 1832; "The Prompter;" and a "History of Animals." — Allibone.

Webster, PELATIAH, political writer, b. Lebanon, Ct., 1725; d. Phila. Sept. 1795, Y.C. 1746. He studied theology, and preached at Greenwich, Ms., in the winter of 1748-9; was afterward a merchant in Phila.; was an active Whig during the Revol., and suffered both in person and estate, having been confined in the city jail 132 days. In Oct. 1776 he pub. his first essay, urging taxation for the redemption of Cont. money; in 1779-85 he pub. a series of "Essays on Free Trade and Finance;" in 1783 "A Dissertation on the Political Union and Constitution of the 13 United States of N. A.;" in 1791 he pub. "Political Essays on the Nature and Operation of Money, Public Finance," &c., 8vo, Philadelphia — Dagblinck.

Webster, RLY. RICHARD, Presb. clergyman, b. Albany, 14 July, 1811; d. Mauch Chunk, Pa., 19 June, 1856. Un. Coll. 1829. Princeton Sem. 1834. Son of Charles R. Webster, bookseller of Albany. Ord. 29 Apr. 1835; pastor of Mauch Chunk until his death. Author of "Hist. of the Presb. Church," 8vo, 1856.

Wedderburne, ALEXANDER, Baron Loughborough (1750) and Earl of Rosslyn (1801), b. Edinburgh, Feb. 43, 1733; d. Bayles, Berkshire, Jan. 3, 1805. U. of Edinburgh. He was called to the Scottish bar at 19; removed to London; entered the Inner Temple in 1753; was adm. to the English bar in 1757; and was specially dining, in the great Douglas case in 1768-9. As a member of parliament he was an able supporter of Grenville and Lord North; became solicitor-gen. Jan. 26, 1771, and was conspicuous in defence of Lord Clive. In Jan. 1774, when the petition of Massachusetts for the removal of Hutchinson and Oliver was laid before the privy council, Wedderburne defended them in a speech in which he made a gross and insulting attack upon Franklin, the agent of the petitioners. In 1778 he was made attorney, and in 1780 chief justice C. C. P.; in April, 1783, he assisted North in forming the famous coalition ministry, in which he was the first com. of the great seal. In Jan. 27, 1793-1801, he was lord high chancellor under Mr. Pitt. When George III. heard that he was dead, he remarked, "He has not left a greater knave behind him in my dominions."

Weed, GEN. STEPHEN H., b. N.Y. 1834; killed at Gettysburg, Pa., July 2, 1863. A graduate of the N.Y. Free Acad. West Point, 1854. Served against the Western Indians 1857-60; and, when the Rebellion broke out, was made a capt. of artillery. He served under McClellan on the Peninsula, at Manassas, at South Mountain, and Antietam; and was made brig.-gen. 6 June, 1863, for gallantry at Chancellorsville, Va. At the time of his death, he com. the 3d brigade of regulars.

Weed, THURLOW, journalist and politician, b. Cairo, N.Y., Nov. 15, 1797. At 10 he was a cabin-boy upon the Hudson River; at 12 he entered a printing office at Catskill; was employed in several different newspaper-offices; was a vol. on the northern frontier in the war of 1812; established a newspaper in his own name on coming of age; edited the Lati-Massac Enquirer in 1826-7; and was twice elected to the Assembly. His tact as a party manager, and his services in 1827-30 in securing the election of De Witt Clinton as gov., led to his selection as a competent person to oppose to the "Albany Regency," a body who had the management of the Democ. party in N.Y. In 1830 he accordingly removed to Albany, and assumed the editorship of the Albany Evening Journal. Although a leader, first of the Whig, and afterward of the Republican party, he declined all political office. He was prominent in procuring the nominations of Harrison in 1836 and 1840, of Gen. Taylor in 1843, and of Gen. Scott in 1852. He warmly advocated the election of Fremont in 1856, and of Lincoln in 1860, although he had advocated the nomination of Mr. Seward. He visited Europe in Nov. 1861 in a semi-diplomatic capacity; returned home in June, 1862, and shortly afterward withdrew from the Journal. He published "Letters from Europe and the West Indies," 8vo, 1866; Reminiscences, in the Atlantic Monthly, 1870; and has contributed to periodicals.

Weedon, GEN. GEORGE, Revol. officer, was an innkeeper and postmaster of Fredericksburg, Va., and an active and zealous politician before the war. Made lieut.-col. 3d Va. Regt. Feb. 13, col. 1st Regt. 12 Aug., 1776; and 24 Feb., 1777, brig.-gen. He was in the battles of Brandywine and Germantown, but, in consequence of some dissatisfaction about rank, left the service while the army was at Valley Forge. At Brandywine he commanded the brigade in Greene's division which rendered such valuable service by stopping the British pursuit, and saving the routed army. He resumed the com. of a brigade in 1780, and com. the Va. militia at Gloucester during the siege of Yorktown in Oct. 1781.

Weeks, JOHN M., b. Litchfield, Ct., 22 May, 1788; d. Salisbury, Vt., 1 Sept. 1858. Author of "Manual on Bees," 1854; "History of Salisbury, Vt.," with Memoir of the author, 1860. Inventor of the Vt. Beehive (1836); a contrib. to agric. journals; and left in MS. a History of the Five Nations.

Weems, MASON L., an eccentric clergyman and author, b. Dumfries, Va.; d. Beaufort, S.C., May 23, 1825. He studied theology Poetical Quotations," 1851; "Star of Bethlehem," 1852, &c. — Illustrator.

Weld, ISAAC, son of Isaac of Dublin, b. there 1774; d. 1836. In his youth he traveled extensively in America and Europe; was 56 years connected with the Royal Dublin Society, of which he was long sec. and vice-pres. Author of "Travels through North America, 1793-7." Lond., 4to, 1799; "Illustrations of the Scenery of Kildarney," &c., 1807. — Illustrator.

Welde, THOMAS, first minister of Roxbury, Ms.; d. Eng. 23 Mar. 1661. Camb. U., Eng., 1613-18. He was a minister in Terling, Essex, before coming to America. Arriving in Boston, June 5, 1632, in July he took the pastoral care of the church in Roxbury. In 1639 he assisted Mather and Elio in making "The Tuneful New-England Version of the Psalms." Sent in 1644 with Hugh Peters to Eng. as an agent for the province, he never returned. He settled at Gateshead, but was ejected in 1662. Author of "An Answer to W. R.'s Narration of the Opinions and Practices of the N.E. Churches," 1644. He repub. with a preface, and an address to the reader, an anonymous work, changing its title to "A Short Story of the Rise, Reign, and Ruin of the Antinomians, Familists, and Libertines that infected the Churches of N.E.," 4to, 1644. His son THOMAS, minister of Dunstable, d. 1702, a. 50.

Weller, JONAS B., Democ. politician, b. Ohio. M.C. in 1839-45; was lieut.-col. of Morgan's O. regt. (June 22, 1846), which he com. on the fall of the col. in battle of Monterey; was the first U.S. commiss. to Mexico under the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo; and, having taken up his residence in Cal., was U.S. senator in 1851-7; gov. of 1858-60; app. minister to Mexico, Dec. 1860; delegate to the Chicago Convention in 1864.

Welles, GIDEON, sec. U.S.N. 1861-9, b. Glensbury, Ct., July 1, 1802. Descended from Thomas, the first treasurer, and afterward gov. of Ct. He studied at the Episc. Acad. in Cheshire and at the Norwich U. Studied law under Judges Williams and Ellsworth; and in 1826 became editor and a proprietor of the Hartford Times, a Democ. paper. He advocated the election of Jackson to the presidency; was a member of the legisl. in 1827-35; was then app. comptroller of public accounts; was postmaster of Hartford 1836-41; was State comptroller in 1842; and in 1846-9 was chief of one of the bureaus of the navy dept. He gave up the management of the Times in 1837. He opposed the introduction of slavery into new territory, and became identified with the Repub. party on its organization in 1855, and was chairman of the Ct. delegation at the Chicago Conv. in 1860. For nearly 30 years he was a frequent contrib. to the Globe and Union, Washington, Fremont Post, N.Y., and, since 1856, to the Hartford Press.

Welling, JAMES C., LL.D., pres. of Columbia Coll., D.C. (inducted 6 Nov. 1871), b. Trenton, N.J., 14 July, 1825. N.J. Coll. 1844. Removing to N.Y. City in 1848, he became correspondent and lit. editor of the Not. Intelligencer of Washington, D.C.; was assoc. ed. in 1855-Jan. 1865; and was its principal conductor during the civil war. In 1866 he visited Europe for his health. Pres. of St. John's Coll., Annapolis, Md., Sept. 1867-70; and was prof. of belles-lettres in N.J. Coll. in 1870-1. Dr. W. has contrib. to the N. A. Review and other literary periodicals, and is said to be now engaged on the "Life and Times" of the late President Buchanan.

Wells, DAVID AMES, b. Springfield, Ms., June, 1828. Wms. Coll. 1847; Camb. Scient. School, 1851. Assist. prof. Camb. Scientific School 1851-2; engaged in practical chemistry in Boston with Dr. A. A. Hayes in 1853-5; patented in 1856 several improvements in bleaching; in 1857-8 was a member of the publishing firm of G. P. Putnam & Co.; visited Europe in 1862 and again in 1867 on a mission by the U.S. gov.; special U.S. commiss. revenue 1866-70. Co-editor of "History of Williams Coll.," 1847; editor of "Things not Generally Known," &c.; "Annual of Scientific Discovery," 1850-65; author of "Report on the Soils of the Scioto Valley," 1851; "On Flax," 1854; "Year-Book of Agriculture," 1856; "Familiar Science," 1856; "Science of Common Things," 1857; "Elements of Nat. Philos.," 1857; "Principles of Chemistry," 1: 58; "Principles of Geology," 1861; "Our Burden and Our Strength," 1864. Contrib. to many scientific periodicals.

Wells, HORACE, dentist, one of the claimants of the discovery of anaesthesia, b. Hartford, Vt., Jan. 21, 1815; d. N.Y. City, Jan. 24, 1848. After an acad. education, he began the study of dentistry in Boston in 1834, but removed to Hartford in 1836. As early as 1840 he experimented upon the possibility of preventing pain in dental operations by various narcotics. In 1844 he used nitrous-oxide gas successfully for the extraction of teeth, and in Dec. 1844 addressed the medical class of Dr. Warren in Boston on the subject. After the application of Drs. Jackson and Morton for a patent, in Sept. 1846, Dr. Wells sailed for France, and succeeded in convincing the Medical Society of Paris that he had made a valuable discovery, as is shown by resolutions adopted by them after a 3-days' discussion. He returned in the spring of 1847, and in March pub. a history of his discovery. The controversy which ensued impaired his already enfeebled health, and produced mental aberration, under the influence of which he committed suicide. The evidence of his claim was placed before Congress in 1853 by Hon. Truman Smith, and was subsequently pub. under the title of "An Examination of the Question of Anaesthesia," N.Y., 1860. — See also art. "Boston, H. T. G."

Wells, SAMUEL, gov. 1856-7, and some years judge Sup. Court. of Me., b. N.H. about 1805. d. Boston, 15 July, 1868.

Wells, WILLIAM CHARLES, M.D. (U. of Edinb. 1780), F.R.S. (1793), naturalist, b. Charleston, S.C., May, 1757; d. Sept. 18, 1817. Son of Robert, bookseller of Charleston, pub. of the Gazette, and a loyalist, who pub. a travesty of Virgil; d. Lond. 1794, a. 66. After completing his studies abroad, he returned to Charleston early in 1781, and, while there, acted at the same time as a printer, a bookseller, and a merchant. In Dec. 1782, on his arrival with the king's troops at St. Augustine, E. Fla., he edited the first weekly newspaper that had appeared in that province, and also became capt. of loyalist vols.; in 1784 he settled in Lond., and in 1788 was adm. a licentiate of the Coll. of Physicians; in 1790 he was elected physician to the Finsbury Dispensary; in 1795 assist. physician to, and in 1800 one of the physicians of, St. Thomas's Hospital. His celebrated essay on Dew app. in Aug. 1814, and established his philos. reputation. In the same year he was adm. a member of the Royal Soc. of Edinb.; and in 1816 was presented by the Royal Soc. of London with the gold and silver Rumford medals. He also pub. in 1792 an essay upon Single Vision with Two Eyes, and in 1780-1 several small political pieces without his name, and an account of Henry Laurens, under the signature of "Marius," in the Public Advertiser. A vol. of his works, containing essays on Vision and Dew, was pub. in London in 1816.

Wells, WILLIAM HARVEY, b. Tolland, Ct., 1812. Some time principal State Norm. School, Westfield, Ms.; subseq. supt. public schools, Chicago. Author of "Grammar of the Eng. Lang.," 1846; "Elem. Eng. Grammar," 1848; "Graded Course of Instr.," 1862. Editor Ms. Teacher. Contrib. to educ. journals. — Vidua.

Wells, WILLIAM VINCENT, author, b. Boston, Jan. 2, 1826. Educated in the Boston schools; afterward in the merchant-service, and 4 times wrecked; and went in 1849 to California, where he built and com. the first steamboat seen there. He pub. "Walker's Expedition to Nicaragua," 1856; "Explorations and Adventures in Honduras," 1857; and "Life of Samuel Adams" (his ancestor), 3 vols. 8vo, 1865, with his letters, writings, and State papers. Mr. Wells has owned and edited several newspapers in San Francisco. Contrib. to Harper's Mag. and Weekly; and corresp. from abroad with various journals. Late consul-gen. at Honduras. — Duplex.

Wemyss, FRANCIS COURTNEY, actor and manager, b. London, May 13, 1797; d. New York, Jan. 5, 1859. He app. at the Adelphi, London, Apr. 2, 1821; and made his debut at the Christ-st., Phila., Dec. 11, 1822, as Vapid in "The Dramatist." Author of "Chronology of the Amer. Stage," 12mo, 1852; "26 Years of the Life of an Actor and Manager," 2 vols. 1847. He edited the "Minor Drama," 7 vols. 12mo.

Wendell, JOHN L., reporter N.Y. Sup. Court, b. 1784; d. Hartford, Ct., 13 Dec. 1861. Author of the Law Reports of N.Y., 1828-41, 26 vols.; "Digest Sup. Court Reports 1828-35," 8vo, 1836.

Wentworth, BENNING, gov. of N. H. (1734-67), oldest son of Lieut.-Gov. John of Dover, b. Portsmouth, N.H., July 24, 1696; d. there Oct. 14, 1770. H.U. 1715. He was a merchant; frequently a representative in the Assembly; and was app. a councillor, Oct. 12, 1734. In 1749 he commenced making grants of land on the W. side of the Ct. River, in what is now Southern Vt. This domain was claimed by N.Y., occasioning the collision, so famous in the history of Vt., respecting the "New-Hampshire Grants." The town of Bennington, Vt., was named in his honor. He gave to Dartm. Coll. 500 acres of land, on which its buildings were erected.

Wentworth, COL. JOHN, jurist, b. Dover, N.H., 30 Mar. 1719; d. 17 May, 1781. Great-grandson of Wm. of Dover. Member legisl. 1768-75, and speaker in 1771; chairman of the Revol. com. of corresp., and pres. of the first conv. held in 1774; State councillor 1776-81; judge of C.C.P. for Strafford Co. 1773-6; and judge Sup. Court 1776-81. His son JOHN, Jun. (b. 17 July, 1745, d. Dover, 10 Jan. 1787, H. U. 1768), was an active Revol. patriot; member legisl. 1776-80; member com. of safety; deleg. to the Cont. Congress 1778-9, and a signer of the Art. of Confed.; councillor 1780-4, and senator 1784-7.

Wentworth, SIR JOHN, LL.D. (Oxon. 1766), gov. N.H. 1766-75, bart. 1795, b. Portsmouth, N.H., 9 Aug. 1737; d. Halifax, N.S., 8 Apr. 1820. H.U. 1755. Son of Mark Hunking, councillor of N.H., who d. 27 Dec. 1785, and nephew of Gov. Benning. Sent in 1765 to Eng. as agent of the Province, he attracted the favorable notice of the Marquis of Rockingham, who procured him his app. of gov.; also that of surveyor of the king's woods in Amer., worth £700 per annum. At the outbreak of the Revol. in 1775, he went to Eng. Lieut.-gov. of Nova Scotia 14 May, 1792-1808. He gave its charter to Dartm. Coll., encouraged the agric. and promoted the settlement of N.H., and possessed talents of a high order. In 1769 he m. his cousin Mrs. Atkinson. Their son, Sir CHARLES MARY, d. April, 1844.

Wentworth, JOHN, LL.D. (Dartm. Coll. 1867), journalist and politician, grand-son of John, jun., b. Sandwich, N.H., March 5, 1815. Dartm. Coll. 1836. Removed to Ill. in Oct. 1836, and edited the Chicago Democrat till July, 1851. In 1841 he studied law at Camb. Law School; was adm. to the bar in 1841; and was M.C. in 1843-51, 1853-5, and 1865-7. He was an adherent of the D. moe party and of Mr. Douglas until the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and afterward Republican. Mayor of Chicago in 1857, and took a leading part in the Const. Conv. of 1861. Author of a "History of the Family of Wentworth," 2 vols. 8vo, 1870.

Wentworth, WILLIAM, an early colonist of N.H., progenitor of all of the name in the U.S., b. Eng. ab. 1610; d. Dover, N.H., Mar. 16, 1697. He was a follower of Rev. John Wheelwright, and, with that clergyman and 33 others, signed, Aug. 4, 1639, "A combination for a gov. at Exeter, N.H." He removed to Wells, Me., and from thence to Dover, where he was a riding elder in the church, preaching often, and regularly supplying the pulpit at Exeter as late as 1693. In 1689 he was instrumental in saving Heard's garrison from the Indians.

Werden, REED, commo. U.S.N., b. Pa. Feb. 28, 1817. Phila. Naval School, 1840. Mid-shipm. Jan. 9, 1834; lieut. Feb. 27, 1847; com. July 16, 1862; capt. July 25, 1866; commo. 1871. Com. a party of seamen at the capture of Tuspan, Mex., 1847; com. steamer "Stars and Stripes" at capture of Roanoke Island and Newbern; fleet-capt. E. Gulf block. squadron, 1864-5; com. "Powhatan," and

O. Orl. in the Prot-Epis. Church 1863; rector of St. Paul's, Brookline, Ms., and prof. in Camb. (Epis.) Theol. School. He has pub. "Treatise on the Criminal Law of the U.S.," 6th ed., 3 vols. 8vo, 1868; "Treatise on Convoynement," 8vo, 1851; "Law Dictionary," 2d ed., 1860; "State Trials of the U.S. during the Administrations of Washington and Adams," 1849; "A Treatise on the Law of Homicide in the U.S.," 1855; with Morton Stille, "A Treatise on Medical Jurisp.," 1855; a "Treatise on Theism and Scepticism," 1858; "Precedents of Indictments and Pleas," 8vo, 1849; "The Silence of Scripture," a series of lectures, 1867; co-editor Epis. Recorder. He is a contributor to many periodicals.

Wharton, THOMAS L. lawyer, b. Phila. 1791; d. there 9 Apr. 1856. Many years an eminent member of the Phila. bar, also reporter Pa. Sup. Court. Author of "Digest of U.S. Circ. Court Reports, 3d Dist.," 2 vols. 8vo; "Digested Index of Reports of the Southern and Western States," 8vo, 1824; "Discourse on the Landing of Wm. Penn.," 8vo, 1824; "Reports Pa. Sup. Court, 1835-41," 6 vols. 8vo; "Memoir of Wm. Rawle, LL.D.," (Hist. Soc. Pa. Mem., vol. iv.), &c. — Volunt.

Wheatland, HENRY, M.D. (H.U. 1837.) b. Salem, Ms., 11 Jan'y., 1812. H.U. 1832. Son of Capt. Richard and Martha Goodhue. Has never practised medicine, but has given much attention to historical and scientific investigations. An original member of the Am. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science; a founder of the Essex-Co. Nat.-Hist. Soc., and of the Essex Institute, of which he was president, and also vice-president of the Peabody Academy of Science. Member, also, of many other literary and scientific bodies.

Wheatley, PHILLIS, a negro poetess, b. Africa abt. 1753; d. Boston, Dec. 5, 1784. She was brought from Africa in 1761 between seven and eight years of age, and acquired in the family of John Wheatley of Boston, within 16 months after her arrival, the English language to such a degree as to read the most difficult parts of Scripture, and learned to write in a short time. She began very early to write verse, and evinced poetic ability in some poems written at the age of 14. Her "Poems" were pub. in London in 1773 with a copper-plate portrait, and dedicated to the Countess of Huntington June 12, 1773 (when about to visit London with a member of her master's family). They possess much merit, and have been several times reprinted. After her return from Eng., she m. a colored man, Dr. John Peters, who fell into poverty during the Revolution. The most important of her occasional uncollected verses are the lines to Gen. Washington in 1775, which were acknowledged by him in a letter dated Feb. 2, 1776, and appeared with the letter in the Pennsylvania Mag. for April, 1776. She wrote elegiac verses on George Whitefield and on Dr. Samuel Cooper. Her letters were privately printed 8vo, 1864. — See Proc. Ms. Hist. Soc., Nov. 1863.

Wheaton, GEN. FRANK, b. Providence, R.I. 8 May, 1833. Son of Dr. Francis L. and Amelia S. Civil engr., and engaged in Cal. and in Mexican boundary surveys in 1850-5; 1st lieu. U. S. Cav. Mar. 3, 1855; engaged with Cheyenne Indians near Fort Kearney, capt. 1st Cav. Mar. 1, 1861; lieu.-col. 2d R.I. Vols. at first Bull Run; col. July, 1861; engaged in the Peninsular campaign, second Bull Run, Antietam, and Fredericksburg; brig.-gen. U. S. Vols. Nov. 29, 1862; com. brigade at Gettysburg, Rappahannock Station, Mine Run, defence of Harper's Ferry, battles of the Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor, Petersburg, Weldon R.R., Reams's Station, and Opequan; maj. 2d Cav. Nov. 1863; com. division 6th corps at Fisher's Hill, Cedar Creek, Hatcher's Run, Armstrong's Mills, capture of Petersburg, battle of Sailor's Creek, and surrender of Lee; brev. maj.-gen. vols. for Opequan, Fisher's Hill, and Middleton, Va.; brev. lieu.-col. U.S.A. for the Wilderness; col. for Cedar Creek; brig.-gen. for capture of Petersburg, and maj.-gen. for gallant and merit services during the war; lieu.-col. 39th U.S. Inf. July 28, 1866; transf. to 21st Inf. 15 Mar. 1869; and presented with a sword by his native State.

Wheaton, HENRY, LL.D. (B.U. 1819.) H.U. 1845. Jurist and diplomatist, b. Providence, R.I., Nov. 27, 1785; d. Dorchester, Ms., March 11, 1848. Brown U. 1802. He studied law; went to France in 1804; spent a year and a half at the law schools at Poitiers, and 6 months in London; began practice in Providence on his return; but in 1812 removed to New York. He there edited the National Advocate, and in it discussed the vexed question of violated neutral rights. He was during the same period, for a short time, one of the justices of the marine court. In 1816-27 he was reporter for the U. S. Sup. Court, publishing 12 vols. of its decisions; a prominent member of the N. Y. Const. Conv. of 1821; in 1825 he was one of the commiss. to revise the statute law of N. Y.; in 1827-35 he was chargé d'affaires to Denmark, being the first U.S. diplomatic agent sent to that country; resident minister at Berlin in 1835-7, and in 1837-46 minister-plenipo. He returned to the U.S. in 1847, and was complimented with public dinners in New York and Phila., and with the chair of prof. of international law in H.U., the duties of which he was prevented from assuming by death. In 1843 he became a corresp. member of the French Institute, and in 1844 a foreign member of the Roy. Acad. of Science of Berlin. His publications were "A Digest U. S. Sup.-Court Decisions 1789-1829," 8vo; "A Digest of the Law of Maritime Prizes," 1815; "An Essay on the Means of maintaining the Commercial and Naval Interests of the U.S.;" "Life of Wm. Pinkney," 1826; and subsequently an abridgment for Sparks's "Amer. Biog.;" "History of the Northmen," 1831, translated into French, and pub. in Paris in 1844 with notes and additions by Mr. Wheaton; "History of Scandinavia," the joint production of Mr. Wheaton and Dr. Crichton (a sequel to "The History of the Northmen"), 1838; "Elements of International Law," 1836, — the 8th ed. (1866) has the notes of R. H. Dana, jun. (this work is regarded throughout Europe as a standard authority); "An Inquiry into the British Claim of a Right of Search of American Vessels," 1842. In 1841 he wrote a prize essay for the French Institute, of which the English translation, entitled "History of the Law of Nations in Europe and America from the Earliest Times to the Treaty of Washington," appeared in N.Y. in 1845, and, greatly enlarged, in Leipsic and Paris in 1846. As a reporter he was unrivalled. He was a constant contributor to the American Quarterly, the N. A. Review, and other periodicals; delivered several addresses before the literary societies of N.Y.; the anniv. address before the Hist. Soc. in 1820; and an "Essay on the Progress and Prospects of Germany" before the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Brown U., Sept. 1, 1847. A vol. of selections from the writings of his son ROBERT (b. N.Y. Oct. 5, 1826, d. Oct. 9, 1851) appeared in 1854, with a Memoir by his sister.

Wheaton, NATHANIEL SHIELDON, D.D., (Y.C. 1833), b. Washington, Ct., Aug. 20, 1792; d. near March 18, 1862. Y.C. 1814. In 1818-31 he was rector of Christ Church, Hartford; was pres. of Trin. Coll. till 1837, when he became rector of Christ Church, New Orleans, where he continued 7 years. In 1823-4 he visited Europe, and in 1839 pub. "Journal of a Residence in London, and of Tours in England, Scotland, and France;" and in 1844 went abroad again. He was an efficient founder of Trinity College, for the endowment of which he raised $40,000, and bequeathed to it $20,000 more. He also pub. an expository vol. and occasional discourses.

Whedon, DANIEL DENISON, D.D. (Em. Coll.), LL.D. (Wesl. U. 1867), of the M.E. Church, b. Onondaga, N.Y., 1808. Ham. Coll. 1828; tutor there 1832-48. Prof. ancient language and lit. Wesl. U. 1845-53; prof. rhet., logic, and hist., U. of Mich. Author of "Public Addresses," 12mo, 1852; "Commentary on Matthew and Mark," 1860; "Freedom of the Will," 1854; "Commentary on the Gospels," 2 vols. 1866; Single Sermons and Addresses. Ed. Mich. Quart. Rev., and the books of the M. E. Pub. House.

Wheeler, CHARLES STEVENS, scholar, b. Lincoln, Dec. 19, 1816; d. Leipsic, Germany, June 13, 1843. H.U. 1837. He was an instructor at H.U. in 1838-42, and pub. an edition of "Herodotus," 2 vols., 8vo, 1843, the notes to which displayed much learning.

Wheeler, JOHN, D.D. (U. C. 1834), pres. of the U. of Vt. 1833-49, b. Gratton, Vt., Mar. 11, 1798; d. Burlington, Vt., April 16, 1862. Dartm. Coll. 1816; Andover, 1819. In 1804 his parents removed to Orford, N.H. Licensed by the Haverhill Assoc. Aug. 4, 1819. Ord. pastor Cong. Church, Windsor, Vt., Nov. 1, 1821. He pub. discourses on the death of Pres. Harrison, John Smith, James Marsh, and an hist. discourse at the Semi-Cent. Anniv. of the U. of Vt., Aug. 1, 1854.

Wheeler, CAPT. THOMAS of Concord, Ms., 1642, b. Eng.; d. 16 Dec. 1686. He served and was wounded in Philip's war. His narrative of his expedition to the Nipissing country in 1675 is in the N. H. Hist. "Collections."

Wheeler, WILLIAM ADOLPHUS, author, b. Leicester, Ms., 14 Nov. 1843. Bowd. Coll. 1853. He was many years engaged upon the Dictionaries of Worcester and Webster, and in 1867 became assist. supt. of the Boston Public Library. Author of "Dictionary of Noted Names of Fiction," 1865.

Wheelock, ELIZABER, D. D. (Edinb. 1767), clergyman, founder and first pres. of Dartm. Coll., b. Windham, Ct., Apr. 22, 1741; d. Hanover, N.H., April 24, 1779. Y.C. 1773. Descended from Ralph of Shropshire (educated at Cambridge, and an eminent preacher), who came to this country in 1637; settled first at Dedham, and then at Medfield, where he died in 1683, a. 83. Eleazar was ord. pastor of the 2d Cong. Church, Lebanon, Ct., in Mar. 1735, and remained 35 years. He opened a school in 1754; and the proficiency of one of his pupils, an Indian boy named Samson Occom, led to his establishing Moor's Indian Charity School, out of which grew eventually Dartm. Coll. For its enlargement, Rev. Mr. Whitaker of Norwich, and Samson Occom, were sent to Great Britain in 1766. The money they collected was put into the hands of a board of trustees in Eng., of which the Earl of Dartmouth was the head. A large tract of land being offered in N.H., he transplanted his school to Hanover, and there found a college, which was chartered in 1769. He removed thither in Aug. 1770. Braudt was one of his pupils. He pub. a narrative of the Indian school at Lebanon, 1762, and several continuations of it up to 1775, together with an abstract of a mission to the Del. Indians west of the Ohio by McClure and Frisbie, and some sermons. His Memoir, with extracts from his Correspond. by McClure and Parish, was pub. 1811.

Wheelock, JOHN, A.M. (Dartm. 1789), LL.D., second pres. of Dartm. Coll., b. Lebanon, Ct., Jan. 28, 1754; d. April 4, 1817. Dartm. Coll. 1771. Tutor 1772-84. He entered Yale in 1767; but, on the removal of his father to Hanover, grad. there with the first class. Member of the Prov. Congress in 1774, of the Assembly in 1775; was app. a major in the N. York forces in the spring of 1775, and in Nov. was a lieut.-col. under Col. Boddell; in 1778 Gen. Stark sent him on an expedition against the Indians; after which he held a position on Gen. Gates's staff until recalled to Hanover by the death of his father, and at the age of 25 became his successor as pres. of the college. In 1783 the trustees sent him to Europe to procure aid for the institution. On his return he was shipwrecked off Cape Cod, and lost the box containing his money and papers. Removed in 1815 in consequence of an eccles. controversy among the trustees, a legislative act was passed, enlarging the board, and changing the title of the college. The celebrated "Dartmouth College Case," in which Webster gained great reputation, was the result, and the constitutionality of the act was declared. A new board of trustees restored him to office in 1817; but he died a few weeks later. He bequeathed half his large estate to Prince George's Sch. He pub. "Sketches of the History of Dartmouth College," 1816; "Eulogy on Dr. Smith," 1800; "Essay on the Beauties and Excels of Painting, Music, and Poetry," 4to, 1774.

Wheelwright, JOHN, clergyman, b. Lincolnshire, Eng., abt. 1592; d. Salisbury, Ms., Nov. 15, 1679. B.A. (Camb. U.) 1614. Son of Robert of Saleby. He was a classmate of Cromwell; and in 1623-31 was vicar of Bilsby, near Alford; but, being driven in 1636 from his church by Archbishop Laud for nonconformity, he came to Boston, where he was chosen pastor of a church in what is now Braintree. His sympathy with the religious opinions of his relative Anne Hutchinson led to animosities between him and Mr. Wilton, pastor of the Boston church, and to his banishment from the Colony. In 1638 he founded Exeter on a branch of the Piscataqua. After residing there 5 years, the town being declared within the limits of Ms., he removed with part of his church to Wells, Me. In 1644 a reconciliation took place between him and the colonial govt. of Ms., in consequence of some acknowledgments on his part; and he returned to Ms. in 1646. He was settled at Hampton 8 years. In 1654 he pub. his "Vindication." About 1657 he went to Eng., where he was well received by Cromwell, but returned in 1660, and became pastor of Salisbury, May 9, 1662. The genuineness of the Indian deed to him, dated 1629, has been the subject of much controversy. Author of "Meccurus Americus," &c., London, 4to, 1645.—See Genl. Regs., Oct. 1867; Sprague.

Whelpley, SAMUEL, minister and author, b. Stockbridge, Ms., 1766; d. N. York, July 14, 1817. Ord. a Baptist preacher 21 June, 1792, and a Presbyterian preacher 8 Oct. 1806; officiating at W. Stockbridge, Ms., and at Green River, N. J. In 1798-1809 he resided at Morristown, N. J., where he had charge of an academy; in 1814 he returned to New York, where he taught a very popular school. Author of the essays entitled "The Triangle," pub. N.Y. 1816, in defence of the N. Eng. doctrines; "Letters on Capital Punishment and War," addressed to Gov. Strong, 1816; "A Compend. of Ancient and Modern History," 1814, and again in 1826. His son PHILIP MLLAVERTON, a Presb. clergyman of N.Y. (b. Stockbridge, Ms., 22 Dec. 1792, d. 17 July, 1824), was the author of some occass. sermons.

Whipple, ABRAHAM, commodore Revol. navy, b. Providence, R.I., Sept. 26, 1733; d. Marietta, O., May 26, 1819. He com. a merchant-vessel in the W. India trade; but, towards the close of the French war in 1759-60, he was capt. of the privateer "Game Cock," capturing in a single cruise 23 French prizes. In June, 1772, he com. the vol. crew which captured and burned the British revenue schooner "Gaspé" in Narraganset Bay. In June, 1775, two armed vessels were fitted out by R.I., of which Whipple was put in com. with the title of commodore; off Newport he made prize of one of the tenders of the British frigate "Rose." App. capt. of "The Columbus," Dec. 22, 1775; he afterward com. the schooner "Providence," which, though finally destroyed by the British, is said to have taken more prizes than any other vessel. Her memory was preserved by the frigate "Providence," the com. of which was given to him; and her escape from the blockade of the river and bay was one of the most chivalrous feats of the Revolution. Subsequently, till the termination of his career in the contest, he com. a squadron; and on one occasion the prize money from his captures amounted to $1,000,000. In 1780, when endeavoring to save Charleston from the enemy, he lost his squadron, and was held a prisoner during the remainder of the war. He resided on a farm in Cranston, near Providence, until the formation of the Ohio Company in 1788, when he removed his family to Marietta.

Whipple, GEN. AMIEL W., b. Greenwich, Ms., 1817; d. Washington, D. C., May 7, 1863. West Point, 1841. 2d lieut. 1st Art., and transferred to the topog. engrs.; in 1844 assist. astronomer to the N.E. boundary survey; in 1845 employed in ascertaining the northern boundaries of N. Y., Vt., and N. H.; in 1849 assist. astron. on the Mexican boundary commiss., his journal of which was pub. by order of Congress; 1st lieut. 1851; capt. of topog. engrs. 1 July, 1855. Early in 1861 he was made chief engr. on the staff of Gen. McDowell; was at the first battle of Bull Run; maj. of engrs. Sept. 9, 1861; attached to McClellan's staff in April, 1862; brig.-gen. of vols. 14 Apr. 1862; com. a division in the 9th army corps; and at the time of his death (from wounds at Chancellorsville) com. the 3d div. 3d corps. Brev. lieut.-col. for Manassas; col. for Fredericksburg; brig.-gen. for Chancellorsville; maj.-gen. 7 May, 1863; maj.-gen. vols. 6 May, 1863.—Callan.

Whipple, EDWIN PERCY, e-sayist, b. Gloucester, Ms., March 8, 1819. His father Matthew dying when he was an infant, his early character was formed by his mother, Lydia Gardiner, a woman of strong mental power. Educated at the public schools of Salem. At the age of 14 he was a contrib. to a Salem newspaper. He was subsequently employed in a broker's office in Boston; and became a member of the Mere. Lib. Assoc., and was soon a leader in debate and composition; and, shortly after the erection of the Merchants' Exchange, he became supt. of the news-room, which in 1860 he gave up for the exclusive pursuit of literature. He deliv. a poem before the Mere. Lib. A.-soc. Sept. 29, 1840, which was full of playful humor and satirical hits. His "Essay on Macaulay," in 1843, increased his fame, and drew from the brilliant historian and essayist a letter expressive of high regard. He has contrib. to the N. A. Review, Christian Examiner, and other periodicals. Many of these articles appear in his vols. of Lectures and Essays. He has delivered lectures of striking merit for the literary societies of Brown, Dartmouth, and Amherst, besides those delivered at the lyceums of the cities and towns of the Middle and Northern States. In 1850 he was the Fourth-of-July orator for Boston, on "Washington and the Principles of the American Revolution." In the spring of 1859 he delivered a course of 12 lectures before the Lowell Institute, Boston, on "The Literature of the Age of Elizabeth," pub. in 1869. A new vol. of essays, "Success and its Conditions," app. in 1871; also a new edition of his works in 6 vols.

Whipple, GEN. WILLIAM, a signer of the Decl. of Independence, b. Kittery, Me., Jan. 14, 1730; d. Nov. 23, 1785. After receiving a public-school education, he went to sea, and was several years com. of a vessel in the West-India trade, and acquired a considerable for-ture. Member of the prov. Congress of 1775, and of the com. of safety; member of Congress 1776-Sept. 1777, when, the N. H. Assembly having assigned him to the com. of a brigade organized to oppose the progress of Burgoyne, he joined Gates's army, and at the battle of Saratoga com. the N. H. troops; and in 1778 he took part in Gen. Sullivan's exped. to R. I. A member in Congress in 1778-9; member of the Assembly in 1780-4, and of the exec. council; and in 1782-4 surt. of finance, and receiver of public moneys for N. H. App. judge of the N. H. Superior Court in 1782.

Whipple, WILLIAM D., brev. major-gen. U. S. A., b. N. Y., ab. 1790. West Point, 1811. Entering the 3d Inf., he became 1st lieut. 31 Dec. 1856; served against the Apaches and Navajos in N. Mexico in 1857-8; as 1st. adj.-gen. of Hamer's div. at battle of Bull Run; capt. and assist. adj.-gen. 3 Aug. 1861; major 17 July, 1862; brig.-gen. vols. 17 July, 1863; assist. adj.-gen. of Army and Dept. of the Cumberland, Dec. 1863 to Jan. 1865; in operations about Chattanooga, and engaged at Mission Ridge 23-25 Nov. 1863; in invasion of Ga. and in the engagements ending with the capture of Atlanta, Sept. 1864; engaged in the battle of Nashville, and pursuit of Hood, Dec. 1864; brev. col. brig. and maj. gen., 19 March, 1865, for Atlanta campaign, battles before Nashville, and for gallant and meritorious services during the Rebellion. — See ante.

Whistler, GEORGE W., engineer, b. Fort Wayne, Ind., 19 May, 1800; d. St. Petersburg, 7 Apr. 1849. West Point, 1819. Employed in 1822-8 on the Northern Boundary commiss.; resigned from the U. S. engr. corps in 1833. He engaged in constructing the Baltimore and Ohio and the Susquehanna and Western Rail roads, and in 1842 became chief engr. of the Petersburg and Moscow Railroad. Not only was the road to be built, but the iron for the tracks, the locomotives, cars, and every thing app. pertaining to the roads, were to be made under his supervision. He has also been employed to construct extensive dock-yards at St. Petersburg, and to improve the Russian harbors and rivers. His son GEORGE W., also a skilled railway engr., d. Brighton, Eng., 24 Dec. 1859.

Whistler, COL. WILLIAM, b. Md.; d. Cincinnati, Dec. 1, 1863. App. lieut. of inf. June 8, 1801; disting. in battle of Magnago, Aug. 9, 1812; capt. Dec. 1812; maj. 2d Inf. April 23, 1815; lieut.-col. 7th Inf. July 21, 1814; col. 4th Inf. July 15, 1815; retired Oct. 9, 1831. Secy of M. J. John (a Royal, or officer who d. 1827), brother of Gen. W. Whistler.

Whitaker, ALEXANDER, author of "Good News from Virginia," 1613. Was son of Rev. Dr. W., master of St. John's Coll., Cambridge; a graduate of Camb., and had been served in the north of Eng., where he was held in great esteem. Animated by a missionary spirit, he came to Va. while young, and was one of the settlers of Henrico, on James River, in 1611. A church was built, and the minister "appointed" a fine parsonage with 100 acres of land, covering it Rock Hall. He married Pocahontas, and also married her to John Rolfe in A. D. 1613.

Whitcomb, JAMES, gov. of Ind. 1843-5,

b. Stockbridge, Vt., Dec. 1, 1791; d. N. York, Oct. 4, 1852. Transylv. U. June 1, 1824, he established himself in the practice of law at Bloomington, Ind.; in 1826 was app. pros. atty. for the dist.; was a State senator in 1830-5, and a leader of the Democ. party; in 1836 he was app. sept. of the land-office; resumed practice at Terre Haute in 1841; and in 1848 was returned to the U. S. senate.

Whitecomb, GILES JONES, b. Lancaster, Ms.; d. 1812. He was a col. in the exped. against Crown Point in 1755; led a regt. to Boston in 1775; was app. by the Prov. Congress a brig.-gen., and 13 June, 1775, major-gen.; was made a brig.-gen. on the Cont. establishment, 5 June, 1776, but soon left the service on account of advanced age.

White, ANDREW DICKSON LL.D. (U. of Mich. 1867), educator, b. N. Eng. parentage, Cortland Co., N. Y., 1812. Y. C. 1833. Removed in 1839 to Syracuse, N. Y. On leaving college, where he was an editor of the Yale Lib. Mag., he visited France; was for 7 months an attaché at St. Petersburg; then studied at the U. of Berlin; and the following year returned to Amer. Prof. of hist. and Eng. lit. in the U. of Mich. 5 years. Visiting London in 1863, he pub. "A Letter to Dr. Russell," replying to statements in the letters of the Times's corresp. State senator of N. Y. 1863-7, and introd. the bills which codified the school-laws, which created the new system of normal schools, and which incorp. the Cornell University, of which he became pres. in 1868, after a third visit to Europe, made at the request of its trustees to procure for it books and apparatus. App. in Jan. 1871 one of the commiss. to San Domingo, and aided in preparing its report; pres. Repts. State Conv. of N. Y. Oct. 1871. Besides contribs. to periodicals, reports, &c., he has pub. "Lectures on Medieval and Modern Hist.," 8vo, 1861, 4th ed. 1871; "Plan of Organiz. for Cornell U.," 1868; "The New Education," many address at U. 1868; and a memoir on the education of the sexes, 1871.

White, ALEXANDER, delegate to the Cont. Congress from N. C. in 1786-8, and M. C. in 1790-93; disting. for eloquence and patriotism; d. Woodville, Va., Sept. 1801, a. 66.

White, COL. ANTHONY WELLES, b. Va. 1781; d. Brunswick, N. J., 10 Feb. 1803. App. 9 Feb. 1776 lieut.-col. 3d N. J. Regt.; com. the cavalry after the defeat at Monk's Corner in Apr. 1780, and with most of the regt. was again surprised and captured at Lammont's Ferry 6 May, 1780. Col. 1st Light Dragoons; app. brig.-gen. provisional army 19 July, 1798.

White, CHARLES D.D., pres. of Watoush Coll., Crystalville, Ia. (1840-61) b. Randolph, Va., Dec. 28, 1795; d. Oct. 29, 1861. Disting. Col. 1821; And. Sem. 1823. He removed to Thetford, Vt., in 1808, was settled there in 1814-8; at Cazenovia, N. Y., 1824-41. His sermons and addresses were pub. in 1853.

White, LOWMAN D., gov. of La. in 1838-8, and M. C. in 1829-34 and 1839-43; d. New Orleans, Apr. 18, 1847.

White, HENRY LAWSON, jurist and statesman, b. Bedford Co., N. C., 30 Oct. 1773; d. near Knoxville, Tenn., 10 Apr. 1849. His father Gen. JAMES d. Knoxville, Penn., Aug.

1821, a. 72; he removed to Tenn. in 1786; M.C. 1792-4; brig.-gen. Tenn. vols. 23 Sept. 1813, and com. in a successful attack on the Creek Indians at Hillabee Town, 18 Nov. 1813. Hugh was a vol. soldier against the Indians in 1792; studied law in Phila. in 1794-6; began practice in Knoxville in 1796; app. U.S. dist. atty. in 1807; judge of the Sup. Court 1801-7 and 1809-15; State senator in 1807 and 1817; pres. of the State Bank of Tenn. 1815; app. a commiss. to adjust the claims of Spain against our citizens in 1820; U.S. senator 1825-35 and 1836-40, and pres. pro tem. of that body in 1832. In 1836 he received the electoral votes (26) of the States of Ga. and Tenn. for pres. of the U.S. — See Memoir by Nancy N. Scott, 8vo, Phila. 1856.

White, JOHN, a Puritan divine, and an efficient promoter of the settlement of Ms. Colony, and of Dorchester, Ms., b. Stanton, St. John, Oxfordshire, Eng., 1574; d. Dorchester, Eng., 1648. Made perpet. fellow of New Coll., Oxford, 1595; was a frequent preacher in Oxford; rector of Trinity Church, Dorchester, 1606; one of the assembly of divines 1613; rector of Lambeth 1645. Author of "The Planter's Plea, or the Grounds of Plantations Examined," &c., Lond. 4to, 1630; "Way to the Tree of Life," &c., 8vo, 1647; "Comment. on 3 first chap. of Genesis," 1656.

White, COL. JOHN, a Revol. officer, b. England; d. Va. ab. 1780. Of Irish parentage. He acquired a fortune as surgeon in the British navy, and settled in Phila. He entered the Revol. army as capt., and was soon promoted to col. 4th Ga. batt. During the siege of Savannah, he performed one of the most remarkable feats on record. With only 2 officers, a sergeant, and 3 men, by a successful stratagem he made prisoners of Capt. French and 114 British regulars, posted on the Ogeechee River, about 25 miles from Savannah; also the crews of 5 vessels (40 in number), and 130 stand of arms. He was severely wounded at the assault of Spring-hill redoubt, Oct. 9, 1779 (where Pulaski fell), and was obliged to retire from the army. — Hist. Mag., ii. 181.

White, JOHN, M.C. 1835-45; speaker 27th Congress, and judge 19th jud. dist.; b. 1805; shot himself in a fit of depression at Richmond, Ky., Sept. 22, 1845.

White, JOHN BLAKE, artist and author, of Charleston, S.C.; d. there Aug. 1859, a. 77. He commenced to study law, but in 1803 went to Eng., and became the pupil of West. Some months later, he resumed the study of law in Charleston. Member of the Literary and Philos. Society. He excelled as an hi. t. painter. Among his pictures are "Mrs. Motte presenting the Arrows," "Marion inviting the British Officer to Dinner," and "The Battles of New Orleans and Entaw" (placed in the State House). He wrote "Foscari," a play; "Mysteries of the Castle," a drama, 1807; "Modern Honor," a tragedy, 1812; "Triumph of Liberty, or Louisiana Preserved," a national drama, 1819. — Hist. Mag., iii. 321.

White, JOSEPH M., an eminent and eloquent lawyer; deleg. to Congress from Fla. Terr. 1823-37; b. Franklin Co., Ky.; d. St. Louis, Mo., 18 Oct. 1839. Author of "New Collection of Laws, Charters, &c., of G. Britain, France, and Spain, relating to the Concessions of Land," &c., 2 vols. 8vo, 1839.

White, PIERREGRINE, the first Englishman born in New Eng. Son of William and Susanna. Was born in "The Mayflower," in the harbor of Cape Cod, ab. Nov. 20, 1620; d. Marshfield, July 22, 1701. "He was vigorous and of a comely aspect," and bore civil and military offices.

White, PLINY HOLTON, clergyman and author, b. Springfield, Vt., 6 Oct. 1822; d. Coventry, Vt., 24 Apr. 1869. Adm. to the bar of Windham Co., Vt., in 1843, he practised law until 1853; and was editor of the Brattleborough Engle in 1851-2, and of the Express at Amherst, Ms., in 1857-8. Ord. minister of Coventry 15 Feb. 1859; in the Vt. legisl. in 1862-3; chaplain of the senate 1864-6; and was, at the time of his death, pres. of the Vt. Hist. Soc. A frequent contrib. to newspapers and magazines. He pub. a number of addresses and sermons, and a "Hist. of Coventry," 1858, 8vo.

White, RICHARD GRANT, philologist and scholar, b. N.Y. City, May 23, 1822. U. of N.Y. 1839. Son of Richard Mansfield White, merchant of N.Y. Studied medicine and law, and was adm. to the bar in 1845. He soon exchanged law for letters, and was connected with the N.Y. Courier and Empire in 1845-59, with a brief interval, — at first as critic of art and literature, but for the last 5 years as editor. In 1860, he, with Mr. J. R. Spalding, established the World newspaper, but withdrew from it in 1864. He is a frequent contrib. to the monthlies; wrote for Putnam's Monthly, on Collier's new readings in Shakespeare, 1853; and, beside other works, has pub. "Shakespeare's Scholar," in 1854; an edition of Shakespeare, 1857-9; "National Hymns," N.Y., 1861; "Appeal from the Sentence of the Bishop of N.Y.," 8vo, 1845; "Hand-Book of Christian Art," 1853; "Essay on the Authorship of King Henry the Sixth," 1859; "Poetry of the Civil War, Selected and Edit. d.," 1866; edited the "Record of the N.Y. Exhibition," and the "Book-Hunter," &c., with additional notes, 1863; was a co-founder of Yankee Land, 1846-7. Contrib. to Appleton's "New Amer. Cyclopaedia."

White, WILLIAM, D.D. (Phila. Coll. 17-3), first Pr.-Epis. bishop of Pa., b. Phila. Apr. 3, 1748; d. there July 17, 1836. Phila. Coll. 1755. Son of Col. Thomas, who emigr. from London to Md. He studied theology, and was adm. while in Eng. to priest's orders, in Apr. 1772. In Lond. he made the acquaintance of Johnson and Goldsmith. On his return to Phila. in Sept. he was settled as an assistant minister of Christ Church and St. Peter's, and 15 Apr. 1779 was chosen rector of these churches. During the Revol. war he was a friend of Washington and his associates, and was elected chaplain to Congress at Yorktown in 1777. At one time he was the only Epis. clergyman in Pa. Dr. White presided at the first Epis. convention held Sept. and Oct. 1785, and the constitution of the church was written by him; in 17-6, being bishop elect of the diocese of Pa., he proceeded to Eng. with Dr. Provost to receive his-hop's orders; was consec. by the Archb. of Canterbury, Feb. 4, 1787, and returned on Easter Day, 17 7. Pres. of the Bible Society of Phila., the first established in the U.S.; pres. of the Dispensary from its origin in 1784, of the Prison Society since its origin, of the societies for the Deaf and Dumb, and for the Blind. With Bishop Sabury, he had the chief part in revising the "Book of Common Prayer" for the Epis. Church in this country. His chief pub. are, Memoirs of the Prot. Epis. Church in the U.S., 1820; "Comparative Views of the Controversy between the Calvinists and Arminians," 1817; "Lectures on the Catholicism, and Commentaries on the Ord. Service," 1813. He was disting. for exemplary zeal and un-ammute frankness. A Memoir of Bishop White by Dr. Bird Wilson was pub. in 1839.

White, WILLIAM CHARLES, actor and dramatist, b. Boston, 1777; d. Worcester, May 2, 1818. The son of a merchant. He quitted the counting-room for the stage in 1796, appearing at the Federal-st. Theatre, Dec. 14, as Norval. He at the same time produced a tragedy, "Orlando," but, not meeting with much encouragement, turned his attention to the law, and opened an office in Providence in 1800, but ag. in took to the stage, which he quitted finally in the summer of 1801. He was app. county atty. in 1811. Pub. a Compendium of the Laws of Ms. in 1810, 3 vols. 8vo, and in the same year produced "The Clergyman's Daughter" and "The Poor Lodger." He was an editor of the North-east. Advs. He published "Oration at Rutland, 5 July," Worcester, 1802; "Oration at Boston, 4 July, 1809."

Whitefield, GEORGE, a celebrated preacher, founder of the Calvinistic Methodists, b. Gloucester, Eng., Dec. 16, 1714; d. N. buryport, Ms., Sept. 30, 1770. He received the rudiments of his education in his native town, where his mother kept an inn, but in 1733 entered Pembroke Coll., Oxford, where he joined the society formed by the Wesleys, named, from the strictness of their rules, Methodists. Adm. to orders June 20, 1736. After taking his bachelor's degree at Oxford, he preached at various places, exciting great enthusiasm. Visiting Georgia in 1738, the trustees of the Colony presented him to the living of Savannah (though he insisted upon having no salary), and granted him 500 acres of land for his intended orphan-house. Ord. priest Jan. 14, 1739, he resumed preaching in London and elsewhere, being oblig'd by the vast crowds which attended to preach in the open air. From this period the origin of Methodism is to be dated. Unhappily again in Aug., he landed in Pa. in Oct., preached to immense congregations in the Middle and Southern States, and early in Jan. 1740 arrived at Savannah, where he found, and in a great measure established, his orphan-house, by the name of Bethesda. After preaching in N. Eng. by invitation of the ministers of Boston, nobody singing 20,000 persons on Boston Common, he sailed for Eng. in Jan. 1741. Separating himself from Wesley, whose Arminian sentiments he disapproved, he now began to form distinct societies of persons who held Calvinistic sentiments in England and Scotland, preaching in all the principal towns. Arriving again in this country in Oct. 1744, he met at first with much opposition in N. E. Wary. Coll. issuing a "testimony" against him, and many of the clergy being equally hostile. Before setting out for Ga., he had, however, converted 20 persons. His fifth visit to America (by him considered his most important expedition, extending from Ga. to N. H.) lasted from May, 1754, to March, 1755; and his seventh and last landing upon our shores took place Nov. 30, 1769. After preaching in different places, his strength was exhausted, and he died of the asthma. His sermons, letters, and controverted tracts, have been pub. in 7 vols. 8vo, and also an account of his life, written by Gillies. He pub. a Journal of his life in 1756. His eloquence was wonderful, his voice powerful, rich, and sweet; and Dr. Franklin estimated that 30,000 people might hear him distinctly when preaching in the open air.

Whitefield, JAMES, D.D. (Rome, 1825), R. C. archbishop of Baltimore, b. Liverpool, Eng., Nov. 3, 1770; d. Baltimore, Oct. 19, 1834. Receiving a good education, he devoted himself for a time to mercantile pursuits. He studied divinity with Ambrose Marcehal; was ord. in 1809; emigr. to Baltimore in Sept. 1817; was immediately app. one of the pastors of St. Peter's; and succeeded Bishop Marcehal in the archiepiscopate, May 25, 1828.

Whitehead, WILLIAM ADLÉ, historian, b. Newark, N. J., 19 Feb. 1810. Collector of customs at Key West, Fla., 1830-8; subsequently connected with different railroad companies. Author of "East Jersey under the Proprietary Govt.," 8vo, 1846; "Biog. Sketch of Gov. Wm. Franklin," 1848; "Robbery of the Treasury of East Jersey in 1768," 1850; "Early Hist. of Perth Amboy," 8vo, 1856; "Northern Boundary-Line between N. J. and N. Y.," &c., 1859; "Eastern Boundary of N. J.," 8vo, 1866; "Index to N. J. Col. Documents," 8vo; "Sentiment of Elizabeth, N. J.," a paper before the N. J. Hist. Soc., 20 May, 1869. Edited the papers of Lewis Morris, with Memoir, 1852. Correspond. N. J. Hist. Society, and editor of some of its "Proceedings."—A. Adams.

Whitehouse, HENRY JOHN, D.D. (Col. Coll. 1865), D. C. L. (Camb., Eng., 1867), Pre. Epis. bishop of Illinois, b. New York, Aug. 1803. Col. Coll. 1821; Gen. Theol. Sem., 1824. Ord. deacon 1824; priest 1827; 15 years rector of St. Luke's, Rochester; rector of St. Thomas's, New York, 1844-51; consec. assist. bishop of Ill. Nov. 20, 1851; succeed'd to the see on the death of Bishop Chase, 1872. He preached the sermon before the Pan-Anglican Council, London, in 1867.

Whitfield, HENRY, first minister of Guilford, Ct., b. Eng. 1597; d. Win. burgh, Eng., after 1651. The only son of an eminent lawyer, and educated to the law, but, perceiving the ministry, he took orders, and became minister of Okeley in Surrey, where he obtained the Puritan divines during Laud's persecution. In 1639 he emigr. to America, and became one of the founders of Guilford, but returned in 1650. He pub. an account of the progress of the gospel among the Indians in 1651 ("The Light appearing more and more towards the Perfect Day," &c.); "Helps to Stir up to Christian Duties," London, 1634.

Whiting, DANIEL POWERS, lieutenant-colonel U.S.A., b. N.Y. West Point, 1832. Entering the 7th Inf., he became capt. 18 April, 1845; maj. 10th Inf. 20 Dec. 1860; lieutenant-col. 6th Inf. 15 Feb. 1862; retired 4 Nov. 1863. He served in the Florida war 1839-42 and 1849-50; in the Mexican war at defence of Fort Brown, siege of Vera Cruz, and battles of Monterrey and Cerro Gordo, for which he was brev. 18 April, 1847. Author of "Army Portfolio," a series of views illustrating the Mexican war, 1849. — C. Num.

Whiting, HENRY, brev. brig.-gen. U.S.A., b. Ms.; d. St. Louis, Mo., 16 Sept. 1851. Son of Col. John (b. Lancaster, 1759, d. Washington, D.C., 3 Sept. 1810), a revol. officer, app. lieutenant-col. 4th Inf. 8 July, 1808, col. 5th Inf. 31 Dec. 1819. After a brief clerkship in the dry-goods store of Amos Lawrence, Boston, he was app. cornet of dragoons 20 Oct. 1808; was disting. at the capture of Fort George, U.C., May, 1813; made capt. Mar. 1817; dep. quarterm.-gen. 7 July, 1838; assist. quarterm. (rank of col.) 21 April, 1846; brev. brig.-gen. for services at Buena Vista 23 Feb. 1847; chief quartermaster of Gen. Taylor's army in Mexico. He edited "The Revol. Orders of Gen. Washington, 1778-82," 1844. Author of "Ontway, the Son of the Forest," a poem, 1822; "Samuilac," a poem, 1831; co-author of "Hist. and Scient. Sketches of Michigan," 1834; author of "The Age of Steam," &c.; "Life of Z. M. Pike," in Sparks's "Am. Biog.," vol. xv.; and contrib. 14 articles to the N. A. Rev.

Whiting, COL. NATHANIEL, b. Windham, Ct., 4 May, 1724; d. 1771. Y.C. 1743. Son of Rev. Samuel, first minister of Windham (1700-25). He served with distinction in the exped. against Cape Breton in 1745, and the same year was app. a lieutenant in Pepperell's regt.; app. in 1755 lieutenant-col. of the 2d Ct. Regt. for the exped. against Crown Point; was present in the engagement near Lake George, and, when Col. Williams was killed, succeeded to the com.; in 1758 he was again app. col. of the 2d Ct. Regt.; shared in Abercrombie's defeat at Tinideroga; and in 1759-60 in Amherst's campaigns, ending in the conquest of Canada.

Whiting, SAMUEL, first minister of Lynn, Ms., from Nov. 8, 1636, to his death Dec. 11, 1679, b. Boston, Eng., 20 Nov. 1597. Cambridge U., Eng. Son of John, mayor of Boston, England. He arrived at Boston, May 26, 1636. Author of "Oratio quam Communitas Civitatis Americensis," &c., 1664; treatise on the Last Judgment, 1649. His son SAMUEL was first minister of Billerica from 1663 to his d. Feb. 28, 1713, H.U. 1653. JOSEPH his son, also minister of Lynn, d. April 7, 1723, a. 82; H.U. 1661.

Whiting, WILLIAM, lawyer, b. Concord, Ms., March 3, 1813. H.U. 1833; Camb. Law School, 1838. A descendant of the preceding. After 1838 he began practice in Boston; attained high rank at the bar, and has been engaged in many important cases. Shortly after the civil war began, he advocated an entire change in the policy of the gov't in carrying it on. His "War Powers of the President, and the Legislative Powers of Congress in Relation to Rebellion, Treason, and Slavery," 8vo, 1862, met a great want of the country, and first formulated its war-powers. Recent editions of this work include "Military Arrests in Time of War," "Reconstruction of the Union," and "Military Gov't." Summoned in 1862 to Washington as solicitor of the war dept., his services for 3 years in that capacity were highly arduous and responsible. He was 5 years pres. of the N. E. Hist.-Genealogical Society. Author also of some pamphlets; Memoir of Rev. Joseph Harrington, prefixed to his sermons, 1854. — Doughbink.

Whiting, GEN. WILLIAM HENRY CHASE, b. Ms. 1825; d. Governor's Island, N.Y., Mar. 10, 1865. West Point, 1845. Son of Lieutenant-Col. Levi. Entered engineers; was 1st lieutenant, Mar. 16, 1853; capt. 13 Dec. 1858; and resigned Feb. 20, 1861. Chief engr. (rank of major) in the Army of the Shenandoah, under Gen. J. E. Johnston, in June and July, 1861; was app. brig.-gen., and com. a brigade whose timely arrival saved for the Confederates the battle of Bull Run, July 21; took part in the battle of West Point, Va., May 7, 1862; and was made a maj.-gen. in 1863. He built and was put in com. of Fort Fisher, N.C., in the autumn of 1864; was in charge during both attacks; and was severely wounded and taken prisoner on its capture by Gen. Terry, Jan. 15, 1865.

Whitman, EZEKIEL, judge and M.C., b. East Bridgewater, Ms., March 9, 1776; d. there Aug. 1, 1866. Brown U. 1795. He settled as a lawyer in the Dist. of Me. in 1799; established himself in Portland in Jan. 1807; was a member of the exec. council in 1815 and '16, and of the Const. Conv. of 1819; was chief justice of the Common Pleas 1822-41, and also of the Supreme Court of Me., presiding as such from 1841 to 1848; was M.C. from Ms. in 1809-11 and 1817-21, and from Me. in 1821-3. Author of "Genealogy of the Descendants of John Whitman," 1832.

Whitman, SARAH HELEN (POWER), poetess, b. Providence, R.I., 1813. In 1828 she m. John Winslow Whitman, a lawyer of Boston, since whose death, in 1833, she has resided in Providence. She has pub. "Hours of Life and Other Poems," 1833; "Edgar Poe and his Critics," 1859; and critical articles on European writers. Portions of her Fairy Ballads were written by her sister, ANNA MARSH POWER.

Whitman, WALTER ("Walt"), poet, b. West Hills, N.Y., 1819. Has been a printer, school teacher, editor, a clerk in the dept. of the interior, Washington, and 1865-70 a clerk in the office of the U.S. army, gen. Author of "Leaves of Grass," 1st ed. 1855, 3d ed. 1860; "Drum-Taps," 1865-6; collected poems, 8vo, 1867; poems selected and edited by W. M. Rossetti, London, 8vo, 1868. — Albione.

Whitmore, EDWARD, gen., drowned in Plymouth Bay, Feb. 1761. At the second capture of Louisburg, in 1758, he was military gov. of the place; col. 22d Regt., and brig.-gen.

Whitmore, WILLIAM HENRY, antiquary, b. Dorchester, Ms., Sept. 6, 1836. Son of a merchant of Boston, and educated in the schools of that city. He has pub. "Register of Middle Families," 1853; Genealogies of Whitmore, Fenshale, (1856), Lane, Reyner, and Whipple (1857), Norton, (1859), Ayres (1870); "Handbook of Amer. Geneal.," 1862; "Notes on the Winthrop Family," 1864; "The Cavalier Dismounted," 1864; "Amer. Genealogist," 1868; edited Præd's Poems, 1860. Many years an active member of the N. E. Historic-Geneal. Soc., in whose Register many of his articles have appeared. Editor of several of the Prince Solety's publications; "Elements of Heraldry," 1866; "Ms. Civil List 1636-1774," 8vo, 1871; and of vols. i, ii, and iv, Herbalbe Jours; and has contributed articles to the N. A. Review, Appleton's "New American Cyclop.," and the Kuickschaber.

Whitney, ADELINE D., b. Boston, 1824. Dau. of Enoch Train; wife of Seth D. Whitney of Milton, Ms. Author of "Footsteps on the Seas," a poem, 1857; "Mother Goose for Grown Folks," 1860; "Boys at Chequasset," 1862; "Faith Gartney's Girlhood," 1863; "The Gayworthys," 1865; "A Summer in Leslie Goldthwaite's Life," 1866; "Patience Strong's Outings," 1868; "Hitherto," 1869; "Real Folks," 1872. Contrib. to Our Young Folks, Old and New, Athletic Monthly, &c.

Whitney, ELLI, inventor of the cotton-gin, b. Westborough, Ms., Dec. 8, 1765; d. N. Haven, Ct., Jan. 8, 1825. Y. C. 1792. He early displayed mechanical genius, and partly by teaching, and partly by other labor, obtained the means of a college education. In 1792 he went to Ga. as a teacher, and, while studying law, was invited by the widow of Gen. Greene to make her house his home. While there, his attention was drawn to the difficulty in separating cotton from the seed, and for months he was engaged in constructing a cotton-gin, under great difficulties; being compelled to draw his iron wire, as he could obtain none in Savannah, and to make his own tools. Rumors of this invention were noised about; and, before it was finished, the building in which it was placed was broken open by night, and the machine carried off. Before he could complete his model, and obtain a patent, similar machines had been surreptitiously made, and put in operation. A Mr. Miller became a partner in May, 1793; and Whitney nannt, the machines in Ct. The legis. of S. C. granted him $50,000 for his invention, which, after vexatious delays and lawsuits, was finally paid. North Carolina allowed a percentage for its use 5 years, and collected and paid it over to the patentees. Tennessee promised to do the same, but afterward rescinded her contract. For years he struggled on; lawsuits being wrongfully decided against him; his manufactory destroyed by fire; reports that his machine injured the fibre of the cotton; Congress refusing, on account of the opposition of the Southern members, to allow a renewal of the patent; until, satisfied that he should never receive a just compensation for his great invention, he engaged in making fire-arms for govt., from which he eventually gained a fortune. He applied several of his inventions to other manufactures of iron and steel — Apphena.

Whitney, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS, pastor at Brighton, Ms. 1843-58; b. Quincy, Ms., 11 Sept. 1812. H. U. 1833; Camb. Theol. School 1838. Author of "Hist. Sketch of the Old Church at Quincy, Ms.," 1864; "Biog. of James Holton," 1865; "Oration at Dedication of Soldiers' Monument, Brighton, Ms.," 1866; also school and S. school reports, sermons, addresses, hymns, and articles in periodicals.

Whitney, JOSTIA DOWDITCH, geologist, b. Northampton, Ms., 23 Nov. 1819. Y. C. 1839. Prof. of geol. and metallurgy in H. U. since 1865. Author of "Use of the Blowpipe," &c., transl. from Berzelius, 8vo, 1845; "Metallic Wealth of the U. S.," 8vo, 1854; "Geol. Survey of California," 4to, 1855; "Yosemite Guide-Book," 1869; with J. W. Foster, "Report on the Geol. &c. of Lake Superior," 1850-1; with James Hall, "Report on the Geol. Survey of Ohio," 8vo; "Report of Geol. Survey of the Upper Mpd. Lead Region," 8vo, 1862. Contrib. to scientific and literary journals. — Albans.

Whitney, PETER, author of a History of Worcester County (8vo, 1793), b. Northborough, Sept. 6, 1744; d. Feb. 29, 1816. H. U. 1762. Ord. pastor of Northborough, Nov. 4, 1767. Of his sons, PETER was minister of Quincy 1800-43; GEORGE (1804-42), minister of Roxbury (1831-42), was author of a History of Quincy, 8vo, 1827.

Whitney, THOMAS R., writer and politician, b. N. Y. City 1804; d. Apr. 12, 1858. He served two years in the State Assembly; was M. C. in 1855-7; and was at one time editor of the N. Y. Sunday Times. Author of a poem called the "Ambuscade," 1845; and a political work entitled "The American Policy Vindicated," 8vo, 1856.

Whitney, WILLIAM DWIGHT, Ph. D. (U. of Breslau, 1861), LL. D. (Wms. 1868), philologist, b. Northampton, Ms., Feb. 9, 1827. Wms. Coll. 1845. He studied at Berlin and Tübingen; transcribed from the Sanscrit MSS. the "Athava-Veda," and with Prof. Roth pub. it (Berlin, 1856). In 1853 he returned home; in 1854 was made prof. of Sanscrit in Y. C., and became an active officer of the Oriental Society. He is one of the co-laborers of Bohtlingk and Roth in the Sanscrit Dictionary, pub. at St. Petersburg. He has contrib. articles on Oriental Philology and Literature to the New Amer. Cyclopædia. In 1870 he received from the Roy. Acad. of Sciences of Berlin a prize for a work on Sanscrit Orthography. He has been a contrib. to the N. A. Review, the New-Engl. Libner, the Journal of the Am. Oriental Society, &c. Pres. of the Am. Philol. Soc. 1869; member of many learned societies. He pub. "Lectures on Language," 1867; a "German Grammar," 1869; "German Reader," 1870.

Whiton, JOHN MILTON, D. D., N. J. Coll. 1848), clergyman and author, b. Winstedton, Ms., Aug. 1, 1785; d. Antrim, N. H., Sept. 28, 1856. Y. C. 1805. Son of Dr. Israel. Ord. pastor of the church in Antrim, Sept. 28, 1808, continuing till 1853. He pub. a History of Antrim, 1852; a History of N. Hampshire in schools, 1834; and at the time of his death was preparing a History of Presb. terianism in N.H. In 1846 he pub. in the N.H. Repository a statistical account of the Cong. and Presb. ministers of Hillsborough county.

Whittemore, Amos, inventor, b. Cambridge, Ms., Apr. 19, 1759; d. W. Cambridge, Mar. 27, 1828. The son of a farmer. He worked for some years as a gunsmith, and finally formed a copartnership with his bro. and others for the manuf. of cotton and wool cards. He soon after invented a machine for puncturing the leather, and setting the wires, — a work previously performed by hand. He found the greatest difficulty in bending the wires to a given angle after they were finally fastened in the leather, and was on the point of abandoning the attempt, when in a dream he discovered the method of effecting it. The invention was patented in 1797, and it was sold for $150,000; but afterward Samuel his bro. repurchased it, and carried on the business. Amos devoted his later years to the invention of an orrery, in which every planet was to describe its own orbit, but did not live to complete it. — Howe's Hist. of Inventors.

Whittemore, THOMAS, D.D., clergyman, b. Boston, Jan. 1, 1809; d. Cambridge, Ms., Mar. 21, 1861. Apprenticed successively to a negro-dresser, a brass-founder, and a boot-maker, and finally studied for the ministry under Rev. H. Ballou. In April, 1821, he was pastor of a Universalist church in Milford, Ms.; in 1822–31 he preached in Cambridgeport, and resided in Cambridge till he died. Joint editor of the Universalist Mag., and in 1828 began to pub. the Trumpet, a Universalist newspaper in Boston, of which he was sole editor and proprietor for nearly 30 years. Pres. of the Vt. and Ms. Railroad, and represented Cambridge repeatedly in the State legisl. In 1830 he pub. a "History of Universalism," which he afterward enlarged, the first vol. appearing in 1860, and the second being, at the time of his death, nearly ready for the press. His other works are, "Notes and Illustrations of the Parables," 1832; "Songs of Zion," 1836; "Plain Guide to Universalism," 1839; "The Gospel Harmonist," 1841; "Conference Hymns," 1842; "Sunday-school Choir," 1844; "Commentary on Revelation," 1838; "Commentary on Daniel;" "Lives of Walter Ballou and Hosea Ballou;" "Autobiography," 12mo, 1860.

Whittier, JOHN GREENLEAF, poet, b. Haverhill, Ms., Dec. 17, 1807. Joseph his grandfather, grandson of Thomas of Newbury, b. 1716, d. H. 10 Oct. 1796, m. Sarah Greenleaf of Newbury. John G. worked on a farm until 18, writing occasional verses for the Haverhill Gazette, and turning his hand to shoemaking. After two years' study at the town acad., he became in 1829 editor, at Boston, of the Amer. Manufacturer, a newspaper in the tariff interest. In 1830 he succeeded to Brainerd's paper at Hartford, and wrote the prefatory memoir of that poet for his "Remains," pub. 1832; edit. Gazette at Haverh. 1832 and 1836. In 1831 appeared his "Legends of New England;" its sequel, "The Supernaturalism of New England," in 1847; "Moll Pitcher," a tale of a witch of Nahant; "Mogg Megone," an Indian story, 1836; and "The Bridal of Pennacook," also an Indian poem. In 1833 he pub. an essay entitled "Justice and Expediency, or Slavery considered with a View to its Abolition." After a few years spent at home in farming, and representing his town in the State legisl. (1835–6), he engaged in the proceedings of the Antislavery Society; was elected its sec. in 1836; and, in defence of its principles, edited the Pa. Freeman in Phila. in 1838–40. "The Voices of Freedom" (1841) afford the best specimen of his antislavery effusions. In 1840 Mr. Whittier took up his residence at Amesbury, where he has since resided, and whence he forwarded his contribs. to the National Era, Washington. He has also pub. "Songs of Labor and Other Poems," 1848; "Old Portraits and Modern Sketches," 1850; "The Chapel of the Hermits and Other Poems," 1852; "Leaves from Margaret Smith's Journal," 1848; "Literary Recreations," 1852; "The Panorama and Other Poems," 1856; "Home Ballads and Poems," 1859; "In War-Time," 1863; "Snow-Bound," 1865; "Tent on the Beach," 1867; "Among the Hills," 1868; "Ballads of New England," 1869; "Miriam," 1870; "The Stranger in Lowell" (prose), 1845; "National Lyrics," 1865; "Maud Muller," 1866. Several "complete" collections of his works have been pub.; the last, Sept. 1869, in 4 vols. His sister ELIZABETH H. WHITTIER, poetess, d. Amesbury, Ms., Sept. 3, 1864.

Whittingham, WILLIAM ROLLINSON, D.D. (Col. Coll. 1837), LL.D., Prot.-Ep. bishop of Md. (consec. 17 Sept. 1849), b. N.Y. City, Dec. 2, 1805. Gen. Theol. Sem. 1825. Adm. to the ministry in 1827, and became rector of St. Luke's, N.Y., in 1831. In 1835 he was elected to the chair of eccl. hist. in the Gen. Theol. Sem. He has edited the Family Visitor, Children's Mag., the Churchman (weekly), also the "Parish Library," 13 vols. He has also pub. occas. sermons.

Whittlesey, COL. CHARLES, author, b. Southington, Ct., 5 Oct. 1808. In 1813 his family moved to Tallmadge, O. West point, 1831. Resigned 30 Sept. 1832. Counsellor-at-law, Cleveland, O., 1835. Editor Cleveland Herald 1836–7; employed on geol. survey of Ohio 1837–8, and on mineral and geol. surveys 1848–50, 1853–6, 1858–60. Assist. quarterm. gen. of O. 1861–2; in Western Va. campaign July–Aug. 1861; in camp of 1861–2 as col. 20th O. Vols. in Ky. and Tenn.; and engaged at Fort Donelson and at Shiloh, in which he com. the 3d brigade of Wallace's division, rendering important service in the second day's fight; resigned 19 Apr. 1862. Author of "Life of John Fitch," in Sparks's "Amer. Biog.," vi.; "Ancient Mining on Lake Superior," 1862; "Glacial Drift of the North-west. States," 1866 (in Smithsonian Contribs.); "Early History of Cleveland," 8vo, 1867; "Sketch of the Settlement of Tallmadge, O.," 1842; "Description of Ancient Works in Ohio," 1851 (Smithsonian Contribs., vol. iii.); "Fugitive Essays," 1854; besides some 30 essays, reports, &c. Col. W. founded, and is pres. of, the Western Reserve Hist. Soc. of Cleveland.

Whittlesey, FREDERICK, jurist, b. Wash ington, Ct., 12 June, 1799; d. Rochester, N.Y., 13 Sept. 1851. Y.C. 1818. Adm. to the bar at Utica, N.Y., in 1821; settled in Rochester in 1822; was editor and proprietor of a political newspaper prominent in the anti-Masonic party; M.C. in 1831-5; vice-chancellor 8th jud. dist. 1839-47; judge Sup. Court 1847-8; prof. of law in Geneva Coll. 1850-1. He pub. ad. press. 4 July, 1842, Rochester.

Whittridge, WORTHINGTON, landscape-painter, b. Ohio, 1820. His ancestors were among the early settlers of Cape Ann, his father an early emigrant to the West. The son painted portraits and landscapes in Cincinnati; was in Europe in 1849-59, and then established himself in N.Y. City. Among his productions are "Twilight on the Shawangunk Mountains," "The Old Hunting-ground," "Lake George," "Berkeley's Seat," "Ruins of Tusculum," "A Hundred Years Ago," "The Roman Campagna," and "The Plains at the Base of the Rocky Mountains." His "Old Kentucky Home," and "Coast of Rhode Island," were sent to the Paris Exposition of 1867. In 1866 he explored the West, attached to Gen. Pope's staff, and brought back a large and valuable coll. of sketches.

Wickham, JOHN, LL.D., lawyer, b. Southold, L.I., 1763; d. Richmond, Va., 17 Jan. 1839. Intended for the army, he studied one year at Arras, France; settled in Williamsburg in 1785; engaged in the practice of law in 1787; and in 1790 removed to Richmond, Va., where he acquired a high reputation, and was long at the head of the bar of Virginia.

Wickliffe, CHARLES A., U.S. postmaster-gen. 1841-5, b. Bard-stown, Ky., June 8, 1788; d. Howard Co., Md., Oct. 31, 1869. Educated at the Bard-stown grammar-school; studied law, and attained a high position at the bar. In 1812 he was able to Gen. Caldwell at the battle of the Thames; was a member of the legis. in 1812-23; M.C. in 1823-33; again elected to the legis., he was speaker in 1834; was elected lieutenant-gov. in 1836, and became acting gov. in 1839. In 1845 he was sent to Texas by Pres. Polk on a secret mission; was a member of the State Const. Conv. in 1849; was a member of the Peace Congress in Feb. 1861; M.C. 1861-3; and delegate to the Chicago conv. 1864. His stately and aristocratic bearing, and his contempt for the poorer classes, earned for him the sobriquet of "the Duke."

Wigglesworth, EDWARD, D.D., Hollis prof. of divinity H. U. 1765-91, b. Feb. 7, 1732; d. Cambridge, June 17, 1794. H.U. 1749 with the first honors. His father EDWARD, D.D. (H. U. 1710), was first Hollis prof. Oct. 24, 1722, until his death, Nov. 19, 1765 (a. 72), and prominent as a controversial writer. The son was made tutor at H. U. 1764. An original member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences, and a man of great learning. He pub. the Duffian Lectures on the Errors of the Roman Church, 1777; "Calculations on American Population," &c., 1775.—Ann.

Wigglesworth, COL. EDWARD, Revol. officer, b. Ipswich, Ms., 3 Jan. 1742; d. Newburyport, 8 Dec. 1826. H. U. 1761. Son of Rev. Samuel of Ipswich (1714-68), and grandson of Rev. Michael. Commiss. col. by the Prov. Congress 24 June, 1776, and 3d in command of Arnold's flotilla on Lake Champlain 5 Sept. 1777; commiss. col. 13th Ms. Regt. 6 Nov. 1776; resigned 10 Mar. 1779; app. by Pres. Washington coll. of Newburyport.

Wigglesworth, MICHAEL, poet and clergyman, b. Eng. Oct. 18, 1631; d. Malden, Ms., June 10, 1705. H. U. 1651. Son of Edward of N. Haven, and came with him to this country in 1638. After graduating, he was a fellow and tutor in the college a short time. In 1656 he was ord. over the church at Malden, where he remained "for about a jubilee of years" till his death. Frequent illness forced him at times to suspend his pulpit exertions; but he was able in the intervals to engage in literary labor. He pub. in 1662 "The Day of Doom," a poem which has passed through 9 eds. in this country, and 2 in England, and was for a long time one of the most popular books in N. E.; in 1669 he pub. another poem, "Meat out of the Eater," which has passed through 6 editions. He left in manuscript a poem entitled "God's Controversy with New England," printed in the Proc. of the Ms. Hist. Society, 1871. After the death of John Rogers, in 1684, he was offered the presidency of H. U., but declined it on account of his health. He preached the Colonial Election Sermon in 1686, and the Art. Election Sermon in 1696. He was also a skilful physician.—See Memoir of Wigglesworth by J. W. Deane, 8vo, 1871.

Wight, MOSES, portrait and genre painter, b. Boston, 2 Apr. 1827. Began to paint at 18, went to Europe in 1851, and painted there portraits of Hon. D. D. Barnard and Baron Alex. Von Humboldt; studied 3 years in Italy; and has since practised his art in Boston with success. Among his portraits are Edward Everett, Josiah Quincy, Charles Sumner, and Prof. Agassiz. In 1860 he studied in France under Couture, and has since executed two large ideal works, "The Sleeping Beauty" and "Eve at the Fountain." Since his last visit to Europe in 1865-7, he has produced several cabinet figures, and interior subjects, among them "Le Seizieme Siecle," "Lisette," "Les Confidants," "The Old Currier," "John Allen and Priscilla," and "Per's First Cake."

Wight, ORLANDO WILLIAMS, author, b. Centreville, N.Y., Feb. 19, 1824. He studied at Westfield Acad. and Rochester Collegiate Institute, and then travelled in Europe. He has contrib. to the leading reviews, and has pub. "The Philosophy of Sir Wm. Hamilton," 1853; "Life of Abbeard and Belrose," 1853; translations of Cousin's "History of Modern Philosophy," 1852; "The True, the Beautiful, the Good," 1854; and "Pascal's Thoughts," 1859. He has also edited and revised 12 vols. of French Classics, 1858-60, "The Household Library," 18 vols.; transl. Balzac's Novels, 12 vols. Contrib. to N. A. Rev., N. Encyclopaedia, &c. He has in prep. a Dictionary of Philos. Science, 8vo.

Wignell, THOMAS, manager Phila. Theatre; d. there 18 Feb. 1803; b. Eng. First app. at the John-st. Theatre, N.Y., 1785, as Joseph Surface; became manager Chestnut-st. Theatre in 1794; m. Mrs. Merry 1 Jan. 1803.

Wikoff, HENRY, b. Phila., where he was adm. to the bar. Author of "Life of Nap. Louis Bonaparte," N.Y., 1849; "My Courtship and its Consequences," 1855; "Adventures of a rising Diplomatist," 1856; "A New-Yorker in the Foreign Office," &c., 1858. — See also "Frid of Wilkoff and Others for a Conspiracy," 8vo, 1852. — Allibone.

Wilbur, Miss ANNE T. (Mrs. Wood), dau. of Rev. Hervey Wilbur, b. Wendell, Ms., 1817. A resident of Newburyport, Ms. Transl. "The Soudary of Juan Fernandez," and other works, from the French. Contrib. as "Florence Leigh" to periodicals; has edited the Ladies' Mag. and the Ladies' Cabinet, 1848; has transl. "The Roman Question," by E. About, 1859; and pub. "Romance of a Mummy," 1860.

Wilbur, JOHN, a minister of the Society of Friends, founder of the "Wilburite" sect, b. Hopkinton, R.I., 1774; d. 1856. Ab. 1838 he was accused of circulating statements derogatory to the character of Joseph J. Gurney; and in Jan. 1843 he was disowned. His friends, however, believing him to have been unfairly and harshly dealt with, set up an independent yearly meeting, and are popularly designated "Wilburites." — See Journal and Corresp. of John Wilbur.

Wilcocks, ALEXANDER, M.D., b. Phila. 1817. Jeff. Med. Coll. 1844. Author of "Essay on the Tides," 1855; "Temporary Star of the Year 1872," 1860; "Influence of Ether in the Solar System," &c., 1864; papers in M. d. Exam. 1845, Jour. Med. Sci. 1847. — Allibone.

Wilcox, GEN. CADMUS MARCELLUS, b. N.C. ab. 1825. West Point, 1846. Adj. and A.D.C. to Gen. Quitman 1847-8; and brev. 1st lieut. for gallantry at Chapultepec 13 Sept. 1847; assist. instr. of inf. tactics at West Point 1852; capt. 7th Inf.; resigned 8 June, 1861; app. brig.-gen. C.S.A. 21 Oct. 1861; 3 Aug. 1863 promoted maj.-gen. com. division in A. P. Hill's (3d) corp. He com. a brigade in Anderson's div. at Gettysburg, and surrendered with Lee. Author of "Rifles and Rifle-Practice," N.Y. 1859; "Evolutions of the Line," 1860; "Tabular Statements of the Austrian and French Armies," 1861.

Wilcox, CARLOS, poet, b. Newport, N.H., Oct. 22, 1794; d. Danbury, Ct., May 29, 1827. Mil. Coll. 1813; And. Sem. 1817. His father was a farmer, and in 1797 removed to Orwell, Vt. He began to preach in Hartford, Ct., 1818, but after a few months was obliged by illness to desist. In 1822 he pub. at Salisbury, Ct., his poem, "The Age of Benevolence." In 1824 he delivered a poem before the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Y.C. on "The Religion of Taste." In 1824-6 he was pastor of the North Church, Hartford. After the restoration of his health by a few months' travel, he accepted a call to Danbury at the close of 1826. His "Remains" were pub. in 1828. — Dugckinek.

Wilcox, PHILEAS BACON, lawyer, b. 1735; d. Columbus, O., 25 Mar. 1863. Y.C. 1821. In successful practice at Columbus nearly 40 years. Author of "Ohio Reports," vol. x.; several vols. of condensed and digested "Ohio Reports"; "Ohio Forms and Practice," 1833; "Forms in Action and in Chancery," 1858; in "Civil Procedure," 1862.

Wilde, RICHARD HENRY, scholar and lawyer, b. Dublin, Ireland, 24 Sept. 1789; d. N. Orleans 10 Sept. 1847. His father came to Baltimore in 1797, and d. 1802. He received from his mother his poetic talent and his education. In 1803 he removed to Augusta, Ga. Was adm. to the bar in Mar. 1809; soon rose to the head of the profession; became atty.-gen. of the State; M.C. in 1815-17, 1824-5, and in 1827-35; and was disting. as an orator. He visited Europe in 1835-40, and on his return devoted himself to literature, politics, and the law. While in Florence, he discovered some documents concerning Dante, and also an original painting of the great poet on the wall of the Chapel of Bargetto. He left a MS. vol. of the poet's life. Author of "The Love, Madness, and Imprisonment of Tasso," 2 vols. 1842, and "Hesperia;" wrote for the Southern Review an article on Petrarch; and contrib. to the magazines. From 1843 to his d. he was prof. of law in the U. of La. at New Orleans. His literary productions are numerous, and bear the impress of a gifted and highly educated mind. One of his lyrics, entitled "My Life is like a Summer Rose," received the praise of Lord Byron.

Wilde, SAMUEL SUMNER, LL.D. (Bowd. 1817; H.U. 1841), jurist, b. Taunton, Feb. 5, 1771; d. Boston, June 22, 1855. Dartm. Coll. 1789. Son of Daniel. He was adm. to the bar in Sept. 1792, and the same year was m. to Eunice, dau. of Gen. David Cobb. He practised successively in Waldborough, Warren, and Hallowell, Me., removing to the latter place in 1799, after representing Warren two years in the legisl. In 1814 he was elected a State councillor. He was also one of the delegates to the Hartford Conv.; judge Ms. Sup. Court 1815-50. In 1820 he removed from Hallowell to Newburyport, and in 1831 to Boston. Delegate from Newburyport to the State Const. Conv. of 1820; member of the Acad. of Arts and Sciences. His judicial career was disting. by great legal learning and stern integrity; and he was accounted one of the best utroque judges in Ms. His dau. Caroline m. Caleb Cushing. He pub. "Oration 4 July, 1797," "Masonic Oration," 1799.

Wilder, MARSHALL PINCKNEY, one of the most useful men of his time, b. Rindge, N.H., 22 Sept. 1798. Educated at the common schools and at Ipswich Acad. He worked on his father's farm; then became a merchant; and, establishing himself in Boston in 1825, has for many years been a prominent and successful business-man. He has been active in the Ms. Hort. Soc.; was its pres. in 1840-8; pres. of the Amer. Pomological Soc. since that date; of the U. S. Agric. Soc. 1852-8; of the N. E. Historic-Genealogical Soc. since 1868; member of the Ms. house of reps. 1839; councillor 1849; State senator and pres. of that body in 1850. He initiated the organization of the State Board of Agriculture, the establishment of the Ms. Agric. Coll. and of the U.S. Agric. Soc.; and has held many important trusts beside those enumerated above. He has delivered many addresses and speeches, and contributed valuable papers on hybridization to hort. journals. — See N. E. H. G. Reg. 1867.

Willey, THOMAS, founder of the Old Fellows in America, b. Eng. Jan. 15, 1783; d. Baltimore, Oct. 19, 1861. He came to this country in 1817, and began in Baltimore his trade of coach-spring making. The first lodge was established at Baltimore, Md. in 1819, and he was grand master from 1825 to 1833.

Wiley, CHARLES HENDERSON, b. Guilford Co., N.C., 1819; F. of N.C., 1840. Member U.S.A. 1850 and 1852, and gen. supt. common schools of N.C. Dec. 1852. Author of "Alumnus," a novel; "Adventures of Old Dan Tucker," 1851; "Utopia, Early Life at the South," 1852; "Life in the South, a companion to Uncle Tom's Cabin," 1852; "Sober View of Slavery;" "Bonnie," 1863; "Patriotism and Oratory," 1863; pdict. pamphlets, Editor's Study Weekly Papers, Raleigh; Old Man's, Contrib. to Sabbath's Mag., Sat. Even. Post, &c. — A. Liban.

Wilkes, CHARLES, rear-adm. U.S.N., nephew of the celebrated John Wilkes of London, b. N.Y. City 1801. Midshipman 1 Jan. 1818; lieut. 23 Apr. 1826; com. 13 July, 1833; capt. 11 Sept. 1855; commo. 16 July, 1862; rear-adm. (retired list) 25 July, 1865. In 1820 he was app. to the dept. of charts and instruments. 18 Aug. 1838 he left Norfolk, Va., in com. of 5 vessels, for an exploring exped. to the South Seas; after visiting the islands of the Pacific, they discovered the Antarctic continent, which they coasted westward for more than 700 degrees. For this and other contributions to science, Wilkes received a gold medal from the Geog. Soc. of London. The explorations included the Hawaiian group and the North-west coast; and he reached N.Y. harbor 19 June, 1842. Sent in 1851 to the W. Indies in the frigate "San Jacinto" to look after the Confed. steamer "Sumter," he took Messrs. Mason and Slidell from the British mail-steamer "Trent," Nov. 8, and conveyed them to Boston. He was thanked by Congress, and received the applause of the people; but his course was finally disapproved by the Pres. 28 Aug. 1862, while com. the flotilla on the James River, he destroyed City Point. He afterward com. a squadron in the W. Indies, capturing many blockade-runners. Author of "Narrative of the U.S. Explo. Exped.," 5 vols. 1845; in 1851, "Voyage round the World," &c., a concise account of the same; "Western America," 1849; "Meteorology of the Explo. Exped.," 1851; and "Theory of Winds," 1856.

Wilkes, GEORGE, editor and proprietor of the South of the Times. Author of "History of California," 8vo, 1845; "Europe in a Hour," 12mo, 1852. In 1870 he received from the Emperor of Russia the grand cross of the order of St. Stanislas for suggesting an overland railway to China and India by way of Tibet.

Wilkins, WILLIAM, state-man, b. Eastern Pa. 1779; d. near Pittsburg, Pa., June 23, 1865. Son of John, Revol. officer, an early settler of Pittsburg, brig.-gen. of militia during the "Whisky Insurrection," who d. Pittsburg, 1816, a. 54. William was educated in Pittsburg. In 1810 was pres. of the Pittsburg Manuf. Co., and was until 1813 pres. of the Bank of Pittsburg. He then entered the legisl.; was U.S. senator in 1831-4; minister to Russia 1839; M.C. 1843-4, sec. of war 1844-5; and judge of the U.S. Dist. Court for Western Pennsylvania.

Wilkinson, GEN. JAMES, b. near Benedict, Md., 1757; d. near Mexico City, D.C. 28, 1835. He studied at the Medical School of Philadelphia in 1778, and after the battle of Bracken's Hill, repaired to the camp at Cambridge; March, 1776, Washington ordered him a capt. in R. H. No. 11, regiment, in which he served with Arnold in the North army; July, 1776, he was app. brig.-gen. of the army, and sent by Gates to the command of Trenton and Princeton; lieut.-col. Jan. 12, 1777; col. Gen. Mifflin to com. the North army, he was app. brig.-gen. (May 24), and bore to Congress the official despatches announcing the evacuation of the city. He received the brevet of brig.-gen., and was appointed sec. to the board of war, of which Gates was pres. Implacable in the Conway C.M. affair, he resigned his secretaryship, and July 24, 1779, was app. adj.-gen. to the army. After the peace, he settled in Lexington, Ky., with his family, and engaged in mercantile transactions, particularly in a tobacco contract with the Spanish gov. of La. App. lieut.-col. com. 24 Jul. Nov. 7, 1791; com. an exped. on the Wabash in 1791-2; brig.-gen. March 5, 1792; com. right wing of Wayne's army at the Maumee Rapids, and was disting. in the battle of Lodi from the French, as joint comm. with Gov. Claiborne, in D.C. 1803; gov. of La. Terr. 1805-7; com.-in-chief of the army, D.C. 1796-July, 1798, and June, 1800-Jan. 1812; remained in the head of the Southern dept. until his court-martial in 1811, which grew out of the embezzlement of Burr's funds at his activity in exposing his plans, and was honorably acquitted. App. brev. maj.-gen. July 19, 1812; maj.-gen. Mar. 1813; in April, 1813, he reduced Mobile, and fortified Mobile Point; and in May was order'd to the north in front of R. His operations against Canada were totally unsuccessful, principally on account of disagreement with Gen. Wade Hampton; and he was tried by a court-martial, but was acquitted of all blame. On the reduction of the army in 1815, he was discharged. Having become possessor of large estates in Mexico, he retired to that country, where he died. He pub. at Phila., in 1816, "Memoirs of My Own Times," 3 vols. 8vo. He was elegant in person and in manners, and suspicious and hospitable in his living.

Wilkinson, JEMIMA, a r. B. ions Unitarian, b. Cumberland, R.I., ab. 1753; d. July 1, 1819. She was educated a Quaker, and obtained distinction in the sect. Recovering suddenly from an apparent suspension of life, experienced during a fit of sickness, ab. 1773, she asserted that she had been raised from the dead, and claimed to be invested with divine attributes, as well as authority to instruct mankind in religion. She made a few proselytes, with whom, in 1779, she removed to N.Y., and settled on the tract called J. r. shden, Yates Co., where she resided until her death. She professed to be able to work miracles. Though she inculcated poverty, her dupes enabled her to live in a style of elegance; and she was careful to be the owner of lands, purchased in the name of her companion, Rachel Milder. When she preached, she stood in the door of her bed-chamber, wearing a waistcoat, stock, and a white silk cravat. After her death, the sect was entirely broken up. She insisted on the Shaker doctrine of celibacy; and the exercises of her religious meetings resembled those of that sect.

Willard, COL. ABRAHAM, loyalist, b. Lancaster, Ms., 1722; d. Lancaster, N.B., May, 1791. Son of Col. Samuel. He served at the taking of Cape Breton; rose to the rank of capt., and was wounded in that campaign; com. a Co. of foot in the campaign of 1759 under Amherst; was a loyalist; and in 1778 was proscribed, and his property confiscated. He settled in New Brunswick, and was a member of the Prov. council.

Willard, EMMA C. (HART), teacher and author, b. N. Britain, Ct., Feb. 23, 1787; d. Troy, N.Y., April 15, 1870. Descended from Thos. Hooker, the founder of Hartford. At 16 she began teaching in her native town; was successively principal of several academies; and while at Middlebury, Vt., in 1809, m. Dr. John Willard. In 1821 she commenced her celebrated school, the Troy Female Sem., with which she was connected till 1839. In 1830 she made a tour in Europe, and on her return pub. her "Journal and Letters," 12mo, 1833, devoting her share of the proceeds of the sale to the support of a school in Greece, founded mainly by her exertions, for the education of female teachers. Mrs. Willard long resided in Hartford, where she wrote and pub. addresses on Female Education; a "Manual of American History;" a "Treatise on Ancient Geography;" a small vol. of "Poems," 1830; a "Treatise on the Motive Power which produces the Circulation of the Blood," 1846; "History of the Mexican War and California," 8vo, 1849; "Last Leaves of American History," a continuation of her Manual; "Universal History in Perspective," 1857; "Temple of Time," 1844; "Historic Guide," 1847; "Respiration and its Effects;" "Astronomy;" "Morals for the Young," 1857; "Astronomy," 1853. One of her best known poems is the ocean-hymn, "Roched in the Cradle of the Deep."

Willard, FRANCIS E., pres. of the Evans-ton Col. for Ladies, b. near Rochester, N.Y., 28 Sept. 1829. Northw. Fem. Col. 1858. Of N. Eng. parentage, and descended from a race of teachers. She followed the same profession in various Western towns; afterward taught the natural sciences in her alma mater; in 1867 was app. preceptress of Genesee West. Sem. at Lima, N.Y.; and Feb. 14, 1871, was elected pres. of the col., recently established in connection with the North-western U. in defiance to the popular idea of the co-education of the sexes. This is the first time that such an honor was conferred upon a woman; and Miss Willard's eminent fitness for the position has been abundantly manifested. In 1869-71, in company with her friend and benefactress, Miss Kate A. Jackson of Paterson, N.J., she made an extended foreign tour, visiting Europe, Syria, and Egypt. In 1871 she lectured successfully in Chicago, her theme being "The New Chivalry," the educational aspects of the Woman Question. Beside numerous contribs. to periodicals, Miss W. in 1864 pub. "Nineteen Beautiful Years," a tribute to a deceased sister, which has been highly commended.

Willard, JOHN DWIGHT, LL.D., judge N.Y. Circuit Court, b. Lancaster 4 Nov. 1793; d. Troy, N.Y., 16 Oct. 1864. D.C. 1819. Adm. to the N.Y. bar ab. 1823; began practice in Troy in 1826; was editor of the Troy Sentinel some years; served as a State senator; and was a judge C.C.P. Lent $10,000 to Dartm. Coll. Author of "Treatise on Equity Jurisprudence," 1855; "Law of Executors, Administrators, and Guardians," 8vo, 1859; "Law of Real Estate," 1861.

Willard, JOSEPH, D.D. LL.D., clergyman, pres. of H. U., b. Biddeford, Me., Dec. 29, 1778; d. N. Bedford, Ms., Sept. 25, 1804. H. U. 1765. Losing his father, Rev. Samuel, minister of Biddeford (1725-41), at an early age, he went to sea, and made several coasting-voyages. He was enabled by the generosity of some friends to enter college; was tutor there in 1766-72; was ord. colleague with Rev. Joseph Champney at Beverly, Nov. 25, 1772; and was inducted into the presidency of Harvard, Dec. 19, 1781. He pub. a few sermons; a Latin address on the death of Washington, prefixed to Tappan's discourse, 1800; and some math. and astron. papers in the Memoirs of the Amer. Academy.

Willard, JOSEPH, antiquarian, son of the preceding, b. Cambridge, Ms., March 14, 1798; d. Boston, May 12, 1865. H. U. 1816. He studied law. Settled about 1829 in Boston. Correspond. of the Ms. Hist. Society 1829-34; app. master in chancery in 1839; clerk of the Sup. Court 1839-56; clerk of the Superior Court from 1856 until his death. Author of a "History of Lancaster," 1826; the Life of his ancestor, Simon Willard, with a Family Genealogy, 8vo, 1858; "Address on the 200th Anniv. of the Town of Lancaster," 8vo, 1853; "Naturalization in the Amer. Colonies," 1859; "Letter to an English Friend on the Rebellion in the U.S.," 1862; contribs. to hist. and literary periodicals. His son Maj. SIDNEY (11.15. 1852), b. Lancaster, Ms., Feb. 3, 1851, fed at Fredericksburg, Dec. 13, 1862. He studied and practised law in Boston. Was made maj. 35th Ms. Regt. Aug. 27, 1862. He was the writer of the article in the Atlantic Monthly entitled "A Night in a Wherry;" was a disting. oarsman at college, and skilful in athletic sports.

Willard, SAMUEL, divine and author, b. Concord, Ms., Jan. 31, 1649; d. Sept. 12, 1707. H. U. 1659. Son of Maj. Simon. Settled minister of Groton in 1663, but was driven thence by the Indian war of 1676; became colleague with Mr. Thatcher of the Old South Church, Boston, April 10, 1678, and as vice-pres., on the death of Pres. Mather (Sept. 6, 1701), took the superintendence of H. U. till his death. He opposed the proceedings of the courts during the witchcraft persecutions. His chief work is his "Body of Divinity," a folio vol. made up of monthly lectures delivered for 19 years, and pub. 1726; also author of "Brief Animadversions," &c., 1681; "The Fountain Opened," &c., 12mo, 1700; sermons and treatises. His son JOSHUA (b. 1 May, 1681) was sec. of Ms. from June, 1717, to his d., 6 Dec. 1756. H. U. 1698. App. judge of probate in 1731, member of the council 1734.

Willard, SAMUEL, D. D. (H. U. 1826), Unitarian divine, b. Petersham, Ms., Apr. 19, 1776; d. Deerfield, Ms., Oct. 8, 1859. H. U. 1843. He was in 1804-5 tutor in Bowd. Coll. Was ord. over the church in Deerfield, Sept. 3, 1807, and resigned the pastorate in Sept. 1829 on account of loss of sight. Author of the "Deerfield Coll. of Sacred Music;" "Original Hymns" 1823; "Index to the Bible, with Juvenile Hymns," 1826; "Coll. of Hymns," 1830; "Rhetoric," 1831; "Intro. to the Latin Language," 1835, &c. Member of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and Sciences.

Willard, SIDNEY, prof. of Hebrew in H. U. in 1807-31, b. Beverly, Ms., 19 Sept. 1780; d. Cambridge, 6 Dec. 1856. H. U. 1798; librarian there 1800-5. Son of Pres. Joseph of H. U. At one time a preacher; frequently a member of the legisl. and council; mayor of Cambridge 1848-51. Author of "Memories of Youth and Manhood," 2 vols. 12mo, 1855; and contrib. to the Monthly Anthology, Christ. Teem., and the N. A. Review.

Willard, MAJOR SIMON of Salem, b. Kent, Eng.; baptized 7 Apr. 1605; d. Charlestown, Ms., where he was holding a court, April 24, 1676. He came to N. E. in 1634; was a chief settler of Concord; then lived in Lancaster and Groton, and finally, in 1676, in Salem. He held various civil offices, and was skilful as a soldier.

Willard, WILLIAM, portrait-painter, b. Sturbridge, Ms., 1819. Began portrait-painting ab. 1849; has made successful pictures of Jenny Lind, Daniel Webster, Choate, Lincoln, and other noted persons; and since 1866 has been fully occupied with his profession in Worcester, Mass.

Willcox, ORLANDO BOLIVAR, brev. maj.-gen. U. S. A., b. Detroit, Mich., 16 Apr. 1823. West Point, 1847. Entered 4th Art.; served in Texas, and in the final campaign in Florida, by which he suffered greatly in health; and resigned 10 Sept. 1857. Adm. to the Detroit bar in 1858, he practised with success until May 24, 1861, when he became col. of the 1st Mich. Regt., the first to arrive at the theatre of war from the West. With Col. Ellsworth, he took possession of Alexandria; com. a brigade at the battle of Bull Run, where he was conspicuous for gallantry; was severely wounded, and taken prisoner; exchanged in Aug. 1862; brig.-gen. vols., dating from July 21, 1861. He was in the battles of Antietam and Fredericksburg, and was temporarily in com. of the 9th corps in Central Ky. Engaged in the operations in E. Tenn., Sept. '63 to Mar. '64; com. div. 9th corps in the Richmond campaign ending with Lee's surrender; brev. maj.-general vols. 1 Aug. 1864 for gallantry in several actions after crossing the Rapidan; and brig.-gen. U. S. A. for the battle of Spottsylvania; col. 29th Inf. July 28, 1866; col. 12th Inf. 1869; brev. maj.-gen. March 2, 1867, for capture of Petersburg. Author of "Shoepack Recollections," 1856; "A Wayside Glimpse of American Life," 1856; "Foca, an Army Memoir, by Maj. March," 1857.—Cadmus.

Willett, COL. MARINUS, Revol. soldier, b. Jamaica, L. I., July 31, 1740; d. N. York, Aug. 22, 1830. Col. Col. 1776. A hero in Delancey's regt. in the unfortunate attack upon Ticonderoga, in which he displayed great coolness and bravery; and served in Bradstreet's expd. against Fort Frontenac. Early in 1775 Willett entered M'Dougal's regt. as second capt.; joined the expd. of Montgomery; com. the post of St. John's until Jan. 1776, when he returned home, and was soon afterwards app. lieutenant-col. 31 N. Y. Regt.; May 18, 1777, he was ordered to Fort Stanwix, which was invested ab. the 3d of Aug. by Col. St. Leger with a large force of regulars and Indians. In order to effect a diversion in favor of Gen. Herkimer, he was collecting a body of militia to raise the siege. Col. Willett made a successful sally, and the siege was raised on the approach of Arnold. In June, 1778, he joined the army of Washington, and was present at the battle of Monmouth; in 1779 he accomp. Sullivan's successful expd. against the Indians. At the close of the war he was sheriff of N. Y. City (1784-92), and was mayor in 1807. In 1792 he was app. brig.-gen. in the army intended to act against the North-western Indians, but declined. He pub. an Autobiography. A Memoir, by his son Wm. M. Willett, was pub. 8vo, New York, 1831.

Williams, GEN. ALPHEUS STARKEY, b. Saybrook, Ct., Sept. 20, 1810. Y. C. 1831. In 1836-41 he practised law in Detroit; judge of probate for his county 1841-5; and editor and proprietor of the Detroit Daily Advertiser 1843-7. In the Mexican war he was lieutenant-col. of Stockton's Mich. Vols., and was postmaster of Detroit in 1849-53. App. brig.-gen. 17 May, 1861, he organized the Mich. Vols. until Sept.; joined Gen. Banks in com. of the 1st division in his corps in March, 1862. At the battle of Cedar Mountain, one-third of his division were killed or wounded. He com. this division of Slocum's (12th) corps at Antietam, at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, and at Gettysburg, Pa., July 2, 1863; served under Sherman in the Atlanta campaign; succeeded Slocum in com. of the 20th corps in Nov. 1864, and led it in the "march to the sea," and the campaign in the Carolinas, Dec. 1864-May, 1865. Minister to the republic of San Salvador 1866-9.

Williams, COL. BENJAMIN, Revol. patriot, b. N. C. 1754; d. Moore Co. July 20, 1814. He entered the army as a capt.; was disting. and made col. at the battle of Guilford; served many years in the State legisl.; was M. C. in 1793-5; was gov. of N. C. 1799-1802 and 1807-8, and State senator 1808-9.

Williams, MRS. CATHARINE R., b. Providence 1790; living there in Dec. 1871. Author of "Original Poems," 1828; "Religion at Home," 1829; "Fables, National and Revol.," 2 series, 1830-5; "Aristocracy," 1832; "Fall River," 1833; "Lives of Barton and Olney," 1839; "Neutral French," 1841; "Annals of the Aristocracy" (of R. L.), 1842-5.

Williams, CHARLES KILBOURNE, LL.D.

(Mid. Coll. 1834). jurist, b. Cambridge, Ms., Jan. 24, 1782; d. Rutland, Vt., Mar. 9, 1853. Wms. Coll. 1800. Son of Prof. Samuel. He became an eminent practitioner at the bar of Rutland Co. In 1812 served one campaign on the northern frontier, was frequently a representative between 1809 and 1821, and again in 1849; State attorney in 1814 and '15; judge of the Sup. Court in 1822-4 and 1829-42; collector of customs for the dist. of Vt. 1825-9; chief justice of the Sup. Court 1843-6, and ex officio chancellor of the State; pres. of the council of censors in 1847; and gov. 1850-2. A Memoir of his Life was pub. by Hon. Isaac F. Redfield.

Williams, CHARLES LANGDON, b. Rutland, Vt., 1821; d. there 10 Feb. 1861. Wms. Coll. 1839. Adm. to the bar in 1842; practised at Brandon, Vt., in 1844-8; and afterward resided in Rutland. Author of "Statistics of the Rut and Co. Bar," 1847; "Statutes of Vt.," Svo. 1851; "Vt. Sup.-Court Reports," vols. 27-29, 1855-7.

Williams, DAVID R., gov. S. C. 1814-16; killed by accident at a new bridge, Nov. 15, 1830. M. C. 1805-9 and 1811-13; brig.-gen. July 9, 1808, to April 6, 1814.

Williams, EDWIN, statistical writer, b. Norwich, Ct., 1797; d. N. Y. City, Oct. 21, 1834. Son of Gen. Joseph, a Revol. officer. He pub. Williams's Annals Register (1830-45); "Statesman's Manual," 4 volumes Svo. 1854; "Politician's Manual," 1832; "New Universal Gazetteer," 1833; "Book of the Constitution," 1833; "New York as It Is in 1833," et seq.; "Arctic Voyages," 1835; "Polit. History of Ireland," 1843; "Presidents of the U. S.," 1849; "Twelve Stars of the Republic," 1850. He was also one of the authors of "The Napoleon Dynasty," and was a constant contrib. to periodicals. Many years sec. to the American Institute, and an active working-member of the Hist., Geog., and Statistical Societies, as well as of the Mechanics' Institute.

Williams, REV. ELEAZER, d. Hogsburg, N. Y., Aug. 28, 1858, a. ab. 73. He is supposed to have been a grandson of Eunice, daughter of "the redeemed captive." In his youth he was put to school at Longmeadow, Ms. When the war with England broke out in 1812, he became confidential agent of gov. among the Indians; served with bravery in several engagements; and was severely wounded at Plattsburg in 1814. After the war he connected himself with the Prot.-Epis. Church, officiating for several years as lay-reader among the Oneida Indians; and in 1826 was ord. missionary in Northern N. Y. and in Wis. Terr. for many years. He derives his notoriety from an article by Rev. Mr. Hanson in Putnam's Misc., entitled "Have we a Bourbon among Us?" and a subsequent vol. by the same person, called "The Lost Prince." Author of "Fognois Spelling-Book," 1813; "Caution against our Common Enemy," 1815; "Book of Common Prayer," transl. into Mohawk, 1833; "Life of Thomas Williams," a chief of the Caginawagas, 1839.

Williams, ELISHA, pres. of Yale College 1724-39, b. Hatfield, Ms., Aug. 26, 1694; d. Wethersfield, July 23, 1755. H. C. 1711. Son of Rev. William of Hatfield. Ord. minister of Newington, Oct. 22, 1722. He passed from his parish duties at Wethersfield to the presidency of Yale. Obligated by ill-health to resign his rectorship of Yale Coll., he returned to Wethersfield, and was elected to the legisla., and app. judge of the Superior Court. He was in 1745 chaplain of the Ct. regt. sent to Cape Breton; was subsequently app. to com. a regt. in an intended exped. against Canada; went to Eng. in Dec. 1749 to receive the pay due to himself and his regt., returning in 1752. He pub. some occasional sermons.

Williams, COL. THURAM, founder of Williams College, b. Newton, Ms., Feb. 24, 1715; killed near Lake George, Sept. 8, 1755. Eldest son of Col. Eph., an early settler of Stockbridge. In early life he made several voyages to Europe. In the war with France, 1740-8, he served as a capt. in Canada; com. the line of Massachusetts forts on the west side of Ct. River; in 1755 he took com. of a regt., and was ordered to join the N. Y. forces under Gen. Johnson, who were marching northward to attack the French. He was proceeding with about 1,000 men and 200 Indians to attack Dieskau's advanced force, when he was ambuscaded by the French and Indians, and was killed at the first fire. He left his property by will for the establishment of a free school at Williamstown, Ms., which was opened in 1791, was incorporated as a college in 1793, and became a flourishing institution.

Williams, FREDERICK DICKINSON, landscape-painter of Boston, b. 27 Aug. 1828. Boston Latin School, 1843; H. C. 1850. Drawing-teacher at the Boston Latin and High Schools 1850-7. Son of Henry Williams of Boston. Among his pictures are "Tremont St. by Gaslight;" "At Home, a N. Eng. Land Interior;" "The Old Tannery on the Road to Franconia;" "Back-Bay Lands;" "New-England Hillsides;" "The Seaside Pasture;" "Manchester Coast;" "Summer at Lake George."

Williams, GEORGE H., atty.-gen. U. S. (app. 14 Dec. 1871), b. Columbia Co., N. Y., 23 Mar. 1823. Received an academical education in Onondaga Co. Studied law; adm. to the bar in 1844, and emig. to Iowa; elected judge 1st jud. dist. 1847; app. chief justice Oreg. Terr. 1853; re-app. 1857, but declined; member Const. Conv. of Oregon which formed the State gov.; U. S. senator 1863-71.

Williams, HENRY WILLARD, M. D. (H. C. 1849), oculist of Boston. Author of "Diseases of the Eye," 1862; "Recent Advances in Ophthalmic Science," 1866.

Williams, COL. JAMES, d. Oct. 8, 1780, of a wound at the battle of King's Mountain. He emig. from Granville Co., N. C., to Little River, Laurens Dist., S. C., in 1773. Member Prov. Cong. of S. C. in Jan. 1775; col. of militia in April, 1779; com. a detachment at the battle of Stono, June 20, 1779; Aug. 18, 1780, he attacked and defeated a large body of British and Tories, under Col. Innis, at Musgrove's Mills. He led one of the columns of attack at King's Mountain, where he exhibited great bravery, and fell in the thickest of the fight.

ALEX. JOHN was killed in defence of Fort Erie, 15 Aug. 1814.

Williams, GEN. OTHO HOLLAND, b. Prince George Co., Md., in March, 1749; d. July 16, 1794. His ancestors were Welsh, and came to America soon after Lord Baltimore became proprietor of Md. At twelve he was left an orphan, and was placed in the office of the clerk of his native county, and afterward in that of Baltimore, of which he had the principal direction. In the beginning of the Revol. struggle he was app. lieutenant of a rifle company, and marched to the Amer. camp near Boston. In 1776 a rifle-rect. was organized, in which he was app. major; it formed part of the garrison of Fort Washington, N.Y., when that post was captured by the British, and gained great honor by the gallant manner in which it withstood the attack of the Hessian column to which it was opposed. Major Williams was wounded and taken, but was soon exchanged. App. col. 6th M.L. Regt., with which, soon after the reduction of Charleston, he accomp. Baron De Kalb to S.C.; and when Gen. Gates assumed the com. of the Southern army, he was made adjutant, in which station he remained until the close of the war. He gained great distinction in the disastrous battle of Camden; performed efficient service during Greene's celebrated retreat, in which he com. the light corps which acted as a rear-guard. He seconded Greene at Guilford and Hobkirk; and, by his brilliant charge at Eutaw, he decided the fortune of the day. In May, 1782, he was made a brig.-gen. in coll. of customs for the State of Md. until his death. — See Life by Telfing, 8vo, 1831.

Williams, REUEL, LL.D. (Bowd. 1855), lawyer and senator, b. Augusta, Me., June 2, 1785; d. July 25, 1862. Adm. to the bar in 1802, he was a partner with Judge Bridge, and acquired high reputation; member of the legisl. 1822-6, and of the senate in 1827-8; again in the house in 1829-32; U.S. senator 1837-43; was active in the railroad project of uniting Augusta with Boston; and for 12 years was the manager of the road.

Williams, ROGER, founder of R.L. and the apostle of civil and religious liberty in America, b. Wales, 1599; d. Providence, Apr. 1683. Educated by Sir Ed. Coke at Sutton's Hospital, now the Charter House, 1621-4, and at Pemb. Coll., Camb., 1625-6. He became a nonconformist minister, and sought an asylum in America, arriving at Boston Feb. 9, 1631. In April he was chosen assist. to Mr. Skelton in the ministry at Salem; and asserting at once his views of religious toleration, the independence of conscience of the civil magistrate, and the separation of Church and State, he was in a few months obliged to withdraw to Plymouth, where he was for two years assist. to Mr. Ralph Smith. Returning to Salem in 1635, he succeeded Skelton, and was driven thence by an order of the Gen. Council, late in 1635, into exile for "his new and dangerous opinions against the authority of magistrates." Permitted to remain till spring, he persisted in preaching in his own house; and orders were sent in Jan. 1636 to seize him, and send him to Eng. He fled, making his memorable journey in the winter-season through what was then a wilderness, and founded the city of Providence. Here he maintained friendly relations with the Indians, and promoted the settlement of R.L. Embracing the sentiments of the Baptists, he was baptized March, 1639; but, entertaining doubts of the correctness of their principles, the church he had formed was dissolved. He studied the Indian language and endeavored to teach the gospel to the Indians. In 1643 he sailed from New Amsterdam for Eng. to procure a charter. On his voyage he wrote his "Key into the Language of America" (Lond. 1643). He obtained a charter in 1644, and landed in Boston in Sept. Before returning, he pub. in Lond. "Mr. Cotton's Letter, lately printed, Examined and Answered;" and also his celebrated work, which embodies the principles of toleration, — "The Bloody Tenent of Persecution for Cause of Conscience." At the close of 1651 he again visited Eng. to secure the confirmation of the charter, in which he succeeded. Cotton having replied to his "Bloody Tenent," Williams pub. (Lond. 1652) "The Bloody Tenent yet more Bloody by Mr. Cotton's Endeavour to wash it White in the Blood of the Lambe," &c.; and at the same time "The Hiring Ministry none of Christ's;" also "Experiments of Spiritual Life and Health, and their Preservatives." During this second visit in Eng., he was for a time engaged in teaching. He was intimate with Milton, Cromwell, and Sir Henry Vane, with whom he passed much time. He was chosen pres. of the Colony in Sept. 1654, which office he held 2½ years. His influence with the Indians enabled him to render signal services to the Colonies around him by averting from them the calamities of savage war; but they refused to admit R.L. into the N. England league, and even put obstacles in the way of preparing the means of defence. His Memoir has been written by J. D. Knowles (1833), Wm. Gannett (1846), and Romeo Elton (1853). The Narraganset Club in 1866 pub. a vol. containing a biog. of Williams by R. A. Guild, Williams's Key into the Language of America (edited by J. Hammond Trumbull), and Cotton's Letter with Williams's Reply. Though maintaining the rights of the Quakers, Williams held a controversy with Fox and his disciples, an account of which is the last of his pub., — "George Fox digged out of his Burrowes" (1676).

Williams, SAMUEL, LL.D. (Edinb. 1785), historian, and Hollis prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. in H.C. 1780-8, b. Waltham, Ms., Apr. 23, 1743; d. Rutland, Vt., Jan. 2, 1817. H.C. 1761. Grandson of Rev. John of Deerfield. Ord. minister of Bradford, Nov. 20, 1765-80. In 1788 he removed to Rutland, where he preached in 1799-95, and where he resided during the rest of his life. He surveyed the west boundary of Ms. in 1786, and the boundary-line of Vt. in 1805. Some time editor and prop. of the Rutland Herald; fellow of the Amer. Acad., of the Philos. Society; and pub., besides papers on astronomy, &c., in the scientific journals, "The Natural and Civil History of Vt.," 8vo, 1794, enlarged edition, 2 vols. 8vo, 1809. During his residence at Bradford, Benj. Thompson, afterwards Count Rumford, studied Williamson, Hugh, M.D., LL.D., statesman and man of letters, b. West Nottingham, Pa., 5 Dec. 1735; d. N.Y. 22 May, 1819. U. of Pa. 1757. He studied divinity; preached occasionally during two years; in 1760-3 was prof. of mathematics in the U. of Pa.; studied medicine at Edinburgh and Utrecht, where he took his degree; and on his return practised successfully in Phila. Jan. 7, 1762, he was app. one of a com. of the Philos. Society to observe the transit of Venus, his account of which is in vol. i. of the "Philos. Trans.;" which also contains a paper by him on the transit of Mercury, 9 Nov. 1769. After visiting the W. Indies in 1772, he went to London to procure aid for an acad. at Newark, N.J., and was examined in Feb. 1774 by the privy council on the subject of the destruction of the tea; spent some time on the Continent; and, after the Decl. of Indep., returned home, bringing important papers. The letters of Hutchinson and others were placed in the hands of Dr. Franklin, and reached Boston before Williamson reached Europe, disproving the assertion of his agency in their procurement. In 1777 he engaged in mercantile pursuits in Charleston, S.C., with a younger brother. He subsequently practised medicine in Edenton, N.C.; served a number of years in the house of commons; served as a surgeon in the militia of N.C. in 1781-2, rendering aid to those wounded at the battle of Camden; was a delegate to Congress in 1782-5 and 1787-8, and to the conv. which formed the U.S. Constitution in 1787, as well as to the State conv. to ratify it in 1789; M.C. 1790-3; then removed to New York, where he was instrumental in forming a Literary and Philos. Society in 1814; and was a frequent contrib. to the "Transactions" of the learned societies of Europe and America. He pub. a series of essays upon Paper Currency in 1786; some fugitive pieces on Languages and Politics in the American Museum; "Observations on the Climate of America," 1811; "Hist. of N.C.," 2 vols. 8vo, 1812; "Observations on Navigable Canals;" and an essay on Comets in "Trans." of Lit. and Philos. Soc. of N.Y. In 1810 he delivered a discourse on the "Benefits of Civil History," before the N.Y. Hist. Soc. Such was his integrity, that none could approach him with flattery or falsehood.

Williamson, Isaac H., LL.D. (N.J. Coll. 1829), lawyer and jurist, b. Elizabethtown, N.J., 1769; d. there July 10, 1844. Educated at the local schools of the place. He studied law with an elder bro., Matthias; was adm. to the bar in 1791; was at one time prosec. atty. for Morris Co., and rose to the head of the profession. In 1817 he was elected to the Assembly, and was gov. and chancellor of the State 1817-29. Pres. of the State Const. Conv. of 1844.

Williamson, James, landscape-painter, b. Tolleross, near Glasgow, Apr. 10, 1826; came to the U.S. in 1831, and is sec. of the Brooklyn Art. Assoc. His best pictures are, "Autumn in the Adirondacks," "Trout-Fishing," "American Fruit," and "Summit of Choconia by Twilight." — Tuckerman.

Williamson, Plover, well known for his singular adventures; d. Edinburgh, Jan. 19, 1799. He was kidnapped when a boy at Aberdeen, and sent to Amer., for which he afterward recovered damages. He passed a considerable time among the Cherokees, and, on his return to Edinburgh, amused the public with a description of their manners and customs, and his adventures among them; assuming the dress of a chief, imitating the war-whoop, &c. He had the merit of instituting a penny-post at Edinburgh, for which, when it was assumed by govt., he received a pension. He was also the first who pub. a city directory. Author of "French and Indian Cruelty Exemplified," &c., Glasg. 8vo, 1758; "Brief Account of the War in North America," 12mo, 1760 — Gent. Mag., lxxix. 167.

Williamson, William Durkee, historian, b. Canterbury, Ct., July 31, 1779; d. Bangor, May 27, 1846. Brown U. 1804. His ancestor Timothy of Marshfield was a soldier in King Philip's Indian war. Commencing the practice of law at Bangor in 1807, he was atty. for Hancock Co. 1808-16; was State senator in 1816-20; was pres. of the first senate of the new State of Me., and acting gov., in 1821; M.C. 1821-3. He was in 1824-40 a judge of probate for his county. He pub. a valuable Hist. of Maine, 2 vols. 8vo, 1832, a second ed. of which appeared in 1839. Member of several hist. and lit. societies, and a contrib. to the Amer. Quart. Register and to the "Colls." of the Ms. Hist. Society.

Willing, Thomas, merchant and Revol. patriot, b. Phila. Dec. 19, 1731; d. there Jan. 19, 1821. After reading law in the Temple, Lond., he became the head of the mercantile house of Willing and Morris, one of the largest in the country, who were the agents of Congress for supplying naval and military stores. Mayor of Phila.; judge of the Supreme Court; representative in the Gen. Assembly; chairman of a Revol. meeting in June, 1774; pres. of the Prov. Congress; delegate to the Cont. Congress in 1775-6; pres. of the first chartered bank in Amer.; and pres. of the first bank of the U.S. He was for 60 years an active, enterprising, and successful merchant. — Stimpson.

Willis, Nathaniel Parkler, poet and journalist, b. Portland, Jan. 20, 1807; d. Idlewild, Jan. 21, 1867. Y.C. 1827. Son of Nathaniel (1780-1870), founder, in 1816, of the Boston Traveller; and grand-son of Nathaniel (1755-1831), one of the Boston "Tea-Party," and many years a journalist in Ohio. His mother, dau. of Solomon Parker, a woman of exemplary piety and benevolence, d. in 1844. He studied at the Boston Latin School and at the Phillips Acad. at Andover. While at college, he pub. some religious poetry, and, after graduating, edited "The Legendary," a series of volumes of tales, and "The Token." In 1828 he established the Amer. Monthly Messenger, which he conducted two years, then merging it in the N.Y. Mirror. His "Pencilings by the Way" (repub. in 3 vols. 1835), contributed to the Mirror, give the history of his next 4 years of travel and adventure in Europe. While in Paris, Mr. Rives, the American minister, attached him to his legation, and with this privilege he made his visits to the courts and capitals of Europe and the East. R. turning after his marriage in Eng., in 1835 he settled in the Valley of the Susquehanna, at a place which he called "Gaiumary," where he passed 4 years, and wrote the "Letters from under a Bridge." Financial embarrassments caused his return to New York, where, in 1839, he established with Dr. Porter the Cosmopolitan, a weekly journal. He made a short trip to Eng., where he engaged Mr. Thackeray to write for the Cosmopolitan, and published in London "Loiterings of Travel," a miscellany of stories, poems, and European letters; two plays, "Blanca Visconti" and "Tortura the Usurer," with the joint title, "Two Ways of Dying for a Husband;" and also the letter-press for two serials, by Virtue on the Scenery of the U.S. and Poland. Thinking, on his return to N.Y., that the Cosmopolitan had been abandoned in discommodation by Dr. Porter, he in 1844 established with Gen. Morris the Evening Mirror. His health giving way under the pressure of this occupation, he once more went abroad. He returned home in 1846, and was, until his death, co-editor, with Morris, of the How Journal. In 1846 he was, for the second time, to the dau. of Mr. Joseph Grimm of New Bedford. His "Pencilings," were severally embodied by the Quarterly Review. He also pub. in Eng. "Makings of Adventure" 3 vols., originally contrib. to the New Monthly Magazine. Among his other publications are "Rural Letters;" "People I have Met;" "Life Here and There;" "Hurry-graphs;" "A Summer Cruise in the Mediterranean," 1853; "Fun Jottings;" "A Health-Trip to the Tropics;" "Letters from Ellow, 1" (his residence on the Hudson, just above West Point); "Famous Persons and Places;" "The Rag Bag;" "Dashes at Life with a Free Pen-ill," 3 vols. 1845; "Paul Fane," 1856; and "The Convalescent," 1860. His poems have been pub. with illustrations by Leutze.

Willis, Richard Stokes, b. Boston, 10 Feb. 1819. Y. C. 1841. Bro. of N. P. Willis. Author of "Church Chorals and Choir Studies;" "Our Church Music," 1855; "Cathedral Music Poems," 15 Nos., 1860-1; "Life of Bartholdy," 1865. Editor N. Y. Music of the World, and of Our Works, estab. 1862; contrib. to "Nuncho's Hymns," 8vo, 1861; and to the new papers and periodicals — 1860.

Willis, William, LL. D. (Bowd. Coll. 1876), historian, b. Haverhill, Ms., 21 Aug. 1794, d. Portland, Me., 17 Feb. 1870. H. C. 1813. Discovered from Michael, a cutter of Dorchester, Ms., 1808. Adm. to Boston bar 1817; settled in Portland, Me., 1819; lawyer, friend of Senator W. P. Fessenden 1845-54; Sen. senator 1855; mayor of Portland 1857; pres. Ms. Hist. Soc., 1856-67, member of many State Hist. Societies, and vice-pres. N. E. H. General Soc. Author of "History of Portland," 3 parts 1841, part II, 1843, and a new ed. 1865, Journal. Address before the Ms. Hist. Soc. 1855. Address to same, 1857; "M. Kinstry Genealogy," 1866; "Books and Pamphlets relating to Maine," 1870; "History of the Law, the Courts, and the Lawyers of Me.," 8vo, 1873, cloth ed. Me. Hist. C. 1873. Vols. 1-66; ed. Journals of Smith and Blaine, with notes, 8vo, 1874, 1875. 1874. 1875. ed. Dr. Estlin's "Discourse on Me.," in the first vol.

of the documentary hist. of the State. Contrib. to N. E. Geol. Rept., Hist. Mag., Quart. Journal, Nott's Literary Lectures, Law Reports, &c.

Williston, Emeline B., pres. J. H. Coll., Mt. d. Norwich, Vt., 28 Dec. 1837, a. 37. H. C. 1823. Author of "Eloquence of the U.S.," 5 vols., 8vo, 1827.

Williston, Samuel, philanthropist, b. East Hampton, Ms., 17 June, 1795. Son of Rev. Payson, min. of East Hampton 1789-1833. He began the study of theology, but discontinued it from weakness of the eyes. Gaining a fortune by the manufacture of buttons, he established in 1849, in his native town the Williston Sem., to which he has given $250,000. In 1846 he endowed professorships in Amherst College, adding in 1858 and 1859 sums which made in all $125,000. He gave liberally to the Mount-Holyoke Fem. Sem., and has 3 times erected a church at East Hampton, repeatedly burned.

Willson, Mervin, b. W. Stockbridge, Ms., 1813. Un. Coll. 1836. Author of "Civil Policy and Political Economy," 1828; "Landscape-Drawing," 1839; "Theoretical Arithmetic;" series of School Histories and Readers; "Object Lessons," 1862; with N. A. Calkins, "School and Family Charts."

Wilmer, Lambert A.; d. Brooklyn, N. Y., 21 Dec. 1863, a. 58. Editor in early life of the Anti-Sl. Visitor; afterward for many years of the Phila. Penn's Evening. Author of "New System of Grammar;" "Quacks of Helicon," 1851; "Life of De Soto," 8vo, 1858; "Our Press-Gang," 1859. — 1860.

Wilmer, William Holland, D. D. (B. C. 1819), Epis. clergyman, b. Kent Co., Md., 1782; d. Williamsburg, Va., July 24, 1827. Wash. Coll. He first engaged in no remote pursuits; was ord. in 1808; took charge of Chester parish, whence he went in 1812 to Alexandria, D. C., as rector of the parish of St. Paul's. He was in 1816 first rector of St. John's, Washington City; and in 1819-26 was an editor of the Washington Trade Repository; in 1823 he was app. to the chair of theology in the sem. in Alexandria, Va.; and in 1826 pres. of Wm. and Mary Coll. and rector of the church at Williamsburg. Besides sermons, Dr. Wilmer published in 1815 his "Ecclesial Manual." His controversy with Baxter, a Jesuit priest, was pub. 1818, 8vo.

Wilnot, David, author of the Wilnot Process, b. Bethany, Pa., 20 Jan. 1814; d. Towanda, Pa., 16 Mar. 1868. Educated at the academies at Bethany and at Amoria, N. Y., adm. to practise law at Wilkesbarre, Pa., in 1834, and practised at Towanda. He began political life a Democrat; was M. C. in F. 45-51, pres. judge of the 13th dist. of Pa. 1833-61; and was U.S. senator to fill a vacancy in 1841-3. While a bill was pending to appropriate $2,000,000 for the purchase of a part of Mexico, he moved, Aug. 8, 1846, to add an amendment, "That, as an express and fundamental condition to the acquisition of any territory from the republic of Mexico by the U.S., . . . neither slavery nor involuntary servitude shall ever exist in any part of said territory." "The Wilnot Process," as it was called, was adopted by the house, but failed in the senate. He supported a Van Buren for the presidency in 1848; was a delegate to the Nat. Repub. Conv. at Phila. in 1856, and at Chicago in 1860; opposed the repeal of the Mo. Compromise; was the unsuccessful candidate in 1857 for gov. of Pa.; was temporary chairman of the convention which in 1860 nominated Mr. Lincoln to the presidency; and in 1863 was app. by him a judge of the U.S. Court of Claims.

Wilmot, Hon. ROBERT DUNCAN, b. Frederickton, N.B., 16 Oct. 1809. Educated at St. John, N.B. Elected to the N. B. legisl. in 1846; surv.-gen. 1851-4; prov. sec. in 1856-7, and also a member of the govt. in 1865-6; mayor of St. John, and its representative for 16 years; delegate for effecting a union of the British Provinces, and to the Council of Trade at Quebec in Sept. 1865. Author of some important papers upon "Currency."

Wilson, ALEXANDER, ornithologist, b. Paisley, Scotland, July 6, 1766; d. Phila. Aug. 23, 1813. He was brought up in the trade of a weaver, which he followed 7 years, during which time he wrote verses for the Glasgow Advertiser. He pub. 2 vols. of Poems in 1789 and 1791, which he peddled through the country. "Watty and Meg," pub. anonymously in 1792, met with a sale of 100,000 copies, and was attributed to Burns. He also wrote for the Bea, and gained an acquaintance with Burns. Prosecuted and imprisoned for a poetical lampoon, he resolved to emigrate to Amer., and landed at New Castle, Del., July 14, 1794. In the varied occupations of a weaver, peddler, and schoolmaster, he lived on for 8 years. By the advice of Bartram the botanist, he turned his attention to ornithology. In Oct. 1804 he set out on a pedestrian excursion to the Falls of Niagara, a metrical account of which he pub. in the Portfolio, entitled "The Foresters, a Poem;" in 1805 he began to learn the art of etching. Employed by Bradford, the Phila. publisher, upon an edition of Rees's "Cyclopædia," he prevailed upon him to furnish funds for the publication of an Amer. ornithology on an adequate scale. The 1st vol. of his great work appeared in Sept. 1805; but it was too expensive to be very successful. The 2d app. in 1810. In the course of publishing the first 7 vols. of his work, he travelled all over the continent to obtain subscribers and to increase his ornithological stores. On his return, by laboring night and day in the preparation of his work, he impaired his already weakened constitution, and hastened his death. The 8th and 9th vols. were edited after his death, with a biog. by George Ord, who had accomp. him in some of his journeys. The work was afterward continued by Charles Lucien Bonaparte (4 vols. 4to, Phila. 1825-33). — See Practical Memoir of Wilson in Sparks's Amer. Biog., 2d ser., vol. 1, and Illume.

Wilson, ALLEN B., inventor, b. Willet, Cortland Co., N. Y. Has made important improvements in the sewing-machine. The first, patented 12 Nov. 1850, made the stitch with less expense of time and power than the original; another improved the mechanism for holding and feeding the cloth; and, 12 Aug. 1851, he patented the "rotating hook," one of the most valuable improvements ever made in the sewing-machine. The first "Wheeler and Wilson" sewing-machine was made early in 1851.

Wilson, BRAD, D.D., LL.D., b. Carlisle, Pa., 1777; d. N. Y. City, 14 Apr. 1859. Phila. Coll. 1792. Son of James Wilson the signer. Pres. judge C.C.P., 7th circuit, 1802; ord. deacon Pr. Ep. Ch. 1819; rector of St. John's, North-town, Pa., 1819-21; prof. system. divin. N.Y. Epis. Sem. 1821-50; and emeritus prof. 1850-9. Author of an edition of Bacon's "Abridgment," 7 vols. 8vo, 1811-13; Memoir of Bishop White, 8vo, 1856 — See Memorial of B. Wilson, by W. White, Evanson, 1864.

Wilson, DANIEL, LL.D., prof. of history and Eng. lit. U. of Toronto since 1853, b. Edinburgh, 1816. Bro. of "Chri-topher North." Author of "Memorials of Ed.burgh," 1847; "Oliver Cromwell," 1850; "Archæology, &c., of Scotland," 1851; "Prehistoric Man," 1865; "Chatterton," 1869. Four years editor of the Canadian Journal. Pres. of the Canadian Institute since 1859. — Morgan.

Wilson, HENRY, statesman, b. Farmington, N.H., Feb. 16, 1812. The son of poor parents, he was brought up on a farm, and had little schooling, but, accumulating a little money by shoemaking at Natick, Ms., credit for a while in the academies at Stafford, Wolfborough, and Concord. He resumed shoemaking at Natick in 1838. In 1840 he took an active part in the presidential canvass, and made upward of 60 speeches in behalf of Harrison. In the next 5 years he was 3 times elected from Natick to the legisl., and twice a senator from Middlesex Co. An active and zealous opponent of slavery, he made an elaborate speech on his resolution in the legisl., declaring the unalterable hostility of Ms. to the farther extension and longer continuance of slavery in America. Delegate to the Whig nat. conv. of 1848, and, on the rejection of anti-slavery resolutions, withdrew from it, and took a prominent part in organizing the Free-soil party. He then bought the Boston Free-Soil Bean, a daily newspaper, which he edited for two years. In 1851 and '52 he was pres. of the State Senate; in 1852 he was pres. of the Free-soil nat. conv. at Pitts-burg. He took a prominent part in the Const. Conv. of 1850, and was the Free-soil candidate for gov., but was defeated. He was elected to the U.S. senat. in 1855, where he has ever since been conspicuous. For a brief period in 1855 he was a member with the American party, but, on the adoption of a pro-slavery platform by its national Council, withdrew from it, and took an active share in organizing the Repub. party. He has taken part in all important debates in the senat., and made elaborate speeches on Kansas, the treasury-note bill, the expenses of the govt., the tariff, the Pacific Railroad, and many other topics. His speech in defence of free labor in reply to Senator Hammond of S.C., March, 1859, attained an immense circulation through the free States. In March, 1861, he was made chairman of the com. on military affairs, a post which the civil war rendered one of great labor and responsibility. In the session of 1861-2 he introduced the bills abolishing slavery in the Dist. of Col., and for abolishing the "black code." In the autumn of 1861 he raised the 22d Md. Regt., of which he was for a short time col. In 1862 he brought in the bill for the employment of colored soldiers. He introduced many important measures to organize and develop the military resources of the country during the civil war, and delivered about 100 speeches at various places in support of the Union. In 1851 he pub. a "History of the Anti-Slavery Movement of the 37th and 38th Congresses," in 1855 "Military Measures of the U. S. Congress," 8vo, 1856; "History of the Reconstruction Measures of the 39th and 40th Congresses," 1864.

Wilson, James, LL.D., a signer of the Decl. of Independence, s. Andrew's School, abt. 1742; d. Edinb., N. C., Aug. 23, 1793. He studied successively at Glasgow, St. Andrew's, and Edinburgh; then came to Phila., where in 1766 he was first employed as a tutor in the coll. and academy; a few months afterwards he commenced the study of law in the office of John Dickinson; was adm. to the bar in 1768; practiced successively at Reading, then at Carlisle, then at Annapolis, and in 1773 returned to Phila., where he continued to reside during the rest of his life. Upon the opening of the controversy with Great Britain, he wrote and pub. his sentiments with great freedom and boldness. He was a member of the convention held in 1774 and 1775. He took his seat in Congress, May 10, 1775, and voted in favor of the Decl. of Indep. in opposition to the majority of his colleagues from Pa. In 1782-3 and 1785-7 he was again a delegate; in 1779-81 he was advocate-gen. of France, and continued to give advice until 1783, when the French sent him a present of 10,000 livr. s. He was a member of the conv. which framed the Constitution of the U. S.; was one of the conv. who reported the draught, and in the State conv. was diligent in procuring its adoption. He was subsequently a member of the conv. which changed the constitution of Pa., and was one of the conv. to make the draught. In Sept. 1790 he was app. a judge of the U. S. Supreme Court. In 1799 he was app. prof. of law in the U. of Pa., and delivered a course of lectures, which are contained in his works, pub. in Phila. 3 vols. 1804. He pub. "Address to the Citizens of Phila.," 1784; and with T. and McKean, LL.D., "Comments on the U. S. Constitution," Lond., 8vo, 1787.

Wilson, James Grant, b. Edinb., 1742. Son of William of Perthshire, with whom he came to the U. S. in Dec. 1803, and was his partner in the Edinburgh and Philadelphia business in Chicago. During the Rebellion he served under Grant at Vicksburg, and subsequently under Sherman in La. He has since resided in N. Y. City. Author of "Illinois Obedience in the Rebellion," 8vo, 1863; "Love in Letters," &c., 1867; "Life of Gen. Grant," 8vo, 1868; "Mr. Secretary Poyes and his Diary," 1869; "Lies and Letters of Fitz Greene Halleck," 1869; "Sketches of Illustrious Soldiers;" "Poets and Poetry of Scotland," and "History of Chicago," are in MS. He edited Halleck's "Poetical Works," 1869; assisted in preparing the "Life of Audubon," by his widow, 1869; edited the Chicago Record and the North-Western Quart., 35 vols.; and has contrib. to Atlepton's Cyclop. and the magazines of the day. — Am. Cyc.

Wilson, Gen. James H., b. Ill. abt. 1838. West Point, 1860. During the Topog. Engng., he became 1st Lieut. 9 Sept. 1861, and capt. 7 May, 1863; Lieut.-col. 2d U. S. Vols. 8 Nov. 1862; Lieut.-gen. vols. 31 Oct. 1863; major-gen. vols. 20 Apr. 1865. He served in the Fort-Royal exped.; at the capture of Fort Pulaski, Ga., for which he was brev. major 14 Apr. 1862; aide to Gen. McClellan at South Mountain and Antietam; as Lt. Gen. and Insp.-gen. Army of the Tenn. in Vicksburg campaign of Mar.-Oct. 1863; brev. Lt. col. 24 Nov. 1863 for battle of Chattanooga; com. 31 cavalry div. Army of the Potomac, May-Aug. 1864; brev. col. 5 May, 1864, for the battle of the Wildcat, and engaged in the principal battles during that period; in the Shenandoah campaign, Aug.-Sept. 1864, and engaged at Summit Point 23 Aug. and at Opequan 19 Sept. 1864; com. cavalry of the div. of the Md. Oct. 1864-July, 1865, and engaged in Gen. Thomas's campaign, driving the Confeder. cavalry across the Harpers River during the battle of Franklin, 30 Nov.; and in battle of Nashville, for which he was brev. brig.-gen. U. S. A. 13 Mar. 1865; com. cavalry exped. into Ala. and Ga. Mar.-Apr. 1865; and brev. maj.-gen. U. S. A. 13 Mar. 1865 for capture of Selma, Ala.; took Montgomery 12 Apr., Columbus 16 Apr., and Mason 20 Apr.; and finally, 10 May, 1865, captured Jefferson Davis, pres. of the Confederacy. Lt. col. 35th Inf. 23 July, 1866; discharged 31 Dec. 1870. — Civilian.

Wilson, James Patrick, D.D. (U. of Pa. 1897) names in Phila., b. Lewis, Del., 21 Feb. 1769; d. Bucks Co., Pa., Dec. 10, 1830, U. of Pa. 1788. Son of Rev. Dr. Matthew Wilson. Adm. to the bar in 1790. He was first a disting. lawyer, and from 1806 to 1830 pastor of the First Presb. Church. He pub. "Lectures on the Parables and the Heart-Parts of the New Testament," 8vo, 1810; "Intro. to Hebrew," 1812; "Essay on Grammar," 1817; "Common Objections to Christianity," 1820; "Hope of Immort.," 1829; "Primitive Govt. of Christ Churches," 1833, &c.

Wilson, John, first minister of Boston, b. Windsor, Eng., 1588; d. Aug. 7, 1667. Son of Rev. Dr. Wm. He was educated at King's Coll., Cambridge, where he obtained a fellowship, of which he was deprived for nonconformity. After studying law and theology, he was chaplain in several armies; then settled in the ministry at Sudbury, Suffolk; but in 1620 came to N. E. with Winthrop. A church was formed at Charlestown, on 1 Aug. 27, Mr. Wilson was ord. over it. Succeeded in Boston Nov. 22, 1630, but returned to England in 1636, in 1631. He was again ord. pastor in Nov. 1632. He was regarded as the father of the new plantation. He pub. in England: "Some Keys to Faith," 12mo.

Wilson, John, printer of Boston from abt. 1843 to his death Aug. 1848, b. Glasgow, Scotland, 1802. Author of "Scripture Proofs and Illustrations of Unitarianism," 8vo, 1834; "Concessions of Trinitarians," 8vo, 1842;

"Treatise on Punctuation," 1844 and 1850; "Unitarian Principles confirmed by Trinitarian Testimonies," 1755; "Elements of Punctuation," 1855. He prefixed an essay on Burns to an edition of his poems in 1837, and delivered an address on Burns, in Boston, in 1859.

Wilson, PETER, LL.D., scholar and linguist, b. parish of Orduhull, Scotland, Nov. 23, 1746; d. N. Barbadoes, N.J., Aug. 1, 1825. Mar. Coll., Aberdeen. Emig. to America in 1763. He was many years principal of Hackensack (N.J.) Acad., and of that at Flatbush, L.I.; and was in 1789-92 and in 1792-1820 prof. of Latin and Greek at Col. College. An active Whig of the Revol.; member N. J. legisl. 1778-83. He pub. "Introduct. to Greek Prosody," 1811, and an improved ed. 1812; "Latin Prose," 1816; an ed. of Adams's "Roman Antiquities," 1819; and of the "Greek Text," repr. Phila. 1859.

Wilson, ROBERT ANDERSON, b. Coopers-town, N.Y., 1812; resided 3 years and a half in Cal., where he was judge of the Sacramento gold dist. Author of "Mexico and its Religion, or Incidents of Travel," 1851-4, 12mo 1855; "A New History of the Conquest of Mexico," 8vo, 1859. Edited, with notes and appendix, vol. i. "Calif. Reports," by Benner, 1853. — Albion.

Wilson, SAMUEL FARMER, journalist, b. New York, 1805; d. N. Orleans, March 12, 1870. Col. Coll. 1822. Adm. to the N.Y. bar, but removed to N. Orleans, where he was at one time associated with Gen. Wm. Walker, in the Time Delta, and was afterward an editor and proprietor of the Picayune. Author of "Hist. Amer. Revol.," 5th ed. 1834, new ed. 1869.

Wilson, THOMAS B., naturalist, b. Phila.; d. Newark, Del., March 15, 1865. Eminent as a zoologist. He raised to a high rank the Acad. of Nat. Sciences of Phila., of which he was pres. His collections in this dept. were of great value. The splendid collection of birds belonging to the Phila. Acad. was his gift.

Wilson, WILLIAM, an early pioneer of Illinois; chief justice of the Sup. Court of Ill. 1819-49; d. White Co., Ill., 29 Apr. 1856, a. 68.

Wilson, WILLIAM, bookseller and poet of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., b. Perthshire, Scotland, 1801; d. 25 Aug. 1860. After many years' residence in Edinburgh, he came in 1833 to the U.S., and in 1834 estab. himself at P. For 30 years a contrib., under the pseudonym of "Allan Grant" and "Alpin," of poems to the periodicals. He edited the Scottish Songs, &c., of New Amst.; assisted in editing the Dundee Review 1821-3; and in 1824 edited the Literary Observer. A vol. of his Poems, edited by Benson J. Lossing, was pub. 12mo, 1870.

Wilson, WILLIAM DEXTER, D.D. (Gen. Coll. 1850), LL.D., clergyman, b. Stoddard, N.H., Feb. 28, 1816. He studied at Walpole Acad., and afterward in the Cambridge Theol. School, and was ord. in the Epis. ministry in 1842. Prof. of hist. and moral and intell. philos. Geneva Coll. 1850. He has pub. "A Manual of Church Principles," 1846; "History of the Reformation in England," 1848; "The Church Founded," 1850; "Elementary Treatise on Logic," 1856; "Constitution of a Christ Church derived from Holy Script.;" in 1847 he edited Bishop Maur. "On the Rubrics.;" and has contrib. to the reviews on philos. subjects.

Winchell, ALEXANDER, LL.D. (Wes. U. 1837), geologist, b. North East, Duchess Co., N.Y., Dec. 31, 1824. Wesl. U. 1847. Teacher of natural sciences at America Sem., N.Y., 1848-51, and at Mesopotamia Female Sem., Ala., 1851-3; pres. of Masonic Female U., Selma, Ala., 1853; prof. physics and civil eng. U. of Mich. 1853-5; and of geol., zool., and botany, since 1855, pres. of Mich. State Teachers' Assoc. 1859; State geologist, Mich., 1859-62; prof. of geology in the Ky. U. 1836-9; made director of the geol. survey of Mich. 1869; prof. of geol., zool., and botany, U. of Mich. Member of a large number of scientific bodies at home and abroad. Has pub. 210 original papers and volumes; and has described 300 new species and genera, mostly fossil. Edited the Michigan Journal of Education in 1859. Author of "Sketches of Creation," 1859, also a "Genealogy of the Family of Winchell," 1869; "First Biennial Report Geolog. Surv. of Mich. 1861;" "The Grand Traverse Region," 8vo, 1866; "Geolog. Map of Mich.," Phila. 1865; "Geol. Chart N.Y.," 1870. — See list of his papers in Albion.

Winchester, ELIYAN, clergyman, b. Brookline, Ms., Sept. 30, 1751; d. Hartford, Ct., April 18, 1797. He began preaching in 1769; and in 1771 was pastor of a Baptist church in Rehoboth, Ms. Adopting the views of the re-triected communists, he was excommunicated by his church. After residing in Charleston, S.C., from 1774 to 1780, he became pastor of the First Baptist Church in Phila. In 1781 he founded there a Universalist church. He preached successfully in Eng. in 1787-94; and pub. "Four Dialogues on Universal Restoration," 1788; "Lectures on Unfulfilled Prophecies," 4 vols. 8vo, 1790; "Five Letters to Rev. Dan Taylor," 1790; "The Progress and Empire of Christ," a poem, 1793; and "The Three Woe Trumpets," 1793. Among 37 others of his publications are "New Book of Poems," Boston, 8vo, 1773; "Hymns," 1776; "Oration on the Discovery of America," delivered in Lond. 1792; "Life of Benneville.;" "Five Letters on the Divinity of Christ.;" "The Beauties of the Millennium.;" "Ten Letters to Thomas Paine, in Reply to his Age of Reason," 1794; "Political Catechism," 1795; "Hymns on the Restoration," 1795; "Addresses to Jews, Deists, and Christian.;" His Life was written by Viller, and by E. M. Stone (Boston, 1836).

Winchester, GEN. JAMES, b. Md., 1756; d. Tenn. July 27, 1826. Lieut. in the 3d Md. Regt. May 27, 1778; and was made a prisoner by the British, and exchanged Dec. 22, 1780; app. brig.-gen. Mar. 27, 1812, com. a detachment of North-western army, and defeated by British and Indians near Frenchtown, on the River Raisin, Jan. 22, 1813; resigned March 21, 1815.

Winchester, SAMUEL GOVER, pastor of the Sixth Presb. Church, Phila. 1830-7, and of a cong. at Natchez, Mpi., from 1837 to his

d. at N. Y. City 31 Aug. 1841, b. Rock Run, Md., 17 Feb. 1805. Author of "Companion for the Sick," 1831; "Christin Counsel to the Sick," 1836; Discourse at Oakland Coll., 1838; "The Theatre," Phila. 12mo; "Importance of Family Religion, with Prayers and Hymns," 12mo, 1841. — See Spence.

Winder, LEVINS, gov. Md. 1812-15; d. Balt. July 7, 1819, a. 63. App. maj. 4th Md. Regt. Apr. 17, 1777, and was a lieutenant-col. at the close of the Rev. war. Speaker of the h. of delegates before 1812; in 1816 was a member of the senate, and was also a gen. of militia, and a grand master of Masons of Maryland.

Winder, GLEN, WILLIAM II. b. Somerset Co., Md., Feb. 18, 1775; d. Baltimore, May 21, 1824. U. of Pa. He established himself in the practice of law in Baltimore in 1798; was app. lieutenant-col. in Mar. 16 1812; col. 14th Inf. July 6, 1812; com. a successful expedition from Back Rock to the Canada shore below Fort Erie, Nov. 28, 1812; brig.-gen. Mar. 12, 1813; made prisoner at Stony Creek, U. Canada, June 6, 1813; adj. and ins-p. gen. May 9, 1814; assigned to com. of 10th dist. July 2, 1814; com. at the battle of Badensburg, and in the unsuccessful defence of Washington City, Aug. 1814; and, after the war, resumed his profession. He was disting. at the bar and in the senate of Md. and, though unfortunate, was esteemed for gallantry and patriotism. His son Gen. JOHN H. WINDER, b. Md. 1800, d. Becheville, S. C., Feb. 9, 1865. West Point, 1820; assist. instructor in tactics there 1827-8. He served with distinction in the Mexican war, and at the opening of the Rebellion was major, and brev. lieutenant-col. 3d Art. He resigned 27 Apr. 1861; entered the Confed. service; was soon made a brig.-gen., but was not actively employed. He com. the post of Richmond; had charge of Libby Prison, Belle Isle, and finally of Andersonville, Ga. His cruelty to prisoners rendered him infamous.

Winds, GLEN, WILLIAM, Revol. officer, b. Southold, L. I., abt. 1727; d. near Dover Morris Co., N. J., 1789. He was one of the founders of the Presb. Church in Rockaway, and bequeathed to it more than half his large property. In 1775 he was lieutenant-col. in Lord Stirling's regt., and was a col. in 1776 at Teconderoga. He was a large, athletic man, and had a most powerful voice.

Winbrenner, JOHN, founder of a religious sect, named by him the "Church of God," but generally termed Winbrennerians. Originally a minister of the German Ref. Church, he took charge, in 1821, of a small cong. at Harrisburg, Pa., from which he withdrew in October, 1820, and founded a new sect. The church has 3 positive ordinances, — baptism, feet-washing, and the Lord's supper. Two things are essential to the validity of baptism; viz. faith and immersion. The elders meet annually, while a general eldership of delegates meets on the annual elderships is held every 3 years. The denomination has a domestic and foreign missionary society, and a printing establishment for its publications. Its organ is the Church Advocate, a weekly.

Wines, ESOPH COMB, D. D. (Mid. 1850), LL. D. (Wash. Coll. 1859), teacher and author,

b. Hanover, N. J., Feb. 17, 1806. Mid. Coll. 1827. He became principal of an acad. at St. Alban's, and afterward assist. teacher in a female sem. in Alexandria, Va., and next opened a school in Washington City. In 1829 he taught on board the ship "Constellation," in which he visited the Mediterranean. In 1833 he took charge of the Edge-hill School, Princeton, N. J.; in 1838 became prof. of Languages in the Central High School of Phila.; in 1841 founded a boarding-school in Burlington, N. J., where he remained 4 years. In Jan. 1849 he was licensed to preach by the Cong. board of R. I. and has since preached in various places. In 1853 became prof. in Wash. Coll., Pa.; and in July, 1859, took charge of a literary institution, styled the "City of St. Louis." Has latterly been engaged in a mission for the organization of an International Prison Congress. He has pub. "Two Years and a Half in the American Navy," 2 vols. 1832; "Hints on a System of Popular Education," 1837; "How shall I Govern my School?" 1838; "Commentaries on the Laws of the Ancient Hebrews," 1852; "A Trip to Boston," 1858; "A Peep at China," 8vo; Monthly Journal of Education; "Essay on the Advantages of Studying the Classic Languages;" "Lecture on Education as a Source of Wealth;" "Treatise on Regeneration," 1863; "Essay on Temptation," 1865; "Promises of God," 1868; besides contribs. to periodicals.

Wingate, PAINE, jurist, b. Ameshury, Ms., May 14, 1739; d. Stratham, N. H., March 7, 1838. II. C. 1759. Gr.-grandson of JOHN of Dover, 1660; grandson of Col. JOSIAH (b. Dover, N. H., Feb. 2, 1680, d. Hampton, Feb. 9, 1769), who was at the capture of Louisburg, 1745; son of PAINE, minister of Ameshury, 1726-86 (II. C. 1723). He was orl. Cong. minister of Hampton Falls, N. H., Dec. 14, 1763; dism. March 18, 1771; M. C. in 1787; U. S. senator 1789-93; again M. C. 1793-5; and a judge of the Superior Court of N. H. 1798-May, 1809. His wife, a sister of Timothy Pickering, d. Jan. 7, 1843, a. 100 years and 8 months.

Wingfield, EDWIN MARTIN, merchant of London, a member of a disting. family; was first pres. of the Colony of Va. under the patent of 10 Apr. 1606. In consequence of disagreement, he returned to Eng. in 1608. Capt. John Smith gives him a very bad character. Charles Deane in 1860 edited, with Notes and an Introd., "A Discourse of Virginia" by Wingfield, first printed from the original MS. in the Lambeth Library.

Winslow, CHARLES FREDERICK, M. D. (II. C. 1834), b. Nantucket, Ms., 1811. A. p. consul to Payta, Peru, 1862. Author of "Cosmography," 12mo, 1833; "Preparation of the Earth," 8vo, 1834; "The Cooling Globe," 1865; "Force and Nature," 8vo, 1869.

Winslow, EDWARD, gov. of Plymouth Colony 1633, '36, and '41, b. Dornwich, Wiltshire, Eng., Oct. 19, 1595; d. at sea, between St. Domingo and Jamaica, May 8, 1655. He was of good family, made a tour in Europe; and in 1617 joined the church of R. I. John Robinson at Leyden. He was a preacher in "The Mayflower" was one of 50 emigrant brothers; and, in the first conf. with Massachusetts, offered himself as a hostage, and won the attachment of the chief, which he strengthened in 1623 by curing him of a severe illness. In 1623-4 he made two voyages to Europe as agent for the Colony. While in Eng. in 1635, as agent for the Colony, Archbishop Laud imprisoned him in the Fleet Prison for 17 weeks on the charges of having taught in the church, being a layman, and performing marriage as a magistrate. In 1649 he again went to Eng.; aided in organizing the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in N.E., and was engaged in various public affairs. In 1655 Croswell made him one of 3 commiss. to suppress an expedition against the Spaniards in the W. Indies, and he died in that service. He pub. "Good News from N. England," 1623; "Relation about Indian;" "Hypericist Unnascol;" "A Brief Narrative of the True Grounds or Causes of the First Planting of N. England;" "The Danger of tolerating L. vellers;" "Glorious Progress of the Gospel among the Indians," 1649; "New England's Salamander Discovered," &c., 1647; "A Parition of Church Discipline in New England," 1653.

Winslow, HENRIAD, D.D. (Ham. Co'l. 1858), clergyman and author, b. Williston, Vt., Oct. 30, 1799; d. there Aug. 13, 1864, Y.C. 1825. He studied theology; was settled pastor of the First Church at Dover, Dec. 4, 1828; dismissed Nov. 3, 1831; pastor of the Bowdoin-st. Church, Boston, 8 pt. 26, 1832-Mar. 1844; from 1844 to 1853 he had charge of the Mt. Vernon, or Beacon-Hill, Sem. for Young Ladies, in Boston; afterward travelled some months in Europe; in 1857-9 preached to the First Presb. Church in Geneva, N.Y.; and in 1861 was pastor of the 50th-st. Pr. Ch. Church. Among his pub. are "Young Men's Aid;" "Sermons on Christian Doctrine;" "Discourses on the Trinity;" "Social and Domestic Duties;" "Are you a Christian?" "Elements of Intellect. Philos.;" "Appropriate Sphere of Woman," 1-37; "Woman as She Should Be," 1837; "Relation of the Natural Sciences to Religion," 1839; "Design and Mode of Baptism," 1842; "History of the First Presb. Church and of the Village of Geneva, N.Y.," 1854; "Moral Philosophy," 1855; "The Child's Life," 1862. He delivered numerous addresses on educational topics, contrib. to the Edinburgh Review, edited the Review Magazine, and wrote articles for various reviews. He was an able controversialist and an impressive preacher.

Winslow, JAMES, M.A. b. Marshfield, Mass. 27 May, 1702; d. Hinckham, Mass. 17 Apr. 1774. Grandson of Gov. Josiah. Capt. in the regiment of Col. Shepard, in 1740. He was the principal actor in the tragedy of the expulsion of the hapless Acadians from Nova Scotia in 1755; and it is a singular fact, that, 20 years after, nearly every person of Winslow's lineage was for political reasons, by the force of events, transplanted to the very soil from which the Acadians were expelled. Winslow was commiss. at Fort Wm. Henry, on Lake George, in 1756; a major-gen. in the exped. against Canada in 1758-9; and was an officer of courage and ability. App. pr. s. judge of C.C.P.

for Plymouth Co. in 1762; Prov. coun. illor and member of the Ms. Legisl. during the Stamp-Act difficulties. An original founder of the town of Winslow, Me., in 1766. His son Dr. ISAAC d. Marshfield in 1819, a. 80.

Winslow, JOHN A., rear-adm. U.S.N., b. Wilmington, N.C., Nov. 19, 1810. Descended from a bro. of Gov. Edward. Midshipm. Feb. 1, 1827; lieut. Dec. 9, 1830; com. 8 pt. 14, 1835; capt. July 16, 1862; commo. June 19, 1861; rear-adm. 1870. Attached to the frigate "Cumberland" in the attack on Talassee; and in various skirmishes on the Mexican coast 1845-7; in the Mex. flotilla 1861-2; at Fort Pillow; com. exped. up the White River for the relief of Gen. Curtis in June, 1862; com. "Kearsarge," 1863-4. Jan. 19, 1864, he sunk the Conf. L. steamer "Alabama," Capt. Semmes, of Charleston, France. The action was fought while the two vessels were steaming at the rate of 7 or 8 miles an hour, and every few minutes sheering so as to bring their broadsides to bear, being forced to fight in circles, "swinging steadily around an ever-changing centre." After they had described 7 circles, and had reduced their distance from a mile to about a quarter of a mile, "The Alabama" began to sink. "The Kearsarge" lost only 3 killed and wounded. For this gallant action Capt. Winslow was made commodore. Com. Gulf squad. 1866-7; now (1871) com. Pacific fleet.

Winslow, JOSIAH, first native-born gov. of Plymouth, son of Gov. Edward, b. Marshfield, Ms., 1629; d. there Dec. 18, 1680. He had the command of a military company in Marshfield as early as 1652; in 1655 he captured Alexander, eldest son of Massachusetts, and defeated his plans against the Colony; in 1658 was app. major, then commander of the military of the Colony; in 1675 he was gen. l. chief of the whole force of the U. Colonies raised in King Philip's Indian war. One of the commiss. of the U. Colonies in 1659, he was recalled for 13 years. He was chosen one of the deputies in 1657, and until 1673 one of the assistants, when he was elected gov. which office he held until his death. He was tall and in an age when that virtue was exceedingly rare. His wife PENILOPE, dau. of HERRICK Palham, whom he m. in 1657, d. Dec. 7, 1703, a. 73.

Winslow, MINOR, D.D. (H. U. 1858), LL.D. (Mél. Coll. 1861), missionary and philologist, bro. of R. V. Hubbard and Gordon, b. Williston, Vt., 11 Dec. 1729; d. Capt. of Good Hope 22 Oct. 1861. Mil. Coll. 1815; And. Sem. 1818. His father NATHANIEL, descended from KENNETH, who came in "The Mayflower," was a teacher, and d. Williston, Vt., 30 April, 1832, a. 80. In June, 1819, he sailed for India. After 17 years' labor at Ceylon, he founded a mission at Madras, and was pr. s. of the native college connected with it. Author of "Hist. of Missions," 1819; "Memoir of Harriet Winslow," 1835; "Hints on Missions to India," 1856; and in 1862, after 20 years' labor, his valuable "Dictionary of the Tamil and English Language." He also translated the Bible into Tamil, pub. several works in India, and contrib. to periodicals. His brother GORDON, many years Pr. Ep. rector of St. Paul's, Staten Island, drowned in the Potomac 7 June, 1864.

while insp. for the Sanitary Commiss., Army of the Potomac. His son Col. CLEVELAND d. of wounds received at Mechanicsville, Va., 7 July, 1864, a. 28.

Winston, Justin, superintendent Boston Public Library since Feb. 1868, b. Boston, Ms., 2 Jan. 1831. Studied at Cambridge, Ms., Paris, and Heidelberg. Author of "History of Dedbury, Ms.," 8vo, 1849; compiler, with R. A. G. H. Hopworth, of "Songs of the Unity," 1850. Contrib. to various periodicals. He is now preparing a Life of David Garrick.

Winston, Joseph, b. Va. 1746; d. near Grafton, N.C., 1814. He joined a company of rangers in 1760; was twice wounded in an Indian fight on the Greenbrier; was pensioned by the U. S. for his gallantry; was moved to Stokes Co., N.C., in 1766; was its representative in 1775-6, and was app. a major; was in several fights with Tories; and for his bravery at King's Mountain, where he com. the right wing, had a sword voted him by the Legisl. Commis. to the Cherokees, with whom a treaty was made in 1777. First senator from Stokes Co. in 1791, and member of the Legisl. periodically until 1812; M.C. 1793-5 and 1803-7.

His son Gen. Joseph d. Flated Co., Mo., March 24, 1840, a. 52. He had filled important offices in Stokes Co., N.C.; served in the war of 1812; was many years in the state legisl.; and was a major-general of militia.

Winter, William, poet, b. Gloucester, Ms., 1836. Author of "The Conyut, and Other Poems," 1854; "The Queen's Domain, and Other Poems," 1858; "My Witness," &c., a book of verse, 1871. Has edited George Arnold's poems; is dramatic critic of the N. Y. Tribune; and N. Y. Albion, and a contributor to magazines and journals.

Winterbotham, William, assistant preacher at How's Lane, Plymouth, was arraigned for seditions words in his sermon, Nov. 5 and 8, 1792; and in July, 1793, sentenced to 4 years imprisonment and a fine of £200. Author of "American Atlas," London, 1734; "Historical View of the U.S. and of the Europ. Settlements of America and the West Indies," 4 vols., 8vo, London, 1795; composed in prison, "View of the Chinese Empire," 8vo, 1795. — Albion.

Winthrop, Fitz John, F.R.S., gov. of Ct. from 1698 till his death, b. Ipswich, March 14, 1638; d. Boston, Nov. 27, 1707. First son of Gov. John of Ct. He went to Eng., where he held a commission under the Protector Richard Cromwell in 1658, and, returning to Ct., became a representative in 1671; served as major in Philip's war, and in 1685 was one of the council of Gov. Andros. He became a magistrate of Ct. in 1689; in 1699 was app. maj.-gen. of the army desig. to meet against Canada, and conducted the exped. with great prudence. In 1693-8 he was agent of the Colony in Great Britain, and discharged his duties so satisfactorily, that the king presented him with £500. Like his father, he was distinguished for philosophical attainments.

Winthrop, John, gov. of Ms., b. Groton, Suffolk, Eng., Jan. 12, 1588; d. Boston, Mar. 26, 1649. Like his father and grandfather, he was bred to the law; at 18 was a justice of the peace, and was noted for piety and hospitality. Made gov. of the Ms. Company in 1629, and chosen to lead a colony to Ms. Bay, he converted his estate into cash, left Eng., and landed at Salem, June 12, 1630. He soon removed to Charlestown, and selected the peninsula of Shawmut as the site of Boston, and shared in the severe privations of the first year. Volunteering himself assiduously to the good of the Colony, he was annually elected gov. until 1637, and, in 1637-40, 1642-4, and from 1646 to his death. In 1636, when Sir Henry Vane was elected gov., Winthrop was chosen deputy-gov., Vane and Winthrop were on opposite sides in the Hutchinson controversy, and in 1637 Winthrop was chosen over Vane. He subsequently had a controversy with Vane in regard to the alien law. Again deputy-gov. 1644-5. Winthrop was opposed to an unlimited democracy; and, when the people of Ct. were forming a gov., he wrote them a letter, in which he said that "the best part of a community is always the best, and of that least part the wisest are still best." His firm and decided management of affairs sometimes made him unpopular. He loved this with equanimity, and served the State as faithfully in an inferior station as at its head. He opposed the doctrines of Anne Hutchinson and her followers, and was active in their banishment. His private character was most amiable. Gov. Winthrop 5 sons, the best of whom was the founder of the Saybrook Colony, and gov. of Ct. His valuable "Journal" of the public occurrences in the Ms. Colony from Mar. 29, 1630, to Jan. 11, 1649, was pub. in 1790, and, with notes by James Savage, in 1826 and 1853. He also wrote on board "The Arbella" "A Model of Christian Charity," printed in the Ms. "Hist. Colls." — See Life and Letters of Winthrop, by R. C. Winthrop, 2 vols., 8vo, 1864-7.

Winthrop, John, F.R.S., gov. of Ct., son of the preceding, b. Groton, Eng., Feb. 12, 1606; d. Boston, April 5, 1676. Dublin U. 1622-5. He was in the exped. of 1627 for the relief of the Huguenots of Rochelle; in 1628 was an attaché of the embassy to Turkey; followed his father to America in 1631, and was in 1632 chosen a magistrate of Ms.; settled at Ipswich in Mar. 1633, but soon returned to Eng. In 1635 he came back with a commission under the Warwick grant, built a fort at the mouth of the Ct. River, and was constituted gov. In 1644-5 he moved his family from Boston to Poppon Harbor, where, in the following spring, he founded the city of New London. He was a magistrate in 1651; gov. from 1657 to his d. Sent to Eng. in 1661, he procured a charter from Charles II. uniting Ct. and New Haven in one Colony, and was the first gov. under it. In 1676 he visited Boston as the representative of Ct. in a congress of the United Colonies. He was an accomplished scholar, a founder of the Royal Society of London, and the author of a number of papers in the "Philosophical Transactions."

Winthrop, John, LL.D. (U. of Edinb. 1710), F.R.S., Hollis prof. of math. and nat. philos. in H. C. 1738-79, b. Boston, 19 Dec. 1714; d. Cambridge, Ms., 3 May, 1779. H. C. 1732. Son of Adam Winthrop, and descendant of Gov. John. Disting. for his mathemat.

ical skill. His observations of the transit of Mercury, in 1740, were noticed by the Roy. Soc. of Lond., of which he subsequently became a member. He observed the transit of Venus over the sun's disk at St. John's, New-England, 6 June, 1761, an account of which he pub. Boston, vol. 1761. He was several years judge of probate for Middlesex Co.; in number of the Journal in 1777-81; and a prudent as well as a firm advocate of political liberty. Author of a "Lecture on Earthquakes," 1755; "Answer to Mr. Pélage's Letter on Earthquakes," 1754; "Two Lectures on Comets," 1759; "Account of some fiery Meteors," 1765, and "Two Lectures on the Parallax," 1769. In 1766 his paper, "Cognitæ de Cometes," was communicated to the Roy. Soc. by Dr. Franklin, and was separately printed in London.

Winthrop, ROBERT CHARLES, LL.D. (Bowd. 1849; Keny. 1851; H.U. 1855), orator, politician, and man of letters, b. Boston, 12 May, 1809. H.U. 1828. Sixth in descent from Gov. John Winthrop. His father Floss Lindall, LL.D. (Trin. Coll. 1836), lieut.-gov. of Ms. in 1826-32 (b. N. Lond., Ct., 6 Mar. 1790; d. Boston, 22 Feb. 1841; H.U. 1784), was a merchant, and took a deep interest in agriculture; was pres. of the Ms. Agric. Soc., of the Ms. Hist. Soc., and of the Amer. Antiq. Soc., and a member of the Amer. Acad. of Arts and of the Philos. Soc.; in 1786 he m. the eldest dau. of Sir John Temple, and grand-dau. of Gov. Bowdoin. The son studied law with Daniel Webster; entered the State legis. in 1835; was its speaker in 1838-40; M.C. 1840-2 and 1843-50, and speaker in 1847-8; U.S. senator 1850-1, during the unexpired term of Mr. Webster. Pres. of the Ms. Hist. Soc., and of other literary and charitable associations, and also of the Boston Public-Library Building Commissioners. His congressional speeches are included in a vol. of "Addresses and Speeches," pub. 1852, followed by a second in 1867. Author of "Life and Letters of John Winthrop," 2 vols., 1864-7; and "Memoirs of Nathan Appleton," 1 vol. Among his addresses are those on the Washington Monument (Jan., 1848; Public Library of Boston, 1855; and that of the Franklin Statue in 1856; in memory of Wm. H. Prescott, Feb. 1859; Josiah Quincy in July, 1864; on Edward Everett in Jan. 1865; and at Plymouth, 21 Dec. 1870. In Dec. 1853 he delivered a lecture on Algonquin Sidney Leiper at Boston Mercantile Lib. Association.

Winthrop, THOMAS, soldier and author, b. N. Haven, Ct., Sept. 21, 1828; killed at the battle of Great Bethel, Va., June 10, 1861. Y. C. 1848. After a visit to Europe for his health in 1849-51, he became tutor to the son of Mr. Wm. H. Aspinwall, whose counting-house in New York he subsequently entered; resided 2 years in Panama in the employ of the Pacific Steamship Co.; visited California, Oregon, and Vancouver's Island; and accompanied the unfortunate expedition of Lieut. Strain to explore the Isthmus of Darien. Returning in 1854 in poor health, he was adm. to the bar, and practised at St. Louis, but, disliking the climate, soon returned to New York. Immediately after the fall of Fort Sumter, in Apr. 1861, he joined the N. Y. 7th Regt., and became military sec. to

Gen. Butler at Fortress Monroe, with the rank of major. Author of "Cecil Dreeme," "John Brent," "Edwin Brotherhood," "Canoe and Saddle," "Life in the Open Air;" also a number of magazine articles, among them an account of the campaign of the N. Y. 7th Regt. in the Atlantic Monthly of June, July, and Aug., 1861.

Winthrop, WAITSTILL, maj.-gen., b. Boston, Feb. 27, 1642; d. there 7 Nov. 1717. Son of Gov. John of Ct. Member of Andros's council and of that of 1692; judge of admiralty; and chief justice of the Superior Court of Ms. His son JOHN (b. 28 Aug. 1681, d. 1 Aug. 1747; H.U. 1700) was some time magistrate of Ct.; afterward a disting. member of the Roy. Soc. of Lond., to whose "Transactions" he was a contributor.

Wirt, WILLIAM, LL.D. (H.U. 1824), orator, lawyer, and author, b. Bladensburg, Md., Nov. 8, 1772; d. Washington, D. C., Feb. 18, 1834. His father was a Swiss, and his mother a German. Left an orphan at the age of 8 with a small patrimony, he was educated by his uncle Jasper. He resided ab. 20 months as a private tutor in the family of Benjamin Edwards, the father of Gov. Ninian Edwards of Illinois. In 1792 he commenced the practice of law at Culpepper C. H., Va.; in 1795 he m. the eldest dau. of Dr. George Gilmer, and settled at Pen Park, near Charlottesville. He there contracted dissipated habits, from which he is said to have been redeemed by listening to a sermon preached by James Waddell, whose memory he has perpetuated in his "British Spy." In 1799 his wife died and he was soon after elected clerk of the house of delegates. He was in 1802 asp. chanc. of the eastern dist. of Va., but shortly afterwards resigned this office, and toward the close of 1803, removed to Norfolk. Just before this he wrote the letters pub. in the Richmond Atlas under the title of "The British Spy," which have since been collected, and have passed through ten editions; in 1804 he pub. in the Richmond Enquirer a series of essays entitled "The Rambler;" in 1806 he went to Richmond, and the following year, greatly distinguished in the trial of Aaron Barr, establishing his reputation as one of the foremost lawyers in the country; in 1807-8 he was elected to the house of delegates, in which he was a prominent advocate of the policy of Pres. Jefferson; in 1812 he wrote most of the essays originally pub. in the Richmond Enquirer under the title of "The Old Bachelor." "The Life of Patrick Henry," his longest literary production, was first pub. in 1817. In 1816 he was asp. U.S. atty. for the Dist. of Va.; and in 1817-30 was atty. gen. of the U.S.; in 1830 he removed to Baltimore. He delivered a discourse on the death of Mr. Adams and Mr. Jefferson before the citizens of Washington, Oct. 19, 1826. In 1832 he was the candidate of the anti-Masonic party for pres. of the U.S. His Life, by J. P. Kennedy, was pub. (2 vols., Phila.) 1849. His widow ELIZABETH WASHINGTON, dau. of Col. Robert Gamble (b. 30 Jan. 1784; m. 1802, d. Annapolis 24 Jan. 1857), was the author of "Flora's Dictionary," Balt. 1829.

Wise, HENRY ALEXANDER, politician, b.

Drummondtown, Accomac Co., Va., 3 Dec. 1806. Wash. Coll., Pa., 1825. His father, who was a lawyer, and once speaker of the house of delegates, d. 1812. His mother d. in 1813, and he was educated by relatives. Adm. to the bar at Winchester in 1828, and settled in Nashville, Tenn., but in 1830 returned to Accomac; M.C. 1833-43, and a supporter of Gen. Jackson, but, on his removal of the deposits from the U.S. Bank, went over to the opposition. Minister to Brazil 1843-7. He exerted a powerful influence over the policy of John Tyler, to whose nomination to the vice-presidency in 1840 he largely contributed. A zealous advocate of the admission of Texas into the Union. Member of the State Con. Conv. of 1830; g. v. of Va. 1855-60. He joined Senator Douglas in opposing the Lecompton Constitution for Kansas. In 1859 he pub. a treatise on territorial govt., sustaining the doctrine of congressional protection of slavery. The last act of his administration was the execution of John Brown and his followers for the raid on Harper's Ferry. In the Va. convention of 13 Feb. 1861, he advocated a peaceful settlement of the difficulties with the Federal government. After the secession of Va., however, he took the commission of brig.-gen., was defeated by Gen. J. D. Cox at Gauley Bridge; and com. at Roanoke Island, but was sick when his capture took place, 7 Feb. 1862. His son, Capt. O. J. Wise, was killed at that occasion. — See Boy. Sketches; J. P. Haulshofer, 1856.

Wise, HENRY AUGUSTUS, capt. U.S.N., and novelist, b. Brooklyn, N.Y., May 12, 1819; d. Naples 1 Apr. 1869. Son of George Stuart Wise, an officer of the U.S.N., who came from an old royalist family, several of whom were taken prisoners after the Penruddock Rebellion, and sent to Va. ab. 1665. At the age of 14, by the influence of his cousin Gov. Wise, he was app. a midshipman, and first sailed under Capt. John P. Perry, — the "Jack Perry" of his "Tales for the Marmes." He served in the squadron on the coasts of Florida during the Seminole war, and, after promotion to a lieutenancy, in the Pacific, in Cal., and Mexico, during the war of 1846-8. On his return to the U.S. he m. the dau. of Edward Everett. In 1862 he was promoted to com., and made assist. chief of the bureau of ordinance and hydrography; capt. Jan. 1867; resigned his connection with the ordinance bureau, Jan. 1869. He pub. in 1849 "Los Gringos;" in 1855 "Tales for the Marmes;" "Scampavias," 1857; "Capt. Brand of the Schooner Centipede," 1860.

Wise, Joux, minister of Ipswich, Ms., from Aug. 12, 1683, till his d. April 8, 1725. BAPT. Aug. 15, 1652. H. U. 1673. Son of Joseph of Roxbury. In 1688, for remonstrating against the grievance of taxes imposed without authority from the Assembly, he was imprisoned by Andros. After the revol. of Apr. 1689 he brought an action against Dudley, chief justice, for denying him the benefit of the habeas corpus act. As a chaplain in the unfortunate expedition against Canada in 1690, he was distinguished not only for piety, but for martial skill and an heroic spirit. He was one of the very few ministers who favored the introduction of inoculation for small pox in 1721. In 1705 he opposed the scheme of establishing associations to be intrusted with spiritual power; and in his "Church Quarrel Exp-ost." pub. in 1710, — a book abounding in wit and satire, — contended that each church obtained its self-aid ecclesiastical authority. He was zealous and ardent in his attachment to civil and religious liberty, and was a dep. to the Assembly in Andros's administration. He pub. beside the above, ab. 1717, "A Vindication of the Govt. of the N. E. Churches," reprinted in 1772.

Wisner, BENJAMIN BLYDENBURG, D.D. (Edinb.), minister of the Old South Church, Boston, Feb. 21, 1821-1832, b. Goshen, N.Y., Sept. 29, 1794, d. Boston, Feb. 9, 1835. Un. Coll. 1813; tutor 1815-18. His father, P. B. Wiener, was one of the first settlers and founders of the church at Geneva, N.Y. The son studied law, and afterward theology, at Princeton. Ill-health caused him to leave the pulpit in 1832 for the office of sec. of the Amer. Board of Missions. Besides sermons, he pub. in 1830 "A History of the Old South Church," "Memoirs of Mrs. S. Huntington," 1828. — Miss. Herald, 1836.

Wisner, MOSTS, lawyer, gov. of Mich. 1859-61, b. Archua, Cayuga Co., N.Y., 1813; d. Lexington, Ky., 5 Jan. 1863. He received a good education; removed to Mich. in 1839; was adm. to the bar in 1842, and was pros. atty. for Lapeer Co. in 1843-4; app. col. 22d Mich. Regt. in 1862.

Wistar, CASPAR, M.D. (U of Edinb. 1786), phys. man, b. Phila. 13 Sept. 1731; d. there 22 Jan. 1818. His father, a German Quaker, settled in N.J. After the battle of Germantown in 1777, he ministered to the wounded, and was in consequence led to adopt the medical profession. After studying with Dr. Redman, he attended the lectures at the U of Pa., and in 1785 studied and travelled in Great Britain. Returning to Phila. in Jan. 1787, he began practice there; was prof. of chemistry and physiol. in Phila. Coll. in 1792-92, and physician to the Dispensatory and Hospital; adjunct prof. of anatomy and surgery with Dr. Shippen, Jan. 1792-1808; and prof. of anatomy in 1808-18. He was a most skilful physician, and gave to the Phila. Med. School the high reputation it acquired. Member of many literary and scientific societies; vice-pres. of the Amer. Philos. Soc. from 1795 and pres. from 1815. He succeeded Dr. Rush as pres. of the Society for the Abolition of Slavery. His principal work is a "System of Anatomy," 2 vols. 1812. — Gross's Med. Boop.

Wiswall, JERAMON, minister of Duxbury, Ms., 1676, to his d. July 23, 1700, b. Eng. 1648. He studied three years at H.U., but did not graduate. He was many years an instructor of youth, and was agent of the Colony in Eng. in 1689, striving to prevent the union of Plymouth to either N.Y. or Ms., but was defeated in this by Mr. Mathers. A poem on the comet of 1680 was pub. by him in London.

Withers, GILES JOYNS, M. D. Ala. ab. 1814. West Point, 1835. Entered 1st Drags, July, and resigned Dec. 5, 1835. Aide to Maj.-Gen. Patterson of Ala. Vols. in the Creek war, 1856; col. Ala. Vols. for Mexican war, lieutenant

col. 13th U. S. Inf. 9 Apr. 1847; col. 9th Inf. Sept. 13, 1847; resigned May 23, 1848; merchant in Mobile 1848-61; mayor of that city 1858-61. App. brig.-gen. Confed. service 1861; maj.-gen. 1862; com. 2d div. 2d corps at the battle of Shiloh Apr. 6, and at the battle of Stone River Dec. 31, 1862.

Witherspoon, Joun. D. D., LL. D., clergyman and scholar, b. Yeater, near Edinburgh, Feb. 5, 1722; d. near Princeton, N. J., Nov. 15, 1794. His father, the parish minister of Yeater, was a lineal descendant of John Knox by his dau. Elizabeth. The son was educated at the U. of Edinburgh; was licensed to preach at 21; and settled at Both. When the Pretender landed in Scotland, he marched at the head of a corps of militia to Glasgow to join him; was taken prisoner at the battle of Falkirk, and imprisoned in Donne Castle, where he remained until after the battle of Culloden. In 1757 he was settled at Paisley, whence he was called in 1767 to the presidency of Princeton Coll., N. J., and was in org. Aug. 17, 1768. He wrote an analogue entitled "History of a Corporation of Servants," &c., a narrative, under a pleasant disguise, of the church-history of Great Britain. "An Essay on Justification," 1756; and a "Serious Enquiry into the Nature and Effects of the Stage," 1757, occasioned by the performance of "Douglas," written by the clergyman Home. In 1764 he went to London, and pub. 3 vols. of "Essays on Important Subjects." He improved the finances, and raised the reputation of the college, and gave lectures on moral philos. and rhetoric, which are included in his works. In addition to his other duties, he was prof. of divinity, and pastor of the church in Princeton, during his presidency. On the opening of the war, the college was for a time broken up; when Witherspoon was delegated to the N. J. conv. for framing a State constitution, and, being sent by the Prov. Congress to the Gen. Congress at Phila., took his seat in time to sign the Decl. of Indep. He was a punctual attendant in Congress during his term of 6 years, and active on committees; member of the secret com. and of the board of war, and visited the camp to improve the state of the troops. He wrote the congressional addresses to the people, recommending fasts, and "Thoughts on American Liberty," and war-pieces in the newspapers. His "Essay on Money" was a reproduction of his speeches in Congress, where he opposed the repeated issues of paper-money. In that body his sagacity, and insight into the future, were pre-eminent. In 1781 he wrote several periodical essays on social and literary topics, entitled "The Dead." He went to Eng. in 1783 and 1784 to collect funds for the college. At the age of 70 he m. a young lady of 23. By his first wife he had a son, a major in the Revol. army, killed at the battle of Germantown. Ram-ay the historian in his dau. His works were pub. in 4 vols. 8vo at Phila. in 1802; and in 9 vols. 12 mo. Edinburgh.

Withington, Rev. Leonard, D. D., pastor of the First Church, Newbury, Ms., 1811-58, b. Dorchester, Ms., Aug. 9, 1789, Y. C. 1814. He pub. "The Puritan, a Series of Essays by John Oldbug, Esq.," 2 vols. 1836;

"Solomon's Song," transl. and explained, 1861; "Penitential Tears," 8vo. 1845; single sermons, &c. — Duylowk.

Woedtke, DE, brig.-gen. Revol. army, b. Prussia; d. Lake George, ab. July 31, 1776. He was for many years an officer in the army of the great Frederick, and was app. by Congress a brig.-gen. March 16, 1776.

Wolcott, OLIVER, LL. D. (Y. C. 1792), signer of the Decl. of Indep. b. Windsor, Ct., Nov. 26, 1726; d. Litchfield, Dec. 1, 1797, Y. C. 1747. Son of Gov. Roger. A capt. in the northern frontier in the war which terminated with the peace of Aix la Chapelle. He then studied medicine, but abandoned it on being app. sheriff of Litchfield Co. in 1751. In 1774-86 he was an assist. in the council of the State; also for some time judge of the C. C. P. and of the Litchfield Court of Probate, and a maj.-gen. of militia. In 1775 he was app. by the Cong. Congress one of the commiss. of Indian affairs for the northern dept. to secure the neutrality of the Indians. In Jan. 1776 he was made a delegate to Congress. In July he returned to Ct., and was invested with the com. of the State militia drafted for the defence of N. Y. In Nov. he resumed his seat in Congress. The following year he joined the northern army under Gates with several hundred volunteers, assisted in the defeat of Burgoyne, and was made brig.-gen. on the field of Saratoga. Until 1786 he was occupied in serving his country either in Congress, in the field, or as a commiss. of Indian affairs; h. at. gov. of Ct. 1786-96; gov. in 1796-7.

Wolcott, OLIVER, LL. D. (N. J. Coll. 1799; Y. C. 1819), statesman and financier, b. Litchfield, Ct., 11 Jan. 1760; d. N. Y. City, 1 June, 1833. Y. C. 1778. Son of the preceding. He was a vol. to repel the British attack on Danbury, Ct., in 1777; was a vol. aide to his father in 1779, and afterward was an officer in the commissary dept. Adm. to the bar in 1781, he was employed in the financial affairs of his State; in May, 1784, was a commiss. to settle its accounts with the U. S.; comptroller of public accounts, May, 1788-Sept. 1789; auditor U. S. treasury 1789-91; comptroller 1791-5; sec. U. S. treas. 3 Feb. 1795-31 Dec. 1800; app. judge U. S. Circuit Court in 1800. Removing to N. Y. City in 1802, he was a merchant until the breaking-out of the war of 1812, the policy of which he sustained, and about this time, in connection with his bro. Frederick, commenced the extensive manuf. establishm. at Wolcottville, near Litchfield. Pres. of the State Const. Conv. of 1817; gov. of Ct. 1818-27. While a resident of Hartford, he was one of its cot. de of wars with Hopkins, Barlow, Alsop, and Trumbull. His last years were passed in New York. Author of "An Address to the People of the U. S.," 8vo, 1802.

Wolcott, GEN. ROGER, soldier, statesman, and jurist b. Windsor, Ct., Jan. 4, 1679; d. there May 17, 1767. Never having had a day's schooling, he yet rose to the highest military and civil honors. At the age of 12 he was apprenticed to a mechanic, and by industry and frugality acquired a fortune. In the exped. against Canada (in 1711) he was commissary of the Ct. forces, and at the capture of Louisburg (in 1745) was maj.-gen., and second in com. He was successively a member of the Assembly and Council, judge of the county court, dep.-gov., chief judge of the Superior Court, and in 1751-4 gov. He pub. "Poetical Meditations," 1725. A long MS. poem, which describes minutely the Pequot war, is preserved in the Hist. Soc. "Colls." His son ERASTUS, b. 21 Sept. 1722, d. 14 Sept. 1793; a col. at the siege of Boston in 1775, afterwards a gen., and a judge of the Sup. Court.

Wolf, GEORGE, gov. of Pa. 1829-35, b. Allen township, Pa., Aug. 12, 1777; d. Phila. March 14, 1840. He received a classical education, studied law, and became eminent in the profession. In 1814 he was elected a representative; was M.C. in 1821-9; was app. in 1836 first compt. of the U. S. treas.; and was afterwards coll. of the port of Philadelphia.

Wolfe, JAMES, a British gen., b. Westminster, Kent, 2 Jan. 1727; killed at Quebec 13 Sept. 1759. Son of Edward, a lieutenant. Entering young into the army, he disting. himself at Laford, though then only 20 years of age. Quartermaster-gen. of the inglorious exped. against Rochefort in 1757, he vainly recommended an attempt at landing; acquired an increase of reputation at the capture of Louisbourg; and was placed by Wm. Pitt, with the rank of maj.-gen., at the head of the force destined against Quebec. Late in June, 1759, he arrived with 8,000 men, in the fleet of Admiral Saunders, in the River St. Lawrence. Montcalm, the French com., occupied a strong position, and repulsed Wolfe's first attack with great loss, July 31. Though greatly dispirited by this failure, Wolfe renewed his efforts, and, deceiving the enemy by several feints, embarked with his forces in the night of Sept. 12, drifted with the tide, unobserved by the sentinels, to a point beyond the town, and, scaling an almost inaccessible mountain, formed in order of battle at daybreak of the 13th on the Plains of Abraham. Montcalm, accepting the inevitable battle, attacked Wolfe; but after a severe conflict, which proved fatal to both leaders, victory declared for the English, and, three days later, Quebec surrendered, and Canada was lost to France. A monument was erected to his memory in Westminster Abbey.

Wood, ALMONSO, teacher and botanist, b. Chesterfield, N.H., Sept. 17, 1810. Dartm. Coll. 1834. He studied divinity at Andover Sem.; taught at Meriden Acad., Plainfield, 15 years; was a civil engr. 3 years; prof. and pres. Ohio Female Coll. 8 years; prof. of Terre-Haute Female Coll., Ind.; subsequently pres. Brooklyn Fem. Acad. He pub. "Class Book of Botany," 1845, which has gone through 50 editions; "First Lessons in Botany," 1843; "Leaves and Flowers," 1863; "American Botanist and Florist," 1870.

Wood, ELIAZER D., lieutenant U.S.A., b. N. Y.; killed Sept. 17, 1814, in a sotto from Fort Erie. West Point (lieut. engineers), 1806. Capt. 1 July, 1812; brev. major for defence of Fort Meigs, May 6, 1813; disting. in the battle of the Thames; acting adj.-gen. to Gen. Harrison, Oct. 1813; brev. lieutenant-col. for battle of Niagara, July 25, 1814; disting. in Gaines's victory in defence of Fort Erie, U.C. Wood

Co., O., containing the site of Fort Meigs, and Fort Wood on Belloc's Island, were named for him; and Gen. Brown erected a monument to his memory at West Point.

Wood, FERNANDO, politician, b. Phila. 14 June, 1812, of Quaker parentage. From the humble vocation of a cigar-maker he rose to be a ship-owner and a successful merchant of N.Y. City. M.C. 1841-3, 1863-5, and 1867-73. Mayor of New York 1855-7 and 1861-2; and in Jan. 1861 recommended that New York should secede, and become a free city.

Wood, GEORGE, author, b. Newburyport, Ms., 1799; d. Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Aug. 24, 1870. Educated by Samuel L. Knapp, a talented lawyer and libérateur. His mother removed with her family in 1816 to Alexandria, D.C. A clerk in the war dept. 1819-22, and in the treas. dept. in 1822-45; he then took up his residence in N.Y., where he wrote his "Peter Schlemihl in America." Returning to Washington, he resumed his clerical labors, and was at the time of his death chief of navigation, division of the treas. dept. Also author of "The Modern Pilgrims," 2 vols. 1855; "Marrying Too Late," 1856; "The Gates Wide Open," 1869. He was long co-editor of the National Era, and contrib. to the Knickerbocker Magazine and other periodicals.

Wood, GEORGE B., M.D., LL.D. (N. J. Coll. 1858), prof. of the theory and practice of med. at the U. of Pa. 1850-60, and pres. of the Coll. of Physicians of Phila., b. Greenwich, N.J., 13 March, 1797. U. of Pa. 1815. M.D. 1818. Prof. of chem. in Phila. Coll. of Pharmacy 1822-31, and of mat. med. 1831-5; prof. of materia medica U. of Pa. 1835-50. In 1865 he endowed an auxiliary faculty of medicine in the U. of Pa. Pres. Philos. Soc. since 1859. Author of a Centennial Address, Pa. Hospital, June 10, 1841; "Practice of Medicine," 2 vols. 8vo, 1847; "Therapeutics," 2 vols. 8vo, 1856; with F. Baehle, "Dispensary of the U.S.," 8vo, first pub. in 1833; "Memoir of S. G. Morton," 8vo, 1833; "Lectures and Addresses on Medical Subjects," 8vo, 1859; "Memoirs of Franklin Baehle," 8vo, 1865, &c.; "History of the U. of Pa.," 1827.

Wood, GEORGE T., gov. of Texas 1847-9; d. on Trinity River, Texas, Sept. 5, 1858. App. major of Ga. 3 mo. vols. in the Creek war, May 16, 1836; col. 2d Texas Regt. mounted vols. in Mexican war, and disting. at the storming of Monterey; and afterwards M.C. of Texas.

Wood, ISAAC, M.D. (Queen's Coll. 1816), physician and philanthropist of N. Y. City, b. Clinton, Dutchess Co., N.Y., Aug. 21, 1793; d. Norwalk, Ct., March 25, 1868. His father in 1803 removed to N.Y. City, and established there a bookstore, still conducted by his descendants. He studied medicine; spent the years 1814-16 in the N. Y. Hospital; was one of the physicians of the N. Y. Dispensary until 1825; resident phys. of the Bellevue Hospital in 1826-33; and was active in founding and managing many of the medical and other charitable institutions of N.Y. City; member of the Soc. of Friends. In 1832-3, during the cholera epidemic, he kept his post, was himself attacked by the disease, and was not fully restored to health for 5 years. He had a very high reputation as an ophthalmic surgeon, and was for 25 years one of the most active managers of the N. Y. Inst. for the Blind.

Wood, Gen. JAMES, gov. of Va. in 1796-9; d. Richmond, June 16, 1813. Son of Col. Jas. Wood, founder of Winchester, Va.; was a member of the conv. of June, 1776, which framed the State Const.; was made a col. in the Va. service Nov. 15, 1776; and was lieutenant-gov., and member of the executive council. A county of Va. was named Wood, in commemoration of his patriotic services. — Geograp.

Wood, JOHN, political writer, b. Scotland; d. Richmond, Va., May, 1822. He came to America ab. 1800; edited the Western World, a paper in Ky., in 1806, and in 1817 the Atlantic World at Washington. In his last years he resided at Richmond, and was employed in making county maps. He pub. a "History of Switzerland and the Swiss Revol.;" "History of the Administration of J. Adams," followed by a statement of its sources, pub. in 1802; "Exposition of the Clintonian Faction," 1802; "A New Theory of the Diurnal Motion of the Earth," 1809.

Wood, Mrs. JOHN (Vining), actress, b. Eng. Made her débüt at the New Boston Theatre, Sept. 11, 1854, as Gertrude, in the "Loan of a Lover." In 1859 manageress of the American Theatre, San Francisco; in 1860-6, of the N.Y. Olympic; and is now (1871) manageress of the St. James Theatre, Lond. Her husband, a comic actor, d. Vancouver's Island, May 28, 1863.

Wood, Joseph, col. Revol. army; d. Mar. 1789. Maj. 2d Pa. Regt., and sent to Canada, 4 Jan. 1776; lieutenant-col. 22 July, 1776; col. 7 Sept. 1776.

Wood, RUBEN, gov. Ohio 1850-3, b. Rutland Co., Vt., 1792; d. Rockport, O., 2 Oct. 1864. Capt. of Vt. Vols. in the war of 1812; removed to Cleveland, O., in 1817; was State senator 1825-8; pres. judge 3d dist. 1830-3; judge of Sup. Court 1833-45; and U. S. consul to Valparaiso 1853-5.

Wood, SILAS, author, and M.C. 1819-29, b. Suffolk Co., N.Y., 1769; d. Huntington, L.I., March 2, 1847. N. J. Coll. 1789. Author of a "History of Long Island," 1824; new edition 1828; and again, with Biog. Memoir and Additions by Alden J. Spooner, 1865.

Wood, GLENN THOMAS JEFFERSON, b. Mumfordsville, Ky., Sept. 25, 1825. West Point, 1845. Entering the topog. engrs., he was disting. at the battle of Palo Alto; was assigned to the 2d Dragoons in Oct. 1846; and was brev. 1st lieutenant for gallantry at Buena Vista. In 1848-54 he was in active service against the Indians on the Texan frontier. Mar. 3, 1855, he became capt. 1st Cav.; major 16 Mar. 1861; lieutenant-col. May 9, 1861; col. 2d Cav. Nov. 12, 1861; brig.-gen. vols. Oct. 11, 1861; maj. gen. 27 Jan. 1865; resigned June 9, 1869. Feb. 25, 1862, he took com. of the 6th division of the Army of the Ohio, with which he took part in the battle of Shiloh. He participated in the battle of Perryville and the pursuit of Bragg's army Oct.-Nov. 1862; was wounded at Stone River 31 Dec. 1862; com. division in 21st corps in Tenn. campaign and battle of Chickamauga 19-20 Sept. 1863; com. div. 4th corps at Mission Ridge (23-25 Nov.), relief of Knoxville, and invasion of Ga., and engaged in all the operations of the campaign, ending in the capture of Atlanta, and severely wounded at Lovejoy's Station 2 Sept. 1864; com. 4th corps Dec. 1864 to Feb. 1865 in Tenn. campaign against Hood's forces; in the battles of Franklin and Nashville; and brev. brig.-gen. and maj.-gen. U.S.A. 13 Mar. 1865 for Chickamauga and Nashville. — Callam.

Wood, WILLIAM, author of the first printed account of Massachusetts; resided in that Colony from 1629 till his return to Eng., Aug. 15, 1633. He pub. in Lond. in 1634 "New England's Prospect"—a true, lively, and experimental description. Lewis, his Hist. of Lynn, supposes that he returned to Ms., lived there, was representative in 1636, and in 1637 removed to Sandwich, where he was town-clerk, and d. there 1639. His book was republ. in Boston 1764, and (by the Prince Soc.) in 1865.

Wood, WILLIAM B., comedian, b. Montreal, May 26, 1779; d. Phila., Sept. 24, 1861. He was brought up in New York, whither his family removed at the close of the Revol. Failing as a merchant in 1798, he went on the stage with Wignall's company, and soon became a favorite. He in 1809 became a proprietor of the New Theatre, but lost every thing by its conflagration in 1820. Dec. 2, 1822, he opened the new Chestnut-st. Theatre, Phila., which he sold in 1826 to Wm. Warren, and Oct. 1, 1828, opened the new Arch-st. Theatre. Made his last appearance Nov. 18, 1846, at the Walnut-st. Author of "Personal Recollections of the Stage," 8vo, 1854, and of many alterations and adaptations of English plays to the Amer. stage. His wife, JULIANA WESTRA, first appeared at the Haymarket, Boston, in 1797; m. Mr. Wood Jan. 30, 1804; d. Phila. Nov. 13, 1836.

Wood, WILLIAM W., chief engineer U.S.N., b. Wake Co., N.C., 1818. Educated at the North, and acquired a thorough knowledge of engineering at the West-Point Foundry, N.Y. City. Entered the naval service in Mar. 1845. Gen. in sp. of steam-machinery, and had charge during the Rebellion of the construction of our iron-clad fleet and the machinery for the new class of vessels then introduced.

Woodbridge, BENJAMIN RUGGLES, physician and col. Revol. army, b. 16 Oct. 1733; d. So. Hadley, 8 Mar. 1819. Son of Rev. John, minister of S.H. 1742-83. He com. a Ms. regt. at the siege of Boston and at Ticonderoga in 1776.

Woodbridge, WILLIAM, statesman and jurist, b. Norwich, Ct., Aug. 20, 1780; d. Detroit, Oct. 20, 1861. Removed with his father, Hon. Dudley, to Marietta, Ohio, in 1791. Educated in Ct.; studied law in Litchfield, and was adm. to the bar in 1806. In 1807 he was a member of the Assembly; pros. atty. for his county 1808-14, and also a member of the State senate; app. sec. of Mich. Terr. 1814; delegate to Congress in 1819; judge of the Sup. Court of the Terr. 1828-32; member of the State Const. Conv. in 1835; State senator in 1837;

gov. of the State in 1840-1; and U. S. senator 1841-7. His "Life," by Charles Lammán, was pub. 1867.

Woodbridge, WILLIAM CHANNING, teacher and author, b. Milford, Ms., Dec. 18, 1794; d. Boston, Nov. 9, 1845. Y. C. 1811. In 1812-14 principal of Burlington Acad., N. J.; then studied theology; and was in 1817-20 a teacher in the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Hartford. He prepared, in conjunction with Mrs. Eleanó Wilbur, a compendium of Geography. Also pub. from 1814 to 1838 the Am. A. S. A. P. Lectures; "Letters from Howard," giving an account of F. L. A. B. B.'s system; and several elementary works of instruction.

Woodbury, AUGUSTUS B. BEVERLY, Ms., 1825. Canab. Theol. School, 1849. Served as a Unitarian pastor at Concord, N. H., 1849; at Lowell, Ms., 1853; and at Providence, R. I., 1857. Author of "Plain Words to Young Men," 1858; "Campaign of the First R. I. Regt.," 1861; "Gen. Burnside and the 9th Corps," Svo., 1867; also orations, sermons, addresses, papers in the reviews, &c. — Contn.

Woodbury, DANIEL PHINEAS, brev. major, U. S. A., New London, N. H., 16 Dec. 1812; d. Key West, Fla., 15 Aug. 1864. West Point, 1835. 1st lieut. regts. 7 July, 1835; capt. 3 Mar. 1854; maj. 6 Aug. 1851; lieutenant, 1 June, 1863; brig.-gen., vols. 19 March, 1862. In 1847 he established Forts Kearny and Laramie on the Platte; was engaged on the fortifications of Washington, May, 1861-Mar. 1862. He had charge of the engr. brigade for Ft. Mifflin and Fort Mifflinburg, and was chief engr. of the dept. of the Gulf, Apr. 1863-Aug. 1864. Br. v. col. for the Peninsula campaign; brig.-gen. 13 Dec. 1862 for Fort Mifflinburg; and major-gen. 15 Aug. 1864 for services in the Rebellion. Author of papers on "Sounding Walls," 1854; and "Theory of the Arch," 1858. — Contn.

Woodbury, I-VEE B., teacher and composer of music, b. Beverly, Ms., 1819; d. Cambridge, S. C., Oct. 26, 1858. He studied one year in Europe under eminent instructors. Taught in the public schools of Boston, and about 1845 removed to New York. He wrote and compiled a number of musical works, among them "The Dalcmeier," a collection of church music, pub. 1850; "Liber Musicus," 1851; "The Cythara;" "New Lute of Zion;" also oratorios with orchestral accompaniments, glee-books, juvenile music, "Cultivation of the Voice," "Self-Instructor in Musical Compos. and Thorough-Bass," "Singing-school Companion," "Melodion and Singing-instruction Book," &c. He commenced the publication of the Musical Review in Jan. 1850.

Woodbury, LEVI, LL.D. (D. rtm. Coll. 1823; W. S. U. 1843), jurist and stat. suan, and a leader of the Democ. party, b. Frankestown, N. H., Dec. 22, 1789; d. Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 7, 1851. Dartm. Coll. 1809. He studied law, was adm. to the bar in 1812; and practiced at Frankestown till 1816, when he was chosen clerk of the State senate. In Dec. 1816 he was app. a judge of the Superior Court; and in 1819, and removed to Portsmouth. Gov. of the State in 1823; speaker of the house in 1825; U. S. senator 1825-31; sec. of the navy, May, 1831-July, 1834, and of the treasury, July, 1834-March 4, 1841. During this period he refused the post of chief justice of the N. H. Superior Court. Again returned to the U. S. senate in 1841, he voted against the increase of the navy, and in 1844 in favor of annexing Texas. In S. pt. 1845 Mr. Polk app. him a justice of the U. S. Sup. Court. The mission to Eng., previously tendered him by Mr. Polk, he declined. He pub. a vol. of Law Reports in connection with Judge Richardson of N. H.; a coll. of his "Political, Judicial, and Literary Writings," app. in 1852, 3 vols. Svo., Boston. His son CHARLES LEVI, member Suffolk Bar, and a prominent Mason (b. Portsmouth, 22 May, 1820, U. S. dist. atty. for Ms. 1858-61), ed. ed., with George Minot, Reports 1st U. S. Circuit, 3 vols. Svo. 1847-52.

Woodford, GEN. WILLIAM, Revol. officer, b. Caroline Co., Va., 1755; d. N. Y. City, Nov. 13, 1780. He early disting. himself in the French and Indian war. Upon the assembling of the Va. troops at Williamsburg, in 1775, he was app. col. of the 2d Regt.; com. at the battle of Great Bridge, Dec. 9, 1775, and gained a signal victory. He was afterwards com. of the 1st Va. brigade; was wounded at Brandywine; and at the siege of Charoston was made prisoner, and taken to New York. His son JOHN T. WOODFORD was a lieutenant in the war of 1812.

Woodhouse, JAMES, M.D. (U. of Pa. 1792), chemist, b. Philadelphia, Nov. 17, 1770; d. there June 4, 1809. U. of Pa. 1787. In 1791 he served as a surgeon in St. Clair's army. Prof. of chemistry in the U. of Pa. from 1795 to his death. He pub. "Observations on the Combination of Acids, Bitters, and Astringents," 1791; "The Young Chemist's Pocket Companion," 1797; Parkinson's "Chemical Pocket Book," with the objections to the antiphlogistic theory of chemistry, 1802; "Experiments and Observations on the Vegetation of Plants," 1802; and contribs. to sci. journals of the day. — Contn.

Woodhouse, SAMUEL, capt. U. S. N., b. Pa.; d. Chester Co., Pa., 16 July, 1843. Midshipman under Truxton in the action with the French ship "La Vengeance," 1 Feb. 1800; lieut. 4 May, 1808; com. 27 Apr. 1816; capt. 3 Mar. 1827.

Woodhull, GEN. NATHANIEL, a Revol. patriot, b. Massie, Suffolk Co., L. I., Dec. 30, 1722; d. Gravesend, L. I., Sept. 20, 1776. He served in the French war of 1755-63, and rose to be col. 3d N. Y. Regt. under Amherst. In 1769-76 he was a rep. in the N. Y. legisl., where he, with Snydler, George Clinton, and other patriots, steadily resisted the encroachments of the crown upon the rights and liberties of the province. In 1776 he was pres. of the N. Y. Prov. Congress, but, on the landing of the British on L. I., put himself at the head of the militia, and, a few days after the disastrous battle of Long Island, was surprised by a party of light-horse near Jamaica; after surrendering his sword, he was cruelly hacked and cut, and died in consequence of his wounds. A narrative of his capture and death was pub. by H. Onderdonk, jun., Svo., 1848. His Journal of the Montreal

Exped., 1760, is pub. in the Hist. Mag., Sept. 1861.

Woodruff, Hiram, celeb. trainer and driver of trotting-horses, b. Flemington, N. J., 22 Feb. 1817; d. L. I., 13 Mar. 1867. He began his prof. career at Phila. in 1831, and had a unique reputation for honesty and fair-dealing as a trainer, and remarkable skill both in driving and training horses. He was universally popular. Author of "The Trotting Horse of America," edited by C. J. Foster, 8vo, 1869.

Woods, ALVA, D.D. (B. U. 1828), b. Shoreham, Vt. H. U. 1817. Ord. 28 Oct. 1821. Prof. of math. and nat. philos. in Brown U. 1824-8, and also in Transylv. U. 1828-31, of which he was also pres.; and was pres. of the U. of Ala. from 1831 until his resign. Dec. 1837. Nephew of Leonard Woods, D.D., and son of Rev. Abel, a Baptist minister (1790-1850). He resides in Providence, R. I. "Author of "Intell. and Moral Culture;" "Inaug. Discourse, Lexington U.," 1828; "Introduct. Lecture before the Ala. Insitute," 1834; "Baccal. Address, U. of Ala.," 1835; "Valedict. Address," 6 Dec. 1837. — Allbone.

Woods, ANDREW SALTER, LL.D., jurist, b. Bath, N. H., 2 June, 1803; d. there 20 June, 1863. D. C. 1825. He began the practice of law in 1828; was made justice in 1840; and chief justice N. H. Sup. Court in 1855.

Woods, CHARLES R., brev. maj.-gen. U. S. A., b. Licking Co., O., ab. 1830. West Point, 1852. Entering the 1st Inf., he was early in 1861 quarterm. on Gen. Patterson's staff; app. col. 76th Ohio 13 Oct. 1861; was at the capture of Fort Donelson, Feb. 15, 1862; Pittsburg Landing, Apr. 7; com. a brigade, and joined the Army of the South-west, July 24; for gallantry at Ark. Post, May 15, was recom. for promotion; was in all the battles around Vicksburg; became brig.-gen. 4 Aug. 1863, and com. 1st brig., 1st div., 15th corps, which he led at Lookout Mountain and Mission Ridge, Nov. 25; at Resaca, Dallas, Kennesaw, Atlanta, and Jonesborough; and in the campaign of Ga. and the Carolinas com. a div. in Osterhaus's (15th) corps. Brev. lieutenant-col. 4 July, 1863, for capture of Vicksburg; col. 24 Nov. 1863 for Chattanooga; brig. and maj. gen. U. S. A. 13 Mar. 1865 for Atlanta, Ga., and Bentonville, N. C. Lieut.-col. 28 July, 1866; assigned to 5th Inf. 24 Mar. 1869. — Callahan.

Woods, LEONARD, D.D. (D. C. 1810), theologian, b. Princeton, Ms., 19 June, 1774; d. Andover, 24 Aug. 1854. H. U. 1796. Ord. pastor of a Cong. church in W. Newbury 5 Dec. 1798. A series of able papers, contrib. by him to the Pamphlet in 1805, vindicating Calvinism, estab. his reputation as a controversialist. Prof. of theology in Andover Theol. Sem. 1808-46. The contemporary of Buckminster, Channing, and Ware, he was the able antagonist of the Unitarian theology, and the champion of orthodox Calvinism. Dr. Woods was one of the originators of the Amer. Board of For. Missions, the Tract Society, and the Temperance Society. Author of "Letters to Unitarians," 1820; "Reply to Dr. Ware," 1821; "Lectures on Inspiration," 1829; "Lectures to Rev. N. W. Taylor," 1830; "Lectures on Inf. Baptism," 1829; "Memoirs of Amer. Missionaries," 1833; "Doctrine of Perfection," 1841; "Reply to Mahan," 1841; "Lectures on Church Govt.," 1843; on "Swedenborgianism," 1846; "Hist. of Andover Sem.," &c. His collected works were pub. in 5 vols. 1849-50.

Woods, LEONARD, JUN., D.D. (H. U. 1816), LL.D. (Bowd. 1866), pres. of Bowdoin Coll. 1839-66. Son of the preceding; b. Newbury, Ms., 24 Nov. 1807. Union Coll. 1827. Ord. 1833; tutor at And. Theol. Sem. 1831; prof. sacred lit. Bangor Theol. Sem. 1836-9. Transl. Knapp's "Theology," 2 vols. 8vo, 1833. Author of "Address on the Life and Char. of Parker Cleaveland," 1859; on "The Opening of the New Hall of the Med. School," 1862. He edited the early vols. of the Lit. and Theol. Rev., N. Y., 1834-7; contributed to Biblical Repository, &c.; and delivered an excellent address on Daniel Webster before the city authorities of Portland. In July, 1867, he visited Europe to complete the documentary history of Maine.

Woodville, RICHARD CATON, genre painter, b. Baltimore, ab. 1825; d. London, Eng., Sept. 13, 1855. St. Mary's Coll. His talent was first evinced by his "Interior of a Bar-Room." From Dusseldorf he sent in 1847 "The Card-Players," in 1848 "A Man holding a Book," and in 1850 "The Game of Chess" and "The Politicians." He was in Paris in 1851-3. Among the other fruits of his brief but brilliant career are "Waiting for the Stage," and "The Sailor's Wedding." — Tuckerman.

Woodward, ASHBEL, M.D. (Bowd. Coll. 1829), b. Wellington, Ct., June 26, 1804. Pres. of the Ct. Med. Soc. Besides numerous contribs. to the N. E. Hist. General Register and to medical journals, he has pub. "Vindication of Gen. Putnam," 1841; "Review of Uncle Tom's Cabin," 1853; "Hist. of the Ct. Med. Soc.," an address, 1859; "Medical Ethics," 1860; "Early Physicians of Norwich," 1859; "Life of Gen. N. Lyon," 1862; "Memoir of Col. T. Knowlton," 1861; "Specialism in Medicine," 1866; "Hist. Address at the 200th Anniv. of the Town of Franklin, Ct., 14 Oct. 1868."

Woodward, SAMUEL BAYARD, M.D., physician, b. Torrington, Ct., June 10, 1787; d. Northampton, Ms., Jan. 3, 1850. His father Dr. SAMUEL W., a physician of eminence, b. Watertown, Ct., 1750, d. Jan. 6, 1835. In 1809 Sampel B. began practice at Wethersfield; became physician to the State-prison, and was some years in the State senate. He was one of the founders of the "Retreat for the Insane," at Hartford; and from 1832, until his removal to Northampton in 1846, was supt. of the State Lunatic Hospital at Worcester. He was the projector of an asylum for imbeciles, and also of the Ms. School for Idiotic Youth. He pub. "Hints to the Young," and an essay on the "Fruits of New England."

Woodworth, JOHN, jurist, b. Schodack, N. Y., 12 Nov. 1768; d. Albany 1 June, 1858. Y. C. 1788. He studied law with John Lansing, jun., at Albany; adm. to the bar in 1791; began practice in Troy; and in 1806 removed to Albany, Surrogate of Rens. Co. 1793-1804; member of the Assembly 1803, of the senate 1804-7; atty.-gen. of N. Y. 1804-8; judge N. Y. Sup. Court 1819-28. Author of "Reminiscences of Troy 1790-1807." With W. W. Van Ness, app. to revise the laws of N. Y. 1811-13. — Steele's Council of Revision, New York.

Woodworth, SAMUEL, poet, b. Scituate, Ms., Jan. 13, 1785; d. New York, Dec. 9, 1842. Youngest son of a farmer and Revol. soldier. He had few educational advantages, and was apprenticed to Benjamin Russell of the Centinel, Boston. In 1807 he removed to New Haven, where he commenced a weekly paper, the Connecticut Repository, discontinued after the second month. He removed to New York in 1809; in 1810; and during the war of 1812 conducted a weekly paper (The War) and a monthly Swed. aboriginal mag. (The Helicon Linnæus and Linnæi Repository), both unsuccessfully; in 1816 he wrote a history of the late war, in the style of a romance, entitled "The Champions of Freedom." A small vol. of his poems was pub. in N. Y. in 1818, and another in 1826. Was one of the founders of the N. Y. Mirror in 1823, in conjunction with George P. Morris; withdrew from it in 1824; and in 1827 edited the Parthenon. He was a frequent contributor of verses to the newspapers; wrote some popular songs on the victories of the war of 1812-14, and some dramatic pieces, mostly operative, — one of which, "The Forest Rose," still keeps possession of the stage. "The Old Oaken Bucket" is by far the best of his numerous lyrics. His collected poems were pub. with a Memoir by Geo. P. Morris, in 1861, 2 vols. 18mo. — Dupke's.

Wool, GEN. JOHN ELLIS, b. Newburg, N. Y., 1788; d. Troy, N. Y., Nov. 10, 1863. Son of a Revol. soldier. He received little education, but before he was 21 became proprietor of a bookstore in Troy. Losing his property by fire, he studied law, but, through the friendship of Gov. De Witt Clinton, was app. capt. 31th Inf. Apr. 11, 1812. He raised a company in Troy; was disting. and severely wounded at Queenstown Heights, Oct. 13; was promoted to maj. a 20th Inf., and was brev. lieutenant for gallantry at the battles of Plattburgh, Sept. 6-11, 1814; in Spain, Sept. 29, 1816; lieutenant-col. Feb. 10, 1818; brev. brig.-gen. Apr. 29, 1826; brig.-gen. June 25, 1841. In 1832 the govt. sent him to Europe to examine the military systems of some of the principal nations, and he witnessed the siege of Antwerp; in 1836 he was employed in removing the Cherokee Indians to Arkansas. May 30, 1846, he was sent to the West to organize vols. for the Mexican war, and in less than 6 weeks despatched to the seat of war 12,000 fully armed and equipped. Collecting 3,000 m n, he reached Saltillo, after a march of 900 miles, without loss, preserving the most admirable discipline. He selected the ground for the battle of Buena Vista (Feb. 23, 1847), made the preliminary dispositions, and com. in the early part of the action until the arrival of Gen. Taylor. For his conduct on this occasion, Wool was brev. major-gen. May, 1848. In Jan. 1854 he received the thanks of Congress, and the present of a sword, for his services in Mexico. A valuable sword was also presented him by the N. Y. legisl.; in 1856 he put an end to the Indian disturbances in Washington and Oregon Territories in a campaign of 3 months, and was recalled to the dept. of the East. Soon after the attack on Fort Sumter, he went to N. Y., and, by timely reinforcements, saved Fortress Monroe from seizure by the Confederates. In Aug. he was sent to that post as com. of the dept. of Va., and led the expedition which occupied Norfolk, May 10, 1862. Made major-gen. May 16, 1862. Placed at the head of the 8th army corps, Sept. 16, 1862. Gen. Wool was a rigid disciplinarian, and had no superior as an organizer of troops.

Woolman, JOHN, Quaker preacher and author, b. Northampton, West Jersey, Aug. 1720; d. York, Eng., Oct. 7, 1772. "Charles Lamb, in one of the Essays of Elia, says, 'Get the writings of John Woolman by heart, and love the early Quakers.'" These writings include "The Journal of his Life and Travels in the Service of the Gospel;" "Some Considerations on the Keeping of Negroes" (1754); "Considerations on Pure Wisdom and Human Policy, on Labor, on Schools, and on the Right Use of the Lord's Outward Gifts" (1768); and "Considerations on the True Harmony of Mankind" (1770). He worked on a farm till his 21st year, when he became clerk to a shopkeeper at Mount Holly. He at various times opened a school for poor children at Mt. Holly, and was disting. for purity and benevolence. He afterward became a tailor; and, feeling "a concern to visit Friends in some of the back settlements of Va.," he started on a tour with Isaac Andrews, March 12, 1746, and was so well pleased with his journey, that he afterward adopted itinerancy as a regular pursuit. He spoke and wrote frequently on the subject of slavery, desiring its extinction in all parts of the country. In June, 1763, he paid a visit to the Indians on the east branch of the Susquehanna; in 1772, after a long and debilitating sickness, he went to England, where, previous to his death, he attended a few meetings of his sect. His Journal was repub. by John G. Whittier in 1871.

Woolsey, MELANCTHON B., commodore U.S.N., b. New York, Aug. 11, 1817. Midshipman, Dec. 24, 1832; lieutenant, July 16, 1847; com. July 16, 1862; capt. July 25, 1866; commodore, 1871. While com. steamer "Illinois" of the S. Atlantic squad, he took part in the engagement at the Wappier Creek battery, May 30, 1862; at Successionville Creek, June 1, 1862; and cooperated with the army in the attempt to carry James Island battered by a shell, June 3. Engaged in steamer "Princess Royal" of W. Gulf squad, (June 23, 1863) in defence of Donaldsonville Creek, June 1, 1862; and cooperated with the army in the attack on Fort Mifflin, under Green and Taylor, who were repulsed with a loss of 1,500. — Hornsey.

Woolsey, MELANCTHON TAYLOR, capt. U.S.N., b. N. Y., 1782; d. U. Gen., May 18, 1858. Son of Gen. M. Lloyd Woolsey, a Revol. officer, who died Troy, N. Y., 29 June, 1810. After studying law, young Woolsey, April 9, 1800, entered the navy as a midshipman; served in the W. Indies and Mediterranean, was made lieut. Feb. 4 1807; in 1808 he was sent to the Lakes to superintend the construction of the armaments on those inland seas. During the war of 1812, he served with credit under Chauncey. July 24, 1813, he was made master-com. ; capt. 27 Apr. 1816. In 1825-6 he com. the frigate "Constellation," attached to the W. India squadron; in 1826-7 had charge of the Pensacola navy-yard; and performed his last service on the coast of Brazil.

Woolsey, THOROUGH DWIGHT, D.D. (H.U. 1817), LL.D. (West. U. 1845), scholar, pres. of Y.C. 1846-71, b. N. Y. City 31 Oct. 1801, Y.C. 1820; tutor there 1823-5. Pres. Dwight was his maternal uncle. He studied at the Princeton Theol. Sem.; was licensed to preach; afterwards spent 3 years in Europe, studying the Greek language and literature in Germany, and was prof. of that branch at Yale in 1831-31; vice-pres. of the Oriental Soc., and a regent of the Smiths. Inst. He has pub. editions of the "Prometheus" of Æschylus, the "Antigone" and "Electra" of Sophocles, the "Alcestes" of Euripides, and the "Gorgias" of Plato. Author of inauguration discourse in 1816 on "College Education;" an hist. discourse at Yale, 1850; commemorative of President Day, Nov. 1867; introd. to the Study of International Law, 1860; and essay on "Divorce and Divorce Legislation," 12mo, 1869. A frequent contrib. to the New-England and other periodicals.

Wooster, GEN. DAVID, Revol. officer, b. Stratford, Ct., 2 Mar. 1710; d. Danbury, Ct., 2 May, 1777. Y.C. 1738. He was made capt. of an armed vessel to protect the coast in 1739; in the exped. against Louisburg in 1745 he com. the sloop-of-war "Connecticut," which conveyed the troops; was sent in com. of the cartel ship to Europe, but was not permitted to land in France. In England he was a favorite, was presented at court, and was made a capt. in Pepperell's regt., receiving half-pay until 1774. App. col. 3d Ct. Regt. in 1755; became a brig.-gen., and was in service in 1758-60. He was one of the originators of the exped. which captured Ticonderoga in Apr. 1775, and a member of the Ct. Assembly; was made brig.-gen. in the Cont. army 22 June, 1775, and served in Canada, holding, for a time, the chief com. after the death of Montgomery. Resigning soon after, he was made maj.-gen. of the State militia, and, while opposing a force of the enemy under Tryon sent to destroy the public stores at Danbury, was mortally wounded 27 Apr. 1777, and died a few days later. In 1740 he m. the dau. of Pres. Thomas Clapp of Yale College. His grandson, an adm. in the Chilian navy, formerly of N. Y. City, and extensively engaged in privateering in the war of 1812-15, d. Monterey, Cal., in the autumn of 1848.

Worcester, JOSEPH EMERSON, LL.D. (B.U. 1817; D.C. 1856), lexicographer, b. Bedford, N.H., Aug. 24, 1781; d. Cambridge, M., Oct. 27, 1865. Y.C. 1811. His great-grandfather Rev. Francis went to Hollis, N.H., in 1750; pub. in Boston in 1760 a series of meditations in verse; d. 1783, a. 85. Joseph's early education was in Hollis, at Phillips Acad., and Andover. While teaching school at 8 years, he wrote his "Geographical Dictionary, or Universal Gazetteer," 2 vols., Andover, 1817. His "Gazetteer of the U. S.," appeared in 1818. Removing to Cambridge, he pub. in 1819 "Elements of Geography;" "Epitome of Geography," 1820; "Sketches of the Earth and its Inhabitants," 2 vols. 1823; "Elements of History," 1822; "Epitome of History," 1827; and "Outlines of Scripture Geography," 1826-8. He pub. an edition of Todd's "Johnson and Walker" in 1827, and prepared an abridgment of Webster's "American Dictionary" in 1828. His "Pronouncing and Explanatory Dictionary" appeared in 1830. From Nov. 1830 to Sept. 1831 he was in Europe, engaged in philological studies. His "Universal and Critical Dictionary of the English Language," pub. in 1816, was afterward reprinted in London without his consent. In 1855 he pub. a "Pronouncing and Synonymous Dictionary;" and in 1860 he pub. his great "Dictionary of the English Language," 4o, Boston. Dr. W. also pub. a "Spelling Book of the English Language;" "Remarks on Longevity," &c.; and was literary editor of the American Abolitionist in 1831-43. He was a fellow of the A. ad. of Sciences; a corresp. member of the Royal Geog. Society, Lond.; and a member of other learned bodies.

Worcester, NOAH, D.D. (H.U. 1818), clergyman, founder of the Ms. Peace Society, b. Hollis, N.H., 25 Nov. 1758; d. Brighton, Ms., 31 Oct. 1837. Descended from William, first minister of Salisbury, Ms. He had a common-school education. Served 3 campaigns in the Revol. army, being a filer at Bunker's Hill, and a soldier at Bennington; afterward taught school at Plymouth, N.H.; removed to Thornton, N.H., and was a member of the legisl. Having in 1785 pub. a "Letter to Rev. John Murray" on his sermon on the Origin of Evil, he turned his attention to theology, and was ord. pastor at Thornton in 1787, making up the deficiency of his salary ($200) by farming and shoemaking. In 1802 he was employed by the N.H. Missionary Soc. In Feb. 1810 he removed to Salisbury, N.H.; in 1813 to Brighton, Ms. Edited the Christian Disciple in 1813-19, and the Friend of Peace 1819-29. He pub. in 1815 "A Solemn Review of the Custom of War;" founded the Peace Society in Jan. 1816, and was app. sec. The Hopkinsian Ass.-oc. of which he was a member, formally condemned his book, "Bible News;" and in Nov. 1810 he pub. his address on the Trinity. He also pub. "Friend of Youth," &c., 1823; "The Atoning Sacrifice," 1829; "Causes and Evils of Contention among Christians," 1831; "Last Thoughts on Important Subjects," 1833; besides many pamphlets, sermons, and treatises. — See Memoirs by H. Ware, jun., 1844, and Tribute by Wm. E. Channing, D.D., 1837.

Worcester, SAMUEL, D.D., clergyman, bro. of Noah, b. Hollis, N.H., Nov. 1, 1770; d. Bramerd, Tenn., June 7, 1821. Dartm. Coll. 1795. Pastor of the church in Fitchburg, Ms., 1797-1802, and of the Tabernacle Church, Salem, from 1803 till his d.; corresp. sec. of the Board of Foreign Missions in 1810. He pub. 3 orations; 6 sermons on Future Punishment (1806); 3 letters to Dr. Channing on Unitarianism, 1815; Watts's entire and select hymns, 1818; and occasional sermons, reports, reviews, essays, &c. A vol. of his sermons appeared in 1823. His son SYMMER MERRICK, D. D. (Amh. 1847), b. Fitchburg, Sept. 4, 1801, d. Boston, Aug. 16, 1866. H. U. 1822. Some years prof. of rhetoric and oratory in Amh. Coll., and then pastor of the Tabernacle Church, Salem. He pub. "Life and Labors of Rev. Samuel Worcester," 2 vols. 12mo, 1852; "Essays on Slavery by Vigorinus," 1826; "Memorial of the Tabernacle, Salem," 1855.

Worden, Jons Loumer, commo. U. S. N., b. Mt. Pleasant, Westchester Co., N. Y., Mar. 12, 1817. Midshipn. Jan. 12, 1835; lieut. Nov. 30, 1846; com. July 12, 1862; capt. Feb. 3, 1863; com. May 27, 1868. Sent with dispatches to Fort Pickens in Apr. 1861, he was arrested while returning, and kept in prison 7 months. He com. the iron-clad "Monitor" in her famous engagement with the iron-clad "Merrimack," in Hampton Roads, Mar. 9, 1862. The latter, partially disabled, retreated to Swell's Point. Capt. W.'s eyes were severely injured by the explosion of a shell from "The Merrimack," upon the eyeshole of the pilot-house. In com. of the iron-clad "Montauk," of the S. A. B. squad, he engaged Fort Mifflin, Jan. 27, 1863, and Feb. 1, 1863; attacked and destroyed the privateer "Nashville," under the guns of that fort, Feb. 28, 1863; and was in the attack of Charleston, under Dupont, Apr. 7, 1863. Superint. U. S. Naval Acad. since 1 Dec. 1869. — Howell's Rep.

Wormley, Mary Elizabeth (now Mrs. LATIMER), now lie. b. London, 26 July, 1822; her residence many years in Newport, R. I. Her father, Rear-Admiral Ralph Randolph W. (b. Va. 29 Oct. 1785, d. Phila., N. Y., 26 June, 1852), was grand-son on the mother's side, of Adm. Gen. John Randolph, a lay disc. Oct. 3, 1820, he in Carolina; prof. of Boston. Miss W. pub. "Fort Hill," 3 vols. Lond., 1843; "Annals of a Family History," N. Y., 1859; "Our Country in Roman," N. Y., 1859; and has contrib. to magazines. She was subsequently m. to Ralph Latimer of Baltimore. Her sister E. VINTAGE; PRISCILLA (b. 14 Jan. 1830) was during the civil war one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the Sanitary Commission. In 1862 she was supt. of the women's dept. of the Lowell General Hospital at Forts touth Grove, Rhode Island. — Dr. Peck's Family.

Worth, JOSEPHUS, gov. of N. C. 1865-67; d. Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 5, 1869, a. abt. 72. Member of the N. C. leg. l. in 1834, and in 1836, during the nullification excitement, denounced the secession movement vigorously, and, during the war, was a strong Unionist.

Worth, G. W. WILLIAM JENKINS, b. Hudson, N. Y., 1 Mar. 1791; d. San Antonio, Tex., 7 May, 1849. With a plain education, he began life a trader's clerk in Hudson. App. 19 May, 1813, lieut. 23d P. S. Co., he highly distinguished himself at Chippewa and at Sarsfield (25 July, 1814), where he was severely wounded; was com. of regts. at Water Point 1820-2; and of finance corps. 30 May, 1817, col. 9th Inf. 7 July, 1817; served in the war against the Seminole Indians 1818-2; com. the army in Fla. May, 1841, to Aug. 1842, an engaged in attack of H. Beck, Tussemoo's band at Pisklikidoo, 19 Apr. 1842; brev. brig.-gen. U. S. A. 1 Mar. 1842 for gallantry and highly distinguishing services in Fla. war; com. bri. 1846-7, and division 1847-8, in the war with Mexico, and engaged in the capture of Monterrey and Vera Cruz, battles of Cerro Gordo, Churubusco, Molino del Rey, Chapultepec, and assault and capture of city of Mexico, 13-14 Sept. 1847; and 238 pt. 1846, he was made gen. for Monterey, and presented with a sword of honor by Congress, also by the States of N. Y. and Cal., and by his native country, Columbia. A fine monument has been erected to his memory by the city of N. Y., at the junction of Broadway and Fifth Avenue. He was chivalrous, and a good tactician, his manners were popular, and his presence imposing.

Worthington, EUSTACE, Eng. and Pol. officin. b. Belcherstown, Ms., Oct. 8, 1779; d. Delmar, Jan. 27, 1842; Wms. Coll. 1801. He practiced law at Delmar in 1800-5, and was a member of the Gen. Court 1814-15. He pub. an Oration at Delmar, July 4, 1801; "History of Delmar 1635-1827," 8vo, 1827.

Worthington, THOMAS, gov. of Ohio 1814-18, b. near Charleston, Va., July 16, 1773; d. N. Y. City, 20 Jan. 1827. He received a good education, but was a common sailor in 1790-3; removed to the N. W. Terr. in 1798; was a member from Ross County of the Terr. legisl. in 1799-1801, of Ch. Court, Gov. of 1802; was U. S. senator in 1803-7 and 1810-14, and canal commiss. 1822-7. — A. T. Goshorn.

Wragg, WILLIAM, a talented and eloquent lawyer of S. C., b. 1744; d. S. p., 1777. Of Huguenot descent. Educated in Eng.; many years a member of the S. C. Assembly, and in 1753 of the council. In 1760 he declined the office of chief justice. His sense of duty prevented his espousing the cause of independence. Embarking for Eng., he was shipwrecked and lost on the coast of Holland; his infant son was saved. A monument in Westminster Abbey depicts this event. He pub. "Reasons for not concurring in the Non-Importation Resolution," 1769.

Wraggel, VOS (pron. vinn'-s'-d), FRANK SAND PIEROVICZ, Baron a Russian admiral and navigator of Swedish extraction, b. Pultowa, 1705. Appointed to command an exploring expedition to the Arctic Sea he travelled on the ice in sledge a fortnight 72-24. In 1824 he became gov. of the Russian Possession in Alaska, and in 1847 vice-admiral; in 1849 he sailed from America and has since been director of the trading co. in the Russian Possession. Author of "Journals from Sitka to St. Petersburg," 1839; "Statistical and Ethnographical Notices on the Russian Possessions in America," 1839; and "Journals of the Northern Voyages of the baron de Voss," 1841.

Wright, ELIZABETH, an author and journalist, b. South County, Ct., Feb. 12, 1804. Y. C. 1826. Her father d. Tolland Co., O., 1815, a. 83. He lived on a farm in O. from 1810-22, and, after having collected for 10 years in the Lawrence Acad., Groton, two years. In 1829-31 he was prof. of mathematics and nat. philos. in W. Res. Coll., Hudson, O. In 1833 he became sec. of the Amer. Antislavery Society in N.Y., editing Human Rights 1834-5, and the Quarterly Antislavery Misc., until his removal to Boston in 1838; in Apr. 1839 he became editor of the Ms. Advocate. In 1846 he established the Chenotype newspaper, and was for some time editor of the Commonwealth, into which it was merged in 1850. Ins. commiss. of M., 1854-66. He has pub. a translation in verse of La Fontaine's "Fables," 2 vols. 8vo, Lond. 1843; 1 vol. 8vo, Boston, 1846; "A Curiosity of Law," &c., 1866. Anti-slavery pamphlets, articles in Atlantic Monthly, &c.

Wright, FRANCES (D'AREMONT), reformer, b. Dundee, Scotland, Sept. 6, 1793; d. Cincinnati, Dec. 14, 1852. The intimacy of her father with A. A. Smith, Dr. Callen, and other eminent literary and scientific men of his day, was probably the cause of her becoming a propagandist of social and political novelties. At the age of 18 she wrote "A Few Days in Athens," in which she defended the opinions and character of Epicurus. In 1818-21 she visited America, and pub. "Views on Society and Manners in America." She afterwards visited Paris on the invitation of Lafayette. After her return to America in 1825, she purchased 2,000 acres of land in Tenn. (subsequently the site of Memphis), and peopled it with a number of slave families whom she had redeemed, but who were subsequently removed to Hayti. In 1833-6 she lectured publicly on slavery and other social topics, with great success, in all the principal cities of the Union, incurring, however, the hostility of the press and the clergy by the freedom with which she spoke of matters both of Church and State. She then joined Robt. Owen at New Harmony, editing the Gazette, and lecturing in behalf of the enterprise, but with small success. About 1838, while on another visit to France, she m. M. D'Armsont, from whom she soon separated, subsequently residing in America with an only dau., the fruit of her marriage. She was an eccentric and daring woman, and full of benevolent enthusiasm. Her other publications were "Aloof," a tragedy, 1819; "Lectures on Free Inquiry, Religion, Morals, Opinions," &c., 1836. Her biography was pub. by John Windt, 1841; and by Amos Gilbert, 8vo, Cin. 1855.

Wright, GEN. GEORGE, b. Vt. 1803; drownd. 130 July, 1865, in the wreck of steamer "Brother Jonathan." West Point (lieut. 3d Inf.), 1-22. Adj. Jan. 1-31-6; capt. 30 Oct. 1-35; brev. maj. for meritorious conduct in the Florida war March 15, 1812; brev. lieut.-col. for gallantry at Contreras and Churubusco 29 Aug. 1847; com. the storming-party and brev. col. for gallantry at Molino del Rey 8 Sept. 1-47, in which he was wounded; maj. 4th Inf. Jan. 1, 1-48; col. 9th Inf. Mar. 3, 1-55; greatly disting. in campaigns against the Indians of Wash. Terr. Mar. 1855 and Sept. 1-58; brig.-gen. of vols. Sept. 28, 1861; and com. the dept. of the Pacific, Oct. 1861 to July, 1864, and the district of California 1864-5.

Wright, HENRY C., lecturer on antislavery, socialism, and spiritualism, b. 29 Aug. 1797; d. Pawtucket, R.I., Aug. 16, 1870. Author of "Marriage and Parentage," 12mo, 1855; "Mankilling by Nations and Individuals Wrong," 1-41; "A Kiss for a Blow," 1843; "Defensive War a Denial of Christianity," 1846; "Human Life Illustrated," 1849; "Anthropology, or the Science of Man," 1850; "The Living Present and the Dead Past," 1865.

Wright, HORATIO GATES, brev. maj.-gen. U.S.A., b. Ct. about 1820. West Point, 1841. App. 2d lieut. of engrs.; a-sist. prof. of eng. at West Point, Jan. 1842-July, 1844; 1st lieut. 23 Feb. 1848; capt. 1 July, 1-55; maj. 6 Aug. 1861; lieut.-col. 23 Nov. 1-65; brig.-gen. vols. 14 Sept. 1-61; maj.-gen. 18 July, 1862. Chief engineer of Hantzschman's div. at Bull Run, 21 July, 1-61; com. 2d brigade in the Port-Royal exped.; com. the exped. (27 Feb. 1862) that captured Fernandina, Fla.; com. a division in the attack on Secessionville, S.C., 16 June, 1862; assigned to com. the dept. of the Ohio 18 July, 1862; com. a division, Army of the Potomac, in passage of the Rappahannock and at Gettysburg; com. 6th corps at Rappahannock Station 7 Nov. 1863, and brev. lieut.-col.; com. 6th corps in Richmond campaign, and wounded at Spotsylvania, and brev. col. 12 May, 1864; engaged in defence of the capital in July, and in the Shenandoah campaign Aug.-Dec. 1864, and wounded at Cedar Creek; and finally at the siege of Petersburg, and operations ending in Lee's surrender. Brev. brig.-gen. and maj.-gen. 13 March, 1-65, for Cold Harbor and capture of Petersburg.—Callom.

Wright, SIR JAMES, last royal gov. of Ga., b. Charleston, S.C.; d. Eng. 1766. His father Robert was chief justice of S.C. at his decease. The son practised law in Charleston, and was afterward agent of the Province of S.C. in Great Britain, and atty.-gen. May 13, 1750, he was app. chief justice and lieut.-gov.; in 1764 he received the appointment of gov.; and Dec. 8, 1772, was created a baronet. His long administration was disting. by wisdom and prudence; and the Colony flourished. He was, however, avaricious, and devoted to the wishes of the king. At the commencement of the Revol. a contest was kept up by him and the popular leaders until Jan. 1776, when he was imprisoned, but soon afterwards escaped. He returned in July, 1779, and resumed the gov.; but the royal authority soon ceased, the large estates acquired by him in Ga. were confiscated, and Sir James retired to England. His son JAMES succeeded to the baronetcy, and d. in 1846. He served with the Gt. Royalists at the siege of Savannah.

Wright, JOHN C., jurist, b. 1783; d. Washington, D.C., Feb. 13, 1861, while a delegate to the Peace Convention. He settled early at Steubenville, O.; soon attained eminence at the bar; was many years on the supreme bench; M.C. 1823-9; and was long editor and owner of the Cincinnati Gazette. His reported decisions are in high repute in the West. He pub. Sup. Court Reports, Ohio, 1831-4, 8vo, 1835.—Lawson.

Wright, JOSEPH, portrait-painter, b. Bordentown, N.J., 1756; d. Phila. 1793 of yellow-fever. Patience Wright, his mother, excelled in modelling wax miniature-heads. The family went to Eng. in 1772. Here the young artist painted the Prince of Wales; at reward pursued his studies in Paris under the care of Dr. Franklin; and on his return narrowly escaped with his life from shipwreck. In the autumn of 1783 he painted a three-quarter length portrait of Washington; afterwards painted another for the Count de Solms; and, still later, a miniature-profile from life. Appointed Washington's first draughtsman and designer in the U.S. mint. The first coins and medals of the U.S. were his handiwork. — See Wright.

Wright, Joseph A., statesman, b. Pa. 17 April, 1810; d. Berlin, Prussia, May 11, 1867. His educational advantages were limited. Early in life he settled in Ind.; came to the bar in 1829; soon rose in the profession; in 1833 he became a member of the State legislature; State senator in 1840; M.C. 1843-5; gov. of Indiana 1849-57; minister to Prussia 1857-61; U.S. senator in 1851-2; U.S. commiss. to the Hamburg Exhibition in 1861; and a second time minister to Prussia, from 1865 until his death.

Wright, Nathaniel H., poet, b. Concord, Ms., 1787; d. Boston, May 13, 1824. Educated as a printer in Boston, where he edited the Kathibos. Pub. "Fall of Palmyra," a poem; and "Boston," or a touch at the times, a small pamphlet.

Wright, Robert, gov. of Md. in 1805-9, b. Kent Co., Md.; d. Sept. 7, 1826. U.S. senator 1801-6; at one time a member of the exec. council; and was M.C. in 1810-17 and 1821-3.

Wright, Robert E., counsellor-at-law, b. Allstown, Pa., 1810. Author of "Law of Aldermen and Justices," 1839; "Law of Constables," 1840; "Pa. Digest, 1836-41," 8vo, 1-42; Pa. Sup. Ct. Reports, 1860-5, 8vo, 14 vols.; essays on Constitutional Reform, an Elective Judiciary, Reform in our Postal Political System, &c. — See Wright.

Wright, Silas, statesman, b. Amherst, Ms., May 24, 1795; d. Canton, N.Y., Aug. 27, 1847. Md. Col. 1815. Adm. to the bar in 1819, he established himself as an attorney at Canton. In 1820 he was app. surrogate of the county. In 1823 he became a member of the State senate, and an opponent of De Witt Clinton; M.C. in 1827-9, voted for the protective tariff of 1828, and for an inquiry into the expediency of abolishing slavery in the Dist. of Col.; comptroller of N.Y. 1829-33; U.S. senator 1833-44, supported Mr. Clay's compromise bill in 1833, defended Pres. Jackson's removal of the deposits, opposed the recharter of the U.S. Bank, voted against receiving a petition for abolishing slavery in the Dist. of Col., voted for the tariff of 1842 and for the annexation of Texas. He refused to be made a justice of the U.S. Sup. Court, and in 1844 declined the nomination to the vice-presidency. In 1844 he was chosen gov. of N.Y.; in 1845 he declined the office of sec. of the treasury. On leaving the gov.'s chair, Mr. Wright returned to his little farm of 30 acres at Canton, whose cultivation with his own hands had always been a favorite pursuit. He was a man of clear and powerful mind, and thoroughly informed upon public affairs — See his Life and Times by Jewett; D. H. Howard, 8vo, 1848.

Wright, William, senator, b. Clarkstown, N.V., 1794; d. Newark, N.J., Nov. 1, 1866. The death of his father, Dr. William Wright, compelled him to abandon the design of a college education; and he learned the trade of harness-making, in which he eventually made a large fortune, having in 1821 established himself in Newark. He was a volunteer for the defence of Stonington, Ct., in the war of 1812; was mayor of Newark in 1840-3; was a warm political friend of Henry Clay; M.C. in 1843-7; changed his politics in 1851; was a Democ. U.S. senator in 1853-9, and reelected in 1863; and was chairman of the committee on manufactures.

Wyatt, Sir Francis, gov. of Va. 1621-6 and 1639-41; d. Bexley, Kent, Eng., 1644. Son of George who died in Ireland 1625. During his administration, the Indians began (2 Mar. 1622) to execute a plot to exterminate the English, which was followed by a sanguinary war; and the first courts were established in the Colony.

Wylie, Andrew, D.D. (Univ. Coll. 1825), educator, b. Washington Co., Pa., Apr. 12, 1789; d. Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 11, 1851. Jeff. Coll. 1810. In 1812 he was licensed as a Presb. preacher; was pres. of Jeff. Coll. in 1812-16. In 1817 he became pres. of Washington Coll., taking charge at the same time of a cong. 7 miles distant; and from 1828 to his death was pres. of the coll. at Bloomington; 14 Dec. 1841 he took orders in the Epis. Church. He pub. "English Grammar," 1822; "Secularism is Heresy," 1840; "Eulogy on Lafayette," 1834; and addresses and sermons.

Wylie, Samuel, Browns, D.D. (Dick. Coll. 1817), 51 years pastor of the First Ref. Church, Phila.; d. there 14 Oct. 1852; b. near Ballymena, Ireland, 21 May, 1773. U. of Glasg. 1797. Came to Phila. in 1797; prof. in Theol. Sem. of R. P. Church 1809-51; prof. of ancient languages in the U. of Pa. 1828-45, and an eminent Oriental and classical scholar, vice-provost of the U. Pa. 1838-45. Author of "The Faithful Witness," 1804. Copying, 1803; "Greek Grammar," 1818. "Life of Rev. Alexander McLeod, D.D.," 8vo 1855. Co-editor Pædagogium Mag. 1821-2; contrib. to periodicals.

Wylie, Theodore, W. J., D.D. (U. of N.Y. 1859), son of S. B., b. Phila. 1818. U. of Pa. 1836. Assoc. pastor 1st Ref. Presb. Church 1843-52, and pastor since that date; prof. Theol. Sem. Ref. Pr. Church 1847-51, 1854-7, 1859-69. Author of English, Latin, and Greek Vocab., 1839; "The God of Our Fathers," 1854; "Washington a Christian," 1862. Editor Jav. Missionary Intellig., 1855-7; Missionary Advocate, 1858-41; Banner of the Covenant, 1845-55. — See Wylie.

Wyllis, George, of Ferry Compton, Co. Warwick, came to Harro d. in 1638, was an assist. in 1639; dep. gov. 1641; gov. 1642; d. 9 Mar. 1645. His son SAMUEL (b. 1632; d. 30 May, 1709; H.U. 1673) was an assist. 1654-84. His son GEORGE, son of Samuel, sec. of the Colony of Ct. 1712-34, d. 21 Dec. 1741. GEORGE, son of Rev. (b. 6 Oct. 1719, d. 24 Apr. 1796; Y. C. 1729), succeeded his father as sec. (1744-95).

Wyllis, GEN. SAMUEL, Revol. patriot, b. Hartford, Jan. 15, 1739; d. there June 9, 1823. Y. C. 1758. Son of Sec. George. In 1775 he was lieut.-col. of Spencer's regt.; was col. of a regt. at the siege of Boston; app. col. in the Cont. line in Jan. 1776, serving with repute throughout the war. He afterward became maj.-gen. of militia; member of the Ct. Acad. of Arts and Sciences; and succeeded his father and grandfather as sec. of State, which post he resigned in 1809. The 3 held this office 98 years in succession.

Wyman, JEFFERIES, M.D., anatomist, b. Chestnut, Ms., Aug. 11, 1814. H. U. 1833; Harv. Med. Coll. 1837. During a two-years' visit to Europe, he studied medicine in the hospitals of Paris, and nat. history in the Jardin des Plantes. In 1843-7 he filled the chair of anatomy in Hamp. Sid. Coll., Va.; and has succeeded Hersey prof. of anatomy in H. U., and prof. of comp. anatomy in the Lawrence Scient. School. He has pub. "Twelve Lectures on Comparative Physiology," delivered before the Lowell Inst., Boston, 1849; also various articles in the Jour. of Science, "Smithsonian Contribs. to Knowledge," Boston Jour. of Nat. Hist., and the "Proceedings of the Boston Soc. of Nat. Hist.," of which association he has been pres. since 1856.

Wynno, JAMES, M.D. (U. of N. Y. 1835), LL.D., b. Utica, N. Y., 1814. A lineal descendant of Sir John de Gwydyr. He practiced medicine at Baltimore, and afterward in N. Y. Author of "Memoir of Major Samuel Ringgold," 1847; "Lives of Eminent Literary and Scient. Men of America," 1859; "Vital Statistics of the U. S.," 1857; "Importance of the Study of Legal Medicine," 1859; "Private Libraries of New York," "Report on the Asiatic Cholera in the U. S.," 1849, prep. for the British govt., which in 1854 rewarded him with a gold medal; reports, med. papers, &c. — Albany.

Wynne, JOHN HUBLESTONE, author, b. S. Wales 1743; d. St. Thomas's Hospital, Lond., Oct. 1788. Author of a "General History of the British Empire in America," 2 vols. 8vo, 1770; "History of Ireland," 1773; "Fables of Flowers," &c.

Wynn, GEN. RICHARD, b. Va.; d. Tenn. soon after 1813. Entering the service early, he was in 1775 lieut. of S. C. Rangers; served in the battle on Sullivan's Island; was in com. of Fort McIntosh, Ga.; was subsequently promoted to col., and com. the militia of Fairfield dist. S. C.; was with Sumter at Hanging Rock, where he was wounded; was active during the remainder of the war; and at its close was app. a brig., and finally a maj.-gen. of militia. M. C. 1793-7 and 1802-13.

Wynn, GEN. THOMAS, Revol. officer, b. Hartford Co., N. C.; d. there 3 June, 1825. A planter by occupation. He served many years in the State legisl., was a member of the exec. council, gen. of militia, and M. C. 1793-7.

Wythe, GEORGE, statesman and jurist, and a signer of the Decl. of Indep., b. Elizabeth City, Va., 1726; d. Richmond, June 8, 1806. Wm. and Mary Coll. Educated chiefly under the supervision of his mother, — a woman of uncommon knowledge and strength of mind. The death of both parents before he was 21, and the uncontrolled possession of a large fortune, led him for some time into a career of extravagance and dissipation. At the age of 30, however, his conduct underwent an entire change; he gave his assiduous attention to the study of law; was adm. to the bar in 1757, where his learning, industry, and eloquence made him eminent. As early as 1758, and for several years previous to the Revol. he was a prominent member of the house of burgesses as the representative of Wm. and Mary Coll., of which he was prof. of law in 1779-9. In 1764 he drew up a strong remonstrance to the house of commons against the Stamp Act, the tone of which was greatly modified by the Assembly. In Aug. 1775 he was app. a deleg. to Congress, of which he was an influential member until 1777. In Nov. 1776 he was app. with Jefferson (who had been his pupil in the law) and others, to revise the laws of Va., in which they made important changes. In 1777 he was chosen speaker of the house of delegates, and was app. judge of the High Court of Chancery of the State. On the re-organization of the Court of Equity, he was app. sole chancellor, which station he filled more than 20 years. In 1788 he was a member of the Va. Conv., which ratified the Federal Constitution, — during the debates, generally acting as chairman, — and was a strenuous advocate of the instrument adopted. His death was occasioned by poison; but the person suspected was acquitted by a jury. In the latter part of his life he emancipated his slaves, and furnished them means of subsistence. Author of "Decisions by the High Court of Chancery," &c., 1795; second ed., with Memoir by B. B. Minor, 8vo, 1852. LL.D. (Wm. and Mary Coll. 1790).

Xerxes (hac-rés), FRANCIS, a British historiographer of the conquest of Peru, and one of the conquerors of Seville. His History, pub. by order of Pizarro (whose secretary he was), at Salamanca, 1547, was written in Latin, and though partial, is full of interest.

Ximenez de Quesada (see Quixada), GONZALO, a Spanish captain, b. Granada ab. 1495; led a party which ab. 1532 discovered the region since called New Mexico, founded, in 1638, Santa Fe.

Yale, CYRUS, minister of the gospel (died 1814-51) (excepting in 1806, when he was settled at Ware), b. Taunton, Mass., 1786; d. 21 May, 1854. Wm. and Mary Coll. He was zealous in the cause of peace and union, and pub. a "Memoir of Rufus King," 1821; "Sketches of Ministers of the Gospel," 1852; and some sermons.

Yale, ELIhu, principal merchant and factor of Yale Coll., b. New Haven, Apr. 5, 1648; d. Lond. July 22, 1721. His father Thomas came to N. Haven with the first colonists in 1638, but returned with his family in 1653. At the age of 10 he went to Eng., where he was educated; and ab. 1678 removed to the E. Indies, where he resided 20 years, and acquired a very large estate. He first introduced auctions into Eng. ab. 1700, on goods brought home by him from Fort George in the E. Indies, of which place he had been gov. in 1687-92. He is a native of the E. Indies, by whom he had three daughters. The close of his life he passed in Eng., where he was made gov. of the E. I. Company, and a fellow of the Royal Society. His donations to Yale Coll. amounted to about £400 sterling. — Am. Biog., iv. 245.

Yancey, WILLIAM LAWRENDS, politician, b. Okechee Shoals, Ga., Aug. 10, 1814; d. near Montgomery, Ala., July 28, 1863. He went to Ala. while young; studied law; was adm. to the bar at Montgomery, near which city he afterward resided. Edited the Columbian Democrat and Montgomerian; served in both branches of the State legisl.; and was M.C. in 1844-7. Resuming practice in Ala., he was a member of the Nat. Democ. Conv. at Baltimore in May, 1848, a zealous opponent of the compromise measures of 1850, and was one of the leaders of the extreme party in the South. In a letter written in June 1858, and pub. in 1860, he advised the organization of committees of safety in all the cotton States to "fire the Southern heart," and ultimately to precipitate the cotton States into revolt. Member of the Democ. Conv. at Charleston Apr. 23, 1860, and withdrew with other Southern extremists. In the seceding convention he aided in the nomination of Mr. Breckenridge, and advocated his election before the people. In the Ala. Conv., which met at Montgomery, Jan. 7, 1861, he reported the ordinance of secession, which was passed Jan. 14; Feb. 27 he was made a commiss. to the govts. of Europe to obtain the recognition of the Conf.-d. States, and left N. York in March. Returning in Feb. 1862, he was a member of the Confed. Congress until his death.

Yates, JOSEPH C., judge of the Supreme Court of N. Y. 1808-22, gov. of N. Y. 1823-5, b. Schenectady, N. Y., 9 Nov. 1768; d. there March 19, 1837. Son of Col. Christopher. Studied and practised law at S.; a founder of Union Coll. 1795; mayor of S. 1798-1808; State senator 1806-7.

Yates, RICHARD, lawyer, and a prominent Repub. politician, b. Warsaw, Ky., Jan. 18, 1818. He removed to Illinois; grad. at Ill. Coll., and practised law. Often a member of the State legisl.; M.C. 1851-5; gov. of Ill. 1861-5; active in raising vols. in defence of the Union; U. S. senator 1865-71; delegate to the Phila. Loyalists' Convention of 1866.

Yates, ROBERT, jurist and statesman, b. Schenectady, N. Y., Jan. 27, 1738; d. Albany, Sept. 9, 1801. He received a classical education in N. Y. City; studied law, and in 1765 was adm. to practice at Albany, where he attained eminence in the profession. During the early stages of the Revol., several well written essays established his reputation as a writer in defence of the rights and liberties of his country. A prominent member of the com. of safety; chairman of the com. of milit. operations 1776-7; member of the Prov. Congress of New York, and of the conv. that framed the State constitution in 1777; judge of the Supreme Court 1777-90; chief justice 1790-8, and eminent for his moderation and impartiality; member of the conv. that formed the Constitution of the U. S., which he opposed, and in his labors we are indebted for the preservation of its debates, pub. by his widow, 12mo, 1839. A member also of the State Convention which adopted the Constitution. Soon after this period, he was commissioned to treat with the States of Ms. and Ct. on the subject of territory, and to settle the claims of N. Y. against the State of Vr.

Yeadon, RICHARD, lawyer and journalist, b. Charleston, S. C., 23 Oct. 1802; d. there 25 Apr. 1870. S. C. Coll. Adm. to the bar, but became interested in politics, and wrote for the Political Gazette. He was many years ed. and prop. of the Charleston Courier. Several years a member of the State legisl., and filled various public offices. He accumulated wealth from his law practice and from his paper, much of which he used in charity.

Yeaman, SIR JOHN, gov. of S. C. in 1671-4, b. Bristol, England, d. Barbadoes. He emig. to Barbadoes; and in 1665 was one of the settlers of Clarendon Co., S. C., and first introduced slaves into Carolina, previous to which the laborers were Europeans. He at first ruled with prudence and moderation, but became violent, unjust, and tyrannical, and was removed from office.

Yeardley, SIR GEORGE, gov. of Va. 1616, 1619-21, and 1625; d. 1627. In 1619 the first Gen. Assembly met in Va.; and, during his administration, many important improvements were made, and the power, population, and respectability of the Colony much increased. He was at one time a member of the council.

Yeates, JASPER, judge of the Sup. Court of Pa. from 1791 to his d., Lancaster, Pa., Mar. 14, 1817. Member of the Lancaster Co. com. of corresp. in 1774, and of the conv. which ratified the U. S. Constitution in 1788. He pub. "Reports of Cases in the Sup. Court of Pa. 1791-1808," Phila., 4 vols. 8vo, 1817-19.

Yell, Col. ARCHIBALD, b. Ky. 1797, killed in battle of Buena Vista, Feb. 28, 1847. Judge of Ark. Terr.; M. C. from Ark. 1837-9, and 1845-7; gov. 1840-4; col. Ark. volunteer cav. July, 1846.

Yeo, SIR JAMES LEVYS, who com. the British fleet on the Lakes in the war of 1812, b. Southampton, Eng., 1782; d. 1818. Entering the navy at an early age, he earned his promotion to com. by a gallant exploit, storming the fort of El Muro, and capturing and bringing off every vessel in the port. His capture of Cayenne, for which he was made post-capt., and his services on the American Lakes, gained him high consideration. — Monist.

Youkum, Col. HENRICHSON K., b. Claiborne Co., Tenn., 1810; d. Houston, Texas, Nov. 29, 1856. West Point, 1832. He entered the 3d Art., but resigned 31 Mar. 1833; was a lawyer in Tenn. in 1835-43, and in Texas in 1845-6; and was a member of the State senate in 1839. He served as 1st Lt. in Hays' Texan Rangers in Mexican war, June, 1846; lawyer at Huntville, Tex. 1846-56. Author of "A History of Texas, 1685-1845," 2 vols. 8vo, 1845. Contributed also to periodicals.

Yorke, Col. JOHN, a British officer serving in the Amer. Revol. war, b. May, 1745; d. 1825. Maj. 33d Regt. 8 Aug. 1776; lt. ut. col.

1779; col. 19 Mar. 1783. Disting. in Cornwallis's campaigns; M.P. for Reading; dep. lieutenant of the Tower from Mar. 1794 to his death.

Youmans, EDWARD LIVINGSTON, author and lecturer, b. Albany Co., N.Y., 1821. M.D. U. of Vt.; prof. of chemistry Antioch Coll. since 1866. In his early youth he was some years deprived of eye-sight, but eventually became a proficient in chemistry. He pub. "Chemical Chart of Colored Diagrams," 1851; "Class-Book of Chemistry," 1852; "Atlas of Chemistry," 1854; "Alcohol and the Constitution of Man," 1855; "Handbook of Household Science," 1857; "Correlation and Conservation of Forces," 1864; "Observations on the Scient. Study of Human Nature," 1866; "The Culture demanded by Modern Life," 1867. Editor of Herbert Spencer's works. Contrib. to sci. periodicals.

Young, ALEXANDER, D.D. (H.U. 1846), Unitarian clergyman and historian, b. Boston, Sept. 22, 1800; d. there Mar. 16, 1854. H.U. 1820. The son of a printer. Jan. 19, 1825, he was settled pastor of the Sixth (New South) Church, Boston. Besides a vol. of occas. discourses, Dr. Young pub. in 1839 a series of 9 vols., entitled the "Old English Prose Writers"; "Discourse on the Life and Character of Nathaniel Bowditch," 1838; "Chronicles of the Pilgrim Fathers of the Colony of Plymouth," 1841; and "Chronicles of the First Planters of the Colony of Ms. Bay from 1623 to 1636," 1846.

Young, BRIGHAM, high priest of the Mormons, b. Whittingham, Vt., 1 June, 1801. In 1832 he joined the Mormons at Kirland, O.; soon became influential by his shrewdness and energy; was one of the 12 apostles sent out to make converts in 1835; and on the death of Joe Smith in June, 1844, was chosen pres. and proph. t. With most of the sect, he abandoned Nauvoo early in 1846; persuaded his followers that the Salt-Lake Valley was the Promised Land, and founded there, in July, 1847, Salt-Lake City. In the spring of 1849, having greatly increased by emigration, they organized a State they called Deseret; but Congress organized it as the Terr. of Utah, of which Young was U.S. gov. in 1850-4. The Mormons having defied the Federal govt., Pres. Buchanan in 1857 sent a force of 2,500 men to enforce its authority; and in 1858 a compromise ended the feud. Brigham has 12 actual wives, besides many who have been "sealed to him" as his spiritual wives. As the head of the Mormon Church, he was long de facto gov. of the Terr., and is "president" by semi-annual ex-officio election.

Young, J. HARVEY, portrait-painter of Boston, b. Salem, Ms., 14 June, 1830. He studied under John Pope, and, opening a studio, worked on portraits at five dollars a head. For 4 years he was an architect, and was engaged in mercantile business in N.H. and in Phila., but in 1858 settled permanently in Boston, soon acquiring reputation. Among his best known portraits are those of Edward Everett, William Warren, comedian, Wm. H. Prescott, and Horace Mann, Maj. Camp the knightly soldier, Chaplain Fuller, Col. Ellsworth, and Sergeant Brownell. Mr. Young married in 1855.

Young, REV. JACOB, Meth. preacher, b. Alleghany Co., Pa., March 19, 1776; d. Harrisburg, O., Sept. 15, 1859. Licensed to preach in 1801, and continued till 1856. Author of "The Autobiography of a Pioneer," Cin., 12mo.

Young, JOHN, gov. of N.Y. 1847-9, b. Chelsea, Vt., 1802; d. N.Y. City, Apr. 23, 1852. While young, his father removed to Livingston Co., N.Y., where he received a common-school education, and studied and practised law. Member of the State legisl. in 1831, '44, and '45; M.C. 1841-3. Originally a Democrat, he became in 1829 an anti-Mason, and was elected to Congress by the Whigs. U. S. asst. tr. as at N.Y. City 1849-52.

Young, RIGHT HON. SIR JOHN, Baron Lisgar, gov.-gen. of the Dominion of Canada since 18 Sept. 1868, b. 1807. B.A. of Oxford U. 1829; called to the bar of Lincoln's Inn 1834; a lord of the treasury 1841-4; sec. of the treas. 1844-6; chief sec. to lord-lieut. of Ireland 1852-5; commiss. of the Ionian Islands 1855-9; gov. of New South Wales 1860-7; created Baron Lisgar 8 Oct. 1870.

Young, JOHN CLARK, D.D. (N.J. Coll. 1839), clergyman, b. Greencastle, Pa., Aug. 12, 1803; d. June 23, 1857. Dick. Coll. 1823. He in 1828 became pastor of a church in Lexington, Ky. From 1830 till his death he was pres. of Centre Coll., Danville, Ky., and also had charge of a cong. there. Author of an Address to the Presbyterians of Ky., proposing a Plan for Emancipation, 1835; also many single sermons.

Young, JOSUE MARIE, R. C. bishop of Erie (consec. 23 Apr. 1854), b. Santord, Me., Aug. 1808; d. Erie, Pa., Sept. 18, 1866. Born of Protestant parents, he became a Catholic at 19. Learning the printer's trade, he went to Cincinnati, and worked in the office of the Catholic Telegraph. Prepared for the church at Mount St. Mary's Coll., he was ord. in 1837, and labored many years in the diocese of Cincinnati. In 1853, while pastor of St. Mary's, Lancaster, Ohio, he was app. to the see of Pittsburg, but declined.

Young, WILLIAM, editor of the Albion (N.Y.) 1848-57, b. Deptford, Eng., 1809, and, having m. an Amer. lady, in 1839 emig. to the U.S. He has transl. Béranger's songs and poems, and "The Man who Laughs;" and has pub. a Collection of Amer. College Songs, 1868; "Matrimon Rogues, et cetera," 1868.

Zane, COL. EBENEZER, a Western pioneer, b. Berkeley Co., Va., Oct. 7, 1747; d. 1811. Of Danish origin. He at the age of 23 emig. to the West, and settled on the site of the present city of Wheeling at a time when there was not a permanent Anglo-Saxon settlement from the source to the mouth of the Ohio. During the Revol. war, several attacks by the Indians upon Fort Henry, as the settlement was then named, were repulsed; the last in 1781. Col. Zane was a disbursing-officer under Dunmore, and held under the commonwealth numerous civil and military posts. He owned the land where the city of Zanesville now stands, on the Muskingum.

Zarate (thā-tā-tā), AGOSTIN DE; d. ab. 1500. Author of a "History of the Conquest of Peru," pub. 1555. Sent to Peru in 1543 as treasurer of the crown, he played an important part in the civil wars of the country, where he remained many years. After the deposition of Vela, he was sent on an important embassy to Gonzalo Pizarro.

Zea (thā-ā), DON FRANCISCO AROXIO, a South-American patriot, b. Medellin, New Granada, Oct. 20, 1770; d. Bath, Eng., Nov. 28, 1822. Educated at Bogota. Participating in revol. movements, he was confined at Cadiz in 1797-9. In 1802 he became an assistant director in the Botanic Garden of Madrid, and in 1805 prof. of botany, and director-in-chief; in 1808 he was elected a member of the junta of Bayonne, and was, under Joseph Bonaparte, minister of the interior, and gov. of Malaga; in 1814 he embarked for S. America, and joined Bolivar. Made intendant-gen. of the army; he was vice-pres. of Venezuela in Feb.-Aug. 1819; Sept. 24, 1819, he was accredited to all the European courts; and succeeded in obtaining from English bankers a loan of £2,000,000 in March, 1822.

Zeilin, JACOB, brig.-gen. U.S. marine corps, b. Phila. 2d lieut. Oct. 1, 1831; capt. Sept. 14, 1847; major July 26, 1861; col. and com. marine corps June 10, 1864; brig.-gen. Mar. 2, 1867. Attached to frigate "Congress" in Mexican war; com. battalion of marines under com. Stockton; and brev. major for gallantry in the battle of Los Angeles, Jan. 9, 1847; wounded in the battle of Bull Run.

Zeisberger, DAVID, Moravian missionary among the Indians, b. Zoetenthal, Moravia, Apr. 11, 1721; d. Franklin, Summit Co., O., Nov. 7, 1808. His parents emig. to America during his youth. After completing his studies, he went to England, when Gen. Oglethorpe enabled him to join his parents in Ga. One of the founders of Bethlehem, Pa., in 1740. He soon after became a missionary to the Indians, and labored, until the breaking out of the Indian war in 1755, among the Delawares at Shamokin and the Iroquois at Onondaga. During the Pontiac conspiracy he assisted the Christian Indians, whom he afterward led to Wyalusing, Bedford Co., Pa. In 1767 he established a church among the Monseys; in 1772 he began the settlement of an Indian town (Schoenbrunn) on the Tuscarawas, Ohio, where he was afterward joined by all the Moravian Indians of Pa.; but the settlement was destroyed by the Wyandots in 1781; in 1787 he began the settlement of New Salem, Huron Co., near Lake Erie; in 1791 he emigrated to Canada, and founded Fairfield on the Thames; in 1798 the Moravians returned to their former settlements in Ohio which had been granted them by Congress, and built there a new station named Goshen. Zeisberger preached there till the end of his life. He pub. in the Delaware tongue a "Delaware and English Spelling-Book," 1776; a "Coll. of Hymns," 1803; "Sermons to Children," 1803; "A Harmony of the Four Gospels" (N.Y. 1821); and Verbal-Begripen der Chippewagon, in Vater's Abhandl. der Sprachk. u. b. He left in MS. a Delaware Grammar and Dictionary, deposited in H. Coll. Library, and an Iroquois Dictionary in the library of the Philos. Society at Phila.—See Memoir by Schewitz, 8vo, Phila. 1870.

Zenger, JOHN PETER, printer, b. Germany; d. New York, 1746. He established a press in 1726; Nov. 5, 1733, he began the Weekly Journal, continued by his widow Catharine, and John his son, until ab. 1752. For some strictures in his paper on Gov. Cosby and the council, he was arrested 17 Nov. 1734, tried in 1735, and kept in close confinement 35 weeks. Andrew Hamilton of Phila. defended him from the charge of libel on the ground of the truth of the publication, — a principle since well established. The court, however, would not allow the witnesses of the truth to be examined, nor would it allow the jury to be judges of the law as well as of the fact. Notwithstanding the direction of the bench, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. A narrative of this trial was pub. at Boston, also at London, with that of Wm. Owen, in 1765.

Zeuner, CHARLES, musician and composer; d. Phila. Nov. 1857, a. ab. 60. He resided some years in Boston, where he was organist at the Park-st. Church and of the Handel and Haydn Soc. Author of "Feast of the Tabernacles," an oratorio, 1832; "American Harp," 1839; "Ancient Lyre," 1848; "Musical Manual," &c.

Zinzendorf, NICOLAUS LOUIS, count, founder, or res-orer, of the Moravian brethren, b. Dresden, May 26, 1700; d. Herrnhut, May 9, 1760. His father, one of the principal ministers of the Elector of Saxony, died a few weeks after his birth; and he was educated by Prof. Franke at Halle, and afterward at Wittenberg. Rec. living in 1720 his property from his guardians, he purchased a lordship in Lusatia, and in a sister of the Prince of Russ. In 1722 he began to conceive the idea of a purer church-discipline, trace s of which were observable among the sect called the Bohemian and Moravian Brethren, some of whom he permitted to settle on his estate. The count, and a clergyman named Rothe labored to instruct them; and he formed statutes for their govt., from which period their writers date the renewal of the Union of the Brethren. To him Wesley was indebted for both his religious organization and his missionary plans, that indefatigable laborer having passed some time with Zinzendorf at Herrnhut. Next to his organization in classes, the use of singing (which furnished the Wesley's with a valuable hint) is one of their most remarkable characteristics. In 1736 the count was consec. bishop of the Moravian cong. He then visited England, and travelled almost all over Europe; made numerous settlements, and sent missionaries to all parts of the world. He came to Pa. in 1741; began his labors by preaching at Germantown and Bethlehem; and in Feb. 1742 ord. at Oly., Pa., the missionaries Rauch and Ruttner. At Shikongoe he established the first Indian Moravian congregation in America. He returned to Europe in 1743; succeeded his bro. Dec. 21, 1756; and abdicated his countship March 19, 1757.—See his Life by Spangenberg, 8 vols 8vo, 1777.

Zollicoffer, Gen. FELIX K., b. Maury Co., Tenn., May 19, 1812; killed at the battle of Mill Spring, Ky., Jan. 19, 1862. He received an academical education. Learned the trade of a printer; in 1829 became a newspaper editor at Paris, Tenn.; edited and pub. the Columbian Observer in 1834; in 1835 was chosen State printer; and in 1842 took the editorship of the Nashville Banner, the leading Whig paper of the State. He was in 1845-9 comptroller of the State treas.; in 1849 was a State senator, and M.C. in 1853-9, and an advocate of extreme Southern views. He was a delegate to the Peace Congress in Feb. 1861; was soon after app. a brig.-gen. in the Confederate army; took com. of East Tenn. Aug. 8; was defeated at Camp Wild-Cat, Ky., Oct. 21, by Gen. Schoopf, and at Mill Spring by Gen. Thomas.

Zook, Gen. SAMUEL KOSCIUSZKO, b. Pa. ab. 1-23; killed at Gettysburg, July 2, 1863. While young, he was a telegrapher, and made important discoveries in electrical science. Ab. 1840 he removed to N.Y.; and at the outset of the war he went as lieut.-col. with the 6th N.Y. S. M. to the Potomac, and was made military gov. of Annapolis. Returning, he raised and com. the 57th N.Y. Vols. During the severe battles on the Peninsula, he generally com. a brigade; made brig.-gen. Nov. 29, 1862. He disting. himself at Chancellorsville; also at Gettysburg, where he fell.

Zubly, Jons JOACHIM, D.D. (N.J. Coll. 1770), clergyman, b. St. Gall, Switzerland, 27 Aug. 1724; d. S.C. 23 July, 1791. Ord. 1744. He took charge of the First Presb. Church, Savannah, in 1760, where he preached to an English and German cong., also preaching occasionally in French. He was active among the Sons of Liberty at the outset of the Revol.; was on the most important committees of the first Prov. Congress of Ga. 1775; and in that year was a delegate to the Cont. Congress. He opposed the Decl. of Indep., and suddenly left congress for Ga., where he sided with the crown. Accused of treasonable corresp. with Sir James Wright, the royal gov., he returned to Savannah, and was for some time concealed, to escape popular resentment. He was in that city during the siege in 1779. He was a man of learning, of a vigorous and penetrating mind, and pub. a number of patriotic discourses.

SUPPLEMENT.

WAR

CHIEF

DEPUE, J. S. WILLIAM FRANCIS, b. Harvard, Va., 3 June, 1809; H.C. 1832; App. 1834; 20th M., Feb. 10 July, 1831; engaged at R. J.'s Bluff; wounded in the siege on Yorktown (losing a leg), and 4th M., Feb. 10, Nov. 1862; and took part in the operation of a fort in the capture of Fort Hudson. In the assault of this fort (27 May, 1863) he was a conspicuous mark for the enemy, being wounded; and was severely wounded in the arm and eye. Co., 57th M., Va., 17 Aug. 1862, was killed; he participated in the battles of the Wilderness, and Fairmount; lightly wounded; 141st-gen. vol., 22 June, 1864, for conspicuous gallantry at Fort Hudson. R. com. a division 9th corps, and was captured in the explosion of the mine before Petersburg, 30 July, 1864. After being exchanged in Sept., he com. the 1st div. 9th corps; b. w. maj.-gen., 1865.

DEWEY, G. S. JOHN, M.C. from Ohio in 1867; b. near Sandusky, O., 16 Dec. 1828. Received a good English education. Entered banking; volunteered as a private 3d O. Inf., and app. lieutenant 1861; took part in several battles in West Va.; col. in 1862, and conspicuous at Perryville and at Stone River, where he com. a brigade; brig.-gen., 29 Nov. 1862; and fought at Tallahoma, Chickamauga, and at Mission Ridge.

DEWELL, GEORGE THURSTON, D.D., assistant bishop of Ohio (com. on 13 Oct. 1859), b. Hadon, N.Y., 27 Aug. 1817. Brist. Coll., Pa., 1836; (Ej. 18.) Theol. Sem. of Va. 1840. Son of Rev. George T. of Philadelphia. Ord. deacon 1840, priest 1844; became rector of Ch. of the Holy Trinity (West Chester, Pa.) 5 Nov. 1840, and of the Ch. of the Ascen. (N.Y.) 19 March, 1843. Resided near Gambier, O.

DEWLEY, JOHN, gov. of Cal. 1852-6, b. Conn's Land Co., Pa., 8 Jan. 1804; d. Sacramento, Cal., 30 Nov. 1871. Bro. of Wm., gov. of Pa. Appointed to the printing business; ed. of a paper in Pa. in 1828-9 and 1830-2; adm. to the bar, and read in Brown Co., Ill., in 1846-9; moved to Cal. in 1849, and was twice speaker of the Assembly. He was a conservative Democrat, and was known as "Honest John B. D."

DEWEE, G. S. HENRY W., b. Norwich, Ct. When the civil war began, he was one of the officers of Co. Buckliniana; entered the service in June, 1861, as major 4th Ct. Inf.; made a col.

13th early in 1862; and in the expedition to New Orleans, and in the capture of Fort Hudson, for which he was made brig.-gen. Sept. 19, 1864; took part in the Leon river campaign under Gen. Bankley; lieut. maj.-gen. for services in Sheridan's campaign in the Shenandoah Valley, Oct. 1864; and in June, 1865, was app. to com. the 11th div. of Savannah.

DILLON, HENRY T., minister to Brazil since 1869, b. Southampton Co., Va., 15 July, 1807. Went to St. Louis in 1830; grad. at the Univ. of that city; became interested in mining land, in which, and in iron-mining, he acquired a fortune. He was among the first in Mo. to denounce anti-slavery; was 4 years a State legislator; was the friend and adviser of Gen. Lyon at the opening of the Rebellion; minister to Venezuela 1844-5, and M.C. in 1847.

BRADLEY, JOSEPH P., LL.D. (Lat. Coll. 1839), jurist, b. Berne, Albany Co., N.Y., 11 May 1832. Bate. Col. 1836. Adm. to the bar in 1839, attending the function in the practice of law in Newark, N.J., especially in cases involving a knowledge of political economy and constitutional law. App. as sec. judge U. S. Supreme Court 21 March, 1870.

BRAYTON, GEORGE BYRRE, inventor of a safety steam-boiler and of the high-pressure gas engine, b. Compton, R.I., 23 Oct. 1820.

BRADLAND, CYRUS, inventor, b. Manchester, Ct., 19 Aug. 1759. He received a common school education, worked in various mechanics' shops, and in 1828 became a partner, inventor, and designer in the F. S. Amory at Springfield, Mass. He produced his machine for making cast-steel wheels 1842; and is said to be the inventor of the machine for ending musket-barrels, for making the thread of the screw on the inside of the barrel, and for making the breech-screw.

CESPEDOS, CYRUS MEXER, of Cuban revolutionist, b. Bayamo, 18 Apr. 1819. 1st of Havana, 1848. Studied law at Barcelona, and was a lum. to practice in 1842. In 1844 he established in practice in his native city, acquiring reputation and a fortune. For a demonstration in favor of Cuban independence, he was confined 5 months in Morro Castle, Sancti Spiritus, Cuba. Having the movement for Cuban independence in Oct. 1868, he was soon after made pres. of the republic.

CHERRY, LUTHER, G. S. JOHN A. LAWRENCE, LL.D. (Pa. Coll. 1863; Bowd. 1867); gov. of Me. 1866-70, b. Bangor, Me., 8 Sept. 1828, Bowd. Coll. 1852; Bangor Theol. Sem. 1855. Son of Col. Joshua. In his boyhood he attended the military school of Maj. Whiting at Ellsworth. Prof. at Bowd. Coll. from 1855 to Aug. 1 '62, when app. lieut.-col. 20th Me. Inf.; col. May, 1863; brig.-gen. June, 1864, for gallantry at Peterburg, where he was severely wounded; brev. maj.-gen., and again wounded at Quaker Road 29 Mar. 1865; and com. 1st division 5th corps, leading the advance, in the final operations ending in Lee's surrender, 9 April, 1865. His com. was designated to receive the formal surrender of the arms and colors of Lee's army. He was engaged in 24 pitched battles, including Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, Petersburg, and Five Forks; and was 6 times wounded, three severely. He resumed his professorship (modern languages) in 1865; and in July, 1871, was elected pres. of Bowd. Coll.

Chester, J. L. (p. 191), has long been engaged upon what promises to be his unprinted opus,—the printing of the entire marriage, baptismal, and burial registers of Westminster Abbey, annotated in an exhaustive manner.

Coan, Rev. TITUS, D.D., missionary and volcanographer, b. Killingworth, Ct., Feb. 1, 1801. And. Theol. Sem. 1834. In the same year he m. Miss Fidelis Church of Riga, N.Y., and sailed for the Hawaiian Islands. Between 1835 and 1870 he had gathered 15,000 of the native islanders into the Protestant Church,—a success unparallelled, it is believed, by that of any other modern missionary. For his contributions to volcanic science, see Amer. Journal of Sci. Arts, 1840-70.

Cochran, JOHN WEBSTER, inventor, b. Enfield, N.H., 16 May, 1814. In 1832, with a cash capital of $125, he started for Boston, walking the whole way,—110 miles. In 1833 he invented and patented a steam-heating apparatus; and in 1834 patented his invention of a revolving breech-loading rifled cannon, in which the cocking of the hammer automatically rotated the cylinder,—the same principle which subsequently secured the success of the revolving pistol. This invention procured him fame and fortune. Visiting France in 1835, he exhibited his model to the Turkish ambassador, was invited by Sultan Mahmoud to Constantinople, whither he went, and was liberally rewarded by the sultan. In 1839-47 he resided in France, and afterward in Eng., where he invented machinery for curvilinear sawing, used in "converting" ship-timber and adopted by the Brit. govt. He has lately resided in the U.S., actively engaged in the manufacture of firearms and projectiles, and in improvements of various kinds. — Amer. Artisan, Mar. 8, 1871.

Connor, GEN. PATRICK E., b. Ireland, 1809; came to the U.S. at a very early age; settled in Texas; was a capt. in Walker's Texan rgt., and severely wounded at Buena Vista. In 1861 he retired to Utah; was ordered to Utah; gained a signal victory over the hostile Indians at Bear River 29 Jan. 1863; made brig.-gen. 30 Mar. 1863; was long in com. of the Utah dist., where he established firmly the authority of the govt.; and brev. maj.-gen. 1865.

DAVIS, THOMAS FREDERICK, D.D., Prot-

Ep. bishop of S.C. (consec. 17 Oct. 1853); d. Dec. 2, 1871.

Delmar, ALEXANDER, statistician, b. N.Y. City, 9 Aug. 1836. His father was a native of Spain. He wrote for a N.Y. journal in 1854; became financial editor of Hunt's Merchants' Mag. and of several N.Y. journals; established the Social-Science Review, and was sole editor in 1864-6; was called to organize the U.S. Bureau of Statistics in 1866, and was its director in 1867-8; and in 1867 became pres. Washington Statist. Soc. Author of "Gold Money and Paper Money," 1862; "Treatise on Taxation;" "Essays on Polit. Economy," 1865; "International Almanac, or Statistical Handbook," 1866.

Denio, HIRAM (p. 263), jurist, b. 21 May, 1799; d. Utica, N.Y., 5 Nov. 1871. Began practice at Rome in 1821; dist. atty. 1825-34; settled in Utica in July, 1826; circuit judge 5th circuit 1834-8; judge of the Court of Appeals 1853-66.

DEVENS, GEN. CHARLES, JUN., b. Charlestown, Ms., Apr. 4, 1820. H.U. 1838; Camb. Law School. In 1841-9 he practised in Franklin Co., Ms.; was a State senator in 1848; in 1849-53 was U.S. marshal for Ms.; and in 1854 resumed the practice of law at Worcester. Apr. 16, 1861, he was chosen major of a rifle batt.; was in battle 15th Ms. Inf. 24 July; com. at Ball's Bluff before the arrival of Col. Baker, and again after the death of the latter; brig.-gen. Apr. 15, 1862; was in the battles of Williamsburg and Fair Oaks (in the latter of which he was wounded), at South Mountain and Antietam; com. a division of Howard's corps at Chancellorsville; in the 18th corps in the Va. campaign of 1864-5, and was in temp. com. 24th army corps in Dec. '64; brev. maj.-gen. 13 Apr. 1865. In Nov. 1862 he was the unsuccessful candidate of the "People's Party" for gov. of Ms. A justice of the Ms. Superior Court since 1867.

Doutphan, COL. ALEXANDER WILLIAM, lawyer and soldier, b. Milton Co., Ky., July 9, 1803. Aug. Col., Ky., 1827. Son of an emigrant from Va., who d. in 1811. Having studied law, he began practice at Lexington, Mo., but in 1833 removed to Liberia. Brig.-gen. of militia in the expedition which in 1838 drove the Mormons from the St. l.; member of the State legisl. 1833 and '40; col. 1st Mo. Cav. June 18, 1841, and led the successful expedition against Chichauqua; com. in the battle of Brazito, Dec. 25, 1846, and in that of Sacramento, Mexico, Feb. 29, 1847; and in the famous march from Santa Fé to the Rio Grande.

Eichberg, JULIUS, teacher and composer of music, b. Germany, 1825. Adm. to the Conservatory of Brussels, he gained in 1843 the first prizes in viola and composition. Afterward musical director in prominent German opera-houses, and director of sacred music in the cathedral of the Church of Geneva. Since 1856 he has resided in Boston, where he founded the Conservatory of Music. He has composed the successful operas, "The Doctor of Cambray," "A Night in Rome," and "The Rose of Tyrol."

Ewell, GEN. R. S. (p. 313), d. Maury Co., Tenn., 25 Jan. 1872.

Ferrero, Gen. Edward, b. of Italian parents in Granada, Spain, Jan. 10, 1832. He was brought to the U.S. an infant. Before the war he kept a dancing-school, and taught the art at West-Point Acad. In 1861 he raised the 51st N. Y. Vols. (Shepard Rifles); accomp. Burnside's expedition to Roanoke Island and New-Brunswick; disting. himself at both those places, and com. a brigade under Gen. Reno. In July, 1862, he served in Gen. Pope's Va. campaign; was in the battles of South Mountain and Antietam, and for his bravery and efficiency in the latter engagement was made brig.-gen. Sept. 19, 1862. He served at Fredericksburg and at Vicksburg; com. the 2d brigade of Sturgis's div. 9th army corps, and a division at the siege of Knoxville; com. at the defence of Fort Sanders against the desperate assault of Longstreet; led the colored div. 9th corps in the operations against Petersburg in 1864; and subsequently com. defences of Bermuda Hundred. Brev. maj.-gen. 2 Dec. 1864.

Gilmore, Patrick Sarsfield, musician, b. near Dublin, 28 Dec. 1829. He connected himself with a military band at the age of 15. Came to Boston in 1849, where he has been for many years a leader of military bands; accomp. the 24th Ms. Regt. to the field in 1861, and was in 1863 placed in charge of all the bands in the dept. of La. by Gen. Banks. Originator of monster concerts in this country, and projector of the great National Peace Jubilee at Boston in June, 1869, a history of which he published in 1871. Composer of many songs, marches, &c.

Gladden, Rev. Washington, clergyman and author, b. Fiskeville, Pa., 11 Feb. 1836. Wms. Coll. 1859. He first preached at the States-st. Cong. Ch., Brooklyn, N. Y.; afterward at Morrisania, N. Y.; and since Feb. 1867 has been pastor of the 1st Cong. Church, North Adams, Ms. Besides his frequent contributions to the N. Y. Independent and other papers and periodicals, he has published "From the Hub to the Hudson," and is a successful public lecturer.

Godkin, Edwin L., journalist, b. Wicklow Co., Ireland, 1831. Educated at a grammar-school near Wakefield, England, and at Queen's Coll., Belfast. Correspondent of the London Daily News in Turkey and Russia during the Crimean war, 1854-6. In the fall of 1856 he came to the U.S., and in the ensuing winter made a journey on horseback through the Southern States, detailed in a series of letters to the Daily News. He then studied law in the office of David Dudley Field in N. Y. City; was adm. to the bar in 1858, but in that year returned to Europe in impaired health. Returning to N. Y. at the close of 1862, he was, until the establishment of The Nation in 1865, a correspondent of the Daily News, and an editorial contributor to the N. Y. Times. The Nation, a weekly journal of politics, literature, science, and art, established in July, 1865, and edited by Mr. Godkin, in 1866 passed into his hands as a proprietor, and owes to him its success, ranking as it does among the first literary and critical journals of the land. Republican in politics, it is also the advocate of free trade and civil-service reform.

Hall, John, D.D., pastor (since 3 Nov.

1867) of the Fifth-ave. Presb. Ch., N. Y. City, b. of Scotch ancestry, Co. Armagh, Ireland, 31 July, 1829. Belfast Coll. Licensed to preach in June, 1849, and labored as a missionary in the west of Ireland; pastor of the church at Armagh 30 Jan. 1852-8, and of Mary's Abbey, Dublin, from 1858 until app. in 1867 a delegate to the Presb. churches of the U.S. He is an eloquent speaker on the platform as well as in the pulpit.

Halleck, Gen. Henry Wager (see p. 339); d. Louisville, Ky., 9 Jan. 1872.

Hulstead, Mirat, journalist, b. Ross Township, Butler Co., O., 2 Sept. 1829. Farmers' Coll., O., 1851. His grandfather emigrated to Ohio from N. C. in 1801. A contrib. to the Cincinnati Gazette and other papers in Ind. and O. in 1851-2; became a sist. ed. of the Columbian and Great West, and in 1853 of the Commercial, introducing the new feature of a systematic abstract of the important news found in the exchange papers; and in 1854 became a partner in the concern. Under his able management the Cincinnati Commercial has long been a leading journal in the U.S.

Helper, Hinton Rowan, author, b. Davie Co., N. C., 27 Dec. 1829. Educated at the Mocksville Acad. Went to Cal. in 1854, and travelled on the Pacific coast; U.S. consul at Buenos Ayres 1861-7. Resides at Ashville, N. C. Author of "The Land of Gold," 1855; "Impending Crisis of the South," 1857; "No-Jingo, a Question for a Continent," 1867; and "The Negroes in Negroland," &c., 1868.

Holecombe, James P., author, b. Lynchburg, Va., 1820. Educated at Y. C. and at the U. of Va., where he was some time prof. of law. He has pub. "Leading Cases upon Commercial Law," 8vo, 1847; "Digest of Decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court," 8vo, 1848; "Merchant's Book of Reference for Dealer and Creditor," 8vo, 1848; "Literature in Letters," 12mo, 1868.

Holecombe, William H., M.D., homeopathist and author, b. Lynchburg, Va., 1825. Educated at Wash. Coll., Va., and in medicine at the U. of Pa. After practicing at Lynchburg and at Cincinnati, he settled in N. Orleans, and in 1852 became a homeopath. Besides many contributions to periodicals, he was some years co-editor of the N. A. Journal of Homeop. His pub. "The Scientific Basis of Homeopathy," 12mo, 1855; "Poems," 1860; "Our Children in Heaven" (Swedenborgian), 1863; "The Sexes," 1869; and many brochures on topics similar to the above.

Knowlton, John Stocker Coffin, journalist, b. Hopkinton, R. I., 11 Dec. 1797; d. Worcester, Ms., 11 June, 1871. Dartm. Coll. 1823. He became connected with the Lanslet Journal ab. 1827; in 1833 removed to Worcester, assuming the editorial charge of the Epist and Yeoman, which the Republican was subsequently merged to establish the Palladium, which he pub. and edited for ab. 37 years. He had been twice mayor of W.; member of both branches of the legisl., and 45 years high sheriff of the county.

Loring, Fildeneor Wadsworth, journalist, b. Boston, 12 Dec. 1818; married by Apache Indians 5 Nov. 1871 in Arizona, while on his way home from the expl. exped. of Lieut. Wheeler. H. U. 170. He was a contributor to the Atlantic, God and Nature, &c.; was the author of "The Boston Dip," a vol. of poems; "Two College Friends," 1871; and of two successful plays.

LOW, FREDERICK F., minister to China (app. 1869), b. Frankfurt, Me., 30 Jan. 1823. He received a thorough English education. Went to California early in 1849; was for a few months engaged in mining; and was a merchant in San Francisco until 1855, when he became a banker at Marysville. R. pub. M. C. in 1861-3, contributing to the enactment of the Pacific-Railroad Bill; subsequently collector of the port of San Francisco, and gov. of Cal. 1864-8.

McCabe, JAMES D., Jun., author, b. Richmond, Va. Son of Rev. James, D. D., and 4th in descent from the first white settler in the Cumberland Valley, Pa. Educated at the Va. Milit. Inst. Began writing for the Pittsburgh Virginian in his 14th year. He has pub. "Fanaticism and its Results," 1860; "Life of Gen. T. J. Jackson," 8vo, 1863; "The Bohemian," 1863; "Life of Gen. R. E. Lee," 1867; "The Gray-Jackets," 1867. He has also written poems, plays, and translations from the French, and many contributions to periodicals. Resides in Brooklyn, N. Y.

MCCOOK, GEN. EDWARD M., b. Stenleville, O., June, 1834. Educated principally in a log school-house. A comp. Gov. Mesary to Minnesota in 1856 as private sec.; emig. to Pike's Peak in 1859; member K. legisl. 1860; app. 2d lieut. U. S. Cav.; major 2d Inf. Cav.; promoted successively to lieut.-col., col., brig.-gen. (27 Apr. 1864); and was brev. major-gen. in 1865. In the battles of Shiloh, Stone River, Perryville, and Chickamauga; com. a division in the Atlanta campaign, and a corps in E. Tenn. In the summer of 1864, in a raid in the rear of Atlanta, he destroyed large quantities of Confed. stores; was intercepted by Wheeler's cav. on his return, and cut his way through, rejoining Sherman's army near Marietta; com. 1st cav. div. in Wilson's raid through Ga. and Ala. Minister to the Hawaiian Islands 1866-9; app. gov. Colorado Terr. 1869.

McGill, JOHN, D. D., R. C. bishop of Va. (consec. 10 Nov. 1850), b. 4 Nov. 1809. Ord. priest 13 July, 1835. Resided in Lexington, Ky., in 1835; in Louisville in 1836-50, and ed. there for 7 years the Catholic Advocate. Author of "Life of Calvin," translated from the French of Audin, "Origin of the Church of Eng. as represented in Macaulay's History," "The True Church Indicated to the Inquirer," and "Our Faith the Victory." — Living Writers of the South.

Mahone, GEN. WILLIAM, b. Southampton, Va., ab. 1827. Va. Milit. Inst. 1847. Became an engineer; constructed the Norfolk and Petersb. Railroad, Va., of which he was afterwards pres.; and was in 1861 a militia col., and contrib. to the capture of the valuable material at the Norfolk Navy-Yard, 21 Apr. 1861. He then raised and com. the 6th Va. Regt.; com. Fort Darling, and repulsed attack of U. S. gunboats 15 Mar. 1861; was at Fair Oaks, Oak Grove, Malvern Hill, Groveton (where he was wounded), Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, battles of the Wilderness; was made brig.-gen. March, 1864; took com. of Anderson's div.; in battle of Spotsylvania C. H., North Anna, Cold Harbor, the "Crater" Fight (30 July, 1864); made a major-gen. 12 Aug. 1864, and com. div. in A. P. Hill's (3d) corps; in battles of Weldon Railroad, Hatcher's Run (27 Oct. 1864); and at Lee's surrender com. the lines at Bermuda Hundred. — Hist. Mag., July, 1871.

Nye, JAMES W., Repub. senator from Nevada since 1865, b. Madison Co., N. Y., 10 June, 1815. Received a public-school education; studied and practised law; State police commiss. N. Y. City, 1860; gov. Nevada Territory 1861-5.

Porcher, FRANCIS PLYER, M. D. (Char. Med. Col. 1847), botanist, b. Charleston, S. C., ab. 1825. S. C. Coll. 1845. He has pub. "M. C. Botany of S. C.," 8vo, 1849; "Cryptogamic Plants of the U. S.," ("Trans." Am. Med. Assoc. 1854); "Clinical Investigations," 8vo, 1861; "Resources of the Southern Fields and Forests," 8vo, 1863; "Illustrations of Disease with the Microscope," 1860. Was a lecturer in the Charleston Prep. Med. School, he died, with Dr. D. J. Cain, 5 vols. of the Charleston Med. Jour. and Review.

PORTER, GEN. ANDREW, b. Lancaster, Pa., 10 July, 1819; d. Paris, 4 Jan. 1872. West Point, 1836-7. Grandson of Gen. Andrew; son of Gov. Geo. B. App. 1st lieut. Md. Lifes 27 May, 1846; disting. at Cerro Gordo; capt. 15 May, 1847; brev. major for Contreras and Churubusco 20 Aug. 1847; lieut.-col. for Chapultepec 13 Sept. 1847; col. 16th U. S. Inf. 14 May, 1861; brig.-gen. vols. 17 May, 1861; prov.-gen. Army of the Potomac; com. 1st brigade of regulars at the battle of Bull Run, in which he displayed much skill and bravery; resigned 20 April, 1864.

Quezada, MANUEL, gen.-in-chief of the Cuban patriot forces, b. C. magayo, 20 March, 1833. Emig. to Mexico in 1852; entered the military service of the republic; gained several victories over the forces of Maximilian; was made a gen. for that of May 5, 1862, at Puebla and at Pachuca; and was made gov. of the States of Tlasecala, Coahuila, and Durango. In 1865 he came to N. Y. City, and labored in organizing the insurrection in Cuba, which he went in 1868; and was named gen.-in-chief of the troops of Comara, and subsequently gen.-in-chief of the republic. Sent in March, 1870, to the U. S. and Europe in a diplomatic capacity.

Redpath, JAMES, author, b. Berwick-on-Tweed, Eng., Aug. 1833. Emig. with his parents to Mich. in 1848. At 16 he became a printer; at 19 one of the editors of the Tribune, with which he was long connected editorially or as a corresp. He was in Kansas during the troubles there of 1855-7; and was with the armies of Sherman and Thomas, and with Gillmore at Charleston, during the war. App. by the gov. of Hayti gen. agent of emigration; then consul at Phila.; then joint commiss. to the U. S.; and instrumental in procuring the recognition of Hayti indep. Supt. of education in Charleston during the war; organized the schools of S. C., and established the Colored Orphan Asylum in Charleston. Established the Boston-Lycæum Bureau in 1868. Author of "Guide to Kansas," "The Roving Editor," "Life of John Brown," "Echoes of Harper's Ferry," "Southern Notes," "Guide to Hayti," &c.

Richards, GEORGE, a writer of patriotic verses, b. (probably) in R.I.; d. Phila. about 1 Mar. 1814 by his own hand while deranged. An eminent schoolmaster in Boston after the close of the R. vol.; he also preached occasionally, in the absence of the pastor, to the cong. of Mr. Murray; was pastor of a Universalist church in Port South, N.H., in 1798-1809, and subsequently in Phila., where he also published, and for two years edited, the Fremont's Man and Gen. Miscellany. He was a man of great benevolence, assuming the charge of orphans, and giving his personal attendance upon the sick, including those stricken with contagious disease. Among his pieces—usually anonymous—is a descriptive poem on the R. vol., extracts from which are in the Ms. Mar. 17:9-92. Author also of odes, Masonic orations, an hist. discourse on the death of Washington, Portsmouth Feb. 1800, &c.—MS. of S. F. Har. &c.

Robinson, WILLIAM S. ("Warrington"), political writer, b. Concord, Ms., 7 Dec. 1818. Editor of Free Press 1842-8; Boston Daily Whig 1849; afterward of the Republican Commonwealth, and the Tribune. Rep. of Lowell in the Ms. Legisl. of 1852 and '53; clerk Const. Conv. of 1853; and clerk Ms. Legisl. since 1862. Under the name of "Warrington," he has long been a well-known contrib. to the N.Y. Tribune, Springfield Republican, and other papers.

Rodman, GEN. THOMAS J., inventor of the Repeating gun, b. Fed. 1821; d. Rock Island, Ill., 7 June, 1871. West Point, 1841. Entering the ordnance dept., he became 1st Lieut. 3 Mar. 1847; capt. 1 July, 1855; maj. 1 June 1863; Lieut.-col. 7 Mar. 1867; brig. col. and brig.-gen. 13 Mar. 1865. Author of "Reports of Experiments in Metals for Cannon and Cannon-Powder," 1861.

Sargent, AARON AUGUSTUS, journalist and politician, b. Newburyport, Ms., 28 Sept. 1827. Began as a printer in the office of the Waltham and Herald, Newburyport; accomp. Fremont to Cal. in 1845, and in 1849 settled in Nevada City; long edited the Nevada Journal; returned to the bar in 1854; dist. atty. Nevada Co. 1855-6; M.C. 1861-3 and 1869-72; U. S. senator elect for the term of 1873-9. While in Congress, he was a member of the com. on the Pacific Railroad, and drew the bill for the Western Pacific Railroad, of which enterprise he was an active and efficient promoter.

Smith, CHARLES H. ("Bill Arp"), humorist; is a lawyer of Rome, Ga., of which city he has been mayor; and has also been a State senator. In 1864 he began the publication of his letters, which in 1866 were collected and pub. under the title of "Bill Arp,—so called."

Stockton, JOHN P., senator, b. Princeton, N.J., 2 Aug. 1826, N. J. Coll. 1843. Gr.-grandson of Richard, the sign'r of the Decl. of Indep. Adm. to the bar 1849; a commis. to revise the laws of N. J.; subsequently reporter to the Chancery Court, and pub. 3 vols. of Litany Reports (1852-9); mini-tr to Rome 1850-61; U. S. senator 1856, and re-elected for the term 1869-75 as a Democrat. His father and grandfather were members of the U. S. senate.

Strong, WILLIAM, LL.D. (Lafayette Coll. 1867), assoc. judge U. S. Supreme Court (app. Feb. 1879), b. Somers, Ct., 6 May, 1808, Y.C. 1828. Son of Rev. Wm. L. (pastor of Somers 1807-31), who d. Fayetteville, N.Y., 31 Aug. 1859, a. 77. Adm. to Phila. bar 1832; practised in Reading, Pa., 1832-47; M.C. 1847-51; judge Sup. Court of Pa. 1857-68; afterwards practised in Phila. In June, 1871, he declared the U. S. income tax to be constitutional; and 15 Jan. 1872 delivered the opinion of the majority of the court, affirming the constitutionality of the Legal-tender Act of 1862.

Swann, THOMAS, gov. Md. 1865-7, b. Alexandria, Va. Educated at Col. Coll., D.C., and the U. of Va. Studied law with his father at Washington; app. sec. Neapolitan commiss.; settled in Balt. in 1834; pres. Balt. and O. R. Co. 1847-53; mayor of Balt. 1857-9; elected U. S. senator in 1866; declined; M.C. since 1869.

Thurman, ALLEN G., jurist, and U. S. senator for the term 1869-75, b. Lynchburg, Va., 31 Nov. 1813; removed to Ohio in 1819. Received an academic education. Adm. to the bar in 1835; M.C. 1845-7; judge Sup. Court of Ohio 1851-4; chief justice 1854-6; Democ. candidate late for gov. of Ohio 1867.

Wakefield, CYRUS, an eminent public benefactor, b. Roxbury, N.H., 7 Feb. 1811. Son of James and Hannah (Hemenway). Came to Boston ab. 1827, and engaged in business. Originated the rattan business in this country, and discovered the process of utilizing the rattan waste. The town of Wakefield, Ms., is named for him.

Wheeler, JOHN H., b. Murfreesborough, N.C., was before the civil war U. S. minister to Nicaragua, and about 1867 was app. to the bureau of statistics at Washington, D.C. Author of "Hist. Sketches of N.C. 1584-1851," 8vo, 1851; "History of N.C.," 8vo, 1851.

Wood, JAMES F., R. C. bishop of Phila. since Jan. 5, 1860, b. in that city, of Protestant parents. On taking orders in the R. C. Church, he was attached to the diocese of Cincinnati, and was pastor of St. Patrick's Church until consec. bishop of Antigua, and co-adjutor of Phila. 26 May, 1857.

Woodward, GEORGE W., jurist, and Democ. M.C. from Pa. 1867-73, b. Bethany, Pa., 25 Mar. 1800. Received an academic education. Studied and practised law; memb. r Pa. Const. Conv. 1837; pres. judge 4th jud. dist. 1841-51; and judge sup. judicial dist. of Pa. 1852-67.

RD21.4

DOBBS BROS
LIBRARY BINDING

ST AUGUSTINE FLA.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 011 412 938 0